SACKVILLE STILL SILENT.

THE QUESTION OF A SUCCESSOR ONE OF PROMOTION.

MONTREAL, Nov. 1.—Sir John Macdonald and several other Cabinet Ministers passed through the city yesterday on their way back from Sherbrooke to Ottawa. On being asked the question, "Is there any truth in the report that Sir Charles Tupper is likely to be appointed Minister Plenipotentiary at Washington?" Sir John replied:—

"Oh, no! The question is one of promotion. In diplomatic service there are seniors waiting."

On being asked whether he thought Lord Sackville had been fairly treated by the American Government Sir John said, laughingly:

"Oh! we had better say nothing about that."

Mr. Herbert Now Acting Minister.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Now that Lord Sackville is, by the action taken by the Government of the United States Tuesday, no longer accredited to this country, the Hon. Secretary of the British Legation naturally becomes the official representative of the Government of Great Britain. Mr. Edwards, the First Secretary, is absent however and will not return for some time, so that Mr. Michael Herbert, who was recently made Second Secretary, is now Acting Minister.

At the British Legation silence is maintained. Lord Sackville refused to see anyone yesterday, and the members of the legation who were seen said that all was uncertainty as to his departure from Washington.

He Has Important Business in England.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—The Press Association announces that Lord Sackville comes to England immediately on leave of absence that he has important business to attend to in connection with his succession to the Sackville estate, and that he will not return to America.

ENGLISH PRESS OPINIONS.

The Pall Mall Gazette Proposes a Parallel —The Affront Cannot be Resented.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—The Pall Mall Gazette says: "If Secretary Bayard's rebuke of Lord Sackville fails to convince Irish voters that a President Cleveland can be relied upon to check John Bull as much as any other tier. How silly it all is! How much Americans will despise themselves for it when the election fever is over! Suppose Minister Phelps had written a private letter to some pseudo-American during the election in England, saying that although Mr. Gladstone's party seemed to be more in accord with American principles, yet Lord Salisbury could be trusted to concede all the Irish could ask, does the most excited American imagine that we should have taken notice of his indiscretion?"

The St. James Gazette says: "As Lord Sackville is technically in the wrong, England cannot resent the affront which Mr. Bayard has put upon it by declaring that he cannot continue to hold communication with Lord Sackville. Englishmen can only pity American statesmen for the strange things they do in order to oblige the mob."

The Globe says: "The uncourteous announcement might create very strained relations between the two countries. Fortunately its true character is recognized on both sides. Lord Sackville has been subjected to unmanly treatment by both Mr. Bayard and President Cleveland. If the minister comes back it will be simply because Mr. Cleveland's ambition to be elected President is a second time raised above the requirements of international courtesy and good will."

RETALIATION TALK.

What a New York "Times" Correspondent Says "Semi-officially."

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The correspondent of The New York Times at Washington is believed to have inside opportunities for ascertaining facts of interest, so that the following despatch to his paper may be taken as semi-official: "Reports which have reached Washington from various parts of the country during the last day or two indicate that a good many persons are looking for a retaliatory action by Congress and land declaring retaliation upon Canada, under the Act of last year, for her past outrages upon American fishermen. These persons need not worry for the present, at least. Should the occasion arise when such a course became necessary for the protection of the rights of American citizens, retaliation would be promptly resorted to, under the limited powers now vested in the President; but at present there is no necessity for taking such a pronounced step, and there is no foundation for the reports that a retaliation proclamation is about to be issued."

The Political Pot Boils in Gotham.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—A Republican procession composed chiefly of colored men met a Democratic procession at 23th street and 6th avenue last night and a riotous struggle ensued. The color of Republicans far outnumbered the numbers of the Jefferson Association of the Ninth Assembly District with whom they fought. The numerous colored inhabitants of the neighborhood who had turned out to see the immense colored procession fell to and assisted the colored paraders, missiles flew in all directions and hand-to-hand fights were in order. Store windows were smashed, women ran into every available place for shelter and several shots were fired. The stores were all closed between 26th and 30th streets and the shopkeepers with drawn revolvers protected their property as best they could.

The druggtore of Mr. Stein at 446 Sixth-avenue, was at once filled with frightened women who rushed in knocking everything off the counter. With a great effort Mr. Stein, revolver in hand, at length closed his doors. Thomas Murphy, liged 23, was found stabbed in the back; an old man named Kilkea was forced through a show case and was unconscious from loss of blood. He was carried off by friends. Peter McDermott, aged 45, was knocked down and badly hurt. James Ryan, aged 20, was either shot or stabbed and was found unconscious. He was taken to the New York Hospital. The police easily cleared the streets.

Barnard Sights Another Comet.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 1.—A telegram just received from the Lick observatory announces the discovery yesterday morning by Barnard of another comet, the second discovered by him in less than two months. It was in right ascension 9 hours, 43 minutes, 22 seconds; declination south 15 degrees, 19 minutes. It has a faint tail with a slow motion northeast. It is of the eleventh magnitude, being just visible through a 4 inch telescope. This discovery entitles Prof. Barnard to another Warner comet prize of $100.

WINNIPEG AGAIN EXCITED

THREATENING ATTITUDE OF THE HOSTILE CAMPS.

A Angry Feeling Between the Opposing Gangs—Provincial Police Patrolling the Spur.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 31.—Winnipeg is in another blaze of excitement over the attitude of the two hostile camps at the crossing, and the fear that a detachment from the infantry school would be ordered out to the scene to-night to preserve the peace intensified the feeling to the highest pitch.

It is learned that at 7 o'clock all was quiet as the place of trouble, but an angry feeling has arisen between the opposing gangs that might, on slight provocation on either side, precipitate a conflict.

The Government have laid rails on a spur to the Canadian Pacific Railway track on the east side and will complete a spur on the west side to-morrow.

It is impossible to learn the intention of the Government, but The Sun says to-night that it will not be surprising if a locomotive is run over the Canadian Pacific Railway track when their men are off guard. The Canadian Pacific Railway will prevent this if possible.

The provincial police are patrolling the spur, but the latest news from the seat of war is to the effect that the probabilities are there will be no conflict to-night.

A Conflict Imminent.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 1.—A despatch from the scene of trouble this morning announces that a conflict between the opposing forces may take place at any moment.

Both parties are strongly represented at the crossing, and a large number of provincial police are being sworn.

THE PARNELL COMMISSION.

Captain O'Shea on the Stand—A Sensation Anticipated.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—The Parnell Commission resumed its sittings yesterday morning. Attorney-General Webster called Captain O'Shea to the witness stand. Capt. O'Shea stated that at Mr. Parnell's request he conferred with Mr. Gladstone in June of 1881. The interview was accomplished without the knowledge of Mr. Parnell's colleagues. After Mr. Gladstone's speech, made in the House of Commons, May 16, 1882, Mr. Parnell spoke of the awkardness of the speech, and how it annoyed Egan and others. Negotiations were discontinued until 1883, when Messrs. Parnell and Dillon were in Kilmainham jail. The proposals which the witness made to the Government in 1882 were made without the authority of Mr. Parnell. Certain members had replied to them in Parliament about the time that Mr. Parnell was released. After the latter's return from Paris he conferred with the witness at the latter's house, and at these conferences they were always alone. Captain O'Shea stated that Mr. Parnell desired to release Michael Davitt from imprisonment, but not Brennan. The Irish leader also authorized the witness to confer with the Government, and said that if the question regarding the arrears in rent was settled satisfactorily he would advise the tenants to pay their rents, and would himself denounce as outrages all resistance to the law. Mr. Parnell said that he had power to carry out this guarantee. A letter to this effect written by Mr. Parnell to Mr. Forster, then Chief Secretary for Ireland, while Parnell was an inmate of Kilmainham jail, was read by Attorney-General Webster.

Seven letters were shown to witness, who declared with certainty that the signature attached to them was that of Mr. Parnell.

Sir Charles Russell here asked the court to permit him to postpone the cross-examination of the witness.

Justice Hannen said he could not perceive any good reason for postponing the cross-examination.

Sir Charles Russell thereupon decided to proceed, and Captain O'Shea in reply to his questions said that Mr. Buckle, editor of The Times, had asked Joseph Chamberlain to get him to give evidence. Mr. Chamberlain showed witness Mr. Buckle's letter in July last. Witness did not agree to give evidence, however, until he had been supenaed by Mr. Parnell. Mr. Houston, the Secretary of the Irish Loyal Union, saw him take down in short hand his statement for The Times.

Mr. Houston told him that it was a state secret how The Times got the letters it had published.

He had heard through a Nationalist named Mulqueeny that the police had found a letter in the League's rooms in London in which Frank Byrne acknowledged the receipt of a cheque from Mr. Parnell, which had been sent to him to enable him to escape from the country, but the authorities had secured him that no such letter had been seized.

Sir Charles Russell: "Did you ever threaten Mr. Parnell?"

Witness: "Threaten him! How do you mean? I have been angry with him, and once I turned him out of my room in Dublin."

Sir Charles Russell: "Why did you turn him out?"

Witness: "I told him to get out as I did not want to see him again."

Sir Charles Russell: "Have you ever said you would be revenged on Mr. Parnell?"

Witness: "I never remember saying so."

Sir Charles Russell: "Have you ever said that you had a shell charged with dynamite to blow him up?"

Witness: "No."

To further questions the witness replied that he saw the original of the facsimile of one of The Times' letters last week. He believed the writing was Mr. Parnell's.

Many of the memoranda which he had made were destroyed in 1883, when there was danger of a select Committee of Parliament being appointed to enquire into the Kilmainham treaty, and it was intimated to him that the strictest reticence ought to be observed on the subject.

Sir Charles Russell: "Instructed by whom?"

Witness: "By Sir William Vernon Harcourt, who said it was the opinion of another person, namely, Mr. Gladstone."

These statements caused a sensation in the court, and Justice Hannen asked that everybody abstain from manifesting his feelings during the proceedings.

Sir Charles Russell: "Was it then you destroyed the memoranda?"

Witness: "Yes. Certain memoranda, which were in another box, and which included some of Mr. Chamberlain's letters, escaped destruction. It was Mr. Gladstone's wish that I should be as reticent as possible from motives of political expediency."

He Couldn't Chew in Their Pulpit.

Important to Working Men.

Artizans, mechanics and laboring men are liable to sudden accidents and injuries, as well as painful chords, stiff joints and lameness. To all thus troubled we would recommend Hagyard's Yellow Oil, the handy and reliable pain cure for outward or internal use.

Dangerous Counterfeit.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealer may urge upon you. For sale by all druggists or sent post-paid on receipt of price (50c. and $1.) by addressing Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont.

Praiseworthy.

"Last summer I was entirely laid up with liver complaint. A friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters; I did so, and four bottles cured me. I cannot praise this remedy too much." John H. Rivers, Orr Lake, Ont.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Is very palatable and much better than the plain oil. Dr. W. H. Cameron, of Halifax, N. S., says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver oil with Hypophosphites for the past two years and found it more agreeable to the stomach, and have better results from its use than any other preparation of the kind I have ever tried." Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

The Triumphant Three.

"During three years' suffering with dyspepsia I tried almost every known remedy but kept getting worse until I tried B.B.B. I had only used it three days when I felt better; three bottles completely cured me." W. Nichols, of Kendal, Ont.

There are a number of varieties of corns. Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

Orin Catlin, 49 Pearl Street Buffalo, N. Y., says: I tried various remedies for the piles but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications.

MRS. GEORGE LEACH, Hadmand Township, has received more benefit from two bottles of Dawling's Pepsin Compound, than anything she has ever taken in her life. She has been troubled with biliousness, loss of appetite and constipation for years. Now she has none of these troubles. People write to her and see how she will recommend you to take Dowling's Pepsin Compound if you are Dyspeptic

The cheapest medicine in use is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, because very little of it is required to effect a cure. For croup, diphtheria, and diseases of the lungs and throat, whether used for bathing the chest or throat, for taking internally or inhaling it is a matchless compound.

What does Dowling's Pepsin Compound cure? Dyspepsia and Indigestion. What are the symptoms? Biliousness, constipation, lack of energy, drowsiness, headache, pains in the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, depression of spirits. Ask your druggist for it.

Mr. Thomas Hallard, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I have been afflicted for nearly a year with that most-to be dreaded disease Dyspepsia, and at times was run out with pain and want of sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended I tried one box of Parmelee's Valuable Pills. I am now nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money."

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body." Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and I use that will sell well."

Of all the dyspeptic remedies ever placed in the market, Dowling's Pepsin Compound bears the head, "Why? Because it acts naturally on the digestive organs if the stomach, and not mechanically, like the other patent medicines. Besides, it helps to assimilate and digest all the foods that enter the stomach. Ask your druggist for a bottle.

Belleviellites follow the example of Mrs. Geo. Leech, of Haldimand, and many others, and rid yourselves of that dire disease, dyspepsia and indigestion.

is offered by the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for a case of Chronic Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a nasal twang; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a backing cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians.

By its mild, soothing and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "cold in the head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache.

Sold by druggists everywhere, 50 cents.

"Untold Agony from Catarrh."

Prof. W. Haushen, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My voice was such a bad one, that every day, towards sunset, my voice would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."

Thomas J. Rushing, Esq., 2302 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure remedy for catarrh ever manufactured, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

Three Bottles Cure Catarrh.

Eli Robbins, Rumpus P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says: "My daughter was afflicted with catarrh she was five years old, very badly. I saw Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy advertised, and procured a bottle for her, and soon saw that it helped her; a third bottle effected a permanent cure. She is now eighteen years old and sound and hearty."

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, NOV. 1

FALSIFYING HISTORY.

The Hamilton Times remarks: "It was Mr. Mackenzie who built the railway from Pembina to Winnipeg. And Mr. Mackenzie was pushing on the road from Port Arthur to Winnipeg as fast as possible, when an ungrateful country turned him out of office and threw his plans into confusion." Our contemporary is falsifying history. Mr. Mackenzie was not building the railway from Port Arthur to Winnipeg, but to Selkirk, some thirty or forty miles north, and resolutely refused to carry the main line to Winnipeg, which would have been side-tracked. The present Government deflected the line from the northern route which Mr. Mackenzie had chosen, and carrying it far to the south of the Mackenzie route, placed Winnipeg on the main line. The Times' "facts" are very often, as in this case, manufactured to suit the occasion.

CAUGHT IN THEIR OWN NETS.

An amusing incident is recorded in connection with the great political contest in the United States. A short time ago the Republican National Committee, which has its headquarters at Philadelphia, issued an announcement that, in order to prevent fraudulent registration of voters in New York—of which the Democrats were suspected—Republican business men of Philadelphia had subscribed $25,000, which would be paid in rewards for conviction of parties who had registered fraudulently, as fellows: First case, $2,000; second case, $1,000; third case, $500; and other cases, $250 each. The result was not at all encouraging to the Republicans, for Detective O'Leary, of New York, succeeded in arresting a man named George Gordon, who had registered in three districts in that city, and it was proved that the man is a Republican. Detective O'Leary will claim the reward. This is the very irony of fate. The Republicans are caught in a net of their own spreading.

A SOCIAL SENSATION.

Above the roar of the political thunder in New York has been heard the short, sharp report of a social sensation which has shaken "society" there to its very depths. Mr. Kyrle Bellew, a young actor of prominence, had been introduced into and several times visited the club house of the Tuxedo Club at Tuxedo, New Jersey; but on one fated morning an edict, signed by the President of the club, that the actor was thenceforward to be shut out of the earthly paradise of the Club house. The Tuxedo Club, it may here be stated, is an organization of wealthy New Yorkers, who have spent a million or more in purchasing land, stocking it with English pheasants, partridges, hares and other game, and in building a grand club house, where they take their ease, amidst the luxurious surroundings of "Republican simplicity." The president is Mr. Pierre Lorillard, the "eminent" tobacco manufacturer of New York, and he it was who issued the edict above referred to. Bellew was maddened by the aspersion cast upon him by the club, and addressed to Mr. Lorillard a demand for an explanation, but no reply was vouchsafed. There is therefore a rumor of "pistols and coffee" in the future, for the actor swears that he will have redress, while the "society" gossips and rather hopes for a duel or some other equally sensational result. And thus the world is moved by trifles.

LORD SACKVILLE'S DISMISSAL.

The Globe, in discussing the refusal of the United States to hold further official intercourse with Great Britain through Lord Sackville, intimates that it believes a statement made by the Washington correspondent of the New York Herald, that the Retaliation Act is to be enforced against Canada, as to which it remarks:

"This will be a deplorable event, and one too likely to lead very seriously to difficulties. Canada may be injured, but cannot be disgraced, by the President's resort to so aggressive a policy. Our Government may have been rather hard upon U. S. fishermen in 1886, though the Globe holds that the fishermen and the religious element left Canada without an option but to stand strictly on her rights under the Convention of 1818. But whether Ottawa was or was not too harsh in 1886 became a dead question when the United States Administration entered into the Fisheries Treaty of 1888 and recommended it to the Senate as a settlement fair, just and honorable to the United States. Retaliation, if enforced before November 15th, would be enforced before the treaty rejected the treaty in order to make Republican capital, and because the President wishes now to have no part in the treaty that the Democrats have always sincerely endeavored to promise little to help between Canada and the States, but it is not for us to enter into Canadian party politics, or to meddle for the friendship's sake.

The sentiments above expressed are such as do honor to the chief organ of the Liberal party, and no doubt the Government and the Conservative party will esteem them at their true value. Happily, with Sir John at the head of our Government, the Globe can take comfort in the thought that no question can arise of Canada's "crawling in terror."

Sir John on Annexation.

C. U. and U. R. Condemned as Annexation in Disguise.

The following is a summary of the speech which was delivered by the Premier at the banquet to Hon. J. H. Pope at Sherbrooke on Tuesday, Oct. 30th:

Sir John Macdonald met with an enthusiastic reception. He paid a high tribute to the speech of the evening, which he said had stood by his side through good and evil report. It seemed to be the impression that he would make an important announcement on one of the great issues of the day. (Applause.) He wished to speak on this matter with no uncertain sound. Sir John continued, "We are British subjects and we know the advantages we possess in being connected with the great Empire. As we were born British subjects we expect to die British subjects. What should we gain by the change? If there is a country on the face of the earth that is happy and prosperous it is the Dominion of Canada. We are a law abiding population, except now and again up in the North-West. (Laughter.) We have a splendid climate, a rich soil, and an energetic people. We have good laws wisely administered. In every branch of industry our country is prosperous. We have no reason to envy any other country, and as a mere matter of self interest it would not only be prejudicial but ruinous for us to sever connection with Great Britain and unite ourselves with the country to the south of us, great as it may be." (Applause.) Sir John went on to say that the Canadian constitution was much superior in many ways to the American constitution. We are a freer people in every way, and we should be acting against our best interests if we were to change our form of government, or sever our connection with the Mother Country. What should we gain by such a change? We might get a little more for our Upper Canadian barley —(laughter)—but in no other way that I can see should we be the gainers. On the other hand we should be taxed from Washington, and would thus forfeit our rights as free men. We are going to sell our heritage for such a mess of pottage in Annexation, we must always remember, would lead to direct taxation, and if we adopted Commercial Union or Unrestricted Reciprocity, which practically mean the same thing, we would have to supply our diminished revenue by resorting to direct taxation. But I for one have no fear that this agitation, which has been commenced in a spirit of desperation, will amount to nothing. The country under Conservative administration has prospered and the people have faith in us, and on the part of the Government I wish to declare here to-night that our policy will be as it has been. Canada, for the Canadians, by the maintenance of a moderate and just protective system to our infant industries as inaugurated in 1878. We would be blind to our interests if we did not maintain that system. We are opposed to annexation in every form, whether it is in plain terms or disguised under the form of commercial union or unrestricted reciprocity. These are our principles, and I believe they will receive the approbation of the country; and these are the principles that will be inscribed on our banner in 1892, and which, when I may perhaps be but a simple consulting physician—(laughter)—will be carried on to victory by my colleagues. We have no fear of the result. We believe that in 1892, as heretofore, those principles shall triumph; that we shall see open disloyalty crushed; that all attempts to hurt the country shall meet the fate they deserve, and that a new lease of power shall be given to the Conservative Government. (Applause.) Sir John spoke with much force, and was frequently applauded.

Sitting on the Safety Valve.

Many are they who have laughed at the story of the green steamboat fireman who sat on the safety valve to prevent it "leaking." Yet thousands are repeating his folly every day. They are troubled with blotches, pimples, eruptions, salt-rheum, boils, carbuncles, ulcers and old sores, and are contenting themselves with suppressing the symptoms without removing the cause. They sit on these safety valves by which Nature is driving out blood impurities, instead of using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which cures by removing the cause, which is in the blood. It is a wonderful blood purifier and invigorating tonic.

Do you think the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy would offer, as they have done for many years, a standing reward of $500 for a case of Catarrh which they cannot cure, if they did not positively know that the Remedy will absolutely and permanently cure Catarrh. Sold by druggists, at only 50 cents.

If Sick Headache is misery, what are Carter's Little Liver Pills if they will positively cure it? People who have used them speak frankly of their worth. They are small and easy to take.

THE PETITION FOR THE RELEASE OF GAMBLE.

Satisfactory Results From the Polariscopic Sugar Test—Best's Extradition to be Demanded—The Port Arthur Breakwater.

OTTAWA, Nov. 1.—Up to the present time lunatics from the Northwest Territories have been confined in the Manitoba Asylum at Selkirk, at the expense of the Dominion Government, but in the future they will be kept in one wing of the Stoney Mountain Penitentiary until the Dominion Government builds a lunatic asylum for the Northwest.

The Department of Justice has received a petition for the release of young Gamble of Toronto, who is confined in the Kingston Penitentiary on a charge of attempting to murder Ed. M. Bateau of Campobello, N. B. Best is in jail in Portland, Me.

THE DRAFTS WEREN'T PAID.

And Now Two Paisley Men are Looking for J. R. McKay.

PAISLEY, Nov. 1.—J. R. McKay, a lumber measurer formerly in the employ of Flatt & Bradley of Hamilton and lately employed by John B. Lebel of Detroit, on Saturday requested a resident of Paisley to endorse a draft on Lebel for $45 which was cashed at the Western Bank. McKay said he was going to load a car of lumber at Harriston. He afterwards went to a second gentleman and said he was short of funds and would return here Tuesday to load lumber and that he wished to get a draft for $35 on Lebel cashed and requested the second gentleman to endorse this draft which was cashed at Porteous & Saunders' bank. McKay told his second victim that he was going to Milverton to load there. McKay is now missing and Mr. Lebel refused payment of the drafts. McKay is probably on the American side of the line.

EXPENSES MUST BE PAID.

Hannah Boyd's People Will Not Let the Matter Rest Where It Is.

HAMILTON, Nov. 1.—Miss Hannah Boyd has returned to Thorold, where she was before Detective Murray took her into custody to see what he could pump out of her about the Galt poisoning affair. The lady by whom she was employed wrote to her, asking her to return, and expressing her conviction that Miss Boyd had nothing to do with the affair. Miss Boyd and her relatives here were put to a considerable expense, besides the great inconvenience and annoyance, in connection with the case, and do not purpose letting the affair drop quietly. Unless Detective Murray makes good the amount of the expenses he will probably be sued for damages for false arrest.

Another Farmer Taken in.

BROCKVILLE, Nov. 1.—A farmer named Shaw, who resides near here, was roped in for $800 by a sharper. This was how the racket worked: The sharper wanted to buy the farm and finally agreed to take the farmer's place at his figures. Just then another stranger came along and after chatting a while proposed a game of cards, which proved to be three card monte. Sharper No. 1 bit and won several times, but finally lost $800. He didn't have the money and turned to the farmer for a loan of the amount, agreeing to give him $20 for interest when he paid for the farm. He hasn't paid the loan yet and the farmer bewails the loss of $800 in hard cash.

Grand Trunk Stocks in London.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—Grand Trunk stocks advanced to-day. The advance is attributed to Sir Henry Tyler's speech.

The depressed state of the cattle markets continues to hamper the success of the ranche stock. It is estimated that at least £5 per 100 was lost on the last shipments. Compared, however, with the Colorados, the price of Alberta sides shows ranche meat to be well received on the better markets.

Stratford Squibs.

STRATFORD, Nov. 1.—Municipal politics have commenced to foment early and Mayor Butler says he is going to have another trot over the municipal race-course.

The citizens are greatly elated over Hickson's flat regarding the locating of the car shops with the locomotive shops at this point.

Medical Students Fired Upon From a Doctor's House—A Girl's Suicide.

TORONTO, Nov. 1.—Twenty-six candidates entered for the final examination of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario, and of this number 22 passed. In the primary examination 54 candidates entered, of which 30 were successful.

The family of Rev. Dr. Cavan, Principal of Knox College, who resides at 228 Victoria street, were startled at 9 o'clock yesterday morning to find their servant, Mary Brooks, aged 26, in the cistern at the rear of the house. The body was promptly taken out of the cistern, but the girl was beyond aid. She was a good girl, so far as Dr. Cavan's family knew, and while they conclude that she must have committed suicide, they can assign no cause for it. She was of good spirits, and up to Tuesday night gave no indication of anything that would cause her to take her life. A brother visited her Tuesday evening and found her apparently well. That she threw herself into the cistern is regarded as certain from the fact that the top, which had been nailed down, had been forcibly removed. Coroner Powell did not think an inquest necessary.

There is an impression that an effort is being made to force Rev. Mr. Jeffery's resignation and that the effort will succeed.

The students of Trinity Medical College celebrated Hallowe'en by an unique demonstration in tendering an ovation to Miss Rose Coghlan, who is playing "Jocelyn" at Grand Opera House. After the play they visited a number of ladies' schools and wound up at Dr. McCully's house, were they expressed themselves unpleasantly towards the Doctor, and were answered, not by a kindly speech, but by a display of fireworks which was followed by a fusilade of five revolver shots and a discharge from a small cannon.

Among those who visited Jarvis-street with the students was Mr. H. H. Oldright, a son of Dr. Oldright. Mr. Oldright was in the uniform of the Queen's Own Rifles; his services were called into the fore part of the leg, and was removed to his father's house at Carlton-street and Homewood avenue, and is now at least one or two others who received wounds.

THE TERRITORIAL ASSEMBLY.

The Opening at Regina—Dr. Wilson of Edmonton Chosen Speaker.

REGINA, Oct. 31.—The Northwest Assembly opened to-day. The rules of the old Council were adopted. Dr. Wilson of Edmonton was chosen Speaker.

The speech from the Throne was delivered by Lieutenant-Governor Royal. It announces measures for the consolidation of Northwest ordinances, the suppression of prairie fires and the collection and compilation of vital statistics, and referred at some length to his Honor's visits to the agricultural fairs. Referring to the liquor question, the speech said the members, as representatives of the people, were the only ones possessing any degree of authority to speak on the question and that any representations they might make from the floor of Council at Ottawa would doubtless receive consideration. The Governor would be happy to transmit any recommendation to the Dominion Government.

The Assembly adjourned till Friday.

THE MONTREAL LOAN.

A Satisfactory Result on the London Market—An Important Advance.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The Montreal loan tenders were opened to-day with the satisfactory result that £1,053,000 was applied for, being £213,000 in excess of the issue. Nearly half tendered at the minimum price of 82½; other tenders ranged to 85¼. The minimum tenders get 46 per cent., the others get their full tender. The Canadian Gazettee remarks that this is an important advance upon anything yet done by a Canadian municipality, and 3 per cent. stock at 83 is equal to 3¼ at 97, and 4 at 110. While fevers have not hitherto been issued above par, Montreal now has a full register of credit in London.

The Lawyers Nearly Came to Blows.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Sensational scenes intensified and dramatic in the Bowman common-law marriage divorce trial yesterday. The cross-examination of Mrs. Bowman was taken up by Judge McLaughlin, of Bowman's counsel, who sought to show that Mrs. Bowman had been intimate with Mr. Case, her lawyer, and brought the name of Mrs. Case into the affair. At this Case jumped up and, shaking his fist in McLaughlin's face, threatened to chastise him in the court. McLaughlin withdrew his remark, but in a few moments both lawyers were again on their feet, threatening violence upon each other and a repetition of the offence. Judge Tuley repeatedly rebuked McLaughlin for his intemperate speech, and when the lawyer made a hot rejoinder the Judge threatened him with the punishment of the Court.

Mrs. Cleveland Thanked Him.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—A pretty incident that illustrates the character of President Cleveland's wife occurred on Saturday. Just as Mrs. Cleveland left the train which brought her to New York she stepped for a moment to the engine, and, looking up at the engineer, smiled and nodded her thanks to him. The engineer blushed and took his hat off as the lovely little mistress of the White House thus honored him. The President laughed at this evidence of the thoughtful consideration that distinguishes Mrs. Cleveland.

Yellow Fever Victims.

FERNANDINA, Fla., Nov. 1.—Sixteen new cases of yellow fever were reported yesterday. All the cases under treatment are doing well and the weather is cooler and more favorable.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 1.—The most sensational bit of news to-day is the report from Camp Mitchell of two cases of yellow fever there. There is much excitement now in that heretofore quiet camp. Twenty-nine new cases and one death reported here yesterday.

Grain Advancing and Flour Unchanged.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 1.—The Northwestern Miller says: "There was a more perceptible falling off in the flour output last week, the grind being the lightest in seven weeks. Millers say that although wheat keeps going up flour is unsalable and that there is no other alternative for them than to stop grinding until there is a change in the relative positions of wheat and flour."

Morrisburg's Boom.

MORRISBURG, Nov. 1.—It is expected that an envelope factory will be started here in connection with the paper mill, a bonus of $2500 for which has been granted by the town.

—"It is getting so now," remarked the Tribune, "that the better class of European merchants can afford to travel in as luxurious cars as those which are usually built for American theatrical stars."

The Sunday School Board of the Methodist Church of Canada convened at Port Hope to-day. Each Conference in the whole country sends two delegates to represent it at this convention. The delegates from the Bay of Quinte Conference are the Rev. J. B. Clarkson, M. A., and Mr. W. F. Hall of Napanee.

The Crops.

The ingathering of our numerous crops is fairly over; says the Colborne Express, and,calling to mind the terrible drought,all have cause to be exceedingly thankful. There's abundance and to spare all round, with thimping prices for everything the farm produces, except potatoes, of which the yield is enormous, compensating for the low price.

Salmon Caught.

A salmon of about 8 pounds weight has been taken in a net lying in the Bay Island. The salmon were once very plentiful in the bay and the rivers which empty into it, but for many years they have been strangers to those waters. The only question now no doubt one of those which was propagated in the Newcastle fish hatchery, and deposited in the bay.

Conjugal Infelicity.

Mr. J. Cronk, an old resident of Colborne, is in gaol on the charge of shooting with intent. The cause of the trouble is that he has had his domestic affairs sadly disturbed for some months past by the return, after many years absence, of an "old flame" of his wife's, Emma Sernau, a few days since he took the intruder at short range with a pistol—just to frighten him.

Mock Parliament.

This parliament will hold their regular weekly meeting this evening in the County Council chamber, Shire Hall. The Government progress unless some bill for the banishment and exclusion of all Chinese and Italians from Canada. The debate on this measure will no doubt be of much interest. A cordial invitation is extended to any person to be present, a gallery being reserved for ladies.

Another Missionary.

Miss Mitchell, eldest daughter of Rev'd David Mitchell, for some time pastor of the John St. Presbyterian Church in this city, now of Jersey City, N. J., is at present attending the Female Medical College at New York, preparatory to entering on missionary work in the Zenana, in India. The young lady has many friends in the city, who will wish her every success in her field of labor.

Call Accepted.

At a meeting held last week of the officials and members of the Congregational church a unanimous call was extended to the Rev. W. Bowles, of Manilla. This morning a letter was receited from the rev. gentleman, in which he thanked the officials for their call and informed them that he had decided to accept it. The rev. gentleman will take charge of the church immediately and will shortly be installed with appropriate ceremonies.

Hallowe'en.

Last night was hallowe'en. The small boys were dressed in the war-path, and busied themselves with a few pranks, but the old time doings are now dying out. There was a time when every citizen would need to watch the entire night, for fear he might have some of his property removed to other localities by the "boys." The destruction to property was sometimes great. Now the thing is changed, and less harmful tricks are perpetrated. The police officers report that last evening there were more girls out than boys, one officer in particular being accosted during his rounds by a shower of peas. He made an attempt to capture some of them, and succeeded in catching two after they had taken refuge in the house of one of their friends. He allowed them, however, to depart in peace. The remainder of the officers report everything quiet on their respective beats. This is as it should be.

It is stated, also, that diphtheria is prevalent at Plympton settlement, back of Brighton. There were 30 cases in the settlement. Alex. Austin lost three children and has two down; J. Montgomery lost two and has two down; Wm. Gunther lost one and has one down. Mr. Austin had to bury his own children. Dr. Clemerson, of Warkworth, who has been attending the afflicted ones, is now down himself.

"Dot."

"Dot" is a typical western drama, full of blood, bombast, bowie-knives, boodle, and red fire. It, however is not without its good points. Miss Bindley is a charming little soubrette, and plays her part to perfection. Her specialities, songs, dances and musical glasses were also good. Mr. Jas. Horton, although slightly stagey, gave an excellent impersonation in the role of the twin brothers. In the comedy character rolesof "David Bank," Mr. E. L. Redford made a hit. The rest of the company were fair, and the performance as a whole was excellent. This is the first company visiting Belleville which was managed by a woman. Mrs. Emma Franks, the proprietor and manager of this company, understands her business and does it well.

Zera Semon Novelty Co.

The above company commence a engagement of a week at the Opera House next Monday night, and of it an exchange says: A larger or better pleased audience never assembled in the Grand opera house than that which witnessed the performance of "Humpty Dumpty" Zera Semon's novelty combination. The entertainment is not histrionic, but novel; not profound, but entertaining and of that character which the old and the young, and the wise and the simple, can all enjoy alike. The performance begins with a clever legerdemain act, entitled "A Night in Wonderland," and is followed by Signor Giovanni in musical eccentricities. The Royal Marionettes were the most amusing feature of the evening, Mme. Strong's Fata Morgana was the finest work of Art ever seen on any stage. One hundred elegant and valuable presents were distributed in the fairest and most impartial manner.

A CAR CASE.

Inferior Material and Workmanship Alleged.

Damages and Costs of Suit Claimed.

The attention of the Court of Chancery has been occupied for the best part of the past two days with the case of the Rathbun Co'y. Kingston Car Works. From the evidence produced it appears that the Car Company furnished to the Rathbun Company in 1884 one passenger car and one combination car. These cars were to be used on the Napanee and Tamworth railway. Immediately on their arrival from the works they were placed on the road and continued in active service for two years. At the expiration of this period it began to appear to the purchasers that the material and work of the cars were not of the best quality, as they allege that defect after defect became visible. The doors began to shrink until a space of nearly an inch was perceptible at the top of the panels. The interior of the cars also showed a number of defects, the seats being poorly upholstered, the material covering the springs was of the poorest quality, while the seats themselves were not properly fastened to the side of the car. The blinds of the cars were also poorly constructed, as the slats were continually falling out. The roof of the car also sank in. Those who were experienced in car building gave it as their opinion that the sand used to the timber used being green, while the very driest of select timber should have been used. The outsides of the cars also bear marks of inferiority, the paint all peeling off and exposing wide cracks. The wheels were also of a poor quality, and commenced to flatten, showing that they were constructed of soft material. Paper and sand had got in some way during the the moulding. The truss plank that runs along the side of the car should have been constructed of ash, according to contract, whereas it proved to have been white pine. The contract called for red pine for the framework of the car, while white pine seems to have been used, and the material is represented as being too soft, and will not hold the nails properly. The Rathbun Co. were continually making repairs, until one of the cars was finally abandoned. Pieces of the wood with which the cars were constructed were produced in court, and presented a worm eaten appearance. The Rathbun Co. now claim damages for their labor and also for the cost of the present suit.

The plaintiffs are represented by Messrs. Bell & Biggar and the Hon. S. H. Blake, Q. C., and the defendants by C. Moss, Q. C., and Mr. McDonald, of Kingston.

Smoke Point Tragedy.

CONCLUSION OF THE TRIAL OF THE LOVELESSES.

Strong Evidence Adduced for the Defence—The Jury Find a Verdict of Not Guilty.

PICTON, Oct. 31.—The first witness this morning was Richard L. Hayes, who was called by the defence. He gave evidence as to the distances between the different points about the locality. He made a test of how the waggon and rake would pass the buggy. George Church placed the buggy in the position it occupied and the waggon and rake were driven by it. The rake could not come within 21 inches of the buggy. The buggy was placed where John Loveless said it was, and when driven past the rake wheel struck the forewheel of the buggy just back of the hub in the same way as Loveless described. Witness had known John Bonter long and considered his reputation not good, and after careful deliberation he said he would not care about believing him on oath.

The Crown counsel in cross examination tried to weaken the latter statement, and the witness named a number of men who had given Bonter a bad reputation before the trouble.

J. M. Brickman corroborated the previous witness' evidence about the test made.

W. S. Bolton's evidence brought forth some facts with which people here were not familiar. He said he was a baker in Trenton. He heard Church telling a lady about the accident to his rig in the morning when he and Loveless were running horses. Church told the lady that if he lived to get home he would meet the Lovelesses and till they would have to be carried home. Church afterwards repeated the statement to witness.

Dr. Thornton, of Consecon, gave evidence corroborating the correctness of the record of the coroner's inquest, which Bonter and Church had questioned. He knew nothing against the character of Bonter.

Wellington Parliament deposed that Bonter had told him a story different from what he did in the witness box. Bonter said that he and Peter Loveless had it hot and heavy. He said he could have taken the revolver away from old Loveless, but did not think they would shoot, and that Loaley hit Wellington twice. Witness had asked the boy Church why Loaley went back, and the boy said he went back to make Loveless pay for the buggy. Witness did not know what Bonter's reputation was.

Peter Loveless, jun., deposed that Wellington got the revolver from Snider on the latter's offer to trade, and didn't use the expression in his hearing that he expected trouble and might need it.

Anthony Seward, who lives on the next farm but one to Bonter, gave evidence which contradicted the boy Church in an important point. He said the boy was in the buggy when they drove away from Bonter's. His evidence was corroborated by his wife.

ACQUITTAL.

Mr. Osler's address to the jury was a masterly effort. The witnesses were much affected and many of the audience. It was the grandest effort ever made in the Picton Court house. Mr. Clute made an able address to the jury.

His Lordship's charge was complete and very painstaking, and was in favor of the prisoners. The jury returned a verdict of "not guilty" after an absence of an hour.

County Constables Bust on an Old General Items of Interest.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—The county constables are under the impression that they have got on to a nest of thieves out near Clandeboye. Last winter a number of robberies were committed on the Grand Trunk railway in that neighborhood and since then the constables have been on the look-out, but had not succeeded in getting a trace of any of the stolen property. A few days ago, however, a clue was obtained and one of the force went out there at an early hour yesterday morning and arrested Eli Rice, brother of the heroine of the Gilmour-Rice abduction case, which created such a stir some time ago. The charge is the stealing of two chests of tea from the Grand Trunk Railway Company in January last. The accused was remanded for a day by Magistrate Noble. A number of search warrants have been issued and the constables hope to recover a lot of the stolen property.

During October there have been registered with the city clerk 50 births, 27 deaths and 24 marriages.

The Relief Committee at a meeting last night decided to recommend the city council to bear the cost of maintenance of inmates of the "Old Men's Home" to the extent of 24 cents per day.

THE FIRE RECORD.

Wardsville Suffers Heavy Loss—Fires in other Localities.

WARDSVILLE, Nov. 1.—The large frame foundry belonging to H. Henderson was totally destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. A spark from the chimney set fire to the roof and gained such headway before noticed that it was impossible to get anything out of the building. A fresh breeze was blowing at the time and the flames soon spread to the Marshall house, occupied by J. Wilson, which was also burned. The villagers worked heroically and managed to keep the fire from crossing the street. Insured in Phoenix firm, $11,000; no insurance. J. Wilson's loss and damage to furniture, $300. A. M. Smith, of London, owner of the building, has about $1000; amount of insurance unknown.

Another Fire in Glasgow.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—Higginbotham's spinning and weaving mills, at Glasgow, were burned yesterday. Loss, $100,000.

ROME, Nov. 1.—Fire broke out yesterday in a part of the Quirinal used for the storing of furniture. The flames were extinguished before serious damage had occurred. The pontifical escutcheon affixed to the palace was burned. It will be replaced with the national arms.

Half a Million Gone up in Smoke.

BERLIN, Nov. 1.—The fire at Huenfeldt has been subdued. The damage will be about $500,000.

The Deadly Fire Escape.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 1.—While testing a rope fire escape at the Monongahela House yesterday the rope broke and three boys, James McClure, aged 14 years; John Duddy, aged 15, and Daniel Nade, aged 15, were precipitated from the fifth story to the pavement, a distance of 70 feet. McClure and Duddy were killed outright and were killed instantly. Nade had both arms and legs broken and will probably die. The agent of the fire escape, H. C. Allison, who hired the boys to come down the rope paying five cents each, has been arrested.

Cheese.

The Montreal Gazette says: "The cheese situation has undergone no substantial change, but the undertone of the market has a firm expression, with holders confident and not exercising any pressure to sell. Statistically the position appears healthy, and there is no serious effort apparent either on the part of the bears to make it out otherwise. Advices from most points east of Toronto indicate that practically all the September make has been sold and is moving, leaving only the October make in the country, which, as is now generally conceded, is light. The large combine now show a material shrinkage, while in many cases the smaller factories are running far behind last year, so that when navigation closes it looks as if stocks would not be excessive. From this date to the close of to the close of navigation we shipped about 150,000 boxes, and should that quantity go out this season the stock carried over promises to be in much smaller compass than the case last year. The exports from New York have continued light, only 6,000 box. for the week. Exports from New York from May 1st to date record over 66,438,720 pounds, against 60,289,568 in 1887, a decrease of 4,849,848 pounds, while the receipts during the same time decreased 28,200 packages. If we allow 65 pounds to the box for the shipments from August 27, we find a total of 65,234,000 pounds, against 65,733,267 to November 30, 1887, which shows that we have shipped considerably more than New York, and, of course, the States goods will have to be deducted from that total. Last year 4,725,979 pounds States cheese was shipped via Montreal to November 1st, and it is quite expected that that amount will be exceeded this year. It would appear that the aggregate shipments from New York and Montreal this season will fall short of last year, unless we ship heavily during the next three weeks. The cable was unchanged at 51s. A Liverpool cable dated yesterday says: "The cheese market is quiet, and is quoted 52s for fine September, while for colored cheese at 52@54s the demand is chiefly for consumption. An improvement in the demand is expected soon."

A Cheese Seller Absconds.

HE CARRIES AWAY OVER THREE THOUSAND DOLLARS BELONGING TO THE FARMERS.

BROCKVILLE, Oct. 31.—Mr. Field, Lyn, has absconded with $3,000 belonging to the patrons of several factories. On Tuesday Mr. Field was paid something over $2,000 for cheese, and had a week or so before been paid about $1,000 more. None of this money was handed over to the patrons. Field was seen at the Grand Trunk station on Friday last. The affair has created considerable excitement, as Field was considered one of the most trustworthy young men in this section. He is a son of the late Reuben Field. He is said to be one of the best cheese makers in this part of the province, and during the present season had filled the position of instructor for the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association.

The Dangerous Coal Oil.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—The explosion of poorly-refined coal oil in the case of another accidental burning. A little girl named Beachamp living on Maple street, while pouring her mother a domestic dinner, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while resting on the table. Her burning clothing was only torn from her with much difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quickly summoned but the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined the considerable quantity of inferior Coal Oil is being sold.

In order to avoid these low grades we have taken the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil:

'CARBON SAFETY OIL'

A specially refined and superior grade of Canadian Oil,

ASTRAL OIL,

A high grade American Oil.

These we can most confidently recommend to our retail trade as goods that will give entire satisfaction.

We are also fully supplied with Water White and Prime White, American Oil and the usual brands of Canadian Oil.

PROSPECTUS

Of the County of Hastings Directory for 1888-89.

A great many changes have taken place since we issued our last Directory, and there being a very general demand for a NEW DIRECTORY, the INTELLIGENCER Printing and Publishing Company has decided to issue a new edition, on or about the first of November, 1888.

The present issue will be in many details but that of the former Directories, but SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE INTRODUCED, which will render the Directory of great value to business men.

It will contain a complete list of the householders alphabetically arranged, of each Village, City, Town and Township in the County, with street, or concession and lot where they reside; and to make this part of the work of additional value, it is intended to give the POST OFFICE ADDRESS of each householder in the various Townships.

The descriptive information will be very full and complete, and every care will be taken to have it correct. There will be a of the Trades and Professions of Belleville.

THE MAP.

The Map accompanying the Directory will contain all the latest surveys, and will be a great improvement to what has been issued in the map of greater value generally to the County and to the various municipalities therein. The map will contain a plan of Belleville, Trenton, Stirling, Marmora Madoc, Bridgewater, Tweed, Deseronto and Campbellford.

While this will greatly increase the expense of the work, it will materially enhance the value of the publication in the eyes of the different Corporations.

PRINCE EDWARD.

The County of Hastings being commercially connected with a portion of the County of Prince Edward, and a large number of business men doing by those business connections, and in view of the early construction of the bridge, it is intended to give an alphabetical list of the inhabitants of the Townships of AMELIASBURG and HILLIER in that County, together with other information respecting these and adjoining Townships, which will be of general interest to commercial merchants, and professional men.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Directory will be of special advantage on account of its extended circulation, but notwithstanding the price for advertising space will be, viz.: One page, $10.00; Half page, $6.00; Quarter-page, $4.00. The same plan will be adopted as in the last edition,—that of intersperseing them among the alphabetical list of names—which will render them of additional value.

The subscription price will be two dollars per copy.

The benefit of such a work to business men in the City of Belleville and the County, is too apparent to need anything said in its favor. The publishers guarantee that the most studious efforts will be made to ensure correctness in the details of the work, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the Directory a credito this growing and enterprising City and County.

Orders for the Directory, or for Advertisements, may be left at the INTELLIGENCER Office, Belleville.

An Open Letter.

Messrs. T. Milburn & Co., Nov. 25th 1885.

I wish I had used B. B. B. sooner, which would have saved me years of suffering with erysipelas, from which I could get no relief until I tried B. B. B., which soon cleared away the itching, burning rash that had so long distressed me. Mrs. Edward Romkey, Eastern Passage, Halifax, N. S.

FEVER AND AGUE AND BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS are positively cured by the use of Parselee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, causing them to pour copious effusions from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

To lessen mortality and stop the inroads of disease, use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. For all diseases arising from impure blood, such as Fever sores, Scrofula, Biliousness, Indigestion, etc., etc., it has no equal. Mrs. Thomas Smith, Bind, writes: "I am using this medicine for Dyspepsia; I have tried many remedies, but this is the only one that has done me any good."

A MOTHER TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakens as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind. 24Sdwly

YOUNG MEN suffering from the effects of early evil habits, the result of ignorance or folly, who find themselves weak, nervous, and exhausted; also MIDDLE AGED and OLD Men, who are broken down from the effects of abuse or overwork, and in advanced life feel the consequences of youthful excess, send for a copy of Dr. Ludovici's Treatise on Diseases of Men. The book will be sent sealed to any address on receipt of two 3c. stamps. Address M. V. LUDOVICI, 47 Wellington S E., Toronto. 188dwly

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transition from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc, if attended to in time are easily subdued, but allowed to run their own course, generally prove the cause of more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their affliction from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. Oneof the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Hickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from vocal phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state

Rest and Comfort to the Suffering.

"Brown's Household Panacea" has no equal for relieving pain, both internal and externa It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal, as its acting power is wonderful. "Brown's Household Panacea," being adapted as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family handy for use when wanted, "as it really is the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the Stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds," and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cts a bottle.

A CARD.

The Child of Waterloo.

BY GEORGE W. M. REYNOLDS.

The attorney gave a groan, and the prisoner turned perfectly livid as he clutched the front of the bar for support.

'Who is he?' added the magistrate.

'He is a Prussian by birth, and his name is Sternholde.'

When the French witness uttered the name of Sternholde, the whole party of the Morcuxs started in amazement, for that name brought back the most terrible ideas to them, connected as it was with so much of the terrific, as had been recorded by him by the grandfather of Mabel. At once they seem to see before them, not only the persecutor of the beautiful girl, but the unrelenting foe of her parents—the man who had earned so dreadful and so unenviable a notoriety by the most actrocious actions that could disgrace human nature. They had suspected him of the murder of the traveller at the Morton Arms, but that truth is, they had not suspected him of the dreadful reputation which he really enjoyed. They all continued gazing upon him for some moments in silence, for there was no exclamation that the human language was capable of, which would have been sufficiently strong to convey their detestation of one, concerning whom they had heard so much, and who, for the honor of human nature, they did hope was no longer in the land of the living.

The magistrate saw with wonder the effect which the mere pronunciation of the name of Sternholde had upon the persons present, for it was an entirely new name to him, and as unconnected as possible with any previous ideas.

But if, upon the prisoner's accusers the pronunciation of his name had so marked an effect, it had, if possible, a much stronger one upon himself, for from the moment that he heard it declared who he was, he appeared to consider that all further attempt to disguise his real character was perfectly useless, and that the most desirable thing would be to glory in the dreadful reputation he had achieved.

He drew himself proudly up, and no longer seemed at all anxious to avoid the glances of those around him. The attempted subornation of a witness had failed completely, and since he could not escape the worst consequences of being known for what he really was, he appeared to derive a gloomy satisfaction, in showing that he was really, and to the full, as fearful a character as he was represented to be by all who had heard of his ruinous and desperate career.

'Yes,' he said, and his voice sounded hoarsely and discordantly, far above its ordinary tones. 'Yes, I am Sternholde, and I care not who knows it. I am Sternholde, and I have one other name, which is, the Battle Fiend! I glory in both appellations, but most do I glory in the latter, because it is that name, which has grown out of my revenge.'

'What is the meaning of all this?' said the magistrate. 'I must confess that I really cannot comprehend it.'

Then before any one could reply to this observation, there stepped up to the prisoner old Monsieur Rouselli, and while his head shook with emotion, and his white locks were scattered in the air, that were ed them as though they had been shreds of flossy silk, he looked him steadily in the face.

The old man did not speak, but he did not withdraw his eyes for a moment from the countenance of the man who had worked him so much woe. And Sternholde made a faint effort to look steadily in the countenance of Monsieur Rouselli. For a time—but a short time only—he did succeed, and than he began to falter; gradually he drooped and trembled—cowering beneath the gaze of the old man, as if it had brought with it some withering blight which it was not in human nature to withstand. It was quite clear that no word need be spoken. The villain was subdued by that steady, uncompromising gaze which, for a time, he could not exhibit all the power over the physical frame of an evil conscience, for while he shook like one in an ague, he turned his head sadly, and said,

'Enough! enough! I have nothing to say to you.'

'Murderer!' said the old man. "Can you breathe in my presence, and let know the amount of misery you have brought upon me?'

'Away! away!' said Sternholde, for so we may now as was well call him. 'Away, old man, I have no words for you.'

'Will some one,' said the magistrate, 'explain to me the cause of this remarkable change in the manner of the prisoner?'

'I can do it, sir,' said Captain Morton; 'but as the details will occupy some time, and as they cannot be said to apply to affairs recognizable to the jurisdiction of the English laws, I will, in private, communicate to you who and what this desperate man really is. I have only now to pray that you will remand him, for I expect I can produce evidence, so as to prove him guilty of a crime which the English law can take full cognizance of; I shall be able to prove him a murderer.'

'Tis false!' cried Sternholde. 'I have done nothing here, and being not an English subject, all acts that may be laid to my charge in other countries have nothing to do with the magistracy of this.'

'I shall grant the remand,' said the magistrate, 'upon your oath, Captain Morton, that you believe that you will be able to produce evidence of this man's guilt of a higher crime than the abduction of this young lady.'

'I did not abduct her,' said Sternholde. 'I had as much right to the custody of her as they who arrogate such a duty to themselves.'

'You are markably incorrect there,' said the magistrate. 'Captain Morton, by laws of this country—and I expect, for the proposition is really too reasonable a one to entertain a doubt upon, by the laws of every other European state—became the natural guardian of Mabel Rousselli. The dying request of her father, that he would accept such a trust, and his ready acceptance of it, were ample sufficient.'

'I know well,' said Sternholde, 'that very point will be strained against me. This is the country of all others, in which the poor and friendless have no chance against the rich and powerful. But do your worst. I defy you all, and may thwart you yet.'

'For how long would you like the prisoner remanded?' asked the magistrate of Captain Morton.

'In one week,' said the captain, 'I am confident that I shall have all the evidence which it is in my power to procure. The murder of which I accuse him was perpetrated at an inn in the country, called the Morton Arms.'

For Frost Bites.

There is no better remedy for frost bites, chilblains and similar troubles, than Hagyard's Yellow oil. It also cures rheumatism, lumbago, sore throat, deafness, and lameness and pain generally. Yellow Oil is used internally and externally.

CATARRH.

A New Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the interlining membranes of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes. The eminent scientists, Tyndall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made oftener then once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before an application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease.

So highly are these remedies valued that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy a parasite, of which they know nothing, by remedies, of the results of the application of which they are equal ignorant. Mr. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effect a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases.

Mr. Dixon sends a pamphlet describing his new treatment on the receipt of stamp to pay postage. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son, 303 King street west, Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Hesitation means Loss.

If your hair is coming out or turning grey, or if you find dandruff in your hair do not hesitate about looking after it. Get some of Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic," use it as directed and you will find that it will give you the best of satisfaction. Take warning, do not wait till it is too late but try it at once. All druggists sell it.

Give Them a Chance?

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. They are a wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do they cannot do well.

Call it cold, croup, croup, pneumonia, catarrah, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is but one sure way to get rid of them. That is take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

On the Platform

Public speakers and singers are often troubled with sore throat and hoarseness and are liable to severe bronchial attacks which might be prevented and cured by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam—the best throat and lung remedy in use.

Large Scrotal Hernia.

The change of late years in the treatment of Rupture is really surprising. Only a few years ago large Scrotal Hernia or Rupture could not be held by Trusses; now Mr. C. Cluthe, the celebrated Truss inventor, offers in every case a success or no charge. He goes even further than this; he offers a 300 mile return ticket on any railroad to any one whose Rupture he cannot hold. Mr. Cluthe is a responsible man, and above the reproach of taking advantage of people for the sake of the price of a Truss. This can be substantiated by the testimony of our most worthy physicians throughout the land, to whose patients his visits have proved such a comfort.

An enterprising burglar entered a gentleman's house at Stamford, Ireland, one night a couple of weeks ago, and after putlomine everything he could find, he prepared to remove a large photographic camera that was standing on a table. In some way he touched off a magnesium flash light attachment that was part of the machine, and fled precipitately when the thing flared up. The next day it was found that the camera had taken the photograph of the burglar. The negative was placed in the hands of the police, and duly its sitter was quickly nabbed by their man. It showed the burglar with a jimmy in one hand and a box containing jewelry under his arm, while he carried a sack over his shoulder with valuable pieces of plate, books, etc., and was gazing at the flash light in open-mouthed amazement. This was the most complete evidence of a mechanical eye witness, and the fellow was sent up for six months.—N. Y. Graphic.

—Everything is going to be done by electricity before long. It is beginning to be used by English bakers in baking their bread, and is said to save both labor and expense.

—A young clergyman in a western town preached the other day on "The Relation of Ministers to their Parishes." The local paper the next morning had it: "The Relation of Ministers to their Pharisees."

—Elizabeth Garrett Anderson is said to be the only woman physician in England who can exact as large fees as the highest-priced practitioners.

—A Wallaceburg girl who refused an offer of marriage from a young man, recently, sent him a check for the amount she supposed he had spent while he was courting her.

—Young man—"I cannot understand, sir, why you permit your daughter to sue me for breach of promise; you remember that you were bitterly opposed to our engagement because I wasn't good enough for her, and would disgrace the family." Old man—"Young man, that was sentiment, this is business."

—The Russian Empire, with a population nearly double that of the United States, contains but four cities having more than 200,000 inhabitants, St. Petersburg, Moscow, Warsaw and Odessa. There were at the last census but thirty six cities having a population of more than 50,000. All the cities of the Empire together contain barely more than one-eighth of the total population.

Important to Working Men.

Artizans, mechanics and laboring men are liable to sudden accidents and injuries, as well as painful chords, stiff joints and lameness. To all thus troubled we would recommend Hagyard's Yellow Oil, the handy and reliable pain cure for outward or internal use.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE GENERAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. For sale by all druggists, or sent post-paid on receipt of price (50c. and $1.) by addressing Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont.

Praiseworthy.

"Last summer I was entirely laid up with liver complaint. A friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters; I did so, and four bottles cured me. I cannot praise this remedy too much." John H. Rivers, Orr Lake, Ont.

There are a number of varieties of corns. Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

Orin Catlin, 49 Pearl Street Buffalo, N. Y., says: I tried various remedies for the piles but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications.

Mrs. George Leech, Haldimand Township, has received more benefit from two bottles of Dawling's Pepsin Compound, than from what she has ever taken in her life. She has been troubled with billiousness, loss of appetite and constipation for years. Now she has none of these troubles. Le ple write to her and see how she will recommend you to take Dawling's Pepsin Compound if you are Dyspeptic.

The cheapest medicine in use is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, because so very little of it is required to effect a cure. For croup, rheumatism, and diseases of the lungs and throat, whether used internally or externally, for taking internally or inhaling it is a matchless compound.

What does Dowling's Pepsin Compound cure? Dyspepsia and Indigestion. What are the symptoms? Billiousness, constipation, lack of energy, drowsiness, headache, pains in the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, depression of spirits. Ask your druggist for it.

Dowling's Little Liver Pills are highly recommended for all diseases of the liver.

Mr. Thomas Ballard, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I have been afflicted for nearly a year with that most-to-be dreaded disease Dyspepsia, and at times were out with pain and want of sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended I tried one box of Parmelee's Valuable Pills. I am able to work nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money."

Parmelee's Pills possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing diseases. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body. Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

Of all the dyspeptic remedies ever placed in the market, Dowling's Pepsin Compound takes the lead. Why? Because it acts naturally on the digestive organs of the stomach, and not mechanically, like the other patent medicines. Besides, it helps to assimilate and digest all the foods that enter the stomach. Ask your druggist for a bottle.

Belleville ites follow the example of Mrs. Geo. Leech, of Haldimand, and many others, and rid yourselves of that dire disease, dyspepsia and indigestion.

Popularity of High Class Authors.

Talking the other day with a bookseller on the subject of the popularity of the high class authors, it was learned that Marion Crawford has the largest sales and is bought almost exclusively by cultivated people. Although his books are $1.50 a volume, the demand for them is just as great. He has sold about a half million copies all told. But $2 for "The Immortals" was a little more than people could stand, and that book has languished in consequence. Henry James has shrunk to one-third of his former popularity, and Howells has fallen off perceptibly since the publication of that dreary book, "The Minister's Charge." Mrs. Burnett sells better than any other of the women writers—Craddock next. Anna Katherine Green sells fairly well, "Called Back," and "The Bread Winners" are as dead as though they had never been. Haggard is falling off in popularity very rapidly. There is little demand for "Mr. Meeson's Will." "The Lamplighter" and "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "Ben Hur" and "The Wide, Wide World" still sell. They will probably last as long as human nature. Harriet Beecher Stowe's books occasionally sell in sets. "The Wister Transactions" sell and are "charged up" as "Mrs. Wister's novels." "Marlett" is a sort of accident. Maud Howe's "Atalanta in the South," sold well when it first came out, but there is no demand for her books. She lacks "go." Edgar Saltus is the most popular of the younger group of authors. All Toltoi's books sell well.

When publishers' agents go the rounds, with their list of new books, the order is something like this: ten copies of every author of average popularity and of every prominent firm's new issue; twenty-five of Saltus; twenty-five of Craddock; two hundred of Crawford and Mrs. Burnett. Mr. Barnes of New York bids fair to become a standard selling work, and Mr. Potter is still called for. Ouida is on the wane. "Jane Eyre" still holds her own. All the dialect writers have their champions. Kinnet and Guenn have taken their place in the ranks. Of the French novelists Daudet sells the best. Edgar Fawcett sells when first out. "Robert Ellsmere" and "The African Farm" are selling on the strength of their religious element.—Current Literature.

An Animal Tamer's Courage.

A tiger named Athir escaped just before the performance opened, scattering the assembled audience in all directions, sending them in search of refuge to tree tops, house tops, and into houses not their own. It is one thing to board a tiger in his den, another to fight him unarmed in open air. But Bidel was quite equal to this unexpected call upon his skill and courage; he experienced "l'emotion de l'adolescent a la premier duel;" his only misgiving appears to have been whether he would prove worthy of himself and those waiting open mouthed for the coming fray.

Presently a timid looker on mustered courage enough to half open a window, and to announce in whispers the whereabouts of the escaped beast. The "royal" was in the dark recesses of a deserted locksmith's shop. Into this "gouffre d'ombre" Bidel flung himself, and, having become, as he says, familiar with its obscurity, he espied the crouching Athir in the act of springing, with foaming mouth and burning eye. The situation was what is called critical—it was simply a question of who should spring first, tiger or man. Bidel happily took the initiative, and bounded upon his prey. There was a tremendous tussle—there were foamings, flashings, howlings—but the dompteur triumphed. Bidel seized the tiger by the skin of his back, and lifting him on his loins, thus bore his heavy burden in triumph to his cage—a feat, it must be confessed, not easy to realize, much less to achieve.—Saturday Review.

Soprano in the Harem.

Masini, the famous tenor, who is one of the few living male vocalists who have been invited by the sultan to sing to the ladies of his harem, has a romantic story to relate apropos of his visit. He had just finished an air from "Le Huguenots," when to his surprise, a charming soprano voice took up the cantabile which follows in the score and sang it through in such a masterly good style that he was moved to make inquiries as to the owner of the mysterious voice. He discovered that it belonged to the daughter of a Turkish officer of high rank, who had been sent to Rome to study vocal music by her father, and who, on her return to Constantinople, had been virtually compelled to enter the imperial seraglio. She is a prisoner in effect, and the gilded chains seem all the more irksome to a fair captive who has tasted liberty and the world to the extent implied by a sojourn at the Italian capital as a musical student.—London Figaro.

The Head of London's Police.

The supreme chief of the police and detectives is Sir Charles Warren, a man who has not the first qualification, either by nature or education, for the position in him. He illustrates the so often unfortunate theory of primogeniture. Sir Charles had been a soldier, and served with fair credit, but had no executive experience or knowledge of police detail when he was placed in charge of the force of the greatest city in the world. If he had been a man content to pose as figurehead and allow the reins to be really held by capable lieutenants, not much harm would have been done, but unfortunately he is a gouty, irascible, stubborn old martinet, who insists upon managing affairs solely to suit himself. He must certainly have succeeded, for he has suited nobody else.

In person Sir Charles could be best described as beefy. He looks like the English comedy man just coming on the stage, retired on half pay, who swears by The Times and swears at everything else. He is said to have the greatest contempt for the office a reward in the Whitechapel affair, which is probably the case, as such a step would bring a multitude of shrewd private detectives into the case, and Scotland Yard is not fond of rivalry. A rather curious fact, but one that explains away a good deal of failure, is that the best men of the office are constantly at work on political matters. In the turbulent state of British politics the party in power always has plenty of detective work to be done, and the government resources are at their disposal. Such a thing is almost inconceivable in this country.—Baltimore Sun.

An African King's Facetiousness.

The king of Uganda, Africa, is one of the most sportive potentates in the world. He has a bitter prejudice against missionaries and has a good deal of fun killing them. But of late his facetiousness has taken on a new phase. He has 1,500 wives. In order that he may keep his harem filled with novelties, he now has five wives executed every morning before he has had his breakfast. In this way he keeps himself in good humor and begins each day in a pleasant frame of mind.—New York World.

Whistling for the Horse Cars.

There is a quite unimpeachable Fifth avenue girl who stops horse cars and stages by whistling at them. If she wishes to board one of these vehicles she stops carelessly at the curb, lifts one hand in a gracefully languid signal to the driver, and then prettily puckers her red lips, from which she emits a shrill, musical whistle. This is all done so demurely, and with such an air of gentle complacency, that the astonished witnesses are not apt to regard it as in the least vulgar.—New York Sun.

The Dangerous Coal Oil.

Montreal, Oct. 17.—The explosion of poorly-refined coal oil is the cause of another accidental burning. A little girl named Beauchamp, living on Maple street, while helping her mother in domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while resting on the table. Her burning clothing was only torn from her with much difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quickly summoned and the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined Oil a considerable quantity of inferior Coal Oil is being sold.

In order to avoid these low grades we have taken the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil:

'CARBON SAFETY OIL'
A specially refined and superior grade of Canadian Oil,
ASTRAL OIL,
A high grade American Oil.
These we can most confidently recommend to our retail trade as goods that will give entire satisfaction.
We are also fully supplied with Water White and Prime White American Oil and the usual brands of Canadian Oil.

$500 REWARD

is offered by the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for a case of Chronic Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; hearing dull; smelling and taste impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians. By its mild, soothing and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "Cold in the Head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache.

Sold by druggists everywhere; 50 cents.

"Untold Agony from Catarrh."

Prof. W. Haussen, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N.Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sundset, my voice would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent.

"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."

Thomas J. Rushing, Esq., 202 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure remedy for catarrh now manufactured, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

Three Bottles Cure Catarrh.

Eli Robbins, Bunyon P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says: "My daughter had catarrh when she was five years old, very badly. I saw Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy advertised, and procured a bottle for her, and before she had it helped her: a third bottle effected a permanent cure. She is now eighteen years old and sound and hearty."

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, NOV. 2

THE MANITOBA TROUBLE.

Mischief makers in the Grit press are trying to create trouble in Manitoba over the railway difficulty. They assert that the Dominion Government could settle the matter off hand if they chose—the object of this statement being to create political prejudice against the Government. The fact is that the matter cannot be decided until the case has been submitted to the Privy Council, and that this has not as yet been done. Happily the state of affairs is understood in Manitoba, and the mischief makers are not likely to take anything by their interference besides public contempt.

EQUAL TO THE EMERGENCY.

The notorious General Ben Butler is, although remarkably inconsistent as a politician, a very ready-witted man—which qualification he exhibited in a most amusing manner at Detroit on Tuesday night last. The General, as we learn from the News, was addressing a very large gathering in the interest of the Republican candidate for the Presidency. Everything was going Butler's way, and he thought he would touch them up with a pathetic story. He started in, and his audience was "with him" about half way through it. Then, to the general's amazement, they broke into a loud laugh. To say he was astonished would be to put it mildly. He paused a moment and then went on; but the audience went on laughing. Butler's attention was finally drawn to the flies above his head by a noise. There, swinging slowly by a string, one end of which was held by a small boy, was an immense tin spoon. Butler was equal to the emergency, however; catching it as it swung by, he broke the string and put the spoon in his coat-tail pocket.

"Thank you; one more," said he. Then he went on coolly with his speech. His presence of mind was loudly cheered.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

Two of the witnesses who gave before the Mining Commission, at Belleville, evidence favorable to reciprocity in minerals were Conservatives.—Mail.

The Mail is misinformed—but one of the three witnesses is a Conservative. Still, there is nothing strange in the fact that Conservatives have expressed themselves favorable to reciprocity in minerals, which has for many years been a part of the Conservative policy.

The Conservative Government in Great Britain are decentralizing their power by giving to the municipalities greater control over local affairs, which Parliament has long administered. The Liberal Government of Ontario have long been centralizing power in their own hands, as far as possible.

Ben Butler is truly a "remarkable" man. Originally a Democrat, lawyer Butler became a "War Democrat" and a General. He next figured as a Republican and for several years was the leader of that party in the House of Representatives. His errant fancies now turned towards the Greenbackers, and that party, united with the Democrats, elected him Governor of Massachusetts. Defeated at the next election, Gen. Butler became an "Independent" Democrat and was an Independent Democrat-Labor candidate for the Presidency in 1884. At present he is a supporter of Harrison and Morton. He will be seen that the versatile "Ben" has board the political compass, and he has probably a good many years of life and numerous changes of his political affiliations yet before him.

Sitting on the Safety Valve.

Many are they who have laughed at the story of the green steamboat fireman who sat on the safety valve to prevent it "leaking." Yet thousands are repeating his folly every day. They are troubled with blotches, pimples, eruptions, salt-rheum, boils, carbuncles, ulcers and old sores, and are contenting themselves with suppressing the symptoms without removing the cause. They sit on these safety valves by which Nature is driving out blood impurities, instead of using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which cures by removing the cause, which is in the blood. It is a wonderful blood purifier and invigorating tonic.

Do you think the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy would offer, as they have done for many years, a standing reward of $500 for a case of Catarrh which they cannot cure, if they did not positively know that the Remedy will absolutely and permanently cure Catarrh. Sold by druggists, at only 50 cents.

The Sackville Matter.

The Decoy Letter and the Reply.

At the request of several readers we publish the notorious decoy letter to Lord Sackville, and reproduce his reply, as follows:—

"Pomona, Cal., Sept. 24, 1888.

"To the British Minister, Washington, D.C.:

"Sir,—The gravity of the political situation in this State, and the division of those voters who are of English birth, but still consider England the mother land, constitute the apology I hereby offer for intruding for information.

"Mr. Cleveland's message to Congress on the fishery question justly excites our alarm and compels us to seek further knowledge, before finally casting our votes for him, as we had intended to do. Many English citizens have for years refrained from being naturalized, as they thought no good would accrue from the act, but Mr. Cleveland's administration has been so favorable and friendly toward England, so kind in not enforcing the Retaliatory Act passed by Congress, so silent on the free trade question, and so hostile to the dynamite school of Ireland, that by the hundreds—yes, by the thousands—they have become naturalized, for the express purpose of helping to elect him over again; the one above all of American politicians they consider their own and their country's best friend.

"As you are at the fountain head of knowledge on the question, and know whether Mr. Cleveland's present policy is temporary only, or whether it will, as soon as he secures another term of four years in the Presidency, suspend it for one of friendship and free trade, I apply to you private ly and confidentially for information which shall in turn be treated as entirely secret. Such information would put me at rest myself, and if favorable to Mr. Cleveland enable me, on my own responsibility, to assure many of our countrymen that they would do England a service by voting for Cleveland and against the Republican system of tariff. As I before observed, we know not what to do, but look for more light on a mysterious subject, which the sooner it comes will better serve true Englishmen in casting their votes.

"Yours very respectfully,

(Name suppressed.)

LORD SACKVILLE'S REPLY.

Private.—Sir,—I am in receipt of your letter of the 4th inst., and beg to say that I fully appreciate the difficulty in which you find yourself in casting your vote. You are probably aware that any political party which openly favored the Mother Country at the present moment would lose popularity, and that the party in power is fully aware of the fact. The party, however, is, I believe, still desirous of maintaining friendly relations with Great Britain, and is still as desirous of settling all questions with Canada, which have unfortunately been re opened since the retraction of the treaty by the Republican majority in the Senate, and by the President in accordance to which you allude. All allowances must, therefore, be made for the political situation as regards the Presidential election thus created. It is, however, impossible to predict the course that President Cleveland may pursue in the matter of retaliation should he be elected, but there is every reason to believe that, while upholding the position he has taken, he will manifest a spirit of conciliation in dealing with the question involved in the message. I enclose an extract from the New York Times of August 22nd, and remain, yours faithfully,

"L. S. Sackville-West.

"Beverly, Mass., Sept. 25th, 1888."

THE EXTRACT.

The editorial extract from the New York Times, which Lord Sackville enclosed to his unknown correspondent as best likely to influence his vote is follows:

"There is little further consideration in favor of supporting the administration on this issue. It will leave the question still open for friendly means of settlement of some kind, while a support of the Senate's position would close all avenues of future negotiations, and bring upon the country by a distinct consequences of retaliation, hostility and possible war. It would put an end to all prospect of improving the commercial relations of the United States and Canada. This is one of the questions which the people should keep in mind in casting their votes on the 6th inst.

Marmora Correspondence.

A Revolution in Business—Personal—Substantial Progress.

Marmora, Oct. 31st, 1888.

A revolution has taken place in the business circles of this place within the last few days. Mr. Wm. Shaw has sold out his entire business to Michael Gillen, and Mr. Adam Loucks, one of the oldest merchants here, sold out his business to Messrs. Hubbell and Clairmont. Mr. Hubbell is an old employee of W. E. Gladney, whom he served up to going into business for him self. Messrs Shannon and Deacon have dissolved partnership and Mr. P. C. Shannon continues in the furniture business in his new stand on Mill street.

It is with regret that we learn of the near departure of our esteemed friend and lady, Mrs and Mrs. P. H. Pearce, to take up their abode in Peterboro'. Mr. Pearce has accepted the position of manager of the stove foundry of that place for an indefinite time.

T. P. Pearce is erecting a very large building on Mill street, to be used as a sash, door and blind factory, the building to be 40x60.

A. W. Carscallen has moved to his new bank. It is a very fine edifice and is a credit to the village, as in it we can boast of having as fine, if not the finest, bank of any village of its size.

Rick headache caused by excess of bile or a disordered stomach is promptly relieved by using National Pills.

QUIET AT THE CROSSING.

THE SITUATION IN MANITOBA PEACEFUL YESTERDAY.

The Military Still on Guard—Contractors Flooding the American Flag—To-day May See Trouble.

Winnipeg, Nov. 2.—Everything was quiet at the crossing yesterday and there was no trouble last night. The military are still on guard, the Canadian Pacific people are watching the crossing and the Northern Pacific and Manitoba Railway force were busy all day completing the spur.

Some of the contractors' teams, in bad taste, are flaunting the American flag. It is expected that an attempt will be made to-day to take an engine over and this will be resisted by the Canadian Pacific.

Between 400 and 500 Dakota excursionists are in town.

HACKED BY HER BROTHERS.

Two Poles Brutally Assault the Lover of Their Sister.

Wilkesbarre, Nov. 2.—A tragedy which will in all probability result in the death is enacted in a suburb of Nanticoke last night. Adam Dyoliski, a young Hungarian, had been paying attention to Mary Vitolik, a young Polish lassie, for some time, but his suit was objected to by her brothers. Dyoliski called at the Vitolik residence last evening to invite his sweetheart to attend a Polish ball this evening. The two brothers objected and a fight ensued, in the course of which the lover was thrown out of the house.

Shortly after he returned, having previously sent a message to the girl a king her to prepare to elope. He and Mary were conversing in the kitchen, when the two brothers rushed out of a room in which they had been listening to the conversation. John picked up a hatchet and Joseph a knife, and armed with these weapons they proceeded to make minee meat out of Dyoliski. The screams of the sister attracted the attention of neighbors who hurried to the scene. The brutal brothers, after much difficulty, were pulled off their victim, who was more dead than alive. He was terribly cut about the head and body, and doctors say he cannot live. His assailants have been arrested.

ONE MORE FORGER IN CANADA.

Henry F. Albers, a Buffalo "High Liver," Skips Across the Border.

Buffalo, Nov. 2.—Rumors that Henry F. Albers, a coal and lumber dealer of this city, had gone to Canada under a cloud, prove upon investigation to be true. About six months ago money transactions began between Albers and Jacob Schen, the well-known brewer of Ridge Road. At that time Albers succeeded in getting the endorsement of Mr. Schen on a note for $2000, which he promised to pay in a week. This note was paid at the time agreed upon. Subsequently Albers induced Mr. Schen to indorse other notes at different times until the amount reached $6000. About half of this Albert made good.

A few days ago it was discovered that Albers had forged Mr. Schen's name to notes aggregating $20,000. Mr. Schen says he does not believe that Albers of wholesale money from the banks on these notes, but it is claimed that he did raise such on two spurious notes each for about $1500. Albers was a high liver.

A Bomb in the Stove Wood.

Bridgeport, Nov. 2.—While Mrs. R. J. Teele was attending to household duties yesterday an explosion shattered the kitchen stove. Mrs. Teele and her 12-year-old son narrowly escaped injury from the flying pieces of iron. Pieces of a needle bomb, which had been loaded with some explosive, were found among the fragments of the stove. The bomb had been picked up in the hallway by Mrs. Teele's son, who mistook it for a piece of stove wood. Mrs. Teele had trouble with a family living in the same house, and an investigation will be made. Mrs. Teele's husband is employed in New York.

Attempted Suicide at Singhampton.

Singhampton, Nov. 2.—Robert Futhey, a superannuated school teacher about 84 years of age of eccentric disposition, made a determined attempt to take his life yesterday morning by cutting his throat almost from ear to ear with a razor. Not having accomplished his object the first time he made a second attempt when he was discovered and prevented from carrying out his purpose. He is in a precarious condition but may recover.

The Weather Crop Bulletin.

Washington, Nov. 2.—The weather crop bulletin issued by the signal office says: The weather has been generally favorable for farm work in the winter wheat states, and the rainfall for the month has doubtless affected the winter wheat crop favorably. The rain in the southern portion of the Gulf states has impaired the condition of crops in that section, although the reports indicate that generally the weather for the season has not been favorable for the cotton crop.

The Yellow Fever Record.

Decatur, Ala., Nov. 2.—Eight new cases of yellow fever were reported yesterday.

Enterprise, Fla., Nov. 2.—Twenty-two cases of yellow fever and four deaths were reported here yesterday. There is great distress.

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 2.—Yesterday was the coolest for a week past, but the fever record took another jump, 56 cases and two deaths were reported.

Champion Pugs to Meet.

New York, Nov. 2.—Jack McAuliffe and Jake Hyams, who claim respectively the light-weight pugilistic championship of America and England, yesterday signed articles to box ten rounds Marquis of Queensberry rules with gloves. The winner is to take the entire net receipts and the match is to take place within 200 miles of New York six weeks from date.

The Dolphin Defeats the Nymph.

Burlington, Vt., Nov. 2.—The race between the steam yachts Nymph and Dolphin, owned respectively by Dr. Seivard Webb, and Major W. B. Wetmore, was sailed yesterday before numerous spectators. The Dolphin won in 13 minutes and 8 seconds, beating the Nymph 32½ seconds. The course was six and a half miles.

The Czar at Moscow.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 2.—The Czar and his suite were received at Moscow yesterday with imposing ceremonies. The people accorded His Majesty a most enthusiastic reception. The Czar visited the cathedral where he prayed silently before the picture of the Virgin. After spending a few hours in the Kremlin he resumed his journey to Gatschina.

A Malahide Farmer Wanted for Seduction.

Aylmer, Nov. 2.—E. A. Miller of this place has caused a warrant to be issued for the arrest of a resident of Malahide under the Charlton Act for the seduction of the 15-year-old daughter of a farmer of that township.

BANKER MASCETTA'S HEARING.

Philadelphia, Nov. 2.—Italians packed the hearing room at the second district station house when Magistrate Lelar called the case of E. Lorenzo Mascetta, the partner of Banker Castelluccuzzo, who absconded with the savings of many of his countrymen and is now on the high seas bound for Antwerp. Mascetta was in business with Castelluccuzzo since February. It was not believed that Mascetta was concerned in the robbery of the depositors, but when the flight of the senior partner was made public it spread like wildfire and stirred up wild excitement in the Italian quarter about Carpenter street.

A dozen frenzied Italians who has suffered the loss of their savings threatened to murder Mascetta. His arrest was demanded and he was locked up on a warrant sworn out by Gaetano Dal Bene di Faco. When Mascetta was brought into the hearing room before Magistrate Lelar the crowd got excited and began to swear at the prisoner in strong Italian sentences and shake their clenched fists at him, but policemen kept the mob back from Mascetta. When Faco had told, through a good-looking interpreter, how he had deposited $40 with the sinner on Oct. 15 and was unable to get it back he produced a bank book with the entry marked in it on that day.

After nineteen other men had testified that they had put their savings in charge of the bankers and had been swindled, Magistrate Lelar held Mascetta in $500 bail to answer at court the charge of embezzlement. A man was ready to go his bail, but the mob was again boiling with rage and Lawyer Keely, who represented Mascetta, thought it best that his client be not released. The police drove the mob out of the station house, but the defrauded Italians and their friends stood around the station house in groups watching the entrance for over an hour.

In the afternoon Magistrate Lelar's office on Third street, near German, was overflowing with Italians. Vincenzo Piscosa swore that he gave over $100 to Mascetta to send to Minceuzo's father and mother in Italy and that he had appropriated the money. He said he expected to prove that the defunct bankers had embezzled nearly $2000, representing the hard-earned savings of almost forty men and women. Another warrant was issued against Mascetta on Minceuzo's charge. While Magistrate Lelar was issuing the warrant Dom Salvati, of Wilbertha, N. J., was swearing out a capias in the Prothonotary's office against Mascetta in a civil action to recover his lost money.

NEWS OF THE DOMINION.

THE SHARPSHOOTERS' MONUMENT AT THE CAPITAL.

Unveiled Yesterday by Lord Stanley in the Presence of a Large Number of Spectators—A Big Railway Deal.

Ottawa, Nov. 2.—The event of yesterday was the unveiling of the monument to the two members of the Ottawa Sharpshooters, Privates W. S. Osgood and John Rogers, who were killed at Cut Knife. The day being fine a large crowd turned out, over 5000 people being assembled in Major's Hall Park and vicinity.

The monument is placed at the entrance to the park and consists of a bronze statue of a sharpshooter in the full uniform of a guardsman, with the rifle at the right and in an attitude of repose, standing upon a square pedestal of grey Canadian granite, upon either side of which are inscriptive of Osgood and Rogers. The figure of the sharpshooter while full of massive strength is indicative of dejection and grief. The pedestal is ten feet in height and the statue seven. The inscription reads:

ERECTED BY THE CITIZENS OF OTTAWA

To the Memory of Privates

JOHN ROGERS AND WILLIAM B. OSGOOD

OTTAWA COMPANY OF SHARPSHOOTERS,

Who Fell in Action at Cut Knife Hill on the 2nd of May, 1885.

CUSTOMS SEIZURE AT MONTREAL.

A Young Irishman Takes in by an Old Confidence Game.

Montreal, Nov. 2.—Henry Moore, a young Irishman who has been working on a farm in the vicinity of Toronto, and who arrived in Montreal on Wednesday on his way to visit his friends in Ireland, has been taken in by a confidence game. He loaned a man $20 because his friend could not cash a bogus check for $930 drawn on a New York bank.

The customs officers here have made a seizure of liquors, in which it is claimed there was undervaluation of a large consignment of wines, at a club house on St. Antoine street kept by Mr. Bertin, who is an importer. The wines are valued at between $4000 and $5000. Bertin denies any intention of irregularity in the matter and says he has been betrayed to the officers by an ex-employe for revenge.

Ambitious City News.

Hamilton, Nov. 2.—The committee of the Niagara Methodist conference which met on Wednesday night to consider the case of Rev. Mr. Colling, of Simcoe, arrived at a decision, but it has been decided not to divulge it until the Simcoe board has passed on the matter. It is understood that the charges against Mr. Colling are chiefly in relation to matters of doctrine, particularly in regard to his extreme views on the doctrine of holiness.

The customs duties collected at this port during October were $62,154, a decrease of $3844 as compared with the corresponding month last year. Inland Revenue receipts, $44,545, an increase of $10,968. Exports to the United States from the consular district of Hamilton $105,243.

It Was Billy the Tinker.

St. Catharines, Nov. 2.—The body found in the woods a short distance from Beamsville, has been identified as that of a man known as "Billy the Tinker," who lived in the vicinity of Smithville, and has been missing since the early part of May last. Deceased was a man of about 60 years of age, who wandered about the country, and no attention was paid to his disappearance at the time.

Deserves to be Lynched.

Kingsville, Nov. 2.—Some miserable specimen of humanity named Two-ago perpetrated a horrible crime on one of Mr. J. H. Smart's horses on the Sorenson farm near here. The fiend drove the horse from the pasture into the barn and cut off its foot at the joint and left it to bleed to death. The poor brute was discovered lying dead on the barn floor the next morning.

Pleaded Guilty to Indecent Assault.

Oshawa, Nov. 2.—Joe. Strickland, who was recently charged before Police Magistrate Harper for indecent assault upon a young woman, employed as waiter in the Queen's Hotel, and was committed for trial, elected summary hearing and pleaded guilty. The Thorold Gas Well.

Thorold, Nov. 2.—A depth of over 2025 feet has been reached in the gas well here. Mr. Humphrey, the superintendent, says he is confident of striking the Trenton rock, which is gas giving strata, at a depth of 2300 or 2400 feet. There are three beds of sand to be passed before the gas can be struck.

Busy Evening.

In the town of Trenton the evening of Hallowe'en was celebrated, we should judge, in a matrimonial manner, there being no less than three weddings, and each was performed by the same minister, the Rev. Mr. Gee, pastor of the West End Methodist Church.

Cow Killed.

A cow belonging to Mrs. Bridget Clemson strayed upon the Grand Trunk railway track yesterday afternoon near the second overhead bridge and was struck by the engine of a freight train and killed. This is the second animal that has been killed near that locality this week.

Two Bears Killed.

On Monday last, Miss Minnie Howes and Mrs. Samuel Watson were attacked by two bear cubs at Heeley Falls. A brother of Mrs. Watson, a young man, and a companion happening along, they went for the bears, one with an axe the other with a club, and succeeded in killing both.—Campbellford Herald.

Suggestions Wanted.

The City Council proposes to change the name of Hotel Street. Probably some of our readers can suggest a fitting name in substitution for the old one. We invite suggestions to that end, and ask that they may be sent in at once. If the reasons for the same accompany them, it will be preferable.

Require Attention.

The management of the Water Works having undertaken to make good all damage to the streets by the excavation of the trenches, their attention is called to the very bad condition of the two crossings on Front street adjoining the City Hall, at the points where they were crossed by the trenches.

Triple Anniversary.

Monday next will be memorable, not only as the anniversary of the discovery of the Gunpowder Plot, but also because it is the Bi centenary in Devonshire, England, of William Henry, Prince of Orange and Nassau, afterwards William III. of England; and because it is the 34th anniversary of the battle of the Battle of Inkerman, fought Nov 5th 1854.

The Altar.

James Thompson, son of Mr. Wm. Thompson, butcher of this city, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony on Wednesday evening at Trenton, to Miss Mary Eliiot of that town, formerly of this city. The ceremony was performed by a large number of friends of the bride and groom, and the presents received were both numerous and costly. After the ceremony the guests sat down to a beautiful spread, which a most pleasant time was spent. May happiness attend them. Rev. Mr. Gee officiated.

A Hot Time.

The City Council of Kingston are having a hot time over the proposed by-law to grant $75,000 in aid of the extension of the Napanee, Tamworth and Quebec railway, to that city, via Harrowsmith and the Kingston and Pembroke. On Monday night they held a discussion on the subject, and on Wednesday night they had a special meeting, at which the were several stirring verbal encounters between aldermen. The fun was kept up till a. m. on Thursday, when the meeting broke up resolved to give the subject further attention at another meeting.

The Gift Show.

The Opera House was packed to the doors again last night by an appreciative audience, to witness the concert given under the Prof Semon and his Co. and to say everybody was delighted, would be a mild way of putting it. From the first raising of the curtain to the close of the programme there was not a weak point in it. The Prof. is a whole show in himself, and with the flock of trained canaries, musical glasses, minstrel marionettes, and the magnificent views presented at the close, go to make up one of the very best entertainments that have visited our town for a long time, well worth the price of admission, without any of the presents which further on are given away nightly and which are both numerous and costly.—Port Hope Times, Oct. 31.

At the Opera House next week. See advertisement.

Address and Presentation.

A very pleasant evening was that which was spent last evening at the Baptist church. The members and friends of the congregation assembled in large numbers, the occasion being for the purpose of spending a social time, and to allow of all the adherents of the church becoming better acquainted with each other and the pastor of the church, Rev. D. M. Mihell. During the course of the evening the rev. gentleman was the recipient of a highly complimentary address, accompanying which was a purse of gold. Mrs. Mihell was also presented with a handsome set of dishes. Mr. Mihell, although completely taken by surprise made a feeling reply, in which he referred to the prosperous condition of the church over which he presided. After the presentation all present sat down to a sumptous repast which had been prepared by the ladies.

"The Dubleau Mystery."

Under this heading there appeared in our local contemporary last night a virulent attack upon the police forces, because of alleged inefficiency in connection with the Dubleau case, and concluding as follows: "Such important business was not transacted in such a careless manner in Belleville when the force was under the charge of Hugh McKinnon, but in this as in other matters, time makes changes."

In reference to this matter, Chief Newton requests us to state that his evidence, and that of officer Hayes, which was given at the inquest, show that the police did everything that was possible until Mrs. Thompson's statement to him that Richard Dewsbery had seen Dubleau in Deseronto, when the search was abandoned. That evidence was suppressed by our contemporary in its report of the inquest.

To the allegation that the force is inefficient, as compared with its condition under his predecessor, Chief Newton furnishes the following facts in reply: During the last ten months under Mr. McKinnon, the total number of arrests was 214; under Chief Newton ten months this year 417, or nearly twice as many. The collections made for billiard licenses, cart licenses, fines and fees, livery licenses and dog tax, under Chief Newton last year—his first year in office—amounted to $1,048 02 above the average of the previous seven years.

The public can from these facts form an opinion as to the foundation for and the justice of the charges.

The Young Ladies of Mr. C. P. Holton's Class Have an "At Home."

The young ladies composing the bible class taught by Mr. C. P. Holton, in the Bridge St. Church, have for some time past been a prominent factor of that Sunday School. Immediately after the destruction of the old church by fire the class determined that when the new church was erected they would do something that would have the effect of perpetuating its name. They decided that a bell placed in the new edifice would have the desired effect, and at once set to work to secure the bell. At the day of dedication the bell was presented to the trustees of the church on behalf of the class with the compliments. The class have now on hand the purchase of a free library, and have succeeded in raising over $100 for this purpose. The young ladies also decided a short time ago that they would have a reunion of the class and its friends, and this arrangement was carried into effect last evening, and was an unqualified success. The guests, comprising the officers and teachers and their wives and husbands and members of B.S. Clarke's and Mr. A. Hay's classes, numbered about 300. The young ladies had prepared a bountiful repast, which was spread in the basement of the church, to which justice was done. After all had partaken of the luxuries, a platform meeting was organized, with the pastor, Rev. J. Learoyd, as chairman, who in a few words expressed his gratification at the success of the class and the school in general. Addresses were also given by Messrs. W. Jones, superintendent, Wm. F. Jones, who gave also an original poem (?) or jingle, T. S. Clarke, A. Hay, C. P. Holton, and W. H. Hilton. Each of the last gentleman's remarks was an appropriate one to a young ladies' class, namely, "Run, speak to that young man," and created much merriment. The addresses were interspersed with suitable music, being composed of solos by Miss Richardson (who also presided at the piano), Miss Templeton, Mrs. Jas. A. Jones and Mr. Leonard, F. E. O'Flynn, all of which were well received. Mr. C. P. Holton, the teacher of the class, said that everything which the class had undertaken to perform since its formation had proved a success, and more especially during the past year. The free library, when purchased, will be distributed to the senior portion of the school, while the class still continues in their public work.

Mock Parliament.

The most interesting meeting of the session was held last night and the number of spectators was large, consisting chiefly of ladies.

The Bill regulating the Practice and Procedure of the House, introduced by the Hon. W. C. Mikel, Premier, was read a second time, went to committee and passed and will become law at the next meeting. It was seconded by J. Earl Halliwell, member for Prince Edward, and elcited a good deal of discussion. The intention or the Bill is to cover certain points as to which the practice of the House at Ottawa is inapplicable.

The Hon. H. H. Johnston, Sec'y of State, introduced the Chinese Bill, seconded by Mr. Alex. Blanchard, member for , which has been looked forward to with so much interest by the members, and not a little by the citizens. It brought forth a great deal of discussion, and the debate on the second reading was adjourned till next meeting by the member for

The following notices of Bills were given: A Bill regulating the punishment for Treason and Felony; a Bill regulating the Law Society of Upper Canada; a Bill regulating the Franchise for the Dominion of Canada; and a Bill regulating the crime of Homicide.

The Opposition have so far not given notice of a Bill. They seem resolved to do nothing but sit back and criticise and object. Their leader gave notice that he would move for returns showing the expenditure on the High Commissioner's household at London. Increased accommodation has been made on the gallery for ladies.

Fish Case

Messrs. R. McDonald, Geo. McDonald, John LaRue, Thos. McDonald, sen., Thos. McDonald, jr., and Wm. McDonald were before the Magistrate this morning charged by James Gerow with allowing fish nets to remain in the bay from Saturday night to Monday morning, the offence alleged to have taken place on the 22nd ult. The nets were set for the purpose of catching white fish and herring, and these nets cannot, according to law, be allowed to remain in the water during Sunday. This practice, it is claimed, has been carried on by these parties for the past four weeks. Messrs. S. B. Burdett and J. Williams appeared for the defendants, while the City Solicitor conducted the prosecution. The case was enlarged until Wednesday next.

Fell Through a Window.

Yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, two young girls, Maggie Kenny and one named Pratt, were passing the new building on corner of Bridge St. near the old post office building, when a boy named Simmons came along pushing a hand cart. From an eye witness of the affair, it appears the boy had attempted to push the cart over them, when the Pratt girl, not noticing how near she was to a window, fell through it, cutting the wrist of her right hand badly. These conveyances should not be allowed to occupy sidewalks.

Being Demolished.

The contract for tearing down the old St. Michael's church was awarded to Mr. Thos. Harris, and the work is going steadily forward. The front part of the church tower has been removed, and the roof is now being taken off. This edifice has stood the storms of many years, and its demolition recalls to many both pleasant and sad recollections of the past.

VICTIMS OF THE "SPOTTER."

Four Grand Trunk Conductors Suspended —What was it For?

HAMILTON, Nov. 2.—Three familiar ticket punchers have disappeared from the Hamilton branch of the Grand Trunk Railway and one from the main line of the Southern Division (Suspension Bridge to Windsor.) Four well known passenger conductors have been suspended and considerable excitement has been created both here and in Toronto in railway circles.

The unfortunates are "Bob" Gilkinson of Toronto, Wm. McKay and Conductor Edmonson of Hamilton, and "Tom" Blunt of the main line. When a passenger conductor is suspended now-a-days he is very lucky if he ever finds out what it is for. "Spotters" have been sent over the trains on the Hamilton branch for a considerable time. These informers, it is said, are bound to make some kind of a report against some one, and they are not over particular what that report is. It is rumored that the suspended conductors were charged with carrying some of their friends on their trains dead head.

Superintendent Skiff of the Southern Division was in Toronto yesterday and remained until the evening holding some kind of an investigation which may lead to some of the men being re-instated. Rumors were in circulation last evening that the whole Grand Trunk staff, from purser to porter, is peopled with spotters and that no less than twenty three conductors had been suspended within a couple of weeks on the different divisions.

A Morrisburg Man Drowned.

MORRISBURG, Nov. 2.—Mr. M. G. Munro, a wealthy citizen of Morrisburg, was missing yesterday morning, having been home Wednesday night. His hat was found floating in a flume leading from the canal to Gilson's mills, and on further search his body was discovered near the mills, the water having drawn it against the grating. He was an old bachelor, 70 years old, and it is not known how the accident occurred. He had quite a large sum of money on his person, which was found on the body. The coroner did not consider an inquest necessary.

A Narrow Escape.

GUELPH, Nov. 2.—Yesterday morning as one of the clerks in Harvey & Co.'s hardware store was fitting some cartridges to a gun brought in by Mr. James Person, the gun, which was not in good order, ragked the priming of a cartridge and it went off, the ball making a big hole in the front plate glass window and shattered it badly. The glass was sufficiently heavy to scatter most of the bullet, and no further damage was done. Mr. Person was standing close by at the time and the bullet whizzed past his face. The window was fully insured.

Listowel Cheese Fair.

LISTOWEL, Nov. 2.—At the cheese fair held here yesterday 14 factories boarded 5995 September and October cheeses, of which 3,750 were colored, 2,265 pale; sales were 300 at 10½c, 310 on private terms. Four buyers present, market very dull, only one buyer operating Bancroft Correspondence.

BANCROFT, Nov. 2, 1888

Many of the hunting parties visiting this neighborhood have come and gone, taking with them the result of their exploits. Many gentlemen from Toronto and elsewhere do ever remain, and the fine open weather conduces to their enjoyment. One of your estimable citizens, Mr. Nesworthy, had the gratification on the 30th inst., by making one less of the many animals of this description that are most unaccountably abundant this season. One merchant alone in Bancroft can show thirty-one fine bear skins, and he has about a dozen more secured when prepared for delivery. Another fur buyer in the next County has over fifty in his possession. These are only a few out of many storekeepers in this district, who generally have some more or less. Perhaps the incredulous correspondents of some of the rural journals as to the number of bears frequenting the woods this year, will make a note of this.

Great dissatisfaction exists in the north with the management of the Central Ontario Railway. Complaints of freight is coming in from all quarters, but the most pressing that merchants and others cannot get their goods delivered at Rathbun Station, without a delay of three weeks or more after the arrival of the shipment. It does not appear to answer their purpose to increase the number of freight cars, so as to accommodate the public. Another cause of complaints is that notwithstanding the increase of traffic the company are continually raising their tariff of charges, until it has reached a point almost unbearable. A movement is in agitation to solicit the Grand Trunk to establish a line of running cars to Eldorado, and parties this winter will draw hence and save imposition. It is notified by the company, also, that the mail train will not arrive before five in the evening, instead of about midday, so that we shall not secure our papers and correspondence before the following day. Has the Post master General no influence over this left-handed improvement?

The Car Case.

The case before the Chancery Sittings of the Rathbun Company vs. Kingston Car Works, is still going on but will be concluded this evening. This afternoon was occupied by the counsel in arguing the case. The case has occupied the attention of the court for nearly three days, a large number of witnesses being examined. The costs attendant on the suit will be large.

The Triumphant Three.

"During three years' suffering with dyspepsia I tried almost every known remedy but kept getting worse until I tried B.B.B. I had only used it three days when I felt better; three bottles completely cured me." W. Nichols, of Kendall, Ont.

THE SACKVILLE EPISODE.

MR. BLAINE'S ARRAIGNMENT OF DEMOCRATIC DIPLOMACY.

The London Papers Continue to Print Caustic Comments on American Politics and Politicians.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Addressing a meeting at Norwich, Conn., last evening Mr. Blaine said while speaking of the Sackville incident: "The Democratic party have had conducted the affairs of this country with Great Britain with dignity or with advantage to this country. We owe to the Democratic party and to its bad diplomacy the loss of British Columbia, and that vast province on the Pacific coast which would give us the entire coast from Behring Strait down to the Gulf of California.

"To the bad diplomacy and the surrender of the Democratic party we owe the reciprocity treaty of 1854 in which we got about one article to forty as compared with the Canadians; the reciprocity treaty which was thirty-nine degrees on one side—which was our opponents'—and one degree on our side. We owe that to them. In fact it is not in the power of the Democratic party to give a single treaty or diplomatic procedure they have made with Great Britain which redounds to the honor of this country."

Simply Told the Truth.

PORTLAND, Ind., Nov. 2.—Hon. John Sherman speaking at a Republican meeting yesterday said: "How have the Democrats conducted foreign affairs? Why have they surrendered the fisheries question? They gave up everything they had (and that was not much), then when the Senate refused to assent to the treaty they proposed to retaliate—to retaliate on whom? On whom? No!! On whom? On the people themselves, and all that this administration has done is that it has nearly got the appointment of Sir Sackville-West. The trouble was that Mr. West simply told the truth.

Britain's Only Cause of Shame.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The Times, commenting on the Sackville affair says: Unhappily for America in one sense, happily in another, the character of diplomatic art and that of blusterduring an election is comprehended by politicians of the saner sort better even than among the best informed people here. This is understood as a portion of a great sham, which everybody affects to believe. Whichever party rules England the loudest will win. Lord Salisbury preserved his countenance during the smallpox scare of last year Thomas Preston and his wife were conveyed to the pest house by order of Medical Health Officer Cannill and Dr. Lowe, in the belief that they were suffering from the disease. After remaining there some weeks they were discharged, it becoming evident to the medical men that it was not smallpox from which they were suffering. They have now brought suits for $7000 against the city and the two doctors for assault and false imprisonment.

The Ontario Bank has issued a new circulation. The bills so far put out are only 5's and 10's, which will be followed by 20's and 50's; the 100's of the old issue will continue in use.

Louis Holm Slonaker, the Sioux City boodler who was arrested in Toronto Monday night, left for home at 4.30 yesterday afternoon in company with the American officials who came after him and Detective Slemin. Yesterday he voluntarily agreed to waive extradition proceedings and go back to Iowa to stand his trial. He gave up the $800 he had in the Dominion Bank, $20 in cash, a gold watch and a pair of trousers.

Mr. Louis Sievert, into whose face the man Graham threw vitriol a year ago last August, for which the fiend was sentenced to prison for life, underwent an operation upon his right eye on Tuesday, after having the left one removed a few weeks ago. He is doing well, and this operation, it is expected will be the last.

Dr. McCully, who shot Harry Oldwright Wednesday night while the latter was watching the antics of the Trinity Medical students at the corner of Doctor's house, was arrested yesterday and brought before the Police Magistrate on a charge of shooting and wounding with intent to do great bodily harm. The accused pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried summarily, the accused saying that the prisoner was amply justified in doing what he had done, and that the medical students had persecuted him beyond endurance. Dr. McCully was remanded until Friday and allowed out on bail, himself in $2000 and two sureties in $1000 each.

Mr. W. A. Foster, Q. C., died at 8.30 last night at his residence in this city, the immediate cause being inflammation of the lungs. Mr. Foster was born in Toronto in 1840, called to the bar in 1861, made a Q.C. in 1883. He was one of the young men who originated the Canada First party. During the past 12 months Mr. Foster had been solicitor to the liquidators of the Central Bank, and contracted the illness which he died while on a trip to New York in that connection.

It is considered certain in well-informed circles that Bishop Cleary of Kingston will be appointed to the vacant Roman Catholic Archbishopric of Toronto.

Suicide of a Priest.

DALLAS, TEX., Nov. 2.—The people of Dallas were startled last night by the news that the Rev. Adrian Derente, a Catholic clergyman, had committed suicide by shooting himself with a pistol. He was a native of Spain, 45 years old, and was for many years at Denison. Then he was transferred to Dallas, and recently his mind showed signs of decay, and he was for a short time under restraint. He had apparently recovered, and for more than six weeks had been attending to his ministerial duties. Last evening, at the parochial residence, he placed a pistol in his mouth and blew out his brains. He was a man of strong mental powers and a finished orator. He left a large estate, which he inherited.

Parnell's Scotch Suit.

EDINBURGH, Nov. 2.—The case of Mr. Parnell against The London Times for libel was again heard in the Court of Session yesterday. Why Dr. Thompson Will Fight it Out.

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—It is reported Thompson admits that he has been a fool. The Doctor is the 50 year-old father of a family against whom pretty Mrs. Myra Sawyer, the other day awarded a verdict of $30,000 for damages done her by letters he wrote about her. The Doctor and Mrs. Myers are both of dramatic education, says he was too generous with her and that his most glaring faults are his generosity and sympathy.

"If we take no risks," writes the Doctor, "we do charity or good to none. Certainly a brave and more intellectual man than myself has been caught in the same meshes. I will tell the truth and the people of Massachusetts shall see in the future whether it has killed my manhood. I do not ask sympathy. I count on wrong. My family does not believe that I meant to do wrong. The Beals case will be contested to the bitter end simply in self-defence."

TORONTO TOPICS.

TORONTO, Nov. 2.—The Don improvement complication is assuming serious proportions. The contractors claim that the city has refused to pay certificates for work done, that the drawback retained as security has been withdrawn and misappropriated and unless something is done at once operations will be suspended. The original water course of the Don is now stopped, and if the new channel is not opened before the spring floods the latter will be dammed up at the Gerrard-street crossing and when the break comes the volume of water will sweep everything before it in its onward course to the Bay.

The Ontario Government will pay $1000 for information that will lead to the conviction of the Galt poisoner or poisoners.

During the smallpox scare of last year Thomas Preston and his wife were conveyed to the pest house by order of Medical Health Officer Cannill and Dr. Lowe, in the belief that they were suffering from the disease. After remaining there some weeks they were discharged, it becoming evident to the medical men that it was not smallpox from which they were suffering. They have now brought suits for $7000 against the city and the two doctors for assault and false imprisonment.

The Ontario Bank has issued a new circulation. The bills so far put out are only 5's and 10's, which will be followed by 20's and 50's; the 100's of the old issue will continue in use.

Louis Holm Slonaker, the Sioux City boodler who was arrested in Toronto Monday night, left for home at 4.30 yesterday afternoon in company with the American officials who came after him and Detective Slemin. Yesterday he voluntarily agreed to waive extradition proceedings and go back to Iowa to stand his trial. He gave up the $800 he had in the Dominion Bank, $20 in cash, a gold watch and a pair of trousers.

Mr. Louis Sievert, into whose face the man Graham threw vitriol a year ago last August, for which the fiend was sentenced to prison for life, underwent an operation upon his right eye on Tuesday, after having the left one removed a few weeks ago. He is doing well, and this operation, it is expected will be the last.

Dr. McCully, who shot Harry Oldwright Wednesday night while the latter was watching the antics of the Trinity Medical students at the corner of Doctor's house, was arrested yesterday and brought before the Police Magistrate on a charge of shooting and wounding with intent to do great bodily harm. The accused pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried summarily, the accused saying that the prisoner was amply justified in doing what he had done, and that the medical students had persecuted him beyond endurance. Dr. McCully was remanded until Friday and allowed out on bail, himself in $2000 and two sureties in $1000 each.

Mr. W. A. Foster, Q. C., died at 8.30 last night at his residence in this city, the immediate cause being inflammation of the lungs. Mr. Foster was born in Toronto in 1840, called to the bar in 1861, made a Q.C. in 1883. He was one of the young men who originated the Canada First party. During the past 12 months Mr. Foster had been solicitor to the liquidators of the Central Bank, and contracted the illness which he died while on a trip to New York in that connection.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Is very palatable and much better than the plain oil. Dr. W. H. Cunningham, of Halifax, N. S., says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver oil with Hypophosphites for the past two years and found it more agreeable to the stomach, and have better results from its use than any other preparation of the kind I have ever tried." Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

An Open Letter.

Messrs. T. Milburn & Co. Nov. 25th 1886.

I wish I had used B. B. B. sooner, which would have saved me years of suffering with erysipelas, from which I could get no relief until I tried B. B. B., which soon cleared away the itching, burning rash that had so long distressed me. Mrs. Edward Romkey, Eastern Passage, Halifax, N. S.

FEVER AND AGUE AND BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS are positively cured by the use of Parmelee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, causing them to pour copious effluences from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passages of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

To lessen mortality and stop the inroads of disease, use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. For all diseases arising from Impure Blood, such as Pimples, Boils, Rotches, Biliousness, Indigestion, etc., etc., it has no equal. Mrs. Thomas Smith, Elmvale, writes: "I am using this medicine for Dyspepsia; I have tried a number of medicines, but this is the only one that has done me any good."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakens as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to take. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. 8d&wly

YOUNG MEN suffering from the effects of early evil habits, the result of ignorance or folly, who find themselves weak, nervous, and exhausted; also MIDDLE AGED and OLD MEN, who are broken down from the effects of abuse or over-work, and in advanced life feel the consequence of youthful excess, send for and read M. V. Lubon's Treatise on Diseases of Men. The book will be sent sealed to any address on receipt of two 5c. stamps. Address M. V. LUBON, 47 Wellington S. E., Toronto. 193&4wly

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarefies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but allowed to run their own course, generally prove the fore-runner of more dangerous disease. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their affliction from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. Used the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Rickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state

Rest and Comfort to the Suffering.

"Brown's Household Panacea" has no equal for relieving pain, both internal and external. It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. "It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal, as its acting power is wonderful." "Brown's Household Panacea," being acknowledged as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family handy for use when wanted, "as it really is the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the Stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds," and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cts a bottle.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. The Child of Waterloo.

BY GEORGE W. M. REYNOLDS.

Sternholde looked at Captain Morton with such a savage expression of countenance, that it was quite evident he would have gloried in inflicting upon him some injury; and no doubt his powerless condition, which so effectually prevented him from doing so, was no small aggravation of what he suffered. He was about to say something else; but as the first few words were those of invective, the magistrate would not hear him, but ordered that he should be immediately removed; at the same time, he directed the officers to look most specially to his safe custody, for there was all the appearance about him of one having mischief. This the officers were pretty sure to do, for their own sakes; and they were quite sufficiently acquainted with such characters to deal with them properly.

Captain Morton made an appointment with the magistrate, in order that he might relate to him the whole particulars of the career of Sternholde, and how he had rendered his name so extremely obnoxious to the Rouselli family.

They then left the police office, and soon perceived that the proceedings had had a most prejudicial effect upon old Monsieur Rouselli. He had supported himself firmly while there, and in the presence of the man who may be said to have brought upon him almost all the distress he had suffered, and he got home tolerably; but when there his firmness forsook him, and he fainted in the arms of Henry Morton.

All was confusion for some moments among the Mortons; for the state into which the old man fell into so strongly resembled death, that for some time they feared that either it had arrived, or was about to do so.

They with all the tenderest solicitude, had him conveyed to bed, and a physician of eminence was immediately sent for, who looked upon the case rather seriously.

'The mental shock,' he said, 'which in a younger subject would pass away, leaving behind it no bad effects permanently, may prove fatal here. I do not say that it will, because the vital energies may rally; but all I have is a hope that way.'

This was saying quite as much as any medical man could be expected to say of a very bad case, the chance of which ending favorably was very remote indeed.

The Mortons consulted together whether they should let Mabel know the worst, or keep her in ignorance of it, until something of a more decided character occurred to prevent them from being able to do so with effect.

'Tell her all,' was what Henry said. 'Mabel is not a child. She has a heart full of the best and dearest affections: but yet she has a mind which it would be an insult not to inform of anything which nearly concerns her.'

'I of course yield to you,' said captain. 'You have, Henry, a right to dictate our conduct to Mabel.'

Henry was pleased to hear this recognition of his engagement to Mabel from his brother's lips and he took upon himself the task of breaking the adverse opinion of the medical man regarding her grandfather. Tears gushed from Mabel's eyes, and for a time she seemed completely to gainsay the expressed opinions of Henry, that she had mind enough to govern any affliction. The affections alone seemed to dictate to her.

'Alas! alas!' she said. 'This will be a cruel blow to me. I shall then lose the only being to whom I can claim kindred, and I shall be alone in the world!'

'Alone, Mabel!' said Henry reproachfully: 'is this kind to me? or I may go so far as to ask, is this just to me, who have loved you well and constantly? Oh, Mabel, Mabel, I did not think to have heard such words from your lips!'

'Forgive me, Henry,' she said imploringly, as she placed both her hands in his; 'forgive me, that for one brief moment I forgot your love.'

'It is I, dear Mabel,' said Henry, 'who ought to ask you to forgive me for uttering in the shadow of a reproach to you at such a time as this. But love such as mine is foolishly sensitive, and feels even a fancied slight worse than a wound.'

'I will go and visit the chamber of my grandfather,' she said. 'Who but I should watch by his couch?'

'No, Mabel,—no, Mabel. Let me implore you not to do so. I know the holy and noble feelings of affection that prompt you, but strangers, such strangers, I mean, as can form a full and intimate knowledge of them, and can be relied upon, are ever the best to attend upon the sick; I know that in saying this much, I am saying what is adverse to general opinion, but yet I think that I am right.'

Mabel answered that he might be right, but still it did not influence her, and in a few minutes more she had taken up her station by the bedside of her grandfather, and commenced her task of attending him with all the solicitude of a daughter. He remained for many hours in a strange apathetic sort or state, but then all of a sudden his faculties seemed to return to him, and, turning his eyes upon Mabel, he pronounced her name. She heard him utter that word, Mabel, with a revived hope that he might yet baffle the enemy, death, which allowed so strong a disposition to assail him, and to conquer him. She leaned over him, and looked long and wistfully in his face.

'Speak again, dear grandfather,' she said. 'You are better than you were, and you can now speak to your own Mabel. Oh! let me hear your voice once more.'

He turned his eyes upon her, and was for some moments silent. Then he made an effort to utter some articulate sound, but it was evidently a painful one, and his voice was sadly and strangely altered from its usual tones.

'Mabel, my Mabel,' he said, 'do you not regret that I am going from you? The old, withered tree, once the strongest in the forest, must, in time, make a place for the young saplings that shoot up no green and verdant, and full of youthful vigor by its side.'

'Oh! grandfather do not speak thus. You will stay with us long yet—I know you will. You will stay with us to bless us. It would be hard, indeed, to part with you so soon!'

'But, my Mabel, you are young and beautiful, and I know that you are surrounded by those who love you well—those who will never let a cold world frown upon you again, but encircling you in their arms, will save you from all the frowns of fortune. You will be happy, my beautiful Mabel, you will be very happy.'

Sobs came from Mabel's heart, for she felt a certain creeping over her that could not be resisted, to the effect that these words she was listening to from those revered lips were the last the old man would utter in this world.

For Frost Bites.

There is no better remedy for frost bites, chilblains and similar troubles, than Haggyard's Yellow oil. It also cures rheumatism, lumbago, sore throat, deafness, and lameness and pain generally. Yellow Oil is used internally and externally.

CATARRH.

A New Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the interlining membrane of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes. The eminent scientists, Tyndall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made oftener then once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before an application can be made. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease.

So highly are these remedies valued that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy a parasite, of which they know nothing, by remedies, of the results of the application of which they are equal ignorant. Mr. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effect a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases.

Mr. Dixon sends a pamphlet describing his new treatment on the receipt of stamp to pay postage. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son, 305 King street west, Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Hesitation means Loss.

If your hair is coming out or turning grey, or if you find dandruff in your hair do not hesitate about looking after it. Get some of Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic," use it as directed and you will find that it will give you the best of satisfaction. Take warning, do not wait till it is too late but try it at once. All druggists sell it.

Give Them a Chance?

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these get clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do they cannot do well.

Call it bronchitis, asthma, pneumonia, catarrah, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

On the Platform.

Public speakers and singers are often troubled with sore throat and hoarseness and are liable to severe bronchial attacks which might be prevented and cured by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam—the best throat and lung remedy in use.

Large Scrotal Hernia.

The change of late years in the treatment of Rupture is really surprising. Only a few years ago large Scrotal Hernia or Rupture could not be held by Trusses; now Mr. C. Cluthe, the celebrated Truss inventor, offers in every case a success or no charge. He goes even further than this; he offers a 300 mile return ticket on any railroad to any one whom Rupture he cannot hold. Mr. Cluthe is a responsible man, and above the reproach of taking advantage of people for the sake of the price of a Truss. This can be substantiated by the testimony of our most worthy physicians throughout the land, to whose patients his visits have proved such a comfort.

FREEMAN'S WORM POWDERS destroy and remove worms without injury to adult or infants.

Strange, but Still True.

Mrs. David Carstairs, Haldimand Township, met with a very pleasant surprise a few weeks ago. It seems Mrs. Carstairs suffered a great deal from dyspepsia and indigestion, the symptoms of which were, pains in the stomach and bowels, and sick headache. She has tried a great many physicians, and an unlimited amount of patent medicines, but without any success; and last but not least, she tried Dowling's Pepsin Compound, and on bottle has removed both pain and ache. She returns the kindest regards to P. E. DOWLING, Cobourg, for his magnificent remedy. Belleviliettes, take pattern by this woman, and ask your Druggist for it

MISSION OF PICTURES.
DIVINE SERVICES IN THE BROOKLYN TABERNACLE.
American Cities Need Great Galleries of Paintings—Men of Wealth Should Build in the Place of Their Residence Thrones for American Art.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 28.—The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D. D., preached at the Tabernacle this morning. A vast congregation attended the service. The pastor expounded a chapter about the room of imagery in Ezekiel, after which the hymn beginning:

Thine earthly sabaths, Lord, we love.

But there's a nobler rest above.

was sung. Professor Browne presided at the grand organ and rendered a concerto in B flat by Handel. The subject of Dr. Talmage's discourse was "The Divine Mission of Pictures." His text was Isaiah, chapter 2, parts of the twelfth and sixteen verses: "The day of the Lord of Hosts shall be upon all pleasant pictures." He said:

Pictures are by some relegated to the realm of the trivial, accidental, sentimental or worldly, but my text affirms that God ordains nice pictures, and whether they are good or bad, whether used for right or wrong purposes, is a matter of divine observation and arraignment.

That the artist's pencil and the engraver's knife have sometimes been made subservient to the kingdom of the bad is frankly admitted. After the ashes and scoria were removed from Herculaneum and Pompeii the walls of those cities appeared to the eyes of artists a degradation in art which cannot be exaggerated. Satan and all his imps have always wrought in the darkness, and they would rather have possession of that than the art of printing, for types are not so potent and quick for evil as pictures. The powers of darkness think they have gained a triumph, and they have, when in some respectable parlor or public art gallery they can hang a canvas embarrassing to the good, but fascinating to the evil.

It is not in a spirit of prudery, but backed up by God's eternal truth, when I say that you have no right to hang in your art rooms or your dwelling houses that which would be offensive to good people if the figures pictured were living in your parlors and the guests of your household. A picture that you have to hang in a somewhat secluded place, or that in a public hall you cannot walk with a group of friends deliberately stand before and discuss, ought to have a knife stabbed into it at the top and cut clear through to the bottom and a stout finger thrust in on the right side, ripping clear through to the left. Pliny, the elder, had his life by going too near enough to see the inside of Vesuvius, and the further you can stand off from the burning crater of sin, the better. Never till the Books of the Last Day are opened shall we know what has been the dire harvest of evil pictorials and unbecoming art galleries. Despoil a man's imagination and he becomes a moral carcass. The shop windows of English and American cities in which the low theatres have sometimes hung long lines of brazen actors and actresses in style insulting to that propriety have made a broad path to death for multitudes of people. But so have all the pictorial and artistic adornments of evil. How has music been bedraggled! Is there any place so low down in dissoluteness that into it has not been carried David's harp and Handel's organ and Gottschalk's piano and Ole Bull's violin; and the flute, which though named after so insignificant a thing as the Sicilian reed, which, with seven spots on the side like flute holes, yet for thousands of years has had an exalted mission. Architecture, born in the heart of Him who made the worlds, how it defiles its arches and its floors what bacchanalian revelries have been enacted! It is not against any of these arts that they have been so led into captivity. What a poor world this would be if it were not for what my text calls "pleasant pictures"! I refer to your memory and mine when I ask if your knowledge of the Holy Scriptures has not been mightily augmented by the woodcuts or engravings in the old family Bible, which father and mother read out of, and laid on the table in the old homestead when you were boys and girls. The Bible scenes which we all carry in our minds were not gotten from the Bible typology, but from the Bible pictures. To prove the truth of it in my own case, the other day I took up the old family Bible which I inherited. Sure enough, what I have carried in my mind of Jacob's ladder was exactly the Bible engraving of Jacob's ladder; and so with Samson carrying off the gates of Gaza; Elisha restoring the Shunamite's son; the massacre of the Innocents; Christ blessing little children; the crucifixion and the last judgment. My idea of all these is that of the old Bible engravings which I scanned before I could read a word. That is true with nine-tenths of you. If I could swing open the door of your foreheads I would find that you are walking picture galleries. The great intelligence abroad about the Bible did not come from the general reading of the book, for the majority of the people read it but little, if they read it at all; but all the sacred scenes have been put before the great masses, and not printer's ink, but the pictorial art, must have the credit of the intelligence. The artist's pencil for the favored few, and then engraver's plate or wood cut for millions on millions! What a refreshing commentary on the Bible, what re-enforcement for patriarchs, prophets, apostles and Christ, what diffusion of scriptural knowledge of all nations, in the paintings and engravings therefrom of Holman Hunt's "Christ in the Temple," Paul Veronese's "Magdalen Washing the Feet of Christ," Raphael's "Michael the Archangel," Albert Durer's "Dragon of the Apocalypse," Michael Angelo's "Plague of Boils and Fiery Serpents," Tinkoret's "Flight into Egypt;" Rubens' "Descent from the Cross," Leonardo Da Vinci's "Last Supper," Claude's "Queen of Sheba," Guido's "Magdalena at Milan;" Orcagna's "Last Judgment," and hundreds of miles of pictures if they were put in line, illustrating, displaying, dramatizing, irradiating Bible truths until the Scriptures are not today so much in paper as on canvas, so much in ink as in all the colors of the spectrum. Issuing forth from Strasburg, Germany, there came a child that was to eclipse in speed and boldness and grandeur anything and everything that the world had seen since the first color appeared on the sky at the creation, Paul Gustav Dore. At 11 years of age he published marvelous lithographs of his own. Saying nothing of what he did for Milton's "Paradise Lost," emblazoning it on the attention of the world, he takes up the Book of books, the monarch of literature, the Bible, and in his pictures, "The Creation of Light," "The Trial of Abraham's Faith," "The Burial of Sarah," "Joseph Sold by His Brethren," "The Brazen Serpent," "Boaz and Ruth," "David and Goliath," "The Transfiguration," "The Marriage in Cana," "Babylon Fallen," and 300 scriptural scenes in all, with a boldness and a grasp and almost supernatural sublimity that make the heart throb, and the brain reel, and the tears start, and the cheeks blanch, and the entire nature quake with the tremendous things of God and eternity and the dead. I actually staggered down the steps of the London Art gallery under the power of Dore's "Christ Leaving the Prætorium." Profess you to be a Christain man or woman, and see no divine mission in art, and acknowledge you no obligation either in thanks to God or man?

It is no more the word of God when put before us in printer's ink than by skillful laying on of colors, or design in metal through incision or corrosion. What a lesson in morals was presented by Hogarth, the painter, in his two pictures, "The Rake's Progress" and "The Miser's Feast," and by Thomas Cole's engravings of the "Voyage of Human Life" and the "Course of Empire," and by Turner's Slave Ship. God in art! Christ in art! Patriarchs, prophets and apostles in art! Angels in art! Heaven in art!

The world and the church ought to come to the higher appreciation of the divine mission of pictures, yet the authors of them have generally been left to semi-starvation. West, the great painter, toiled in unappreciation till, being a great skater, while on the ice he formed the acquaintance of Geo. Howe, of the English army, and through coming to admire West as a skater, they gradually came to appreciate as much that which he accomplished by his hand as by his heel. Poussin, the mighty painter, was pursued, and had many efforts which to defend himself against the mob but the artist's portfolio, which he held over his head to keep off the stones hurled at him. The pictures of Richard Wilson, of England, were sold for fabulous sums of money after his death, but the living painter was glad to get for his "Alcyone" a piece of Stilton cheese. From 1649 to 1661 there were 4,000 pictures willfully destroyed. In the reign of Queen Elizabeth it was the habit of some people to spend much of their time in knocking pictures to pieces. In the reign Charles the First it was ordered by parliament that all pictures of Christ be burnt. Painters were so badly treated and humiliated in the beginning of the Eighteenth century that they were lowered clear down out of the sublimity of their art, and obliged to give minute accounts of what they did with their colors, as a painter's bill which came to publication in Scotland in 1707 indicated. The painter had been touching up some old pictures in the church, and he sends in this itemized bill to the vestry: "To filling up a chink in the Red Sea and repairing the damage to Pharaoh's horse." "To a new pair of hands for Daniel in the lion's den, and a new set of teeth for the lioness," "to repairing Nebuchadnezzar's tail," "to giving a blush to the cheek of Eve on presenting the apple to Adam;" "to making a bridle for the Good Samaritan's horse, and mending one of his legs;" "to putting on a new handle on Moses' basket and fitting bulrushes, and adding more fuel to the fire in Nebuchadnezzar's furnace." So painters were humiliated clear down below the majesty of their art. The oldest picture in England, a portrait of Chaucer, though now of great value, was picked out of a lumber garret. Great were the trials of Quentin Matsys, who toiled on from blacksmith's anvil till as a painter he won wide recognition. The first missionaries to Mexico made the fatal mistake of destroying pictures, for the loss of which art and religion must ever lament. But why go so far back when in this year of our Lord 1888, and within twelve years of the Twentieth century, to be a painter, except in rare exceptions, is to be poverty and neglect! Poorly fed, poorly clad, poorly housed, because poorly appreciated! When I hear a man is a painter, I have two feelings; one of admiration for the greatness of his soul, and the other of commiseration for the needs of his body.

But so it has been in all departments of noble work. Some of the mightiest have been hardly bestead. Oliver Goldsmith had such a big patch on the coat over his left breast that when he went anywhere he kept his hat in his hand closely pressed over the patch. The world renowned Bishop Asbury had a salary of $64 a year. Painters are not the only ones who have endured the lack of appreciation. Let men of wealth take under their patronage the suffering men of art. They lift no complaint; they make no strike for higher wages. But with a keenness of nervous organization which almost always characterizes genius, these artists suffer more than any one but God can realize. There needs to be a concerted effort for the suffering artists of America, not sentimental discourse about what we owe to artists, but contracts that will give them a livelihood; for I am in full sympathy with the Christian farmer, who was very busy gathering his fall apples, and some one asked him to pray for a poor family, the father of which had broken his leg; and the busy farmer said: "I cannot stop now to pray, but you can go down into the cellar and get some corned beef and butter and eggs and potatoes; that is all I can do now." Artists may wish for our prayers, but they also want practical help from men who can give them work. You have heard scores of sermons for all other kinds of suffering men and women, but I think this is the first sermon ever preached that made a plea for the suffering men and women of American art. Their work is more true to nature and life than any of the masterpieces that have become immortal on the other side of the sea, but it is the fashion of Americans to mention foreign artists, and to know little or nothing about our own. Church and Allston, and Inman, and Greenough and Kensett. Let the affluent fling out of their windows and into the back yard valueless prints on canvas, and fill in these splendid but unrewarded men, and tell them to adorn your walls, not only with that which shall please the taste, but enlarge the mind, and improve the morals, and save the souls of those who gaze upon them.

Brooklyn, and all other American cities need great galleries of art, not only open annually for a few days on exhibition, but which shall stand open all the year round, and then only opening until 9 o'clock at night, and free to all who would come and go. What a preparation for the wear and tear of the week day's five minutes' look in the morning at some picture that will open a door into some larger realm than that in which our poor planet is confined! Oh! what a good thing the half hour of artistic opportunity on the way home in the evening from exhausting business operation, for mind and soul as well as body! Who will do for Brooklyn or the city where you live what W. W. Corcoran did for Washington, and what Lenox did for Manhattan, by the donation of Dr. Munkazsy's great picture "Christ before Pilate," is going to do for Philadelphia! Men of wealth, if you are too modest to build and endow such a place during your lifetime, why not go to your iron safe and take out your last will and testament, and make a codicil that shall build for the city of your residence, a throne for American art! Make some of that money that would otherwise spoil your children, and build an art gallery that shall associate your name forever, not only with the great masters of painting, who are gone, but with the great masters who are trying to live; and also win the admiration and love of tens of thousands of people, who unable to have fine pictures of their own, would be advantaged by your benefaction. Build your own monuments, and not leave it to the whim of others. Some of the best people sleeping in Greenwood have no monuments at all, or some crumbling stones that in a few years will let the rain wash out name and epitaph; while some men, whose death was the abatement of a nuisance, have a pile of polished Aberdeen high enough for a king, and eulogium enough to embarrass a seraph. Oh, man of large wealth, instead of leaving to the whim of others your monumental commemoration and epitaphology to be looked at when people are going to and fro at the burial of others, build right down in the heart of our great city, or the city where you live, an immense free reading room, or a free musical conservatory, or a free art gallery, the niches for sculpture and the walls seldom with the rise and fall of nations, and leaders of nations, and the disheartened, and rest for the weary, and life for the dead; and one hundred and fifty years from now you will be wielding influences in this world for good among those whose great-grandfather was your great-grandchild. How much better than white marble, that chills you if you put your hand on it when you touch it in the cemetery, would be a monument in colors, in beaming eyes, in living possession, in splendors which under the chandelier would be glowing and warm, and loaded at by strolling gazers with catalogue in hand on the January night when the necropolis where the body sleeps is all snowed under. The walls of your hall are hung with one thousand dented shields of battle; but you, oh man of wealth, may have the under tower named after you, one that shall be hung not with the symbols of carnage, but with the victories of that art which was long ago recognized in my text as "pleasant pictures." Is the power of pictures! I cannot decide, as some have done, Cardinal Masarin, who when told that he must die, took his last look at that great art gallery of his palace, saying: "Must I quit all this! Look at that Titian! Look at that Correggio! Look at that delight of Caracci! Farewell, dear pictures!" As the day of the Lord of Hosts, according to this text, will scrutinize the pictures employed by all parents to see that in their households they have neither in book or newspaper or on canvas anything that will deprave. Pictures are no longer the exclusive possession of the affluent. There is not a respectable home in these cities that has not specimens of wood cut or steel engraving, if not of painting, and your whole family will feel the moral uplifting or depression. Have nothing on your walls or in books that will familiarize the young with scenes of cruelty or wassail; have only those sketches made by artists in elevated moods, and no more of those abnormal pieces that seem the product of artistic delirium tremens. Pictures are not only a strong but a universal language. The human race is divided into almost as many languages as there are nations, but the pictures may speak to people of all tongues. Volapuk many have hoped, will little by little reach a common world wide language; but the pictorial is always a world wide language, and printer's types have no emphasis comparable with it. We say that children are fond of pictures; but notice any man when he takes up a book, and you will see that the first thing that he looks at is the pictures. Have only those in your house that appeal to the better nature. One engraving has sometimes decided an eternal destiny. Under the title of fine arts there have come here from France a class of pictures which elaborate argument has tried to prove irreproachable. They would disgrace a farmhouse, and they need to be confiscated. Your children will carry the pictures of their father's house with them clear on to the end, and, passing that marble pillar, will take them through eternity.

Furthermore, let all reformers, and all Sabbath school teachers, and all Christian workers realize that if they would be effective for good they must make pictures, if not by chalk on blackboards, or kindergarten designs, or by pencil on canvas, then by words. Arguments are soon forgotten, but pictures, whether in language or in colors, are what produce strongest effects. Christ was always telling what a thing was like, and his Sermon on the Mount was a great picture gallery, beginning with a sketch of a "city on a hill that cannot be hid," and ending with a tempest beating against two houses, one on a rock and the other on the sand. The parable of the prodigal son, a picture; parable of the sower, who went forth to sow, a picture; parable of the unmerciful servant, a picture; parable of the ten virgins, a picture; parable of the talents, a picture. The world wants pictures, and the appetite begins with the child, and he consents to go early to bed if the mother will sit beside him and rehearse a story, which is only a picture. What we see how much has been accomplished in secular directions by pictures—Shakespeare's tragedies a picture, Victor Hugo's writings all pictures, John Ruskin's and Tennyson's and Longfellow's works all pictures—why not enlist, as far as possible, for our churches and schools and reformatory work and evangelistic endeavor, the power of thought that can be put into word pictures, if not pictures in color? Yea, why not all young men draw for themselves on paper, with pen or pencil, their future career, of virtue if they prefer that, of vice if they prefer that? After making the picture, put it on the wall, or paste it on the fly leaf of some favorite book, that you may have it before you. I read the other day of a man who had been converted from sin, and the jailer found afterward a picture made on the wall of the cell by the assassin's own hand, a picture of a flight of stairs. On the lowest step he had written: "Unbelief;" on the second: "Impenitence of parents;" on the second: "Sabbath breaking;" on the third: "Drunkenness and gambling;" on the fourth: "Murder;" and on the fifth and top step: "A gallows." If that man had made that picture before he took the first step, he never would have taken any of them. Why not make of your picture, a bright picture, an evangelical picture, and I will help you make it? I suggest six steps for the flight of stairs in the first step write the words, "A nature changed by the Holy Ghost and washed in the blood of the Lamb;" on the second step write, "Holy and good companionship;" on the third step, "A Christian home with a family altar;" on the fourth step, "Ever widening usefulness;" on the fifth step, "A glorious departure from this world;" on the sixth step, "Heaven! heaven! heaven!" Write it three times, and let the letters of the second word be made of banners, the second of coronets, and the third of thrones! Promise me that you will do that, and I will promise to meet you on the sixth step, if the Lord will, through his pardoning grace, bring me there, too.

And here I am going by way a word of cheer to people who have never had a word of consolation on that subject. There are men and women in this world by hundreds of thousands, and some of them are here today, who have a fine natural taste, and yet all their lives that taste has been suppressed, and although they could have walked the galleries of Dresden and Vienna and Naples for more than nine hundred and ninety-nine out of one thousand who visit them, they never may go, for they must support their households, and bread and schooling for their children are of more importance than pictures. Though fond of music, they are compelled to live amid discord, and though fond of architecture they are in dreary abodes, and though appreciative of all that engravings and paintings can do, they are in perpetual deprivation. You are going, after you get up the sixth step of that stairs just spoken of, to find yourselves in the royal gallery of the universe, the concentered splendors of all worlds before your transported vision. In some way all the thrilling scenes through which we and the Church of God have passed in our earthly state will be pictured or brought to mind. At the cyclorama of Gettysburg, which we had in Brooklyn, one day a blind man, who lost his sight in that battle, was with his child heard talking while standing before that picture. The blind man said to the daughter: "Are there at the right of the picture some regiments marching up a hill?" "Yes," she said. "Well," said the blind man, "is there a general on horseback leading them on?" "Yes," she said. "Well, is there rushing down on these men a cavalry charge?" "Yes," was the reply. "And do there seem to be many dying and dead?" "Yes," was the answer. "Well, now, do you see a shell from the woods bursting near the wheel of a cannon?" "Yes," she said. "Stop right there!" said the blind man. "That is the last thing I ever saw on earth! What a time it was, Jenny, when I lost my eyesight!" But when you, who have found life a hard battle, a very Gettysburg, shall stand in the royal gallery of heaven, and with your new vision begin to see and understand that which in your earthly blindness you could not see at all, you will point out to your celestial comrades, perhaps to your own dear children who have gone before, the scenes of the earthly conflicts in which you participated, saying: "There from that hill of prosperity I was driven back; in that valley of humiliation I was wounded. There I lost my weight. That was the way the world looked when I last saw it. But what a grand thing to get celestial vision, and stand hither before the cyclorama of all worlds while the Rider on the white horse goes on "conquering and to conquer," and the moon under his feet and the stars of heaven for his tiara!

The Locomotive.

The largest passenger locomotive ever built is now under construction at the Hinkley works in Boston and is intended for use on the Atchison railroad. It carries two cabs, one over the boiler for the engineer and the other in the usual place for the fireman. The driving wheels, which are the largest ever made, are of paper with steel tires. Economy in fuel is accomplished by a pump which utilizes the exhaust steam to heat water, and by a large combustion chamber which burns all the gas. It is expected that the engine will make eighty miles an hour with ten coaches on an ordinary road.—Philadelphia Times.

Fifteen Great Inventions.

The fifteen great American inventions of world-wide adoption are: 1. The cotton gin; 2. The planting machine; 3. The grass mower and reaper; 4. The rotary printing press; 5. Navigation by steam; 6. Hot-air engine; 7. The sewing machine; 8. The India rubber industry; 9. The machine manufacture of horseshoes; 10. The sand blast for carving; 11. The gauge lathe; 12. The grain elevator; 13. Artificial icemaking on a large scale; 14. The electric magnet and its practical application; 15. The telephone.—Philadelphia Times.

A Wife's Point of View.

"Poor Jenny! It must be an awful shock to you," sympathized her friend. "And to think that you trusted him all these years while he was embezzling such enormous sums."

"Yes," she sobbed, "I knew my millinery alone came to more than his salary, but I never suspected him."—From Life

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. Valuable to Know.

Consumption may be more easily prevented than cured. The irritating and harassing cough is greatly relieved by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

There are a number of varieties of corns. Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them. Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant, powerful and safe worm destroyer and will relieve them at once.

Tutt's Pills, 49 Pearl Street Buffalo, N. Y., says: I tried various remedies for the piles but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil which entirely cured me after a few applications.

MRS. GEORGE LESCH, Hadmand Township, has suffered much more benefit from two bottles of Dawling's Pepsin Compound, than anything she has ever taken in her life. She has been troubled for a long time with biliousness, loss of appetite and constipation for years. Now she has none of these troubles. People write to her and see how she will recommend it. Take Dawling's Pepsin Compound if you are Dyspeptic.

The cheapest medicine in use is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, because so little of it is required to effect a cure. For croup, diphtheria, and diseases of the lungs and throat, whether used for human or animal flesh, or taken internally or inhaling, it is a matchless compound.

Let What does Dowling's Pepsin Compound cure? Dyspepsia and Indigestion. What are the symptoms? Biliousness, constipation, bad breath, dizziness, headache, pains in the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, depression of spirits. Ask your druggist for it.

Dowling's Little Liver Granules are highly recommended for all diseases of the liver.

Mr. Thomas Ballard, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I have been afflicted for nearly a year with that most to be dreaded disease Dyspepsia, and have tried almost every thing I saw or heard of and after trying almost everything recommended I tried one box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. I am now nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money."

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimulating them into healthful action, and thereby purifying the fountains of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body. Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

If of all the dyspeptic remedies ever placed in the market, Dowling's Pepsin Compound takes the lead. Why? Because it acts naturally on the digestive organs. If the stomach, and not mechanically, like the other patent medicines. Besides, it helps to assimilate and digest all the food that enter the stomach. Ask your druggist for a bottle.

Belleville lies follow the example of Mrs. Geo. Leech, of Haldimand, and many others, and rid yourselves of that dire disease, dyspepsia and indigestion.

Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians.

"Untold Agony from Catarrh."

Prof. W. HAUSNER, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sundown, my voice would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."

THOMAS J. RUSHING, Esq., 502 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. My head ached, I hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last six months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done to relieve my misery. I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only cure for catarrh, as I now manufactured, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

Three Bottles Cure Catarrh.

ELI ROBBINS, Bunker P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says: "My daughter had catarrh when she was five years old, very badly. I saw Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy advertised, and procured a bottle for her, and soon saw that it helped her; a third bottle effected a permanent cure. She is now eighteen years old and sound and hearty."

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, NOV. 3

WHO ARE THEY?

The Trenton Advocate says: "Belleville, next to St. John, has in proportion to population more annexationists than any city in Canada." Who are they?

A CONDITION, NOT A THEORY.

In the very bad state of the principal thoroughfares in the city, the people of Belleville are, as President Cleveland happily expressed it in a recent celebrated message, confronted by a condition, not a theory. Comparison with the county's highways which centre in the city—whether it be the Trent road, the Marshall road, the second and third concession roads of Sidney, the Jamieson road, the Camilton road, the second concession of Thurlow road, or the front of Thurlow road—shows that the roadways of the city streets are inferior to the gravel roads of the county. This state of affairs is not at all creditable to Belleville on the mere face of the fact, and it appears still less so when it is considered that the county has 350 miles of gravel roads, the annual cost of maintaining which, together with the flat bridges on them, averages less than $14,000 per year, whilst the average cost of keeping up the streets, sidewalks and bridges of the city is about $12,000.

The mere statement of these facts is sufficient to set people thinking, and the conclusions which we believe will be generally arrived at are that the system which is in vogue in the city is radically wrong; that better material should be used upon the streets; and that permanent improvements should be made to as great an extent as is possible every year.

The system, which has been pursued for many years, of employing the aged and the partially decrepit on our public works has made of the public works department a sort of labor and charity combination, and has beyond doubt swelled the expenditure considerably; but it does not, in our opinion, wholly explain the discrepancy between the expenditures of the city and county as above stated.

The matter is one of such importance that it ought to, and we trust will, receive the careful attention of the Council and the ratepayers. One point which should most particularly be considered is whether the present system of employing labor shall be continued.

MR. WIMAN AT HUNTSVILLE.

Mr. Erastus Wiman's latest speech on his commercial union project was delivered at Huntsville, Ontario, in which vicinity he had been on a deer hunting expedition, on the 31st ult. A noticeable feature of Mr. Wiman's address was the highly attractive picture that he painted of the material advantages of political union, which, he predicted, would eventually be adopted by the people of Canada, failing adoption of his scheme. Mr. Wiman also uttered the significant threat that "within ninety days Canada may have a slap in the face from the United States that will make the blood of every Canadian tingle in his veins, either from indignation or sorrow. This will come in the enforcement of the Retaliatory policy, inaugurated by the Democratic Congress and at length responded to by a Democratic President, who not content with the amplitude of his power, sought larger authority to enforce the expressed will of the people, and the party that placed him where he is." The object of this probable action was, it was stated, to be to force Canada into allowing Yankee fishermen to enter our ports and to ship their catch in bond. As Mr. Wiman is in the inner circle in United States politics, his information is probably correct. There is but one answer to make to such a threat, namely: Canada knows her rights and will maintain them. She certainly does not court, but does not fear, the proposed hostile and totally unwarranted action of the United States.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

The Port Hope Guide daily rails at the N. P. as the cause of all the ills under which the able editorial that journal suffers—in his mind. And the wicked N. P. retaliates by establishing in Port Hope a binder twine manufactory and a glass works—industries which, but for it, could not exist in Canada.

According to the Farmer's Review the United States potato crop of the present season is the largest ever known in that country. The total yield is estimated to be something like 210,646,089 bushels, as against 208,163,425 bushels in 1883, and 134,000,000 in 1887. Last year the United States imported a large quantity of potatoes from Europe.

The customs returns at the principal ports show a considerable increase for the month of October. Our foreign trade is not declining as the "smashers" allege, but shows a healthy activity.

Sitting on the Safety Valve.

Many are they who have laughed at the story of the quick-witted fireman who sat on the safety valve to prevent it "leaking." Yet thousands are repeating his folly every day. They are troubled with blotches, pimples, eruptions, salt-rheum, boils, carbuncles, ulcers and old sores, and are contenting themselves with suppressing the symptoms without removing the cause. Let us for once take the safety valves by which Nature is driving out blood impurities, instead of using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which cures by removing the cause, which is the blood. It is a wonderful blood purifier and invigorating tonic.

Do you think the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy would offer, as they have for many years, a standing reward of $500 for a case of Catarrh which they cannot cure, if they did not positively know that the Remedy will absolutely and permanently cure Catarrh. Sold by druggists, at only 50 cents.

A Mysterious Passage.

There has been, says the Beaver, a feeling of superstitious mystery in regard to the outlet of Little Gull Lake, a small sheet of water about eight miles north of Tamworth. The surplus water seemed to fall into a subterraneous passage called "the sink," to be conducted no one knew whither. The unusually low water of the present season disclosed the opening of this passage, and a similar lake was discovered in the border of Puzzle Lake, a short distance away, and about fifty feet below the level of the other. No one seemed to have courage to explore the passage until this week. Mr. L. M. Vrooman, who is prospecting for iron in that section, heard of and determined to explore it. Mr. Isaiah Loyst, hotelkeeper, was induced to accompany him, a man named Green from Arden backing out, protesting that if he saw a snake he would die. Loyst, when he first dropped into the hole, which was the vent for the water, was struck by a huge bat and yelled as if the big serpent had him by the foot. By the light of a pine knot the two men for an hour and a half explored the passage. The entrance and vent were each about 8x5 feet; in many places the men had barely room to crawl through, being barred by fallen rocks, etc. In one place there was a climb of 8 nearly feet at an angle of forty-five degrees. The whole length of the passage is about one hundred yards, almost the entire distance being through pristine limestone, which in the light of the torch it sparkled like diamonds. The passage is inhabited by hundreds of bats, but nothing else was seen. No doubt it will soon be familiar to every boy in the neighborhood now that its terror has been dispelled. A small stream is running through it.

Ind'an Election.

The Deseronto Tribune says: "An act of parliament provides that where Indians are sufficiently civilized as those of the Mohawk Reserve are supposed to be, their local affairs shall be managed by Chiefs elected triennially, their number depending upon the number of electors. Our Tyendinaga neighbors are entitled to five chiefs, whose election will take place on Wednesday next. Each elector, of whom there are about 300, may vote for five of the candidates nominated. The names are read to him by the local agent and he makes his choice, voting for but one if he wishes. Some of the candidates have canvassed for election S. Loft, Isaac Powles, Isaac Claus, Simon Hill, Andrew Maracle, John P. Brant, Abraham S. Brant, Wm. Green, Francis Claus, as the nomination for chiefs on Wednesday speeches were made by Joel Johnson, Jeremiah Hill and Joseph L. Brant, stating that if consistent they ultimately would wipe out the stigma which the present elective system cast upon their forefathers. A standing vote was taken, when the majority declared in favor of the hereditary scheme, but it is predicted that the majority will vote.

COMING CABINET CHANGES

NEXT SESSION THE LAST FOR MINISTERS CARLING AND POPE.

The Former to Go to the Senate and the Latter to Retire from Politics—Their Probable Successors.

OTTAWA, Nov. 3.—It is pretty generally understood here that the coming session will be the last in the House for two of the Ministers, Hon. John Carling and Hon. J. H. Pope, the former of whom will probably go to the Senate and the latter, whose health is seriously impaired, will retire from politics altogether.

Mr. Carling's successor as Minister of Agriculture will be Mr. Peter White of Renfrew, who for a number of years has been chairman of the Committee on Immigration.

Who will enter the Cabinet as Mr. Pope's successor in the representation of the English-speaking people of the Province of Quebec it is not so easy to say, as there is a three-cornered fight going on for the seat. Messrs. Colby of Stanstead, Hall of Sherbrooke and Ives of Richmond and Wolfe, all of whom are talked of, but the two latter are so in-law he is likely to save the inside track.

A reply was sent by the Minister of Railways and Canals yesterday to the Montreal Corn Exchange with reference to the resolution adopted a few days ago that because the break in the Cornwall Canal is repaired grain-laden vessels be given the right of way over all other craft and that the mills be compelled to shut down until the close of navigation. It is understood that the reply says that every possible effort will be made to expedite the forwarding of all detained vessels the moment the break is repaired, but does not promise that any preference will be given to grain-laden vessels or that the mills will be required to shut down. It is believed that the boats and vessels waiting at Montreal for deals as well as grain, and it does not appear advisable that there should be any discrimination. It is confidently expected that the break will be repaired by to-night, when the detained craft will begin to move down. The tolls on all eight gangs are on duty and lockage will be continuous until all the delayed vessels have been passed down. An officer of the department states that it is expected the canal can be cleared in about two days.

The British North American Bank Note Company's building at the corner of Wellington and Kent streets is nearly completed, and it is expected that the transfer of the Company from Montreal to Ottawa will be made in about six weeks. The company prints all Dominion notes, postage and other stamps, etc., and one of the conditions of its last contract was that the company should do its work at the capital. The building which is being erected for it should have been occupied last May, but as it was mostly put up during last winter and the work was inferior, part of it fell in the spring and the greater portion will have to be taken down and rebuilt. The company will employ about 100 hands.

Messrs. Smith & Kerry, proprietors of the steamship Campana, have written from Owen Sound to the Customs Department to demand a refund of $40, which they say the customs authorities compelled them to pay for the escape of a Chinaman in bond. They say that the Chinaman was in the custody of the Customs at the time of his escape, and that they are therefore not liable. It appears, however, that the Customs officers are not to meddle with Chinamen in bond but that the railway company must pay a forfeit if they escape. The department is making inquiries.

The Department of Agriculture is advised that the Mormon settlement in the Northwest is rapidly increasing. The immigrants are bringing in large quantities of cattle.

Attacked by a Bull.

ERNEST, Nov. 3.—James McCrone of Lorne had a narrow escape from being killed by a bull. Instead of the stick commonly used, the animal was simply led by a rope attached to the ring in its nose, and when it reached the yard it made a plunge and attacked Mr. McCrone. To avoid the bull's horns the man got a short hold of the rope, hauling himself close to the brute's nose. In this way he was dragged and buffeted about for twenty minutes, at one time being caught on the animal's horns and hoisted into an adjoining field, the bull following and renewing the attack before his victim could escape. Mr. McCrone's cries brought assistance and the animal was secured. Several of the victim's ribs were broken.

Balfour Jubilant.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Mr. Balfour addressed a Liberal Unionist audience at Wolverhampton yesterday. He was jubilant over the Conservative victories in the municipal elections and said they proved that Unionism was progressing. The Unionists were defeating the Gladstonians even in strong holds of that party like Leeds. He said the policy of the Government was winning all along the line. Crime in Ireland, Mr. Balfour said, had been reduced almost to the level of 1881. He thought the outcry over evictions was absurd. Over 10,000 persons were evicted in New York yearly without comment.

THE CROSSING QUESTION.

BEFORE THE RAILWAY COMMITTEE OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL.

The Case Presented by Solicitor Clark—Text of the Question Submitted to the Supreme Court.

OTTAWA, Nov. 3.—The Railway Committee of the Privy Council met yesterday morning for the purpose of hearing counsel in the matter of the crossing of the Canadian Pacific Railway's Pembina branch by the Portage branch of the Red River Valley Railway. Hon. J. H. Pope, Sir Hector Langevin, Sir John Thompson and Hon. John Carling were present.

Mr. G. M. Clark, solicitor for the Canadian Pacific Railway, said that he had prepared a case for submission to the Supreme Court, which he had handed to Mr. Gormally, agent for Attorney-General Martin. Thursday he received from Attorney-General Martin a short letter with the case with modifications which he would be glad to have adopted. The case, as submitted by Attorney-General Martin, was almost entirely different from that submitted by him. The principal change in the case, as he, (Mr. Clark) submitted it, was as to whether the act of Manitoba was valid and effectual so as to confer authority to cross the southwest branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Attorney-General Martin in his case wished to question the validity of certain clauses of the Railway Act, but Mr. Clark contended against enlarging the question in that way.

Mr. Gormully said he had no power to consent to any change in the case as submitted by Attorney-General Martin. It would be for the committee to decide how far they would allow the proposals in the case submitted by Mr. Martin. He argued that the application was to cross the Manitoba and Northwestern Railway, and until they wished to cross the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the question of that there should be any discrimination. Provincial Legislature could do so did not arise. So far no application had been made for permission to cross the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, but application had been made to cross the two branches mentioned.

After some further argument counsel retired and the committee deliberated for some time and finally decided to submit the following case to the Supreme Court:

Case under Chapter 5 of the Statutes of Manitoba passed on the thirtieth day of April, 1888.

The Railway Commissioner of that province is constructing a railway known as the Portage extension of the Red River Valley Railway, from the latter's crossing to Portage la Prairie, both places being within the Province of Manitoba, and he has made application to the Railway Committee of the Privy Council of Canada, under Section 179 of the Railway Act of 1888 (Canada) for the approval of the place at which and the mode in which it is proposed that the said Portage extension should cross the Pembina branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway (the said branch being part of the Canadian Pacific Railway) at a point within the said province.

Any person or the parties interested and at the instance of counsel for the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, the following question is submitted by the Railway Committee for the opinion of the Supreme Court of Canada, under the provisions of Section 199 of the Railway Act of 1888:

Is the said statute of Manitoba in view of the provisions of Chapter 109 Revised Statutes of Canada, particularly Section 121 thereof and in view of the Railway Act of 1888, particularly Sections 306 and 307, valid and effectual so as to confer authority upon the Railway Commissioner of Manitoba mentioned to construct a railway as the said Portage extension of the Red River Valley Railway, crossing the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Railway Committee first approving of the mode and place of crossing, and first giving their directions as to the matters mentioned in in sections 174, 175 and 176 of the said railway act?

It is expected that the Supreme Court will consider the case at once.

ALL QUIET AT FORT WHYTE.

The Military Still on Guard—Vigilance on Both Sides Unrelaxed.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 3.—Telegrams from Fort Whyte say all is quiet there. The military is still on guard and the Canadian Pacific Railway is not relaxing vigilance. The Government is evidently awaiting a favorable opportunity to get a locomotive over the crossing. A mile of track has been laid west of the Canadian Pacific Railway and ties strung along for several miles.

The letter regarding maximum rates between Winnipeg and Duluth, hitherto withheld from the public, appears in yesterday's Call. It is written by President Oakes, of the Northern Pacific, to Premier Greenway, and is marked "Confidential." It says rates by the new road to Duluth shall not be higher than the Canadian Pacific Railway's to Port Arthur, and local and through rates shall be fair and reasonable. The division of rates between the two lines shall be upon the basis of a pro rata per mile of actual distance.

Hon. Edward Blake passed through to the east last night.

THE WEST LETTER.

A California Paper Publishes What It Claims are the Real Facts.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 3.—The Times of this city, the paper that first printed the Lord Sackville letter to the Pomona engineer, publishes what the editor claims are the real facts connected with the Murchison-West correspondence. Says The Times: "Information has been gathered directly from the few persons who are on the inside and possessed of all the facts in the case. The idea of writing the letter to Minister West originated with Murchison himself in the latter part of August or early in September. He is a reputable citizen of Pomona, in this county, and of English parentage. The conception of the letter was his thought. He consulted a confidential friend in its preparation. He said at the outset and before he penned the letter that the object was not to perpetrate a joke or gratify curiosity, but to get Minister West's opinion on the topics embraced in the letter.

"Murchison's letter was dated Sept. 4 and West's answer Sept. 20. The Minister's letter was received at Pomona Sept. 20, and kept by the receiver till Oct. 19, a full month, when it was handed to Los Angeles by W. A. Bell, the City Attorney of Pomona, and laid before W. P. Fitzgerald, a member of the State Republican Committee; Henry G. Gage, delegate-at-large at the Chicago convention; Harrison Gray Otis, the editor of The Los Angeles Times, and one other local candidate. They saw the importance of the West letter in a political point of view, and it was unanimously determined by the persons present to make the letter public without delay, which was done. The date of the first publication here was Oct. 21."

UNTIL AFTER ELECTION

Mr. Herbert Appointed Charge d'Affaires at Washington.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Hon. Michael Henry Herbert has been appointed British Charge d'Affaires at Washington. Lord Sackville will come to England immediately on leave of absence. It is understood that the Government will allow his case to rest until after the presidential election.

Imported for the Ex-Minister.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The Treasury Department has authorized the free entry of a silver service, valuable clocks and other household articles recently imported at Baltimore for Lord Sackville, the ex-British Minister. This is in accordance with the privileges accorded the resident ministers of all foreign countries. These articles arrived several days ago on a steamer from England, and on being notified of their arrival the British Minister made application through the Secretary of State for their entry free of duty. This application was received at the Treasury Department on Tuesday last, the very day on which the President informed Lord Sackville of the severance of their official relations. A letter was sent to the Collector of Customs at Baltimore yesterday, authorizing the free entry of the goods.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Attorney-General Mowat Resumes Practice —Dr. McCully's Case Enlarged.

TORONTO, Nov. 3.—A paper expressing sympathy with Rev. T. W. Jeffery and requesting him not to tender his resignation is being very numerously signed by members of his church and congregation.

Attorney-General Mowat has resumed practice and entered the firm of which Mr. Justice Maclennan was lately a member.

James H. Spence, the carrier who is accused of stealing money-letters, was in the Police Court yesterday for examination. The young man was sent to the Criminal Court for trial.

Dr. McCully appeared in the Police Court again yesterday morning to answer to the charge of killing which he with Dr. Wright with intent to do grievous bodily harm. The case was not proceeded with but was enlarged for a week, the same bail being renewed.

Tilley White was arrested yesterday charged with stealing $30 in cash, a pair of diamond earrings, two gold bracelets, and other articles of jewelry from her fellow boarders at 116 Petersteet. She confessed her guilt and surrendered the plunder.

BOUNCED CONDUCTORS.

Other Heads Fall Into the Basket—The Revised List.

HAMILTON, Nov. 3.—The topic in railway circles yesterday was the suspension of the batch of Grand Trunk conductors. Other heads besides those mentioned yesterday have fallen into the basket, for what reason, the men say they know not. The revised list of decapitated is as follows; Messrs. McKay, Edmonson and Gilkinson, from the Northern Railway; Bond Head and John Main, from the main line of the Southern Division; Conductor Flavell, running from Woodstock to Port Dover, and Conductors Hoskins and Clarke running from Toronto to Stratford.

Superintendent Staff told a reporter yesterday that none of them would be reinstated. It is said that the Brotherhood of Conductors, a very powerful body, proposed to take the case up and ask the company to explain why the men have been discharged, as they consider that the most competent employes who have spent the best years of their lives in the employ of the road should be summarily shaken in this way without a charge or hearing. Many of the suspended conductors have been on the road for years, and, like Cæsar's wife, were above suspicion until the recent extensive operations of the "spotters."

The Montreal End of the Story.

MONTREAL, Nov. 3.—With reference to the report in yesterday's papers that a number of the conductors on the Grand Trunk Railway have received "red tickets" Assistant General Manager Wainwright said yesterday: The story is as usual highly sensational and colored. There is a portion of truth in it. Five or six conductors have been suspended, and the superintendent did not need their services any longer as he is reducing the section staff. There is no charge whatever against them.

Committed for Bigamy.

A Postal Railway.

An experimental postal railroad is to be erected between Laurel and Baltimore, a distance of twenty miles, on which a speed of 300 miles per hour is expected to be reached. A compromise between the pneumatic tube and the ordinary railroad carries a miniature train of two cars, solely for mails and light parcels, without any attendance. The road has three rails, one above the car for carrying the current, and the two below, on which the cars run. The cars are built of sheet iron and are two feet wide and twenty one feet long. Speed will be regulated and power or brakes applied by electricity solely. If the experiment at Laurel succeeds, it is stated that similar roads will be laid between Baltimore and Washington and the use of the railroad for postal service will soon become general in all progressive countries. If the experiment succeeds, it will be another vast stride towards the annihation of time and space as disturbing elements in business transactions.

—The Globe prints as a rumor at Osgoode Hall that Attorney-General Mowat is about to return to practice at the bar and enter the firm of which Mr. Justice McLennan was lately the head. Mr. Mowat has been retained for several cases to be heard at the forthcoming sittings of the Supreme Court in which Mr. McLennan held briefs.

THE POLICE RECOVER JAS. McGUIRE'S GOLD WATCH.

"Tulte" Whi e Stole it.—Where the Young Thief Hid his Booty.

During the afternoon of Oct'r 10th, Mr. James McGuire, proprietor of the Albion Hotel, had a handsome gold watch and chain valued at $125, stolen from the till behind the bar in his hotel. The theft was done in a clever manner, as the till is locked by a combination lock of the latest invention and it was supposed that it could be opened only by those who had seen the working of the combination. The case was put into the hands of the Chief of Police, who at once instituted a vigorous investigation into the affair. He caused circulars to be issued giving a detailed description of the missing articles, and these were sent to all parts of the country, but nothing of the stolen property was heard of. Still the police did not give up the search, believing that the perpetrator was one who was acquainted with the premises whence the article was taken. On Thursday afternoon of this week word was received at the police office that a boy, accompanied by a dog, was acting in a rather suspicious manner around the post office, and at the time mentioned was in the yard on Bridge street. Officer Morton went immediately to the place, but on his arrival no one was to be seen. He made a thorough search of the yard, and after a short time was rewarded for his labors by finding the missing watch and chain which had been secreted in a water pipe spout on the north west corner of the post office building, inside the yard. He took the gold watch and substituting his own, which is a silver one, proceeded to the third story of the wareroom of Pitcathly & Kelso, whence the yard of the Government building can be overlooked, to watch for the return of the person who had placed the article there. This was a few minutes after two o'clock. About four o'clock Miss Langley, (better known as "Tuie White," came along Bridge street, entered the post office yard, and sat down on the ground close to where the watch had been hidden, but did not touch the article. She was there about half an hour, engaged in cracking nuts, when he got up and went away. Although the officer remained on until 11 o'clock that night she light she boy did not again appear upon the scene that night.

The next morning, which was yesterday, the officer again went on watch at his former place of observation. Between that hour and 11 o'clock White passed the post office on Bridge street going in a westerly direction, having at the time a basket on his head. A few minutes later he returned, went through the post office yard, and secreted in some part of the yard the basket which he had in his possession. He took a very careful survey of the yard and also the lane, which is situated between the post office and the building where Officer Morton was secreted. After remaining there for a short time he went away. At about 6 o'clock last evening a boy named William Sero went into the yard and walked about until he found the watch had been hidden. The officer immediately went and arrested this boy, and took him down to the police station, where he was subjected to a rigorous examination by Chief of Police, when it was learned that he was not the guilty party. In reply to the question how he knew the watch was hidden there, he said that at the time of his arrest he was passing along Bridge street in company with another boy, when he ran into the post office yard for the purpose of hiding from his companion. He happened to go into the corner of the building where the missing article was and seeing a watch chain lying behind the water pipe drew it out. This was the first, he affirms, that he knew of the missing article. Later in the evening "Tuite White" was arrested and the dog accompanying him was also taken care of. Mr. Charles Baker, who is employed by Messrs. Pitcathly & Kelso, then accompanied the chief to the office and when White was brought before him he identified him as the person he had seen go to the place where the missing article was found. He also identified the dog as the one which accompanied him. The boy in question is well known to the police, having been convicted of a number of offences. On November 25, 1886, he was accused and convicted of larceny, having gone into the store of Pitcathly & Kelso, and stolen some tobacco, for this offence he was sentenced to 3 days' imprisonment. In the same month he was caught tapping the tills at Messrs. S. A. Lazier's and R. Templeton's, for which offence he was sentenced to 3 months in the county gaol. He has also been charged with a number of lesser offences, such as stealing sleigh bells, candles, bed clothing, &c., and was also charged on one occasion before the Magistrate on a charge of till-tapping at the grocery of W. Watson, but in that case an alibi was proven. The boy, who is only 15 years of age, is a confirmed criminal, and the means which he adopts to carry out his nefarious aims are those which one older in years would scarcely conceive of. He was brought before the Police Magistrate this morning, and was represented by Mr. S. B. Burdett. After a number of witnesses had been examined, the Magistrate committed the prisoner for trial.

The police are to be congratulated upon the recovery of these valuable articles, as well as the manner in which the thief was brought to justice.

The annual meeting of the Ontario Women's Christian Temperance Union was held at Sarnia on the 9th of October, and lasted four days. Belleville sent two delegates to that convention and the following is a report from one of them :

On Tuesday morning, Oct. 9th, at an hour when many of our sisters were doubtless enjoying restful sleep, your delegates started for Sarnia to be present at the 11th annual convention of the Ontario W. C. T. U. With a number of other delegates we arrived about 3 p. m. and were met by a committee who conducted us to Victoria Hall where the business meetings of the convention were held. In the evening a glorious reception of delegates and invited guests was given in the Baptist church. Refreshments were served in the S. S. room and afterwards addresses were given by the Mayor on behalf of the town, by Mrs. Abraham for the Sarnia W. C. T. U., and by Mr. McCrae for the I. O. G. Temple of Sarnia, to all of which suitable responses were given. This Mayor remarked with pleasure the rapid growth of the society, which now numbers some 6,000 members in Ontario and 13,000 in the Dominion.

The reception of your delegates at the home of Mr. English, of Brock St., was no less cordial than the public reception, and at the close of our stay there, we left feeling that though our association with them had been but for a few days, still its memory would ever be to us a cherished possession.

The town of Sarnia is quiet but pleasantly situated on the river. The hall was bright and roomy and its walls were adorned with the banners of several unions and the shields of different counties. It may not be amiss here to say that the shield for Hastings was second to none in neatness of design, though many were of rich material and elaborate workmanship.

The first session of the convention from time to time were enlivened by telegrams of greeting from various parts with words of cheer; and from one of these, received high up among the saloons and like places.

Attention was also called to the work which some are doing in visiting livery stables with suitable tracts, papers or books. This work has already been in the hands of masing such visits between 1 and 2 o'clock in the day, stated that the men received the literature gladly and read it in their spare hours or handed it to one of their number to read aloud to the rest.

A great dearth of literature is reported among the lumbermen and an earnest call was made for scrapbooks with choice selections and pictures. The value of such is not too large and adapted to much use, that they might be exchanged among lumber shanties.

The Ottawa W. C. T. U. had visited the soldiers' camp at their late annual drill. They had pitched a tent and held three services of song daily, and a gospel service in all of which the men had joined heartily. The song service particularly being interesting and spirited. At the close of the season of drill, General Middleton had personally thanked the ladies for their thoughtful and timely action, to which the General largely credited the absence of all difficulty in enforcing discipline, and the unusually commendable deportment of the regiment.

As reports from various quarters were brought in our hearts were cheered, inspired and warmed. We realized that the watch word in all departments of the work must be vigilance, vigilance, vigilance.

A discussion on unfermented wine elicited the fact, that many churches are using for sacramental purposes an article purporting to be unfermented, which is open to grave question as to freedom from alcoholic spirits.

The statement that the Lieutenant Governor was about to issue permits for the sale of beer in the North-West was received with profound regret.

It was also noticed that the Temperance lesson in the International S. S. Series is placed on the short Sunday of the quarter and so the temperance lesson is crowded into very small space, or entirely omitted by many of the best teachers who consider the review a very important feature of S. S. work.

It was therefore resolved and our Cor.-Secretary instructed to write to the Committee on the International lessons requesting them to place the lesson for the last Sunday of the quarter, where it would not be crowded out by other lessons nor break the connection of the lessons of the quarter.

The leave taking of Lady Thornton, who had filled the position for six years past, was affecting. At the time of her taking that office we were less than seven hundred in membership, we left her over thirty-six W. C. T. Unions, now we have two hundred and thirty-six.

Then one solitary Young Woman's Christian Temperance Union, composed of thirty of the brightest and best of the young ladies of Hamilton. Now there are thirty-five Y. W. C. T. Unions with over one thousand members.

Our ages do not been all prosperity—defeat has followed victory—yet the cause is of God, and though the foe be strong, we accept with unquestioning confidence the message which came to us during our last session, as from our Divine Leader. "Say not I am a child, for thou shalt go to all that I shall send thee, and whatsoever I command thee thou shalt speak." Be not afraid of their faces, for I am with thee to to deliver thee," saith the Lord.

Reception of the Rev. Henderson and Wife.

We copy the following from the Caledonia, N. Y., Journal : The reception accorded Rev. J. A. Henderson and bride by the congregation of the First church, upon their arrival last night, was a very pleasant one. Having fitted up during the new mistress of the parsonage and the members of the congregation on terms of intimacy and friendship in very short order. Last night at the appointed hour the young ladies of dream of satin en train and was admired by all who took part in the festivities. Most of the members of the congregation, and many from the United Presbyterian church were present, and all were favorably impressed, we know, with the accomplished lady which had been ushered into the society of Caledonia under such favorable circumstances and in such an important role as the "Minister's Wife." Long life to both and prosperity without end.

"Rev. R. M. Russell and wife of the U. P. Church assisted in receiving. The ladies of the congregation had adorned the large drawing rooms with handsome plants and cut flowers and the effect was very beautiful. A fine repast was also served in the dining room and the visitors returned to their homes well satisfied with present affairs at the First church parsonage."

PRICES AND PROSPECTS.

TRADE INTERRUPTED BY THE PRESIDENTIAL CONTEST.

A Revival of Business Anticipated After Nov. 6—Funds Easier—Cotton—Improved—Sugars and Coffees Lower.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The excitement and distractions common to the week preceding election day have served to interrupt the distribution of staple articles at many points, the only reported exception of note being at Boston. Word is received, however, from almost all points that merchants, irrespective of party, look confidently to a revival immediately following Nov. 6, and a continuance of an active general trade throughout the season.

The Louisiana rice crop is estimated at 695,000 bags of rough. The sugar yield in that state is said to be disappointing, but in spite general trade throughout the lower Mississippi Valley is more brisk since the crop began to move.

The advance in the price of boots and shoes urged by New England manufacturers has not been realized.

Collections northwest have improved and greater ease is announced in the Central Western and the Southern States. Funds are growing easier at all centers, and even those at which the heaviest drafts were made from the great crop moving regions now report a returning current of more ready funds than are in demand at the moment. Stock speculation at New York is stagnant, prices declined at first on bearish manipulation, but recovered sharply later on. Money at New York on stock demand, call loans 2½ to 3 per cent. Foreign exchange is dull and slightly stronger, demand, sterling $4.84¾ to $4.87¾.

Our report of stocks of wheat out of farmers' hands east of the Rocky Mountains, covering nearly 1000 points of export, now shows 44,518,000 bushels, and on the Pacific coast 5,750,000 bushels, an increase for the country within a month of 2,000,000 (the higher prices) of 7,665,000 bushels. The total thus reported is about 9,000,000 bushels less than was held on Sept. 1st. Wheat flour stocks aggregate 1,761,000 barrels, an increase of 75 per cent since Oct. 1st. Reports of the wheat crop, except on the Pacific coast, the total shipped as wheat is only 582,890 bushels, as against 1,072,609 bushels a year ago. The wheat flour as wheat the total shipped is 1,342,814 bushels of wheat, against 1,827,346 bushels last year. The total wheat and flour shipped only 46,000 bushels of wheat, but about 158,000 barrels of flour. July 1 to date the total of wheat and flour exports aggregate 40,240,000 bushels, against 57,608,000 bushels in a like portion of 1887.

The favorable weather has stimulated dry goods trade, notably at Boston. There has been a fair inquiry for cotton goods at first hands, prices of wool remain very firm at the latter and there is a moderate demand from eastern towns. Eastern mills are taking fair quantities for consumption, stocks are not heavy and the impression is widespread that prices are likely to hold firm with a probability of an advance during the summer.

Freer offerings of raw sugars, new crop Brazil and Demerara and European beet root product at terms ¼ and ⅛ more favorable to purchasers, have caused a general movement. Refined sugars are off 1-16 and ⅛ on moderate inquiry and more urgent offerings. Coffee has ruled quiet and easy, prices are ⅛ lower on fair invoices. Brazil port stocks and arrivals are increasing.

There has been a somewhat increased business in iron, but prices are still weakening. Twelve new southern furnaces will compete for northern and western trade during the winter. Negotiations for a general trade has been checked by the absence of cash offers.

Another Big Railway Deal.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 3.—The weekly circular of John A. Hambleton & Co., bankers, of this city, says to-day : There are some mysterious whisperings going the rounds regarding a possible deal between the Baltimore and Ohio and Richmond and West Point Terminal Company. The rumors have taken no definite shape nor have they been traced to a responsible source, nevertheless it is to be hoped that there is a foundation for the report, as a deal of the character mentioned would be a benefit to both roads. The Baltimore and Ohio would thereby secure a valuable feeder, and the Richmond and West Point Terminal Company would have the benefit of the Baltimore and Ohio's influence in Washington, which would be a valuable acquisition to the latter company.

A Youthful Boodler.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 3.—Yesterday on balancing bank accounts, the Bodman tobacco warehouse found a forged check for $5000 in a batch of three banks. The checks in each case were endorsed by Charles Tinkler, collector for the warehouse, who received the money. Tinkler was only 18 years old and left the employment about the last of September to get higher wages as assistant to a bookmaker at the races. His employers think he was the dupe of experienced criminals. The boy is missing.

The Week's Failures.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days, reported by Dun, Wiman & Co., number for the United States 243, and for Canada 32, or a total of 275 as compared with a total of 268 last week and 246 week previous to the last. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 245, made up of 223 in the United States and 20 in the Dominion.

Carried off After Sixty Years' Repose.

NEWMARKET, Nov. 3.—There has reposed for upwards of sixty years in the upper department of the peastoffice here a large 10 gallon copper still, which had be n used in the early days of the country for making whisky when huge distilleries were unknown, and when dragged down were found to consist of. Thursday a couple of Inland Revenue officers carried it off in the name of the Queen.

Too Much Apple and Whipstocks.

HAYSVILLE, Nov. 3.—Mr. Hastings to B. C. Tye of this place got an apple stuck in its throat. Mr. Tye thought that he could push it down with a whipstock, but the cow did not like to be treated in such a way, and gave a jerk and broke off about a foot in her throat. The animal had to be killed.

THE GALT NYSTERY.

A Further Adjournment of the Inquest—Examining Druggists' Books.

GALT, Nov. 3.—The coroner's inquest in the poisoning case was resumed again last night, and further adjourned until Nov. 20, three being no evidence to-day. Detective Murray was present, but any new clues that he may be working upon were not made public. The mystery appears to be as far from solution as ever.

Looking for a Clue.

HAMILTON, Nov. 3.—Detective Murray was in the city yesterday examining all the druggists' books for registers of sales of poison about the time of the Galt murder.

PROBABLE MURDER.

A Toronto Plasterer Strikes His Mistress With an Axe.

TORONTO, Nov. 3.—No. 46 Edward-street came very near being the scene of another Buckley tragedy yesterday afternoon, with the difference that in this instance an axe was the offensive weapon used and not the boots of the brutal ruffian. The victim is Annie Ferguson, and her murderous assailer is a plasterer named Edward Bell, with whom she lived. Bell, who is a steady enough man when sober, had been drinking heavily all day ; but about 4.30, the hour when the crime was committed, he had consumed $5 worth of whisky.

The cause of the quarrel is a mystery, as the woman, up to a late hour last night, was still unconscious, and Bell himself doggedly refuses to say anything except that he thinks he must have been crazy. At 3.30 yesterday afternoon the police of Agnes-street Station were notified that a murder had been committed at No. 46 Edward-street. Inspector Ward, Sergeant Seymour and a strong force at once hurried to the spot. There they found Annie Ferguson lying senseless at the doorway, with blood flowing copiously from a deep gash in the back of the skull. Bell, as soon as he saw the police, retreated to the second story of the house, where, taking a position at the head of the flight of stairs, he brandished a blood-stained axe over his head and dared anyone to mount the stairs to arrest him. He was armed with a shoemaker's hammer rifle, with which he threatened to pop the first policeman who would attempt to disarm him.

Inspector Ward tried to persuade Bell to surrender but this he refused to do. Then Policeman Kettle mounted to the attack while the others crept up on the hammer smashed in, and his arm almost paralyzed with a blow from the axe. Then Inspector Ward sawyed the difficult task, but he also was forced to retreate. Sergeant Seymour next went up only to descend again before the brandished axe. Kettle made another attempt, and was again unsuccessful. Bell meanwhile was getting more desperate and snapped the rifle twice at the invading officers, but happily the weapon failed to explode.

Then a happy thought struck the Inspector. Seizing a chair he called on his men to follow him, and sprang up the stairs, using the piece of furniture as a guard for his head. He rained blow after blow at Ward, but the chair was stout and the officer a handy wielder of his singular weapon. Soon, however, it was crushed, and Bell, still desperately fighting, was crowded into a corner, where he was quickly overpowered and secured. The rest was an easy matter. Bell was marched to the lockup, hustled into the street and given the frog's march to Agnes-street station, where he now lies sobering up and thinking over the consequences of his crime.

While the fight was in progress on the stairs Bell's victim had been carried into an adjoining room, where a physician did all he could to staunch the flow of blood and save her life. At first it was thought that the injuries were serious but not necessarily fatal. About 8 o'clock in the evening she began to vomit blood, said to be a sure sign of concussion of the brain. As she was unable to speak it was found impossible to take her ante-mortem statement last night, but should her unfavorable symptoms continue it will be done to-day. The doctors think that she will live for sometime, and they hold out hopes of her recovery.

From what can be gathered from the neighbors it appears that Bell threatened the woman and that she told him she would call the police and had just crossed the threshold with that intention, when Bell, following behind, delivered the blow which may cost them both their lives. The woman had a police record, and her husband is either in jail or out of the country. She has three children, two girls and a boy, all half grown.

NEWS OF STANLEY.

ZANZIBAR, Nov. 3.—Couriers from Labora bring direct news from the Stanley expedition, a portion of which was met at the end of November, 1887, by Arabs trading between Lake Victoria Nyanza and Ndge and Tabora. These Arabs met Stanley's rear guard at a point west of Albert Nyanza, south of the land of Sanga, just as the expedition was preparing to cross swamps caused by the radiation of the Semliki river, south in that country. The Arabs did not see Stanley. The detachment seen consisted of 30 men. They stated that Stanley was two days ahead. The expedition had suffered greatly on the march through a thick forest, where it was impossible to advance more than 1½ miles daily. Provisions were scarce and many had disappeared or died. Forty were drowned in crossing a great river nowing from east to west. One white man had died. Stanley was obliged to fight some tribes that refused to supply him with provisions.

The expedition had often halted in the expectation of receiving reinforcements from the Congo. The rear guard at the time met had not been on the march five days a. tor a halt of three weeks due to the illness of Stanley and a great part of the escort who died or deserted while with fever.

The Arabs estimated the total strength of the expedition after all losses at 250 men. The health of Stanley was then good. The rear guard, which consisted of natives of Zanzibar, stated that Stanley had decided that he would no longer advance in a northeasterly direction but would strike toward the north hoping to avoid the swamps. After getting a certain distance north he intended to take an oblique line to the eastward and go straight to Wadelai where it was thought he would arrive, 60 days later, about the middle of January, 1888. The Arabs were of the opinion that the expedition was still strong enough to reach Wadelai.

It will be remembered that on Aug. 1 information was received from Zanzibar that two messengers had arrived there who had left the interior about the beginning of April and who reported that Stanley had not arrived at Wadelai up to that time. The messengers stated that in the month of March Emin Pasha did receive some vague and indecisive news of the explorer which had filtered through from tribe to tribe but that the reports were very conflicting. Some declared that Stanley, after losing a number of men and a large portion of his supplies, was hemmed in by hostile tribes between the Mabeds country and the Albert Nyanza, while other rumors were to the effect that he had been attacked by the tribes in the Matonjora-Mfumbiro district, and after several conflicts had diverted his course in an unknown direction.

TRUNDLE BED THEOLOGY.

As mother saw her calmly stand
Up in a garden corner,
A small, green apple in her hand,
She hastened out to warn her.
"My child it will bring you under woe;
Green apples can't be eaten so,
We'll have it baked—then it will do."

The next week at her Sunday school
She learned the ancient story,
How Eve and Adam broke the rule
And sacrificed their glory.
She told her playmates warningly:
"They ate the apples from the tree;
They'd ought to have 'em baked, you see."

BABY'S SKIN AND SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by Cuticura Remedies.

Our oldest child, now six years of age, when an infant six months old was attacked with a virulent, malignant skin disease. All ordinary remedies failing, we called our family physician who attempted to cure it, but it spread with almost incredible rapidity, until the lower portion of the little fellow's person, from the middle of his back down to his knees, was one solid crash, ugly, painful, blotched and malignant. We had no rest at night, no peace by day. Finally, we were advised to try the Cuticura Remedies. The effect was simply marvellous. In three or four weeks a complete cure was wrought, leaving the little fellow's person as white and healthy as though he had never been attacked. In my opinion your valuable remedies saved his life, and to-day he is a strong, healthy child, perfectly well, no repetition of the disease having occurred. GEO. R. SMITH,

CLEAR SKIN, PURE BLOOD.

No mother, who loves her children, who takes pride in their beauty, purity, and health, and in bestowing upon them a child's greatest inheritance,—a skin without a blemish," and a body nouri hed by pure blood—should fail to make trial of the Cuticura Remedies.

I have seen the Cuticura Remedies used for milk crust by a visitor in my house, and can state that the cure was speedy and permanent. I have also used them myself, for eruptions of the skin on my little child, with satisfactory result in every respect. The skin was broken out and began to assume ugly proportions. I have also heard my neighbors speak of the Cuticura Remedies in the highest terms. E. P. BEAN,

Pure Water for Cities.

The problem of pure water for cities is getting to be not only more important, but more difficult of a satisfactory solution. The city of Paris now proposes to go 312 miles and draw off one of the Swiss Alpine lakes into her reservoirs and supply pipes. Lake Neufchatel is noted for its perfectly pure water, fed by the snows that are frost curded and clarified, and constantly supplied from above the line of possible human contamination. The expense of this new enterprise will be not less than $100,000,000. The pipes must be carried twenty-two miles by means of mountain tunnels. But the first law of life in these days is to secure pure water, and no expense can be too great which supplies a great city with wholesome drink.—Globe-Democrat.

It is predicted that Montana will produce gold, silver and copper this year to the value of $40,000,000.

—Workmen in the stone-quarries sometimes find very hard kind of rock. They pick little grooves for the iron wedges, and then, with great sledge hammers, drive and drive the wedges into the flinty rock. And yet, once in a while, they fail to divide the solid mass. The iron wedges and the sledge prove useless and the workmen wonder at the stubborn rock. But there is a yet another way. The iron wedges are removed from the narrow grooves. Then the little wooden ones, of a very hard fibre, are selected. The sharp, well-made wooden wedges are first put into water. They are then inserted in the grooves tightly while wet, and water is kept in the grooves, and no sledge is needed to drive them. They would break under the severe blows of the ponderous hammer. But the workmen just let the wet wedges alone. They will do what the driven iron failed to do. How the damp wood swells. The particles must have room to enlarge. And the granite hearts of the rocks can not withstand this silent influence. In a little while the solid rock parts from top to bottom and the workmen's will is accomplished. It is so, often, in other things. What noise and visible effort fails to do, some quiet power, when applied, will surely accomplish. Teachers may remember this fact in mechanics, and manage some very stubborn natures by the application of the silent forces. The iron and the sledge hammers often failed; but tears, prayers, and a patient example never fail.

—A religion good enough for winter is good enough for summer. A religion needed in January and February is as much needed in July and August. Theoretically these truths are affirmed, while practically they are denied. Many church members who go away from city homes during the heated term leave what little religion they possess packed away with furs and great coats, as being comfortable enough for winter, but useless in summer. "Let us remember," says a popular preacher, "that iniquity does not cease in the summer time. She never takes a vacation. The devil never leaves town. . . . . Our charge, therefore, is, make no adjournment of your religion till the cool weather. Whether you stay in town or seek the farm-house, or the sea-shore, or the mountain, be faithful in prayer, in Bible reading and in attendance upon Christian ordinances. He who throws away two months of life wastes that for which many a dying sinner would have been willing to give all his possessions when he found that the harvest was passed and the summer was ended."

—The danger of false tends ness in the training of children was finally illustrated in due time in the following manner: A person who was greatly interested in entomology secured, at great pains, a fine specimen of an emperor moth in the larva state. Day by day he watched the little creature as he wove about him his cocoon, which is very singular in shape, much resembling a flask. Presently the time drew near for it to emerge from its wrappings, and spread its large wings of exceedingly beauty. On reaching the narrow aperture of the neck of the flask, the pity of the person watching it was so awakened by the the struggle necessary to get through that he cut the cords, thus making the passage easier. But alas! his false tenderness destroyed all the brilliant colors for which this species of moth is noted. The severe pressure was the very thing needed to cause the flow of fluids which create the marvellous hues. His wings were small, dull in color, and the whole development was imperfect. How often we see a result in a character when parents, thinking to help a child over some hard place, rob him of strength of purpose and other qualities essential to the highest attainments in mental and spiritual life.—[Congregationalist.

A Rare Combination.

There is no other remedy or combination of medicines that meets so many requirements, as does Burdock Blood Bitters in its wide range of power over such Chronic diseases as Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Complaint, Scrofula and all humors of the blood.

KATE.

There's something in the name of Kate
Which many will condemn;
But listen, now, while I relate
The traits of some of them.

There's Dall Kate, a modest dame,
And worthy of your love;
She's nice and beautiful in frame,
As gentle as a dove.

Communi-Kate's intelligent,
As we may well suppose;
Her faithful mind is ever bent
On telling what she knows.

There's Intri-Kate, she's so obscure
'Tis hard to find her out;
For she is often very sure
To put your wits to rout.

Provari-Kate's a stubborn maid,
She's sure to have her way;
The cavilling, contrary jade,
Objects to all you say.

There's Alter Kate, a perfect pest,
Her tongue is fitted to;
Her prattling tongue can never rest,
You cannot her refute.

There's Dialo-Kate, in quite a fret,
Who fails to gain her point;
Her case is quite unfortunate,
And sorely out of joint.

Equivo-Kate no one will woo;
The thought would be absurd,
She is so faithless and untrue,
You cannot take her word.

There's Vindi-Kate, she's good and true,
And strives with all her might
Her duty faithfully to do,
And battle for the right.

There's Rusti-Kate, a country lass;
Quite fond of rural scenes;
She likes to trample through the grass,
And loves the evergreens.

Of all the maidens you can find,
There's none like Edu-Kate;
Because she elevates the mind
And aims at something great.

Among the Indians.

"While my husband was trading in furs he came across an Indian who was taken to his lodge to die. He had inward pains and pains in all his limbs. He gave some Yellow Oil internally and applied it externally, and cured him. It also cured my husband of rheumatism, and I find it valuable for coughs and colds, sore throat, etc." Mrs. A. Beaw, Cook's Mills, Serpant River, Ont.

On the Bargain Counter.

Boston Transcript.

Salesman—Those confounded dress goods don't go off worth a cent. They've been in stock now for more than a year and we haven't sold more than fifty yards all told.

Proprietor—What did they cost us?

"Thirty-five cents; and I've been offering them for a quarter."

"Why not try them on the bargain counter?"

"I suppose we might try it."

An Autumn Idyll.

"Ah," she said, with tender sadness, as they strolled along beneath the trees on K street, "nothing but leaves,"

"Yes," he replied "and somebody Autumn make arrangements to take them away."

"I was not speaking of chestnut trees," she said softly, "though Summer around here."

"I will go Winter this house," he painfully murmured, and with a backward Spring he left her struggling with the problem was her life is worth living or not.—Washington Post.

A Quarter of a Century.

For more than twenty five years has Hagyard's Yellow Oil been sold by druggists, and it has never yet failed to give satisfaction as a household remedy for pain, lameness and soreness of the flesh, for external and internal use in all painful complaints.

Nothing is Perfect.

Agent (to woman who has bought a Bible on instalments)—I've called, ma'am, for the monthly payment.

Woman—All right; I've got it tied up in a rag for you. I'll fetch it.

Agent—You are pleased with the book, of course, ma'am?

Woman—Well, yes; I like the kivver, but neither me nor the old man are much sot on the readin' matter.—From Life.

Why Bridget Left.

Mistress—Bridget, I want you to understand that I am not going to stand any more flirtations between you and the policeman on this beat.

Bridget—Thin, mum, I'll be aither lavin' yees. I can get a new place any day in the week, but a policeman that loves yer for yersilf alone is not picked up so aisy.—From Texas Siftings.

The Modus Operandi.

The mode of operating of Burdock Blood Bitters is that it acts at once and at the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and the Blood, to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in Chronic Complaints.

A Wrong Conclusion.

Burton—Paperwate must be getting up in the world. Did you notice how politely his tailor bowed to him?

Bolton—Bowed! The poor fellow knows he's got to be civil if he ever expects to collect a cent.—From Life.

Just the Same.

Old Jenkins happened to meet his three young nieces, and asked them to have a little refreshment.

"Girls are just the same," said the old man, as he stood at the cashier's desk and picked up $2.85 out of a twenty-dollar bill, "very little change!"—From Life.

Cured By B. B. B. When all Else Failed.

Hesitation means Loss.

If your hair is coming out or turning grey, or if you find dandruff in your hair do not hesitate one moment looking after it. Get some of Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic," use it as directed and you will find that it will give you the best of satisfaction. Take warning, do not wait till it is too late but try it at once. All druggists sell it.

Strange, but Still True.

Mrs. David Carstairs, Haldimand Township, met with a very pleasant surprise a few weeks ago. It seems Mrs. Carstairs has suffered a great deal from dyspepsia and indigestion, the symptoms of which were, pains in the stomach and bowels, and sick headache. She has tried a great many physicians, and an unlimited amount of patent medicines, but without any success; and last but not least, she tried Dowling's Pepsin Compound, and one bottle has removed both pain and ache. She returns the kindest regards to P. E. Dowling, Cobourg, for his magnificent remedy. Belleville Ts, take pattern by this woman, and ask your Druggist for it

The Dangerous Coal Oil.

Montreal, Oct. 17.—The explosion of poorly-refined coal oil is the cause of another accidental burning. A little girl named Beauchamp, living on Maple street, while busy for a moment in domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while resting on the table. Her burning clothing was only torn from her with much difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quickly summoned and the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined Oil a considerable quantity of inferior Coal Oil is being sold.

In order to avoid these low grades we have taken the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil

'CARBON SAFETY OIL'

A specially refined and superior grade of Canadian Oil,

ASTRAL OIL,

A high grade American Oil.

These we can most confidently recommend to our retail trade as goods that will give entire satisfaction.

We are also fully supplied with Water White and Prime White American Oil and the usual brands of Canadian Oil.

AN INTERESTING POTATO CONTEST.

The editor of The Rural New Yorker last winter made the statement that if he could not raise at the rate of over 700 bushels of potatoes to the acre on a given plot in his experiment grounds by what is known as the Rural trench system of cultivation, let the season be favorable or unfavorable, he would forfeit $50, if any one would pay the same amount in case of his failure—the money in either event to be donated to some charitable purpose. The challenge was accepted by Mr. Wilmer Atkinson, the editor of The Farm Journal. It was agreed that the result of the contest should be determined by the following judges: W. A. Stiles, editor of Garden and Forest, New York; Dr. Peter Collier, director of the New York experimental station, Geneva, N. Y.; Thomas S. Burr, Plainfield, N. J.; Peter T. Quinn, Newark, N. J.; J. G. Webb, River Edge, N. J., and L. C. Benedict, agricultural editor of The New York World.

The contest potatoes were planted April 20, and cultivated according to the trench system, approved by Mr. Carman, and for several years practiced with unvarying and satisfactory results. The crop was harvested, measured and duly decided upon Sept. 28 by the judges appointed, in the presence of some thirty guests, including Peter Henderson, the well known New York seedsman; C. V. Mapes, of the Mapes Formula and Peruvian Guano company; W. H. Bowker, of the Bowker Fertilizer company; Dr. F. M. Hexamer, editor of The American Agriculturist; J. C. Haviland, representing The Farm Journal, and E. Williams, the veteran horticulturist, of Montclair, N. J.

The contest plot contained five rows, each thirty-three feet long, three inches apart from center to center, on specially prepared ground on which potatoes had been grown for twelve successive years. During this entire period it received not over fifty tons of horse manure per acre. The applications of fertilizers each year have been liberal, the average being probably not less than 1,200 pounds (a fair rate) per acre. The rows or trenches, as these are called to distinguish them from the ordinary plantings were dug eight inches deep and one foot wide. Mapes' potato manure was mixed with the soil in the bottom at the rate of 880 pounds to the acre. On this the seed, cut three strong eyes to the piece, was planted in hills one foot apart; then a light covering of soil on the seed and an additional amount of the fertilizer to make it equal to 1,760 pounds to the acre when the trenches were filled to the surface with the earth taken out.

One of these trenches was planted with a potato known as the Rural New Yorker No. 2, two with Rural New Yorker No. 4, and two with Rural New Yorker No. 4. Unfortunately for the contest, the flea beetle which has done much damage to the potato crop this season in certain portions of New Jersey and elsewhere, attacked the foliage of No. 2, occupying two-fifths of the plot, and destroying before the earliest potatoes began to mature. Variety No. 4, also two-fifths of the plot, was attacked in a similar manner later on and the foliage mostly killed some three or four weeks previous to the maturity of the crop. The plants of Rural New Yorker No. 2 were less injured than either of the other varieties and the foliage was alive in the early part of September.

The production of the three varieties numbered as R. N. Y. Nos. 2, 3 and 4, grown in the five trenches and stated in round numbers, was as follows: The two trenches of No. 4 yielded respectively at the rate of 683 and 605 bushels to the acre. The tubers were large and well shaped and were generally of merchantable size. The two trenches of No. 3 (the ones most injured) followed with a comparatively small yield, at the rate of 298 and 253 bushels to the acre. The mammoth yield, which brought joy to Mr. Carman, though he was disappointed on the entire plot, was made by No. 2, which weighed out at the rate of 1,076 bushels to the acre. The tubers were large, quite uniform in size and perfect in condition. One of the noticeable things about this number was the unusual absence of small or unmerchantable sizes.

The committee made a certificate for the whole plot at the rate of 583 bushels to the acre. This total, while falling below the yield specified in the challenge, is the point of fact a notable one in view of the attack of the unforeseen and unconquerable enemy which destroyed the No. 2 plants before the tubers were a quarter grown, considerably injured the No. 4 plants and those of No. 3 somewhat.

Mr. Carman favors the trench culture because it supplies a mellow and congenial medium for the growth of the roots, which may extend where they will, without obstruction, and because moisture is preserved by the increased porosity. Again the tubers are less crowded and more shapely than when planted the old way, and in the level system the rain is not sliced off from the hills, but goes down where it will do the most good.

Things Worth Knowing

The bulletin issued from the Kentucky station will be mailed to any citizen of that state who sends his name and address for that purpose to "Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station," Lexington, Ky.

Illinois is the leading brown corn producing state.

Hemlock or spruce boughs are recommended as a good covering for the strawberry patch in the garden.

A little green food, a few apples, beets, potatoes or other roots given to the cow occasionally will help to keep her healthy and maintain the flow of milk.

Kindness to stock is a paying investment.

With a little meal the dairyman may grow and fatten a pig for each cow twice a year, increase the fertility of his farm, and do away with so many months of unprofitable feeding just to support life.

The production of lambs for market, in any of the more thickly settled sections of the country, if conducted with intelligence, cannot fail to be profitable.

The reduction of postage on seeds, bulbs, plants, etc., from one cent per ounce to one cent for two ounces is now an accomplished fact.

A "jute bagging trust" attempted to force the cotton planters of the south to pay exorbitant prices for the jute bagging used as a covering for cotton bales. Experiments have been made with coarse cotton sheeting, which is much cheaper, and which is considered satisfactory by the New York Cotton Exchange and the Liverpool Cotton association. Thus the cheap sheeting will doubtless largely take the place of artificially dear jute bagging.

Each Mind Must Be Its Own School House.
Self Is the All.

After a youth has passed through the common school of country or city, self education becomes not only possible but easy. So much depends upon self that a college course is valuable only so far as the student exerts his own personal will power and makes himself master of the situation. Colleges offer an opportunity, but they cannot make a scholar —cannot make an orator or a doctor or a statesman. The college professor feels how powerless he is when the parent or guardian of a fashionable, rich and indolent lad introduces this mortal to the teacher and expresses a desire to have a man made out of the well dressed and well fed material; but when an earnest, open faced, perhaps poverty stricken farmer boy has walked fifty miles to find a group of professors and a collection of books, there is joy in the faculty, from the president down to the humblest tutor, because a young man has come who can make a scholar out of himself. In the first twelve years of life a school is needed; in all the remainder of life each mind must be its own school house and keep its own school.

There are many forms of human will and many shadings of taste. Often when the will power is great enough to bind a mind to the daily task of a student there is not taste enough in the heart to call the will power into action. A Chicago man, who had exhausted love and money both in the attempt to make his son absorb in some manner the vast books of the best institutions found at last, to his surprise and delight, that his son possessed a great taste and talent as a draftsman and machinist. He cared nothing for Homer, but he could make a locomotive. Since this development took place the father has had a peaceful time of it, for his son is running with great zeal along his own good path.

One of the finest surgeons in the United States went through a college indeed, but when he graduated he knew "little Latin and less Greek," but there was not a medical work in the library he had not had in his room for special study, and there was not a bone in the room of anatomy which he did not prize above a lesson in astronomy or surveying.

One of the advantages of self education lies in the fact that it permits a strong will to follow a personal taste. An explanation of the great success often of what are called self made men may be found in their freedom to follow the path of most attractiveness. Many a mind is diverted by the father or mother, or by the dignity of a college course or faculty, from the channel for which nature fitted it, and thus a genius dies not of neglect but of too much attention.

A writer in an American review says: "After 17 a recitation is a stultification." The writer evidently means that when a student has reached that age he should be absorbed in his own business and should not file out to say a lesson in anatomy or in calculus when he has on his table an unfinished essay upon some theme in politics or ethics. Whether this remark about the seventeenth year be true or not, it illustrates the thought that the best part of education is conducted by self rather than by a tutor. If a man or a youth finds himself unable to go to college, he need not feel that all is lost, or that half or a third is lost. Self is the all. It is that something which rises above the schoolhouse. —Professor David Swing in Chicago Journal.

Lord Dufferin's Aristocratic Appearance.

As ambassador at Rome Lord Dufferin quite realizes the ideal of the diplomatist as pictured in novels. A dapper man, with strikingly handsome delicate features, dandified in dress, and aristocratic to his glove tips, he is a great charmer when it pleases him so to be. Ladies think him delightful. When very sometimes misjudged him at first sight, but have soon winced at feeling the grip of the iron hand under his kid glove.

A trick of half closing his eyes, a slightly affected drawl in his voice, a nonchalant demeanor when he enters into conversations of the gravest moment, are puzzling to some men who approach him and irritating to others; nor does Lord Dufferin ever quite renounce pose, except in those brief moments when, his quick Irish temper being fired by the stupidity of somebody under his orders, he rates the delinquent in set terms. Nevertheless, his most scathing retorts are always delivered with a cool, half raised sarcasm, or with a grave scorn which brings all parleying to a stop.—New York Tribune.

New Fiber from the Cotton Plant.

A manufacturing firm in New York has sent to the department of agriculture specimens of a new fiber they are making from the stalk of the cotton plant. The samples received strongly resemble hemp, and seem to be adapted to all the uses that hemp is put to. A few fibers of it twisted together in the hand show remarkable tensile strength, although no exact comparative tests with other fibers have yet been made. A collection of the fibers of hemp, flax, jute, ramie, etc., from all parts of the world is being made by the department, and a new instrument has been invented by which it is expected that the tensile strength of each will be ascertained with great accuracy.

If the cotton plant turns out to furnish as valuable a fiber as now seems possible, an important new source of profit will be afforded the cotton planters of the southern states upon their crops.—Science.

Luck in a Lottery.

At the last drawing of the Louisiana state lottery the grand prize of $75,000 went to a well known salesman. Curiously enough his father won the grand prize in that lottery many ago, and fifteen years ago his uncle won half the grand prize in the same lottery. But the most startling part of the matter is the whole matter is that in every instance it was the same number that captured the prize.—Chicago Herald.

Drafted Into the Army.

Not long ago Dunsquone Bellaelie, an Italian workman on the water works at Dover, N. H., received notice that he had been drafted into the Italian army. He at once settled up his small affairs and started for his old home. Asked why he didn't stay here and pay no attention to the draft, he said that if he did he would never dare to return to Italy, for he would be liable to arrest and imprisonment.—New York Sun.

Heir to Kalakaua's Throne.

The heir to Kalakaua's throne is his sister, and after her a niece, who is half white. This little princess is 13 years old and very pretty. She is the daughter of an English gentleman, Hon. A. C. Cleghorne, present collector of customs, who married the king's sister, now deceased. The young lady is being reared very carefully, but I doubt if she is ever queen.—Chicago Times.

Queen Victoria's Housekeeper.

Queen Victoria has lost her housekeeper, Mrs. Hutchinson. Her death at Windsor castle has caused the sovereign of England keen sorrow. Mrs. Hutchinson knew how to manage the queen, was cognizant of how far servants should be permitted to arrogate to themselves the prerogatives of royalty, was well up in the science of domestic economics, and was invaluable whenever Victoria wanted a new dress. She also knew just how many India shawls the queen has given away in the last few years, a secret which she carried with her to the grave.—New York

A Rare Combination.
There is no other remedy or combination of medicines that meets so many requirements, as does Burdock Blood Bitters. It is a safe range of power over such Chronic diseases as Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Complaint, Scrofula and all humors of the blood.

Dangerous Counterfeits.
Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. For sale by all druggists or sent post-paid on receipt of price (50c. and $1.) by addressing Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont.

Valuable to Know.
Consumption may be more easily prevented than cured. The irritating and harassing cough will be greatly relieved by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

There are a number of varieties of corns. Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

Orin Catlin, 49 Pearl Street Buffalo, N. Y., says: I tried various remedies for the piles but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications.

MRS. GEORGE LEECH, Haldimand Township, has received more benefit from two bottles of Dowling's Pepsin Compound, than anything she has ever taken in her life. She has been troubled with biliousness, loss of appetite and constipation for years. Now she has none of those troubles. People write to her and see how she will recommend you to take Dowling's Pepsin Compound if you are Dyspeptic.

The cheapest medicine in use is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, because so very little of it is required to effect a cure. For croup, diphtheria, and diseases of the lungs and throat, whether used for internal or external use, or taking internally or inhaling it is a matchless compound.

What does Dowling's Pepsin Compound cure? Dyspepsia and Indigestion. What are the symptoms? Biliousness, constipation, lack of energy, drowsiness, headache, pains in the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, depression of spirits. Ask your druggist for it.

Dowling's Little Liver Granules are highly recommended for all diseases of the liver.

Mr. Thomas Ballard, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I have been afflicted for nearly a year with that most-to be dreaded disease Dyspepsia, and at times worn out with pain and want of sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended I tried one box of Parmelee's Valuable Pills. I am now nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money."

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing diseases. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body.' Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

Of all the dyspeptic remedies ever placed in the market, Dowling's Pepsin Compound takes the lead. Why? Because it acts naturally on the digestive organs, the stomach, and not mechanically, like the other patent medicines. Besides, it helps to assimilate and digest all the foods that enter the stomach. Ask your druggist for a bottle.

Belleville follows the example of Mrs. Geo. Leech, of Haldimand, and many others, and rid yourselves of that dire disease, dyspepsia and indigestion.

Strange, but Still True.
Mrs. David Carstairs, Haldimand Township, met with a very pleasant surprise a few weeks ago. It seems Mrs. Carstairs suffered a great deal from dyspepsia and indigestion, the symptoms of which were, pains in the stomach and bowels, and sick headache. She has tried a great many physicians, and an unlimited amount of patent medicines, but without any success; and last but not least, she tried Dowling's Pepsin Compound, and one bottle has removed both pain and ache. She returns the kindest regards to P. E. Dowling, Cobourg, for his magnificent remedy. Belleviteites, take pattern by this woman, and ask your Druggist for it

SICK HEADACHE, Bilious Headache, Dizziness, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the stomach and bowels, are promptly relieved and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may truthfully be said that their action upon the system is universal, not a shard or tissue escaping their sanative influence. $500 REWARD is offered by the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for a case of Chronic Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a nasal twang; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians.

By its mild, soothing and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "cold in the head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache. Sold by druggists everywhere; 50 cents.

"Untold Agony from Catarrh."

Prof. W. HAUSNER, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N. Y., writes: "Seven years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician says me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sundown, my voice would become so hoarse I could not speak above a whisper. In the morning I barely speak above a clearing of my throat would bring on coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."

THOMAS J. RUSSELL, Esq., 209 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only cure ever made for catarrh now manufactured, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

Three Bottles Cure Catarrh.

ELI ROBBINS, Bungen P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says: "My daughter had catarrh when she was five years old, very badly. I saw Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy advertised, and procured a bottle for her, and soon saw that it helped her; a third bottle effected a permanent cure. She is now eighteen years old and sound and hearty."

ENTERPRISE REWARDED.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company are already beginning to reap the reward of their great enterprise in establishing a line of steamships to China and Japan. One of the members of the firm of Adamson, Bell & Co., the managers and agents in China of the Canadian Pacific Steamship Line, was in Vancouver, B. C., the other day, and while there stated to a newspaper representative that the trade of the C.P. Steamship Company's lines was increasing at an astonishing rate, not merely on that line alone, but on all American and transcontinental lines from the Orient, as this was the natural outlet of the future immense Oriental trade destined to America and Europe. The first year that the C. P. S. S. Co. was formed business was carried on at a loss, but the present year will give a fair showing.

The business thus established is sure to grow, as whilst the average time from China to Hong Kong by the Canadian route is from 40 to 45 days, that over the Suez canal route is from 70 to 75 days. A cargo has, indeed, been transported over the Canadian line in 30 days, and when the new steamships which are now building are put on, the time of the journey will be materially reduced.

CANADIAN BUTTER.

The Canadian Gazette, published in London, England, comments on the failure of the Canadians to make as good butter as their facilities enable them to do, and quotes the opinion of the High Commissioner to the effect that "it is to the inferior quality of the butter that the lack of expansion in the Canadian trade is due." And the Gazette adds:

"Shall it be Canada's permanent record—this stagnation in the face of increasing progress on the part of her European rivals? For the credit of Canada we hope not. The question is, in truth, like the question of all others which Canada must face, and happily there are signs that her public men are not altogether forgetful of its importance. On this side of the Atlantic, for some time past, no effort has been spared by the representatives of the Dominion to arouse Canadian producers to the imperative need of prompt and united action to "level up" the Canadian article. Year after year the same fact may be found insisted upon in the reports of the British agents of the Dominion Government to be found buried away in the blue-books of the Department of Agriculture—would that some means were devised of bringing these valuable reports to the direct notice of those they most concern—the Canadian producers. But still, little or nothing has been done, and while Canada's export cheese trade is progressing by leaps and bounds under the stimulus of a healthy system of co operation among the producers, Canada's export butter trade is languishing for want of an equal share of attention."

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

To-morrow will be election day in the United States, when the great contest for the Presidency will be decided. The struggle has been one of the most intense that has ever taken place, and the result is so doubtful that the boldest will "hold their breath" until after the decision of the electors has been announced. Canadians have no particular sympathies in the matter; but the re-election of President Cleveland, which would probably ensure the adoption of the Mills tariff bill, would not be unwelcome, as under that bill certain of our products would be admitted free into the United States.

East Northumberland is to have another election to the Commons on the 20th inst., which will be the sixth election contest in that constituency since December 28th, 1886, or an average of three political battles per annum.

Sitting on the Safety Valve.

Many are they who have laughed at the story of the green steamboat fireman who sat on the safety valve to prevent it "leak-ing." Yet thousands are repeating his folly every day. They are troubled with blotches, pimples, eruptions, salt-rheum, boils, carbuncles, ulcers and old sores, and are contenting themselves with suppressing the symptoms without removing the cause. They sit on these safety valves by which Nature is driving out blood impurities, instead of using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which cures by removing the cause, which is the blood. It is a wonderful blood purifier and invigorating tonic.

Do you think the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy would offer, as they have done for many years, a standing reward of $500 for a case of Catarrh which they cannot cure, if they did not positively know that their remedy will absolutely and permanently cure Catarrh. Sold by druggists, at only 50 cents.

Beyond Question.

Why he Gave In.

"Now that we are married, George," she said, "I hope you will change your mind, and let mother come and live with us."

"No, I won't," he replied, "and that's enough."

"But she has no home now since I left her."

"I can't help that."

"Oh, what can I do to change your hard heart?"

"Nothing."

"But if ma comes she will bake the bread."

"Well, I'll stay," he remarked, as he left her come at once."—Harper's Bazar.

The Next Future.

The death rate in the East India army was then 69 to 1,000, now it is reduced to one-seventh of that mortality, or 14 per 1,000, whilst in Germany it is about 6 per 1,000. This is to be ascribed wholly to the thorough drainage and perfect ventilation of quarters and to personal cleanliness.

—The fact that the traffic on the Intercolonial has increased so greatly as to necessitate orders for twenty two new locomotives and a large number of freight cars will relieve merchants of any doubt as to the sufficiency of the means provided for the transit of goods shipped to Canadian ports instead of to Portland. Due preparation is being made for the handling of this business, and if "retaliation" comes there is no fear that those who are trusting to Canadian resources will suffer through their confidence.

THE BANDIT FRUGOSO KILLED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The Spanish Consul-General in this city received a cablegram yesterday from Havana to the effect that the famous bandit, Victor Frugoso, has been killed and some of his companions wounded by the civil guard of Cuba.

Of this man Frugoso the Consul has no knowledge save that he is a member of the band of highwaymen about whom there was so much talk last winter by timid Americans who hesitated to go to Havana for a season lest their families might lose a hold all the pennies out of their little tin savings banks to get the men out of pawn.

The representative of the Consul says that these bandits never take women or children to hold for ransom; but that occasionally they do take rich men, planters and merchants, and keep them in custody until properly hailed out of the unpleasant swamps where they are confined.

Although Providence has been kind to the Cuban bandit in the natural situation of Havana, and although there are plenty of fastnesses about the city, the place of attack is mainly in the suburbs, where very few strangers go. The band has been shot down and killed off until the romance has somewhat left them, and what little is left smacks more of the life of an every-day highway robber than of a picturesque medieval bandit.

THE CORNWALL CANAL.

Another Break Discovered—The Prospect Said To Be Discouraging.

CORNWALL, Nov. 5.—The canal bank gradually settled Friday afternoon about two feet or more, and a crack has been discovered in the bank where the old break occurred. It was thought that boats would be able to run to-day, but the chances are that they will not get through this fall. Most people who have visited the scene of the break say it is very doubtful, and think that when the water is let in the canal the pressure will be so great that the bank will go out once more.

ESSEX CENTRE, Nov. 5.—Last week the citizens of Essex Centre decided on having electric lights in the village, and since then the Reliance and the Ball companies have been fighting as to who shall get the contract. The former company was getting the best of it, and the Ball Company decided upon a novel way of getting there first. Friday night or Saturday morning, when the majority of the citizens were in the arms of Morpheus, the company got a gang of men up to their posts and strung the wires. When the morning came the astonished people saw an electric system all ready for the dynamo. They became enraged at the action of the company, and on Saturday evening sawed every pole down. The streets are now covered with fallen poles and wires, and there is every prospect of lots of trouble.

Collingwood Wins the Championship.

COLLINGWOOD, Nov. 5.—The last of the series of championship football matches for the Northern District pennant was played here Saturday between the Everett and Collingwood teams. Play was called at 10.45, and during the first half time Collingwood scored three goals to Everett's one. In the second half neither scored. A week ago these clubs played at Everett, in the result being that neither club scored. Collingwood defeated Barrie in the first match, and Everett beat Allison. Collingwood by defeating Everett wins the championship badges for the fourth successive season.

TORONTO TOPICS.

An Alleged Gambling House Raided—Two Thieves Captured—Bell Remanded.

TORONTO, Nov. 5.—Inspectors Archibald and Stephenson and Sergeant Detective Reburn headed a posse that effected a forcible entrance to "Phip" Spohn's alleged gambling house at 112½ King street west just before midnight on Saturday. "Phip" and a couple of friends were at the foot of the stairs when the officers arrived. Sergeant Reburn told him what was wanted, and requested that he open the door. Spohn refused, but intimated that the officers would find everything all right up-stairs. Reburn at once ascended, but the door was closed and barred, and no amount of pounding could elicit a response. Then a sledge-hammer was brought into requisition, and a couple of blows quickly opened the way in. The only occupant of the place was in a bed in a small room. He was told to dress and come along, being arrested on a charge of being an inmate of a gambling house. He gave his name as E. W. Crane ("Major"). A search of the premises resulted in the discovery of portions of a faro lay-out and a couple of tables. A charge of running a common gambling house will be preferred against Spohn.

On Saturday night at 9.15, as a woman named Mrs. Falconer, was stepping on a south-bound car on Yonge street, she was knocked down by a car going north, the wheels of which passed over her thigh. She had a seven months old child in her arms, which miraculously escaped injury. Mrs. Falconer was removed to the Hospital, where it was found necessary to amputate the injured limb. She is doing well and may recover.

Mr. H. S. Smith and Mr. Alexander Boyd captured two thieves at 286 Sherbourne street last night just as they were getting away with a lot of booty. They gave their names as John Lee, no home, and Patrick Martin, 168 Parliament street. Martin was recognized as a convicted thief the moment he entered the station house, and Detective Cuddy, who arrived shortly after the arrest, identified Lee as Patrick McEvoy, who had just concluded a three-years term in the Kingston Penitentiary for burglary.

HAMILTON, Nov. 5.—Rev. Mr. Mockridge, rector of Christ Church Cathedral, has tendered his resignation, to take effect in three or four months from now. Mr. Mockridge gives as the reason that the management are trying to make a fashionable uptown church of a church situated in the poorer part of the city, and by the means of high pew rents they keep the masses out of the cathedral. Located in my sermons, I am against the principle of mean of high pew rents they keep the masses out of the cathedral. Located in my sermons, I am against the principle of motley qualifications for the privileges of a church, and I am determined in future to labor in a free church during the rest of my life."

Chairman Roach of the Committee of Management of the Christ Church Cathedral says it is the opinion of the committee and the wardens that the resignation will be accepted. A vestry meeting to consider the matter will be held about Nov. 22. Mr. Roach said further: "Dr. Mockridge took up prohibition, and his sermons on that offended several prominent members of the congregation. He went on about these establishments where they make the abominable stuff—whisky and ale, and wanted the time to come when they would be swept off the face of the earth. That offended several prominent members. Then he had been discourteous in his language from the pulpit on other questions, and the harmony of the church has been seriously affected."

Two Little Girls Drowned at Galt.

GALT, Nov. 5.—At noon Saturday the three children of F. B. Reid, dentist, two girls and a boy, aged 11, 6 and 5 years respectively, were amusing themselves on the banks of the Grand River, and it is supposed that one of them fell into the river, which at that particular place is deep, and that the others in trying to make a rescue also fell in. The little boy, the youngest of the children, was seen clinging to the rocks. He was saved, but the two girls were drowned.

A Dishonest Farmer.

Not a Success.

The art of making merchantable cheese without rennet has, evidently, yet to be acquired. It will be remembered that it was noted in our columns at the time that that Mr. A. T. Reid, of the Union cheese factory, had manufactured a cheese without the use of rennet, from milk which had arrived at the factory in a coagulated state. The result of the experiment, which was looked forward to with interest, has been reported to us by Mr. Reid. It is that the cheese in question is in almost the same condition as when it was made. It has not ripened at all and will not, evidently, mature.

Death Under Sad Circumstances.

A sorrowful case is reported from Erinsville. A short time ago Michael Hooley, farmer, married a daughter of the late James O'Neil, of that neighborhood, but his health failed and he was threatened with consumption. He hastened to California. His young wife was anxiously anticipating his return, when on Thursday 25th ult. she was stricken with apoplexy and died. Her remains were buried on the following Sunday. On Monday, Oct. 29th, the husband arrived. He was so stricken with grief that he, too, died on the next day. They leave no children.

Loafers.

Numerous complaints have of late been made of the number of loafers who stand in the doorways of business places on Front street, and make remarks on persons passing. On Saturday evening no less than ten of these characters were standing in front of the window of Mr. Charles Clarke's drug store, when he informed the police, but all had moved on before an officer arrived. Last evening a number were standing in the doorway of the Henderson House, and were ordered by the proprietor to move on, but shortly after all in the same place again. The police intend to make an example of those who persist in thus loafing around, if the practice is continued. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

An Unsuccessful Search.

Mrs. Geo. Watson, of Kingston, stepdaughter of the late Alex. Dafoe, was in the city on Saturday for the purpose of claiming some papers which she alleged would lead to the recovery of some property which she had in Quebec. A careful search of the papers in the possession of the Chief and those remaining in the trunk at the house where the deceased had lived, revealed nothing which would lead to the belief that he possessed any property either in Quebec or elsewhere. Mrs. Watson informed a representative of this journal that she did not believe that Dubleau possessed the amount of money that he represented himself as having in the bank and in the house, as he was always saying he had money when in reality he had none. His wife, we also learned, was living with Mrs. Watson in Kingston and is at present very ill.

Death of an Old Resident.

Many of our readers will regret to learn that Mr. John Carscallen, a native of this city and long and esteemed resident of Belleville, died at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Parrish, Philadelphia, on Saturday morning, after a long illness. Mr. Carscallen, who was about 60 years of age, carried on business as a carpenter and contractor in this city until some eight or nine years ago, when he removed to Michigan and subsequently to Philadelphia, where he contracted the illness from which he died, and from which he was for some years a sufferer. Deceased, who was a brother of Mr. Edward Carscallen, of Thurlow, leaves one son and two daughters. The remains, accompanied by the son and son-in-law of deceased, arrived here last night, and were this afternoon interred in the cemetery. The funeral took place from the residence of Mr. Adam Henry.

MATRIMONY.

A Plain Talk by the Rev. Jno. Learoyd.

Bridge Street church was well filled last night—the galleries, indeed, being crowded with young people—it having been announced that the Rev. John Learoyd would preach on the subject of "Matrimony." The Rev. gentleman took his text from Genesis, ii. 18. "And the Lord God said: It is not good that the man should be alone; I will make a help meet for him." He made no apology, he said, for preaching on the subject of matrimony, which was one of those social topics to which the pulpit did not refer with sufficient frequency. The secular press was a more frequent teacher in regard to matrimony, and usually inculcated correct ideas. Too many, however, derived their ideas on the subject from novels, which generally taught that all before marriage was a theory and all after it an case of bliss. The preacher enlarged on the absurdity of this idea, and said that although there was no matter on which advice was so little needed as on the choice of a partner for life—a selection the consequences of which were so momentous to the temporal and spiritual welfare of the individuals themselves and to the race—yet he would venture to offer some counsel on the subject. He advised the utmost care and the deepest consideration in the selection of a help-meet. Marriage should not be hastily entered into; it should not be the chief desire of young people in their social intercourse. The sexes should be educated together and mingle together, for nothing was more refining upon the young men than the society of young women; but they should, when contemplating matrimony, study each other's hearts, minds and disposition. Marriage should not be without love, but mere passing sentiments of admiration for a beautiful face or form, lustrous eyes or outside attractions should not dictate the choice of a life partner. The color in the cheek would fade, the eye would lose its lustre and the form would droop, and then what was there to love? The Rev. gentlemen advised careful consideration of the advice of parents and guardians, and urged young people so refuse to unite themselves with those whose tempers or characteristics were irritable. As examples of unhappy marriages he cited those of Martin Farquhar Tupper and John Wesley. Speaking to young women, he advised them to reject men whose habits were not good, as love was not even sufficient that a man should be religious, if his disposition were otherwise unsuitable. It was better, also, that a married couple should belong to the same religious denomination, for the pleasantest walk that husband and wife could take was on Sunday to the house of God. Above all, he warned women against one who advocated for wives and against those who indulge in drink, which is the greatest curse of modern times. The question "Is marriage a failure?" had been asked by an English newspaper, which had received 27,000 replies. It was, he said in effect, unnecessary to answer the question in a general sense, as God had ordained the institution and implanted the desire for matrimonial union in the hearts of mankind, but it could be made a failure by injudicious choice. The discourse, which was given as a wise and loving father might address to his children, was listened to with great interest, as was evidenced by the close attention of the congregation.

The W. C. T. U.

"I regret not to be able to say some word of encouragement although we may feel disheartened at the little apparently accomplished by us, still the fact that our efforts have had greater results, can but inspire us and I trust that we all feel determined to fight this gigantic evil. With God on our side we must eventually succeed in the battle, we are sure of victory if we use us take courage. God, even our God, has promised to hide us in time of trouble, in his pavilion. The importance of introducing Scientific Temperance into the schools was warmly discussed, but only that our children may be taught the effect of alcohol on the system, but that through the children we may reach the parents, for they very naturally feel interested in what their little children study. Many teachers in the lower grades omit teaching Scientific Temperance, because the pupils receive no credit, and it is not a help in promotion examinations, but the inspector who makes out the papers for these classes, has it in his power to put in an examination paper on this subject. It was resolved by the convention that as considerable fault has been found with the present text-book, we request one more suitable for the primary and intermediate classes. It was recommended to us that we ascertain the number of schools using this text-book, and any refusing to be reported to the Minister of Education. It has been found that many teachers do not know that they are required to teach this subject; one lady who visited 25 schools found 15 teachers who had never heard of S. T. being taught. Since the Star of Bethlehem stands over the school house, we are resolved to do all in our power to protect our little ones.

The Woman's Journal has not received the help it should from the Society, and although out of debt, it had been conducted under great financial difficulty. Miss Scott had helped Mrs. Chisholm, and knew something of the work. For the sake of the cause and themselves, every woman of the W. C. T. U. should subscribe, and in this way show their appreciation of our worthy President, who although far away still edits our journal, and will be glad of any items of interest from her sisters. We presented her with $100; this was $90 less than last year, when we all regretted. We would gladly have doubled the amount.

PROVINCIAL AND COUNTY FAIRS.

Much has been accomplished by the W. C. T. U. in many places they have crowded liquor off the grounds—supplying other refreshments than the saloon. Several ladies requested permission to use part of the main building for this purpose, but only receiving a very small space under the stairs, pitched a tent and held gospel temperance services from three to eight o'clock each day, which were largely attended, and we secured five hundred signatures to our Woman's World petition. They had a mite box and realized $72. These are only a few of the many ways adopted by different unions, which results show how much better for all it would be could liquor be abolished from the grounds.

MRS. Wiley, Corresponding Secretary, was voted a salary of $200. They will be glad to furnish temperance literature, and it was strongly urged that we patronize our own officer, as she gets a percentage, and it costs us no more. They proposed that we place temperance literature, with a bible, on the street car and at the railway station.

W. C. T. U. HEAD QUARTERS.

When this was brought before the ladies a warm discussion ensued. The different unions were requested to assist in putting up a building, very few, if any, seemed to be in sympathy with Toronto. It was generally thought that they were able to put up necessary buildings without outside help. We felt that charity began at home. So many unions need a room for their own use, quite a number cannot meet, as they have not a suitable place.

If our ladies could have seen the masterly way in which our officers conducted the business they would have felt proud, and although differences of opinion arose, perfect harmony prevailed throughout the meetings.

The Baikwill Burglary.

DANIEL HOUSTON ON TRIAL FOR THE OFFENCE.

A Great Array of Witnesses.

On Thursday night, Sept. 20th, the store formerly occupied by S. R. Baikwill, insolvent, was entered, and a quantity of goods, consisting of liquors and cigars to the value of about $1,000, stolen. On the following day Daniel Houston was arrested, charged with committing the offence, and was, after a preliminary examination, committed for trial, which was to have taken place on Oct. 3rd, but owing to the accident to Judge Lazier, the case was further adjourned until this morning. At the opening of the court the room was well filled with spectators, as the case excited a great deal of attention. In the absence of the County Judge, T. A. Lazier, Esq., the acting Deputy Judge, S. B. Burdett, occupied the bench. Mr. G. E. Henderson, Q.C., County Attorney, conducted the prosecution, and the prisoner was defended by Mr. S. B. Burdett. The prisoner, being arraigned, pleaded "Not guilty."

The first witness sworn was Geo. Hope, Deputy Sheriff, who said: I had charge of the stock in the store occupied by S. R. Baikwill, and was in possession at the time of the burglary, on the 20th of September. I was in the store on the evening in question at 6 o'clock. No one up to this time was kept in the store as a night watch. On the following morning I found the back door open, and found some of the goods removed, amounting to about $1,000. The entry had been made through a window at the rear, which I found raised. There was a waggon track at the back door, which indicated that the vehicle was a light one. I traced it to Pinnock street, but could not go any further. I also saw foot-prints which were rather large. I then informed the police of the affair. They found the goods on Ketcheson's farm in a woods, and informed me, and I came up with them, went out and secured them. Two half boxes of cigars were missing and two bottles of champagne had been drunk. The best of the goods in the store were taken.

John Gilbert sworn: I recollect the night of the 20th of September, the night of the burglary. Houston asked me on the 19th if I would let him have my waggon. I went away on Thursday and I did not know whether he had it or not. Thomas Wims, my clerk, told me afterwards that Houston did use my waggon.

J. R. Mikel: I remember well the morning after the robbery. I saw Houston about 6:30 that morning. He was in the delivery waggon of Mr. John Gilbert. He came from the northern part of the city. Mr. Thomas Wims was in company with him, and he was driving. I passed the time of day with Houston. The horse looked as if it had been driven fast.

Henry Tregaznic: I was working on the double track at the time of the burglary at Baikwill's and on the night of the 21st of September I saw him standing beside a waggon and another man was with him. They were then in front of Sinfield's cross log. There were some boxes or wood in the waggon. I saw them turn around with the waggon and let down a fence, which was close beside them, and pass into Mr. Dafoe's field. They passed through the field and down another fence, and passed through into Ketcheson's woods. I went to my work about an hour after this, and I saw the rig coming again; there was only one man from where I saw them in the first place; Dan Houston and some other man were in the waggon, but there was nothing then in the rig; I did not see Dan Houston's face plain, but could not Thomas Wims. When they passed me, Dan Houston had a handkerchief up to his face, and the other man was driving; I saw the prisoner on Friday, and had conversation with me in reference to his trial he said to me, "Don't be hard on me." The witness was subjected to a rigorous cross examination by Mr. Burdett, but nothing new was elicited.

Thos. Wims, sworn, said: I work for Mr. John Gilbert. I was, on the night of Thursday, Sept. the 20th, home all night. On Friday morning I went down town from home on Yeoman's road. I saw Dan Houston in Mr. Gilbert's waggon; he was at the time near the carriage factory of Mr. Geo. A. Brown, on Pinnock street. He asked me to take a ride, and I got in and drove to Mr. Gilbert's house. There was nothing in the conveyance. The horse did not look as if it had been driven very fast. He told me he had been taking a load up to Trenton.

Charles Rowe was sworn, but his evidence was unimportant.

Court adjourned at 1 p. m. for one hour. Many witnesses are yet to be heard.

Foot Ball.

On Saturday afternoon a match was played on the common on Front Street, between a junior team of Albert College, and the College hill team. After playing one hour, the score stood 1 to 0 in favor of the College team.

A match was played at Trenton on Saturday, between the Belleville High School and the Trenton town club. The game was exciting throughout, but the High School was too strong for their opponents, and defeated them by a score of 2 goals to 0. Mr. F. Henderson, city, was referee.

An Attractive Family.

Mr. Walter Donnelly has on exhibition in the window of Mr. J. Brasier's fur store the photos of the Maddeboy family, the tallest family living in the world. In order to bring this company here a considerable guarantee has had to be made, and those intending to hear them in the Opera House on Nov. 20th and 21st may sign the guarantee list at Donnelly's piano warerooms, where the plan will be opened and those signing the list will have first choice of seats.

The Electric Lights.

The city last night was in total darkness. The cause of this was that a few minutes past eight by some means the wires became disconnected in North Belleville, and instantly the lights vanished. The various churches were at the time being dismissed and the darkness which prevailed made navigation difficult. The break was this morning discovered and everything is again in running order.

Tabernacle.

The services at the Tabernacle yesterday were of a very interesting character. Rev. Mr. Copeland preached in the morning and Rev. Mr. Lent, of New York State, preached in the evening. The pastor of the church extended the right hand of fellowship to a large number of new members in connection with the evening service. The indications are very encouraging at the Tabernacle.

In the Toils Again.

Some time ago George VanAllen was arrested on a serious charge and was bailed heavily or allowed the privilege of leaving the city, which latter he promised to do. On Saturday last he was in the city, and was arrested by the Chief of Police. It was yesterday liberated as friends came to his rescue and paid the fine which was awarded against him.

Sheep Worried by Dogs.

Eight sheep belonging to Mr. Charles Row, of the 2nd concession of Sidney, were last night killed and a number of others of the flock badly worried by dogs.

IT IS SAFE TO USE Freeman's Worm Powders, as they act only on the worms and do not injure the child.

Sabbath Desecration.

These Two Were Not Trapped

OTTAWA, Nov. 5.—Amongst the persons to whom decoy letters were sent by the parties who engineered the Sackville-West affair were Hon. Mackenzie Bowell and Senator Clemow. The letters came from Michigan, and the writer wished to know the wishes of the Canadian Government in regard to the Presidental election. They were promptly consigned to the waste-paper basket.

She Was All Right.

"That Mrs. Ostentatious is outside, sir," said the clerk, entering the private office. "She wants to open an account with us."

"Umph!" returned the banker, pausing to meditate. "Do you know anything about her, Griggs?"

"No, sir; but she says she is prominent in social circles."

"How often did she return that last dress to be altered?"

"Fifteen times, sir."

"That's all right, Griggs. Credit her with all she needs."—Life.

The Dangerous Coal Oil.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—The explosion of poorly-refined coal oil is the cause of another accidental burning. A little girl named Beauchamp, living on Maple street, while helping her mother in domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while resting on the table. Her burning clothing was only torn from her with much difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quick y summoned and the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined Oil a considerable quantity of inferior Coal Oil is being sold.

In order to avoid these low grades we have taken the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil.

'CARBON SAFETY OIL'

PROSPECTUS

A great many changes have taken place since we issued our last Directory, and these being a very general demand for a NEW DIRECTORY, the INTELLIGENCER Printing and Publishing Company have decided to issue a new edition, on or about the first of November, 1888. The size of the book will be similar to that of the former Directories, but SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE INTRODUCED, which will render the Directory of great value to business men.

It will contain a complete list of the householders alphabetically arranged, of every City, Town and Township in the County, with street, or concession and lot upon which they reside; and to make this part of the work of additional value, it is intended to give the POST OFFICE ADDRESS of each householder in the various Townships.

The descriptive information will be very full and complete, and every pains will be taken to have it correct. There will be a

THE MAP.

The Map accompanying the Directory will contain all the latest surveys, and will be a great improvement on the former one. To make the map of greater value generally to the County and to the various municipalities within the Corporation. It will contain a plan of Belleville, Trenton, Stirling, Marmora Madoc, Bridgewater, Tweed, Shannonville and Deseronto.

While this will greatly increase the expense of the work, it will materially enhance its value, and be of special value to the Merchant Corporations.

PRINCE EDWARD.

The County of Hastings being commercially connected with a portion of the County of Prince Edward, attributable by a desire to ascertain more closely those business connections, and as one of the early construction of the bridge, it is intended to give an alphabetical list of the inhabitants of the Townships of AMELIASBURG and HILLIER in that County, together with other information respecting those and adjoining Townships, which will be of general interest to our merchants, mechanics, and professional men.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Directory will be of special advantage on account of its extended circulation, but notwithstanding the price for advertising space will be, viz.: One page, $10.00: Half-page, $6.00; Quarter-page, $4.00. The plan upon which adopted as in the last edition,—that of interspersing them among the alphabetical list of names—which will render them of additional value.

The subscription price will be two dollars per copy.

The benefit of such a work to business men in the City of Belleville and the County, is too apparent to need comment at this time. The publishers guarantee that the most studious efforts will be made to ensure correctness in the details of the work, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the Directory a credit to this growing and enterprising City and County.

June, 1888.

BABY'S SKIN AND SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by CUTICURA REMEDIES.

Our oldest child, now six years of age, when an infant six months old was attacked with a virulent, malignant skin disease, that by ordinary remedies failing, we called our family physician who attempted to cure it; but it spread with almost incredible rapidity, until the lower portion of the little fellow's person, from the middle of his back down to his knees, was one solid scab, ugly, painful, blotched and malicious. We had no rest at night, no peace by day. Finally, we were advised to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES. The effect was simply marvellous. In three or four weeks a complete cure was wrought, leaving the little fellow's person as healthy and fair as though he had never been attacked. In my opinion your valuable remedies saved his life, and to-day he is a strong, healthy child, perfectly well, no repetition of the disease having ever occurred. GEO. R. SMITH.

CLEAR SKIN, PURE BLOOD.

No mother, who loves her children, who takes pride in their beauty, purity, and health, and in bestowing upon them a child's greatest inheritance,—a skin without a blemish, and a body moral had by pure blood, will fail to make trial of the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

I have seen the CUTICURA REMEDIES used for milk crust by a visitor in my house, and can testify that the cure was speedy and permanent. I have also used them for eruptions of the skin on my little child, with satisfactory results in every case. The skin was healed over, and began to assume ugly proportions. I have also heard my neighbors speak of the CUTICURA REMEDIES in the highest terms. E. T. BEARD.

A Quarter of a Century.

For more than twenty five years has Hagyard's Yellow Oil been sold by druggists, and it has never yet failed to give satisfaction as a household remedy for pain, lameness and soreness of the flesh, for external and internal use in all painful complaints.

FEVER AND AGUE AND BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS are positively cured by the use of Parmelee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, causing them to pour copious effusions from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

To lessen mortality and stop the inroads of disease, use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. For all diseases arising from impure blood, such as Pimples, Blotches, Biliousness, Indigestion, etc., it has no equal. Mrs. Thomas Smith, Elm, writes: "I am using this medicine for Dyspepsia; I have tried many remedies, but this is the only one that has done me any good."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakens as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. 84dwly

YOUNG MEN suffering from the effects of early evil habits, the result of ignorance or folly, who find themselves weak, nervous, and exhausted; also MIDDLE AGED and OLD MEN, who are broken down from the effects of abuse or over-work, and in advanced life feel the consequences of youthful excess, send for and READ M. V. LUBON a Treatise on Diseases of Men. The book will be sent sealed to any address on receipt of two 3c. stamps. Address M. V. LUBON, 47 Wellington S E., Toronto. 193dwly

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarefies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but allowed to run their own course, generally prove the precursor of more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their affliction from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. Once the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from vicid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state

Heat and Comfort to the Suffering.

"Brown's Household Panacea" has no equal for relieving pain, both internal and external. It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. "It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal," as its acting power is wonderful. "Brown's Household Panacea," being acknowledged as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family handy for use when wanted, "as it really is the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the Stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds, and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cts a bottle.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. The Child of Waterloo.

BY GEORGE W. M. REYNOLDS.

She knew, at least she had been told, that, at his age, the shock he had received from so suddenly confronting the man who had been such a foe to his happiness, was one not likely for him to recover from; but still she had entertained, until now, a hope, at least, that the prediction might not be verified. But when she marked the altered voice, when she looked upon the face so strangely changed, she could no longer cherish the idea that this last one of her race would be long spared to her, and she already, in imagination, mourned him as gone from her.

After he had uttered the few words we have recorded, the old man's strength seemed to be fast failing him, and he closed his eyes, lapsing into a deep slumber.

Being assured that he slept, Mabel stole into the next apartment to weep alone, and there she was found by Henry Morton, who did all that one of his kind could do to assuage her grief. He reasoned with her on the fact of the approaching death of old Monsieur Rousseli, a fact which he did not attempt, indeed, for one moment to dispute.

'I can feel all the truth of what you say,' sobbed Mabel; 'I know it all and can dispute no proposition that comes from your lips. It is as you say; but time, and time only, can assuage the sorrow that now oppresses me. That will be the only remedial agent to my griefs. But come with me into the chamber; I have already far too long, for a friend, left it. Come with me, and we can talk in whispers there without disturbing him.'

Henry accompanied Mabel to the old man's chamber, and at the first glance of his face that they took it would almost seem that he was dead, so death-like did the countenance look. The eyes were only partially closed, and the portion of them that was visible had that strange opaque appearance which only ensues when the spirit has quitted, or is very shortly about to quit, its earthly abiding place. The cheeks, too, had strangely fallen. There were all the indications of the hand of the destroyer, and Mabel uttered a sound of alarm as she looked upon what at that moment she believed to be the corpse of her grandfather.

But such was not the case. He spoke again, and his voice was, strange to say, nearer now to its natural tone than it had been when last she heard it; but too soon she found that although the tones were more like a happier state, the mind was gone. What he now said had no method in it. All was disjointed and variable.

Mabel could not speak for weeping; and he seemed to hear the deep sobs that came from her lips.

'Hush, hush!' he said; 'who is that who—I cannot see—who weeps for the old man? Mabel! Mabel! my child's child; Mabel come to my arms.'

'Happy!' he said; 'quite happy now. May God's choicest blessings light upon you—upon all—Mabel!'

The hands relaxed their hold, and with a sigh he fell back upon his pillow, from which he had partially raised himself.

'He will sleep again,' said Mabel, as she dashed the tears from her eyes. 'He will sleep again, and I will still watch by him.'

Henry gently led her from the bed, as he whispered to her,—

'There is no need of watching. He does sleep, my Mabel, but it is the sleep that knows no waking—it is the sleep of death.'

CHAPTER XLVII.

And now the day appointed for the trial of Sternholde came, and the most intense interest was excited among all classes, to hear what would transpire concerning one whose name, at one time or another, had been heard by every English officer who had been engaged in the great continental campaign, in which terminated at the battle of Waterloo.

Of course the newspapers had been from the first day of the apprehension of Sternholde busy in catering for the amusement of their readers by finding out particulars of the life and adventures of a man, who from a feeling of private revenge, had, to do them a moderate amount of justice, absolute cold blooded murders than any other human being actually in existence.

His conduct since his committal to prison had been gloomy and taciturn, except when he fancied he was observed, and then he was seen occasionally to smile to himself, while a bitter and spiteful expression would cross his countenance, as if he yet should be able to do something to cause more pain and anguish upon those whom he had already doomed to so much.

On the morning of the trial he appeared anxious and excited, muttering to himself something continually, which they could not make out, although they made great efforts so to do. He scarcely ate anything; and to the efforts of the chaplain to get him into the serene state of mind, he replied now by downright rudeness.

It was a most uncomfortable thought for Mabel, that she would have come into a court of justice, and confront Sternholde. But she was told that it could not be avoided; for although what he was placed upon his trial was for the murder of the young traveller at the inn, of which she knew nothing, yet it was considered desirable she should indentify the prisoner, as the man who had been evidently lurking about the neighborhood, and who had stopped her in the planatation close to the lake near Morton Hall.

This evidence, combined with that of Brolickbones, and that of the late hostler, and last, although far from least, that of sleeping and troubled Tyrrel, it was considered, formed a circumstantial presumption of the guilt of Sternholde, which would be extremely difficult for him to get over.

The court, when the time came, were crowded to the greatest of excess some hours before the trial took place; so much so, indeed, that it was only by the assistance of the police, that they had to make the greatest possible exertions to accomplish so much, that Captain Morton and his little party could find a way into the body of the court.

It was filled completely, notwithstanding all the efforts of the door keepers, in the course of a few moments, and then the people who were within shut and barred the door themselves against the pressure from without, exerted from their less fortunate brethren.

A number of prisoners were placed at the bar, and pleaded to different indictments; after which the name of Sternholde was mention. At this there was an unusual movement of curiosity among the people. They all turned their heads towards the dock to get a sight of the malefactor.

CATARRH.

A New Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the interlining membrane of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes. The eminent scientists, Tyndall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one patient cure has been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made oftener then once in two weeks, for this membrane must get a chance to heal before an application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease.

So highly are these remedies valued that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy a parasite, of which they know nothing, by remedies, of the results of the application of which they are equal ignorant. Mr. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effect a permanent cure in the most neglected cases.

Mr. Dixon sends a pamphlet describing his new treatment on the receipt of stamp to pay postage. His address is A. H. Dixon & Son, 303 King street west, Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Among the Indians.

"While my husband was trading in furs he came across an Indian who was taken to his lodge to die. He had inward pains and pains in all his limbs. He gave some Yellow Oil internally and applied it externally, and cured him. It also cured my husband of rheumatism, and I find it valuable for coughs and colds, sore throat, etc." Mrs. A. Beaw, Cook's Mills, Serpant Riv. er, Ont.

Give Them a Chance ?

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrah, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

The Modus Operandi.

The mode of operating of Burdock Blood Bitters is that it acts at once and at the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and the Blood, to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in Chronic Complaints.

Large Scrotal Hernia.

The change of late years in the treatment of Rupture is really surprising. Only a few years ago large Scrotal Hernia or Rupture could not be had privately now Mr. C. Cluthe, the celebrated Truss inventor, offers in every case a success or no charge. He goes even further than this; he offers a 300 mile return ticket on any railroad to any one whose Rupture he cannot hold. Mr. Cluthe is a responsible man, and above the reproach of taking advantage of people for the sake of the price of a Truss. This can be substantiated by the testimony of our most worthy physicians throughout the land, to whose patients his visits have proved such a comfort.

Cured By B. B. B. When all Else Fail ed.

Mr. Samuel Allan, of Lisle, Ont., states that he tried all the doctors in his locality while suffering for years with Liver and Kidney trouble; nothing benefitted him until he took Burdock Blood Bitters, four bottles cured him.

Hesitation means Loss.

If your hair is coming out or turning grey, or if you find dandruff in your hair do not hesitate about looking after it. Get some of Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic," use it as directed and you will find that it will give you the best of satisfaction. Take warning, do not wait till it is too late but try it at once. All druggists sell it.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Is very palatable and much better than the plain oil. Dr. W. H. Cameron, of Halifax, N. S., says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver oil with Hypophosphites for the past two years and found it more agreeable to the stomach, and have better results from its use than any other preparation of the kind I have ever tried." Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrah, Colds, Coughs all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this receipt, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NOYES, 149 Power Block, Rochester, N. Y.

FARM AND GARDEN

LESSONS FROM EVERYDAY LIFE IN THE COUNTRY.

A Rack for Feeding Sheep Hay, Roots and Grain, with an Arrangement That Prevents Seeds and Filth Dropping on the Sheep When Fed.

In response to the query of a correspondent for some good plan for a feeding rack for sheep—some arrangement that prevents seeds and filth from hay dropping on the wool while the animals are feeding—Country Gentleman replies by furnishing the following:

FIG. 1—SHEEP RACK.

The accompanying figure (Fig. 1) represents a feeding where the sheep eat from the troughs on each side below. The tight board prevents hay seed from falling into the wool. The troughs also allow feeding with roots and grain.

FIG. 2—SHEEP RACK.

Fig. 2 is a cross section. The feet A A should be thick, durable plank, and notched at B B to receive the boards of the troughs. If desired, the wide board may answer as a cover.

A Word About Fences.

In sections where rail timber is near at hand the cheapest fence is the old fashioned Virginia worm fence, except in cases where there is a market for the timber that makes it more valuable for other purposes. In that case the regulation board fence, with two posts to a sixteen foot length, and which is too well known to require a description, will be the cheapest and best. In localities where timber is scarce the wire fence is increasing all the time in favor. Farmers who fear injury to stock from the barbs are many of them making a combination fence of boards and wire.

For a hedge fence, the osage orange, all things considered, is the best for all sections where it is not liable to be winter killed. It grows from the seed more readily than the thorns, and in a few years makes an impenetrable fence. It is difficult to root out when once established, and for this reason should not be used for division fences unless they are expected to remain permanently. Hedges require attention and frequent pruning to keep them sightly and under subjection. While they are still well rooted, as of by many, it is doubtful if the hedge fence is increasing in general popularity for farm purposes. In the older settled sections of the country fewer hedge way fences are being made every year. The opinion is constantly gaining ground that stock should be fenced in instead of being fenced out.

A California Shipping Coop.

The California Cackler describes the shipping coop here illustrated. The diagram is simply an illustration of the ir me

A SHIPPING COOP.

A coop built on this plan need not weigh over three and one-half to three and three-quarter pounds, and be large enough to carry a trio of games or fowls of medium size anywhere. The coop can be made larger for Asiatics and not weigh over half a pound more.

Take two barrel hoops and six slats or pieces of lath; cross two of the pieces in the bottom hoop; fasten them together in the middle with a clout or wrought nail; fasten the other four to the top hoop with clouts; fasten the lower ends to the bottom hoop by driving two small nails through them into the hoop and into the ends of the crossed laths, and your frame is completed. Take a piece of coffee sack, or similar stuff, and cut it round and a little larger than the bottom hoop; hem it, or sew it to the bottom hoop and to the cross pieces. Take canvas, muslin, tick ing or whatever you wish to cover it with, and draw it around and lash it to the bottom and top hoops; cut a piece of cloth round to cover the top; cut the top piece in two across the middle after it is put on; this will give an opening to put the fowls into the coop, after which the aperture can be laced or sewed together. If the fowls are to go any distance, feed will be necessary, of course. To provide for this, sew a pocket on the outside that will hold a pint or more; inside sew another pocket with the bottom just even with the bottom of the outside pocket, the inside pocket to be but about two inches deep. Cut or punch a small hole through the side of the coop to connect the two pockets; put the feed into the outside pocket and it will run through only as fast as the fowls eat it from the inside pocket. Wire a drinking cup to one of the upright slats and to the top hoop, so that it will project half out and half in the coop.

A coop 20 inches across and 22 inches high will weigh 5¼ pounds and be large enough for a trio of games. If the fowls are to go on a short journey do not put in the feed and drinking cup.

Waldo F. Brown is credited with saying: "I believe the best succulent food during the fall is pumpkins. I have fed them for many years, and have never been disappointed in the result. Whenever you can get your hogs to take one good square meal a day of pumpkins you may be sure they will eat and digest a large amount of corn, and gain rapidly."

Explorer Stanley's Last Chat.

Col. Colborne, formerly attached to Hicks Pasha's staff, gives an interesting account of an interview he had with Mr. Stanley an hour before he left Shepheard's hotel, at Cairo, to commence his long journey. In the course of conversation Stanley said: "Do you know that the Nile itself could be turned off with comparative ease? The Victoria Nyanza is on a plateau like an inverted basin. It could be made to trickle over at any point. The present King of Uganda is fond of his liquor; waking up one morning after drinking too much 'mwengi' (plantain wine) over night, he might have what is called 'a head on him' and feel in a very bad temper. He might then take it into his head to turn off the Nile; he might do this by getting a thousand of the natives to turn out and continue to drop stones across the Ripon Falls at the top till they were blocked. To do this would be quite possible. I calculate this could be done by the number of men I mention in nine months, for the falls are very narrow. True, the effect of this could be counteracted in a year or so by reservoirs and dikes; but meanwhile the population of Egypt would be starved. His father, King Mesa, once actually contemplated doing this, not with a view of creating mischief, but because he wanted to water some particular tract of land, and for this purpose to make the lake dribble over it."

Again lighting the stump of his cigar, he now consulted his pocket-book route and the time he would most likely take to reach Emin. His faithful attendant at last entered and began to strap up the portmanteau and bag, a sign that the time for departure was at hand. "Tell them," said Stanley, as I stood him every success and we shook hands, "tell them at home that my mission is purely pacific." I forgot to mention that he especially told me that perhaps the world might not hear anything of him for months. "Let people remember that if I go by the route I now intend, I shall have to traverse a tract of country entirely unknown"—he pointed it out to me on his map—"and it must not be supposed that I am lost because I am unable to communicate with the outer world"—the same words that Hicks Pasha used when he started on his second and ill starred campaign.—London Times.

Sitting one day during the past week in the pilot house of the steamer City of Richmond with an outlook through walls of glass upon either side over a broad expanse of sea, I overheard an explanation by an old sea dog, who clearly is well qualified to advance an opinion upon the subject, of the causes of a collision at sea. To quote him: "It is all owing to the 'open bridge system.' You take a man in any and all kinds of weather and place him exposed to the storm upon the open bridge of a steamship from which the course of the ship is directed by electric signals to the man at the wheel, and what does he do?

"Now, self preservation is the first law of nature, and your officer paces back and forth with wind and storm, snow or sleet in his eyes, coat collar up, head averted, and the first thing he knows down comes a shrapnel discovered until it is too near to avoid disaster. Take, for example, the recent collision off Halifax between the Thingvalla and the Geiser. The investigation elicited the facts that it was 4 o'clock of a rainy morning, no fog, everything comparatively clear, yet the two ships approached undiscovered and met at full speed. The question is, Couldn't all this be avoided by such a system of protecting the lights and wheelsmen in a warm, covered wheelhouse like this, situated forward and above the decks, as is the rule on our American steamers?"—Lewiston Journal.

Field Marshals of France.

The death of ex-Marshal Canrobert leaves only two living bearers of that exalted military rank in France—Marshals Canrobert, one of the heroes of the Crimea, and MacMahon, formerly president of the republic. The republic is apparently averse to creating field marshals, for no one has been appointed to that rank since the fall of the second empire. The title, which was first established as long ago as 1185, was most lavishly used by the two Napoleons, the first of whom created twenty-five field marshals and the last fifteen. But those were times of war and glory, when often the marshal's coveted baton was won by a single brilliant stroke of martial genius. If the piping days of peace should again give place to stirring events by flood and field, no doubt the republic would create more field marshals and the poor conscript be made happy by the hope of some day finding a baton in his knapsack.—New York Press.

The Society of Friends.

The Philadelphia Times says there exists a popular delusion that the Quakers, at least the old time broad brimmed sugar scoop Quakers, are dying out. It is not so in Philadelphia. Ten or twenty years ago people said the same thing, but the high backed benches in the meeting houses are as full now as then. The truth is that, after coquetting with "worldly" ways and fashions for a season, the young generation of Friends undergo reaction and gradually fall into the same ways and the same austere life, even to the plain garb, of their grandfathers and grandmothers.—Boston Transcript.

The Fashion of "Spats."

All London and a small part of New York is wearing "spats" no matter what the color the low shoes may be it is quite proper to have the spats of black cloth; the stocked ones, or indeed any other description of any kind are supposed, from some unknown reason, to be the special property of variety actresses, and because of that women who wish to be essentially good form avoid them. The fur, feather and lace boas are seen oftener every evening, because they are such comfortable things in which to muffle up one's throat.—"Bab" in Philadelphia Times.

A Girl as "Overseer."

Alice Hope Robinson, of Foxcroft, Maine, is only eleven years old, but this year she has been "field overseer" of the picking of over twenty-five bushels of strawberries, having had some days as many as twenty little girls and boys under her charge picking the fruit. She kept good order, knew just how much each one had picked, saw that the work was properly done, and understands all the fine points of strawberry raising as well as anybody.—Demorest's Monthly.

Harriet Beecher Stowe's Home.

Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe's home in Hartford is a square, old fashioned and unpretentious house, erected according to plans drawn by the authoress herself. The interior of the house is quite plain. In the library the visitor is shown a collection of fifty volumes of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," no two of which are alike.—New York Evening World.

The Famous Bucktail Regiment.

Sixty-three of the survivors of the famous Bucktail regiment have been holding a reunion in Bradford, McKean county, Pa. Each survivor present wore a bucktail in his hat, an emblem that made him the observed of all observers wherever he appeared. Banquetting and speeches were the order of the day, and the good people of Bradford did themselves proud in entertaining the few grizzled warriors that remain of this once famous regiment.—Chicago Herald.

A Rare Combination.

There is no other remedy or combination of medicines that meets so many requirements, as does Burdock Blood Bitters in its wide range of power over such Chronic diseases as Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Complaint, Scrofula and all humors of the blood.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. For sale by all druggists or sent post-paid on receipt of price (50c. and $1.) by addressing Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont.

Valuable to Know.

Consumption may be more easily prevented than cured. The irritating and harassing cough will be greatly relieved by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

There are a number of varieties of corns. Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them. Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

Orin Catlin, 49 Pearl Street Buffalo, N. Y., says: I tried various remedies for the piles but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications.

Mrs. George Leech, Hadimand Township, has received more benefit from two bottles of Dawling's Pepsin Compound, than anything she has ever taken in her life. She has been troubled with biliousness, loss of appetite and constipation for years. Now she has none of these troubles. People write to her and see how she will recommend you to take Dawling's Pepsin Compound if you are Dyspeptic.

The cheapest medicine in use is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, because so very little of it is required to effect a cure. For croup, diphtheria, and diseases of the lungs and throat, whether used for bathing the chest or throat, for taking internally or inhaling it is a matchless compound.

What does Dowling's Pepsin Compound cure? Dyspepsia and Indigestion. What are the symptoms? Biliousness, constipation, lack of energy, drowsiness, headache, pains in the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, depression of spirits. Ask your druggist for it.

Dowling's Little Liver Granules are highly recommended for all diseases of the liver.

Mr. Thomas Ballard, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I have been afflicted for nearly a year with that most to be dreaded disease Dyspepsia, and at times worn out with pain and want of sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended I tried one box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. I am now nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money."

Parmelee's Pills possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimulating to action the various functions of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body." Mr. D. Caswell, Caswell P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

Of all the dyspeptic remedies ever placed in the market, Dowling's Pepsin Compound takes the lead. Why? Because it acts naturally on the digestive organs of the stomach, and not mechanically, like the other patent medicines. Besides, it helps to assimilate and digest all the foods that enter the stomach. Ask your druggist for a bottle.

Bellevillites follow the example of Mrs. Geo. Leech, of Hadimand, and many others, and rid yourselves of that dire disease, dyspepsia and indigestion.

The Dangerous Coal Oil.
MONTREAL Oct. 17.—The explosion of poorly refined coal oil is the cause of another accidental burning. A little girl named Beauchamp, living on Maple street, while helping her mother in domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while resting on the table. Her burning clothing was only torn from her with much difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quickly summoned and the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined Oil a considerable quantity of inferior Coal Oil is being sold.
In order to avoid these for our readers we have taken the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil:

'CARBON SAFETY OIL'
A specially refined and superior grade of Canadian Oil,
ASTRAL OIL,
A high grade American Oil.
These we can most confidently recommend to our retail trade as goods that will give entire satisfaction.
We are also fully supplied with Water White and Prime White American Oil and the usual brands of Canadian Oil.

Strange, but Still True.
Mrs. David Carstairs, Haldimand Township, met with a very pleasant surprise a few weeks ago. It seems Mrs. Carstairs has suffered a great deal from dyspepsia, indigestion, the symptoms of which were, pains in the stomach and bowels, and sick headache. She has tried a great many physicians, and an unlimited amount of patent medicines, but without any success; and last but not least, she tried Dowling's Pepsin Compound, and one bottle has removed both pain and ache. She returns the kindest regards to P. D. Dowling, Belleville, for his magnificent remedy. Belleillites, take pattern by this woman, and ask your Druggist for it

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a nasal twang; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, commencing with the first three symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians.

By its mild, soothing and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "Cold in the Head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache. Sold by druggists everywhere, 50 cents.

"Untold Agony from Catarrh."

Prof. W. Hausner, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sunset, my voice would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat was almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."

Thomas J. Rushing, Esq., 262 Pine Street, N. Iowa, writes: "I was entirely cured from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure remedy for catarrh ever manufactured, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

Three Bottles Cure Catarrh.

Eli Robins, Robbin P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says: "My daughter had catarrh from she was five years old, very badly. I saw Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy advertised, and procured a bottle for her, and soon saw that it helped her; a third bottle effected a permanent cure. She is now eighteen years old and sound and hearty."

PROSPECTUS

A great many changes have taken place since we issued our last Directory, and there being a very great demand for a NEW DIRECTORY, the Intelligencer Printing and Publishing Company have decided to issue a new edition, on or about the first of November, 1888.

The general plan of the work will be similar to that of the former Directories, but SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE INTRODUCED, which will render the Directory of great value to business men.

It will contain a complete list of the householders alphabetically arranged, of each Village, City, Town and Township in the County, by street, or concession and lot upon which they reside; and to make this part of the work of additional value, it is intended to give the POST OFFICE ADDRESS of each householder in the various Townships.

The descriptive information will be very full and complete, and every pains will be taken to have it correct. There will be a

THE MAP.

The Map accompanying the Directory will contain all the latest surveys, and will be a great improvement on the former one. To make the map of greater value generally to the County and to the various municipalities within the Corporation, it will contain a plan of Belleville, Trenton, Stirling, Marmora, Madoc, Bridgewater, Tweed, Shannonville and Deseronto.

While this will greatly increase the expense of the work, it will materially enhance its value, and be of special value to the different Corporations.

PRINCE EDWARD.

The County of Hastings being commercially connected with a portion of the County of Prince Edward, actuated by a desire to meet the needs of those business connections, and in view of the early construction of the bridge, it is intended to issue an alphabetical list of the inhabitants of the Townships of AMELIASBURGH and HILLIER in that County, together with other information respecting those and adjoining Townships, which will be of general interest to our merchants, mechanics, and professional men.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Directory will be of special advantage on account of its extended circulation, but notwithstanding the prices for advertising space will be, viz.: One page, $10.00; Half page, $6.00; Quarter-page, $4.00. The same plan will be adopted as in the last edition,—that of interspersing them among the alphabetical list of names which will render them of additional value.

The subscription price will be two dollars per copy.

The benefit of such a work to business men in the City of Belleville and the County, is apparent to need anything said in its favor. The publishers guarantee that the most studious efforts will be made to ensure correctness in the details of the work, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the Directory worthy of this growing and enterprising City and County.

Orders for the Directory, or for Advertisements, may be left at the Intelligencer Office, Belleville.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrah, Asthma and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellow. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this receipt, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. Noyes, 149 Power Block, Rochester, N. Y.

Is very palatable and much better than the plain oil. Dr. W. H. Cameron, of Halifax, N. S., says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites for the past two years and without it more agreeable to the stomach, and have better results from its use than any other preparation of the kind I have ever tried." Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

Never allow the bowels to remain confined lest serious evil ensue. National Pills are unsurpassed as a remedy for constipation.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, NOV. 6

NUMBER ONE.

Our request for suggestions for the renaming of Hotel Street has called forth from A. R. Dougall, Esq., a most interesting communication, in which an admirable suggestion is made. As to whether Mr. Dougall's choice of a new name for the old street is the very best that can be made, cannot be decided in advance of the expressions of opinion by others, which will no doubt follow in due course. Our readers will therefore reserve their judgment until all who wish to take part in the interesting discussion have been heard.

Mr. Dougall, we may add, has kindly left at this office, where it may be inspected by those who so desire, a copy of "A map of the town plot on the Mississauga Reservation on the river Moira, first concession of the Township of Thurlow," (Belleville) made by Samuel S. Wilmot, Dy. Surveyor, in 1816. On this map are shown all the buildings which then stood on the site of the city, the total number of which was 45, and two of these were distilleries.

NOT TO BE CAUGHT.

The exposure of the trick by which the British ambassador was beguiled into writing the letter which led to his deposition, has brought out the fact that similar traps were set for prominent public men in the United States and Canada—amongst others the Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Minister of Customs. As to the bait set for the latter gentleman, the Ottawa correspondent of the Empire says:

As far back as June last, Hon. Mackenzie Bowell received a letter from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., purporting to have been written by an Irishman, and had I read the letter through to the privilege of reading the epistle yesterday, but in deference to the Minister's wish refrained from publishing the text at this juncture. It may be stated, however, the writer points out that he is one of a large number of Republican farmers in Michigan, and that if Mr. Bowell will secure him a letter from the Grand Master of Loyal Orangeism, high rank for the election of Grover Cleveland, "with such a letter," says the writer, "we can carry the State, and be fix to do for what we have to say (in Canada) desire."

Needless to say, adds the correspondent, the Minister of Customs refrained from doing anything in the matter. Had the expression of opinion been given in favor of President Cleveland, there would have been a fearful reaction among the Irish Catholics in the States, and thousands of votes lost to the Democratic party.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

The tactics of the politicans in the contest for the United States Presidency resemble those of the Chinese, who seek to frighten their enemies by loud noises. Why, else, the nightly parades with brass bands, fireworks and so forth!

The Peterborough Review complains that the Ontario Government are forcing the educational authorities of that town to erect a new high school building, the probable cost of which will be from $20,000 to $25,000. There is a good deal of tyranny and red tape in connection with the Educational Department.

Sitting on the Safety Valve.

Many are they who have laughed at the story of the green steamboat fireman who sat on the safety valve to prevent it "leaking." Yet thousands are repeating his folly every day. Pure blood will drive away blotches, pimples, eruptions, salt-rheum, boils, carbuncles, ulcers and old sores, and are contenting themselves with suppressing the symptoms without removing the cause. They sit on those safety valves by which Nature is driving out blood impurities, instead of using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which is the best blood purifier known to man, which is in the blood. It is a wonderful blood purifier and invigorating tonic.

Do you think the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy would offer, as they have done for many years, a standing reward of $500 for a case of Catarrh which they cannot cure, if they did not positively know that the Remedy will absolutely and permanently cure Catarrh. Sold by druggists, at only 50 cents.

The Hop Trade.

During the past week there has been more doing in hops, but the bulk of the business has been in choice New York State goods, a car load of which was sold at 31c., and another car at 32c. Canadian hops are city duty paid. It seems that Canadian growers made a mistake this year in not selling their hops when they could have obtained better figures than those now ruling. As in former seasons, instead of selling when good prices were offered, holders have allowed foreign hops to come in and supplant their own growth, and the consequence is that brewers are comparatively independent of Canadian hops. A lot of 10 bales of extra choice Eastern Townships hops was sold a few days ago at 20c., but the general run of sales is from 20c. to 25c., old hops being quiet at 7c. to 12c. as to quality. The product of the Cexaville farm is said for sale in this city, in all about 350 bales.—Trade Bulletin.

Newfoundland.

Hon. John Macdonald, of Toronto, paid a visit to Newfoundland during the past summer and gives an interesting description of the resources of the land. He shows that the merchant lords of the island, like the directors of the Hudson Bay company in the northwest, have been for years giving to the world the impression that the soil of Newfoundland is sterile and unfit for agriculture, and have persistently discouraged farming pursuits, with the object of keeping the fisheries in their hands. As a fact the island is inexhaustibly fertile, and vast regions can be farmed to great profit.

If sick headache is misery, what are Carter's Little Liver Pills if they will positively cure it? People who have used them speak frankly of their worth. They are small and easy to take.

Healthy, potent and permanent results always come from the use of Milburn's Aromatic Quinine Wine.

"Brock" Street.

Belleville, Nov. 2, 1888.

Dear Sir,—It is with pleasure I notice the announcement in this evening's daily Intelligencer of the proposal by our worthy City Council of changing the name of Hotel street, and that suggestions are invited by you of a fitting name for the old one. For this invitation to make suggestions I for one thank you. As one time I spent a whole week in the Crown lands Department, Toronto, searching for evidence with the Taylor built, of the original survey of lot 4, which had been surveyed by one Smith for Capt. Meyers, as early as 1810, who had purchased the Indian title and sold out the Government claim, when I found a petition signed in the spring of 1812 by the settlers amongst the papers of the Lieut.-Gov. in Council praying that, as appeared by Meyers' survey, one John Everett had built an hotel on lot 32, west side of Pinnacle street, an order in council be passed to locate the street just its width further south, so that it would be on 31 instead of 32. At this time neither 31 nor 32 had been sold by the Government; I also found that the petition was accompanied by a letter reciting that Gen'l Brock had (to the spring of 1812) remained over night at the old hotel and there met some of the petitioners. That he was the bearer of the petition and would explain more fully the advantages to the public of locating the street south and allowing the hotel to remain in the street as indicated four years afterwards on Wilmot's plan of 1816. I also found that the 66 feet indicated on Mr. Wilmot's plan as "Hotel street" was afterwards ordered by order in council to be patented, as "Hotel lot" and that the street be 66 feet further south off of lots 31 and 32, Pinnacle and Front streets. It would appear, therefore, that through Gen. Brock's exertions and influence as early as 1812, used on behalf of the petitioners, the unfortunate and illegal step in the street occurred. Land in those days was not much to the settlers. They were all intending to act for the best, no doubt, and thought they had accomplished an act which would be advantageous to the Government and travelling public by allowing the old hotel to stand, although we, with the same good intentions, after a period of 78 years have good reason to see and to know, now, that it was a great mistake, and that we cannot now so easily compensate the present lawful owners for "Hotel lot," and restore the street to its proper position, yet we can change the name. All these petitioners were, then, influential men—true Britons.

One of my uncles was under General Brock's command when he fell at Queenston Heights and from his love for him and his description of General Brock, no braver, nobler soldier ever wielded a sword in Canada. In these days of Yankee bluster and threats of twisting the British Lion's tail, it should not, and by true loyal Canadians never will be forgotten, that the Yankee of 82 years ago is the same old Yankee of today, always running down everything British, and vaunting their own glory; but they could not—though they killed General Brock—conquer those he led, for his men loved him and avenged his death in victory, thereby saving for our ancestors' children of to-day, the legacy they gave us, won by their valor and blood, this great and glorious British Dominion.

For these reasons it is hoped that Belleville will name the street "Brock Street," in remembrance of Gen. Brock, thereby evincing their determination never to forget the man who, at the call of duty, has fought, bled and died for this country, saying, "follow me." Yours, etc.,

A. R. Dougall.

Other suggestions.

Dr. Eakins suggests "Dufferin Avenue" as the name. His reasons are that the title is a nice one and that the name of our highly popular ex-Governor General ought to be perpetuated in Belleville, as he and his Countess once visited the city.

Another gentleman suggests "Cronk Street," but he does not desire his name published and does not give any reason why he considers his suggestion appropriate.

Tuttsville Topics.

Tuttsville, Nov. 5, 1888.

The mail train, in charge of Conductor Stanton, left the city on time this morning, and when between Hoard's station and Campbellford was disabled; but by careful handling, engineer Logue succeeded in getting as far as the latter station, where engineer Brock rushed to the rescue and proceeded to Peterborough with the train, and Brother Logue returned to Belleville for repairs.

LEAD THEM HOME.

Lord, we can trust Thee for our holy dead;
They underneath the shadow of Thy tomb
Have entered into peace; with bended head,
We thank Thee for their rest; and for our lighted gloom.

But Lord, our living—who, on stormy seas
Of sin and sorrow, still are tempest-tossed,
Our dead have reached their haven, but for these—
Teach us to trust Thee, Lord, for these our loved and lost!

For these we make our passion prayer by night;
For these we cry to Thee through the long day.
We see them not—O, keep them in thy sight!
From them and us be Thou not far away.

And if not home to us, yet lead them home
To where Thou standest at the heavenly gate!
That so from Thee they shall not farther roam;
And grant us patient hearts Thy gathering time to wait!

Who Were the Skilled Builders?

One of the mysterious ruined cities of southern North America is that of San Guivera, near the western point of Texas. This was known to the early Spanish explorers, but being at present forty miles from water it has seldom been visited. A late surveying party found the ruins to be of gigantic and substantial stone buildings, one of which was four acres in extent. The indications point to the former existence of a dense population. To the southward is a stream of lava from one to ten miles wide and forty miles long, and the surrounding country is most arid and desolate. No inscription, no legend tells the tale of the great city or of its fate.—Arkansaw Traveler.

A curious case of moonshining was developed in the Federal district court here today when Bascom Johnson was placed on trial. He gave his age as 17 and said he had been running; an independent still for five years without the knowledge of his father. He explained that he used a powder can for a still, a coffee pot for the cap, and connected them together with a gun barrel, which served for a worm. He could mash a peck of meal at a time, from which he could get a pint and a half of whisky. He had for his customers all the boys of the neighborhood. The scene of his ingenuity was in Franklin county.—Atlanta Cor. Chicago Tribune.

Scene in a Boston Restaurant.

A Boston man was seated at a table in a Boston restaurant the other day enjoying his noonday lunch. A late comer entered and took a seat at the same table, and, being evidently somewhat in a hurry, gave his entire order at the one time, but was chagrined to find that cold bread was served him instead of the warm biscuits he had expected. However, not to be wholly deprived of the luxury desired, he unceremoniously reached across to the domain of the earlier diner, picked up the solitary biscuit that remained on the latter's plate and commenced to eat it, when upon the other, not to be outdone in the matter of a good reach and the ability to employ it, extended his arm, gathered in the piece of pie that belonged to the original offender, and proceeded to regale himself. "That is my pie, sir!" came the prompt protest. "That is my biscuit!" was the cold rejoinder. A silence followed, only broken by the patter of the waiter's feet upon the tesselated floor.—Boston Budget.

Noiseless and Smokeless Locomotive.

A novel locomotive engine is on exhibition at Palmyra, Wis. Except the noise of its wheels moving upon iron rails it is noiseless and smokeless. The steam after use in the engines is exhausted into a new steamer, and the water at the boiling point is reused. All the wheels of this locomotive are drive wheels, being so arranged as to give them easy control of the car on curves and on uneven tracks.—Chicago Herald.

Generous but Also Just.

A gentleman once dined at the table of a poor minister in Connecticut. The fare was frugal in the extreme. The minister made a brief and appropriate apology by saying: "My wife, sir, is generous but she is just; it is only by extreme economy that we are able with our income to meet our expenses."—Louisville Western Recorder.

Diamond Found in Marble.

David Wingrove, a marble worker, of Baltimore, not long since found a valuable diamond imbedded in a big block of Italian marble, and has had the gem set without cutting in a heavy gold ring. Lapidaries say that though such finds are unusual, this is by no means the first on record.—New York Advertiser.

It is predicted that Montana will produce gold, silver and copper this year to the value of $40,000,000.

O. T. B. Assembly.

The anniversary of the Gunpowder Plot was celebrated by Derry Lodge True Blues No. 30, of this city, by an assembly which took place last night in the Oddfellows' Hall. The hall was beautifully festooned, with buntings of various hues and colors, and at evening presented an animated appearance. About eighty couples were present, and tripped the light fantastic toe until daylight this morning. At midnight supper was partaken of at Mr. James Geroe's, and a fine spread was laid. It was the most successful assembly which has ever been held under the auspices of this lodge.

Their Men Constantly in Demand.

The Port Stanley correspondent of the St. Thomas Times in his correspondence last week says: "Mr. John Price always writes to Principals Robinson and Johnson of the Belleville Business College, when he requires a book keeper. This time is no exception, a Mr. Perry from the College being expected this week. Mr. C. Webb, who came from the College a year ago, is leaving to fill another position."

Messrs. Robinson & Johnson also received yesterday an application from Mr. E. D. Tilson, of Tilsonburg, for an office manager. Such incidents are constantly occurring. They show the standing of the Ontario Business College, and the demand for its graduates.

The Young People's Association of St. Church

There was a good attendance of this Association last night at its regular meeting, and although last year was the most successful the Association has had, the present promises to be even more successful. After paying the $300 subscribed to the organ fund two years earlier than the time allowed the Association, there is still a surplus on hand, and another $200 has been subscribed. The programme consisted of vocal and instrumental music, and a discussion on the resolution that the exemptions from taxation on church property and ministers' stipends be abolished. Mr. Wright contended that they should not be abolished, as the Church was essential to the permanency of the State and therefore should be supported by the State,—and drew illustrations from ancient and modern history. Mr. Fred'k Redick contended that they should be taxed because each Church was a circle by itself, some very rich with expensive buildings and extensive properties, others poor, having small properties; and that the taxes of these latter were unjustly appropriated to the former, who were well able to keep up their own costly institutions. He also pointed out that there was nothing in the bible that supported these exemptions. The discussion aroused a good deal of interest among the members of the congregation.

Opera House.

The Zora Semon Co. opened their week's engagement in this city last night to a packed house. Every seat was filled, even the aisles being utilized, and long before the curtain rose standing room was at a premium. The free tickets for ladies, distributed liberally around town, doubtless had a share in drawing such a large audience. The entertainment opened with some very clever feats of legerdemain by Zora Semon. Miss Gilbert and Signor Giovanni gave some choice selections of popular melodies on the musical glasses and were deservedly applauded. Prof. Semon then gave an exhibition of his ventriloquistic powers, followed by Sig. Giovanni with his whole of performing canary birds—some of which he has trained in a marvellous manner. The Royal Marionettes in Minstrels afforded a good deal of amusement and completely captured the "small boy." The distribution of prizes was the last on the programme, and the management gave away to the holders of lucky numbers about one hundred fancy and useful articles—chief amongst which were a dress piece and a bed-room set. Madame Strong's Cats Morgana, or pictures in the air, brought the entertainment to a close. On the whole the audience seemed well pleased with the performance, and the company will doubtless have a successful week.

Sunday School Meeting.

There was a good attendance at the Tabernacle last evening at the Sunday School meeting. The pastor of the church, Rev. C. Caswell, opened with prayer. The first speaker introduced was Miss E. N. Gould, who gave an excellent address. Miss Annie Campbell, of Deseronto, read a beautifully prepared paper. Miss Campbell is a very talented young lady, and her few sketches of the Provincial Convention were very clever. Rev. Amos Campbell delighted the audience with a very spirited address. Rev. Wm. Johnson responded to the chairman's call and spoke very interestingly. He contrasted the former times with these and made it clear that the latter days are better than the former ones. Sunday Schools, at least. Dr. Wright made a powerful speech in favor of Sunday School accommodations, and the study of the Scriptures in such a way as to make them our own. Miss McInnes' name being called she responded with an impromptu address of great beauty and felicity. Rev. Dr. Gardiner, Rev. Principal Dyer, Rev. W. G. Hudgins, and Mr. W. H Gordon spoke of the pleasure and profit they had received from the meeting. The Rev. Mr. Copeland said that the Tabernacle S. S. had grown considerably during the past three months, and the School Management were considering certain changes and improvements in the Sunday School work for the greater comfort and convenience of the scholars and teachers.

A Bold Robbery.

A Commercial Traveller Relieved of His Valuables at the Hotel.

Daniel H. Doust, a commercial traveller, arrived in the city yesterday morning and registered at the Sinfield House. During the afternoon he, in company with Jas. Guillett, who is an employe of the above hotel, visited a number of hotels and imbibed quite freely of liquor, and both became much under its influence. In the evening they retired to bed together, occupying the one room in the Dominion House. About 4 o'clock, Doust awoke and found that his bed mate was missing, and arising, commenced an investigation, when it dawned upon his mind that he had been the victim of robbery. He immediately gave the alarm, but Guillett was nowhere to be seen. The extent of the robbery was stated by Doust as follows: $20 in money, a gentleman's silver watch, with Elgin movement, valued at $25, a handsome gold ring, in which was set a tiger's eye stone and was valued at $15. A number of letters had been extracted from his pockets, among which was a commercial traveller's certificate, dated from 1875 to 1889. The affair was immediately communicated to the police, but as yet no tidings have been received of the accused. Mr. Doust feels his loss keenly. The party who is accused of having taken the articles has been an employe of the Dominion House for some time and was considered to be a trustworthy person.

The Chief Constable received a telegram that Guillett had been arrested this morning at Kingston, and would be brought to the city on the evening train.

The usual semi-monthly meeting of this beneficiary society was held in the beautiful rooms of the Sons of England last night. The Regent, Mr. Wm. Johnson, presiding. The Secretary, Mr. Landenberger, reports steady progress, at every meeting propositions for membership being received.

A Historic Building.

The building burnt last night was for many years one of the landmarks of the city, having stood where the Government postoffice building now is, and in its time was used for many purposes—post office, school, temperance hall, church, organ factory, melodeon factory, billiard room, public hall, etc.

Sons of England Hall.

The hall in the Robertson block for so many years known as the Workingmen's Temperance Hall, has been completely transformed and is now not only one of the best lighted but most luxuriously furnished halls in the city. It is now occupied by the Sons of England, Ancient order of United Workmen, Royal Arcanum, and the Foresters.

Canadian Talent.

Mr. Reuben Fax, formerly of Brantford, and well known in Belleville as a singer of comic songs, has been in New York for some months studying for the stage, in the Madison Square Theatre school, under the veteran actor, Mr. Dion Boucicault. Eleven hundred tried the entrance examination, out of which number only sixty passed the final examination, one of whom was our gifted young countryman. Mr. Fax makes his first appearance on the 13th inst. at the 5th Avenue Theatre, as a member of the Booth-Barrett Company.

He does not know exactly when he will leave the city, his departure depending on his sister's condition, who, it is thought, will not survive two or three days. They are the guests of Dr. Williamson."

Amongst the visitors in the city to-day are Mr. W. P. Hudson, M. P. P., and Rev. S. McCauley.

DESTRUCTIVE BLAZE.

The Origin Supposed to be Incendiarism.

At a few minutes before 3 o'clock this morning, the carriage factory of Mr. Wm. Baker, situated near the river's edge on Mill Street, was discovered to be on fire. An alarm was immediately sounded, and the firemen responded with their usual alacrity. The building, which was a large frame one, was by this time a seething mass of flames, and all attempts to save it from destruction proved unavailing. The attention of the firemen was then directed to the dwellings in close proximity, and they succeeded in confining the flames to Mr. Baker's property. The blacksmith shop, which is situated a few feet north of the carriage shop room, was burned badly damaged, the south side being nearly burned off, and the roof was also nearly destroyed before the flames were conquered. At the east of the blacksmith shop stood a large double frame dwelling, and it was with difficulty this building was saved. Joining at the west of the destroyed building is a storehouse, in which Mr. Baker kept his lumber for manufacturing purposes, and this is also a total wreck. The fire originated in the south east corner of the carriage shop, and from the proprietor we learn that he left a lantern burning near the spot where the first blaze was seen, showing most clearly that the origin of the conflagration was incendiary. At the time there were in the building 12 conveyances in different stages of construction, one fine lumber waggon just completed, and seven vehicles consisting of carriages, sleighs and buggies; these were all destroyed; the loss of tools and patterns is also very great, and will be seriously felt by some of the workmen, who lost their own tools, upon which there was no insurance. Mr. Baker estimates the loss on the building and stock at about $4,000, on which he has an insurance of $1,400 in the Western. This, it will be seen, will not half cover the loss which he has sustained. It is the intention of Mr. Baker to rebuild as soon as he possibly can.

The County Council of Frontenac, has since 1880 presented accounts to the City Corporation of Kingston for its share of the expense of sending prisoners and lunatics to Toronto and other destinations. The bill now figures up to $1,560. An arbitration will likely be the means of settlement.

The Balkwill Burglary.

DANIEL HOUSTON ON TRIAL FOR THE OFFENCE.

A Great Array of Witnesses.

MONDAY AFTERNOON.

Officer Hayes testified that he and Officer Stoneburg, on the morning of Saturday the 22nd of September went to Mr. Ketcheson's woods, in the 2nd con. of Sidney, and found the goods. They were brought to the city and were identified as the goods taken from the store formerly occupied by S. R. Balkwill. This was the second morning after the robbery. I did not visit the premises after the robbery was committed. I saw by the track which the conveyance made through the grass that it was a light waggon. The boxes containing the goods were piled upon each other.

Chief Newton: I recollect that on the morning of September 21st I was informed that a robbery had been committed in the store of S. R. Balkwill, at the time in possession of the Sheriff of the County. I visited the premises and found that an entry had been effected at the back of the building through a window, which I found raised. I found evidence in the store that liquor had been drank by the parties who had been in the building. I had suspicion that Dan Houston was the guilty party, as I was told that he had been seen driving in Mr. Ketcheson's woods, in the 2nd con. of Sidney. I went up in company with Mr. Geo. Hope and searched the place, but found nothing. On Saturday morning officer Stoneburg informed me that the goods had been found in the woods above mentioned. I immediately went out and saw the goods, and officers Hayes and Stoneburg were left in charge of them, while I went shortly after brought to the city. I found tracks, near where the goods were found, which had the appearance of being made by a light conveyance. The impression which the waggon made in going into the woods was deeper than those which came out, showing that the vehicle was heavily laden when going in and light when coming out. I also saw tracks at the back of the building where the goods were taken out. The footprints made were those of a large man.

Peter Dunn, sworn, said: I was working for the G. T. R. on the morning of Sept. 21st about 3 miles from the city. I was engaged on the gang on the railroad, and on the morning in question I saw a waggon and two men in a field a short distance from the track. This was about 6 o'clock in the morning. I saw a rig coming out of the woods about half an hour after this, there being two men with the conveyance. I did not see anything in the waggon. I did not know either of the parties.

Chas. Stewart.—I was on the morning of 21st Sept. at work on the G. T. Railway, about 3 miles from the city; I saw a rig on the main road, and in it were two persons; I did not know either of them; it was quite dark at the time, a few minutes before 6.

Chas. Vandewaters, sworn.—I live in the 2nd concession of Sidney. On the morning of Friday, Sept. 21, I was driving a team towards the city, when a rig passed me containing two persons; the rig had the name of Gilbert on it; this was about 6:30; they were driving rather rapidly; one of them had a handkerchief up to his face, which covered it so that I was unable to tell who it was; I have known Houston for some time and know nothing wrong about him.

Daniel Murphy testified: On the morning of Friday, Sept. 21st, I saw a rig with John Gilbert's name on it; this was about 3½ miles from Belleville; there were two men in the rig and they were driving in the direction of Belleville.

George Sinfield said: I live in the 2nd concession of Sidney. I remember that on the morning of the 21st of September I saw a rig coming down through the woods of James Ketcheson's in a south west direction. The goods were found about 40 or 50 rods further in the woods from where I first saw the rig come out. It was a one horse waggon and the name of John Gilbert was upon it. There were two persons in the rig, this was about 6 o'clock. They drove across a field and closed two gaps which had been made in the fence, and proceeded on the main road leading to the city. I was just daylight. I have known Daniel Houston for four or five years. One of the men was the prisoner, but the other one I did not know, he was somewhat shorter than Houston. Houston tried to hide his face in his hands, and appeared to walk in a lame manner. I followed the tracks made by the vehicle in the woods near where the goods were found.

George Stoneburg, sworn said: I was in Belleville on the evening of Thursday, the 20th of Sept. I saw Dan Houston that evening about 7:30. Some time before this I had been employed by Mr. Balkwill to advance to the Balkwill place, and he said it would be easy for any one to break into the premises and take away the goods. I told him I supposed it would be, and I said I would have nothing to do with anything like that. We went into the gangway about 30 feet from the premises. This was about a week before the goods were removed.

Officer Stoneburg, sworn, said: I was not at the store until Saturday morning. On Friday afternoon I went, in company with the Chief and Officer Hayes, to Ketcheson's woods, in Sidney. We did not find the goods then. On Saturday morning I went out again and found the goods about 100 yards from the clearing and got Mr. Rush to bring the boxes to the city. I saw waggon tracks which led into the woods. These made quite an impression, showing the waggon must have been heavily laden. I saw the tracks which led out of the woods were of a lighter impression. I do not remember seeing Houston on the night of the burglary, although I was on duty that night.

Walter Rush said: I live in the 2nd con. of Sidney; I have to pass through a gate to get to my farm. Sinfield lives next to my place; I have a key to that gate, and Mr. Sinfield also has a key to the gate; this is a private road. On the morning of Friday, September 21st I saw a one horse rig that led from the roadway to the woods at Mr. Ketcheson's, where the goods were found.

Sergt. McCrudden, sworn, said: I was on duty on the morning of Thursday, Sept. 20. I saw Houston that evening twice, the first time about 9 o'clock, and again at 11:30.

Alfred Lanthier, sworn for the defence, said: I live in Trenton. I am porter at the Grand Central hotel. On the morning of Sept. 21st I saw Houston there. Dan Houston, came into the hotel at about 4 o'clock. He was rapping at the door and I went and opened it for him. He asked me for a glass of beer. I went upstairs and got the keys of the bar and got him a glass of beer and a cigar. He was with a single rig. He stopped at the hotel about 20 minutes. I have been on at Mr. Hougton's on Thursday night for some time. I saw in the paper of Friday that Houston was arrested, charged with the offence.

Edward Traver, sworn, said: I live in Sidney, about 3 miles east of Trenton. I have known Dan Houston for about twelve years. I saw him pass my place on Friday morning, Sept. 21st, about 5 o'clock. I was out milking when he drove past my place. I looked up and saw Houston, and I said, "Hello, Dan, where have you been?" and he said, "I have been in Trenton having a little fun." He drove on. He had a one horse waggon and was driving a bay horse. He was along at the time. On the next day I was up to Trenton on business and heard that Houston was arrested, charged with burglary. I know it was the 22nd, because I had a note due that day, and it was the morning before this that Houston drove past my place.

The court, at this stage of the proceedings, adjourned until to-morrow at 11 o'clock.

SECOND DAY.

The court opened at 11 o'clock this morning, there being a large number of spectators present.

Manley Farley and Thos. Burns gave evidence as to the character of Mr. Tregantle, but nothing of importance was elicited.

A number of witnesses were here examined, but nothing of importance was elicited.

James Stewart, sworn, said: I am a banker at Trenton. I know Edward Travers. He had a note due on Sept. 21st and it was paid by him on that day. I saw Mr. Travers last evening and again this morning. He wanted to find out from me the date on which he paid the note, as he thought he had made a mistake. I did not know that he was a witness in the present case.

This concluded the evidence.

Mr. Burdett then addressed the court on behalf of the prisoner. He said that evidence must lead to the connection of the person charged with the offence. The store in question was undoubtedly broken into and the goods taken and placed in Ketcheson's woods. From the evidence it would appear that it would take about four hours for the accomplishment of the act. Only two witnesses identified the prisoner, and the waggon as belonging to Mr. Gilbert. I submit that this is the whole evidence from which you, as the judge, can pronounce the prisoner guilty of the charge, but this is not sufficient. From the evidence of a number of witnesses, one of those parties who swears that he identified Houston is represented as being a man whom but few could believe under oath. From his own evidence he contradicts himself a number of times. I ask the court can it under these circumstances, convict the prisoner of the offence with which he is charged? The evidence, I submit, does not in any particular point connect the prisoner with the matter, and I ask that he be discharged.

Mr. Geo. E. Henderson, Q.C., then addressed the court on behalf of the crown. He stated that there was no doubt in any person's mind that a burglary was committed on the night of Thursday, Sept. 20th, by some person. I ask, what did the prisoner want to do with that waggon on that night? He told Wims that he had taken a lady to Trenton. Where is the lady? we have heard nothing of her whereabouts. As far as I am concerned, I feel certain that he never was in Trenton on that morning. He was seen that morning near Ketcheson's woods with Gilbert's rig, and when discovered he attempted to hide his face with his handkerchief. Is not this a suspicious way for an innocent man to act? I submit that from the evidence adduced, the prisoner should be found, and is, guilty of this offence.

At the conclusion of the address of the prosecution the judge retired and after an hour's deliberation returned into court, and presented a lengthy review of the case, in which he expressed the opinion of the guilt of the prisoner, on the evidence produced. He therefore gave the prisoner the benefit of that doubt and found him "Not Guilty." He was immediately discharged.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely imitate the original in appearance and name. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cure, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. For sale by all druggists or sent post-paid on receipt of price (60c. and $1.) by addressing Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont.

BABY'S SKIN AND SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by Cuticura Remedies.

Our oldest child, now six years of age, when an infant six months old was attacked with a virulent, malignant skin disease. All ordinary remedies failing, we called our family physician who attempted to cure it; but it spread with almost incredible rapidity, until the lower portion of the little fellow's person, from the middle of his back down to his knees, was one solid rash, ugly, painful, blotched and malignant. We had not rest at night, no peace by day. Finally, we were advised to try the Cuticura Remedies, the effect was simply marvellous. In three or four weeks a complete cure was wrought, leaving the little fellow's person as white and healthy as it had been before the disease had ever occurred. GEO. B. SMITH,

CLEAR SKIN, PURE BLOOD.

No mother, who loves her children, who takes pride in their beauty, purity, and health, and in bestowing upon them a child's greatest inheritance,—a skin without a blemish, and a body nouri hed by pure blood—should fail to make trial of the Cuticura Remedies.

I have seen the Cuticura Remedies used for milk crust by a visitor in my house, and can testify that the cure was speedy and permanent. I have also used them myself, for eruptions of the skin, with little child, with satisfactory results in every respect. The skin was broken out and began to assume ugly proportions. I have also heard my neighbors speak of the Cuticura Remedies in the highest terms. E. P. BEAR.

A Quarter of a Century.

For more than twenty five years has Hagyard's Yellow Oil been sold by druggists, and it has never yet failed to give satisfaction as a household remedy for pain, lameness and soreness of the flesh, for external and internal use in all painful complaints.

FEVER AND AGUE AND BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS are positively cured by the use of Parmelee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, causing them to pour copious effusion from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

To lessen mortality and stop the inroads of disease, use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. For all diseases arising from Impure Blood, such as Pimples, Blotches, Biliousness, Indigestion, etc., etc ; it has no equal. Mrs. Thomas Smith, Elmira, writes : "I am using the medicine for Dyspepsia ; I have tried many remedies, but this is the only one that has done me any good."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS. — Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once ; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakens as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind. 324wly

YOUNG MEN suffering from the effects of early evil habits, the result of ignorance or folly, who find themselves weak, nervous, and exhausted ; also MIDDLE AGED and OLD MEN, who are broken down from the effects of abuse or over-work, and in advanced life feel the consequences of youthful excess, send for and read M. V. Lubon's Treatise on Diseases of Men. The book will be sent sealed to any address on receipt of two 3c. stamps. Address M. V. LUBON, 47 Wellington St. E., Toronto. 183dlwly

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration and silent transpiration from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but allowed to run their own course, generally prove the fore-runner of more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their affliction from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. Once of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Hoyle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state

Rest and Comfort to the Suffering.

"Brown's Household Panacea" has no equal for relieving pain, both internal and externa It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. "It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal, as its selling power is wonderful." "Brown's Household Panacea," being acknowledged as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family ready for use when wanted, "as it really is the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the Stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds," and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cts a bottle.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. The Child of Waterloo.

BY GEORGE W. M. REYNOLDS.

In about a minute he made his appearance and the sinister aspect of his countenance struck every one present. He had all the stern, dogged looks of a man whom one would suppose to be capable of almost any crime. He advanced, with a firm step, to a card in front of the bar, and then, sweeping off with an imputuous gesture, some of the herbs which were there placed before him, he glanced fearlessly about him. His dress was plain, but somehow, during his imprisonment, he had contrived to attire himself well enough; and he had got rid of much of the abundance of hair which used to distigure his visage, so that, with the exception of a large pair of mustaches, he presented no striking peculiarity of appearance beyond that of a man with a very forbidding expression of face.

The formalities of the court, as regards the reading of the indictment, etc., against the prisoner, we must not at all trouble our readers with.

Suffice it that he was arraigned for the murder of the young traveller at the Morton Arms, and that when asked to plead, he said, in a loud, clear voice :

'Not guilty.'

Then and not till then, he looked to where the Mortons were all seated, and his eye met Mabel's. Probably he did not expect that her presence would have been at all necessary, but certain it is, that the sight of her was the first circumstance that seemed at all capable of moving him. He avoided, after that one glance, which let him know where she was sitting in the court, looking in that direction, but, with a moody appearance, he leaned upon the bar in front of him.

The prosecuting counsel, after opening the case, directed that our old friend, the landlord of the Morton Arms, should be called, and he accordingly, after struggling to get out of the crowd, into which he was fast wedged, made his appearance in the witness box, looking much as he did when last presented to the reader.

'You are the landlord of the Morton Arms ?' said the counsel.

'Yes, sir, I were, and, in a manner of speaking, my lord, and gentlemen of the jury, at this here blessed moment, I may take upon myself all for to say that, leastways——'

'Good God, when are you going to stop ?' cried the counsel. 'Will you be good as to answer plain yes or no to the questions which I shall put to you ?

'Well, then, as I was a saying——'

'Witness,' said the judge, 'pray understand me. I shall be under the disagreeable necessity of at once committing you to prison if you do not answer, in a plain and straightforward manner, the questions which counsel may consider it to be their duty to put to you. Do you comprehend that ?'

'Why, yes, my lord, I——'

'There, that will do.'

'Do you remember what guests you had,' continued the counsel, 'at the Morton Arms on the day named in the indictment ?'

'Oh, dear, yes.'

'Now, really, could not you say yes, without prefacing it with 'oh dear' ?'

'The witness is incorrigible,' said the judge. 'I see no plan but that of letting him have his own way.'

'State, then, who you had as a visitor at the Mortons Arms on the night in question.'

'Toward evening there came as ill a looking fellow as I ever saw, and wanted something to drink. He was about as saucy as he could be, because I did not half like to serve him.'

'Very well. Now look at the prisoner at the bar, and, upon your oath tell the jury if that is the person, or not, to whom you allude.'

The landlord had no doubt in the world that Sternhold was the man, but he considered that under the circumstances, that it would be very wrong of him to say so all at once, so he turned and looked at him fixedly as if only then he had seen him for the first time ; then he shaded his eyes with his hands, and shook his head cunningly, from side to side, as he said :

'That's the man.'

'You swear that to be the man who came to the Morton Arms on the same night that the young traveller was murdered ?'

'Oh, yes, of course I do. I should know him among a thousand. He left, as I thought, and then I saw him again. When the young gentleman came on horseback, he wanted to carry the saddle somehow for him, but he was prevented, and then he had a sort of a row with Hostler Jem.'

'Did you have any conversation with the young traveller ?

'Oh, yes. He told me he had come a long way, and asked me who lived in the neighborhood ; and when I told him about the Mortons, he seemed quite pleased, as if he had heard of them before.'

'And that night this gentleman was murdered in the house ?'

'Yes, he was ; all the world knew that. But mind you, Jem, though he was took up, no more did the murder than I did ; I can tell you that.'

'I have done with you ; your recognition of the prisoner at the bar as the man who made himself officious about the stranger's saddle, is quite sufficient.'

'Thank you, sir ; if ever you come our way I——'

'Will you attend to me, sir ?' roared the counsel for the defence, who was a bully of the first water, and bent upon confusing the witness by violence of manner. 'Will you attend to us, sir ?'

'Yes ; I cannot help it, and should say, by your bellowing out so loud, that all the parish is forced to attend to you.'

There was a laugh, in which the judge himself could hardly refrain from joining.

'Come, come,' said the counsel, 'we don't want any of your remarks. Now answer us, sir. Do any beggars come begging to the Morton Arms ?'

'I should think so ; of course they do.'

'Will you swear that in twelve months as many as one hundred beggars came to the Morton Arms ?'

'Well, perhaps they may ; that's only two a week.'

'Will you swear that two a day do not come ?'

'Th jury will see what the testimony of the witness is worth. He has completely failed in identifying the prisoner, as the intelligent jury will perceive in a moment.'

'I haven't done no such thing.'

'You have, sir,' roared the counsel. 'Go down directly.'

'Oh, go down yourself, darn fool.'

There was another laugh, and the crier called the hostler, who deposed to having had a tracas with the prisoner at the bar, whom he recognized at once. He likewise fully identified him as the man he had tried in vain to capture in the churchyard.

This witness's evidence was given in so straightforward a manner that the counsel for the defense did not endeavor to shake it further than by saying :

CATARRH.

A New Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the interlining membrane of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes. The eminent scientists, Tyndall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made oftener than once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before an application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease.

So highly are these remedies valued that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy a parasite, of which they know nothing, by remedies, of the results of the application of which they are equal ignorant. Mr. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effect a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases.

Mr. Dixon sends a pamphlet describing his new treatment on the receipt of stamp to pay postage. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son, 303 King street west, Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Among the Indians.

"While my husband was trading in furs he came across an Indian who was taken to his lodge to die. He had inward pains and pains in all his limbs. He gave some Yellow Oil internally and applied it externally, and cured him. It also cured my husband of rheumatism, and I find it valuable for coughs and colds, sore throat, etc." Mrs. J. Beaw, Cook's Mills, Serpant River, Ont.

Give Them a Chance ?

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrah, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

The Modus Operandi.

The mode of operating of Burdock Blood Bitters is that it acts at once and at the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and the Blood, to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in Chronic Complaints.

Large Scrotal Hernia.

The change of late years in the treatment of Rupture is really surprising. Only a few years ago large Scrotal Hernia or Rupture could not be held by Trusses ; now Mr. C. Cluthe, the celebrated Truss inventor, offers in every case a success or no charge. He goes even further than this ; he offers a 300 mile return ticket on any railroad to any one whose Rupture he cannot hold. Mr. Cluthe is a responsible man, and above the reproach of taking advantage of people for the sake of the price of a Truss. This can be substantiated by the testimony of our most worthy physicians throughout the land, to whose patients his visits have proved such a comfort.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Is very palatable and much better than the plain oil. Dr. W. H. Cameron, of Halifax, N. S., says : "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver oil with Hypophosphites for the past two years and found it more agreeable to the stomach, and have better results from its use than any other preparation of the kind I have ever tried." Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

Cured By B. B. B. When all Else Failed.

Mr. Samuel Allan, of Lisle, Ont., states that he tried all the doctors in his locality while suffering for years with Liver and Kidney trouble ; nothing benefitted him until he took Burdock Blood Bitters, four bottles cured him.

THE WORLD OF LONDON.

GOSSIP ABOUT GREAT MEN AND GREATER MEN.

The Appointment of a successor to Lord Sackville Likely to be Indefinitely Postponed—A Story of Gladstone.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—I think it is fair betting that there is not a man in the Queen's dominions who, during the last twenty years, has spent so many nights in railway travel as has her majesty's eldest son. During his Indian tour all the prince's railway journeys were made by night. Look at his record now. On one night he travels by rail from Roumania to Vienna, the following night he spends it on the train on his way to the shooting grounds, he almost all day, comes back the same night to Vienna without a break, quits Vienna by night on a journey to Paris, and travels by night from Paris to London. The night between Friday and Saturday of that week he spent traveling from Lucerne to Balmoral; the night between Monday and Tuesday of last week he spent on the way return journey to town, and his royal highness is never fitter than after a night of railway travel. He seems to rise from his railway couch adequately refreshed—certainly in excellent form for either pleasure or business. There are few who will not envy the royal traveler his iron nerves. The Prince went up to Sandringham on Friday afternoon to join the Princess and the three princesses, who, after witnessing Baldwin's descent at Alexandria palace last Tuesday, returned to their country residence. His Royal Highness will now stay at Sandringham, with little intermission, till about the end of February, though he will spend a few days at Marlborough House next month and also pay a visit to Windsor just before Christmas. On Friday evening both Prince and Princess will give their annual ball to the country people of Norfolk in celebration of the Queen's birthday. A large and distinguished house party will be entertained till Monday, when the Prince goes on a visit to Derby.

The United States Government having thought proper to send Lord Sackville a "safe conduct," to use Secretary Bayard's expression, the reappearance of Great Britain at Washington ceases abruptly from a diplomatist of 30 years' experience to a junior secretary with the commission of charge d'affaires. Mr. Herbert, who now holds that position, is a brother of Lord Pembroke and of Lady de Grey. He is only in his 31st year. The first secretary of the British legation in Washington, Mr. Edward, Lord Kensington's brother, is in England, and was not expected to return to America. But, possibly under the altered condition of affairs, he may will take over the duties of charge d'affaires from Mr. Herbert, as the appointment of a successor to Lord Sackville is likely to be indefinitely postponed.

Miss Phipps, Miss Cavendish, Miss Drummond and Miss Moore have now left Windsor and Miss Moore have now left Windsor and the excitement of the fortune left them by the late Lord Sackville. The uncertainty which prevails as to the precise terms of the bequest has caused a number of other ladies, not equally lucky, to receive premature congratulations from their friends. It is Lady Derby, Lord Sackville's sister, who has entered a caveat against the will. Her solicitors are sanguine of success.

Lord Tennyson, who is still in Surrey, has been quite well for some months, and was so serious-ly ill at the beginning of last week that grave apprehensions were felt by his family for the moment. The most urgent symptoms have passed away, but he is still very prostrate and weak. The attack he suffered from, after developing symptoms of rheumatic gout, has evidently assumed those of rheumatic fever. His weakness and age still causes his family great uneasiness.

Notwithstanding the favorable bulletins of the Speaking, which have appeared since his return from Switzerland, I have reason to believe that his health is still in a very unsatisfactory state. It is in the highest degree improbable that he will be able to occupy the chair next year. Sir Matthew White Ridley will most likely succeed Mr. Peel, and be the first Conservative Speaker since 1833.

A curiously characteristic story of Gladstone is told as having occurred during the summer. Gladstone had occasion to come into contact with Frederick Harrison, who had just published his study of Oliver Cromwell. A good deal of conversation took place on the book, and Gladstone asked Harrison if he really considered Cromwell a very great man. Harrison answered warmly in the affirmative, giving his reasons, and in return asked Gladstone what was his estimate of the lord protector. Gladstone would assign him in the political hierarchy. Gladstone's said to have replied: "Well, somewhere after Lord Aldwyn."

A correspondent writes to ask me who invents the reports circulated with so much gusto, at intervals, that Lord Randolph Churchill is in a very bad state of health and means to retire from public life. The story last appeared in what is supposed to be the friendly quarter at Birmingham. Lord Randolph was never in better health in his life than at this moment.

Nobody can have been surprised at the result of the prosecution at the Old Bailey of Vizetelly, the publisher of certain notorious translations of some of the worst and most offensive of Zola's novels. On neither the legal principles or the questions of fact involved in the case was there any room for doubt or hesitation. Nothing can be clearer than that the publication of what is technically called an obscene libel—that is, an indecent or immoral book or writing—is a misdemeanor, or that such works as Le Terre, or, Dot Bonheur, Nana, are in the highest degree immoral, indecent and obscene. It must, however, be confessed that the literary question has been of late years so uncertain and capricious that Vizetelly may very excusably have imagined that he was not breaking the law. When he knew that unredeemed, unmutilated Zola, that contained in addition the Tribute of Modern Babylon, could be talked about the streets with impunity, he may have supposed that Zola's reputation would be tolerated.

The Duke and Duchess of Marlborough have England shortly to pass the winter at Monte Carlo, where they have taken a villa for five months. The duke has sold his town house, Palace Gate, to Mr. Labouchere, as the duchess desires to reside at Carlton house terrace.

The pictures at the institute are rather depressing. There are 629 all told, none either good enough to be bad enough to be worth much critical powder and shot. The pastels, of which there are more or less skilful, are not inventive and not original, and cannot even use color and form with their own eyes. The 629 contributors are John R. Reid, to whom nature always appears extraordinarily red in the face. Alfred Ward, who certainly has his own way of looking at the latter; David Murray, who gives us a pleasant, charmingly natural glimpse of a tall cottage, the chimney peeping through the dusk, with a curtained window dimly glowing on a hillside in the evening; Blair Leighton's work shows increasing power and knowledge; F. D. Millet's Tender Recollections—printed Thunder Cloud in the catalogue—is beautifully delicate in color, contrasting strongly with the heavy richness of the President's portraits of Miss Meredith Crosse.

I regret to learn that Lawrence Oliphant's illness, which had taken so favorable a turn that he was preparing to leave Surbiton for his house at Haifa, in Syria, in a few weeks, has now become so grave that but slight hopes are entertained for his eventual recovery.

Mr. Oliphant is suffering from an old affliction of the chest. It is now feared that serious symptoms have developed themselves. His condition is pronounced very critical.

SACKVILLE'S REAL SIN.

His Recall Was Not Based on the Murchison Letter.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The papers in the Sackville case are full to-night this evening. The first is a letter from Lord Salisbury to Lord Sackville, dated Oct. 27. It is as follows:

"Mr. Phelps, who is staying at my house, informs me that Mr. Bayard's request for your recall is not based upon the letter to Murchison, but upon a newspaper interview. I replied that I was glad it was not true that his request was due to the writing of the letter, which was made public only by a breach of confidence, and it was hardly practicable to lay down the principle that a diplomatic representative should be prohibited from expressing even privately any opinion upon events passing in the country to which he is accredited. The language of an interview is different. You must be taken as having intended it for publication. Before admitting the right for a recall I was bound, in justice to you, to know exactly what the alleged objectionable language was. I therefore asked Mr. Phelps for a copy of the interview in order to ascertain from you whether you had been accurately reported, and I told him I would then bring the matter before my colleagues. Mr. Phelps replied that he had not received the text of the interview, but would take steps to procure it. He was consequently understood that until the copy was received there should be no answer to the request for your recall."

On Oct. 28 Lord Sackville sent the following communication to Lord Salisbury:

"I have mailed an explanation. The plot was due to the approaching election. If my recall is demanded, I beg to express deep regret at what has occurred."

On Oct. 30, Lord Sackville cabled that he had received a passport.

On Oct. 31 he informed Lord Salisbury that the United States Government had given Lord Sackville a passport, and added that President Cleveland feared that another minister would be sent to Washington. On the same day Lord Sackville sent the following despatch to Lord Salisbury:

"I beg to repudiate Mr. Bayard's statement of the reasons for my dismissal as an unjust attack on my integrity."

JUDGE PATTERSON SWORN IN.

The Hearing of the Manitoba Crossing Case Fixed for Nov. 21.

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—The Supreme Court did not meet until after two o'clock to-day when Judge Patterson was sworn in by Chief Justice Ritchie and took his seat on the bench.

Mr. Gormully, on behalf of Attorney-General Martin, applied for fixing a date for hearing the case submitted by the Railway Committee of the Privy Council on the constitutional question, and after a short discussion Wednesday, Nov. 21, was fixed.

The Jubilee election case was then taken up and the argument was not concluded when the court rose.

Mr. Cassels, Registrar of the Supreme Court, recently dismissed a motion to quash the appeal in the Manitoba case of Shields v. Lewcock, involving the settlement of the affairs of the Northwest Lumber Co. Yesterday Mr. Dalton McCarthy, Q.C., renewed the application on behalf of the respondent before Judge Fournier in chambers. Judgment was reserved.

Judge Wurtele will be transferred from Aylmer to Montreal on Nov. 20.

A Peculiar Death.

MONTREAL, Nov. 6.—A report received here from Lachine states that a well-known Canadian lady named F. Caisse has just died under peculiar circumstances. A few weeks ago she took ill and the services of a leading physician were secured. She grew worse and died. A number of reports began to be circulated throughout the locality that the lady had died through the ignorance of the doctors, who, it was alleged, had not properly treated her. As Mrs. Caisse was about to become an heiress to a large fortune, it is feared that something has been done, as the report says, to shorten her days. An inquest will be held and the whole matter thoroughly sifted.

The Marriage Declared Off.

MONTREAL, Nov. 6.—Some years ago a gallant lower named Gardner came to Montreal and obtained employment in the American Express office in the East End. He became acquainted with a young lady who resides on Ontario street. From mere acquaintance the parties fell in love and marriage was resolved on. On the morning of the intended wedding the prospective bride was informed that Gardner had a wife and several children in England. The marriage has been declared off.

A Narrow Escape.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 6.—Mary, the 7-year-old daughter of Wm. Mills, resident of St. Thomas, had a narrow escape Saturday morning from instant death. While near the elevator her dress was caught by the cog wheel of the shaft of the pulley and she was dragged towards the pulley and whirled round and round, her body striking violently against the floor several times. She was rescued before life was extinct, and it is thought she will recover.

Valuable to Know.

Consumption may be more easily prevented than cured. The irritating and harassing cough will be greatly relieved by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

Dangerous Counterfeits

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. For sale by all druggists or send postpaid on receipt of price (50c. and $1.) by addressing Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Rare Combination.

There is no other remedy or combination of medicines that meets so many requirements as Burdock Blood Bitters in its wide range of power over such Chronic diseases as Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Complaint, Scrofula and all humors of the blood.

There are a number of varieties of corns. Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

Orin Catlin, 49 Pearl Street Buffalo, N. Y., says: I tried various remedies for the piles but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications.

MRS. GEORGE LEECH, Ha'dimand Township, has received more benefit from two bottles of Dawling's Pepsin Compound, than anything she has ever taken in her life. She has been troubled with biliousness, loss of appetite and constipation for years. Now she has none of these troubles. People write to her and see how she will recommend you to take Dawling's Pepsin Compound if you are troubled.

The cheapest medicine in use is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, because so very little of it is required to effect a cure. For croup, diphtheria, and diseases of the lungs and throat, when used for bathing the chest or throat, for taking internally or inhaling it is a matchless compound.

What does Dowling's Pepsin Compound cure? Dyspepsia and Indigestion. What are the symptoms? Biliousness, constipation, lack of energy, drowsiness, headache, p-ins in the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, depression of spirits. Ask your druggist for it.

Dowling's Little Liver Grannies are highly recommended for all diseases of the liver.

Mr. Thomas Hallard, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I have been afflicted for nearly a year with that most to be dreaded disease Dyspepsia, and at times worn out with pain and want of sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended I tried one box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. I am now nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money."

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimulating to action the dormant cells of the stomach, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body. Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

Of all the dyspeptic remedies ever placed in the market, Dowling's Pepsin Compound takes the lead. Why? Because it acts naturally on the digestive organs of human, and not mechanically, like the other patent medicines. Besides, it helps to assimilate and digest all the foods that enter the stomach. Ask your druggist for a bottle.

Bellevillites follow the example of Mrs. Geo. Leech of Hadimand, and many others and try yourselves of that dire disease, dyspepsia and indigestion.

The Dangerous Coal Oil.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—The explosion of poorly refined coal oil is the cause of another accidental burning. A little girl named Beauchamp, living on Maple street, while helping her mother in domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while resting on the table. Her burning clothing was only torn from her with much difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quickly summoned and the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined Oil a considerable quantity of inferior oil is being sold.

In order to avoid these low grades we have taken the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil:

'CARBON SAFETY OIL'
A specially refined and superior grade of Canadian Oil,
ASTRAL OIL,
A high grade American Oil.
These we can most confidently recommend to our retail trade as goods that will give entire satisfaction.
We are also fully supplied with Water White and Prime White American Oil and the special brands of Canadian Oil.

Strange, but Still True.

Mrs. David Carstairs, Haldimand Township, met with a very pleasant surprise a few weeks ago. It seems that Mrs. Carstairs suffered a great deal from dyspepsia and indigestion, the symptoms of which were, pains in the stomach and bowels, sick headache, etc. She tried several many physicians, and an unlimited amount of patent medicines, but without any success; and had not least, tried Dowling's Pepsin Compound, and one bottle has removed both pain and ache. She resides on the Gravelly road.

is offered by the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for a case of Chronic Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, and purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with many other symptoms of the worst and most disgusting character. The voice is changed and has a nasal twang; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians.

By its mild, soothing and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "Cold in the Head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache.

Sold by druggists everywhere; 50 cents.

"Untold Agony from Catarrh."

Prof. W. Hanover, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every step towards sunset, my voice would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."

Thomas J. Rushing, Esq., 502 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure remedy for catarrh now manufactured, and can honestly to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

Three Bottles Cure Catarrh.

Eli Robbins, Runion P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says: "My daughter had catarrh when she was five years old, very badly. I saw Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy advertised, and procured a bottle for her, and soon saw that it helped her; a third bottle effected a permanent cure. She is now eighteen years old and sound and hearty."

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

Although definite returns cannot be obtained from Indiana, or California, there can be no doubt that Mr. Harrison has been elected President. Without California or Indiana his vote in the Electoral College will be 210, which will give him a majority of 19.

ANOTHER UNTRUTH EXPOSED.

The Grits and free traders have been for years asserting that the "cotton lords" were making enormous fortunes by over-taxing the consumer for their manufactures; and yet the Kingston Whig, which is a strong supporter of the Grit party, tells its readers, in its issue of the 5th inst., that "the quality of cotton goods made in Canada compares favorably with that of the United States. The quality and finish have improved very much during the last two or three years, and now Canadian cotton goods are similar in style and durability, &c., to those manufactured over the border. Grey cottons are sold at lower prices than they are in the States by about 5 per cent. White cottons are the same as in the States, and coarser goods cheaper; but in the finer materials the States are 5 to 10 per cent. cheaper. In colored goods Canada can compare favorably with Manchester, England, or the States, in varieties, styles, quality and price. The prices in some lines of goods are even less than if purchased in Manchester to-day. The total production remains about the same as last year, being about 35,000,000 yards. The mills are working full time, but the prices are not very remunerative." And, let it be remembered, all these most desirable results which have been noted by the Whig—the improvement in quality and finish, the diversity of styles, and the reduction in price—have occurred under protection. That protection is the cause of the great improvements in the Canadian cotton trade is as plain as that two and two make four.

SELF-EXPOSURE.

O wad some power the ridiculous gie us
To see ourselves as others see us!—Burns.

In an editorial entitled "Sir John, the Annexationist," the Montreal Herald says, "Sir John Macdonald says that he is opposed to annexation. * * * Nevertheless, he is the great promoter of the annexation sentiment. Had he been removed from office in 1886, annexation might here and there be discussed in an academical spirit, but as a serious proposition it would hardly find a baker's dozen of supporters outside the Tory party." It is not often that the Herald makes such a mistake as to tell a plain truth in plain, unmistakable language; but in this case, in its anxiety to make a point against Sir John, the Herald has torn a hole in the bag and the cat has come out into plain view. It knows full well that if Sir John had been "removed from office" in 1887, the Herald's Grit friends would have taken his place, and so long as they kept the key of the loaves and fishes there would have been no adoption on their part of Mr. Wiman's fad, or any other fad which might threaten to interfere with their enjoyment of the sweets of office. The Herald does not seem to comprehend the danger of judging others too closely by itself. We could not express more keenly the animus which actuates it and its party, than by using its own words, in which it intends to show what it supposes the feeling and action of the "Tory party" would be if "removed from office." Its words are, "In that organization, no doubt, there would be a goodly number who, following their principle of rule or ruin, would vote for annexation to Russia or Timbuctoo rather than remain members of the non-governing party." We have long known that such were the sentiments of the Grit "organization," but we have never seen or heard them so plainly and bluntly expressed as in the above quoted language of the Montreal Herald.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

The civic authorities of Montreal have determined to discover and prosecute those correspondents of American newspapers who have of late been libelling that community. A great deal of harm has been done to Montreal and to Canada as a whole by reckless falsifiers who furnish sensational, and usually totally unfounded, statements, to the American press. We therefore hope that the authorities of Montreal will be successful in putting a stop to the flood of falsehoods which has been poured out by the correspondents in question.

The length to which political fanaticism and partisan folly will go has been shown in connection with the visit of some of the Canadian cabinet to New York, whither they went a few days ago to witness the closing scenes of the great political contest. The absurd rumor was put in circulation that the Canadian Ministers were the bearers of several thousands of dollars to be expended in aid of the Republicans, and the Secretary of the Democratic National Committee at once placed spies upon them. The correspondent of the Montreal Star says that "ticket-of leave men or supposed murderers could not be watched more closely. Their rooms, their letter box, their visitors and their own persons are kept under the strictest surveillance." The incident no doubt afforded amusement to the gentlemen whose privacy was thus spied upon, but it is none the less disgraceful to the politically crazed persons who hired the spies.

A French newspaper has started a demand for a French Minister in the Ontario Government, as the representative of the one hundred and fifty thousand French Canadians in the Province. This demand is made, as Le Canada boldly and frankly says, in order that the French element of our population may obtain a share of the spoils. Mr. Mowat and his friends have ever been ready to pander to prejudices of race and religion when they could embarrass their opponents by so doing. Now that they are about to be attacked with their own weapons, let us see what they will do about it. Their chickens are coming home to roost.

The Montreal Star forcibly remarks that the collapse of the libel suits brought by Premier Greenway and Attorney General Martin against the Manitoba Free Press and Call, through the failure of the grand jury to bring in true bills, leaves these two gentlemen in rather an uncomfortable position. The accusation was that they had been carrying on negotiations with railway promoters and had promised to put through certain railway legislation, in return for which the railway promoters were to pay $12,500 towards the Government election fund. The ground on which the grand jury declined to bring in true bills was that there was no malice in the charges. This seems odd. It could hardly be said that the articles in question were of a flattering nature, even taking the most charitable view of the case. The charge is of so serious a nature that Premier Greenway would do well to ask for a commission when the Legislature meets to look into the matter. It would be a mistake to allow the charge to go unchallenged, especially as it originated with the newspaper which up to a short time ago was his organ and supported him in everything he did.

Sitting on the Safety Valve.

Many are they who have laughed at the story of the green steamboat fireman who sat on the safety valve to prevent it "leaking." Yet thousands are repeating his folly every day. They are troubled with blotches, pimples, eruptions, salt-rheum, boils, carbuncles, ulcers and old sores, and are contenting themselves with suppressing the symptoms without removing the cause. They sit on those safety valves by which Nature is driving out blood impurities, instead of using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which cures by removing the cause, which is in the blood. It is a wonderful blood purifier and invigorating tonic. Do you think the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy would offer, as they have done for many years, a standing reward of $500 for a case of Catarrh which they cannot cure, if they did not positively know that the Remedy will absolutely and permanently cure Catarrh. Sold by druggists, at only 50 cents.

—A newly appointed Crier in a country court in Australia, where there are many Chinese, was ordered by the judge to summon a witness to the stand: "Call for Ah Song," was the command. He was puzzled for a moment; he glanced shyly at the judge and found him as grave as an undertaker. Then, turning to the spectators, he blandly simpered: "Gentlemen, would any of you favor his honor with a song?"

The tender leaves of hope; to-morrow blossoms
And bears his blushing honors thick upon him;
And when he thinks, good, easy man, full surely
He's good for four years more, the campaign ends,
And then he falls, as I do.

PRESIDENT HARRISON.

The Republican Candidate Elected — A Close Contest.

The returns of yesterday's election in the United States received up to the hour of going to press leave the result involved in considerable uncertainty, with a strong probability, however, of Harrison's election.

There is nothing to indicate that any of the states counted upon as "sure" for either party have furnished any surprises.

The South is solidly Democratic and the North, with the exception of Connecticut, Indiana, New Jersey and New York, is certainly Republican.

Of the four states which have been classed as doubtful, New Jersey has probably given the Cleveland electors a plurality. The Democrats claim 8000 plurality. Since the organization of the Republican party New Jersey has always been Democratic in a Presidential election except in 1872, when Gen. Grant received a majority of 14,576 over Horace Greeley.

Connecticut has also gone Democratic by about 450 majority.

The returns from Indiana are meagre, indicating Republican gains, and the state is claimed by both parties. The New York Herald says there is every indication that the state has gone Democratic.

As to Indiana, New York determines the result. Returns from New York and Kings Counties complete and from half the balance of the state indicate that Harrison has carried the day by about 12,000 majority and is elected President.

The very latest returns ensure a Republican plurality in New York and render certain the election of Harrison and Morton.

If the result are as indicated above the ballot of the Electoral College will be cast as follows:

A UNIQUE FEATURE.

The Vote in Cleveland's Home—How it Looks at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 6.—A unique feature of the contest which closed this evening was the vote of this city and county. This, Erie County, is counted safe for 3000 Republican majority. It gave Harrison for President about 2000, but Hill, the Democratic candidate for Governor, carries it by 5000, receiving the solid Cleveland vote.

It would seem that Harrison has carried New York State by 12,000 and to elected President, returns from New York and Kings Counties to indicate and from half of the balance of the State are to this effect and there is nothing in the returns as they come in to fail to indicate that places yet to report will alter the estimate given herein.

Connecticut is very close and is claimed by both sides with the probability that it will take the official vote to decide.

Indiana sends meagre returns but these indicate that Harrison has secured the State by a small majority.

New Jersey is Democratic.

The Western and Southwestern States, including Michigan but with the face of light returns received remained true to their Republican allegiance.

There is some doubt as to Virginia and West Virginia, but the Democrats claim both states.

THE MAJORITIES.

Latest Returns from the Various States—By the Associated Press.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 6.—Returns have been received from different points in all the districts and show a solid Democratic delegation to Congress. Cleveland's majority will be as large as in 1884, when it was 32,457.

North Carolina.

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 6.—The vote in this state was by far the largest ever polled. The returns so far show that the Democrats are making gains.

South Carolina.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 6.—No disturbance at the polls and nothing to indicate a decrease in the Democratic majority of 1884, when Cleveland's majority was 48,031.

Georgia.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 6.—Indications are that Cleveland's majority in this State is about 25,000. The solid Democratic congressional delegation is elected.

Rhode Island.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 6.—Harrison's plurality is 4000.

New Hampshire.

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 6.—Harrison has carried New Hampshire. Goodell (Rep.) has been elected Governor; the Republicans have carried both congressional districts and have secured control of the Legislature.

Maine.

AUGUSTA, Me., Nov. 6.—Blaine has sent the following telegram to Gen. Harrison: Returns thus far received indicate that Maine has given you a majority of 25,000. It will be more rather than less.

New Jersey.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Nov. 6.—The Hudson County Democrats made almost a clean sweep. Their Presidential electors will have fully 6000 majority, thus assuring the State for Cleveland.

Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 6.—Returns are coming in slowly. On the basis of gains shown by the returns from 20 precincts the Republicans will have a plurality of about 3500 in Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 7.—Thirty precincts in Indiana show net Republican gains of 575. At this rate the plurality for the Republican ticket will be over 25,000. Republicans at the committee rooms now claim the state by 12,000.

Wisconsin.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 6.—Fifty-one towns out of a total of 1200 in Wisconsin show a net Republican gain of 344.

California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—Returns coming in slowly. Much scratching, nothing can be given at present.

Florida.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The Herald Bulletin says Florida is probably Democrat by 1500.

Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6.—Chairman Cooper of the Republican State Committee claims the state for Harrison by about 80,000 majority. This would be a Republican gain of 9000.

New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—1025 election districts outside of New York and Kings counties give Harrison a plurality of 47,605, in the same districts Blaine's plurality was 36,740.

Connecticut.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 7.—Complete returns from Connecticut, except one town gives the following result: Harrison 74,407, Cleveland 74,815. It is estimated that Cleveland's majority will be 400 in the State.

Delaware.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 6.—No definite returns can be had from the State to-night. It has gone Democratic by a reduced majority.

Tennessee.

NASHVILLE, Nov. 7.—The congressional delegation will be unchanged. The State goes about the usual Democratic majority on the national ticket.

Michigan.

DETROIT, Nov. 7.—Estimates from Democratic sources agree with those of the Republicans on national and state tickets, but differ on the result in the congressional districts. It is conceded that Harrison has carried the state by about 12,000, and that Luce (Rep.) will have some 3000 less for Governor.

Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 7.—The Republican State Central Committee claim the State for Harrison by 25,000.

Colorado.

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 7.—The Republicans claim the election of the National and State tickets by 8000.

West Virginia.

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 7.—The chairmen of both the State Committees claim the State. This city is not to be counted before 11 a.m. to-day. The result in the State will probably not be known before Thursday.

In the Cities.

Boston gives Cleveland a plurality of 8847.

Cleveland carries Chicago by from 5000 to 6000. In 1884 Blaine carried the city by 2896.

Brooklyn gives Cleveland 11,511 plurality.

The Next President.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 7.—The city is wild with enthusiasm over the report from New York. Gen. Harrison is receiving the returns in his library surrounded only by his family, Gen. Miller, his law partner, and a few intimate friends. He is being deluged with despatches congratulating him on his prospects but will not make them public to-night.

Congress Republican.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The Tribune bulletin says the next House of Representatives will be Republican by 20 to 25 majority.

Gotham's New Mayor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The New York City Press Association says Grant's (Tammany Democrat) election is accepted by from 20,000 to 25,000.

From Chairman Quay.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 6.—The following has just been received by General Harrison:

We have New York.

(Signed) M. S. QUAY.

Election Notes.

Of the five great morning papers of the City of New York four of them were strong advocates of the re-election of Cleveland. Only one of them, The Tribune, favored the election of Harrison. The World, The Herald, The Times and The Sun were all Cleveland papers.

There seems to be good reason for believing that a deal was made between the local managers in the City of New York to this effect, namely, that if the Democratic managers could induce their followers to vote for Harrison certain other Republican managers would bring their followers over to Hill for governor of the State of New York. Practically this was what was called "knifing" Cleveland, and it seems to have been practiced very largely throughout the State.

The election of Grant as Mayor of New York is a triumph for Tammany Hall and gives that institution the large patronage of the city.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS.

Democratic Supremacy Sacrificed to Personal Ambition.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The Herald this morning says: "At the hour of going to press with our first edition the probabilities indicate the election of General Harrison. This opinion is based upon despatches received from all the states in the Union and which may be divided as follows:

"Cleveland—Alabama, Arkansas, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, New Jersey, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, and West Virginia—168.

"Doubtful—California, Nevada, Indiana—36.

"Conceding the votes of Connecticut and New Jersey to Mr. Cleveland and regarding Indiana, California and Nevada as doubtful, Mr. Harrison has a majority on the electoral college.

"The figures show the election of David B. Hill governor and of Hugh J. Grant as mayor. Mr. Hill has made a strong canvass. The nomination of Mr. Hewitt had the effect which his supporters principally intended, namely: the defeat of Mr. Cleveland by the division of the Democratic forces in New York.

"The political lesson of the election is that the national supremacy of the Democratic party has been sacrificed to the ambition of David B. Hill and A. S. Hewitt, and the fact which Democrats throughout the country should lay to heart is that in this game of politics their possession of the imperial patronage of New York City is of far more importance than the government of the Union."

Don't Give Up.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The Times says: "At 1 o'clock a.m. the election returns received by The Times from the interior of the State show diminishing gains for Harrison, and it is by no means certain that the full returns will not altogether destroy the plurality that the early returns indicate for him, and give the State to Cleveland."

The World says: As this edition of The World goes to press (2 a. m.) the indications are that Harrison has carried the State of New York by a small plurality—500 to 5000.

Somebody Was Educated.

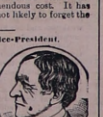

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The Sun this morning says: "When a party deliberately buries out of sight the principles on which it was founded and of which it has been for a century the custodian and trustee; when it runs some of its best men to the rear, and surrenders the management of its affairs to a syndicate of cracked intellects, theorist-enthusiasts, with just enough shrewdness to half disguise their ultimate purpose; when it abandons politics in the same sense and makes itself an engine for the propagation of a theory, in short when it goes in for an educational canvass somebody is bound to be educated.

"That is what happened yesterday. The great mass of the Democracy, sound to the core, loyal as ever to the essential and eternal truths of its creed, hopeful even in defeat and courageous and unshaken this dismal November morning, is the victim of the educational campaign. It has been educated with a vengeance and at a tremendous cost. It has learned its lesson and is not likely to forget the same.

A Balky Horse.

Yesterday afternoon an employee of the Rathbun Co. was proceeding to a house near the West Belleville church, with a load of coal. Attached to the waggon was a large grey horse, and everything went on well until Cedar street was reached, when the animal showed signs of a balky nature and refused to move. Everything that could possibly be thought of was done to induce him to proceed, but of no avail. After trying him for about one hour he suddenly plunged forward and proceeded up the street, and had gone about half way up Murney street, when he again balked. At this point he was even more morose than at the former place, and from a reliable party we are informed that it was two hours before he could be induced to resume his journey, even going so far as to lie down in the street. What last seen he was, however, going at a lively gait up Hillside street.

Promissory Notes and Drafts.

Under the title "Promissory Notes and Drafts, what a Business man should know regarding them," the Ontario Business College has published a letter delivered by one of its principals—Mr. J. W. Johnson, F. C. A.—before its Business Paper Class. The subject is treated by its able author in such a way as to furnish valuable information in the shortest and most practical way, and the lecture may be read with pleasure and profit not only by the student but by the business man, for all will find in it matter of value. The lecture is one of many delivered by Mr. Johnson before his class during the past twelve years. Its perusal will indicate the thoroughness of the methods pursued in the Ontario Business College, which, despite the large number of commercial colleges that have of late years sprang up in the country, has steadily increased its popularity and has now a larger attendance of pupils than ever before at this date.

Neatly Nabbed.

A Belleville Thief Captured in Kingston This Afternoon.

The Kingston News of yesterday says: "At half-past eleven this morning Chief Horsey received a message from Belleville asking him to arrest one James Guillett on a charge of robbery. The message gave a description of the young man, and Officer Burnett was not long in locating him. Guillett was found in bed in the Anglo American Hotel, and Burnett and McCullough placed him under arrest. Last night he went through a commercial traveller at Belleville and relieved him of his watch and chain, a gold ring, a sum of money, and his railway ticket. He also took the traveller's membership ticket, which his victim had in his pocket. With the ticket was another pass which is issued by the G. T. R., and if the latter wish to prosecute him for fraud, they have a sure case against him, as he erased the traveller's name, and wrote his own. All the stolen articles, with the exception of the money, were found in his possession and can be placed in the cells. He did not attempt to deny that he was the thief. Although it was half past eleven when word was received here, before twelve o'clock Guillett was in the cells. Burnett did the job quickly."

Chief Newton went to Kingston at midnight, and returned this morning with the prisoner.

The Fifth of November.

Thomasburg "Es Fete"—Most Successful Demonstration—Summer-like Weather.

The three hundredth anniversary of the destruction of the Spanish Armada; the two hundredth anniversary of the landing of King William III. at Torbay in England, and the discovery of the Gunpowder Plot, were celebrated by the Orangemen and Protestants of Hungerford and Huntingdon at Thomasburg in a way never equalled before. Going into the village, one would think by the hundreds of boys and girls, young men and maidens, and grey haired sires and their companions of 50 and 60 years, that every house in these two prosperous townships had been emptied for the day, and had united with the Orangemen in celebrating these remarkable events in the history of our country. The Orangemen of Hungerford have a history for successful 12th of July anniversaries, and for turning them to practical benefit, for not a church in that township or in Huntingdon has been built for the last twenty years, that they have not contributed by the proceeds of their demonstrations hundreds of dollars to it. In these twenty years by this means fully $6,000 has been raised for church buildings, and the demonstration of the 5th November was no exception, the English Church in Thomasburg being $600 better off as the results of the gathering. By 11 o'clock the various Lodges had rendezvoused at the village, and having formed into procession, made a most creditable display, the procession being composed of: No. 94, Gordon's, W. Craig, W.M., 131 Thomasburg, A. Beatty, W.M., 292 Elzivir, A. McGuire W.M., 747 Wood, G. Graham, W.M., 838 Carleton, R. Carleton, W.M., 1135 Bogart, J. Beatty, W.M. The procession was headed by Bro. Jas. Elliott, District Marshal. After parading the streets for some time, all adjourned to the public hall, where a sumptuous dinner had been prepared by the ladies of the English Church in Thomasburg.

After dinner the problem was where to put the crowds who wanted to listen to the long array of orators who had been announced to speak, and as no hall or church could accomodate one-third of them, it was decided to have the speaking on the street. The speeches were of a very high order; indeed it was said that they were as good as good speaking on any similar occasion. The speakers were Rev. J. W. Forester, Rector of Hungerford, County Chaplain; Mr. Robert Gordon, Grand Treasurer of Ontario East; Rev. R. H. Leitch, Eldorado, Deputy Grand Chaplain; Rev. Thomas Cleworth, Thomasburg; Mr. W. P. Hudson, M. P. P., Roslin; Rev. John E. Halliwell, Grand Chaplain of British America; Mr. Wm. Johnson, Belleville, Past Grand Master of Ontario East; and the Rev. George Anderson, Mohawk Reserve, Past County Chaplain.

Votes of thanks to the ladies who had provided such a fine dinner to the speakers, and three cheers for the Queen brought the days proceedings to a close.

Zera Semon Novelty Co.

This company gave a repetition of Monday evening's performance last night, with some material changes and enlargements, which in every case is true a good one and the scenic effects are magnificent, especially in Mme. Strong's "Fata Morgana." Zera Semon performed some wonderfully clever tricks, and as a conjurer stands in the first equals. The music produced by Miss Gilbert and Sig. Giovanni on the musical glasses was loudly encored. The "Royal Marionettes" were productive of much mirth and are really a fine piece of mechanism. The canaries are well trained and exhibit almost human intelligence. About one hundred persons received presents, all of which were valuable and useful. The drawing was conducted in a satisfactory manner to all. The audience was large and appreciative. The company appear again to-night in a change of programme. The grand prize will be a handsome gold watch.

Brain Captured.

A Big Bear Trapped and Shot.

Our Marmora correspondent writes: "A very large bear was caught on the farm of Mr. Daniel Hamilton, of this township, a few days ago, but not before it had carried away some of his sheep. This was sufficient to alarm the country round about, who at once secured the services of Mr. Chambers, of Madoc, with a bear trap. The two, after baiting and setting the trap on Saturday evening, returned to it on Sunday morning, and there was brain very much enraged, with the large trap holding to his paw. Mr. Chambers then shot and released him, and he proved to be a very fat monster, weighing 400 pounds, with a hide, when stripped, measured over 10 ft. from tip to tip. One half of the carcase was brought to the village for sale and is in the meat market of T. N. Webster."

Personal.

The Fire Insurance Agents have formed themselves into an association with Mr. F. M. Clark, of Belleville, president, and W. D. Laurier secretary.

The News says: "Miss Scott and Miss Sinclair, the two lady medical students of the class '90-'91, who are shortly to leave for India as medical missionaries of the Presbyterian church, will be presented with handsome purses from their class-mates at Miss Birmingham's residence, Johnson street, on Friday evening. The male students will also tender them an offering before their departure."

The Rev. W. H. Learoyd, son of the Rev. John Learoyd is in the city.

Mr. John L. Yerex, who for a number of years was employed in the photograph gallery of Mr. H. R. Smith, left this morning for Wellington, New Zealand.

Police Court.

At this court this morning James Guillett pleaded guilty to the theft of a number of articles from Daniel H. Doust. The articles consisting of a watch and chain, a gold ring, a pass book, and $11, were found on the prisoner, which Doust recognized as belonging to him. He was remanded until Monday next, when sentence on his sentence.

The fish case of James Gerow against the McDonald family of Point Ann was resumed at the police court this morning. After a number of witnesses had been examined judgment was reserved until Monday next.

Chimney Blaze.

At eight o'clock this morning the alarm of fire called the firemen to North Front St., where it was reported that the residence of Mr. Edward Sprague was on fire. It proved, however, only to be a chimney burning out, and the services of the brigade were not required.

At the house cart of No. 2 was proceeding to the fire this morning it was overturned near the upper bridge, but no damage resulted therefrom.

Methodist District Meeting.

This week's Christian Guardian contains a call from the Rev. John Learoyd, chairman of the district, requesting the members of the Belleville District to meet in Bridge Street Church on Monday the 19th inst., at 2 p. m., to hear addresses on the College Federation question, by the Revs. Drs. Potts and Burwash, and the ministers are requested to bring with them representative laymen.

THE LATEST.

Harrison's Election Conceded.

It is generally conceded that Harrison is elected. He has carried every northern State, with the exception of New Jersey. Thurman has also sledged that his party has been defeated. Harrison's majority in New York State is about 10,000.

The Balkwill Burglary.

The Trial Judge's Decision.

County Judge's Criminal Court—The Queen vs. Houston.

JUDGMENT.

In this matter circumstantial evidence is given connecting the prisoner with the actual taking of the goods with which he is charged. The whole evidence is circumstantial, but it must be admitted that some of it is pretty positive circumstantial evidence, the most positive being that of the witness Treganze, he being the only witness who pretends to speak of seeing the prisoner going away from the city to where the goods were found in the woods. While his evidence is very positive it is not entirely convincing to me. His demeanor in the witness box was not entirely satisfactory, he displayed rather much feeling and acrimony for a disinterested witness. And in evidence that the sun rose that morning at 5.50 and Treganze swears that he recognised the prisoner at least an hour and a half before that time, when he must have been between 75 and 100 feet away. It seems rather inconsistant also that he could so positively identify the prisoner without being able to see what was in the waggon. From the size of the boxes and the quantity of stuff in the waggon it seems to me that there was not room for one man to stand upon the waggon and not be plainly distinguishable as the parties who were with the waggon. The witness also apparently does not bear a very good character in the neighborhood in which he resides, some of his neighbors swearing that they would not believe him under oath, while many others give him a very bad character for truth and veracity, without going to the length of saying that the would not believe him under oath. His own statement in the witness box, also, that he said when the waggon passed him afterwards, on its way to the city, that he did not know who were in it, is against the credibility of his evidence. He says he knew who were in it, but that he lied about it without any possible reason. His excuse now is that he was not then under oath. That may be satisfactory to him, but I can't wonder that the man who says he only tells the truth when under oath would soon get a bad reputation in the neighborhood in which he resides.

The only other witness who identifies the prisoner is Sinfield, and he swears to recognizing him as he came out of the woods through the bush to the road. Other witnesses speak of recognizing Gilbert's delivery waggon, from the name painted on the box. These witnesses all make out a strong case of circumstantial evidence against the prisoner, and upon this evidence, although circumstantial, I would feel bound to convict the prisoner.

As against this the defence produces two witnesses whose testimony, if true, completely rebuts the presumption that the prisoner could have been the party seen by Treganzie and Sinfield. The evidence of the young man Lauthier, from Trenton, is not as satisfactory as it might be, but taken in connection with the evidence of Edward Travers, a most respectable and reliable man, raises a doubt in my mind which I feel the prisoner should have the benefit of.

If this case was being tried by a jury, I should be obliged to tell them that they should give the prisoner the benefit of any reasonable doubt they might have upon the evidence produced by the defence. And I would be very much surprised indeed if they did not upon the evidence have such a doubt as would lead to the acquittal of the prisoner.

It is very regrettable that so respectable a man as the prisoner has always been should be so mixed up with this dirty transaction as to require the benefits of a doubt to relieve him from the punishment attaching to such a crime. The whole Balkwill business has been of a very unsavory kind and it is to be hoped that there will be an end to this sort of wholesale swindling.

It is greatly to the credit of our Crown officers, and particularly to our indefatigable Chief of Police and his efficient force, that the goods were so quickly recovered and this whole chain of circumstantial evidence so carefully prepared, and while justice has been perverted (if it has) by circumstances over which they have no control, evildoers will do well to bear in mind that they cannot, in this locality, perpetrate crimes without being brought up with a round turn.

The goods have all been recovered and no one suffers pecuniarily from the taking of them, and the prisoner has already spent nearly a month in gaol. He has been acquitted with the reasonable doubt that the evidence given by the defence raises in my mind as to the prisoner's guilt, forces me to the conclusion that I should acquit him, which I accordingly do.

The Female Missionaries.

Miss Jennie Sinclair was born in Madoc, and always resided there with her parents until three years ago. After teaching school for one year in Deseronto she entered the Woman's Medical College, Kingston, to pursue a course in medicine, and has been there about two years. Miss Sinclair was specially brought into notice by Miss Stone, under the pastoral care of Rev. D. Wishart, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Madoc. She united with the Church about 7 years ago, and has since been an active worker in the cause of missions. In response to an urgent demand, the Foreign Mission Board of the Presbyterian Church in Canada decided to send two lady missionaries to India, to engage in the Zenana work. Miss Sinclair and Miss Scott have been chosen for the field. Both these young ladies have kindly consented to bid good by to-morrow evening in Belleville, and speak at the farewell missionary meeting in the John St. church. Miss Scott, who goes with Miss Sinclair to the mission field was for a time at Burnbrae, near Campbellford, and was brought up under the pastoral care of Rev. Dr. McNeil. She was a teacher in the Marchmont Home for two years, afterwards took a partial course in medicine in Kingston, and has lately been engaged in teaching in Manitoba. She is an earnest consecrated christian young lady, and intently devoted to mission work. She will also speak to-morrow evening.

—The number of suicides at Monte Carlo has decreased from 25 to 19 during the past year. The latest victim is a young Russian lady, who lost all her fortune last week, and then in despair threw herself into the sea. The reigning Prince of Monaco, who has not visited his principality for several years, has been induced to take up his residence at Monte Carlo during the coming winter and will arrive in a week or two.

Latest Dairy Markets.

(Utica Herald, Nov. 6.)

The cheese market of the past week has been dull all around. Of 6,460 boxes shipped abroad, about 2,000 were held over from the week before; another trade was quieter than it has been for several weeks previous. Of course the excitement over election has some influence in making a stupid market, but home traders are getting pretty well stocked up, and that business promises to be about as dull as exporting for some time to come. The fact is that the bulk of September cheese has already gone into the hands of the home trade, and it is many years since such a small proportion of this class of goods was taken by foreign buyers.

The figures of receipts and exports since May 1, show how largely our exports have fallen off. The receipts in New York have been about 28,000 bxs. less than they were last year, while the exports have decreased by 88,000 bxs. If this diminishing process goes on a few years longer at the present rate, there will not be much left of our export trade in cheese. And the trouble lies chiefly at our own doors. Canada and New Zealand make a better keeping article than we do, and their cheese is preferred on that account.

	Receipts.	Exp.	Cable. Price.
Nov. 6, 1888,	54,978	22,337	58.64. 12‡ c.
Nov. 5, 1887,	83,301	22,301	58.64. 11‡c.
Nov. 3, 1888,	30,550	6,460	51s. 10‡c.

The full cream stock offered was taken chiefly for home trade, and brought 10@ 10‡c. But the bulk of the offering was composed of light skims, perhaps what might be called half skims, which make pretty good stock at the time of year. The ruling was based on these. Most of the factories that are now open are running every other day. Some will close this week, but the majority will run for two or three weeks longer, according to the weather and the yield of milk. The latter is getting to be very small. Following are the sales of the day: 35 lots, 2,445 boxes, 9‡c.; 12 lots, 887 boxes, 9‡c.; 15 lots, 1,253 boxes, 10c.; 4 lots, 390 boxes, 10‡c.; 5 lots, 457 boxes, 10‡c. Total—71 lots, 5,432 boxes. On com., 1,549 boxes. Total boxes sold—6,781.

Ruling price 9‡c. Transactions one year ago 9,840 boxes, ruling 10‡c.; two years ago 7,356 boxes, ruling 14‡c.

LITTLE FALLS, Nov. 5.—Factory men were not at all anxious to sell, as they were already closely sold off, and prices are ‡c. lower. White cheese is all almost ‡c. under colored stock, and no white sold above 9‡c. The transactions are: 40 lots, 2,220 boxes, 9‡c.; 26 lots, 2,141 boxes, 10c; 12 lots 615 boxes, 10‡c.; 78 lots, 4,995 boxes. Farm dairies, 415 boxes. Total, 5,400 boxes.

MONTREAL MARKET.

TUESDAY, Nov. 6.—Cheese has remained quiet and steady, yet there has been more or less demand especially from the bear element, the merits of which brought wherever the goods could be obtained, paying from 8‡c@10‡c. the latter having been paid in Brockville for not strictly finest.

BELLEVILLE MARKETS.

INTELLIGENCER OFFICE,
Belleville, Nov. 7, 1888.

The grain market continues very dull, with receipts the smallest on record up to date. The same is true of the trade in the Kingston district. Sales of barley on the street at Trenton, for example, have not exceeded 5,000 bushels, whilst not a cargo has as yet gone out of Brighton or Colborne. The condition of the barley market at Albany is thus stated in a circular addressed to the Downey Company:

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 1, '88.

GENTLEMEN,—There is a little more inquiry for barley to day at bottom prices, but our market is still dull. Canada is relatively cheaper than our No 2 grades, and more attention. No. 1 Canada is quoted at 93c., but we hear of no sales. No. 2 6 rowed state in demand at 85c. to 87c.; but little demand for 2 rowed, buyers thinking it too high and waiting for lower prices. We quote No. 2-2 rowed at 80c. to 81c., although lower prices are intimated in one or two quarters, but we are unable to verify the rumors.

Yours,

Our esteemed townsman, R. Croft Hulme, Esq., has undertaken the agency for this county. The wonderful progress of this Company is truly remarkable. The people of Canada have faith in the Manufacturer's Life, and show it in a very practical way by increasing their risks in this Company—a Company which issues no iron clad policy, no "policy with "a mass of confusion clauses hidden in a mass of microscopic type," but a policy so clear and plain that he who runs may read, and as free from conditions as possible. The amount of business since 1st of January am unt to $3,125,000—$450,000 for October. At this rate the Manufacturers did fair to double the business of any other Co.

A Quarter of a Century.

For more than twenty five years has Hagyard's Yellow Oil been sold by druggists, and it has never yet failed to give satisfaction as a household remedy for pain, lameness and soreness of the flesh, for external and internal use in all painful complaints.

FEVER AND AGUE AND BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS are positively cured by the use of Parmelee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, causing them to pour copious effusions from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

To lessen mortality and stop the inroads of disease, use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. For all diseases arising from impure blood, such as Pimples, Boils, Biliousness, Indigestion, etc., etc; it has no equal. Mrs. Thomas Smith, Elm, writes: "I am using this medicine for Dyspepsia; I have tried many remedies, but this is the only one that has done me any good."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting the teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakens as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind. 324owly

V. Lubon's Treatise on Diseases of Men. The book will be sent sealed to any address on receipt of two 3c. stamps. Address M. V. LUBON, 47 Wellington S t E., Toronto. 183dlwly

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as accident transitions from heat to cold. Heat carries the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc, if attended to in time are easily subdued, but allowed to run their own course, generally prove; ore-runner of more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their affliction from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. Oneof the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Dickie's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state

The Child of Waterloo.

BY GEORGE W. M. REYNOLDS.

'You were, yourself, accused of the murder of the young traveller at the inn, I believe?'

'I was so.'

'And you feel still that, in the minds of some persons, your character may suffer, unless the deed be brought home to another?'

'It is possible.'

'You will see, gentlemen of the jury, that this witness is largely interested in procuring a conviction of the prisoner at the bar. You may go down.'

'Before I go down,' said the quondam hostler, 'no power on earth shall prevent me from hurling back in your teeth, with indignation, the base assumption you have given utterance to. The man who, before you, for a few paltry guineas will come forward with all the wicked effrontery of which his nature is capable, to oppress the innocent and screen the guilty, is alone capable of giving utterance to such a diabolical falsehood.'

'Go down witnes,' said the judge; 'the court cannot listen to such remarks.'

But the court had listened, and a buzz of applause greeted the hostler as he stepped from the witness box.

The next witness called was our old friend, Troubled Tom, and in vain was his name shouted by the crier within the court, and officers without it. He could not be found, and the counsel for the prosecution looked upon him despairingly until he received a note from the hostler, and after perusing it he said:

'If there be any one asleep in any corner of the court, it is probably the witness, who has a great aptitude to pass his time in that way.'

'Please here's a boy in this corner has been leaning on my back, and snoring this half-hour,' said a voice.

'That's our man,' said the counsel.

With some difficulty Troubled Tom was aroused to the necessity of putting in an appearance in the witness box; and, when he got there, he rubbed his eyes and winked a great many times before he was awake enough to know what he was about.

'Now,' said the counsel for the prosecution, 'do you know where you are, my young man? I ask you because I wish the jury to be convinced that you are wide awake.'

'Oh, ah! it's a good deal of trouble.'

'Come, come, you have been brought to London to give evidence and have just taken an oath that what you shall say shall be the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. Do you remember, on the night named the indictment, being in the farmyard at the back of the Morton Arms?'

'I believe you. How should you like your stomach trod upon?'

'Stop a bit; we shall come to that in due time. What time did you go there?'

'Oh! I felt a little sleepy, cos I hadn't had anything like a rest for ever so long; people is always, somehow or another, disturbing o' me, so, just about dark, I thought I'd go there, and have a little sleep.'

'What happened to you?'

'Why, somebody put his foot on the outside o' my inside, and that rather waked me up, you see. Then I seed a jolly row.'

'Should you know the person again?'

'Oh! yes; I never forgets nobody—not I. I should know him—a ugly fellow with a knife in his hand.'

'Look at the prisoner at the bar, and tell the jury if that is the man.'

Troubled Tom looked and then nodded his head, as he said,

'Oh! they've caught you, have they? It serves you right. You won't tread on people's outsides again when then they is trying all for to get a wink o' sleep. You know you killed the young man while he was trying to get a wink o' sleep, and you killed the dog 'cos he was a-trying to rest himself a little. I wouldn't trust a man with a bad farden as was a enemy to sleeping—that I wouldn't. Oh, Lor'! what a trouble all this here is, to be sure!'

'You can swear, then, distinctly, that the prisoner at the bar is the man who aroused you from your sleep on the night in question?'

'I believe you; only ask him. He knows it well enough. Ask him; he can't deny it. Only look at him. Ain't he joley ugly?'

'You gave evidence, I believe, before the local magistrates upon this subject?'

'Yes; oh! yes. Isn't that all? I am so precious sleepy, I am. Haven't you done? You know he did it; what's the use o' bothering any more about it? Oh, dear, what a trouble.'

'I'm afraid my learned friend for the defence will trouble you more than I have. Have no more questions to ask you.'

'Well, sir,' said the counsel for the defence, 'don't you think that sleep is one of the first things in the world?'

'Of course I do; any fool knows that.'

'But I suppose, now, you dream sometimes, eh? I do—all sorts of comical dreams.'

'Ah! ah! so—don't I.'

'You don't? You mean to tell me you don't dream?'

'No, I couldn't think of taking so much trouble, all for nothing. You may dream, though, if you like. My not liking it ain't no rule, you know.'

'Come—come; now you are only joking. You do dream sometimes. You know we all dream, occasionally. Why, no human being sleeps always without dreaming.'

'I ain't going to argufy with you; it's too much trouble. Besides, you seem rather a stupid-head, you do.'

'On your oath, sir,' cried the counsel, in a loud tone, 'on your oath, were you asleep or awake on the night in question, when you say you saw the prisoner at the bar?'

'I didn't see the prisoner at the bar.'

'You did not?'

'No; I seed him in the piggery at the Morton Arms.'

'Come—come; don't provaricate, sir. On your oath, I say, were you awake or asleep?'

'Neither.'

'Oh! neither. Come—come, I thought we should get at an hour, gentlemen of the jury, that the witness upon whom the prosecution most relies admits that he was neither asleep nor awake.'

'What a crammer you are telling,' said Tom. 'You wouldn't let me go on. You asked me if I was asleep or awake upon my oath, and I said neither, 'cos I wasn't on my oath at all, but on a blessed bundle of straw! I tell you I seed him, so don't bother any more. You don't know what to say, so you'd better go to sleep, and let me go to sleep, too.'

'You have been well tutored, I presume. I am inclined to think that you are more knave than fool.'

CATARRH.

A New Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the interlining membrane of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes. The eminent scientists, Tyndall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made oftener then once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before an application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease.

So highly are these remedies valued that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy a parasite, of which they know nothing, by remedies, of the results of the application of which they are equal ignorant. Mr. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effect a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases.

Mr. Dixon sends a pamphlet describing his new treatment on the receipt of stamp to pay postage. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son, 305 King street west, Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Among the Indians.

"While my husband was trading in furs he became acquainted with an Indian who was taken to his lodge to die. He had inward pains and pains in all his limbs. He gave some Yellow Oil internally and applied it externally, and cured him. It also cured my husband of rheumatism, and I find it valuable for coughs and colds, sore throat, etc." Mrs. A. Besaw, Cook's Mills, Serpant River, Ont.

Give Them a Chance?

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. Do you remember, on the night Norman Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

The Modus Operandi.

The mode of operating of Burdock Blood Bitters is that it acts at once and at the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and the Blood, to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in Chronic Complaints.

Large Scrotal Hernia.

The change of late years in the treatment of Rupture is really surprising. Only a few years ago large Scrotal Hernia or Rupture could not be held by Trusses; now Mr. C. Cluthe, the celebrated Truss inventor, offers every case a perfect cure free of charge. He goes even further than this; he offers a 300 mile return ticket on any railroad to any one whose Rupture he cannot hold. Mr. Cluthe is a responsible man, and above the reproach of taking advantage of people for the sake of the price of a Truss. This can be substantiated by the testimony of our most worthy physicians throughout the land, to whose patients his visits have proved such a comfort.

Cured By B. B. B. When all Else Failed.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrah, Asthma and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this receipt, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using the same. Sent by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. NOYES, 149 Power Block, Rochester, N. Y.

THE PREMIER'S OPINION

ON THE RESULT OF THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

Is a Matter Touching Which Sir John Declines to Take the Public Into His Confidence.

OTTAWA, Nov. 8.—The Republican victory in the presidential election has caused no excitement here, the general opinion appearing to be that it makes no difference to Canada, as now that the election is over it will be as easy, or easier, to negotiate with the Republicans as it would have been with the Democrats, had they won. An attempt to interview Sir John was made yesterday afternoon, but he was too cautious to express any opinion on the result. The following is the interview as published in The Journal:

"What do you think of the result?"

"I have no opinion to offer on that point," replies Sir John, with a smile.

"There is an impression that the Dominion Government favored the return of Cleveland."

"Not at all, not at all. We were quite colorless on that point as well." Sir John said this with emphasis, and he looked as though he meant what he said.

"What secured Cleveland's defeat?"

"I cannot tell the causes which won the election for Harrison."

"And the international difficulties?"

"President Cleveland remains in power until March next. What course he will adopt I cannot say. I have no reason to believe the Republicans are hostile to Canada. They favor a protective tariff not unlike our own. There is no great urgency in settling the fishery question. The fishing season is over for this year and operations will not be resumed until next year."

"Are you hopeful of a settlement of the difficulty?"

"Not know I never allow myself to be interviewed," was the response. "The treaty negotiated last year is dead. It was rejected by the United States Senate, not by the Canadians. Of course if negotiations were resumed a new treaty would be framed on the same terms. At any rate the negotiations will have to be commenced anew. The Washington treaty of 1872 was negotiated by a Republican president with a Republican majority in the Senate. Is it not reasonable to suppose that the Republicans will negotiate in 1889 in the same spirit which actuated them in 1871?"

Hon. Mr. Foster was rather more free in his expression of opinion. He is reported as having said: "So far as the election goes I have no decided sympathy with either party. It is impossible to forecast what line the Republicans will adopt in their relations with Canada, fiscal and fishery, as it was impossible to learn from the contradictory course of the Democrats during last year what its policy would have been for another administration had it been successful. The different lines put forth seem to have been more to influence the presidential election than indicative of a settled policy which should rule after the election was over. I have no reason to think that the administration of Harrison will be anything else than friendly towards Canada, and that opinion is backed by Harrison's letter of acceptance in which he took reasonable ground."

Mr. Foster in conclusion said he thought the United States should take the initiative in negotiating a new fishery treaty.

MANITOBA'S LEGISLATURE.

Probable Contents of the Governor's Speech—The War Ended.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 8.—The second session of the seventh Legislature opens this afternoon, and will be attended with the usual pomp and parade. In the Speech from the Throne his Honor will likely assign the crisis in the railway matters as the reason for the calling of the House together. It will be suggested that if the present uncertain state of affairs continues between the Provincial and Federal Governments in regard to the railway question an appeal will be made to the Queen in Council to have our rights under the British North America Act clearly defined. It is unlikely that any mention will be made of retaliation. It is possible that the Government will ask to be clothed with power to assist needy municipalities. This undoubtedly means in the matter of furnishing seed grain to those who lost all their crops. Mention will likely be made of the intention of the Government to amend and consolidate several important Acts.

Altogether it is expected that the session will be a most important one and it will probably last about two weeks, when an adjournment will be made until January.

The trouble at the crossing is apparently at an end and the Infantry School was withdrawn yesterday. It is apparent that there is nothing to be done until the decision of the Supreme Court has been rendered.

COLLISION AT KINGSTON.

KINGSTON, Nov. 8.—A collision occurred yesterday on a siding running into the city between a Kingston and Pembroke Railway mixed train and a Grand Trunk freight. The Kingston and Pembroke baggage car was broken by the leader of the Grand Trunk engine. The crash brought panic to the various directions to escape being killed. The passengers in the Kingston and Pembroke coach were thrown against each other and two ladies fainted. The coach was injured. The Grand Trunk train was not badly damaged. The tender was broken and a part of a flat car destroyed.

A Cruel Father.

HAMILTON, Nov. 8.—John O'Grady was summoned to appear before Police Magistrate Cahill yesterday charged with assaulting his son, Andrew O'Grady. The lad is a bright and intelligent little fellow. He transgressed Tuesday and did not go to school. His father chastised him for playing truant, and his punishment was exceedingly severe. The boy told the magistrate that O'Grady knocked him down and kicked him on the head. His head was badly bruised, especially on the forehead. He was not well enough to attend court and the case was adjourned until to-day. The magistrate refused to allow O'Grady to leave the court-room until he obtained bail.

A Painful Accident.

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 8.—Ambrose Haywood, of the Lorne House, has been down some weeks with typhoid fever and was just recovering when he met with a very painful accident. Monday morning he was assisting in unloading some hay when the planks he was standing upon gave way, precipitating him to the ground. Several ribs were broken, and he received a bad gash in the forehead and a wound in the neck caused by the fork entering it.

An Unreported Steamer.

MONTREAL, Nov. 8.—The steamship Henri IV., of the Bossiere Line, which left Havre for Montreal Oct. 18, has not been heard from.

IT NEARLY COST TWO LIVES.

Will the Notorious Rawson Divorce Case May be Compromised.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—It is announced that the notorious Rawson divorce case, which has had so many strange and startling phases during the two years it has been in the courts, is almost at an end. It is understood among the lawyers that a compromise has been made between the banker and his wife, and Judge Jamison, before whom some of the issues of this extraordinary suit have been tried, is the reported mediator. The terms of settlement are that Mr. Rawson agrees to give his wife $40,000, and her divorce suit on the ground of desertion will be allowed to go by default. All other civil suits—which are legion—will be dropped. Mr. Rawson retracts his charges against his wife's character, and the criminal prosecution against her for shooting Col. Whitney will be discontinued.

The history of the troubles of the Rawsons would fill a book. Stephen W. Rawson is one of the wealthiest men in Chicago, and is about 64 years old. Four years ago he married Miss America L. Lee, a reasably handsome woman, more than twenty years his junior. She had been twice divorced, was once a Treasury clerk at Washington, and before that something of a waiting-place belle. Mr. Rawson lived with his bride in a magnificent marble-front residence on the West Side, but in a few months it was common talk that the couple did not get on well together, and in the fall of 1886 Mr. Rawson began suit for divorce on the ground of unfaithfulness. The only witness he had was a servant-girl named Porter, and this man afterward confessed that he had sworn falsely and the case was thrown out of court. Since then Mr. Rawson has filed amended bills, his wife has filed cross bills, there have been rejoinders and sur-rejoinders, affidavits, depositions and interviews, until the accumulation is far beyond any precedent in even a Chicago divorce case. Both parties to the suit are said to have detectives watching each other, and whenever a detective saw a chance for an affidavit one was immediately added to the pile.

Mrs. Rawson had a son, Ralph Lee, and he was the cause of a good deal of the trouble between the banker and his wife. On Sunday, Oct. 21st last year young Lee crept up behind Mr. Rawson as he was leaving church and shot him in the back. The wound was supposed to be fatal, but Mr. Rawson got well and young Lee was sent to prison for a year. His mother was indicted for complicity, but the trial was postponed several times and finally the case dropped. June 1 Mrs. Rawson's lawyers went before Judge Jamieson to urge a speedy hearing of the suit. Col. A. R. Whitney was arguing against them when Mrs Rawson dashed into the room and shot him twice. His wounds were also supposed to be mortal, but he is alive, though very feeble. Mrs. Rawson was indicted, but has not yet been tried. Last week she filed a new bill of divorce for desertion.

DRUNK AND PLAYING COWBOY.

Six Roisterers on Horseback Run Over and Kill an Old Man.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Six men, headed by a fellow whose hair fell upon his shoulders after the fashion of a cowboy, carried consternation into Flushing and Cottage Point, L.I. They were all mounted upon methesome horses and were considerably under the influence of liquor. It was not the first time they had visited the town. They are attaches of a riding academy in the neighborhood of Flamaxenne and Skilman streets, Brooklyn. They rode abreast at full speed, regardless of the terrified pedestrians, who fled into doorways to avoid being run over. At Cottage Point they visited several saloons, and metaphorically painted the town red, whooping and shouting like Indians.

Opposite Shuck's saloon they drew up six abreast, still howling, and their leader gave the word, "Let her go." They gave rein, dashed off at full gallop, just as Jos. Kreger, a market gardener, 50 years old, was crossing from his house to the opposite side of the road. In an instant he was under the hoofs of the horses. The men saw what they had done, but paid no attention to their victim. At a mad gallop they passed through Flushing and made their escape.

When Kreger was picked up he was dead. Three ribs on the left side were crushed in, and death resulted from the pressure on the heart. Two of the reckless party were recognized. They are said to be John McCormick and a man named Meyer. Warrants have been issued.

THIS HUSBAND WAS CRUELLY ABUSED

He Got a Divorce Because His Wife Talked Too Much and Hit Too Hard.

DETROIT, Nov. 8.—In 1884 Maxwell M. Fisher, 59 years old, a millionaire of Detroit, and Frances A. Gardner, 35 years old, were married. They went on a wedding tour to California. A month later, while in Santa Rosa, he alleges that his wife yelled at him so long and so loud one night that half the people in the Arlington Hotel awoke and listened. They traveled around California for about two months, and at almost every hotel where they stopped Mr. Fisher alleges that his wife repeated the occurrence. On May 19th this curious honeymoon terminated and they settled down in this city. Then their difficulties began in earnest.

Mr. Fisher charges that his wife circulated scandalous stories about him and an innocent young woman living in the household, and even went so far as to give such stories circulation through a newspaper. One evening in November, 1885, Mr. Fisher states, his wife "began to talk at him," and continued until 3 o'clock the next morning without stopping. At that hour Mr. Fisher timidly ventured to attempt to talk back, when she sprang from bed, he says, and hit him in the face several times, knocking him out in the first round, as he confesses. On May 29 last he filed a bill for divorce, and alleged the foregoing acts of cruelty for grounds. Mrs. Fisher did not file an answer, and Judge Gartner yesterday granted the divorce. Mrs. Fisher is worth $10,000 in her own right, and both parties to the suit are well known in Detroit.

He Stuck Fast in the Mud.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Victor McDonald, a hardware dealer, of Stamford, Conn., got drunk in Harlem and walked into the river near McCombs dam bridge. It was low tide and McDonald soon found himself up to his waist in mud and stuck fast. He struggled desperately, but the more he twisted and turned the deeper he sank, and, fearing the tide would rise and drown him, he began to yell for help. Policeman Conyers, of the Highbridge station, heard him and went to his assistance. The officer found he could do nothing for McDonald without wading out to him in the mud, and out he went. When the two finally reached solid ground they were sorry-looking objects. McDonald presented a ridiculous sight when arraigned in the Harlem Court. The black mud had formed in hard cakes all over his clothing and in his beard and hair, and the legs of his trousers and shoes were so filled with it that he could scarcely walk. He was discharged upon his promises to go to his home at once.

Valuable to Know.

Consumption may be more easily prevented than cured. The irritating and harassing cough will be greatly relieved by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. A Rare Combination.

There is no other remedy or combination of medicines that meets so many requirements, as does Burdock Blood Bitters in its wide range of power over such Chronic diseases as Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Complaint, Scrofula and all humors of the blood.

There are a number of varieties of corns. Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

Orin Catlin, 49 Pearl Street Buffalo, N. Y., says: I tried various remedies for the piles but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications.

Mrs. George Leech, Hadmund Township, has received more benefit from two bottles of Dawling's Pepsin Compound than anything she has ever taken in her life. She has been troubled with billiousness, loss of appetite and constipation for years. Now she has none of these troubles. People write to her and see how she will recommend you to take Dawling's Pepsin Compound if you are Dyspeptic.

The cheapest medicine in use is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, because so very little of it is required to effect a cure. For croup, diphtheria, and dis-eases of the lungs and throat, whether used for bathing the chest or throat, or taking internally or inhaling. It is a matchless compound.

What does Dowling's Pepsin Compound cure? Dyspepsia and Indigestion. What are the symptoms? Billiousness, constipation, lack of energy, drowsiness, headache, pain in the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, depression of spirits. Ask your druggist for it.

Dowling's Little Liver Granules are highly recommended for all diseases of the liver.

Mr. Thomas Hallard, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I have been afflicted for nearly a year with that most-to be dreaded disease Dyspepsia, and at times worn out with pain and want of sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended I tried one box of Parmelee's Valuable Pills. I am now nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money."

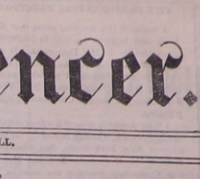

Parmelee's Pills possess the power of acting specially upon the stomach and organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this product to cleanse the purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body. Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

Of all the dyspeptic remedies ever placed in the market, Dowling's Pepsin Compound takes the lead. Why? Because it acts naturally on the digestive organs of the stomach, and not mechanically, like the other patent medicines. Besides, it helps to assimilate and digest all the foods that enter the stomach. Ask your druggist for a bottle.

Belleville's follow the example of Mrs. Geo. Leech, of Hadimand, and many others, and rid yourselves of that dire disease, dyspepsia and indigestion.

Strange, but Still True.
Mrs. David Carstairs, Haldimand Township, met with a very distressing surprise a few weeks ago. It seems Mrs. Carstairs has suffered a great deal from dyspepsia and indigestion, the symptoms of which were, pains in the stomach and bowels, and sick headache. She has tried a great many physicians, and an unlimited amount of patent medicines, but without any success; and last but not least, she tried Dowling's Pepsin Compound, and one bottle has removed both pain and ache. She returns the kindest regards to P. E. DOWLING, Cobourg, for his magnificent remedy. Druggists will take pattern by this woman, and ask your Druggist for it

A Wrong Opinion.
Many a dealer is paid for prescriptions for some disease that never trouble the patient, and when the sole difficulty was worms, which a few of Freeman's Worm Powders would remove. These Powders are pleasant, safe, and sure, contain their own cathartic, and are adapted for children or adults

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of women's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which are sent to their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, worn-out, "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, shop-girls, housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skilful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhœa, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, female weakness, anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription" when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative dose of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

Large bottles (100 doses) $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, NOV. 8

THE GRAND TRUNK TIME TABLE.

The recent change in the Grand Trunk time table, whereby the arrival of the western mail here has been placed at a most inconvenient hour, is received with disfavor in Belleville, and the people at other places on the line are equally dissatisfied, to such an extent that the Councils of Whitby, Bowmanville and Oshawa have passed resolutions asking for a change. We commend the matter to the attention of our City Council and Board of Trade and recommend similar action on their part.

THE U. S. ELECTION.

The Republicans have won a decisive victory in the Presidential contest in the United States, and present appearances indicate that they will, as well, have a majority in the House of Representatives, in which the Democrats have held control for several years. This result is clearly attributable to the tariff issue; for whereas the Democrats have increased their majorities in the large seaboard cities, the main business of which is importing and exporting, they have lost to a much greater extent in the manufacturing centres inland and the rural districts, which have emphatically declared in favor of the continuance of a high protective tariff.

So far as Canada is concerned, there never was a Presidential election amongst our neighbors in which a smaller degree of interest was felt by our people. In the early days of the campaign Canadian sympathy was largely in favor of President Cleveland, whose endeavor to settle the fishery question in an amicable and honorable way, was believed to indicate a friendly sentiment toward us; but Mr. Cleveland's catering to the Anglophobic vote by his threat of "retaliation" and his dismissal of Lord Sackville with the same object in view, alienated the sympathy of Canadians and no doubt lost him thousands of votes from Britons naturalized in the United States. Both parties were thus shown to be equally indifferent to us.

Whilst the possibility of having a few articles placed upon the free list of the United States—the possibility, to say, for the Republican majority in the Senate would not readily, if at all, have consented to the legislation necessary to that end—is lost to Canada by the election of a Republican President and House of Representatives, the idea of commercial union, or unrestricted reciprocity is knocked in the head. This much advantage, at least, Canada will derive from the contest. The maintenance by our neighbors of their high tariff will likewise silence the cry of tariff reduction in the Dominion; and as we will be compelled to look to our own efforts for the development of our trade and our resources, it may prove that the election of Benjamin Harrison as President of the United States will be of much greater benefit to Canada than the re-election of Grover Cleveland, even if the event had led to the enactment of the Mills Bill.

NEVER ALLOW the bowels to remain in constipated lest serious evil ensue. Ayer's Pills are unsurpassed as a remedy for constipation.

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

A despatch this morning avers that New York and Indiana are still in doubt, and gives Oregon to the Democrats. It also states that Senator Gorman, of New York, claims to have discovered mistakes in the returns from King's County, New York, which give the State to Cleveland by 2,000 plurality.

A later despatch says: "Nothing definite has been received to-day regarding the position of New York State, but Chairman Brice of the Democratic National Executive Committee concedes the election to Harrison. In Indiana 905 precincts give Harrison 147,907, Cleveland 141,084."

Correspondence.

While correspondents will be accorded space for the expression of their ideas on topics of general interest, it must be understood that the views so expressed are simply those of the correspondents themselves.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

MR. EDITOR,—The Ontario of September 22nd contains my name with some scandal in which a woman was inveigled from her home and, through a mock marriage, was defrauded out of several thousand dollars. This report, I understand, has gained a considerable foothold in the public mind, and as I wish to exonerate myself from the blame, I will relate what I know of the affair. One year ago last June I went to Sault Ste. Marie, where I was employed with Isbester, Brown & Co., railway contractors, in the capacity of an employment agent. I hired men at the Sault and shipped them down to the works, some 15 miles distant. I could not get as many men as the company required at the Sault and I was sent to Toronto to obtain the required number, if possible. I took passage on the C. P. R. steamer on the 6th of July. Alexander Scott, formerly hotel keeper at Stirling, was among the passengers. The woman in question was on board. Scott told me that she was going to be married at Owen Sound as soon as she had seen her lawyer, Mr. Simpson, who was to pay her some $3,000 he was holding in trust for her. On the arrival of the boat Mr. Simpson filed an appearance and he told me afterwards that he appointed Scott trustee, and as soon as she was married the money was to be paid over to her. I saw Scott, who is a great friend of the family, and he told me that she was lawfully married and that he witnessed the ceremony and paid her the money. The foregoing are the true facts of the case, as Mr. Simpson and Mr. Scott related to me, and I further state that I do not owe the party any money and that the charge which is laid against me is false and utterly foundationless, as I did not know anything of the matter. Yours truly,

DAN HOUSTON.

"Mud Street."

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

MR. EDITOR,—Several suggestions have been made relative to the change of name of Hotel Street, and you intimate that others may follow. Now, Sir, I beg to submit "Mud Street" as being the most appropriate, for I don't know of any County road as bad as this street, from Church St. to Albert Street. There are some places positively dangerous. If all Corporation work of importance was done by contract, the sum annually spent for improvements on streets would show more value received than at present. Where does this sum of eight or ten thousand dollars annually spent appear? Echo answers where? The sum that can be spared after paying interest, salaries, etc., is small enough—the greater reason then that it should be spent judiciously. Nothing short of a revolution in city affairs can overturn these "time honored" present methods of doing city work.

The Aldermen who will contend for this change, and the putting down of Ward rolling and everything that does not pertain to the general benefit, will receive lasting obligations from all true citizens.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

MR. EDITOR,—I see by last evening's paper that a Hospital Sunday for this city, as in other places, is advocated. It certainly would be a good idea and a custom which no doubt our citizens would be glad to see established. As this Sunday has not yet been arranged for, I would suggest that the collections in the different churches on Thanksgiving day be given to the Hospital. This has already been done by some of the congregations and might very reasonably be done by all. As the Hospital and Home for the Friendless are our only public charity, they should be both generally and generously supported. Yours truly,

J. L. BIGGAR.

Literary Notes.

THE HANDBOOK OF CANADIAN DATES. By F. A. McCord, Assistant Law Clerk, House of Commons, Montreal: Dawson Bros., pub lishers. Price 75c.

The publishers claim, in their preface, that this will be one of the most thoroughly useful books that has ever been produced in Canada, and the claim is made good by the volume, which is before us. It is a very neat and handy volume and will fill a long felt want amongst books of reference, and its pages will be found the dates of the accession and death of all the Kings of England and France, since Canada was discovered—the service of all the Royal officers under the French and English regime, whether Viceroys, Governors, or Intendants in Canada, or Ministers and Secretaries of State in England or France. The dates of Battles, Disasters, Railway and Steamship Lines, are given and every fact of importance bearing upon Canada at any period of its history is mentioned with its date.

AN IRISH EVOLUTION "Home Rule from an American Standpoint." By Watson Griffin, Montreal.

This brochure describes the "evolution" of the late lamented Thomas D'Arcy McGee from a rabid nationalist and separatist to an earnest and eloquent advocate of British and Canadian union. The author briefly and truthfully describes the successive steps of conversion, or stage of evolution, and the premature and melancholy fate which terminated what promised to be an honorable and useful career. From this Mr. Griffin deduces some political maxims which he thinks might be advantageously adopted, not only in Canada, but also to some extent in the United States and in England. How far his ideas may be applicable to the present state of affairs it will be the province of the statesmen of the respective countries to determine, should the suggestions come to their notice.

A Female Paradox.

A lady, old and growing older still,
(As ladies will grow old, you know,) became,
In spite of age, as young as youth—but ill.
And old, and wretched, feeble, lame, and sore,
A lady young became in spite of youth.
As ladies will, and why? Because the truth,
That keeps a lady young, they fail to grasp,
And yielding to disease, die in its fatal clasp.
That truth is that woman's weaknesses may be
Subdued by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

SICK HEADACHE caused by excess of bile or a disordered stomach is promptly relieved by using National Pills.

YOU CAN PAY BETS TO-DAY

And Cleveland is Beaten—Indiana Probably Republican—California Claimed by the Democrats.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The unofficial vote of all counties in the State as far as returned shows pluralities for Cleveland of 78,056, and for Harrison of 90,147, giving Harrison a plurality in the State of 11,191.

Both Claim Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 8.—Full returns have been received from 27 counties out of 92 in Indiana, which show a net Republican gain of 2365. The News says: "The Republican committee claims to have returns from 30 counties showing that Harrison would carry 5000 plurality. Governor Gray claims that the State is democratic by 6000."

Probably Republican.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 8.—The Indianapolis Journal has returns from 80 counties showing gains for Harrison of 7000, which would give 3000 majority for the national Republican ticket.

He Changed His Mind.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 8.—Mr. Sheerin, Secretary of the Democratic Committee, when asked last evening for an expression regarding the result in Indiana said: "We have Provincial advices from Simon Gouverneur, and taking the figures claimed by the Republicans for the rest our returns give the State to Cleveland by from 1500 to 2000. I think we have carried it for State officers and have gained three and possibly four congressmen, and we have a good working majority in both branches of the Legislature."

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 8.—Secretary Sheerin of the Democratic National Committee said last night that it looked now as if Harrison had carried the state but it would require the official returns to decide.

Democrats Claim California.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The following telegram was received at Democratic headquarters late last night:

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 7.

Hon. C. S. Brice: We have carried this State for Cleveland and Thurman by a safe majority. W. D. ENGLISH.

Cleveland Captures Connecticut.

HARTFORD, Nov. 8.—Complete returns from Cleveland 74,040, Harrison 74,514, Fisk 4181; Cleveland's plurality 385.

Ohio Safe For Harrison.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 8.—All the counties (unofficial) except six show a plurality for Harrison of 20,341. The six counties not reported gave Foraker (Rep.) for Governor in 1887 a plurality of 436.

Chairman Quay's Claim.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Senator Quay, chairman of the National Republican Committee, authorizes the following: The Republicans on Tuesday carried by increased majorities all the states that were carried by Blaine in 1884, and in addition have New York by a plurality of 15,000 and Indiana by a plurality of from 4000 to 6000. West Virginia is in doubt. Gen. Harrison's election is secured.

The Next House Republican

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Secretary McPherson of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee says the Republicans will have about 12 majority in the next House of Representatives.

Conservative About Congratulations.

IRELAND, Nov. 8.—Chairman Harrison is receiving hundreds of congratulatory telegrams from all sections of the country. He is very conservative about congratulations, however, and wants to feel sure he is out of the woods before he answers any of them. There were a great many callers at the house yesterday.

Charged With Intimidation.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Assemblyman Charles Smith was held in $2000 bail yesterday on the charge of intimidating voters Tuesday.

An Election Riot.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 8.—A riot occurred in Portsmouth between whites and blacks last night. Four hundred negroes marched down High-street, the principal thoroughfare in the city, singing "Hang Grover Cleveland on a Sour Apple Tree." At the corner of Dinwiddie-street a large party of white men were congregated and a white boy and a negro had a scuffle. The negroes came to the rescue of their comrade and were charged upon by the whites. Hardly had the fight commenced before shots were fired by the negroes. Then the wildest confusion prevailed and after about forty shots had been fired the negroes retreated.

The whites then discovered that three of their men had been wounded, two probably fatally. Immediately after the riot and after the negroes had retreated the whites began arming themselves. Everybody is now armed. Mayor Baird has called out guards and 100 special policemen have been sworn in. Intense excitement prevails and the negroes are reported forming outside the city.

VIGILANT REPUBLICANS.

A Statement to the Public From the National Committee.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The Republican National Committee makes the following statement to the public:

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS,

In view of the claim being promulgated by the Democratic National Committee that they have carried the State of New York for Cleveland and that they are sending telegrams to their local committees all over the State to that effect, the Republican National Committee have sent out to the chairman of each Republican County Committee of the State the following telegram:

"Although full returns from every county in the State show New York safely for Harrison by upwards of 15,000 plurality, the Democrats are telegraphing to their county chairmen, claiming the State and urging them to pay attention to the returns. See to it that the returns are thoroughly guarded until officially canvassed. Prevent frauds at all awards. In case of necessity employ counsel. Notify us of any tampering with returns. Communicate with your committee at once if necessary by special messenger."

SENSATIONAL EVIDENCE.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—It is stated that Sir Charles Russell, counsel for the Parnellites, will call a witness to swear that he forged the Times letters and will show by enlarged photographs on a magic lantern that in tracing beneath the signature the pen was repeatedly stopped in the course of writing.

Ambassador to Italy.

PARIS, Nov. 8.—M. Marine has been appointed Ambassador to Italy.

An Editor Robbed.

HAMILTON, Nov. 8.—H. F. Gardner, editor of The Times, had $134 in bills and $3 in silver stolen from his room yesterday morning. Mrs. Gardner's diamond brooch is also missing.

Fatal Accident.

BAYFIELD, Nov. 8.—Henry Howard, a farmer living near Bayfield, was thrown out of his buggy about 10 o'clock Tuesday night into a creek and instantly killed.

Her Recovery Doubtful.

KINGSTON, Nov. 8.—Miss Macdonald, sister of Sir John Macdonald, is improving in health, but it is doubtful whether she will recover.

Didn't Know it was Loaded.

MONTREAL, Nov. 8.—A lad of 17 named Rogers has been arrested here on a charge of shooting a playmate with an air-gun. He didn't know it was loaded.

THAT LITTLE ACCOUNT.

FOR THE EXPENSE OF THE MILITIA IN MANITOBA.

Winnipeg Will be Asked to Settle—Subscriptions Collected for the Sharpshooters' Monument Unaccounted For.

OTTAWA, Nov. 8.—In view of the statement made by Mayor Jones of Winnipeg that he would refuse to pay the expense of the militia called out in connection with the railway troubles, it has been ascertained from the Militia Department that a demand will be made on the Corporation of Winnipeg in the usual way for payment. General Middleton said that he thought the Mayor of Winnipeg would not be able to escape payment of the cost, although it might possibly lead to a great deal of litigation. "The militia regulations," said the General, "specify that troops may be called out on a requisition signed by three justices of the peace, including the warden, mayor or other head of the municipality or county in which any riot, disturbance or emergency occurs. The magistrate can act without the mayor, if the latter refuses or delays to consent to troops being called out. Under the circumstances I do not see how Winnipeg can avoid the payment of these expenses."

Hon. John Robson, Provincial Secretary of Manitoba, arrived yesterday for the purpose of discussing with the Dominion Government the questions pending between the Provincial and Dominion Governments. Amongst these is the payment of the expense, some $10,000 or $12,000, incurred in the recent Saskatchewan River expedition. The Provincial Government contends that as the Indians amongst whom the trouble arose are wards of the Federal Government, and the complaints were against the Dominion and not the Provincial Government, the expense should be borne by the former.

In the Supreme Court yesterday argument in the Joliette election case was concluded and judgment reserved.

The case of Chesley v. the Queen was then taken up and was not finished when court arose.

The time for receiving tenders for building the lock for the proposed Sault Ste. Marie Canal closed yesterday. A large number of contractors are here, and it is understood that many tenders have been received. The time for dredging the approaches and entrances to the lock has been extended to Dec. 6.

Quite a sensation has been caused by the statement that all the money collected for the Sharpshooters' monument has not been accounted for. One man is said to have gathered in something like $150, and the names of the parties who paid this money to him do not appear in the published list of subscribers. The assistant secretary of the fund states that the names of a number of gentlemen who claim that they subscribed are not on the official list.

There is a row in the Ottawa Ladies' College between Principal H. W. Scott and the five lady teachers. Some days ago Mr. Scott informed the teachers that in future they must march in to meals behind the pupils and march out in the same manner. In other words they were to leave the table before him and not remain to talk over the business of the day, as they were wont to do. This order the teachers refused to obey. Tuesday when they went to dinner they found the table laid only for the principal and the pupils; no plates, etc., were laid for the teachers, and although they sat out the meal the principal never spoke to them nor did the servants offer them anything. As supper the teachers did not appear but sent out and bought their own supper. Mr. Scott left on a canvassing tour yesterday morning and will not return for a couple of months, and the ladies meanwhile remain in possession. They are highly indignant at the conduct of the principal and threaten to resign in a body unless he is dismissed. The matter will be brought to the attention of the board at once.

Sir John and Lady Macdonald returned from Kingston yesterday morning. Sir John's sister being somewhat better. She is still, however, in a critical condition.

RELIEF FELT IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—There seems to be a general feeling of relief here that the Presidential election is over and hope is expressed on all hands that the people of the United States will speedily regain their habitual soberness of mind and co-operate in an early settlement of outstanding disputes.

Regarding the Sackville incident a noteworthy demand is arising here for a new Minister to Washington, who shall have a closer personal knowledge bearing on the grave matters affecting Canadian interests than an ordinary diplomatist would possess.

The Pacific Cable Company are making efforts to explain the survey route to the Admiralty, and it is suggested that the question be raised in Parliament.

The tone of the Stock Exchange has been fairly good during the past week. Dominion issues have further improved, Quebec going 1½ up, the dealers, according to the Canadian Gazette, feeling that those against forcible coercion are stronger than the promoters. Canadian Pacifics have more than regained the fall caused by the Manitoba troubles. Grand Trunks have also improved.

The Manitoba Mortgage Company, at a meeting called for Nov. 13, will consider reconstruction.

Before her departure she purchased a quantity of wearing apparel, etc., which she had charged to her father. Her parents are at a loss to account for her leaving, as she had always been a good steady girl, of correct habits, and seemingly quite contented.

Three Toughs Taken Care Of.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 8.—Three toughs who boarded a train at Tilsonburg on the Michigan Central Railway acted in a disorderly manner and were warned by Conductor Foxal that if they did not desist they would be fired off. This enraged them and they drew revolvers and threatened to shoot the conductor. They were handed over to the police here.

Fire at Oshawa.

Fe Went Armed.

QUEENSTOWN, Nov. 8.—On the arrival here of the steamer Catalonia from Boston a passenger named Moriarty was arrested. A revolver and a quantity of ammunition were found concealed in his trunk. He was taken before a magistrate and remanded for further examination.

While out shooting, Percy Bolidge's gun exploded; his hands and face were badly scorched and cut by the powder.

A Missing Farmer.

MONTREAL, Nov. 8.—The police have been informed that a farmer named Gedeon Rheaume of Beauharnois, who came to Montreal on Oct. 29, with $600 on his person is missing. Foul play is suspected.

For the Babies.

It is not necessary to buy corn cures. Men and women should remember that Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is the only safe, sure, and painless corn remover extant. It does its work quickly and with certainty. See that the signature N. C. Polson & Co. appears on each bottle. Beware of poisonous imitations.

Small son—I ain't likely to. He kin lick me.

MANUFACTURERS' LIFE INSURANCE CO.
OF TORONTO.

Our esteemed townsman, R. Croft Holme, Esq., has undertaken the agency for this county. The wonderful progress of this Company is truly remarkable. The people of Canada have faith in the Manufacturers' Life, and show it in a very practical way by placing their risks in this Company—a Company which issues no iron clad policy, no policy with "a mass of contraction clauses hidden in a maze of microscopic type," but a policy so clear and plain that he who runs may read, and as free from conditions as possible. The amount of business done for January amounted to $5,125,000—$450,000 for October. At this rate the Manufacturers bid fair to double the business of any other Co.

The dwelling of Mr. Wesley Reed, at Milltown, took fire Wednesday morning, the 7th inst, and was burned to the ground. Loss covered by insurance. The adjoining house, occupied by Mr. B. Reed and owned by L. A. Appleby, of this city, also took fire and was consumed. Loss $400; no insurance.

False Report.

It was reported that a break had occurred in the water main on Geddes street, near the railway track, but on investigation it was found to be groundless. A stream of water has for the past two days been running across the road in the place mentioned, but it appears to be caused by a spring which is in close proximity.

15th Batt.

A battalion drill was held last evening and was the largest turnout of the season. The men, headed by the battalion band, were paraded up to the station, and went put through a number of manœuvres, all of which were creditably performed.

The inspection will take place to-morrow afternoon, the inspecting officer being Deputy Adjutant-General Straubenzie. Paymaster King will also accompany him.

Seventy-eight Weddings in One Year.

The Christian Guardian says :—"Rev. I. M. Hudson, B. A., of Windsor, heads the list in Canada for marriages, last year having helped 78 couples into happiness." At that rate there cannot be many old maids in Windsor or else Mr. Hudson must be supposed to possess some magic which makes marriage by him specially attractive. Mr. Hodson should be invited to Kingston, where it is said their is more maidens of uncertain age than in any other place in the Province.

Poisoned by Head-cheese.

Last Saturday forenoon the family of Mr. John Cronin, Elm street, was stricken down by a sudden illness that bore all the symptoms of poisoning. Of the 5 in the house eight were affected, Mr. Cronin the worst of all, his case at first being considered rather serious. Under proper care, however, they are all recovering. Dr. Brennan was the attending physician. Their illness was evidently caused by some irritant poison, and the family suspect it was contained in some head-cheese they ate the day before. None of the meat was left over, so their suspicions cannot be vertified by analysis. —Peterborough Examiner, Ancient Coins.

Mr. Arthur McGinnis is the possessor of a half penny of Wood's notorious coinage of 1723, which was driven out of Ireland because of its debased value. Mr. McGinnis also has a brass "crown" (5 shilling piece) and a copper "shilling" of the coinage of James I., after he was deposed from the throne of Great Britain. The "crown" is a brass coin ; the "shilling" is of copper, both about the size of a modern cent, and neither is worth more than a cent. No wonder that the Irish Protestants still praise William of Orange for delivering them from brass money, amongst other evils of James' reign.

The Bowling club of this city had presented to them last summer by their President, Charles Lavis, Esq., a pair of handsome ivory bowls, which are to be competed for by the members of the club in single hand games, which was ended yesterday afternoon, upon the last two players playing the final game. Mr. W. H. Ponton came off victorious, beating all his opponents easily, except Thos. Ritchie, Esq., who stood 17 to Mr. Biggar's 21. We congratulate Mr. Biggar on his beautiful play, although the green was not in good working order owing to the lateness of the season, and as this is the second pair he has won this year, we give him all the honors.

A Notorious Crook.

The notorious crook, Fred Ferguson, alias Greenfield, was taken to Peterborough last night by Chief Rorke, who brought him from Buffalo. For some time past negotiations have been going on, having in view the extradition of this scoundrel, and have at last been effected. He is wanted in Peterborough on a number of offences, the last of which he committed on May 2nd, of the present year. On this occasion he robbed the store of H. L. Burgess of $600 worth of goods, which he succeeded in conveying to Buffalo. He had, a short time previous to this, been sentenced to a term in the Central Prison, from which institution he succeeded in escaping. He is represented as being a hard character.

Narrow Escape.

Yesterday afternoon Messrs. J. R. Mikel and James McGuire had a narrow escape of being run over by a gravel train on the Grand Trunk railway. These two gentlemen were driving in a buggy over the railway crossing on Francis street, which is situated between the two overhead bridges, and not being able to see the train, were on the railway track before they were aware of their danger. The train being one used in ballasting and was backing down at the time, being but a few feet from them and running rapidly. The gentlemen affirm that no whistle was blown or any warning whatever given of the approach of the train. They had just cleared the rails when the cars passed them.

Presentation to Miss Sinclair.

Last night a largely attended meeting was held in the Presbyterian church, Madoc, to bid farewell to Miss Sinclair, the young lady missionary to India, who has for several years been a member of the congregation. The pastor—the Rev. David Wishart—made a feeling address, to which Miss Sinclair made an appropriate reply. As evidence of the esteem in which the young lady is held in the church, she was presented by the congregation with a handsome satchel, by the Ladies' Missionary Society with a dressing case, and by the Sunday School with a beautiful bible. The proceedings were most interesting, and remembrance of the occasion will do much to encourage Miss Sinclair in her work in the far-distant field to which she is going to spread the truths of Christianity.

Opera House.

The Zera Semon Company gave another of their interesting performances at the Opera House last evening and were greeted with a large house. Zera Semon at the opening of the entertainment performed a number of tricks, some of which are truly wonderful. The performance of Miss Gilbert and Sig. Giovanni on the musical glasses was much appreciated. The trained canaries are one of the chief features of the performance and the intelligence which they display is truly wonderful. The performance concluded with the presentment of a number of pictures in the air, which should be seen to be appreciated. The gold watch, which was given away, was captured by Master Walter Mills. The company will be at the Opera House the remainder of the week.

Succumbed to His Injuries.

Mr. Jacob Hardy, whom we mentioned in a recent issue as having been severely wounded by the accidental discharge of his gun while hunting deer near Norwood, has succumbed to his injuries. His death took place on Monday last.

Successful Sportsmen.

Mr. S. Eustace had a good day's shooting at the Oak Hills yesterday, his bag being made up of 15 black and grey squirrels, and 5 partridges.

Mr. Robt. Day's son shot five woodcock yesterday. These were as fine birds of their species as were ever seen here.

Creditabe Examination.

Mr. J. F. Tannahill, son of our worthy city treasurer, Robt. Tannahill, Esq., has passed a highly creditable first intermediate examination before the law society at Toronto. The young man passed without an oral and stood 9th on the list. We offer our congratulations. Mr. Tannahill is a student in Mr. Dickson's office.

Inspecting the Fire Department.

Mr. P. M. Wickham, the Inspector of the Queen's Insurance Company (for which Co'y Mr. D. B. Robertson is agent,) was in the city yesterday examining the water works system, and expressed himself as greatly pleased therewith, and also with the improvements in the firemen's halls and appliances. He said, with a system of electric fire alarm boxes, our city could not be surpassed by any other in Canada for fire protection.

A Fine Bird.

On Tuesday of last week Mr. Dennis Ryan shot at and wounded a large bird, which, when finally captured proved to be a golden eagle of an unusually large size. Mr. Hamilton purchased the bird, which is still alive, and will send it to a taxidermist to be duly prepared. Apart from its rarity it is a magnificent specimen. From its great size it is judged to be a female, the length is 3 ft. 4 in., and the wings extend 7 ft. 6 in. from tip to tip.—Hastings Star.

Separate School Board.

A meeting of this board was held last evening, Mr. John Doyle, chairman, presiding. A number of accounts were presented and ordered to be paid. The resignation of Mr. J. J. Kelly, head master of the Separate School, was handed in. It is the intention of Mr. Kelly, after the Christmas holidays, to pursue a course of medicine. The Board will, at the beginning of January, need two teachers, a senior and a junior one. The board then adjourned to meet again at the call of the chairman.

Accidentally Broken Open.

Mr. Donald Urquhart, shoemaker, whose shop is situated upon the second floor of the building on the south corner of Campbell and Front streets, reported to the police this morning that upon his arrival at his place of business he found the shop door broken open. Investigation of the premises, however, revealed the fact that nothing was missing. It was later learned that some members of a company of the 15th Bat. were up there last night and one of the number was accidentally pushed against the door, and the force of the collision broke the lock.

Albert College.

The improvements and repairs which have been going on at Albert College during the summer are rapidly approaching completion, and it is intended to hold the re-opening on Friday evening, Nov. 16th. Addresses will be delivered by Rev. Dr. Potts, Rev. Dr. Burwash, Rev. Dr. Carman and S. B. Burdett, Esq., M. P.

Next week being observed the world over by the Y. M. C. A. as a week of prayer, the meetings will be practically suspended, evening services in the college chapel every evening. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend.

Engaged for Two Years Ahead.

The Winnipeg Sun gives the following, a portion of an interview with Messrs. Crossley and Hunter, who are holding revival services there : Messrs. Crossley and Hunter are really engaged for about two years ahead, and if they accepted all the invitations on hand they would lay out work for four or five years. Next year they purpose visiting Hamilton and London, where they labored successfully for five months previously. This year they were urged to go to Toronto, where they could have spent six months in the Metropolitan, Queen and Elm Street Methodist churches. They do not expect to be able to reach Toronto for a considerable time. From this city the ministers leave for Detroit, where they will hold services in the largest rink in Michigan. From there they will go to Peterborough, Kingston and other cities.

G. T. R. Echoes.

Mr. Jas. Stephenson, General Superintendent of the road, passed here last evening, going eastward to Montreal. He has been west on a tour of inspection, and reports everything as progressing finely. He also found everything at this point in first class order.

The passenger and freight traffic is very brisk at present, especially the former. The east bound train last night being a long one and filled with passengers.

Work was commenced a short distance west of Kingston on Tuesday, on the centre track.

A large number of emigrants passed west yesterday.

Manitoba and Dakota.

A Comparison by a Canadian.

(To the Editor of the Kingston News.)

Since my last letter the weather has been cheering, a cloudless sky, with a pure bracing atmosphere giving vim and vigor to man and beast. Before plunging into Dakota, I spent a day at Morden. This town is situated in the centre of as fertile a tract of land as is on the earth, extending from the Red River to the Pembina on the west, and from the international boundary to Tobacco Creek on the north. The ground is easily tilled and requires no drainage. I have seen a good deal of this continent, but I never saw greater evidence, of agricultural prosperity than it is to be seen here to day By actual count I found 242 teams loaded with wheat, at or coming to the elevators, some of which had nearly $100 worth of wheat on a two-horse load. Wheat is selling here to-day for $1.15 per bushel. Many of these teams are well bred Clydes weighing thirty hundred, and worth $500. All is hurry and bustle. Hotels full, merchants busy, farmers happy, horses fat. Even the clergymen hear were a jolly, smiling, happy face. No wonder, when wheat is $1.15, and thirty bushels to the acre! Flows are going in all directions, turning up the rich, black mould, and preparing it for next year's crop. There is lots of fine timber in sight of Morden, to the west and north. Fuel is cheap, and saved lumber costs only a trifle more than in Ontario.

Land can still be bought within one hour's drive of Morden for $4 to $7 per acre. I drove on to Gretna. This is in the heart of the Mennonites ; lots of wheat coming in. About one-half the teams are oxen. There are all good teams which haul in the heat, and the oxen are all getting fat rich. I have taken train for Dakota, and soon pass the boundary. We run through Pembina county, fine land, well settled. I stop at the town of Hamilton, where we begin to meet signs of frost. I here met a wheat buyer from Dakota. He told me that he had just made a tour of Northern Dakota, and with a few exceptions the wheat was ruined from frost. Oats and barley are also seriously injured. In this town they are now drilling for water and have now reached a depth of one thousand feet, and expect to go eight hundred more. From here south through miles and miles of uncultivated wheat land, I went west to Larimore. Here is the famous Elk Valley farm of sixty thousand acres. Five thousand acres of wheat stand here frozen, and they are now trying to burn it out of the way of the plows. The wheat is nearly all gone in this county. Farmers are discouraged ; many tell me that they will not sow wheat next year. They can't get help unless the elevator companies or the government furnish it, and they see no prospects of that. This county has suffered terribly from frost. In some townships the station is stating the farmers in the face. A strong appeal to charity has been made, and commissioners from St. Paul and Minneota have visited the scene of destruction, a fact which appeared in the Minneapolis Tribune of Oct. 17th, occupying over a column of that paper. It told a tale of frost and its consequences—mortgages, chattel mortgages, 20 per cent. interest and actual suffering, that is heart-breaking ; and it wound up by calling on the Governor to come to the rescue of those people, else starvation would surely ensue ; and those communities do not see one half. I went carefully over that section. But no language of mine could describe the misfortune of those people in trying to "farm in Dakota." Never in my life I wished for one half of Rothschild's wealth. What an opportunity here to do good with it ! At most of the towns named flour is selling for $3.60 per 100 pounds, and worth $5.00 here. In this section about half the wheat is gone ; the balance is more or less injured. Wages are higher in Manitoba than in Dakota, and everything seems to be done on a cash basis. Wood and coal costs only a little more than half in Manitoba that it does in Dakota. Land can be bought in Manitoba from $4 to $8 per acre, every foot of which will grow hard wheat, all kinds of grain or roots ; taxes are low, good roads, railways, schools, churches, and I strongly advise young men of Ontario who have made up their minds to go west, to carefully examine Southern Manitoba and its agricultural possibilities. Go to the homes of the farmers, see what they have and are doing, and I think you will be more than satisfied with the Prairie Province.

Your obedient servant,
AGRICOLA.

Madoc Correspondence.

MADOC, Nov. 6, 1888.

Last Thursday the village was treated to a complete surprise, when it was known that James Latimer, one of Madoc's merchants, had decided his fate and silently skipped out for "the land of the free, and the home of the free," leaving a large number of creditors to mourn his sudden departure. He borrowed money from all who would let him have it. His method was to go to a person likely to accommodate him, saying he was short $10 to pay a note, and would pay it back in a day or two. Some he stuck for $15, and some for larger amounts. One of our merchants endorsed his note for $175, and will have the pleasure of paying it. Mr. Latimer came here from Belleville, having been in the employ of Mr. P. Hambly for a number of years.

Mr. John D. Breeze, late of Bridgewater, but now of Toronto, was in town on Saturday, looking well. He reports business good. Mr. Breeze is part owner of some fine stone quarries and makes large shipments to Toronto.

Mr. Alexander Palmer, a farmer living about two miles from the village, last Saturday evening retired for the night in apparent good health. Next morning he was found dead in bed. His funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon and was largely attended.

—A Calcutta ferry steamer was sunk by collision and 60 persons drowned.

—Two dynamite bombs were exploded in Paris yesterday, doing much damage.

—There were 391 deaths in Montreal last month, of which 15 were from typhoid 31 from diphtheria.

—It is now finally settled that Hon. Arthur S. Hardy, Provincial Secretary in Mr. Mowat's Government, is to take over the crown lands department, and that Col. Gibson, of Hamilton, will succeed Mr. Hardy. Mr. Pardee's recovery is not looked for, though his colleagues insist on his remaining in the Cabinet to the last.

—The steamer "Empress of India" is in Kingston with 4000 barrels of apples and a large quantity of other freight from Picton, which it was intended to take to Montreal. The apples are consigned to England, but they will probably be sold at points between Kingston and Montreal, as the cost will be too much to send on in view of translshipment and the depressed state of the European market.

TORONTO TOPICS.

A Chicagoan Fleeced by Skin Gamblers—"Phip" Spoke in Hot Water.

TORONTO, Nov. 8.—Liquidators Howland, Gooderham and Lye of the Central Bank yesterday presented the name of William Ralph Meredith, Q.C., of London to Master Hodgins for confirmation as the successor of the late Mr. Foster as their solicitor. The Master at once confirmed the selection, and complimented the liquidators on their choice. Mr. Meredith was in town yesterday and left in the evening for London.

W. H. Payne, a stranger from Chicago, presented himself at Police Headquarters yesterday and swore out warrants against Ted Fawcett, Henry alias "Slim" Wynne, and Fewley on a charge of having swindled him out of $150 in a skin game of poker. Wynne was the only one of the party arrested up to a late hour last night, Detectives Davis and Stenin effecting his capture. Although Payne is from the rapid city of Chicago, the home of brace faro games, keno sharps and crooked poker players, he fell, as he claims, an easy victim to a put-up job by which he was fleeced out of $150. He was steered by Fawcett to No. 21 Mercer-street, and there despoiled of his cash by various methods known to the professional card player.

A general information was sworn out against "Phip" Spohn by Staff-Inspector Archibald yesterday, and his friend, "Major" E. W. Crane, were charged in the Police Court with keeping a gaming house at No. 15½ King street west. "Phip" wanted to compromise matters by offering through his lawyer, Ald. Galbraith, to close up his game if the police would let him go. He would not ask for the return of the tools which the police had seized. County Crown Attorney Hodgins would not consent to any such arrangement, and "Phip" and the "Major" were booked for a hearing next Monday, their own bail being accepted for their appearance.

The dismissed G. T. R. conductors are awaiting a reply from the company's headquarters at Montreal, to their demand for information as to the cause of their being cut off the roll. They have placed the matter before the Brotherhood of Conductors, which will also take action.

At the residence of the bride's mother, in Queen's Park, yesterday afternoon there took place a charming wedding which made man and wife of Mr. Augustine Foy, barrister-at-law, and Miss Annie Crawford, youngest daughter of the late Lieut.-Col. F. W. Cumberland, and sister of Mr. Barlow Cumberland, M.P. Father Laurent, assisted by Rev Father Brennan, officiated.

The Jeffery case crops up in some way nearly every day. The latest addition to the voluminous literature of the subject is the publication this morning of Treasurer Gage's denial of Rev. Mr. Jeffery's charges touching an alleged failure to account for a portion of the building fund. The treasurer is backed up by the auditors and trustees.

A Toronto Girl's Escapade.

PETERBORO, Nov. 8.—In August last a young man of this place struck Toronto with $300 in his pocket. While seeking the elephant he met a young lady, fell desperately in love with her and, as his affections were reciprocated, they were married. The couple then came here and started housekeeping in the southern part of the town, and the river of their married life ran as smoothly and as peacefully as the Otonabee for some time. It finally was discovered that this young wife was corresponding with a young man in Toronto with whom she had "kept company" before her marriage. The husband worked in the upper part of the mill, but he was driven away his wife sold all their belongings and took the train for Toronto.

Burglary at Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Nov. 8.—Seven or eight pairs of buckskin gloves were stolen out of Messrs. Gardner & Thompson's store yesterday morning. A hole, about six inches across, was found in the cellar door near the ground. Some hats were near the hole, but they were too big to be taken out. The place was not entered and nothing has been missed.

James Cushing's Injuries.

ELORA, Nov. 8.—Tuesday evening James Cushing, a farmer, was returning home, when his horses became unmanageable and turned sharply, throwing out the occupant with the load on top of him. The man lay for about fifteen minutes before he was discovered, and it is feared that he is injured internally, besides being scratched about the head and face.

The Drayton Post in Trouble.

GUELPH, Nov. 8.—T. Claude Dean, post, litterateur, etc., of Drayton, was charged with an action for libel was brought at the assizes here by H. S. Mitchell, offered to apologize and damages to the tune of $100 costs and $50 costs. This was accepted by the plaintiff and a verdict rendered accordingly.

BABY'S SKIN AND SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by CUTICURA REMEDIES.

Our oldest child, now six years of age, when an infant six months old was attacked with a virulent, malignant skin disease. All ordinary remedies failing, we called our family physician who attempted to cure it ; but it spread with almost incredible rapidity, until the lower portion of the little fellow's person, from the middle of the back down to his knees, was one solid rash, ugly, painful, blotched and malignant. We had no rest at night, no peace by day. Finally, we were advised to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES. The effect was simply marvellous. In three or four weeks a complete cure was wrought, leaving the little fellow's skin as white and healthy as though he had never been attacked. In my opinion your valuable remedies saved his life, and to-day he is a strong, healthy child, perfectly well, no repetition of the disease having ever occurred. LEO R. SMITH,

CLEAR SKIN, PURE BLOOD,

No mother, who loves her children, who takes pride in their beauty, purity, and health, and in preserving them from a child's greatest inheritance,—a skin with out a blemish, and a body nourished by pure blood—would fail to make trial of the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

I have seen the CUTICURA REMEDIES used for milk crust by a visitor in my house, and can testify that the cure was speedy and permanent. I have also used them myself for all descriptions of the skin on my little child, with satisfactory results in every respect. The skin was broken out and began to assume ugly sores. I have also heard my neighbors speak of the CUTICURA REMEDIES in the highest terms. E. P. BAAR,

The Dangerous Coal Oil.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—The explosion of poorly-refined coal oil is the cause of another accidental burning. A little girl named Beauchamp, living on Maple street, while helping her mother in domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while resting on the table Her burning clothing was only torn from her with much difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quick y summoned and the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

—o—

Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined Oil a considerable quantity of inferior Coal Oil is being sold.

In order to avoid these low grades we have taken the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil:

'CARBON SAFETY OIL'

A specially refined and superior grade of Canada Oil,

ASTRAL OIL,

A high grade American Oil.

These we can most confidently recommend to our retail trade as goods that will give entire satisfaction.

We are also fully supplied with Water White and Prime White American Oil and the usual brands of Canadian Oil.

A Quarter of a Century.

For more than twenty five years has Hagyard's Yellow Oil been sold by druggists, and it has never yet failed to give satisfaction as a household remedy for pain, lameness and soreness of the flesh, for external and internal use in all painful complaints.

FEVER AND AGUE AND BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS are positively cured by the use of Parmelee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, causing them to pour copious effusions from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

To lessen mortality and stop the inroads of disease, use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. For all diseases arising from impure blood, such as Pimples, Blotches, Biliousness, Indigestion, etc., etc., it has no equal. Mrs. Thomas Smith, Elm, writes : "I am using this medicine for Dyspepsia, and have tried many remedies, but this is the only one that has done me any good."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakens as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind. 343dwly

YOUNG MEN suffering from the effects of early evil habits, the result of ignorance or folly, who find themselves weak, nervous, and exhausted; also MIDDLE AGED and OLD MEN, who are broken down from the effects of abuse or over-work, and in advanced life find the consequences of youthful excess, send for and READ M. V. Lubon's Treatise on Diseases of Men. The book will be sent sealed to any address on receipt of two 3c. stamps. Address M. V. LUBON, 47 Wellington S t., Toronto. 193dlwly

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarefies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc, if attended to in time are easily subdued, but allowed to run their own course, generally prove the fore-runner of more dangerous diseases. Nine tenths of the consumptives date their affliction from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. Check the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Hickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state

Rest and Comfort to the Suffering.

"Brown's Household Panacea" has no equal for relieving pain, both internal and externa It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. "It will not surely quicken the blood and Heal, as its acting power is wonderful." "Brown's Household Panacea," being acknowledged as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family handy for use when wanted, "as it really is the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the Stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds, and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cts a bottle.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, etc., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City.

The Child of Waterloo.

BY GEORGE W. M. REYNOLDS.

'Well, I don't think you is; for I never come a-nigh such a jolly old hass in all my life. What do you want? Haven't I told you I send him packing when he comes acrunch on my blessed stomach? haven't I told you he had the knife? Bother you, can't you make yourself comfortable, and go to sleep like a Christian, and let other Christians do so as well?'

The counsel saw that nothing whatever was to be made of Troubled Tom, and thought that the best part of valor was discretion, so he sat down, amid the stifled laughter of every one in court.

The further progress of the trial consisted in the production of papers found upon the person of Sternhelde, which were of such a nature as proved they must have belonged to the young traveller at the inn. They related to the history of Colonel Rouselli, and contained the written instructions of the old Monsieur Rouselli, in order to enable his young relative to trace out the abode of Mabel.

Thus a train of circumstantial evidence against him was produced, which was as perfect as any case depending upon circumstantial evidence could be, and every one felt, when the counsel for the defence rose, that he would, indeed, have a difficult task to perform, if he thought he could do away with the strong impression of Sternhelde's guilt, which was in the minds of the jury.

The whole conduct of the prisoner was incompatible with an idea of innocence, and it would be a matter of great difficulty to strain the circumstances that had been sworn to, into a presumption otherwise than unfavorable to him.

But still, difficult as was the task, counsel was bound to essay it, and, accordingly, with an assumption of confidence and cheerfulness which only deceives the most ignorant spectators of legal proceedings, the already much discomfited counsel for the defense rose to speak in favor of Sternhelde, the murderer.

Perhaps curiosity to know what he would say as much influenced all present to preserve the deathlike stillness that they did, as any other feeling; for upon the real question, as regarded the guilt or innocence of the prisoner, nor unprejudiced mind entertained a doubt.

The learned person seemed fully aware of the bad impression he had created by the utter failure of the cross-examination to which he had subjected the witnesses for the prosecution, and his efforts were evidently devoted to the task of doing away as much as he could with that unfavorable impression.

The counsel having had his say, like a man of discretion sat down, leaving certainly behind him a sort of bewildering impression on the minds of the jury, that what he had said might be true, and probably a great dread of convicting an innocent man.

We before stated that Mabel had been subpœnaed on this trial by both sides, so that the counsel for the defence, considering that she could prove nothing but what he had it fully in his power to prove from other sources, declined harassing her by legal examination.

He had at the least idea, of course, of the defence to be set up; but still, if Mabel now were called, it gave him an opportunity, if he thought proper, of putting any question to her, as well as commenting upon her evidence.

'Courage, Mabel,' whispered Captain Morton to her as he felt her small hand trembling in his, when she heard the announcement that she was to be dragged forward to take part in the criminal proceedings. 'Courage, dear Mabel; you can have no difficulty in stating that which you know, whether it work for or against the unhappy man at the bar.'

'I will not shrink,' she said, 'I will not shrink—no one should under such circumstances; I will do my duty.'

'That is no more than I expected from you,' he returned, encouragingly. 'Now, Mabel, now—you're expected.'

The name of Mabel Rouselli resounded through the court, and when she stepped into the witness box, and the oath was administered to her, her exquisite beauty attracted the attention of all who saw her. She was pale—very pale for a few moments; but then, as her color gradually returned, there was not a heart in court that did not feel a reluctance at the idea of one who was so young and so beautiful, having to go through so uncomfortable an ordeal.

'I will detain you,' said the counsel, 'Miss Rouselli, as short a time as possible; but it has become absolutely necessary, for the furtherance of the ends of public justice, that you should occupy the position you now do.'

The counsel paused as if expecting a reply; but Mabel inclined her head, and then proceeded.

'Were you at the commission of this murder, which is now the subject of judicial investigation, at Morton Hall?'

'I was.'

'And it was soon after that circumstance that the occurrence took place which forced you from the care of Captain Morton and his family, to place you under the doubtful guardianship of others in whom you had no confidence—the prisoner at the bar, in fact, I believe by stratagem, took you from your home?'

'He did.'

'Was he alone in that adventure? and, if not, will you explain, as nearly as you can, to the court and to the jury, the kind of associate or associates he had in it?'

'He had one associate—a desperate man, like himself of strange appearance, and ruffianly manners.'

'And this man, I presume, in costume presented no flourishing appearance; in fact I suppose he assimilated somewhat to the ragged aspect of the prisoner at the bar, when first you saw him?'

'He certainly did so.'

'I have no further questions to ask of you; perhaps my learned friend for the prosecution may be anxious to say something.'

'Not in the least,' said the other counsel. 'I'm quite content to let you assume all the advantage you can from this circumstance, and have no comment to make. The case is over, unless you have more witnesses to call.'

'None—none—there must be an acquittal.'

The judge proceeded now to sum up, and spoke nearly as follows :—

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites

Is very palatable and much better than the plain oil. Dr. W. H. Cameron, of Halifax, N. S., says : "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver oil with Hypophosphites for the past two years and found it more agreeable to the stomach, and have better results from its use than any other preparation of the kind I have ever tried." Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

CATARRH.

A New Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the interlining membrane of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes. The eminent scientists, Tyndall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made oftener then once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before an application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon first discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease.

So highly are these remedies valued that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy a parasite, of which they know nothing, by remedies, of the results of the application of which they are equal ignorant. Mr. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effect a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases.

Mr. Dixon sends a pamphlet describing his new treatment on receipt of stamp to pay postage. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son, 303 King street west, Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Among the Indians.

"While my husband was trading in furs he came among the Indians and was taken to his lodge to die. He had inward pains and pains in all his limbs. He gave some Yellow Oil internally and applied it externally and cured him. He has cured my husband of rheumatism, and I find it valuable for coughs and colds, sore throat, etc." Mrs. A. Beaw, Cook's Mills, Serpant River, Ont.

Give Them a Chance?

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery It is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrah, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this fox certain.

The Modus Operandi.

The mode of operating of Burdock Blood Bitters is that it acts at once and at the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and the Blood, to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in Diseases of the Blood.

Large Scrotal Hernia.

The change of late years in the treatment of Rupture is really surprising. Only a few years ago large Scrotal Hernia or Rupture could not be held by Trusses; now Mr. C. Cluthe, Surgical Machinist, offers them in every case a success or no charge. He goes even further than this; he offers a 300 mile return ticket on any railroad to any one who can figure he cannot hold. Mr. Cluthe is a responsible man, and above the reproach of taking advantage of people for the sake of the price of a Truss. This can be substantiated by the testimony of our most worthy physicians throughout the land, to whose patients his visits have proved such a comfort.

Cured By B. B. B. When all Else Fail ed.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrah, Asthma and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderfu curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this receipt, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. VOX POPULI VOX DEI.

NOT THE LEAST DOUBT ABOUT HARRISON'S ELECTION.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The election returns to-day are very nearly complete in the Republican victory. New York, Indiana and California are as certainly Republican as New Jersey and Connecticut are Democratic. There remains one doubtful state—West Virginia—and the latest returns, showing considerable Republican gains, indicate that the state has swung away from the "solid south."

According to the latest returns the roll of states in the Electoral College stands:

Total Electoral Vote	401
Necessary to a Choice	201
Harrison and Morton	233
Cleveland and Thurman	162
Doubtful (West Virginia)	6

In 1884 the vote of the Electoral College was:

Cleveland and Hendricks	219
Blaine and Logan	182

New York (37) and Indiana (13) are the Republican gains secured, with West Virginia (6) still doubtful.

The Tariff Issue.

ALBANY, Nov. 9.—Governor Hill in a speech last night said that Democrats must face the issue and that tariff reform as courageously and unflinchingly raised in President Cleveland, and that issue must be the party's platform in the main until its triumph has been accomplished.

Depew Will Not Be in the Cabinet.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—In an interview Chauncey M. Depew states that Cleveland's chance was good for a walk over until he sent his message to Congress, and until it was embodied in the Mills Bill. That action placed the Democrats on the defensive and lost them the election. Mr. Depew says the tariff must be revised; but the protective principle must be preserved. Mr. Depew said he would not accept a seat in Harrison's Cabinet, if offered.

A Weather-cock Policy Unprofitable.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The Globe says: President Cleveland has not gained anything by leasing with the fisheries question nor by brusque, rude treatment of Lord Sackville. It is satisfactory to find that even in America a weathercock policy is not always profitable. Their defeat is a heavy blow to the Democrats. It may help to compromise Mr. Blaine for his previous failure, as he will probably become Secretary of State. But Blaine may not be able to revive the remarkable foreign policy which helped to create distrust and secure his defeat, but his alliance or understanding with the Irish element may not tend to soften his conduct in international affairs.

Friends in Both Camps.

DUBLIN, Nov. 9.—United Ireland expresses indifference at the result of the Presidential election in the United States, as it says it has friends in "both camps." Harrison, the paper thinks, owes his election to the Sackville affair, as the Irish voters suspected President Cleveland of being friendly with Lord Salisbury. "While it is flattering to the Irish to be able to turn the scale in such a contest, the fact is regrettable, as it is also humiliating and menacing to America. The Irish vote exists as a separate and menacing factor to American politics, because the fact that Ireland is without Home Rule rankles as a spear-head in the relations between the English speaking races. It would be cheaper for America to establish Home Rule in Ireland, even at the cost of a war with Great Britain. We need not comment upon the value to England of a settlement of the Irish question."

TORONTO TOPICS.

A Shower of Bullets—Policeman Welch's Peril—Chevalier MacDonell.

TORONTO, Nov. 9.—Policeman John Welsh was within an inch of being shot when he was deliberately fired at by one of two men walking on the opposite side of the street. The first shot missed him, but before he fired a second, the man doing the popping walking into the road to take better aim. About this moment Welsh thought it time to defend himself, and drawing his revolver fired at his assailan, with the object, however of only frightening him. Nothing daunted the man fired a third shot, but none of the three shots took effect. Welsh, realizing that his life was in danger, then began firing in earnest. Then his assailant started to run towards Queen-street, Welsh continuing to fire with the object of winging him. He succeeded in bringing him down by a shot in the leg. When taken to the station the man gave his name as John Kennedy from Rochester.

The Mayor yesterday had an interview with the Attorney-General with reference to the $200,000 that is required to complete the Don improvements, now at a standstill owing to the appropriation having run out. Mayor Mowat said his government would in all probability authorize the City Treasurer to at once borrow the necessary sum without waiting for the people to vote on the matter. Dec. 13. This means that the Government will pass the necessary legislation when the House meets and the work can go ahead at once.

Mr. Henry Godson, Inspector of Inland Revenue for the district of Toronto, received of a telegram from Hon. John Costigan last evening stating that ex-Ald. James Pepler had been appointed Inspector of Hides for Toronto.

There was a private meeting of the council of the Imperial Federation League of Canada at the Queen's Hotel yesterday. A committee was appointed with instructions to take steps towards the holding in Canada of a conference of colonial representatives. Steps were taken with regard to the establishment of more branch leagues throughout the Dominion and for the facilitating of the circulation of the league organ, Imperial Federation.

W. J. MacDonell, the aged Vice Consul of France, who is best known in Toronto by his connection with many public charities, has been honored with the distinction of being created a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor of France.

Fell Down the Hold.

MONTREAL, Nov. 9.—About 8.30 o'clock last night a man named James O'Hagan whilst walking on the deck of the Dominion line steamer Quebec fell into the hold a depth of fifteen feet on to a lot of deals. In falling he turned a somersault and alighted on his feet and fell. When picked up he was insensible. The ambulance of the General Hospital was telephoned for and the injured man conveyed to that institution. On the doctors examining the man it was found that he had sprained both his ankles and was suffering from internal injuries. On enquiry at a late hour he was reported to be doing as well as could be expected.

IS SHE OFF TO FILLIBUSTER?

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The report that the United States steamer cutter Chandler had cleared down the bay Monday night the Clyde line steamship Saginaw, supposed to have on board a large quantity of arms and ammunition for the use of the rebellious inhabitants of Hayti, caused considerable consternation among shipping circles.

It was a fruitless expedition for Uncle Sam's little cutter, for the Saginaw had several hours' start and was a good distance seaward when plucky Capt. Smith started to overhaul her. As to whether she really carries the contraband articles which the Haytian Consul in this city thinks she does, opinion differs. Her actions after leaving the quay, however, were very suspicious, and the explanations given by the Clyde line people are not considered very satisfactory. The Saginaw left her wharf at the foot of Wall street about 11 o'clock Monday morning. The operator at Sandy Hook says that after steaming down in the forenoon she disappeared on her course to the south. At 2.30 p.m. he observed her coming back. She came to anchor in the Horseshoe and remained there until late in the afternoon. She passed out at 6 o'clock on her way south and was not again seen. The operator at the Hook had complete observation of the movements of the steamer but failed to see anything suspicious going on about her.

It is said that while the steamer was at anchor off the bay a lighter went alongside of her and transferred to her large quantities of powder, small fire-arms and cannon. It is almost certain that no lighter passed through the Narrows, for if it did the seamen say it could easily have been seen, but instead of going down through the Narrows Capt. Smith, of the Chandler, is of the opinion that a lighter did approach the steamer through the Kills by the way of Perth Amboy. The Haytian authorities also assert that a tug was seen alongside the Saginaw, and that Gen. Papillon, who is said to be the leader of the insurrectionists who are attempting to overthrow the present Government of Hayti, and his staff were seen to get aboard the steamer.

Gen. Papillon resided in this country from Hayti only a few weeks ago. As soon as he and his staff got aboard the steamer began her journey to run the Haytian blockade, it is said.

The Clyde line people are very indignant about the published reports, and characterize them as nonsense. They declare most positively that the steamer does not, to their knowledge, carry any contraband articles and is not on a filibustering expedition. "The Saginaw is not going to Hayti," said a representative of the line. "She was to have stopped at that island, but in consequence of the revolution there, and the fact that her ports are closed against all foreign vessels, the idea of touching at Hayti was given up. It is simply absurd to say that we did not take certain cargo to make room for the munitions of war, which it is said the Saginaw took aboard down the bay. It is a fact, however, that there is a large quantity of freight on our pier which the Saginaw did not take. This is general merchandise consigned to parties in Hayti. When we concluded not to touch at Hayti we refused to take it."

He admitted that one of Raymond's tugs went down to the steamer to take off a Mr. Hand of Philadelphia, who went down to the Hook to adjust a new binnacle compass, which was placed in the steamer last week. Mr. Hand went down the bay, he said, to "swing" the compass, claiming that to do this it was necessary to head the steamer towards the various points of the compass to ascertain whether the needle was true or not.

THE PACIFIC CABLES.

What is Being Done to Promote the Scheme in London and Australia.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Systematic efforts are being made to promote the Pacific cable project. It is believed that the recent frequent breaks in the existing cables and the promises of hearty Australian assistance is leading the Imperial Government to adopt a more favorable attitude than was evinced at the Colonial Conference. A public meeting of city merchants and others will be held on November 22 to urge the Admiralty to expedite the survey now being made on the received of the operations of the steamer Egeria are stated to confirm the previous accounts of the practicability of the Pacific in the line of the proposed cable.

Glenelg Mills Burned.

ALVINSTON, Nov. 9.—The Glenelg flour mills, owned by William and J. G. Greey, of Toronto, were destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. There were over 8000 bushels of wheat besides a large quantity of flour and feed stored in the mill, which is a total loss. The fire is supposed to have been caused by a lamp explosion. The insurance is not known. The total loss is over $20,000. Warner's woolen mills, situated near the fire, was saved by the hard work of the citizens. Several dwelling houses and barns in the village caught fire from flying cinders, but were saved without much damage.

A Smashup in a Fog.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—A dense foggy atmosphere prevailed in this section yesterday morning and one of its results was a railway smash-up near Cragin, a suburban station on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad. A heavy freight train crashed into the rear of a passenger train, smashing two cars and fatally injuring the conductor in the rear car. Passengers in the other cars were badly shaken and some slightly hurt.

A Canadian Horse Wins.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—At the National horse Show at Madison square garden last evening, the Canadian horse Salisbury, owned by Dr. Moorhouse of Toronto, won the first prize for the best pair, driven over six successive jumps, 4 feet high, beating such clever performers over timber as Theo, Majestic, Funch and fifteen others.

Ford Did Not Poison His Wife.

HUDSON, N. Y., Nov. 9.—The jury in the second trial of Andrew S. Ford, charged with poisoning his wife, has rendered a verdict of not guilty. The prisoner, who has been confined in jail for over a year, received the warm congratulations of his friends on his discharge.

The Only Exception.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The Radical Star is the only paper to disparage the knighthood of Mr. Blake, Governor of Newfoundland, and his appointment as Governor of Queensland. Newfoundland's new Governor, Sir Terence O'Brien, now Governor of Heligoland, has seen much active service in India.

Tried to Save Him and Both Were Lost.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Henry Koehler, a prosperous saloonkeeper, while suffering from delirium tremens, last night threw himself into the north branch of the river. His wife Caroline tried to drag her husband out and was herself dragged into the river. Before help came both were drowned.

She Failed to Cremate Herself.

COLUMBUS, Wis., Nov. 9.—A widow named Brower fastened her young son outdoors, lay down on her bed, and set it on fire. Her son called the neighbors who broke open the house and saved the woman, who was unconscious but little injured. Mental depression from sickness was the cause.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.
Valuable to Know.
Consumption may be more easily prevented than cured. The irritating and harassing cough will be greatly relieved by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

Dangerous Counterfeits.
Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. For sale by all druggists or sent post-paid on receipt of price (50c. and $1.), by addressing Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Rare Combination.
There is no other remedy or combination of medicines that meets so many requirements, as does Burdock Blood Bitters in its wide range of power over such Chronic diseases as Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Complaint, Scrofula and all humors of the blood.

There are a number of varieties of corns. Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them. Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

Orin Catlin, 49 Pearl Street Buffalo, N. Y., says: I tried various remedies for the piles but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications.

MRS. GEORGE LEECH, Hadimand Township, has received more benefit from two bottles of Dawling's Pepsin Compound, than anything she has ever taken in her life. She has been troubled with biliousness, loss of appetite and constipation for years. Now she has none of these troubles. People write to her and see how she will recommend you to take Dawling's Pepsin Compound if you are Dyspeptic.

The cheapest medicine in use is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, because so very little of it is required to effect a cure. For croup, diphtheria, and dis-ases of the lungs and throat, whether used for bathing the chest and throat, for taking internally or inhaling it is a matchless compound.

Dowling's Little Liver Granules are highly recommended for all diseases of the liver.

Mr. Thomas Ballard, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I have been afflicted for nearly a year with that most-to be dreaded disease Dyspepsia, and at times worn out with pain and want of sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended I tried one box of Parmelee's Valuable Pills. I am now nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money."

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specifically upon the digestive organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of these Pills that we are justified in the assertion that they will cure more diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body.' Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

Belleville's follow the example of Mrs. Geo. Leech, of Haldimand, and many others, and rid yourselves of that dire disease, dyspepsia and indigestion.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites.
Is very palatable and much better than the plain oil. Dr. W. H. Cameron, of Halifax, N. S., says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver oil with Hypophosphites for the past two years and found it more agreeable to the stomach, and have better results from its use than any other preparation of the kind I have ever tried." Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

Strange, but Still True.
Mrs. David Carstairs, Haldimand Township, met with a very pleasant surprise a few weeks ago. It seems Mrs. Carstairs has suffered a great deal from dyspepsia and indigestion, the symptoms of which were, pains in the stomach and bowels, and sick headache. She has tried a great many physicians, and an unlimited amount of patent medicines, but without any success; and last but not least, she tried Dowling's Pepsin Compound, and one bottle has removed both pain and ache. She returns the kindest regards to P. E. Dowling & Co., Kingston, Ont., for his magnificent remedy. Belleveilites, take pattern by this woman, and ask your Druggist for it.

A Wrong Opinion.
Many a dollar is paid for prescriptions for some disease that never troubles the patient, and when the sole difficulty was some, which a few of Freeman's Worm Powders would remove. These Powders are pleasant to take, safe, sure, certain their own cathartic, and are adapted for children or adults.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of these chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, worn-out, "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an upbuilding cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervousness, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional disease and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skilful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppression, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

Large bottles (100 doses) $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

COLLEGE HONORS.

"Kicker," writing to the Globe in contradiction of the common saying that the clever school boys never achieve distinction in after life, incidentally brings out the fact that seven Belleville boys have won the highest honors at school in competition with alcomers. In support of his contention "Kicker" publishes a list of the head boys of Upper Canada College, from 1830 3 to 1888, in which Belleville has no less than seven representatives, namely:

James G. Grier	1848
Charles W. Bell	1862
W. H. Biggar	1872
W. B. Northrop	1876
A. D. Ponton	1877
J. E. Jones	1884
G. Biggar	1885

Belleville, it will thus be seen, has had a very large share of the honors of Upper Canada College—a larger share, we are safe in saying, in proportion to the number of pupils furnished by it, than any other place represented at the school.

So far as the Belleville head boys are concerned, they have certainly shown the falsity of the old saying above referred to.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

The Syracuse Herald, a journal which is usually well informed, says that it is rumored that Lord Sackville will be offered the position of "Lieutenant-General of the Dominion of Canada." If Lord Sackville has to chase around after this imaginary office, he will be weary before he discovers it.

The Democrats of the United States say that the late campaign was an educational one, and that there are more well-informed political economists in their country to-day than there were a year ago. Well, how do they like the result?

The Nationalist paper, La Justice, of Quebec, which is owned and edited by Col. Amyot, M. P., takes the opportunity afforded by the erection at Ottawa of a monument to two sharpshooters who fell at Cut Knife, to vent its wretched spite upon our volunteers who so gallantly fought on that noted field. Col. Amyot is unwise. Comparison of the conduct of the men who fought at Cut Knife with that of his own command, would not redound to the credit of the latter.

The Moncton Times remarks: "The same paper which argues that the consumer pays the duty is equal to the contention that the producer will be advantaged by the removal of the duty. It is all quite too funny for anything."

There is comfort for the Toronto World in the fact that one of the western states has chosen a Butter Candidate as its Governor.

The Irish Canadian is stirred to the soles of its brogans by the fact that there is but one Roman Catholic at the Council board in Toronto. Why don't the modest Mr. Boyle seek election or appointment to all the positions to which he alleges Irishmen of the same religious faith as himself ought to be chosen? We charge nothing for the suggestion, which would, if carried into effect, make of Mr. Boyle a Milesian Pooh-Bah—of course without the corrupt accessories. The chief difficulty would be in the number of claims which Mr. Boyle would put forth on behalf of his suffering nationality, as personified in himself.

Correspondence.

Whilst correspondents will be accorded space for the expression of their ideas on topics of public interest, it must be in all cases understood that the views so expressed are simply those of the correspondents themselves.

Grain Market

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR,—It strikes the city hard and the farmers yet harder the miserable price our Quinte buyers pay for our staple grain—barley. Belleville price 65c @68c.; and I notice by Toronto papers of to day that "values appear to have been steady," but the total movement rather limited. "In the latter half of last week buyers and "sellers seemed to be apart, but one cargo "of No. 1 sold at 73½, F O B and No. 2 "extra changed hands at 60c @70c, F O C. "On Monday there was rather an improved feeling visible, with sales of No. 2 "lying inside at 74c, being equal to 76c. "here, of No. 2 at 72 outside, and on Tuesday also the feeling was steady, with "sales of No. 2 at 73c, of extra No. 2 at "70c, 71c, and on Wednesday with sales "of No. 1 at 75c F O C." At Peterboro' yesterday barley No. 1 70c @72c., and yet buyers here are in many mains from Fort Hope, the shipping point, and all the attending cost ceased by freight and the handling at Port Hope, which is saved when farmers deliver at the elevator in this city.

There can only be one conclusion for those interested to come to, i. e., that the farmer on this corner is not fairly treated and does not receive what he ought, or otherwise the Peterboro' and Toronto dealers are most awful fools. Yours,

GEO. A. SKINNER.

Belleville, Nov. 8, 1888.

A Female Paradox.

A lady, old and growing older still,
(As ladies will grow old, you know,) became,
In spite of age, as young as youth—but ill,
And old, and wretched, feeble, lame, and sore,
A lady young became in spite of youth,
A ladies man—and why? Because forsooth,
That keeps a lady young, they fail to grasp,
And yielding to disease, die in its fatal clasp.
That truth is that woman's weaknesses may be
Subdued by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

MANITOBA'S LEGISLATURE

PREMIER GREENWAY DENIES THE NEWSPAPER CHARGES.

A Resolution for a Royal Commission to Investigate the Subject Adopted—The Speech From the Throne.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 9.—The Legislature met yesterday afternoon. The speech from the throne intimates that the reason for calling the House together is to consider the propriety of petitioning the Queen and to have the position of the Province in its relation to the Dominion clearly determined.

Premier Greenway entered upon an exhaustive reply to the charges of boodling brought by The Call and Free Press, and denounced them as falsehoods, quoting from letters from Solicitor Macarthur of the Manitoba Central to his brother-in-law to show how little foundation there was for them.

After recess Mr. Greenway moved a resolution for a Royal Commission to investigate the charges, which was adopted and the house adjourned.

The session will probably last ten days.

The Manitoba Central deny any connection with the boodling charges.

THE FRENCH NAVY.

PARIS, Nov. 9.—In the Chamber of Deputies yesterday M. Dreyfus moved that the 42,000,000f. asked by the Government to fortify the harbors of Cherbourg, be spent in building cruisers and torpedo boats. The German and Italian navies, he said, were superior to the French navy, and the German Government was about to demand 250,000,000 marks to build more vessels.

Admiral Krantz, Minister of Marine, said that when the Germans demanded that amount he would demand a similar sum. [Applause.] The French navy should not be underestimated. The year 1889 would see it in a respectable condition.

M. Dreyfus withdrew his motion.

Mr. Dorian moved to reduce the estimate for naval supplies by 1,500,000 francs.

Admiral Krantz opposed the motion urging that the full amount was necessary in order to complete the storing of coal.

The Budget Committee accepted the motion, whereupon Admiral Krantz said that he should regard it as a mark of want of confidence.

This declaration caused great excitement and M. Dorian withdrew his motion and declined to participate any further in the debate.

An Astounding Find.

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—In addition to the unbidden letters from the late Emperor Frederick found in Count von Bismarck's house the police discovered in a secret drawer in a writing desk two bundles of telegrams and letters from Frederick, written when he was Crown Prince; his wife, Queen Victoria, the Prince of Wales, Prince Alexander of Battenberg, Dr. Mackenzie, the Duke of Cumberland, Count von Seckendorf, Dr. Arndhorst and others.

He Desires No Addresses.

VIENNA, Nov. 9.—Emperor Francis Joseph has officially intimated that it is his special wish that on the occasion of the anniversary of his accession to the throne he shall receive neither addresses nor deputations and that no fetes be held that would involve expense. He desires that his accession be commemorated with acts of public charity.

Italian Emigration to America.

ROME, Nov. 9.—In the Chamber of Deputies yesterday Signor Unjaro questioned the conditions under which emigration to America was effected. He withdrew the question on Premier Crispi making an explanation, but he intends to speak on the same subject in the debate on the Emigration Bill.

Robbed His Brother.

MONTREAL, Nov. 9.—A young man named Patrick Carroll, about 25 years of age, was arrested last night by Sergeant Charbonneau and Constable Gauthier, on St. Maurice-street, for stealing a coat, valued at $20, and a silk umbrella, valued at $5, from his brother's house on St. Maurice street. The coat he sold to a carter for $2, and the umbrella he pawned.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—There has been considerable dissension among the Seventh Fusiliers since their return from the North-west. For the present time the battalion can only muster fifty or sixty men. Sudden Death at Windsor.

WINDSOR, Nov. 9.—Mrs. John Kiley, about 50 years of age, was found dead by her husband upon his walking from sleep yesterday morning in his residence on Glengarry-avenue. The deceased was up and about her work as usual on Wednesday and retired for the night without complaining of ill-health. Her taking off was evidently as quiet as it was sudden and is supposed to have been caused by heart disease.

Rescued by Hackett.

WINDSOR, Nov. 9.—About 1 o'clock Sunday morning Andrew Hackett, living on Bois Blanc island, was awakened by the cries of some parties in distress off the lower end of the island. He started at once, and found it was part of the crew of the schooner Onward, who, while trying to drop anchor, were capsized. Their names are Lewis and Albert Talbot, and they were nearly exhausted when rescued. This makes the fifth rescue for Mr. Hackett this season.

STRANGE SHOOTING AFFRAY.

Mrs. Stokes of Philadelphia Shot by Fred Raimos a Cuban.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 9.—A mysterious shooting affair, which will in all likelihood cause the death of Mrs. Rettie Stokes, residing at No. 321 Greenwich street, occurred last night. Quite early in the evening three shots were heard in the house, and an officer upon investigation found that a Cuban named Fred Raimos had shot Mrs. Stokes three times, two of the bullets taking effect in her face and the third one in one of her lungs. The officer arrested Raimos, but only succeeded in doing so after the prisoner had fired a shot and had been clubbed into insensibility. Both Mrs. Stokes and Raimos were taken to a hospital, where the former is dying and the latter either feigning or is actually unconscious. Not the slightest clue as to the motive for the crime can be learned, the woman being unable by reason of the wounds in her face to talk, and the prisoner being silent. Mrs. Stokes has a 7-year-old daughter, and lived with her husband in the house she received her wounds. Her husband, who returned to Philadelphia shortly after the affair, can throw no light upon it.

ANGERED AND ASTONISHED.

Queensland Doesn't Like the Appointment of Governor Blake.

BRISBANE, Nov. 9.—The Premier has sent a cable despatch to the Queensland agent in England saying that the appointment of Governor Blake of Newfoundland, to the Governorship of Queensland has excited general surprise and wonder. Ex-Premier Griffiths agrees with the Premier in condemning the appointment.

Last month the Government here urged the English Government privately to submit the name of the proposed new Governor before the appointment was made, but Lord Knutsford replied that it was impossible to allow the Colonial Ministers to share in the responsibility for the nomination.

ACTION FOR BREACH OF PROMISE.

The Bride was Ready, But the Bridegroom Failed to Appear.

BROCTON, Mass., Nov. 9.—Miss Susie B. Leach, the daughter of Lemuel Leach of Campello, a village of this place, attractive young lady, has brought suit claiming $10,000 damages against Henry H. Litchield of Boston and Plymouth for breach of promise of marriage. Miss Litchield is 40 years of age, is in the real estate business in Boston, and has considerable property. Miss Leach and Mr. Litchfield met in the spring of 1887 at Plymouth, and in the fall the wedding was fixed for December. Miss Leach gave up her situation and prepared her trousseau, but Litchield failed to appear.

A Railway Disaster on the Hudson River Railway—Collision at a Railway Station.

NEWBURGH, N.Y., Nov. 9.—At 10 o'clock yesterday morning when the Rochester express on the Hudson River Railway was stopping at the Fishkill depot a freight train from the south dashed into the rear of the passenger train. The engineer and fireman of the freight train jumped before the collision. Mrs. Edward S. A lady member of the "Hearts of Oak" company and a child which she carried in her arms were knocked down and injured.

CHARGED WITH ASSAULT.

Murder of a Brickmason.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 9.—Charles Walker, a brickmason, was killed yesterday, and the murder is charged to Herman Burns, also a brickmason. In the morning the men quarrelled and a fight occurred, in which Burns got the best of it. In the afternoon Walker went down to the brickyard, followed by Burns, and a few hours later Walker's dead body was found with one bullet hole through the back of the neck and another in the abdomen. Either would have caused death. Burns was arrested and is now in jail. Walker, the murdered man, is reported to have wealthy relatives in Alleghany City, Pa.

A Persistent Reporter.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 9.—John E. Brown, a reporter of The Democrat and Chronicle, killed at the residence of Mathias Kondolf, 170 Oak-street, at 1 o'clock yesterday morning for the purpose of obtaining information about the proceedings of the Fire Commissioners' meeting of the day before. Mr. Kondolf refused to give this information, and the reporter left. He later returned and again rang Mr. Kondolf's bell. This provoked the commissioner and he caused the arrest of Mr. Brown on the charge of disturbing the peace. The latter was taken to police headquarters, where he was paroled until 9 o'clock. In the police court the reporter was arraigned and his case was set down for Nov. 13.

Nearly Blew Up the Dentist.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 9.—When Dentist Potter of Chicopee entered his office last evening a vulcanizer that had been at work all the night before exploded with a terrific report that was heard several blocks distant. A portion of the wall and a window of the house was blown out, numerous holes were made in the ceiling and a quantity of valuable dental work was destroyed. No one was injured, though the doctor in another moment would have been standing over the instrument and would probably have lost his life.

Death by Gas Suffocation.

YORK, Pa., Nov. 9.—Catherine Soxs, aged 88; Barbara Arnold, aged 42, and Lydia Fetrow, inmate of the County Almshouse, were suffocated by gas in their room last night. Two of the unfortunate women were dead when discovered, and the third, Mrs. Fetrow, is expected to die. The cause of the calamity was the leaking of the gas pipe in a room, at a joint, filling the room with gas.

Intercolonial Brakeman Killed.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Nov. 9.—Between 7 and 8 o'clock yesterday morning a terrible accident occurred all the Intercolonial roundhouse, by which Henry Bagnall, 30 years old, a brakeman, lost his life. He was engaged coupling cars, when he slipped, and before he could recover himself was crushed between the buffers so badly that he lived but a few minutes afterwards. To be Settled.

The dispute regarding the water power at the Trenton docks, which has long existed between Gilmour & Co. and the Corporation of Trenton, was set down for hearing before Chancellor Boyd at Toronto next week. Litigation will be avoided, however, as Mr. Gilmour has made a proposition to the Town Council, which they have accepted.

A fair audience was that which greeted the Zera Semon Novelty Company last night. The performance was a repetition of that of former evenings, and was as usual well presented. The card weighs less than half an ounce, and will contain no more writing than the present card, the only advantage being greater privacy.

An Enthusiastic Politician.

There was great excitement in Toronto on Wednesday night whilst the election returns were being received, and many bets were made amongst those who were gathered at the places where the news was being published. About midnight, when the tide seemed to be flowing in the direction of the Republicans, an American, who was a Republican and considerably "under the influence," bet all his money and offered to bet his overcoat. This offer lacking of acceptance, he finally offered to bet one hundred days' work on the streets against $20 that the Republicans had won. This offer, too, went a-begging.

Fall of a Scaffold.

An accident occurred yesterday at the drill shed, which, in its course of erection, and which fortunately resulted in no one being injured. A number of workmen were engaged upon the inside of the building,and were working on one scaffold, when by some unaccountable means it fell, and eleven of the men were precipitated to the ground, a distance of about twelve feet. The remainder of the workmen went immediately to the assistance of their comlaborers, expecting to find some of them severely injured, but it proved otherwise. Mr. Robert Howe, was struck across the shoulders and somewhat bruised, but is not otherwise hurt, and Mr. John H. Richards fell upon his hip and in consequence is suffering from a lame leg. The remainder escaped unhurt. No fault appears to be attached to any one save themselves, as the contractor, Mr. Lewis Grills, cautioned them about making the scaffolding safe. Their escape was miraculous.

A Bear Chronicle.

Now it cams to pass that a party of hunters were gathered at Carter's station called Lindsay, where two trains were wont to meet. And there was of the party one Samuel, from "Muddy little York," a "gager" of the school book repute, and there was auction Samuel who "hughed" out a living in the town called Lindsay, and there was also one Larry, who would "take a life" by way of amusement in York; and there were also others of the party whose names are not recorded. Now there came to the station a godly man, how best he had not on his saintly apparel, but was clad in the garb of a hunter, and the two Samuels only knew him, and they took the saintly man by the hands, bidding him welcome; for had they not sat under his ministry? And when the saintly man saw that they were laden with the spoils of the chase, he was gladdened in his heart, for he would slay the red deer of the forest, and he asked where the red deer roamed? Now Larry heard the stranger ask where the red deer roamed, but he did not know from his garb that he was a servant of the altar; and fearing lest the stranger one would not be truthful to the stranger, said, "Now stranger, if any cock-eyed, red-haired son of a blank tells you there is no game in Haliburton, tell him he is a blank son of a blank liar for me." Then the saintly man looked shocked, and turning to Samuel of the city of mud, said, "Samuel, is this profane man thy friend?" Then Samuel was tempted, and, alas! fell, for he replied, "I believe he comes from Lindsay." Then Samuel the hugher was wroth, as Lindsay had all it could do to keep above ground and elect its Council, and he was tempted to save the place of his adoption at the expense of his conscience, and thus spake to the good man: "This ungodly man keeps a lumber camp far beyond the city." Alas! it was a cold day for Larry and the two Samuels.

A Farewell Meeting

Tendered to Two Young Ladies who are About to Leave for India.

The number of missionaries who of late have volunteered their services for the enlightening of the heathens in India has been large. These noble hearted bearers of the cross of Christ, in many instances abandon a luxurious home, surrounded by all the comforts of life, for the trials and trials which inevitably await those who repair to this far off land. Two young ladies from this vicinity are among the latest acquisitions to this band; both are young women of high culture and will doubtless be instrumental in the hands of God in accomplishing grand results. Both fully realize the step which they are taking, and have placed their hands in that of their heavenly Father, resting assured that He will ever protect and care for them. These young ladies are Misses Scott and Sinclair, and a farewell meeting for them was held last evening in the John Street Presbyterian church, and despite the inclemency of the weather, was largely attended. The meeting was a representative one, and comprised the leading members of the evangelical churches of the city. These young ladies leave for their field of labor, which is in the Zenanas, on Wednesday, 15th, inst.

Rev. Dr. George occupied the chair. On the platform were a number of city clergymen and the meeting was opened by the reading of a portion of the scripture and prayer by the Rev. R. Wallace, who invited the divine blessing on the young missionaries, who were soon to leave for the missionary fields of India. He referred in a feeling manner to Mr. Horne, who was at present in China engaging in mission work.

Rev. Dr. George then spoke of the pleasure he afforded him to be present on this occasion. He hoped that the result of the meeting would be that others would be led to give their talents in this direction for good. He had much pleasure in introducing Miss Scott, who had given up her studies for the purpose of this missionary work in the Zenanas.

Miss Scott said she was pleased to see so many present on this occasion, as it showed that the people were in sympathy with those who were going out to labor in India. We should,and will give ourselves up to the work to which we have been called. I am not going up anything. I am willing to go, as I believe that God has called me to go. I did not two years ago expect to go so soon, as I then gave my service to the Presbyterian Board, as a missionary to India. I entered last winter upon my medical course, intending to pursue a four years' service, but I feel that God at this particular time has called me to go, and I must obey. God has filled me with his spirit and I feel that to night I am blessed in my undertaking and that he will touch my lips with a coal from off his altar, that I may be used of him to do whatever he may have in store for me. I ask the prayers of God's people that we may be successful in our undertaking and lead those benighted people to the feet of Jesus.

A duet was here rendered by Misses Scott and Sinclair, which was well received.

Miss Sinclair, who has lately returned from the mission field, gave a description of the manners and customs of the natives of India. In order to illustrate their mode of dress, two young girls were attired in the manner ladies are clothed in that country, the description of which was very interesting. The husband does the sewing of these garments.

Miss Sinclair said she was pleased to be able to go on this mission, as she felt that God had called her to perform this glorious work. She felt no regret or sorrow at parting, but rather she felt it a glorious privilege to be able to go forth and do the Master's work. We are called upon by the Lord when he says, "Go ye out, therefore, and publish the word to all nations." We have his assurance, for he says "Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." We shall be responsible if we do not do our duty to the lost benighted people. More ought to go than do go to these far-off lands as missionaries. He has done so much for us that we cannot do too much for Him. God grant that His work may go on and prosper. I go in the strength of God. My life is hid in His, and in the last day I expect to hear him say, "She has done what she could."

Mr. Wilder, who was born in the mission fields, said he could not add much to what had already been said. He was pleased that the young ladies were going out to the work in India. His mother and father had been missionaries in that country for thirty years, and he had come to the United States in order to take a course through a College, to better prepare himself for missionary work, and soon he would go to assist there; home missionary work, he said, was needed; but when we think that two out of every three persons who are born, are born in heathen Canada, we must realize the importance of the sending abroad of missionaries. He had been making a tour of the Colleges in different parts of the United States and Canada, in order to plant the missionary spirit in the minds of the young students, and his mission had been a glorious success. In the U. States alone 2,982 students had consecrated themselves to God for this work, and 100 had already repaired to different fields of labor. The work is spreading, and still there is room for more. God can use the weakest of us to be mighty in his power. The field is the world—there is no boundary to this glorious work. May God touch the hearts of the young, and lead many to give themselves up to this glorious work.

Rev. J. Learoyd, Rev. M. W. Maclean, and Rev. R. Wallace gave short addresses, complimenting the young ladies on the step they had taken, and encouraging them to go on in the name of the Lord, and they would be mighty in His hands for doing good.

After the singing of a hymn and the pronouncing of the benediction, a large number of the congregation gathered around the platform for the purpose of wishing the young missionaries a farewell.

15th Battalion Inspection.

The annual inspection of the 15th Batt. A. L. I. took place this afternoon in very unfavorable weather. It was impossible for the battalion to parade, hence the armory was utilized as the place for inspection. In this instance the need of the drill shed was much felt, but this want will soon be supplied. Each company was inspected separately, as the armory was found too small for battalion manœuvres.

Drowned at Tamworth.

Mr. George Wheeler, an old resident of Tamworth, was missed from his brother's residence, where he resided, on Monday evening, and on the following morning his hat was discovered on the bank of the river near by. A search was instituted in in the mill pond and the body of the old gentleman found. It is supposed that he accidentally fell in and was drowned. He was sixty-seven years of age, and has always been a resident of that locality.

G. T. R. Notes.

Three cars of cattle came in from over the Midland division this morning and were later forwarded to the east.

St. Andrew's Society.

The annual meeting of this Society was held last evening, and was largely attended. The charitable work of the Society during the past year has, in many instances, been felt. The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: President, John Johnston; 1st Vice-do., Murray Turner; 2d Vice-do., Dr. Wright; Sec., W. Smeaton; Treas, Alex. Walters; Chaplain, Rev. M. W. Maclean; Committee—Messrs. Capt. Waters and J. M. Ross; Piper, P. McNeil; Charitable Committee, Hugh Walker, chairman; Jas Harold, A. T. Petrie, Wm. Tennant, and Thos Rutherford.

It was decided that St. Andrew's day, which is the 30th of the present month, should be celebrated by a church parade in the afternoon, when the Society will attend St. Andrew's Church. The Rev. M. W. Maclean will preach the annual sermon. In the evening a grand concert will be held at the Opera House, at which several local talent in the country will be engaged for this event, including Miss Maggie Barr, Miss Parker, Miss Waltz, and Mr. Fax. Particulars will be given later.

A Narrow Escape.

Mrs. Hale and Family Prostrated by Coal Gas—Some of the Victims Very Low.

At about 2 o'clock this morning it was accidentally discovered, by Mr. J. W. Wilton, a neighbor who lives in a room of the same house, namely on Church Street near the railway crossing above Brown's foundry, that Mrs. Hale, her three children and Miss Dafoe, who lives with them, had been asphyxiated by coal gas. He at once went for Dr. Murphy, who quickly responded and found Mrs. Hale and Miss Dafoe insensible, whilst the other members of the family were also seriously affected. Some time elapsed before he succeeded in restoring the women to consciousness. He did so eventually, but declared that half an hour longer of exposure to the poisoned air would have been fatal to them. Both were, at last accounts, getting severely but not wholly out of danger, and the eldest girl was still a sufferer. The younger children were in a much better condition.

The reported occurrence was caused by the opening of the lower draft of the coal stove and the upper drafts were closed, thus admitting more air than could pass up the chimney, consequently the gas escaped into the room.

Dr. Murphy has strong hopes of the recovery of his patients.

Hospital and Home for the Friendless.

AUDITORS' REPORT.

To Mrs. M. W. Maclean, President Women's Christian Association.

MADAME,—As requested by the ladies of the Women's Christian Association, we have audited the following books and accounts for the year ending Sept. 30th, 1888, viz: Treasurer's Book, Building Fund, Hospital and Home, Supply, Interior Regulation, and Dorcas. Vouchers for all items of expenditure were produced and satisfactorily explained. The balance shown by the Treasurer, have been compared with the amounts from all sources reported by the Secretary at the ordinary meetings of the Association and found to be correct.

The revenue of the Hospital and Home for the past year was $4,284.91, and the expenditure $3,495 31. Gifts in kind (always welcome) were received to the value of about $386.

The total cost of the buildingand grounds now amounts to $21,227 73.

The amount received from the city for the Indigent Fund was $1200, and the distribution was $1266 45.

We are pleased to note that the expenditure of Supply is checked monthly by an independent committee.

We approve of the plan of publishing the amount of the liabilities at the close of each year.

It is a matter for congratulation that the mortgage of $4000 has been reduced by $1820 and we hope the lady collectors will have such a hearty response to their solicitations for aid that further considerable reduction will be possible during the year upon which you are now entering. A noble work like this should not be hampered with interest charges, and the payment of the mortgage would admit of the Building fund account being closed.

The increased revenue from patients who have availed themselves of the advantages of the Hospital proves that such an instit ution is much needed and is being appreciated.

We consider that the financial work of each department and of the Association is carried on carefully and in an efficient manner,and we have pleasure in commending the institution to the continued sympathy and liberality of the public.

Respectfully submitted,

JAS. G. BOYCE } Auditors.

A Narrow Escape.

Mrs. Hale and Family Prostrated by Coal Gas—Some of the Victims Very Low.

At about 2 o'clock this morning it was accidentally discovered, by Mr. J. W. Wilton, a neighbor who lives in a room of the same house, namely on Church Street near the railway crossing above Brown's foundry, that Mrs. Hale, her three children and Miss Dafoe, who lives with them, had been asphyxiated by coal gas. He at once went for Dr. Murphy, who quickly responded and found Mrs. Hale and Miss Dafoe insensible, whilst the other members of the family were also seriously affected. Some time elapsed before he succeeded in restoring the women to consciousness. He did so eventually, but declared that half an hour longer of exposure to the poisoned air would have been fatal to them. Both were, at last accounts, getting severely but not wholly out of danger, and the eldest girl was still a sufferer. The younger children were in a much better condition.

The reported occurrence was caused by the opening of the lower draft of the coal stove and the upper drafts were closed, thus admitting more air than could pass up the chimney, consequently the gas escaped into the room.

Dr. Murphy has strong hopes of the recovery of his patients.

The Diphtheria at Brighton.

At a meeting of the Provincial Board of Health at Toronto, on the 8th inst., the secretary stated, in reference to the outbreak of diphtheria at Brighton, that the infected house had been placarded and a sanitary inspector left in charge. The disease had been going on since August and was not reported to the Board till last week. Steps were now being taken to have the school-houses thoroughly cleaned, and all other precautions were being used. In reply to the first question, a number of school children had, unfortunately, gone in to see the corpse.

Tramp—It's easy to say that, but it isn't easy to get a job. I've been trying to get work all the year.

Citizen—What kind of a job have you looked for?

Tramp—Winding up an eight day clock.—Nebraska Journal.

The Dangerous Coal Oil.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—The explosion of poorly-refined coal oil is the cause of another accidental burning. A little girl named Lavoie, living on Maple street, while helping her mother in domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while resting on the table. Her burning clothing was only torn from her with great difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quickly summoned and the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined Oil a considerable quantity of inferior Coal Oil is being sold.

In order to avoid these low grades we have taken the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil:

'CARBON SAFETY OIL'

A specially refined and superior grade of Canadian Oil,

ASTRAL OIL,

A high grade American Oil.

These we can most confidently recommend to our retail trade as goods that will give entire satisfaction.

We are also fully supplied with Water White and Prime American Oil and the usual brands of Canadian Oil.

A Quarter of a Century.

For more than twenty five years has Hagyard's Yellow Oil been sold by druggists, and it has never yet failed to give satisfaction as a household remedy for pain, lameness and soreness of the flesh, for external and internal use in all painful complaints.

FEVER AND AGUE AND BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS are positively cured by the use of Parmelee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, causing them to pour copious effusions from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

To lessen mortality and stop the inroads of disease, use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. For all diseases arising from impure blood, such as Pimples, Blotches, Biliousness, Indigestion, etc., etc., it has no equal. Mrs. Thomas Smith, Elmira, says: "I am using this medicine for Dyspepsia; I have tried many remedies, but this is the only one that has done me any good."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakens as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind. 24lwly

YOUNG MEN suffering from the effects of early evil habits, the result of ignorance or folly, who find themselves weak, nervous and exhausted; also MIDDLE AGED and OLD MEN, who are broken down from the effects of abuse or over-work, and in advanced life feel the consequences of youthful excess, send for and READ M. V. Tufton's Treatise on Diseases of Men. The book will be sent sealed to any address on receipt of two 3c. stamps. Address M. V. TUFTON, 47 Wellington S. E., Toronto. 193dlwly

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transition from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc, if attended to in time are easily subdued, but allowed to run their own course, generally prove to be the forerunner of more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their affliction from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from morbid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state

Rest and Comfort to the Suffering.

"Brown's Household Panacea" has no equal for relieving pain, both internal and externa. It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. 'Tis will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal, as to its wonderful power is wonderful." "Brown's Household Panacea," being known as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family handy for use when wanted. "as it really is the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the Stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds," and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cts a bottle.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretion of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a receipt that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City.

Daily Intelligencer.

The Child of Waterloo.

BY GEORGE W. M. REYNOLDS.

'The prisoner at the bar stands charged with wilful murder—the evidence against him is entirely of a circumstantial nature. But where it happens that a positive crime has been committed, and it follows that it must have been committed by one of a certain number of persons, such a train of evidence as will fix it upon one of this number, although what may be called circumstantial, is quite admissible. It is proved by the prosecutor, and admitted by the defense, that the prisoner at the bar was at the Morton Arms on the evening of the murder. Witnesses likewise, whose testimony I do not see any circumstances to induce us to cast a reasonable doubt upon, swear unhesitatingly to the identity of the prisoner at the bar with the man who must have committed the deed, unless we can jump to the extravagant conclusion that some individual, not the prisoner at the bar, must have taken great pains to surround himself with all the insignia of guilt, to put in reality being guiltless. The story of the counsel for the defence is not corroborated, even in any of the minutest details, and I cannot see how the calling forward a witness to prove that the prisoner, Sternholde, was connected with another in the perpetration of a serious, but yet a minor offence, in any way invalidates the testimony which makes him guilty of a more serious and a major one. Gentlemen of the jury, I shall leave the case in your hands, merely saying, that if you have any rational doubt upon the guilt of the prisoner at the bar, that it will be your pleasure, as much as it will be your duty, to give him the full benefit of such doubt; but, at the same time, gentlemen of the jury, if you feel that the defence set up says more for ingenuity of counsel than for the majesty of truth—if you feel that such a story as is told by the learned gentleman who has so ably conducted the defence is entirely and totally without the corroboration of evidence, and that it would have been quite possible for the learned gentleman to have concocted that story with the assistance of the prisoner at the bar—it will be necessary for you, unflinchingly, to return a verdict of guilty. Gentlemen of the jury, with these few observations, I leave the case entirely to your decision.'

This was so strong a summing-up against the prisoner that no one in the court could entertain a doubt as to the result. There was that look upon the judge's face, too, when he had finished, which showed that he considered an awful duty would soon devolve upon him, and that he would be quickly obliged to condemn a fellow-creature to a painful and an ignominious death.

The jury looked as solemn and stupid as juries usually do, and the fattest man, who was, of course, elected foreman, shook his head as if there were really something in it.

They turned round in the box to consult, and during that brief period the agitation of Sternholde was most excessive. He clutched the front of the bar till his finger nails cracked again, and a death-like pallor overspread his countenance.

Then the jury turned round and looked more solemn than before, and the foreman having a great bald head, wiped it with a flaming yellow silk handkerchief, and looked very hard at the clerk of the arraigns, as he said

'Gentlemen of the jury, have you decided upon a verdict? Do you find the prisoner at the bar guilty or not guilty?'

'Guilty!'

Sternholde drew in his breath with a strange, rigorous sort of sound, and the judge put the black cap upon his head, briefly pronouncing sentence of death upon the unhappy man, whose career of crime seemed at last about to be brought to a close by his death upon a scaffold.

CHAPTER XLVIII

In another half hour, Sternholde occupied one of the condemned cells of Newgate. The rapid alternation of adventure that had taken place, was now likely to be brought to an end by one of those awful catastrophes which terminate the career of all great criminals, however long may have been their career of crime; and few could boast of a much greater or longer career than the condemned man, and none more deserving of his doom.

Sternholde sat dumb and motionless. He seemed stunned, and yet he was not the man to be bowed down by difficulties of any kind. Danger of the most imminent character he had faced, and even then he was not the man to sink in weak repinings and tearful repentances; he could not do that. He sat for sometime thinking of the past, and revolving in his mind what prospect there was of escaping the doom that awaited him so very nearly. He sat, and his dark thoughts were revolving in his mind.

He look around the cell, and saw the bare walls and the small barred windows. There was nothing in the whole place that gave any hopes; and then he looked at his fetters, as if in utter despair at what seemed insurmountable difficulties.

Sternholde heard the steps of the jailer as he neared the cell for some purpose or other. He doubted not but that he was coming there to him for the purpose of inquiring what he wanted.

He guessed rightly—it was the turnkey. He came to the door, and he could hear the key placed into the lock—the heavy bolts turned and the door opened softly upon its hinges, and the turnkey entered.

'Well,' said the turnkey, 'do you want anything?'

'Nothing,' said Sternholde.

'I come to you to tell our chaplain will be here in a few minutes to do what he can for you.'

Sternholde took no notice of the communication whatever, but sat on the bench, with his eyes fixed upon the stone walls of his prison; and the turnkey, after a few moments, which he spent gazing at the prisoner, retraced his steps muttering as he shut the door:

'He seems rather stunned—but that is nothing new—they are often so, and he is no exception. A St. Anthony's tippet don't agree with his courage or his constitution.'

Sternholde, again left to himself, appeared to be no better or different than he was before. He still fixed his eyes upon the wall, and locked long and steadfastly there, but it was evident he saw nothing; his eye was fixed, but his mind was far away and engaged on other matters; he was absent.

CATARRH.

A New Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the interlining membrane of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes. The eminent scientists, Tyndall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. All sufferers can avoid treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in an constant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has been recorded. Taking into account that these disease cannot be cured by any application made oftener then once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before an application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease.

So highly are these remedies valued that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy a parasite, of which they know nothing, by remedies, of the results of the application of which they are equal ignorant. Mr. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effect a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases.

Mr. Dixon sends a pamphlet describing his new treatment on the receipt of stamp to pay postage. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son, 305 King street west, Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Among the Indians.

"While my husband was trading in furs he came across an Indian who was taken to his lodge to die. He had inward pains and pains in all his joints. He gave some Yellow Oil internally and applied it externally, and cured him. It also cured my husband of rheumatism, and I find it valuable for coughs and colds, sore throat, etc." Mrs. A. Besaw, Cook's Mills, Serpant River, Ont.

Give Them a Chance?

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are choked and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrah, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

The Modus Operandi.

The mode of operating of Burdock Blood Bitters is that it acts at once and at the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and the Blood, to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in Chronic Complaints.

Large Scrotal Hernia.

The change of late years in the treatment of Rupture is really surprising. Only a few years ago large Scrotal Hernia or Rupture could not be held by Trusses; now Mc. C. Cluthe, the celebrated Truss inventor, offers in every case a success or no charge. He goes even further than this; he offers a 300 mile return ticket on any railroad to any one whose Rupture he cannot hold. Mr. Cluthe is a responsible man, and above the reproach of taking advantage of people for the sake of the price of a Truss. This can be substantiated by the testimony of our most worthy physicians throughout the land, to whose patients his visits have proved such a comfort.

Cured By B. B. B. When all Else Fail

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrah, Asthma and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this receipt, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. NOYES, 149 Power Block, Rochester, N. Y.

BALLOT BOX OR SWORD.

DR. TALMAGE'S DISCOURSE ON A MIGHTY INSTITUTION.

The Ballot Boxes of the Antients—The Importance of the Ballot in Government—The Origin of the Ballot—Peculiarities of a Presidential Campaign.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 4.—At the Tabernacle this morning the Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, D. D., expounded some passages of Scripture about ancient politics. His text was the hymn:

Arm of the Lord, awake, awake!

Put on thy strength, the nations shake.

The doctor's text was: "Two cubits and a half was the length of it, and a cubit and a half the breadth of it, and a cubit and a half the height of it."—Exodus xxxvii, 1. He said:

Look at it!—the sacred chest of the ancients. It was about five feet long, three feet wide and three feet high. It was within and out of pure gold. On the top of it stood two angels facing each other with outspread wings. In that sacred box was the law, and there were in it a pot of manna and Aaron's rod. With that box went the fate of the nation. Carried in front of the host, the waters of the Jordan parted. Divinely charged, costly, precious, momentous box. No unholy hands might lay hold of it. It was called the ark of the covenant. But you will understand it was a box, the most precious box of the ages. Where is it now? Gone forever. Not a crypt of church or museum of the world has a fragment of it.

But is not this nation God's chosen people? Have we not passed through the Red Sea? Have we not been led with a pillar of fire by night? Has this nation no ark of the covenant? Yes, the ballot box, the sacred chest of the nation, the ark of the American covenant.

In it is the law, in it is the divine and the human will, in it is the fate of the nation. Carried in front of our host again and again are the waters of national trouble have parted. Mighty ark of the covenant, the American ballot box! It is a very old box.

In Athens, long before the art of printing, the people dropped pebbles into it to give expression to their sentiments. After that votes were dropped into it—a white bean for the affirmative, a black bean for the negative. After that, when they wished to vote a man out of citizenship they would write his name upon a shell and drop that into the box.

THE MIGHTINESS OF THE BALLOT BOX.

O'Connell and Grote and Cobden and Macaulay and Gladstone fought great battles in the introduction of the ballot boxes in England, and today it is one of the fastnesses of that nation. It is one of the corner stones of the American government. It is older than the constitution. In it is our national safety. Tell me what will be the fate of the American ballot box, the ark of the American covenant, and I will tell you what will be the fate of this nation. Give the people once a year, or once in four years, an opportunity to express their political sentiments, and you practically avoid insurrection and revolution.

Either give them the ballot or they will take the sword. Without the ballot box there can be no free republican institutions. Milton visiting in Italy noticed that on the sides of Vesuvius gardeners and farmers were at work while the volcano was in eruption, and he asked them if they were safe. "Yes," said the farmers and the gardeners, "it is safe; all the danger is before the outbreak and the earthquake and national earthquake. Let public opinion pour forth, and that gives satisfaction, and that gives peace, and that gives permanency to good government. And yet, though the ballot box is the sacred cuss and the ark of the American covenant, you know as well as I know it has its sworn antagonists, and I propose this morning, in God's name and as a Christian patriot, to set before you the names of some of the sworn enemies of this sacred chest, the ark of the American covenant, the ballot box.

IGNORANCE AS AN ELEMENT IN POLITICS.

First, I remark, ignorance is a mighty foe. Other things being equal, the more intelligence a man has the better he is qualified to exercise the right of suffrage. You have been ten, fifteen, twenty, thirty years studying American institutions, you have canvassed all the great questions about tariff and home rule and all the educational questions, and everything in American politics you are well acquainted with. You consider yourself competent to cast a vote next Tuesday, and you are competent. You will take your position in the line of electors, and you will wait for your turn to come, the judge of election will announce your name, you will cast your vote and pass out. Well done.

But right behind you there will come a man who cannot spell the name of comptroller, or attorney or mayor. He cannot write, or if he can write he uses a cruzifixion for the personal pronoun. He could not tell on which side of the Allegheny mountains Ohio is. Educated canary birds, educated horses know more than he. He will cast his vote and it will balance your vote. His ignorance is as mighty as your intelligence. That is a fearful fact. All men of fair mind will acknowledge that that is not right. Until a man can read the Declaration of Independence and the constitution of the United States and calculate the interest on the American debt, and know the difference between a republican form of government and a monarchy or despotism, he is unfit to exercise the right of suffrage at any ballot box between Key West and Alaska.

In 1872 in England there were 2,620,000 children who ought to have been in school. There were only 1,550,000, in other words, about 50 per cent., and of the 50 per cent. not more than 5 per cent. got anything worthy the name of an education. Now, take that foreign ignorance and add it to our American ignorance, and there will be 50 per cent. of thousands and thousands of people who are no more qualified to exercise the right of suffrage than the Zulu chief Cetewayo. How are these things to be corrected? By laws of compulsory education, well executed. I go in for a law which, after giving fair warning for a few years, shall make ignorance a crime. There is no excuse for ignorance on these subjects in this land, when the common schools make knowledge as free as the fresh air of heaven. I would have a board of examination seated beside the officers of registration, and let that board decide whether the man who come up to vote have any capacity to be monarchs in a land where we are all monarchs. One of the most awful foes of the American ballot box today is popular ignorance. Educate the people, give them an opportunity to know and understand what they do. If they will not take the education, deny them the vote.

Another powerful enemy of this sacred chest, the ark of the American covenant, the ballot box, is spurious voting. In 1880, in Brooklyn, there were a thousand names recorded of persons who had no residence here, and if there were a thousand attempted fraudulent votes in the best city on the continent, what may we expect in cities not so fortunate? What a grand thing is the law of registration! Without it elections in this country would be a farce. There must be a scrutiny on this subject. The law must have keenest twist for the neck of repeaters. Something more than eight fine and short imprisonment. It is an attempt at the assassination of the republic when a man attempts to put in a spurious vote. In olden times when man laid unholy hands on the ark of the covenant they dropped down dead. Witness Uzzah. And when a man dares to put unholy hands on the American ballot box, the ark of the American covenant, they deserve extermination.

INTIMIDATION OF THE EMPLOYES OF CORPORATIONS.

Another powerful foe of this sacred chest is intimidation.

Corporations sometimes demand that their employes vote in this and that way. It is skilfully done. It is not positively in so many words demanded, but the employe understands he will be frozen out of the establishment unless he votes as the firm do. So you can go into villages where there are establishments with hundreds and thousands of employes, and having found out the political bent of the head men in the factory, you can tell which way the election is going. Now, that is damnable. If in any precinct in the United States a man cannot vote as he pleases, there is something awfully wrong.

How do you treat that employe who votes differently from what you do? Oh, you say you do not interfere with his right of suffrage. But you call him into your private office with the door locked. You say to him, after a while you tell him there is an uncle, or an aunt, or a niece, or a nephew that must have that position. You do not say it is because he voted this or that way, but he knows and God knows it is. If that man has given to you in hard work an equivalent for the wages you pay him, you have no right to ask anything else of him. He sold you his work; he did not sell you his political or religious principles. But you know as well as I do there is sometimes on that sacred chest, the ark of the American covenant, a shadow corporate or monopolistic.

I do not wonder at the vehemence of Lord Chief Justice Hoit, of England, when he said: "Let the people vote fairly. Interfere with a man's vote is in behalf of this or that party. I give you notice that if an offender against the law comes before me I will charge the jury to make him pay well for it." No shadow plutocratic, or mobocratic, or capitalistic. Every man voting in his own way—God and his own conscience the only dictator.

Another powerful foe of that sacred chest, the ark of the American covenant, the ballot box, is bribery.

You know something of the hundreds of thousands of dollars that were expended to carry Indiana in 1880. You know something of the vast sums of money expended in Brooklyn and New York in other years to carry elections. Bribery is one of the disgraces of this country. And there will be more money used in bribery this autumn's election than in any previous election. It is often the case that a man is nominated for office with reference to his capacity to provide money for the elections or with reference to his capacity to command money from others. You know the names of men who have at different times gone into the gubernatorial chair or congressional office buying their way all through. I tell you no new name. Your patriotic heart has been pained again and again with it.

Very often it is not money that bribes, but it is office. "You make my president and I'll make you a cabinet officer; you make me governor and I'll make you surveyor general; you make me mayor and I'll put you on the other board; you give me position and I'll give you position." That is the form of bribe often and often in these great cities. I do not say it is in our city, but you know again and again throughout the land these have been the forms of bribe offered. So it often the case that by the time a man comes to an office to which he has been elected he is from the crown of head to the sole of foot mortgaged with pledges, and the man who goes to Albany or to Washington to get an office is applying for some position which was given away three months before the election. Two long lines of worn fence, one worn fence reaching to Albany and the other to Washington, and there a great many citizens astride the fence, and they are equally poised, and they are waiting to see on which side there is most emolument, and on this side they get down. But bribery kicks both ways. It kicks the man that offers it and the man that takes it. Bribery today you will admit to be one of the mightiest foes of the American ballot box.

SOME OF THE EVILS OF CAMPAIGNS.

Another great enemy of that sacred chest is defamation of character. Can you find out from the newspapers when two men are running for office which is the best? How often in the autumnal elections the good man is denounced and the bad man applauded, so that you can come sometimes to no just opinion as to the merits of the men, and there are hundreds and thousands of electors who go up to vote so utterly befogged they know not what they do. Is not that a fearful influence to be brought upon the ballot box of this country? It has been so ever since the foundation of this government.

Thomas Paine writes Washington a letter, and publishes it, saying: "Treacherous in all private friendship and a hypocrite in public morals, the world will be puzzled to know whether we had better call you an apostate or an impostor, and whether you abandoned private principle or never had any." That is Thomas Paine's opinion of George Washington.

John Quincy Adams declared that he was sobered in regard to the scandals and the anathemas inflicted upon him by the fact that his father, John Adams, had to go through the same process, and that John Quincy Adams declared he really thought in that present election there were men who gave their entire time to manufacturing false food in regard to him. Martin Van Buren was always pictorialized as a rat. Thomas H. Benton and Amos Kendall were always pictorialized as robbers with battering rams breaking in the door of the United States bank.

On the day on which Thomas Jefferson was inaugurated president of the United States, March 4, 1801, the following appeared in The Boston Gazette of Boston: "Monumental inscription. Yesterday expired, deeply regretted by millions of grateful Americans, and by all good men, the Federal administration of the government of the United States, animated by Washington, Adams, Hamilton, Knox, Pickering, McHenry, Marshall and Stoddard; aged twelve years. Its death was occasioned by the secret arts and open violence of foreign and domestic demagogues. As one tribute of gratitude is these times this monument to the talents and services of the deceased is raised by The Sentinel." Under such information as that Thomas Jefferson went into office.

My father told me that when Andrew Jackson was running for president of the United States the whole land was flooded with coffin handbills—pictures of six dead men, in allusion to the six duels Andrew Andrew Jackson had had shot, and all the pictorials of those times represented Jackson as taking his office from the hand of the devil.

I saw at Put-in-Bay, O., in a museum, a prominent paper of 1844, which spoke of Henry Clay as a gambler, a libertine and a murderer, and the manner in which he was defamed and the outrages which were heaped upon him may be well guessed from Mr. Clay's eulogy of his native state, Kentucky. He said: "When I seemed to be assailed by all the rest of the world, she interposed her broad and impenetrable shield, repelled the poisoned shafts that were aimed for my destruction, and vindicated my good name from every malignant and unfounded aspersion."

Defamation! It is the curse of the American ballot box. Just as soon as the great cities a man is put up for office he is made the target. The fact that he is up is prima facie evidence that he must be torn down. His public life and his private life are scrutinized, and all the electric lights are turned on. How often it is that men have gone down under such things. In every autumnal election the air is filled with carrion crows scenting carcases. Caw! Caw! Caw! There are newspapers in the United States that in the great autumnal elections take with license for liberty. They are filled with calumny. The editorial columns of such papers reek with it; their columns are stuffed with it. There are newspapers in the United States which in the great popular elections breakfast and dine and sup on indecency. They wallow in it. Swine like the mire. They give more for one quill full of it than a whole hogshead of decent product. There are in these great autumnal elections men sitting in editorial rooms who write with a quill, not plucked from the stupid goose or the sublime eagle, but from a turkey buzzard! Behold the fiends that live up the city sewer into their editorial inkstands. Defamation of character is one of the curses of the American ballot box. Now, in your great presidential elections who can tell from what he reads who is the man he ought to vote for? Bad men sometimes applauded, good men denounced.

Another powerful foe of the sacred chest, the ark of the American covenant, the ballot box, is the rowdy and drunken caucus.

THE PART THE SALOON TAKES IN POLITICS.

The ballot box does not give any choice to a man when the nominations are made in the back part of a groggery. When the elector comes up he has to choose between two evils. In some of the cities men have come to the ballot box to vote, and have found both names such a scaly, greasy and stenchful crew they had no choice. You say vote for somebody outside. Then throw away all their vote. Christian men of New York and Brooklyn, honorable men, patriotic men, go and take possession of the caucuses. First having saturated your pocket handkerchiefs with cologne or some other disinfectant, go down to the caucus and take possession of it in the name of the Lord God Almighty and the American people, though after you come back you should have to hang your hat and coat on a line in the back yard for ventilation.

In some of the state politics have got so low that the nominees no more need good morals than they do a bath tub. Snates in the ballot box from such men. Where is the David who will go forth and bring the ark of the covenant back from Kirjath-Jearim? Now, and a John Morrissey, the prince of gamblers, could be sent to the American congress!

Now, how are these things to be remedied? Some say by a property qualification. They say that after a man gets a certain amount of property—a certain amount of real estate he is financially interested in good government, and he becomes cautious and conservative. I reply, a property qualification would shut off from the ballot box a great many of the best men in the land. Literary men are almost always poor. A pen is a good implement to make the world better, but it is a very poor implement to get a livelihood primarily. I have known scores of literary men who never owned a foot of ground and never will own a foot of ground until they get under it. Professors of colleges, teachers of schools, editors of newspapers, ministers of religion, qualified in every possible way to vote, are no worldly success. There has been many a man who has not had a house on earth who will have a mansion in heaven.

There are many who through accidents of fortune have come to poverty in their while they are profound in their stupidity, as profound in their stupidity as a man at large fortune with whom I was exchanging horses, who told me he was going to see the dykes of Scotland. When a member of my family asked a lady on her return from Europe if she had seen Mont Blanc she replied: "Well, really, I don't know; is that in Europe?" Ignorance by the square foot. Property qualification will not do. The only way these evils will be eradicated will be by more thorough legal defense of the ballot box and a more thorough moralization and Christianization of the people. That ark of the covenant was carried into captivity to Kirjath-jearim, but one day the people looked down to a cart, and they put this ark on the cart, and the cart was taken to Jerusalem—the ark of the covenant coming with the shouting and thanksgiving of the people. And though the American ballot box, the ark of the American covenant, our sacred chest, has been carried again and again into captivity by fraud and iniquity and spurious voting, I believe it will be brought back yet by prayer and by Christian consecration, and will be set down in the midst of the temple of Christian patriotism. Whose responsibility? Yours and mine.

A poor soldier went to a hair dresser in London. He wanted to get back to the army. He had overrun his furlough, and wanted some help to get back in quickest time. The money was given to the poor soldier, who said to the man who had offered the kindness: "I have nothing to give you in return but this little worn out receipt for making blacking." He gave it not thinking there was any value in it especially, and the man who took it did not appreciate it, nor set any special value in it; but it yielded the man who took it $2,50,000, and was the foundation of one of the largest fortunes in England. And that little vote, that insignificant vote which you take out of your pocket—insignificant in your sight, and insignificant in the sight of others—may start an influence that will last all through the progress of this government.

SOME CONCLUSIONS IN REGARD TO VOTING.

I charge you then as American citizens to remember your responsibility on the next Tuesday of November. It will be an early, the snow storm of suffrages. It will snow all day—snow on until noon, snow on until night. The flakes will all be very warm and village and neighborhood, the white flakes. The octogenarian will come up, his hand trembling, and with spectacled eyes he will scrutinize the vote and drop it and pass on. The young man who has been waiting for his time will come up and proudly and gleefully deposit his first vote and pass on. The capitalist will come up with bedimmended finger and the laborer with hard fist, and the one vote will be as good as the other. Snow storm of suffrages, and then those votes will be gathered together and compacted into an avalanche that will slide down in expression of the will of the people. Stand out of the way of it! In the awful sweep of this white avalanche let no political fraud go down a thousand feet under.

You have not only a vote, you have a prayer. The prayer may be mightier than the vote. Oh, as citizens of this beautiful city, and of this state, and of this nation, let us do our whole duty. We cannot live under any other form of government than that which God has given us in this country. The stars on our flag are not the stars of a thicksetting night, but the stars sprinkled amid the bars of morning cloud. We are going to have one government on this entire continent. Let the despotisms of Asia keep their feet off the Pacific coast and let the tyrannies of Europe keep their feet off the Atlantic coast. We are going to have one government. Mexico will follow Texas into the Union, and Christianity and civilization will stand side by side in the halls of the Montezumas. And if not in our day, then in the day of our children, Yucatan and Central America will come in dominion, while on the north Canada will be ours, not by conquest—oh, no, American and English swords may never clash blades—but we will woo our fair neighbor of the north, and then England will say to Canada: "You are old enough for the marriage day," and then, turning, will say: "Giant of the west, go take your bride." And then from Baffin's bay to the Caribbean there will be one government under one flag, with one destiny—a free, undisputed, Christianized American continent. God save the city of Brooklyn! God save the commonwealth of New York! God save the Union!

Valuable to Know.

Consumption may be more easily prevented than cured. The irritating and harassing cough will be greatly relieved by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. For sale by all druggists or sent post-paid on receipt of price (50c. and $1.) by addressing Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Rare Combination.

There is no other remedy or combination of medicines that meets so many requirements, as does Burdock Blood Bitters in its wide range of power over such Chronic diseases as Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Complaint, Scrofula and all humors of the blood.

There are a number of varieties of corns. Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and safe remedy. If you have your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

Orin Gatlin, 49 Pearl Street Buffalo, N. Y., says: I tried various remedies for the piles but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications.

Mrs. George Leech, Hadimand Township, has received more benefit from two bottles of Dawling's Pepsin Compound, than anything she has ever taken in her life. She has been troubled with biliousness, loss of appetite and constipation for years. Now she has none of these troubles. People write to her and see how she will recommend you to take Dawling's Pepsin Compound if you are Dyspeptic.

The cheapest medicine in use is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, because so very little of it is required to effect a cure. For croup, diphtheria, and the news of the lungs and throat, for taking and for bathing the chest or throat, for taking internally or inhaling, it is a matchless compound.

Say What does Dowling's Pepsin Compound cure? Dyspepsia and Indigestion. What are the symptoms? Biliousness, constipation, lack of energy, drowsiness, headache, pains in the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, depression of spirits. Ask your druggist for it.

Dowling's Little Liver Granules are highly recommended for all diseases of the liver.

Mr. Thomas Ballard, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I have been afflicted for nearly a year with that most to be dreaded disease Dyspepsia, and at times went out with pain and want of sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended I tried one box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. I am now nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money."

Parmelee's Pills possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimulating to action the diseased energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body." Mr. D. Carswell, Jarvis P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

For all the dyspeptic remedies ever placed in the market, Dowling's Pepsin Compound takes the lead. Why? Because it acts naturally on the digestive organs if the stomach, and not mechanically, like the other patent medicines. Besides, it helps to assimilate and digest all the foods that enter the stomach. Ask your druggist for a bottle.

Belleville folks follow the example of Mrs. Geo. Leech, of Haldimand, and many others, and rid yourselves of that dire disease, dyspepsia and indigestion.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

DEAR SIR,—The Indian Reserve triennial election for Chiefs took place on Wednesday, November 7th, to manage the affairs of the Mohawk Band of the Tyendinaga Reserve, and the result was that two were elected who were never in Council before and three of the old ones were retained by a large majority. The following names were declared legally elected by Mr. Matthew Hill, Indian Agent: Solomon Loft, Isaac Powles, John P. Brant, Andrew Maracle, Jacob P. Brant, the latter, who took A. Culbertson at the top of the election last March, gaining the largest vote. Archie was again in the field seeking admittance, but was again defeated. More grievance for Mr. S. B. Burdett, M. P., to enquire into at Ottawa, why poor Archie is so unfortunate in losing the right to be a Chief on the Mohawk Reserve.

ELECTOR.

The Cheese Trade.

A very erroneous impression has been disseminated amongst the cheese buyers of Great Britain, namely, that the stocks of fall cheese on this side are unprecedentedly heavy, whereas nothing could be more misleading. Between this city and Toronto there is make for October that has fallen off from 20 to 30 per cent. as compared with that of last year, and west of Toronto the shrinkage is estimated at fully 15 per cent. One of our leading combination houses made 1500 boxes of November cheese last year, will not make a box this month, as the factories are said to have closed between 15th and 20th inst. The fall make in the October make, it is said, will be a surprise to most people. A buyer for a Liverpool house has purchased between 9,000 and 10,000 boxes of fine and qualities within the past week or ten days, at prices ranging from 9½c to 10¼c, 10c to 10½c being paid for fauly September cheese. Finest September cheese has reached under 10½c to 10¾c. Latest advices from Liverpool state that the stock of fine cheese is unusually small, one large house which for four years usually held between 20,000 and 30,000 boxes at this period, now holds only about 3,500 boxes. The opinion obtains on the other side, in spite of "bear" circulars that the position of finest cheese is a strong one, and will successfully withstand the combined onslaught of the "Liverpool Three" in their mad effort to wreck present unusually low prices.—Trade Bulletin.

A Female Paradox.

A lady, old and growing older still,
(As ladies will grow old, you know,) became,
In spite of age, as young as youth—but ill,
And old, and wretched, feeble, lame, and sore,
A lady young because in spite of youth,
As ladies will, and why? Because the truth,
That keeps a lady young, they fail to grasp,
And yielding to disease, die in its fatal clasp,
That truth is that woman's weakness may be
Subdued by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Had no Dodo.

The latest witticism of Oliver Wendell Holmes is told in Boston. One morning he was invited into his hotel-keeper's, and handing the proprietor his latest bill, asked what was meant by serving him with such an antiquated fowl as the dodo. "What do you mean?" asked the astonished man wonder. "Why look here," said Dr. Holmes, "you have charged me 'Oct. 1, six pounds beef; Oct. 2, five pounds dodo.' I have never received the bird."—Exchange.

Answer Delayed.

A little boy was asked by his mother the other day, "Rex, what makes you so naughty; don't you ask God every night to make you a good boy?" "Yes," replied the young hopeful, "I ask him right along, but he never seems to pay in attention to me."

Hammond, in the current Popular Science Monthly, summarizes particulars bearing on longevity based on a canvass of 3,500 New Englanders over 80 years of age The returns were gleaned evenly and indiscriminately from dwellers in town and country. Of the men over 46 per cent were farmers; not one of them had been a teacher. Of the women 800 out of 1,200 were farmers' wives, and all of the others except 5 were reported as "housewives." Only seventeen of the female octogenarians had been unmarried, and two of these had been school teachers. As a rule those of both sexes had been in request to diet and habit what are called simple livers. Less than a dozen were reported as habitual users of intoxicants, but they were nearly all tea drinkers, and the majority of the men were users of tobacco.

BELLEVILLE IN 1816.

In a previous issue we referred to the town plot (now Belleville) laid out by Deputy Surveyor Wilmot in 1816, which A. P. Dougall Esq. had left at this office for inspection, and deeming that some particulars gathered from it will be of interest to our readers, we note them herewith.

The streets laid down were Front, Pinnacle, Church, Mill and Rear running north and south, and those running east and west were Wharf, Dundas, Bridge, Hotel, and another unnamed, at the north end.

The buildings, which numbered but 45, in all, were as follows: 1. Hatha McAlister's house, 2. do distillery, 3. do store, 3. do log house, 5. do stable, 6. J. W. Meyers' house, 7. Thomas Sparesm's house, 8. Alexander O Petrie's house, 9 John Thompson's house, 10 do do., 11. Neil McCarty's house, 12 Peter Holmes' house, 13. Margaret Simson's house, 14 do stable, 15 school house, 16. James Harrison's house, 17. Roswell Leavens' store, 18. do house, 19. do stable, 20. Robert Smith's house, 21. do store, 22. Roswell Leavens' blacksmith shop, 23. Theophilus Nelson's house, 24. do barn, 25. do Allen Taylor's house, 26 do. store, 27 do; stable, 28 Penuel G. Selden's house, 29 do. butcher's shop, 30 John Tomrow's house, 31 W. G. Maybee's house, 32. Richard Throm's house, 33 do. stable, 34 John Everett's house, 35 do. do., 36 do. barn, 37 Simon Ellis' house, 38 Simon McNabb's house, 39 do. store, 40 Thos. Coleman's shop, 41 do. house, 42 Benjamin Stone's house, 43 John Reynolds' house, 44 J. W. Meyers' house, 45 do. distillery.

Of these buildings 2, 6, 4, 9, 10 and 40 stood upon and 1, 17 and 18 encroached upon Front Street; 5 and 12 encroached upon Pinnacle street; 16 stood in Rear St., and 34 extended right across Church street. This latter was the hotel which caused the unsightly jog in that street west of Pinnacle street.

As a comparison of Wilmot's plan with the Belleville of to-day cannot fail to be of interest, we have placed the plan in our office window for the inspection of the public.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

The Americans, surely, never witnessed a campaign in which fraud and falsehood were more prominent than in the one just closed. Neither side does a monopoly of the dishonor belong.—Mail.

Oh, yes. There was a more prominent fraud in 1878 when Mr. Tilden was defrauded of the Presidency, to which he was chosen by the people.

The Mail is of the opinion that the fad has been enormously strengthened by the success of the Republicans. And yet Mr. Blaine said there was but one condition upon which Canada can have free trade with the United States, namely, annexation. The Mail can settle the matter with Mr. Blaine, who probably knows as much concerning the policy of his party as does the erudite editor of our Toronto contemporary.

Mr. R. M. Wells, a well-known Grit ex M. P., and the Globe are having a "discussion wid sticks" over the Manitoba railway muddle. Mr. Wells has had the best of the bout so far.

SOME AWFUL DISASTERS,

SIX MEN PERISH AT A FIRE IN THE FLOUR CITY.

Leaping to Escape the Flames They Die Within an Hour—Five Others Fatally Injured—Terrific Explosion.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 10.—The most disastrous fire ever experienced in this city occurred last evening at the works of the Steam Gauge and Lantern Company. It was located in a building of seven stories with two basements, situated on the bank of the Genesee Falls. The fire broke out at 7.53 o'clock. About forty people were at work mostly on the third floor. The smoke was very dense and the men could not reach the fire escapes and they were forced to jump from the third story windows. Four persons jumped on the west side of the building and were frightfully injured; six of them died within an hour. Four others will die. The names of the dead are:

JOSEPH DARNELL.
JOHN GREMOUR.
JOSEPH WERBER.
HARRY SCHNEIDER.
JOHN GALE.

An unknown man.

The fatally injured are Richard Paset, Frank Siddons, Daniel Watkins, John Jorn. It is thought that four or more bodies are in the ruins, making one or more dead.

Loss on building $65,000, insured for $40,000. Loss on lantern plant $175,000, insurance on plant $170,000.

DEATH IN A MINE.

Fearful Explosion—160 Men Thought to Have Perished.

The most dreadful disaster in the history of Kansas occurred at 3 o'clock Friday evening. When the men were preparing to leave off their work at shaft No. 2 at Frontenac, a suburb of Pittsburg, a terrific explosion was heard that shook the earth for a great distance and completely shattered the shaft. Upon investigation it was found that 160 men were within the mine at the time of the explosion. Being 112 feet below the surface it is almost certain they all are dead. The only exceptions were two men who were in a car coming up and being near the top of the shaft managed to escape.

Twenty Miners Drowned.

VIENNA, Nov. 10.—In the Bolgarbie coal mine, Hungary is flooded with water. Twenty miners were drowned.

Six Killed by This Collapse.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—A house collapsed in Litchfield-street yesterday, causing the death of 6 persons and the injury of 20.

A Collision at Sea.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—A telegram from Havre states the Transatlantic steamer Nantes came into collision 37 miles off the Lizard with the German ship T. Ruger, Captain Meyer, from Havre, and both vessel's sank. A portion of the ship's crew has landed at Trouville. The fate of the rest of her crew and of the steamer's crew is unknown.

THE CROFTERS AND CANADA.

The Question Will be Considered in the English House of Commons.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The whole question of crofter emigration will be raised in the Commons shortly upon a vote to defray the expenses of the last season for settlement in Manitoba. It is unde stood that the Scotch Radical members intend to use Duncan McIntyre's criticisms with a view to impede the development of the state aided scheme next spring. Mr. Smith stated in the Commons to-night that the Government intends to propose a vote at an early day in order that the House may discuss the course adopted by the Government, and expressed the hope that the full discussion would be deferred until the proposed special parliamentary emigration committee had considered the question. The Radical members entertain the strongest feeling that an immediate discussion is desirable.

The Pacific Cable Scheme Almost Assured.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Earl Winchelsea will preside at the conference on Nov. 22 to consider the Pacific cable project. All the leading commercial and shipping houses interested in Canada and Australasia are invited. The conference will be asked to strongly approve of the cable as a benefit to commerce during peace and a safeguard to the Empire during war and to petition the Government to obtain the necessary soundings with the least possible delay.

It is said the necessary imperial and colonial guarantee of £75,000 per annum is already practically assured, and the early completion of the survey is alone needed to enable the project to proceed.

Queensland's Protest Against Blake.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Queensland's official protest against the selection of Mr. Blake, late Governor of Newfoundland, as the new governor of Queensland, is exciting great interest in colonial circles. Mr. Childers, ex-minister, asked a question in the Commons to-night in reference to the time the official protest was received. Baron de Worms, replying on behalf of the Government, said the Colonial Office only received the protest on Saturday last, and it was by mere self governing colonies should not have some advisory voice in the selection of their governor.

Sir John Thompson and Sir Adolphe Caron returned from New York yesterday. They both say that they know nothing about being shadowed by detectives, and were testered to death by reporters. Said Sir Adolphe; "The New York reporter is the greatest nuisance I ever met in my life. If he were only satisfied to say what you tell him and take "no" for an answer, but he won't. The only interview accorded was one to The New York Herald the day after the election. Other reported conversations with us were purely imaginary. Altogether we had a pleasant time."

The Mormon delegates had an interview with Hon. M. Dawdney, Minister of the Interior, yesterday, and explained what they want. Amongst other things they desire a town site, a land improver for a grist and saw mill, exemption, for a time at least, from timber dues, the free admission of their cattle as settlers' effects, etc.

John Kennedy was shocked at the Police Court yesterday and charged with attempting to kill Policeman John Welch in Elizabeth-street Thursday night. Kennedy's motive for firing three or four shots at the officer from a revolver is somewhat of a mystery. The men had never met before, and Kennedy is a stranger in town. He says he came from Rochester. He elected to be tried by a jury and was remanded till Thursday without bail.

King Milan's Patriotism.

BELGRADE, Nov. 10.—The special commission to revise the constitution met yesterday. King Milan in a speech opening the sitting denied that he had advanced the scheme of revising the constitution in order to divert public attention from his private affairs. He had urged the work solely in the interest of the fatherland and he said he stood ready to abdicate if it was the wish of Crown to appoint members of the Skuptschina if the commission considered such a step necessary.

CHEATING THE HANGMAN.

A Villain Shot in a Scuffle—John Glenn's Awful Crime.

GLENN'S FALLS, N.Y., Nov. 10.—The most intense excitement prevails in the village of Sandy Hill over a series of events which is seldom paralleled in civilized localities. John Glenn, a well-known baseballist, formerly of Rochester, made a villainous attack upon the young daughter of Robert B. Sherrill, a prominent business man of the village, and fearfully abused her. The crime was committed in a secluded corner of the school grounds. The child was left in a terrible condition.

Glenn evidently thought that it would be well to get as far away from Sandy Hill as possible. After he committed the crime he at once fled. But the story of his offence became known almost instantly and a posse of citizens, hastily organized, started in pursuit. Officer Mason overtook Glenn at Hartley, two miles out of the village and captured him after a sharp tussle. Then the officer started for the police station. At a street corner the prisoner made his escape, taking refuge in the house of Hon. M. Paris. Officer E. P. Morrison joined Mason at that moment and after a search found Glenn hidden in the cellar of the house. Slipping a pair of handcuffs on the prisoner's wrists the officers placed him in a cart and drove rapidly to the office of Justice D. J. Sullivan.

As the news of the crime spread, hundreds of excited citizens gathered from all points, and arrangements for quickly and quietly lynching the villain as soon as he was captured. Officer Morrison stepped from the cart, with Glenn in charge, the crowd rushed upon him. The officer pluckily stuck to him man, and drawing his revolver, commanded the crowd to stand back. In the rush that followed, Morrison's arm was grasped by persons unknown, and the revolver was forced toward the prisoner and fired. The fellow dropped to the sidewalk. The bullet had penetrated his abdomen and lodged in the brain. He was removed to his brother's house. He is still alive, but is dazed in the extreme.

It is said that Glenn has already served two years for a similar offence, and that he was released from prison but a short time before the present crime. Once ago he shot at a street car driver, but failed to hit him.

AN ALLEGED RAILWAY DEAL.

The C. P. R. Said to be Negotiating for a Purchase From the G. T. R.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 10.—It is again stated here that the Canadian Pacific people are negotiating for the purchase of the Great Western division of the Grand Trunk from Komoka to Windsor. A well-known railroad man said last evening: "I know positively that the Canadian Pacific railway officials have been for a month or two trying to buy the Great Western. Two weeks ago there was only a difference of $450,000, and this is a mere bagatelle when the magnitude of the road is taken into consideration. The Grand Trunk loaned the Valley Railway the loan of forever shutting out the Canadian Pacific, and it is a loss to them. Besides, they have another road running into Detroit. Now that they see the Canadian Pacific is bound to come they will get rid of the Western as soon as possible.

MANITOBA MATTERS.

Retaliatory Measures Against the C. P. R. Likely to be Deferred.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 10.—The Sun says that the Legislature will probably defer action on the proposal to impose retaliatory measures against the Canadian Pacific Railway till the January session and even then cooler counsels will prevail.

Godin, a Montana outlaw, has been captured by Indians near Edmonton.

He was Competent.

When Quong was placed on the stand, counsel for the prisoner objected to his testimony on the ground that he wasn't a Christian.

"Where do you expect to go when you die?" asked his honor.

"Hellven," responded Quong, quietly.

"Where will you go if you tell an untruth?" asked the judge.

"Go to hellee!" was the prompt answer.

It was decided that he was a competent witness.—New York Star.

A HEAVY downfall of rain visited this section of the country this morning. It was accompanied by lightning and thunder.

THE street leading to the station is in a frightful condition. In a number of places the street car track is submerged in water for quite a distance.

A WAGGON loaded with farm produce came to a sudden standstill this morning at the corner of Mill street and Canifton Road by the breaking of an axle.

THE quietness which has prevailed for the past two days in police circles, was broken last night, three being arrested for drunkenness, and one vagrant.

FOR the benefit of the public we must persist in saying that J. Hennessy gives the best value in underwear, hosiery, ties, corsets and tweeds of any store in the city.

THE little cough or cold may be cured if taken in time. The trouble is so many do not take it in time, so in time it takes them to an early grave. If you have a cough or cold, procure at once a bottle of Holden's Expectorant, put up at Geen's drug store.

In giving the names of the officers of th St. Andrew's Society in yesterday's issue two officers were omitted, namely the physicians who are Dr. Rutherford of Morrisburgh, and Dr. A. D. Walker of Shannonville.

Thanksgiving Day.

Thursday next will be the annual Thanksgiving day for the Dominion, appointed by the government with a view to all our people expressing their gratitude for the blessings bestowed by a beneficent providence during the year.

An Umbrella Stolen.

Mrs. James Bradford was yesterday calling at a house on James street, and left her umbrella standing on the outside of the door, thinking it was perfectly safe. When she had occasion to leave she found that some sneak thief had stolen the umbrella.

Window Broken.

A number of boys were this morning congregated on the corner of the market square near Front street, when one of their number Wm. Lynch, pushed a companion through a large plate glass window, in the building formerly occupied by this office. He was not hurt.

Opera House.

The Semon Novelty Co. still continues to draw good houses. Last night three capital prizes were given—a lady's gold watch, a chinaware set and a handsome bed room set. With to-night's performance the company end their engagement here, when they offer similar prizes to those of last evening.

Is Matrimony a Failure?

Yesterday the City Clerk received a notice from a would be voter that he should apply to the Judge to have his name inserted on the voter's list in lieu of his wife's, who was on the list, but had married since issue of assessment. This leaves the question of the utility of matrimony pretty much as it was; for while the husband secures a vote, the wife loses her franchise.

Bears on the Move.

Our country correspondents are constantly writing us about the boldness of the bears this fall. On the 13th October one came to Mr. And w Gauley's gate in Marmora. It is needless to say it was not invited inside the gate. A bear visited the Marmora cheese factory and licked the grease out of the whey vat. Our correspondent facetiously remarks that they are moving south by rail and on foot.

A Sign Destroyed.

The principals of Ontario Business Colleges, Messrs. Robinson and Johnson, had placed at the entrance of the building on Front street a handsome plated sign. The letters "Ontario Business College" were engraved, and presented a fine appearance. Some persons who make a habit of standing in the doorway, have cut this sign to such an extent as to destroy its beauty. If the perpetrators are caught, they will be severely dealt with.

Passed Successfully.

Mr. Harry Simpson, son of J. H. Simpson, Esq., yesterday successfully passed his second intermediate law examination. This is the third law examination Mr. Simpson has passed this year, and reflects much credit upon him. He has been a student in the office of his father for some time.

Mr. Robert Lazier, of Messrs. Clute & Wallace's office, also passed a successful examination yesterday.

A Chance for Red-Headed Girls.

Speaking of the difference in people's natural abilities, a certain professor stated that he knew an auburn haired young lady, who, in four weeks' time, had been fitted for a short hand and type-writing position by means of Haven's system. "But then," added the professor, "all auburn-haired people are stupid; though it is said that The Haven College, 197 State Street, Chicago, guarantees to qualify any person for such positions in three months' time, by that system, or refund the money."

Address and Presentation.

Mr. James Ross, residing on Yeomans street, was last night agreeably surprised by a number of his friends of the Holloway street church. Mr. Ross is about leaving the city for a time and they did not wish him to do so without in some manner expressing their appreciation of him. An address was read by Prof. Swayze, and accompanying it was a purse which was presented by Mrs. M. A. Cobb. Mr. Ross was completely taken by surprise, but made a feeling reply. A pleasant evening was spent by those present.

A Long Tramp.

Alexander Fraser was arrested yesterday afternoon on the charge of vagrancy. The old man told, if true, a pitiful story. He says he had travelled on foot from Hamilton and visited every town and village between that city and this, and was unable to find anything to do. He also says he is willing to work if he is enabled to obtain it, and reported that he was informed that a number of men were wanted in Deseronto, whither he was journeying when placed under arrest for soliciting alms on Front street. He has but a short time been out from the Old Country.

Oddfellowship in Belleville.

Bro. C. Blackett Robinson, Managing Editor of the Sun-Times Oddfellow, who recently visited Belleville, speaks in the highest terms of the I.O.O.F. order and their premises. He attended a meeting of Belleville Lodge No. 51 and warmly commends the manner in which business is transacted in that lodge. The gist of Bro. Robinson's remarks is summed up in the following: "On the whole Oddfellowship is in a very healthy condition in Belleville. The membership of the two lodges aggregates nearly four hundred and supposed largely of an intelligent class of young men. The P. Gs., it is only fair to add, are regular in their attendance and take their fair share of the work."

The Improvements Completed.—A Formal Opening.

The semi-terminal examinations are over and the students are down to work with increased earnestness.

Mr. J. D. Gillanders, from British Columbia, has been compelled to give up and return home. He gave promise of becoming a brilliant student, but he was injured about the head a few years ago and study gave him trouble. His medical adviser told him he would have to quit, and he started yesterday on his trans-continental trip.

Mr. R. P. Wilder, the Princeton graduate, who spoke so closely at the John St. Church on Thursday evening, was at the College Friday morning and briefly stated his mission to Belleville. From a chart he showed the vast unoccupied field in India, no vast, indeed, that the mind fails to grasp the full scope of the territory, and, in an after meeting, asked for volunteers to occupy the field. There are some twenty theological students at the college, and of the number eleven pledged themselves to respond, viz: () Thos. A. Patterson, J. P. Armstrong, W. J. Cross, () W. E. Smith, Ed. V. C. Chambers, J. White, S. H. Brown, () A. W. Mills, Geo. Nickle, W. S. Boyce, () F. J. Livingston.

Those whose names are marked thus (*) have pledged themselves to this work.

Prof. Dyer Lavell occupied the pulpits of the forenoon to those interested in Mr. Wilder's mission, and much interesting in formation was gathered in that time in respect to the work to be done and the kind of preparation to make. In the evening Mr. Wilder addressed the Missionary society of the college. His discourse was intensely practical and instructive, and was enthusiastic and thoroughly given up to the work. He will speak at Victoria College, Cobourg, to-morrow, and at Toronto next week, when he will return to the United States.

The improvements at Albert are about over. The rooms formerly occupied by the museum are to be renovated and converted into dormitories, and when that is done the job will be finished. Most of the work has been given to house cleaning as the building is now quite inhabitable. The C. F. Smith Co. have made an excellent job of the steam fitting, and Messrs. Harris & Wallace have finished the upper flat. We are entitled to no small amount of credit for the neat manner in which they have done their work.

The faculty and students are preparing for a formal opening, to be given on Friday 10th inst., in the College chapel. Mr. S. B. Burdett, M.P., will occupy the chair, and addresses will be delivered by Rev. Dr. Potts, Toronto, Chancellor Burwash, of Victoria University, Dr. Carman, Gen. Sup. of the Methodist Church, and a number of local speakers. The Oddfellows' orchestra has been engaged, and the Glee club will be active preparation under Prof. Stanistreet. An evening of rare enjoyment is thus in store for those fortunate enough to receive the coveted invitation.

Annual Inspection.

The annual inspection of the 15th Batt. A. L. I. was held yesterday afternoon. The inspecting officer was under the supervision of Deputy Adjutant-General Straubenzie, assisted by Brigade Major Lewis. Paymaster King was also on hand. Owing to the weather, the inspection took place in the armory on Bridge street, the companies being inspected separately. The clothing and accoutrements were subjected to a close examination, and in every case fault was found, but on the whole the inspection was a creditable one, alike to the officers and men. While the inspection was being conducted the armory was filled, quite a number of spectators being present. At the conclusion of the inspection the battalion paraded and, headed by their band, proceeded up Front street to Hotel street, home to the hospital lot. Here the men were put through a number of movements by Captains Ponton and Halliwell and Major Henderson. The various movements were watched closely by the inspecting officers, and also by the large crowd of spectators who lined the sidewalk around the lot.

At the conclusion of their various manœuvres Adjutant-General Straubenzie addressed the men as follows: "I compliment you on the efficiency of your drill; I am sorry that the drill shed has not before been built, but I am pleased that this inconvenience will soon be remedied. I would like to see a uniformity of dress, the men dress alike and the officers also dress alike. There is no reason why Belleville should not be able to maintain its reputation, and have one of the best drilled corps in the district. If I have the privilege of inspecting you again next year, I hope that whatever defects there may be now will then be remedied, and that the drill shed will then be completed." He also complimented Col. Lazier on the efficiency of the Battalion. At the close of the Inspector's remarks cheers were given for the Queen and the Inspecting officers. The battalion was then re-formed and marched back to the armory, where the men were dismissed.

The pay sheet amounts to $2,200. There are in the battalion 260 men and non commissioned officers, and 24 commissioned officers.

The foundation of the new High School, which is to be erected in Madoc village, is already well under way. This will be all that will be done towards the building until next spring, when it will be completed.

On Thursday night last the Clear Lake cheese factory was completely destroyed by fire. The factory was a small one, situated away north of Warsaw in the direction of Clear Lake and was owned by Mr. Geo. Singleton.

On Monday last Mr. Stewart Wood, while felling trees in Gilmour's shanty near Tweed, met with a serious accident, but no an accident which has since proved fatal. It is the old story—the tree fell in an opposite direction to that in which he had intended and crushed him to the earth while endeavoring to escape. A day or two later he succumbed to his injuries. Deceased was only in his 20th year.

The new Intelligencer telegraph office is now in operation at Campbellford. The instrument was set up by Mr. J. G. The Indian Election.

For some time, the "hereditary Chief" cry, the promoters of which scheme promised money, land, and many other tempting baubles to the credulous, created some excitement on the Mohawk Reserve, Tyendinaga, and several became enamored of the gewgaws dangling before their eyes to impede the progress making and return to long lost customs. An attempt was made to abolish the elective system, and ignore all Acts of Parliament which had the gradual civilization of Indian tribes in view.

The elected Chiefs, with one exception, took no notice of the spreading epidemic, but quietly proceeded on the even tenor of their way. In course of time nomination day arrived; the "home rulers" or "powwowers" as they are called, attended in force, and after 11 candidates had been proposed, 7 Conservative and 4 Grit, and the proceedings almost terminated, three of the antiprogress men made speeches, urging upon their adherents not to vote, saying that their scheme would ultimately prevail if those who believed in it were true to their principles. A standing vote was taken, when a majority declared in favor of abolishing the elective system.

Election day came on Wednesday, the 7th inst. The three old Chiefs, who again offered their services to the band, were returned with increased majorities, and associated with them, to make up the required number, 5, are two new men, one of whom is a staunch Conservative, and the other an Independent. Some of the "home rulers" were defeated, but two were elected, and but for those who at the start came out as Grits and voted for Mr. Burdett at the last general election. Names of the Chiefs of the Mohawk band spoken, ranging upon their adherents not to vote, saying that their next 3 years are: Jacob B. Brant, Solomon Loft, Isaac Powles, John P. Brant, and Andrew Maracle.

A WAGES CASE

Michael Rossi, an Italian interpreter, applied to the Police Magistrate this morning for an order against J. S. Hendrie, contractor of the G. T. R. double track, for $30, wages alleged to be due to him for 16 days' work in October at the modest sum of $2.50 per day. The defence showed that Rossi was a contractor for furnishing Italian labor and was paid $1.50 per each man per month and a commission out of their wages for looking after them, and simply brought the men here and kept their time and bought them stores. The defence denied employing Rossi, as they had already a foreman of the gang with which the Italians worked. The plaintiff claimed that he had been employed, and that Mr. Glen Campbell had a time book given him. Defence argued he could not serve two masters. Judgment was reserved. S. B. Burdett appeared for Rossi, and W. N. Ponton for Mr. Hendrie.

Purse Lost and Found.

Mrs. Ferguson, living on the Canifton road, found on the market this morning a purse containing $8.60, which she immediately handed over to the police. Later in the day the property was claimed by Mrs. Jas. Fox, of Ameliasburgh, who gave a description of the purse and contents which corresponded with that in possession of the police, and it was handed over to her. It fell into honest hands.

ANOTHER LONDON HORROR

A TERRIBLY MUTILATED BODY FOUND IN SPITALFIELDS.

The Victim's Head Severed and Placed Under One of Her Arms—The Blood-hounds Lose the Scent.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The murder fiend has added another to his list of victims. At 11 o'clock yesterday morning the body of a woman cut in two pieces was discovered in a house in Dorset-street, Spitalfields. The body was disfigured in the same horrible manner as those of the women murdered in Whitechapel.

The appearance of the remains was frightful, and the mutilation was even greater than in the previous cases. The head had been severed and placed beneath one of the arms. The ears and nose had been cut off. The body had been disemboweled and the flesh was torn from the thighs. The skin had been torn off the forehead and cheeks. One hand had been placed into the stomach.

The victim, like all the others, was a fallen woman. She was married, and her husband was a porter. They had lived together at 3 Dorset-street. Her name is believed to have been Lizzie Fisher, but to meet the habitues of the haunts she visited she was known as "Mary Jane." She had a room in the house where she was murdered. She carried a latch key, and no one knows at what hour she entered the house Thursday night, and probably no one saw the man who accompanied her. Therefore it is hardly likely that he will ever be identified. He might easily have left the house at any time between 1 and 6 o'clock yesterday morning without attracting attention. The doctors who have examined the remains refuse to make any statement until the inquest is held.

Large bloodhounds belonging to private citizens, were taken to the place where the body was and placed on the scent of the murderer, but they were unable to keep it for any great distance and all hope of running the assassin down with their assistance has been abandoned.

The murdered woman told a companion Thursday evening that she was without money and unless she obtained it by nightfall would commit suicide. It has been learned that a man respectably dressed accosted the victim and offered her money. They then went to her lodgings on the second floor of the Dorset-street house.

No noise was heard during the night and nothing was known of the murder until the landlady went to the room early yesterday morning to ask for her rent. The first thing she saw on entering the room were the woman's breast and viscera lying on a table.

Dorset-street is short and narrow and is situated close to Mitre-square and Harbury-street.

In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Conybeare asked the question whether, if it was true that another woman had been murdered in the East End of London, the Chief of the Metropolitan Police, ought not to be superseded by an officer accustomed to investigate crime?

The question was greeted by cries of "Oh! Oh!"

The Speaker called: "Order! Order!" and said that notice must be given of the question in the usual way.

Mr. Conybeare replied: "I have given private notice."

The Speaker: "The notice must be made in writing."

Mr. Cunningham Graham then asked whether Messrs. Wigan and Isaacson were signed, to which Mr. Smith, the Government leader, replied "No."

There is great excitement about the management of the Metropolitan Police under Sir Charles Warren. Of seven chief officers five are retired military men with no police experience. Chief Inspector Shore, who successfully tracked and secured the conviction of the dynamiters, resigned in disgust, as did the Inspector of Detectives. He did not allow Munro to entirely sever his connection with the police and he is retained in the Government service.

The force numbers nearly 12,000 men, and is the only police force, except the Royal Irish Constabulary, in Great Britain directly under the control of the Government.

THE AMERICAN GIRL.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The social politics have almost been forgotten and the American girl has the call. The newspapers all over England are devoting columns of comment to Chamberlain's approaching marriage with Miss Endicott. Society people are making enquiries everywhere for information about the bride elect. Independently of political considerations the doors of a large number of the great houses in England are already open to Chamberlain, and in London, Birmingham and in the midland counties in particular his wife will at once become a figure of great social prominence.

Birmingham feels somewhat slighted by the mystery which Chamberlain has observed in taking the departure of his bride in the manner in which he excluded even his most intimate friends from his confidence. He anticipated this, and when the matter began to be talked about his son Austin went to the editor of The Birmingham Post and furnished the explanation which has since been telegraphed throughout the length and breadth of the land. The reason generally given here for the mysterious flight of Chamberlain and his daughter is that Mr. Endicott had stipulated that the engagement should be kept a strict secret because of the bitter feeling against the Irish vote on the presidential election if it were made public that the daughter of a member of Cleveland's cabinet was going to marry the man who was responsible to the cause of home rule has made him hated by Irishmen all over the world.

Austin Chamberlain declines to say whether this is the real reason for the secrecy which has been observed or not. The young man is profuse in praise about his new American stepmother though he is old enough to marry her himself. He says that the date of the marriage is not yet been fixed, but that it will take place very soon after Chamberlain's arrival. Meanwhile the English papers are good-humoredly scolding Chamberlain for going across the sea for a wife, even though she is a lineal descendant of the pilgrim fathers. The Pall Mall Gazette says:

"The advent of an American girl into English society was at first a curiosity. It soon became a portent. It is now assuming the dimensions of a menace. Before long it will be recognized as a calamity. Of all forms of competition that is the most fatal to us. What we can stand our farmers being ruined by American corn, we can listen unmoved to the wails of gardeners who have been driven out of business by American beef, but the American girl is too much. Already we hear the murmur and the drawing room grow of the despairing virgins and mothers who seek season after season American girls swoop down upon the most eligible and clear out our girls out before the very eyes of the distracted parents. That murmur is growing and before long will rival the lament of the Israelites over the idols of the heathen Chinese. We are being ruined, not by Chinese cheap labor, but by the beauty and self-confidence of the American girl. How can we cope with it? What is to be done? Are we to impose a prohibitive tariff on the description of American produce? The Prince of Wales is, of course, most to blame in this matter. Instead of discouraging the disastrous influx of American beauty, as was the bounden duty of every good Briton, this unscrupulous prince took the fair intruders under his special patronage. An ingenious correspondent recently sent us a suggestion that corn is a term was in which to give the Americans tit for their recent tat in re Sackville. This was for his royal highness to boycott the American element in London. We fear, however, that the prince is too much of a free trader to listen for a moment to any suggestion as to reprisals, and that we must look elsewhere for remedies, if remedies there may be, for this intolerable competition."

THE GUILDHALL BANQUET.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The usual banquet of the Cabinet Ministers was given at the Guildhall last evening. Lord Salisbury delivered a long speech. He denied that the Government had yielded to their opponents on the question of policy. They were never more resolute or more confident in advancing a policy which they honestly believed they could successfully execute.

England had perhaps noticed that popular institutions existed to the westward. [Laughter.] Events in America would add more to the history of electioneering than to the history of politics. [Laughter and cheers.] If there was any complaint against the Washington statesmen it did not involve the two nations. [Cheers.] The Washington statesmen had not apparently commended themselves to the approval of Americans. [Cheers.]

In regard to the peace of Europe Lord Salisbury said it appeared that all of the rulers had an earnest and intense desire to maintain the peace. He trusted that they would continue in their present attitude. The only danger might be an outburst of the people of some country who might disregard the wise counsel of them in power. Year after year saw larger armaments and vaster expenditures for defensive purposes. If the process continued, where would it end? He had heard on good authority that the five great powers maintained 12,000,000 of armed men. He did not suggest that that fact ought to diminish the confidence of the public in the maintenance of peace, but he thought that amid such preparation the English Government must not remain unready. [Cheers.] If England's commercial community felt that the Government's power of protection was insufficient the terror that would result would cause a greater loss than any expenditure necessary to maintain confidence. But European nations must view their armaments with misgiving. England only sought to protect her shores and her commerce.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The business failures occurring throughout the country during last seven days was number for the United States 94 and for Canada 32, or a total of 226, as compared with 273 last week, and 254 the week previous to the last. For the corresponding week of last year the total was 245, made up of 225 in the United States and 20 in Canada.

The Tragedy in Dawn.

PETROLIA, Nov. 10.—The verdict of the coroner's jury who investigated the tragedy which took place in Dawn Township Thursday morning was: "That James Scott came to his death by a gunshot wound inflicted by his wife while laboring under a fit of insanity."

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

Like Cleveland, Harrison Failed to Carry His Own County.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 10.—Official returns from all the precincts show that Gen. Harrison carried the city of Indianapolis by a plurality of 156, the vote being: Harrison, 13,326; Cleveland, 13,170. Blaine carried the city by 623 plurality. Official returns for Marion County including the City of Indianapolis give: Cleveland 17,517, Harrison 17,139; Cleveland's plurality 378 against 226 plurality for Blaine in 1884.

It is pretty definitely settled that Gen. Harrison's plurality in Indiana will be about 2500. The official figures for the State will probably not be known for several days yet, as only three counties have been received by the secretary of State. The Democrats concede, however, that the Republican plurality will be about 2500.

The entire Republican state ticket is elected. Gen. Hovey's vote kept very close to the presidential vote.

Both Claiming West Virginia.

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 10.—The excitement over the result of Tuesday's election still continues. Both parties are figuring on the slow-coming returns and claiming the state.

Inaugural Preparations Begun.

Blaine Can Have Anything He Wants.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—A report from Augusta says Mrs. Blaine is opposed to her husband taking the State Department; but that she is trying to persuade him to accept the British mission.

Crazed by the Election.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—David Waxman, aged 20, was driven insane by the election excitement, and was taken to the asylum yesterday. He imagines himself to be President-elect Harrison.

Boosters' Returning Sanity.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 10.—Indianapolis Republicans are still jubilant, but the remarkable demonstrations of the past two days have ceased. General Harrison is receiving a great many callers.

Juvenile Burglars.

UXBRIDGE, Nov. 10.—For some time past merchants of this place have missed goods from their stores, but the thefts were so adroitly committed that it could not be positively asserted that the articles were stolen. Two young lads, Charles Comb and Richard Welch, aged 15, have been committed for trial.

Preferred Jail to Work.

A Plausible Explanation.

Two small boys walking behind an Italian who wore rings in his ears, were overheard discussing the subject as follows: "Just see," said one, "he has earrings." "Yes; I wonder how a man came to wear earrings" said the other. Silence prevailed for a moment, when the first boy solemnly observed: "Maybe his father and mother put them on him when he was such a little child that they didn't know whether he was a boy or girl." This explanation seemed to greatly relieve and satisfy both the little fellows.

BABY'S SKIN AND SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by Cuticura Remedies.

Our oldest child, now six years of age, when an infant as invalids did was attacked with a virulent, malignant skin disease. At various y remedies failing, we relied on family physician who attempted to cure it; but it spread with almost incredible rapidity, until the lower portion of the little fellow's person, from the middle of his back down to his knees, was one solid rash, ugly, purple, itching and unsightly. We had no rest at night, no peace by day. Finally, we were advised to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES. The effect was simply marvellous. In three or four weeks a complete cure was wrought, leaving the little fell w's entire skin smooth and healthy as though he had never been attacked. In my opinion your valuable remedies saved his life, and to-day he is a strong, healthy child, perfectly well, no repetition of the disease having ever occurred. GEO. B. SMITH,

CLEAR SKIN, PURE BLOOD.

No mother, who loves her children, who takes pride in their beauty, purity, and health, and in bestowing upon them a child's greatest inheritance,—a skin with not a blemish, and a body nourished by pure blood—should fail to make trial of the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

I have seen the CUTICURA REMEDIES used for milk crust by a relative in my house, and can say truly that the cure was speedy and permanent. I have also used them myself, for eruptions of the skin on my little child, with satisfactory result in every respect. The skin was broken out and began to assume ugly appearances. I have also heard my neighbors speak of the CUTICURA REMEDIES in the highest terms. E. P. BEAR,

Strange, but Still True.

Mrs. David Carstairs, Haldimand Township, met with a very pleasant surprise a few weeks ago. It seems Mrs. Carstairs has suffered a great deal from Dyspepsia and Indigestion, the symptoms of which were, pains in the stomach and bowels, and sick headache. She has tried a great many physicians, and so unlimited amount of patent medicines, but without any success; and last but not least, she tried Dowling's Pepsin Compound, and one bottle has removed both pain and ache. She returns the kindest regards to F. E. Dowling, Cobourg,

This is a sort of maze. You should find the first letter of the first word, and then follow on till you have solved the secret. You may read from one letter to the next, north, south, east or west, but never in a northeasterly, northwesterly southeasterly or southwesterly direction. You will find here a small bundle of proverbs which, if attended to, will be as useful to you as they have been to others.

New Style of Hairdressing.

Says a close observer of details: "A style of hairdressing greatly in vogue among the most fashionable women in Newport and Saratoga this summer was a flat coil of small braids wound pancake fashion against the back of the head. Mrs. Prescott Lawrence specially affects this style, and it is exceedingly becoming to her beautifully shaped head."—New York Herald.

The first reported marriage under this law took place a few days since at Wilkesbarre.

STANDING ALONE.

"The baby is standing all lonely,"
The chi dren shout in their glee—
And father and mother and auntie
Must hurry and come and see.
So baby—the cute little darling!
Is put through the wonderful feat,
And fondled and kissed and commended
For being so smart and sweet.

With the cunningest air of triumph
She stands in the midst of us all—
While the outstretched arm of her mother
Is ready to save a fall,
And whether the little one totters
Around her this arm is thrown.
"'Tis very fine fun," thinks the baby—
"This frolic of standing alone!"

Ah! many a time in the future
She'll long for the aid of that arm,
When the love and care of a mother
No longer can shield her from harm!
For oft when our need is the sorest,
There's no one to whom we can turn;
And standing alone is a lesson
'Tis hard for a woman to learn.

And often and over my baby,
Before life's journey is done,
You will yearn in your hours of weakness
For something to lean upon.
When the props upon which you depended
Are taken away or o'erthrown,
You will find 'tis wearisome, baby—
So wearisome! Standing alone.

Dead at the Boat.

There were a dozen pleasure boats tied to the long wharf in the inlet. The tide lifted or lowered them as it ebbed or flowed, and now and then a pulsation of the sea caused those mysterious throbbings like the heart beat of some great animal—swept in and rocked them for a moment as if a drowning man had clutched at their keels. There was no thought of danger there.

As we hunted the beach for shells and the score of strange things cast up by the ever laboring tide, a boy of seven or eight was seen by some as he made his way to the wharf. The sight of him had long been forgotten, and hours passed before the cry of "missing!" echoed along the beach, and met with pale faces and women with tears in their eyes came to tell us that a boy had stolen away by himself at mid-afternoon and returned not. Then we remembered, but it was too late. One of the boats had disappeared. In the dusk of evening keen eyes made out a speck on the ocean. In his play the child had untied the painter, the ebbing tide had seized the boat in its clutch, and, dumb with terror, or fearing no danger, he had uttered no cry. Down the narrow channel—around the point—out into the bay—through the mouth of the inlet the boat had drifted, and no one had given heed. When we elbow our way through crowded streets, we do not reflect that some one of the crowd may be lost—as fearful and bewildered as if he were lost in the forest, but such may be the fact.

A dozen men were ready to clamber into the yacht which started in pursuit. The tide was still running out, and the night breeze favored. It was a strong breeze, and it had voices in it. Sometimes it came whistling like a laugh of derision; then it drew a long sigh, as if in sorrow; then it wailed like a child longing for its mother's arms and sleep. The pulsations from the great ocean came oftener, because it was growing vexed and the swash of the foam, as it broke from the crest of the rollers, gleamed balefully in the darkness as we strained our eyes seaward.

"God help the boy!" whispered the old pilot, as we asked if he had any chance.

Through the bay—through the inlet—with its waters boating the rocks in sullen fury, and the tide in the channel running like a mill race, and now we are out at sea. The wind is freshening and there is a scream with each gust. The rollers run higher and higher, and the tops break down with a swish which reminds you of the growl of some fierce animal at bay to make his last fight. A man with a night glass sweeps the yeasty waste for sight of the drifting boat.

"Port!" he says, and hope springs to our hearts. "Starboard!" he says, and we know that it was the sight of a black topped wave which deceived him. We tack to the left—to the right—we hold straight out upon the great sea whose further waters kiss the shores of Europe. By and by comes the whisper:

"Steady as you go—I see the boat!" and we swing our hats and cheer.

The echo of the cheer comes back in a mocking way, and there is a hiss of defiance in the wash as the yacht sweep astern. Now we are close on the boat—now we all see it—now we have it.

"Where is the boy?"

Someone flashes the light of a lantern over the recovered boat, and crouched down in its stern, eyes open, hands clasped in prayer, lips parted to speak, and a face so white that it shames the foam, we see him. We speak kindly—we call out to him. He does not heed. A man drops into the boat and creeps astern and touches him, tells him he is saved—but he still prays. He is lifted up, and the brawny fisherman who holds him in his arms and thinks of his own little ones at home, grasps for breath as he whispers to us:

"Take him tenderly—he is dead!" And so it was—dead of the wild pulsations of the sea—of the sinister tide—of the wailing breeze—of the swish and the roar and the foam—of terror.—Detroit Free Press.

Cured By B. B. B. When all Else Failed.

Not Wanted Either Way.

"Do you want a dog, mister?" asked a seedy-looking boy, leading a poor miserable terrier into the park by a string.

"How much do you ask for him?"

"Five dollars."

"Well, mister, I'll give him to you."

"No, thanks; that's too cheap."—Harper's Bazar.

—George O. Barnes, the Kentucky evangelist, is now devoting his energies to the conversion of men from the soul destroying habit of meat eating, arguing that Jehovah did not intend the human race to feed on animal food.

—There is a difference between energy, force and vigor. Energy is connected with the idea of acting, force with that of capability, and vigor with that of health. Energy lies only in the mind, while force and vigor are the property of either body or mind.—Hartford Religious Heartld.

—A gentleman once dined at the table of a poor minister of the gospel. The fare was frugal in the extreme. The minister made a brief and appropriate apology by saying: "My wife, sir, is generous, but she is just; it is only by extreme economy that we are able with our income to meet our expenses."—Lutzville Western Recorder.

—A colored brother recently, in contradicting what another colored brother had stated, said: "Brother Moderator, that is a matter of wrongfulness of statement." An original way of putting it, truly. Instead of declaring that any given declaration is false let us hereafter say it is a matter of wrongfulness of statement." We thank the colored brother for the expression.—Louisville Recorder.

—The Christian at Work prints a list of sensational topics announced by American preachers, and says they compare favorably with dime novel titles. Here are a few of the sermon titles: "Boycotting the dea'l," "The Great Oil," "Straight from the Shoulder," "Hell, and the people Who are Going There." "Taken by the Throat," "Use Your Eyes," "Off Goes the Roof," "Up comes the Man."

—Miniature preaching on special occasi ons, sometimes take texts the appropriateness of which strikes an audience at once. It was probably so with a preacher who has just published a volume of sermons. One was "preached at the funeral of a young lady who was burned to death," and the text was—"And they need no candle,"etc. This certainly suggested that there could be no recurrence of the calamity that removed her.—Christian Inquirer.

—John G. Whittier, the poet, in a letter to the Secretary of the Howard Association, of London, thus defines his religious belief: "I like practical Christianity and true following of the Master. I weary of creeds and dogmas more and more. I love the old ways of Grellet and Woolman, but I have no controversy with others. I am now in feeble health. My work is done. I wish it were better done, but I trust and am thankful that I cannot glory in myself. My sole trust is in the goodness of God."

—The evangelization of the Chinese is likely to receive a serious check, the expectation being that, in revenge for the Exclusion Bill, no more American missionaries will be allowed in China. The loss to the Chinese will, however, be more fancied than real, as according to the report of the secretary of the American Board of Foreign Missions, the efforts made in the past in the field of Chinese missions have been almost puerile. The report states that not 1 in 400 ever heard the name of Christ, or has as yet had the opportunity of hearing that name, and that there is but 1 missionary to every 818,000 souls.

—The largest gift ever received by a missionary society at one time has just been made over to the American Missionary Society by Mr. Daniel Hand, an aged resident of Guilford, Conn. It amounts to $1,000,894.25, and will be devoted to the education of needy and indigent colored people of Africa descent in the States wherein slavery existed in 1861. Mr. Hand had money invested in pine lands in South Carolina when the war broke out, and was then a resident of that State, but being in favor of the abolition of slavery, he had to get out. He expected to find his property confiscated, but his confidential clerk took good care of it, and from a value of $150,000 in 1861 it advanced with the prosperity of the South till a few years ago its worth was nearly $1,000,000. The bequest will be a great boon to the colored people.

THINGS UNLIKE A CHRISTIAN.

It is not like a Christian to come into church on the Lord's day after the service has commenced and sit down as though you had nothing to be ashamed of.

It is not like a Christian to stare about during service and to be busied pulling on your gloves and arranging your dress whilst the last acts of worship are being offered.

It is not like a Christian to wander from your own church and to choose to meet with a strange congregation when the members of your own church are assembled for worship.

It is not like a Christian to absent yourself from the prayer meeting when a little sacrifice would make it possible for you to attend.

It is not like a Christian to subscribe only $1 for missions while you can afford to subscribe $10.

It is not like a Christian to gauge the amount of contributions by what others give, and to over look the rule which requires us to give as God has prospered us.

It is very unlike a Christian to absent yourself from church when a special collection is to be taken up.

It is very unlike a Christian to go out of your church when the supper of the Lord is to be observed.

It is not like a Christian to leave others to teach the young, and visit and instruct the ignorant and wicked when you have an opportunity of joining in the good work.

It is not like a Christian to be self seeker, or to overlook the rule that whether we eat or drink, or whatever we do, we are to do all for the glory of God.

Among the Indians.

"While my husband was trading in furs he came across an Indian who was taken to his lodge to die. He had inward pains and pains in all his limbs. He gave some Yellow Oil internally and applied it externally, and cured him. It also cured my husband of rheumatism, and I find it valuable for coughs and colds, sore throat, etc." Mrs. A. Besaw, Cook's Mills, Serpant River, Ont.

The Modus Operandi.

The mode of operating of Burdock Blood Bitters is that it acts at once and at the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and the Blood, to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in Chronic Complaints.

Hesitation means Loss.

If your hair is coming out or turning grey, or if you find dandruff in your hair do not hesitate about looking after it. The Dangerous Coal Oil.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—The explosion of poorly-refined coal oil is the cause of another accidental burning. A little girl named Beauchamp, living on Maple street, while helping her mother in domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while resting on the table Her burning clothing was only torn from her with much difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quick y summoned and the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined Oil is considerable quantity of inferior Coal Oil is being sold.

In order to avoid these low grades we have tak n the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil:

'CARBON SAFETY OIL'

A specially refined and superior grade of Canadian Oil,

ASTRAL OIL,

A high grade American Oil.

These we can most confidently recommend to our retail trade as goods that will give entire satisfaction.

We are also fully supplied with Water Weite and Prime White American Oil and the usual brands of Canadian Oil.

IMPORTANT FACTS ABOUT SOILS.

Information That Will Guide to the Selection of a Farm.

The soil is a compound substance of mineral, vegetable and animal particles that form the upper stratum of the earth's surface. In selecting the site for a farm there are many things to be considered in addition to the character of the soil. Among these is the important one of location with regard to market facilities, health, good neighborhood and prosperity rise in value. Soils admit of many classifications, arising from their different constituents. Rocks are the original basis of soils, having by the long continued agency of the forces of nature, by air, moisture, frost and heat, been resolved into minute particles, taking on the form of earth. Soils are called stony, gravelly, clayey, peaty, etc., according as the substances named constitute a leading feature in the compound. A loam is a soil chiefly composed of silicious sand, clay and other earthy substances along with a large percentage of decayed vegetable and animal matter, to which it principally owes its fertility. The pulverulent brown substance formed by the action of air on solid animal or vegetable matter, is called humus, and is a valuable constituent of soils. It renders stiff soils friable, absorbs and retains moisture, and in a large degree supplies the mineral elements of decayed matter in soluble forms for plant growth.

The capacity of a sandy loan for retaining moisture depends on the amount of decayed vegetable matter which it contains and without which it will be infertile. Sandy and clay soils required different treatment. Each will be benefited by an admixture with the other, but the miles of fibre and sand and clay alone will be sterile unless supplied with decomposed vegetable matter. Under draining is highly beneficial to clay soils. A sandy loam is easily worked and is among the most desirable of all the soils.

Ivy Poisoning.

For the benefit of all who may come in contact with poison ivy, poison sumach, rattlesnakes and other poisonous reptiles and insects, I wish to inform them that lobelia inflata has been in my practice (botanic or physio-medical) a successful remedy. I think I have saved very many lives with it. My brother, A. Tyrrell, M. D., and I, who have been in the practice of medicine over fifty years, were poisoned very badly every summer when we were boys at work on the farm. We suffered torments for what we thought was no sin. When scratching and rubbing was irresistible we rubbed our feet and legs with many kinds of herbs in trying to stop the itching and burning, but with very little relief until we used green lobelia leaves, which relieved our sufferings every time after when we got poisoned. I thought then that the knowledge we had gained of lobelia was worth $50 to us as antidote for ivy poison.

A Substantial Smoke House.

In the annexed cut is represented a substantial smoke house advised and described by Ohio Farmer as well suited for a large farm:

A SMOKE HOUSE.

The house is 6 by 7 feet square. The bottom is excavated the size of the building, 2 feet deep, filled in with small stone, and on this a brick floor, well cemented, is laid. This insures dryness. The walls are of brick, 8 inches thick and 7 feet high, with a small door on one side, lined on the inside with sheet iron or zinc. Hooks should be firmly attached to the lids, on which to hang the hams and shoulders. This style of smoke house is not very expensive, is safe from fire, and when not in use for smoking, meat is an excellent receptacle for ashes, which ought never to be kept in contact with wood, on account of the danger from spontaneous combustion.

Personified Plants.

Plants are thus personified by The Western Christian Advocate: The pepper and mustard represent a class known as "sharp" people; the spice trees, others; and tobacco and barley, sour tempers. The violet and lily are the preachers of humility, purity and righteousness. The tea plant and catnip are the old ladies of the village, without whom society would be incomplete. The best and surer cane is sometimes found in the gulches. Pine gulls, peg furners; wheat and corn, provision dealers; and the cocoanut palm furnishes as many articles as the constructive Yankee. Little wayside plants by stagnant pools are scavengers. Some plants prefer water —they are the Baptists; some run all over creation—they are the Methodists; some stand up straight and orderly—they are the Presbyterians; others cling to ancient walls and churches—they are the Episcopalians and Catholics. There are plants that live alone, like hermits; others load a noisome life, wandering all over everything.

Stories That Are Told.

Trees planted around a house at a distance of twenty feet or more are now talked of as better lightning protectors than rods.

Whoever would attempt to keep a permanent meadow by top dressing should select other grasses than timothy for seed, unless he scatters seed freely with the manure applied, says A. W. Cheever.

It is a mistake, says F. D. Curtis, to mix chilled milk with fresh, as the latter will be injured by the former.

An experienced poultry man maintains that fowls live, thrive and pay about as well in confinement (when properly managed and cared for) as when running at large. But they will never bear crowding.

Readers having silk cocoons of the crop of 1888 for sale should apply to the "commissioner of agriculture," Washington, D. C., and obtain a circular relating to terms of purchase.

Recent reports are to the effect that there will be barely half a crop of apples in England and Scotland.

Reports from the northwest show an average yield of eighteen bushels of wheat to the acre in northern Minnesota and fifteen bushels to the acre in Dakota.

TWENTY-FIVE DEAD MEN

TAKEN OUT OF THE PITTSBURG (KAN.) MINES.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 11.—A special from Pittsburg, Kan., gives details of the horrible explosion in shaft No. 2 of the Pittsburg and Gherokee Coal & Mining Company near that place on Friday night. The company had more orders than they could fill and in their attempts to keep up they have been running an unusually large force of miners. Friday morning 164 men were lowered into the shaft as usual. At noon 139 shots were fired all right and later the miners descended for afternoon duty. At 5.30 they were ready to fire their shots again. The first shot had been fired but before a man could be hoisted a terrible rumbling noise was heard above and a black cloud of dirt, slate and dust shot into the air from the mouth of the shaft, tearing away the tracks upon which the cages are hoisted and filling the shaft with debris.

The explosion occurred in the east side and is attributed to the inexperience of some of the new men. Before the men outside could recover their senses, one of the miners appeared at the air shaft nearly suffocated. He was helped out and followed by others until a large number had escaped—how many is not known. Then ropes were sent help at hand, and those at the top devoted their attention to rescuing their entombed companions. The engine house, only slightly damaged, was first repaired, canvas being tacked over the holes that had to be closed. About 12 o'clock the fan house was ready and fresh air was pumped into the mines, driving back the poisonous gas and averting suffocation. Attention was then turned to repairing the cribbing so that the cages could be lowered. Men lowered into the bottom of the shaft was badly damaged and it was difficult to get at the dead. As found they were piled together at the bottom and the living and badly wounded were hoisted to the top. At 4 a.m. five had been rescued and at 1 p. m. four more were brought out alive. At this time they struck an entry containing twelve more dead and at 2 p. m. twenty-five dead and nine wounded had been found, with 25 missing who are supposed to be dead. A large number of the killed are French and Italians.

A temporary hospital was prepared in a blacksmith shop near by, where the most heartrending scenes were witnessed as the mangled and badly-burned men were carried in. David Owen and W. Elwood, two of the badly injured, died soon after being taken to the hospital.

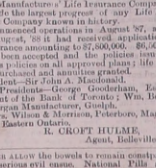

For hours after the explosion smuffed out the lives of nearly 100 men the scene at the pit was distressing. Poorly clad women, with babies clasped to their breasts, came through the darkness by the light cast from the bonfires, like haggard, uncanny beings from another world. Some shrieked above the storm, and muttered as they fell helpless on the shoulders of their more stronger neighbors, others were mad in their despair and tore their hair and garments and would have dashed into the tomb headlong but for the strength exerted by miners from other shafts. One young woman whose husband and two sons were in the pit laid her three youngest children beside a blazing fire and fell insensible among them. She lay unnoticed in this position until morning when she was removed to her home a raving maniac.

At one time the crush of women and children at the shaft was so great that it was feared that violence would be necessary in order to clear the way for the rescuers. The poor creatures fought each other in their despair and in some instances inflicted severe punishment. As the night wore on the work of recovering the bodies continued until the floor of the engine room was strewn with mangled men. Then bodies were placed in rows upon the ground where the rain and snow beat upon them. Most of the victims were shockingly mutilated and some were so disfigured as to be unrecognizable. All were covered with blood and dust, and many were almost naked of sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended I tried one box of Parmelee's Valuable Pills. I am now nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money."

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body. Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

Of all the dyspeptic remedies ever placed in the market, Dowling's Pepsin Compound takes the lead. Why? Because it acts naturally on the digestive organs of the stomach, and not mechanically, like the other patent medicines. Besides, it helps to assimilate and digest all the foods that enter the stomach. Ask your druggist for a bottle.

Belleviliites follow the example of Mrs. Geo. Leech, of Haldimand, and many others, and rid themselves of that dire disease, dyspepsia and indigestion.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

Valuable to Know.

Consumption may be more easily prevented than cured. The irritating and harassing cough will be greatly relieved by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. For sale by all druggists or sent post-paid on receipt of price (50c. and $1.) by addressing Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Rare Combination.

There is no other remedy or combination of medicines that meets so many requirements, as does Burdock Blood Bitters in its wide range of power over the chronic diseases as Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Complaint, Scrofula and all humors of the blood.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Is very palatable and much better than the plain oil. Dr. W. H. Cameron, of Halifax, N. S., says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver oil with Hypophosphites for the past two years and found it more agreeable to the stomach, and have better results from its use than any other preparation of the kind I have ever tried." Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

There are a number of varieties of corns, Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

Orin Catlin, 49 Pearl Street Buffalo, N. Y., says: I tried various remedies for the piles but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications.

MRS. GEORGE LEECH, Haldimand Township, has received more benefit from a few bottles of Dawling's Pepsin Compound, than anything she has ever taken in her life. She has been troubled with billiousness, loss of appetite and constipation for years. Now she has none of these troubles. People write to her and see how she will recommend you to take Dawling's Pepsin Compound if you are Dyspeptic.

The cheapest medicine in use is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, because a very little of it is required to effect a cure. For croup, diphtheria, and diseases of the lungs and throat, whether used for bathing the chest or throat, for taking internally or inhaling it is a matchless compound.

What does Dowling's Pepsin Compound cure? Dyspepsia and Indigestion. What are the symptoms? Billiousness, constipation, lack of energy, drowsiness, headache, pains in the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, depression of spirits. Ask your druggist for it.

Dowling's Little Liver Granules are highly recommended for all diseases of the liver.

Mr. Thomas Bailey, Cayuga, Ont., writes: "I have been afflicted for nearly a year with that most to be dreaded disease Dyspepsia, and at times worn out with pain and want of sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended I tried one box of Parmelee's Valuable Pills. I am now nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money."

Strange, but Still True.
Mrs. David Carstairs, Haldimand Township, met with a very severe surprise a few weeks ago. It seems Mrs. Carstairs has suffered a great deal from dyspepsia and indigestion, the symptoms of which were, pains in the stomach and bowels, and sick headache. She has tried a great many physicians, and an unlimited amount of patent medicines, but without any success; and last but not least, she tried Dowling's Pepsin Compound, and one bottle has removed the pain and ache. She returns the kindest regards to P. E. DOWLING, Cobourg, for his magnificent remedy. Enclosed, take pattern by this woman, and ask your Druggist for it

GEORGE RITCHIE & CO.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N.Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result of this extensive and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases in which all else had failed, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a "medical" prescription for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerfully, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in relieving and curing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms, and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia, and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will every time prove beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhœa, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness, in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

NOT SO BAD AFTER ALL.

It has been the aim of the advocates of customs union and of continental free trade to inculcate the belief that the people of Canada are over-burdened with taxation, and assertions to that end have not been lacking. Happily, however, the Globe has refuted these statements by publishing figures which show that, as compared with the United States, our taxation is 30 per cent. per capita 18 lighter than the taxation of that country. According to our contemporary, Dominion taxation in Canada is $5.98 and Federal taxation in the United States is $5.60 per head per annum. In Canada, however, we pay about 70c. per head per annum for provincial subsidies, and a considerable sum on account of our indebtedness for public works (including railways), which classes of expenditure are not borne by the Federal Government of the United States.

Municipal taxation in Ontario amounts to $4.70 and in the United States municipal and State taxation amounts to $6.02 per head per annum.

The comparison, therefore, of taxation for all purposes in Ontario and in the United States is as follows:

	Ontario.	United States.
Federal taxation	$5 98	$5 60
Municipal and State taxation	4 70	6 02
	$10 68	$11 62

The inhabitants of Ontario are, therefore, more lightly taxed by 94 cents each per annum than are their neighbors in the United States. The comparison, then, is decidedly in favor of Ontario thus far, and when the rate per family—taking five as the average number of each family—is compared it is still more so, the figures being:

Ontario	$53.40

or $4.70 per annum less for each head of a family in Ontario than in the neighboring country, the enviable condition of whose people has been so much vaunted.

But this is not the only respect in which the residents of Ontario are better off than their neighbors across the line. Our crops average higher in field and in price, and whilst our cheese commands a better price in the English market than that of the United States, we get higher rate in England for our cattle by several dollars per head than is paid for those from the United States, because Canadian cattle can be imported into Great Britain alive and taken to the interior markets; and finally our foreign trade is nearly twice as great per head of the population as that of the United States, the figures being for Canada $41.52 and for the United States $23.47, or $18.05 in favor of Canada.

There is nothing, we submit, in the above statements, to discourage Canadians or to cause them to envy their neighbors to the south.

WHICH IS KING?

A city clergyman yesterday remarked that every man should be king in his own household, which caused considerable discussion among the heads of families during the day as to which is king. The ruling power in most households could be summed up in the remark of a good wife to her husband when she said, "My dear, you are king in this house when you do as I tell you."

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

There is now an outcry in the United States for purity of election. A similar cry has been heard in Great Britain and in Canada, and the result has been the enactment of stringent laws against bribery and corruption, with provisions for disqualification of candidates proved guilty of personal violation of the law and for severe punishment of the briber and the corrupted. The effect of this legislation has no doubt been to lessen to some extent the corruption of the electors; but absolute purity of election has not been, and probably never will be, secured in this or any other country.

The St. John's, Quebec, News is thus severe on the poor old Montreal Herald: "No! there are some people who are, or ought to be, beyond reform, and the Herald is one of them. Even the Indians respected those from whom Providence had withheld a due proportion of brains, people whom we call in modern parlance 'simpletons.'"

A Female Paradox.

A lady, old and growing older still,
(As ladies will grow old, you know,) became,
In spite of age, as young as youth can fill,
A child-like maiden, feeble, lame, and sore,
A lady young became in spite of youth,
As ladies will, and why? Because the truth,
That keeps a lady young, they will be taught,
By yielding to disease, die in its fatal clasp,
That truth is that woman's weakness as may be
Subdued by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Rotary Snow Plough.

ITS CONSTRUCTION AND ACTION CAPABLE OF ACHIEVING GREAT WORK.

One of the six rotary snow ploughs, which the Canadian Pacific Railway Company are building at their shops on Coibourne avenue, has been finished and put in working order. The machine, which is invented by a Canadian, Mr. J. H. Leslie, may be described as follows: A wheel, ten feet in diameter, is set in a round casing, with a flaring square front, 11 ft. 2 inches wide, and the same height, which feeds the snow into the wheel. This casing is supplemented on the sides with auxiliary wings, which, when set in position will make a cut 12 ft. 4 inches wide when desirable. The wheel contains an inner series of six, and an outer series of twelve knives. These knives are pivotted radial pins, and the surfaces of the knives being inclined to one another, are canted when they encounter snow, and are set so as to slice it off and feed it into the machine. Behind these knives and on the same shaft is a fan wheel, composed of a number of radial blades. As the whole wheel is revolved at considerable velocity, the centrifugal force causes the snow to fly outside of its fan wheel, so that the latter is surrounded by the casing above mentioned, the snow can only escape at the opening provided for it, which is at the top of the casing, immediately behind the headlight. This opening is provided with a movable hood so that the stream of snow can be regulated and made to fly either to the right or left of the track as circumstances may require. The fan wheel is connected with and driven by a pair of 17x24 inch cylinders. These cylinders are fitted with link motion and all the working parts are made to duplicate with the company's standard 17x24 class of locomotives. The boiler is of the "Belpaire" type, with a heating surface of 1250 square feet and a grate area of 294 square feet. The machine is fitted with an ice breaker and flangers for cleaning the rails, after the main body of the snow has been removed by the rotary. The machine is, if necessary, capable of throwing the snow 200 feet and over the telegraph wires.—Montreal Star.

A Receipt for Wives.

Here is a pleasant receipt which can be commended to wives whose husbands cross the sea without them. On the first night out, just as the family is at table was sitting down to dinner in the beautiful saloon of the City of New York, a steward stepped up to him and handed him a letter, saying: "With the captain's compliments, sir." Every night this performance was repeated. Sometimes the captain himself presented the letter. It was mysterious and interesting. The gentleman who received the letter seemed to be specially consulted when it came to him on the first occasion, but after ward he merely showed signs of enjoyment in reading its contents. He was a very delightful man and a great favorite at our table, but though everybody was dying to know where the letters came from, nobody had enough impudence to ask him. But on the day before reaching New York it happened to be standing on the companion way with the gentleman, when the captain presented the letter, and the former said, as he tore open the envelope: "Queer idea of my wife's, isn't it? She sent the captain seven letters addressed to me and asked him to deliver one every evening before dinner. She thought I would be glad to hear from her every day, and I tell you it has been one of the pleasantest events of the voyage, this mail delivery in mid-ocean."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

—Advices from Samoa state that European residents were also injured by bullets from the German gunboats in the attack upon the Samoans at Apia have protested that the action of the German commanders was a violation of neutral territory.

—Gananoque is to have a new industry. Messrs. Britton & Parmenter have bought the right for Canada for a new and improved steam engine for $25,000. The patentee has put $10,000 in a company to be formed at Gananoque with a capital of $100,000.

—Some of the dismissed G. T. R. conductors are awaiting a reply from the company's headquarters at Montreal to their demand for information as to the cause of their being cut off the roll. They have placed the matter before the Brotherhood of Conductors, which will also take action.

—It is rumored that the friends of the late Caleb Smith and Miss Kenny intend entering a suit for damages against the Kingston medical college. Considerable expense was incurred, says the Gananoque Journal, in prosecuting the search for the bodies, and as they were found in the college it is but right that the college should foot the bill.

LONDON'S LATEST HORROR

THE PEOPLE GROWING CALLOUS TO SUCH CRIMES.

Lizzie Fisher's Murder Awakens Less Excitement Than Jack the Ripper's Former Deeds of Blood.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Although the latest Whitechapel murder is of such a nature that it cannot be passed over without great public stir, the popular excitement it has created is less than that which was noticeable after the other frightful crimes came to light. The frequency with which the terrible deeds have been committed have made people callous to them, and if it were not for the shocking details of yesterday's crime and the present denunciation of the police department, the press would chronicle the dead and after a brief ruffling of the surface, Upton's social tide would continue to ebb and flow in peaceful forgetfulness of the revolting crime. According to the statement made yesterday by the neighbors of the unfortunate woman, the victim was alive and chatting with her next door lodger half an hour before her mutilated body was found. The surgeons, however, who viewed the corpse while at St. Peterbsurg, report that telegrams have been sent to him recalling him to his duty, but they have not reached him as yet. He is believed to be on route to Moscow now, but no one seems to know where he is. The fact of his absence has not yet been made public, but there will be a perfect storm of indignation when it is known.

The Cabinet discussed matters relating to the Whitechapel murder, and touching upon Commissioner Warren's efficiency, for three hours yesterday afternoon, and it is rumored that they will make a scapegoat of Warren. This would certainly be a sop to the public and would ward off censure of the government for a time at least.

The favorite theory regarding the identity of the murderer seems to be that he is the Malay formerly spoken of as a native man attached to some steamer that makes trips of a week's duration to some European port. The police incline to this supposition. According to this theory the murderer, after killing his victim, could destroy all trace of his whereabouts by immediately shipping and not returning to London for a week or so.

A proclamation in the name of General Warren, Chief of the Metropolitan Police, has been issued offering a free pardon to any accomplice the Whitechapel murderer may have had, provided he will give information which will lead to the murderer's apprehension.

It is learned that the woman whose mutilated body was found in the Dorset-street house yesterday was a native of Limerick, Ireland. She migrated to Wales where she married a collier, who was subsequently killed by an explosion. After that she drifted to London.

A PREDICTION VERIFIED.

The Story of Whitechapel's Reign of Horror—Nine Victims in Thirteen Months.

When the corpse of the eighth victim was discovered on the Thames Embankment, about five weeks ago, it was suggested that the murderer, tired of the monotonous success attending his blood lust amongst the most forlorn and friendless and pitiful of all human creatures, might, in search of change and recreation, try a higher range of work and seek victims amongst women of a better condition of life than those amongst whom he had served his novitiate in murder. This prediction has in part been verified. Lizzie Fisher, the market porter's cast-off wife, whose body was found on Friday morning, its parts scattered about the floor, tables and chairs of her bedroom in Dorset-street, Spitalfields, was about one degree higher in the scale of immorality than her eight predecessors. As a set off to this social advantage the murderer had subjected her to a little extra mutilation before leaving her. Otherwise the method of murder was precisely similar to that adopted in the other cases, and no room is left for doubt that the crime was committed by the same hand.

Dr. Forbes Winslow, a recognized authority on questions of mania, has expressed the following opinion in regard to this fresh murder, which is of interest in view of his professional reputation:

"It is," said he, "the work of the same homicidal lunatic who has committed the other crimes in Whitechapel. All the harrowing details point to this conclusion. The way in which the murder was done and the strange state in which the body was left is not consistent with sanity. I stated some days ago that the murderer was then in a lucid interval and would recommence directly he had passed away. It appears that the authorities were forgetting this theory and that some one had been persuading them that there was a great interval intervening between the murders, therefore the murderer could not be a homicidal maniac. I desire flatly to deny this and to state more emphatically than ever that the murderer is one and the same person, and that he is a lunatic suffering from homicidal monomania, who, during lucid intervals, is calm and forgetful of what he has been doing in the madness of his attack."

Dispatches declare that the London police have enlisted the services of bloodhounds in their search for the murderer and that these sagacious animals, after wandering helplessly up and down a few streets, lifted up their heads and bayed their inability to carry the case any further. The result had long ago been foreseen by those who read the ludicrous picture presented to Londoners some weeks ago, when a hapless policeman was detailed to take exercise, and sauter up and down the Whitechapel-road, with two star bloodhounds, specially engaged for the purpose of detection in accordance of the next murder that might come along. One day the bloodhounds broke the bonds that held them to their blue uniformed captor and disappeared, and then London was treated to the edifying spectacle of the police pursuing the escaped dogs all over the city and the crowd chasing the police.

The only case in which a murderer in England has ever been successfully tracked by bloodhounds occurred a few years ago. A little girl was missed from her home in Bolton, Lancashire, and after several days' vain search her parents reluctantly consented to allow one of their neighbors to try a young bloodhound. The dog took the scent from the girl's Sunday clothing, followed the scent to a barber's shop, pushed his head through some paper which covered a disused chimney, and there the body was found. The barber's trial, confession and execution followed.

A Homeless, Shameless Wanderer.

The history of the mysterious person who now paralyzes all London with a panic of fear reaches back for a year. The mutilator's first success was achieved early in the month of October, 1887, when in the dark hours of the morning the frightfully lacerated body of a woman was found lying in the passageway of a narrow alley in the immediate vicinity of Bishopsgate street east. The victim was an elderly woman, gin-soaked, degraded and lost. No one appeared to be aware of her real name; her friends, if any, had long ago disappeared. She stood alone amongst her kind, a homeless, shameless wanderer. Nobody cared about her, nobody made the least effort to find out why she was murdered, or to discover her murderer. They regarded it as the most natural and fitting kind of death under the circumstances, shovelled her body under ground, and forgot the case within two days. The body had been buried about ten months when, on Aug. 7th of this year Martha Turner, another of the fallen, was found on the first floor landing of the George Yard Buildings, a common lodging house on the east side of Commercial-street, Spitalfields.

The similarity between the first and second murders was sufficiently at'king to attract considerable attention from the officials One fact was settled conclusively by medical testimony; in both cases the murderer had seized the victim from behind, and cut her throat with one long, heavy stroke from a razor or sharp knife, hence it was concluded that the two murders had been committed by the same hand. Martha Turner had received nearly forty stabs. The underclothing had been thrown up over the shoulders and the intestines laid bare by means of a deep, jagged cut. As in the previous case a part of the body had been cleanly cut away and removed with perfect surgical skill. On this the public began to suspect the existence somewhere in the city of a medico-maniac. After this discovery the murderer took a rest of two or three weeks and re-began operations with Mary Ann Nichols, a woman about 42 years old. Here again was the gaping throat wound, the cuts on the abdomen and the completing mutilations. And here there appeared the astounding circumstance that the murderer had actually carried the body a considerable distance from the place of the murder to that where it was discovered.

Eight days here nothing occurred, eight days of excitement and excitement clamors from the public, eight days of blind stumbling, stupid inquiring and impertinent prying on the part of the police, and then Annie Chapmas lay bathed in blood in the backyard of No. 29 Hanbury-street, a short thoroughfare running parallel with and about one block behind Whitechapel-road, on the north side. The circumstances of this murder differed in no respect from those that had preceded it, though it was clearly proved that the deed was accomplished in the light of the day. For the reason that Annie had been sets alive at 5 o'clock on the morning of her death. The police were armed with a description of the man in whose company she had last been seen, but two weeks' search failed to bring them any nearer to the discovery.

The murderer now seems to have consider ed a temporary change of place desirable, for on Sept. 25 the inhabitants of the quiet little town of Gateshead-on-Tyne, in the far north, became aware of his presence among them. By some chance or by design, for another unhappy creature whose body bore the sign manual of his handiwork. "Happy Lip Annie," found in Bernard-street, Commercial-road, on Oct. 6, escaped with merely a cut throat, the rest of the body having been left untouched, probably for fear of discovery—been spared the touch of the knife.

Within half an hour of the finding of "Happy Lip Annie" an early-morning worker, going to his work, came upon the bleeding carcass of a fourth victim in Mitre-square, Aldgate. In this case the mutilation had been successfully accomplished. On the following morning the badly decomposed body of the mediocrank's eighth subject was unearthed from under a heap of rubbish on the east of Cowan's-buildings, unfinished Thames Embankment Opera House. After anxious and diligent enquiry the police were able positively to say that another eight had actually been fourth in order.

On the wall of the narrow passage-way where Annie Chapman's corpse lay were written these words: "Twenty before I surrender." Lizzie Fisher, or Mary Jane Lawrence, as some called her, is number nine on the list. Who can doubt that the murderer will complete the course he has mapped out for himself until some morning he quietly walks into the office of one of the London police stations and hands his card to the inspector at the desk!

DRAMATIC AND TERRIBLE.

The Story of Outrage and Crime Presented to the Parnell Commission.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The evidence given before the Parnell Commission has suddenly become striking, dramatic and terrible. Such a story of outrage and crime is being told as impresses the most callous witness, after a witness steps into the box to describe murder after murder in a manner all the more effective from its brevity and simplicity. "Ireland is in the Strand," says one observer most truly. Here it is that a picture of life in that country is given with vividness never before known. None of these stories is new. The Huddy murder, the Blake murder, and all the other awful incidents of this long struggle, were known. But a trial in London brings them nearer to London, and interest in the proceedings of the Commission, heretofore languid, has become intense.

Sir Charles Russell himself has been so much affected as to lose his temper and enter upon a contest with the president of the tribunal, of which Sir Charles was very far from getting the better. He had, in fact, to submit to be rebuked and silenced. He does, of course, that these stern recitals of ever-recurring atrocities do inspire with both tribunal and public. He tried to induce the Court to rule out the Times, before producing evidence of crime, should connect the defendants with it. But the court has ruled against that. The plaintiffs are responsible, no doubt, and the Attorney-General is responsible. They are both under legal and moral obligation to prove it. If they can, the complicity of Mr. Parnell or some of his colleagues in this crime. But meantime the effect on public opinion is damaging to them all.

RIOTING IN MADRID.

Senor Canovas' Carriage Stoned—Attack on a Newspaper Office.

MADRID, Nov. 11.—The arrival of Senor Canovas, the Conservative leader, from Seville this morning was the signal for a riotous outburst. The mob surrounded and followed his carriage, hooting and throwing stones. The windows of the carriage were smashed by the flying missiles. Senora Canovas who accompanied her husband, was struck by a stone, but was not seriously injured.

Subsequently an attack was made on The Epoca newspaper office and every window in the building was broken with stones.

Pauper Emigration to Canada.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The Local Government Board's report shows that only 413 poor children emigrated to Canada last year, at a cost to the poor rates of £4192. The board only authorized 300 other poor persons to go to the colonies and the United States during the year.

The Times says that in future, as in the past, our papers will probably be with us. The notion that the colonization of other countries will absorb them received no countenance from anything in this or previous reports.

SLAVE TRADING MUST STOP.

The African Agreement—Bismarck Joins Hands to Crush the Vatican.

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—The chief event of the week is the African agreement among the powers. For the past half century English men-of-war have carried on a solitary and almost fruitless struggle against slave trading off the African coast. Suddenly all has changed; the leading powers have been found to be willing to co-operate. The reasons for the change are not far to seek. Several encumstances combined to bring it about, but without doubt the leading factor, next to the attacks upon the Germans settlements, was the intense interest the Pope has displayed in the abolition of slavery. As in the Carolines affair, Prince Bismarck has again seized the occasion, without cost to himself, to conciliate and satisfy the Pope and thereby purchase the good will of the German Catholics. Cardinal Lavigerie's eloquent European campaign has already proved fruitful. Count Rainoky has intimated his intention to send a man-of-war to assist in the blockade, and other powers, including Russia and Greece, are engaged to co-operate. A Mozambique dispatch announces the departure of the Italian cruiser Dogali for Zanzibar. The agreement with England gives great satisfaction here, but it is thought that some territorial action is also required.

The Kaiser's strictures on the Liberal press continue to be discussed. An important outcome of the affair was its effect on the Freisinnige party in the Landtag elections, their loss amounting to one-fourth of their whole number.

Count Von Seckendorff accompanies the Empress Frederick to London as equery. It is said to be a probability, however, that the visit will be again postponed.

The rumor that the Kaiser had assented to the betrothal of his sister to Prince Alexander of Battenberg is semi officially denied.

The Political Correspondence of Vienna denies the statement that the Empress of Austria under medical advice is going on a sea voyage to Ijdia or Australia.

THE UMBRIA IN COLLISION.

The Queen of Ocean Racers Cuts off the Iberia's Stern.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—That Queen of ocean racers, the Cunarder Umbria, collided with the Peterline steamer Iberia about 4 o'clock off Long Beach Hotel just beyond Rockaway Saturday afternoon at 1.10 o'clock. The Iberia was badly damaged, having her whole stern cut off. The Umbria, after taking off the crew of 30 men from the disabled vessel and lying by all night, came up to her dock this morning for repairs. When she left the Iberia, the latter was anchored only at the stern and it looked as if she would go to the bottom before noon.

As to the Umbria she was but slightly injured and came back to her dock merely as a precautionary measure. All the marks she bore of the ugly wound she gave the Iberia was a queer triangular jagged-edged hole in her allision bulkhead, in its largest dimension also sixty-three feet. The hole is just half of the extreme bow and at its lowest point about five feet above the water line. There is on the starboard bow. A small hole through which a swallow might fly was also punched in the plate on the port side directly opposite. The hole appeared to have been made by the revolving screw of the Iberia.

Death of John I. Bush.

NIAGARA FALLS, Nov. 11.—John L. Bush of Clinton Place, Niagara Falls, Ont., one of the most respected citizens of the Niagara peninsular, died at his residence on Sunday morning in the 79th year of his age. He caught a cold three days ago which turned into pneumonia, and he was carried off. Clifton House, which he purchased with the "Zimmerman" property at the time of that gentleman's bankruptcy, is also in the Bush family. Mr. Bush came from New York State and always voted American citizenship. He had been in the New York State Assembly.

Almost a Blaze.

The roof of a rough cast house on the lower part of Front street, occupied by Chas. Brown, was on fire last night at a few minutes past seven, but the blaze was discovered and the fire extinguished before an alarm was sounded, or before any damage was done. It was caused by the burning out of a chimney.

An Indian, whose name is not known, on Saturday last stole a horse and buggy, the property of Mr. Wilder, of Deseronto. As yet no tidings of his whereabouts have been received. It is said, however, that a horse and buggy answering the description given was seen going in the direction of Kingston late on Saturday evening.

A Young Visitor.

An Infant Left on the World for Protection.

Mr. J. A. Vandervoort, who resides on Dundas street, near the hospital, arose yesterday morning a few minutes before eight o'clock, and having occasion to proceed to the front part of his residence shortly after, discovered lying upon the front gate a basket. He untied the article and carefully carried it into the house and informed the inmates of his discovery. Upon removing a number of small wraps he was startled to behold an infant, which at once began to cry. The child, which is a male, presented a healthy appearance, and is about ten days old. Although not elaborately dressed still it was left in a comfortable position and warmly protected. The child had no doubt been left in the place where it was found for some time. The matter was reported to the police and later to a number of the members of the W. C. A. Owing to the absence of the president of the association, Mrs. Vandervoort took care of the child until to day, when it will be taken charge of by the Woman's Christian Association. There is no clue as to the parentage of the child.

An Old Story.

Dishonest Weights—Prosecution by Inspector Johnson.

(Special to the Intelligencer.)

PICTON, Nov. 12.—At the Police Court here to day before George C. Curry, Esq., Police Magistrate, Mr. Charles A. McDonnell of this town was charged by Mr. Wm. Johnson, District Inspector of Weights and Measures, Belleville, with having had in his possession for use in trade on the 5th of November at his grain storehouse at Black Creek, in this county, a weight which was false and unjust. The evidence of Mr. Thomas Slattery, of this town, Assistant Inspector of Weights and Measures, was to the effect that he visited Mr. McDonnell's storehouse on the 5th inst., and found amongst the weights belonging to a platform scale one which represented on the beam 500 lbs., and should have weighed 5 lbs. He found it weighed 5 lbs. 1 oz. and 13 drams, which made 512 lbs. on the beam or 12 lbs. in favor of the buyer. The weight had been altered since it was inspected, by running solder into it and putting additional lead into it.

Tarred and Feathered.

A man named Davis, supposed to be the same who visited Napanee recently and boomed the glass works, went to Penetanguishene some years ago on the same mission. The Express says: "Davis proved a fraud of the first water, and succeeded in getting into the good graces and books of every business man in the town. He made them believe that they had the finest sand in the country for glass. The company built quite extensive buildings and got so far as to melt, but then discovered that Davis didn't know what he was about it. Davis was tarred and feathered." Davis also visited Belleville some years ago, but did not receive much encouragement.

Trenton Liquor Cases.

In chambers at Toronto on Saturday, before Chief Justice Galt:

Queen v. Quinlan.—Motion for a certiorari to bring up a conviction made by the P. P. for the town of Trenton under the License Law Act (R. S. O. cap. 194, sec. 54) for selling liquor during prohibited hours. Aylesworth in support of the motion. The information was laid by one described as "Provincial officer," whatever that may mean. The evidence did not disclose any sale of liquor, merely that a light was burning in the room in which was but prima facie evidence under the Act (R.S.O. cap. 194, sec. 110). The conviction was of a first offence, and should not have provided for distress in default of payment of the penalty imposed of $20 and costs, secs. 85 and 86 of the Act. E. Taylor English, for the P. M., showed cause, and cited sec. 88 in support of the conviction, providing in event of non-payment of penalty for distress, and in default of sufficient distress for imprisonment. Certiorari granted; costs to abide the event.

A like motion in the case of the Queen vs. Parent was similarly decided.

Our Dairy Industry.

The Pioneers who Inaugurated it.

While noticing the magnitude and excellence of the cheese industry in Ontario, it occurred to the writer that it might be interesting to note some of the earlier, if not the earliest pioneers, in establishing the business.

In 1863, '64 and '65 Mr. William Vandervoort, postmaster at Sidney Crossing, now a hale old gentleman of eighty-six years, first introduced and began the factory system in the township of Sidney, in the county of Hastings.

Prior to this a small number of farm dairies had been carried on by various parties, of whom Mr. Vandervoort was one, also the late Thomas D. Farley, John Row, Frederick Fanning, S. T. Casey, John W. Kelly and others.

Mr. Vandervoort, after repeated visits to Oneida and Herkimer counties in the State of New York, erected a small factory near the present site of W. B. Vandervoort's cheese box factory at Sidney Crossing, on the co-operative system, hauling the milk from patrons in the neighborhood and paying monthly or weeky a price per gallon. A hot water pan for heating the milk to the required temperature was used in connection with the thermometer, lactometer, curd knives and mills, new presses, hair cages, cream glasses, annatto, cheese boxes, tin vats, encased in wood, for heating, &c.

Meeting after meeting was called and held, Mr. Vandervoort urging and persuading the farmers to engage and furnish the milk necessary to make the business succeed, under many discouragements and with but partial success. As a class, farmers are proverbially slow, and suspicious of an undertaking of which they are uninformed.

In 1864 Alonzo Morden purchased and farmed the Fanning homestead, milking a number of cows and sending all the milk to the factory; thus by precept and example encouraging weeky a price per gallon.

Mr. Vandervoort's arguments and logic of facts that there was "money in it."

After two or three seasons' fairly successful operations, the old Front of Sidney was purchased mainly by the push, energy and vim of Ketchan Graham, Esq.

Mr. Vandervoort, being a practical cheese maker himself, continued the business four or five years longer at Sidney Crossing until his territory and patrons were absorbed in the "Front of Sidney," the growth of which, although the first after Vandervoort's, was wonderful, the actual sales in favorable seasons exceeding $40,000. "Sidney Town Hall," "Brighton and Murray," "Thurlow," then "Halloway," and the old Hungerford at Tweed, started in 1867. Now after the lapse of twenty years, the County of Hastings at almost every cross road is dotted over with cheese factories. Probably if we except lumber, the cheese industry is second to none in the Province of Ontario. Statistics of the quantity made and value exported within the last decade have been so repeatedly published, that every one interested must be convinced that no other branch of farm industry can at all compare with the factory system of cheese manufacture in the Province.

All honor and praise should be accorded the sturdy pioneers who, under many difficulties, knew no such word as failure. One of the last links in the golden chain of links of to-day would care to mark in some fitting manner, however slight, their appreciation of the efforts and labor of those who bore the burden, and by pen, tongue and untiring toil succeeded in making this dairy business what it is.

Every boy and girl, farm hand and emigrant that ploughs a row can tell all about it—twenty years ago things were different. Skilled labor and machinery had to be brought from abroad at a heavy expense; now all can be got at home, and for makers, (like the bears in North Hastings) "the woods are full of them."

No other branch of farm industry in the Province has made equal progress in so short a time. The writings and papers from able pens scattered broadcast over the land, the competitive examinations, the liberal prizes offered, the conventions east and west, and the hearty good-will of those engaged have made the product of Canada what it is. Ceaseless effort is still required to maintain this proud position, but, judging by the past, no uneasiness need be felt that the sons of such worthy sires will decline or be ashamed.

Severe Storm—Damage by Lightning.

A thunderstorm of terrific violence passed over this neighborhood about 7 o'clock this morning. The lightning for a short time was incessant and brilliantly vivid, and peal after peal of thunder rent the air in rapid succession; the situation was positively appalling. Cattle in the fields appeared dazed for a time, while some rushed about in terror and others, trembling with fright, sought the nearest shelter. The telegraph line between Stirling and the North Hastings Junction was completely demoralized. The lightning struck and splintered a number of very heavy poles, twisting and reducing them to a mass of slivers, and throwing down many others. The electric current passed through the office at the Junction, the apparatus being violently disturbed, and there was a loud report as if a cannon had been discharged in the station, and the electric sparks flew in all directions; in fact the Junction had a thunderstorm of its own. The agent, Mr. LeRoy, happened to be a few feet from the instrument at the moment, and fortunately escaped with a slight shock, from the effects of which he quickly recovered. The instruments were not misplaced or in any way injured. During the storm rain fell in torrents, portions of the track between this place and Belleville being submerged.

The gravel train got off the track in Faulkner's cut this morning without any appreciable damage—probably caused by the very wet weather. The auxiliary engine ran out and soon straightened matters up. No loss or delay.

For the Babies.

It does its work quickly and with certainty. Should not have provided for distress in default of payment of the penalty imposed of $20 and costs, secs. 85 and 86 of the Act. E. Taylor English, for the P. M., showed cause, and cited sec. 88 in support of the conviction, providing in event of non-payment of penalty for distress, and in default of sufficient distress for imprisonment. Certiorari granted; costs to abide the event.

MONTREAL, Nov. 11.—William Elliott, the insolvent oil merchant imprisoned on a capias, was taken to the Superior Court on Saturday as a witness, and after completing his evidence was conducted from the court room by Assistant Jailer Grovel. On the stairs Elliott knocked down the jailer and ran to St. Sulpice street, thence into De Bresoles street, and there he was lost to sight. After a half-hour's excited search the fugitive was found crouching behind a lot of iron bars.

Elliott told Jailer Payett that his attempted escape was all right, for some friends had promised him $500 if he succeeded in getting out of the city, previous to alterations in their premises, which, when completed, will give them the most extensive Pianoforte warerooms in the city.

A DASTARDLY CRIME.

Unsuccessful Attempt to Wreck a Grand Trunk Train Near Goderich.

GODERICH, Nov. 11.—An attempt was made to wreck the mixed train due here at 7.30 last night, by putting two square sticks of timber between the rails. Had it not been that the train being a heavy one and the rails slippery on account of the rain, the engineer had slackened down and the train was moving slowly at the time, there would have been a terrible disaster.

It was apparently intended to run the train down the bank which is on a very sharp curve about half a mile east of the station.

The affair has created intense excitement in this quiet community.

THE ROCHESTER FIRE.

Twenty one Men Missing and Supposed to be Dead in the Ruins.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 11.—Friday evening's fire was the worst that ever occurred in this city. At least twelve lives were lost and twenty persons injured. The property loss will amount to $2,000,000. The alarm was sounded at 7.30, and the department was soon at the scene. At that time little fire could be seen from the outside. The building was approachable only on one side, and the firemen had only a narrow alley to work in. The building stood on the edge of the upper falls of the Genesee River. These falls are ninety-six feet high. When the firemen arrived the windows on the street side of the building were filled with men calling for help. There were sixty-five men inside. Firemen answered them telling them not to jump that they would soon be rescued. The men paid no attention to the encouraging cries, and soon the air was filled with falling human bodies. At least twenty men jumped from the third story. All of them were more or less injured. They were at once taken to hospitals. Four of the dead of injuries before they could be removed.

There are twenty-one missing men. It is supposed that all the missing are dead and in the ruins. Three more bodies have been taken from the ruins of the eastern wing of the building. They were burned to a crisp so that it was impossible to recognize them.

The Union and Advertiser started a subscription list for the benefit of the fire sufferers with $100. In an hour $1200 had been subscribed. The Republicans who intended having a parade in honor of Harrison last night decided not to have it, but to donate the amount such a celebration would cost to the sufferers. Several men who won on the election have offered half their winnings for the benefit of the injured and the families of the dead.

Several Persons Injured at this Fire.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—A fire in the manufactory of Cornell, Bingham & Co., paper men in Mission Place, yesterday morning, caused a damage to that firm of $20,000. Messrs. Benedict & Valentine, bookbinders and printers, sustained a loss of $25,000, while the building was damaged to the extent of $3000. The cause of the fire is unknown.

As the fire was in a thickly populated district three alarms were sent out. These brought the reserves from the Mulberry and Elizabeth street police stations. There was a regular slaughter on the part of the employes in the burning building. In the mad rush for the street, several were injured. Among those sent to the Chambers-street Hospital, were William Tracey, suffering from severe contusions on the neck and leg; John Porter, severe scalp wounds; Frank McKee, scalp wounds; Timothy King, fractured arm; William Meyers, fractured arm. Philip Meisberg, a printer, jumped from one of the windows. He sustained a broken leg and several scalp wound.

The Dangerous Coal Oil.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—The explosion of poorly-refined coal oil is the cause of another accidental burning. A little girl named Beauchamp, living on Maple street, while helping her mother in domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while resting on the table. After lingering for a while only here from her with much difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quickly summoned and the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined Oil a considerable quantity of inferior Coal Oil is being sold.

In order to avoid this we advise we have taken the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil:

'CARBON SAFETY OIL'

A specially refined and superior grade of Canadian Oil,

ASTRAL OIL,

A high grade American Oil.

These we can most confidently recommend to our retail trade as goods that will give entire satisfaction.

We are also fully supplied with Water White and Prime White American Oil and the usual brands of Canadian Oil.

A Wrong Opinion.

Many a dollar is paid for prescriptions for some disease that never troubles the patient, and when the sole difficulty was worms, which a few of Freeman's Worm Powders would remove. These Powders are pleasant, safe, and sure, contain their own cathartic, and are adapted for children or adults.

FREEMAN'S WORM POWDERS destroy and remove worms without injury to adult or infants.

A Quarter of a Century.

For more than twenty five years has Hagyard's Yellow Oil been sold by druggists, and it has never yet failed to give satisfaction as a household remedy for pain, lameness and soreness of the flesh, for external and internal use in all painful complaints.

FEVER AND AGUE AND BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS are positively cured by the use of Parmelee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, causing them to pour copious effusions from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

To lessen mortality and stop the inroads of disease, use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. For all diseases arising from impure blood, such as Pimples, Boils, Blotches, Biliousness, Indigestion, etc., it has no equal. Mrs. Thomas Smith, Elm, writes: "I am using this medicine for Dyspepsia I have tried many remedies, but this is the only one that has done me any good."

Mothers go to Mumsa.—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakens as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind. 343wly

YOUNG MEN suffering from the effects of early evil habits, the result of ignorance or folly, who find themselves weak, nervous, and exhausted; also MIDDLE AGED OR OLD MEN, who are broken down from the effects of abuse or over-work, and in advanced life feel the consequences of youthful excess, send for and READ M. V. Lubon's Treatise on Diseases of Men. The book will be sent sealed to any address on receipt of two 3c. stamps. Address M. V. LUBON, 47 Wellington S. E., Toronto, Ont. 196dwly

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarefies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc, if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course, generally prove the forerunner of more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their affliction from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. Oneof the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

Hints and Comfort to the Suffering.

"Brown's Household Panacea" has no equal for relieving pain, both internal and external. It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. "It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal, as its acting power is wonderful." "Brown's Household Panacea," being acknowledged as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family handy for use when wanted, "as it really is the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the Stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds," and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cts a bottle.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City.

The Child of Waterloo.

BY GEORGE W. M. REYNOLDS.

Again the lock turned, the door opened. There were two persons this time, and one said:

'You'll find him in there, sir.'

An elderly man entered and it was evident, from his garb, that he was a clergyman—the prison chaplain.

'My friend,' said the clergyman, advancing toward Sternholde, 'is there anything that I can do for you? your awful state requires some preparation. Permit me to offer such consolation as a man can receive, who stands upon the brink of eternity.'

'I don't want any,' said Sternholde. 'I am a Catholic.'

'Cannot at this moment the distinction of creed be forgotten, and cannot you receive the consolation of the dying from the hand of a fellow Christian? The blessings of God flow upon all alike, Protestant as well as Catholic. Cannot——'

'You may do nothing, sir. My creed forbids me to hold any religious communication with you, else I would; but if you would do me a favor—if you would afford me such consolation as a dying man, do it through one of my persuasion.'

'What do you wish?' inquired the chaplain.

'A priest.'

The chaplain paused a moment, and it seemed as if he considered in his own mind the possibility of effecting a change in the prisoner's mind; but apparently he considered the matter hopeless, for he said:

'I will send the governor to you, and to him you must make your request; you will have every facility given you for such a visitor, I am convinced.'

'Thank you, sir; I am beholden to you.'

'Nay it is your right. I would I could have granted more, but your position binds my hands. Farewell! and may Heaven show you its mercy.'

The chaplain left the cell, and Sternholde was again alone, and then he resumed his former immovable positon, for some time. But in about a half an hour's time the cell door was once more opened, and, on this occasion, the governor himself appeared.

'I came to see you,' he said. 'I understand you have a request to make respecting a confessor or a priest.'

'Yes,' said Sternholde, 'I am a Catholic, and, as such, if any religious consolation be afforded me, it can only receive it through the hands of a priest.'

'Have you any priest in particular whom you desire to see?'

'I have.'

'Here is an order; now write the name of your priest upon the back of it, and I will have it conveyed to him by special messenger so that no time may be lost.'

'It is as I wished,' said Sternholde; 'if you will allow the priest to have instant access to me, I shall be glad, for I have much to say and communicate to him.'

'It shall be done,' said the governor, 'and anything you require, compatible with the prison regulations, shall at once be awarded to you.'

'I thank you; your kindness will be remembered by me. I can but thank you.'

The governor disappeared, and shortly after a priest entered the cell. The day was fast declining, and the hour for closing the prison was at hand; but the priest could not be affected by the general orders. He had the sheriff's order, which admitted him at all hours that the prisoner desired it, save at such hours as people are all left asleep.

'My son,' said the priest, 'I have come at your sending, to give you such consolation as the state of your soul may require, and be permitted by Heaven.'

'You are a Jesuit, are you not?'

'I am an humble follower of the holy order of Jesus,' said the priest; 'but what of that, my son? Down upon your knees and confess your sins, that I may——'

'Brother,' said Sternholde, 'I am a Jesuit, too.'

'You? And where were you educated?'

'In the Jesuit College at Gottingen. I was there received into the holy order, and made one of yourselves.'

'Convince me of this.'

'I will. At that time when I speak of, Father Gregory ruled the College, and he and some more proposed that no person in the order should have dispensations to throw off all their vows, save those which bound them to their order, so that they should mix in society the same as other men, to enable them to propagate the doctrines, and to increase the power and prosperity of the order.

'I am one of those monks. I have followed it forward; I have carried my way onward; I have done what I could for the support of the order, even in military as Iron, Cinchona, Calisaya, etc., and unlike these, IT NEVER CONSTIPATES.

'I do know it, brother.'

'And, moreover, I have been engaged in military affairs as well; and it is well known among the few at Gottingen that I have advanced the order in a manner that could not be done by other means; and, moreover, I have sown seeds that will in the future produce the most lasting results, because they are slower of growth, in the same manner that the hardest wood is longest of growth.'

'True, brother—true; but I must hear some of the secret signs of our order before I can give my entire credence to what you say.'

'You are hard of belief.'

'It is the rule of our order not lightly to betray our confidence to any one; give me the word——'

'I will do more; incline your ear, for even stone walls of a condemned cell may not hear what I have to say.'

The priest inclined his ear toward Sternholde, and the latter bowed toward him, and uttered some words, in a low tone, in his ear; he paused a moment, and then said something more. The monk started and looked pale.

'Are you convinced?' inquired Sternholde.

'I am—I am—quite.'

'I am your brother in the college, and you are bound by your vow to aid me in my great object; you see it is not yet completed. I call upon you to assist me.'

'In what can I advantage you?'

'In providing me the means of escaping from this place. If I once get outside the walls, and unencumbered by those fetters, I will ensure you that I will get clear of them. I know this city too well.'

'What do you require?'

'Saw files—the best and most portable you can find.'

'I will go and seek them.'

'Then hasten, brother, hasten.'

The Jesuit arose, and, knocking for the turnkey, left the cell, after the other had soon it all right, and then secured the prisoner.

'I shall be back again to visit him in an hour,' said the Father Andrea to the turnkey; 'I have a dying penitent to whom I must pay some attention, for our people require our aid at such a time more than any other, for they are pleased to see the face of the priest at such moments; it is a sign that Heaven smiles upon them.'

CATARRH.

A New Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the interlining membrane of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes. The eminent scientists, Tyndall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in acondtant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made oftener then once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before an application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease.

So highly are these remedies valued that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy a parasite, of which they know nothing, by remedies, of the results of the application of which they are equal ignorant. Mr. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effect a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases.

Mr. Dixon answers pamphlet describing his new treatment on the receipt of stamp to pay postage. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son, 303 King street west, Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Cured By B. B. B. When all Else Failed.

Mr. Samuel Allan, of Lisle, Ont., states that he tried all the doctors in his locality while suffering for years with Liver and Kidney trouble; nothing benefitted him until he took Burdock Blood Bitters, four bottles cured him.

Give Them a Chance?

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger airpassages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrah, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

The Modus Operandi.

The mode of operating of Burdock Blood Bitters is that it acts at once and at the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and the Blood, to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in Chronic Complaints.

Large Scrotal Hernia.

The change of late years in the treatment of Rupture is really surprising. Only a few years ago when a Scrotal Hernia or Rupture could not be held by Trusses; now Mr. C. Cluthe, the celebrated Truss inventor, offers in every case a success or no charge. He goes even further than this; he offers a 300 mile return ticket on any railroad to any one whose Rupture he cannot hold. Mr. Cluthe is a responsible man, and above the reproach of taking advantage of people for the sake of the price of a Truss. This can be substantiated by the testimony of our most worthy physicians throughout the land, to whose patients his visits have proved such a comfort.

Among the Indians.

"While my husband was trading in furs he came across an Indian who was taken to his lodge to die. He had inward pains and pains in all his limbs. He gave some Yellow Oil internally and applied it externally, and cured him. It also cured my husband of rheumatism, and I find it valuable for coughs and colds, sore throat, etc." Mrs. A. Besaw, Cook's Mills, Serpant River, Ont.

Hesitation means Loss.

If your hair is coming out or turning grey, or if you find dandruff in your hair do not hesitate about looking after it. Get some of Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic," use it as directed and you will find that it will give you the best of satisfaction. Take warning, do not wait till it is too late but try it at once. All druggists sell it.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrah, Asthma and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after havidg tested its wonderfu curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this receipt, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. NOYES, 149 Power Block, Rochester, N. Y.

MIRACULOUS RESULTS

Have attended the use of

DR. DORENWEND'S

Great German Hair Magic.

It is acknowledged by every one who has used it, to be the finest preparation for the hair ever discovered.

It is worth your while to try it. It restores grey hair to its original color and vitality. It nourishes the hair that is falling out and is a general stimulant for the roots. Where the roots are not extinct, in cases of baldness the use of the "Magic" will produce a fine healthy growth.

SOME QUEER OLD BOOKS.

Volumes of Peculiar Interest—Old Relics in Bible Lore.

In the department of different church exhibits at the Cincinnati centennial is one of the rare old wonders. Two hundred and forty-two languages and dialects are represented in book and manuscript form, one unique pamphlet of sixty-four pages alone representing 195 specimen verses from versions in different languages and dialects which the Foreign Bible Societies have been printed and circulated by the American Bible society and the British and Foreign Bible society. This is the second edition enlarged. A work of peculiar interest is an ancient Hebrew synagogue roll, 500 years old, containing the Book of Esther, which is beautifully carved every distinct.

A queer looking German Bible, stained and worn, though still in a state of remarkable preservation, lying open, with ancient book mark in place, is the property of Mrs. Barbara Grosse, 97 Mulberry street, Cincinnati. This Bible is 276 years old, was printed in Luther's college town, just 100 years after Luther was made an LL.D. It is a quarto volume founded on Luther's text, and is accompanied by a comment on obscure passages. It is illustrated after the highest style of German art engraving of the Sixteenth century, as taught and practiced by Albrecht Dürer and Hans Holbein. The artist revels in the mystical and symbolisms of the Apocalypse. He shows the angels sounding their trumpets and plagues descending upon the sons of man, as an authentic specimen of German wood engraving in the beginning of the Seventeenth century. The binding is a solid oak board, covered with heavy old leather with beveled brass cornors and leather buckle clasp. This ancient Bible has been in the family for eleven generations.

A copy of the "Mathews Bible" is another curiosity. This was published in 1539. A large part of the edition was burned by the order of the Inquisition, only 1,500 copies finding their way into circulation. The editor was John Rogers, the English martyr, whose picture for so many years adorned the pages of the New England primer. This copy was printed in 1551, and from its size was commonly called the Great Bible. Another copy is a Geneva Bible, sometimes called "The Old Breeches Bible," from the curious rendering of Genesis iii, 7: "They sewed fig leaves together and made themselves breeches." The first edition was published in the city of Geneva from, it is said, silver type in 1560. It was the most popular of all versions in England for sixty years. It was prepared and published under the supervision of Calvin, Knox, Whittingham and Coler. This copy was printed in London in 1599, and is the property of Wm. Gibson, of the Gibson house, Cincinnati.

Still another relic in Bible lore is a copy of the first edition of the famous "Bishops' Bible." This is the first authorized English version, and continued in use among the people for a long time after the publication of King James' version. This relic was loaned to the Young Men's Bible society (in whose exhibit were also these other books mentioned) by the Lane seminary.

One case of curious relics in this church department is the exhibit of a returned Chinese missionary, Mrs. J. M. Shaw, whose husband died in China. This exhibit belongs to the Presbyterian Missionary society of the Cincinnati presbytery. A Chinese picture book, compiled 6.0 years ago, is among the mementoes. This book was widely known and read, and contains incidents supposed to have been taken from the lives of real persons who lived 600 and 700 years ago. Translated as the following, as an illustration of contents: "Lai's parents were very old, and fearing that they might be downhearted, he, when he was 70 years old, put on a bright flowered tunic and performed childish antics before them to make them forget that they were old."

There is also a rare old Chinese Testament, published on rice paper.—Detroit Free Press.

A Pet Starling Talks.

While the residence of Mrs. Davis, on Penn avenue, was the scene of a dancing party the other evening, and during a waltz, a pet starling came fluttering into the room. He planted himself on the piano.

"What kind of a bird is that, anyhow?" said somebody. "He is dark, steel blue, with light spots on his breast."

"Hun! don't you know?" said somebody else. "It is a thrush. I should think any one could tell that."

Professor Guenther, who was at the piano, remarked: "I have heard that Mrs. Davis brought that bird from Germany four years ago, and I am sure it is a thrush. The bird has the sweetest note, next to the nightingale, of any featherod singer I know of."

Then the professor was about to make his last remark in defense of his assertion that the bird was a thrush, the fellow in feathers suddenly piped: "Shut up!" with such vehemence and eclat that the stillness of the grave could not have been more noticeable than what followed.

Mrs. Davis came forward and explained the whole thing. "The bird," she said, "is a starling that I brought from Germany four years ago. When the starling is young it can be taught to speak, which I did by making a skillful incision in a thin membrane under the tongue. That was done with this bird, and he can talk a great deal better besides that, he has very fine. He does all the whistling, and to Allegheny, and when he is away for several days, but he always returns again."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A Man of Resources.

An interesting figure in one of the leading restaurants in this city is that of an old man, shabbily yet neatly dressed, whose deportment indicates that he has seen better days. His manners are most courageous and gentlemanly, and though his dress reveals poverty, there is an indescribable something about him which enforces respect. He walks into the restaurant in question in the morning, sits down when he can find a table already almost fully occupied, studies the bill of fare long and carefully, and finally orders some such modest repast as biscuits and coffee. He is quite as deliberate after he has been served as he was before, and bites his biscuit and sips his coffee slowly. He generally lingers at the table long after those whom he found seated have departed, and the waiters who have watched him—though none of them are inclined to hurt the old gentleman's feelings—notice that a roll left by one or a morsel of meat left by another is daintily forked by the old gentleman after the others have left. Thus he gets a hearty breakfast frequently, though his order is generally meager.—Albany Journal.

Mrs. Burnett and Her Family.

Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett has returned to America after an absence of eighteen months abroad. Her two sons, Lionel and Vivian, aged 14 and 12, were with her, but have now gone to their father in Washington. Dr. Burnett is an oculist of reputation, and a man of more than ordinary intelligence. He married Mrs. Burnett in Tennessee, before she had made her present reputation, and by his judicious guidance has been of incalculable help to her in her professional career. Mr. Burnett is a pronounced blonde, while her husband is as decided a brunette.—Harper's Bazar.

ATTEMPTED WIFE MURDER

JOHN ARMSTRONG, LATELY OF PORT HOPE, SHOOTS HIS WIFE.

WINGHAM, Ont., Nov. 13.—The village is in a fever of excitement over a double murder, followed by the suicide of the assassin, yesterday morning. The victims of the brutal assassination are Peter Howe, a retired member of the banking firm of A. Howe & Son of this place, and his wife, the former aged 73 and the latter 69. They lived in a large, two-story frame house, the only other occupant of which was a domestic. At 6 o'clock yesterday morning she came down stairs from her bedroom to begin her daily duties the light of the lamp, which she carried, fell through the open door of Mr. and Mrs. Howe's bedroom and revealed a ghastly sight: the walls and bedclothes were covered with blood and lying on the coverlet was a car coupling pin to which adhered hair and clotted blood.

She ran to communicate the terrible story to Mr. Irwin, Mr. Howe's son-in-law. The latter at once suspected Charles Burkhart of committing the deed and a watch was placed in the room where he resided with his wife over a grocery store. Burkhart was observed walking up and down the railway station greatly in great agitation. It was not long before he discovered that sentinels han been posted outside and he went into his bedroom, procured a razor, cut his throat from ear to ear and was dead inside of five minutes. His wife, who had been in the adjoining room, heard his dying moans. When she entered the room he requested her as best as he could to care for the baby.

The cause of this terrible deed is attributed to a petty spite on the part of Burkhart. The domestic in the house of the murdered couple, Sarah Richardson, a handsome girl of 19, and Burkhart's stepdaughter, was often importuned to come and live with him, but she refused to do so, and he thought the Howes were at the bottom of her objections. He, therefore, concluded to murder them.

The coroner last evening obtained a statement from the domestic, Sarah Richardson. She said that her stepfather, Brukhart the murderer, came to the house Sunday night and did his deadly work down stairs, then came to her room, told what he had done and after an attempt to ravish her left the house. She lay all night not daring to give the alarm lest he waylay and murder her. Apparently the assassin's motive aside from revenge and liquor was to enable his stepdaughter to come into possession of a sum of money promised her by the old couple provided she would stay with them during their lifetime. It would seem that the murderer had a crazy idea that with the girl once in possession of this money it would be an easy matter for him to secure it.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Briefless Barristers and Police Court Clients—The Illinois Poker Fiat.

TORONTO, Nov. 13.—For some weeks past Inspector Stephen has suspected that some young lawyers who practise their profession in the Police Court were in the habit of soliciting custom from prisoners in the cells and likewise in the dock. Yesterday morning John G. Holmes, a barrister who has had a brief experience, asked to gain admission to one of the cells, and, on being refused, raised quite a rumpus in court. The interesting course, however, is supported by the profession.

Louis Cornish, a colored man, who escaped from a Central Prison bailiff about a year ago, was recaptured by P. C. Beatty, whom he assaulted in August, late on Saturday night. Cornish was undergoing a two year's sentence when he escaped. He was yesterday morning handed over to Warden Massie, who will care for him in future.

C. Schuch, of 36 Allan-avenue, claims that a 13-year-old daughter of his has been concealed from him since last August. This family are divided on religious matters and it is alleged that a brother spirited his sister away and is keeping her in concealment in order that she may be brought up in his faith and not in that of the father.

A young lad named Mearns was run down by a butcher cart on Queen street yesterday morning, and was taken to his home, where a fracture of the right ankle was reduced.

Judicial clemency was extended towards Lily White, a young girl who in a moment of temptation pilfered from two young ladies with whom she boarded. On account of it being her first offence and the social position of her relatives she was allowed to go.

Young Payne, the drug clerk of Arrowsmith, fell into the hands of the Philistines last Sunday night and was cleaned out of $142 at poker, remains here to go for the gang who he says robbed him. Yesterday was the first day's hearing and an adjournment was effected until Nov. 16.

The case against "Phip" Spohn, charged with keeping a gaming house, went over until to-day.

At the meeting of the City Council last night the bylaw granting $150,000 to carry out the Don improvement work now under contract was passed.

The reductions in the St. Matthew's Ward assessments made by the Court of Revision yesterday aggregated $40,000. There were 100 appeals.

Mr. Chamberlain at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, who is to marry Miss Endicott the latter part of this week, arrived in Washington last evening. He was met at the station by W. C. Endicott, jr., and was driven direct to the residence of his prospective bride. Afterwards he went to the Arlington hotel, where he will stop until his wedding day.

Italy Wishes Peace with France.

ROME, Nov. 13.—Signor Crispi, Minister of Foreign affairs, has assured the French charge d'affaires that Italy would extend a cordial welcome to M. Mestiana, the new ambassador of France. He also informed him that it was the desire of the Italian Government to remove all causes of misunderstanding that exist between Italy and France.

THE END OF A SHORT CAREER.

Death of The London London Evening Times—The Proprietor Gone.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Great excitement was a lively scene around the office of The Evening Times yesterday morning. The paper was started a little less than three months ago by Paul and Harris, the former hailing from Toronto, and the latter being an American. It was understood that Paul will not be pressure into the business against Harris' money, which amounted to $4,000. The typeand outfit were supplied from the Johnson type foundry at Toronto, and Johnson took a manufacturer's lien on it as security. About a month ago Paul dropped out of the firm and the paper was continued with John Harris as sole proprietor. On Thursday afternoon last Harris stated his intention of going away to get funds, and that was the last seen of him. He wrote to Johnson from Hamilton, stating that he was going to the other side to raise the wind, but didn't know how he would succeed. He warned him not to be surprised at any turn events might take. Acting on the hint, Johnson came to London, and about 9 o'clock yesterday morning went to the office and advised them of the condition of affairs. He promised to see them paid, and advised them to quit work and lock up. They, however, decided to hold possession and issue an attachment against the property, so as to get ahead of any of the claimants in accordance with this resolution they proceeded to barricade the doors and windows. It seems, however, that Mr. J. Ferguson, of the Merchants' Bank, held a chattel mortgage from Harris to cover advances of a little over $200. As soon as he learned that Harris was gone he sent bailiffs to take possession. When they arrived they found the place barricaded and commenced a siege. The side door was fixed up as the weakest part of the fortifications, and they commenced an attack on it with crowbars. The panels were soon smashed in, after considerable trouble, the barricades against it removed and the door opened. The garrison were standing around ready and offered no active resistance. The employes engaged a lawyer and issued a second attachment. The employes are left badly in the lurch. With the desire of helping Harris through as far as possible they let their wages run. Some eight or nine compositors are two weeks in arrears, amounting in each case to about $25. The office's employes and staff are owed in some cases five and six weeks pay, amounting all the way from $35 to $75. It is understood that Harris owes a considerable amount around the city to other parties. He sank $4,320 in the venture.

Valuable to Know.

Consumption may be more easily prevented than cured. The irritating and harassing cough will be greatly relieved by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

Dangerous Counterfeits,

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. For sale by all druggists or sent post-paid on receipt of price (50c. and $1.) by addressing Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Rare Combination.

There is no other remedy or combination of medicines that meets so many requirements, as does Burdock Blood Bitters in its wide range of power over such Chronic diseases as Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Complaint, Scrofula and all humors of the blood.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Is very palatable and much better than the plain oil. Dr. W. H. Cameron, of Halifax, N. S., says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver oil with Hypophosphites for the past two years and found it more agreeable to the stomach, and have better results from its use than any other preparation of the kind I have ever tried." Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

There are a number of varieties of corns. Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them and give your druggist and get a bottle at once.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If your child ails why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

John Catlin, 49 Pearl Street Buffalo, N. Y., says: I tried various remedies for the piles but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications.

MRS. GEORGE LEECH, Ha'dimand Township, has received more benefit from a few bottles of Dawing's Pepsin Compound, than anything she has ever taken in her life. She has been troubled with biliousness, loss of appetite and constipation for years. Now she has none of these troubles. People write to her and see how she still recommend you to Dawing's Pepsin Compound if you are Dyspeptic.

The cheapest medicine in use is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, because a few drops is all is required to effect a cure. For croup, diphtheria, and diseases of the lungs and throat, whether used for bathing the throat or chest, or taking internally or inhaling it is a matchless compound.

What does Dowling's Pepsin Compound cure? Dyspepsia and Indigestion. What are the symptoms? Biliousness, costiveness, lack of energy, drowsiness, headache, pains in the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, depression of spirits. Ask your druggist for it.

Dowling's Little Liver Granules are highly recommended for all diseases of the liver.

Mr. Thomas Bailey, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I have been afflicted for nearly a year with that most to be dreaded disease Dyspepsia, and at times was not able to have any want of sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended I tried one box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. I am now nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money."

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body. Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

For Of all the dyspeptic remedies ever placed in the market, Dowling's Pepsin Compound takes the lead. Why? Because it acts naturally on the digestive organs of the stomach, and not mechanically, like the other patent medicines. Besides, it helps to assimilate and digest all the foods that enter the stomach. Ask your druggist for a bottle.

Bellevillites follow the example of Mrs. Geo. Leech, of Haldimand, and many others, and rid yourselves of that dire disease, dyspepsia and indigestion.

Strange, but Still True.

Mrs. David Carstairs, Haldimand Township, met with a very pleasant surprise a few weeks ago. It seems Mrs. Carstairs has suffered a great deal from dyspepsia and indigestion, the symptoms of which were, pains in the stomach and bowels, and sick headache. She has tried a great many physicians, and an unlimited amount of patent medicines, but without any success; and last but not least, she tried Dowling's Pepsin Compound, and the bottle has removed both pain and ache. GEORGE RITCHIE & CO.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females at the Invalids Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, worn-out, "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to the most delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the more complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhœa, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppression, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," subversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe, reliable agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

Large bottle (100 doses) $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, NOV. 13

OUR MINERAL WEALTH.

Mr. A. McClatchie, of Sidney, has left at the office of this journal samples of phosphate and of mica from the township of Loborough. The samples are of good quality, and form an encouraging indication of the mineral wealth of the back townships of this district. Mr. McClatchie informed us that a company, in which he has an interest, has been formed for the working of the deposits in question. He further stated that large areas of mineral lands in Frontenac are being sold at very low prices to Americans, and expressed regret that our great mineral resources are being sold to foreigners virtually "for a song," instead of being utilized by the people of our own country.

We join in this regret, believing that the riches with which nature has so liberally endowed our country should be utilized for the advantage of the people of our own country; but it seems to be impossible to attract Canadian capital to mining enterprises in this part of the country. Meantime foreigners are coming into the country and buying up our birthright for, we hesitate not to say, a totally inadequate consideration. We trust that the time is not far distant when matters will take a different course, and that in the mining, as in the other industries of our country, Canadians will take the lead.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

The little knot of annexationists in Canada will be rejoiced to learn that Gen. N. P. Banks, who in 1866 proposed in Congress a measure for the annexation of Canada to the United States, has been elected to the House of Representatives. Gen. Banks is now, however, "a back number."

The Globe used to say that the Government had paid the C. P. R. $15,000,000 for the abandonment of the monopoly clause. Now it says "Parliament guaranteed $15,000,000 of the C. P. R. bonds." Truth is mighty and even the Globe sometimes has to confess it.

One of Lord Sackville's daughters is said to have "snubbed" Mrs. Cleveland by refusing to accept the latter lady's hand when offered on meeting in a store. In doing so Miss Sackville-West made a more inexcusable blunder than did her father when he answered the decoy letter.

One or two important changes have been made in the Municipal Act. The nomination may now be held at seven o'clock in the evening if the municipality so chooses. This will give the workingmen an opportunity of hearing the candidates' opinions, without losing the afternoon as at present. Too little attention is usually given to municipal affairs by the ratepayers, and it is only by intelligent, thorough discussion that a true conception of the city's affairs can be obtained. Another alteration in the law calls for a meeting on or about the 15th of December as a sort of wind-up of the year's business, and the treasurer is to furnish the ratepayers an account of the financial standing of the municipality up to date.

Canada's answer to Uncle Sam's threat of "retaliation" is to be found in the completion of the 27½ feet channel between Montreal and Quebec and the letting of the contracts for the Sault canal. After the completion of the latter work, Canada will be in a position to enter the retaliation business herself, as we own the only navigable channel in the Detroit river and the Welland canal, by means of which we control the traffic between Lakes Michigan, Huron and Erie and also that between Lakes Erie and Ontario. But Canada won't close her channels if U. S. will treat her fairly.

What puzzles the Halifax Herald is that Annexationist Ellis, M. P., editor of the St. John, N. B., Globe, does not emigrate from this country to the United States. Mr. Ellis, our contemporary says, never has a good word for Canada, but always praises the United States. Ellis will probably emigrate after the next election.

The solid North—less the wooden nutmeg state and "the little foreign state of New Jersey"—once more confronts the solid South, precisely as in ante-rebellion times. There are indications, however, of a break in the political solidarity of the South, owing to the progress of protectionist ideas caused by the great industrial development which has for a few years been going on in that section of the republic.

The old Free City of Hamburg, says an exchange, after 118 years of free trade, has adopted the high tariff of the German empire. The action of no city could be more significant. With a population in 1885 of 473,293, it is the chief seat of commerce on the continent of Europa. While the State of Hamburg accepted the German revenue laws when it was incorporated into the empire, the city of the same name insisted on remaining a free port, and allowed commerce from all parts of the world to enter without any imposts. For this privilege the city paid a considerable sum every year to the Imperial Treasury, while all the expenses of Government were met by direct taxes on the inhabitants.

A Female Paradox.

A lady, old and growing older still,
As ladies will grow old, you know,
Became, in spite of age, as young as youth—but ill,
And old, and wretched, feeble, lame, and sore,
A lady young because in spite of youth,
As ladies will, and yet old age.
Became the truth,
That keeps a lady young, they fail to grasp,
And yielding to disease, die in its fatal clasp,
That truth is that woman's weaknesses may be
Subdued by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dram Drinking and Evil Deeds.

Some figures with reference to alcoholism and criminality were recently communicated to the French Academy of Medicine by M. Marambat. They referred to an examination of 3,000 condemned persons; and it appears that 70 per cent. of the vagabonds and mendicants were drunkards, 50 to 75 per cent. of assassins and incendiaries, 53 per cent. of persons convicted of outrages on morals, 71 per cent. of thieves, sharpers, etc. In acts of violence against the person 88 per cent. were found to be drunk as against property, 77 per cent. Among youths under 20, drunkards were nearly as numerous as among adults, the difference being only 10 per cent. Of these youths 64 per cent. were addicted to drinking.

A Famous Patent Medicine Man.

"Dr." David Hostetter, the bitters man, died in New York city the other day. He was a Pennsylvanian by birth who went to California in 1850, crossing the Isthmus of Panama upon a mule and going thence to San Francisco in company with Commodore Garrison and Ralston, the future banker. He kept a grocery store in San Francisco for three months and was then burned out. In 1853 he began the manufacture at Pittsburg of his bitters from a formula supplied by his father, an educated physician, and, it is said, peddled his goods through the street in a wheelbarrow. He originated Pittsburg's natural gas enterprises, having in 1875 taken the gas in rubber bags to that city for analysis. He carried a life insurance policy of over $300,000.

A Female Candidate.

The London correspondent of the Manchester Guardian writes: For the first time in the annals of the London University College, a lady is put up as candidate for a professorial chair. The Chair of Archæology, vacant by the retirement of Sir Charles Newton, will be contested by Miss Jane Harrison, whose lectures on Greek art have won for her a high place among the lecturers of the day. The lady, a graduate of Newnham College, is recognized by scholars as holding an almost unique place among them for her knowledge, especially of the popular form of Greek art expressed on vase paintings. She has been several times in Greece, where every sort of honor has been paid to her by the King, by professors and by officials.

CANADA AND AUSTRALIA.

THE ACTION OF THE DOMINION GOVERNMENT APPROVED.

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—The action of the Dominion Government in inviting the Australian colonies to send deleates here to a conference with a view to the establishment of closer trade relations and to the laying of a cable under the Pacific to connect Canada and Australia, meets with general approval here and all the papers have favorable comments. The Citizen says: "The importance of this step cannot be overestimated in view of the fact that both of the self-governments and the crown colonies of Australia are progressing very rapidly."

The Free Press thinks that "no harm can come out of such a conference. The establishment of direct cable communication between Canada and Australia is highly desirable," but questions whether any great amount of trade can be developed owing to the similarity of the products of Canada and Australia.

The Journal gives the proposal very hearty support. In the course of its remarks it says: "We congratulate the Dominion ministers on their report. It is a good time to approach our sister colonies with a view to closer relations. We are pushed back by our neighbors on the south with bitterness and contumely. We must look elsewhere for fair treatment and fair trade, and where else can we look better than to the kindred nations beneath the Union Jack?"

It is understood that an order-in-council has been passed increasing the export duty on pine saw-logs from $2 to $3.

No decision has yet been arrived at in the matter of the tenders for the lock at Sault Ste. Marie. The story that the work has been awarded to an American firm is without foundation. Messrs. Hugh and John Ryan are said to be amongst the lowest tenderers and may secure the contract, but the matter will not be decided until this afternoon.

Application will be made to the Minister of Agriculture to-day by the Royal Electric Company of Boston for a cancellation of the patents held by the Edison Electric Light Company of Montreal on the ground that the Canadian patent laws have not been complied with, inasmuch as the articles patented have not been manufactured in Canada within two years of the granting of the patents as required by the act.

DEATH OF LIEUT.-COL. ROSS.

PICTON, Nov. 13.—Lieut.-Colonel Ross, ex-M.P., died yesterday morning at 6 o'clock. The funeral will take place on Wednesday at 11 o'clock.

[Lieut.-Col. Ross represented Prince Edward county in the Federal Parliament from 1863 to 1878. In 1863 he and Mr. Bog, now Lieut.-Col. Bog, organized the 16th Batt. and he was at once appointed Colonel and retained the command up to 1883, when he resigned. He was mayor of Picton from 1860 to 1864, and again in '85 and '86. In politics he was a Liberal. Col. Ross was in his 71st year and leaves a wife and four children, two sons—W. T. Ross, Collector of Customs at Picton, and Fred Ross of Cledge and two daughters—Mrs. Gilmore of Chicago, and Mrs. G. A. Simpson of Brandeau, Man.]

Thomas, representing a Montreal syndicate; James Leggatt, representing English capital, and D. Barr, representing a New York company, have purchased Isle au Herron in the Lachine rapids for the purpose of developing the water power and for furnishing electric power and lighting for the city. The building of the necessary dams, bridges, etc., will be commenced immediately. The improvements will cost about $500,000.

Hungary's Debt Conversion Scheme.

PESTH, Nov. 13.—In the Lower House of the Hungarian Diet yesterday, Prime Minister Tisza, replying to criticisms of the proposed scheme for the conversion of Hungarian loans, contended that the scheme fulfilled the general desire for the abolition of the present method of redemption and would effect a saving of 1,500,000 florins in 1891. The group of bankers which had undertaken to float the new bonds would not have offered their services had they not been convinced that great confidence was established in the condition of Hungarian finances, "and I am confident," continued Herr Tisza, "that unless a great revolution of events occurs the finances of the country will become in so favorable a condition as to permit a more satisfactory conversion to be effected ten and fifteen years hence."

A Petrolia Firebug Confesses.

PETROLIA, Nov. 13.—On Saturday morning at 11 o'clock fire broke out in Dr. Long's head's barn. The flames were confined to the barn and after about an hour's hard work extinguished. Harry Bolingbroke, a discharged employe of the doctor's, was arrested four hours later on suspicion of having started the blaze. He made a full confession and said that he did it to get even with Dr. Longhead for discharging him. Yesterday Bolingbroke was committed for trial.

Two Young Kingstonians Missing.

KINGSTON, Nov. 13.—On Saturday two sons of Rev. Mr. Burns, Lionel, aged 20, and Ernest, aged 16, started out in a canoe on a shooting excursion. Not having returned home Saturday night, a search was instituted on Sunday afternoon. Their boat was found on Point Frederick, but no tidings of either of the young men was obtained. It is feared they are drowned.

Cutting Freight Rates.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The Erie Railroad insists on its differential rate and yesterday put in force rates from New York and Chicago ranging from 45c. to 18c., or less, as to 1c. per 100 pounds below the New York Central rate. Advices from Philadelphia state that the Pennsylvania road has met the cuts and issued a reduced schedule.

ALASKA.

Growth of the White Population—Gold, Silver and Coal Fields.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Governor Swineford of Alaska says in his annual report that the white population is rapidly increased during the past year owing to the extension of mining operations and development of the salmon canning industries. The total population is 49,859 and of this number there are 6500 whites, 1900 Creoles and the rest Aleuts. In regard to the settlement of the public lands the Governor states that all settlers in Alaska upon the public lands are more squatters who are awaiting legislation from Congress which will enable them to secure titles. Gold mines are being developed in Douglass Island and the report notes the sale of four claims for $1,500,000. Promising silver discoveries have been made. As to the Alaskan coal mines the Governor thinks that there is enough coal in the territory to supply the whole of the United States for centuries. In addition to 14 public schools there are 8 Protestant, 2 Catholic and 17 Greco-Russian mission schools, besides the 2 schools supported by the Sitka Industrial Training School. The Governor reiterates the charges made in the last annual report relative to the violation of law and the ill-treatment of the natives by the agents of the Alaska Commercial Company.

THE NEWSPAPER CHARGES

FIRST SESSION OF THE ROYAL COMMISSION AT WINNIPEG.

A Reference Back to the Legislature Asked for Enlarged Scope of the Commission—Evidence to be Taken To-day.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 13.—The first sitting of the Royal Commission to enquire into the newspaper charges against the members of the Government was held yesterday.

Counsel for The Free Press and The Call asked a reference back to the Legislature for enlarged scope, so as to allow evidence to include all the charges made, and intimated that if it was not allowed the matter might be dropped.

Attorney-General Martin claimed that the principal charges were mentioned in the commission, and that no party wanted to bring in extraneous and irrelevant matter.

Judge Killam adjourned the session till to-day when evidence will be taken.

A REPENTANT DEFAULTER.

Ex-Treasurer Axworthy of Cleveland Explains His Case.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 13.—Thomas Axworthy, the defaulting city treasurer of Cleveland, who left June 2nd, 00 "short" in his accounts and with $150,000 of other people's money, has written Mayor Babcock a letter. It was sent from Montreal on Oct. 29, and when the mayor received it he hastened to Montreal in order to have an interview with Axworthy. He remained there a week, and returned to Cleveland without having seen his man. Yesterday afternoon the mayor gave the newspapers a copy of the letter. It reads:

"There has, no doubt, been considerable comment concerning my absence. I arrived here sometime since. I should have written before, but could not summon the courage to do so. I shall not attempt to remain in any part of the Dominion for perhaps all the time, for the following reasons: I went east about Oct. 1 for the purpose of collecting large sums loaned by me on call, from time to time during the last four years, at the suggestion of prominent Cleveland parties. I had been receiving the interest regularly, but greatly to my surprise and horror, when I demanded the principal, I was answered: "We cannot pay it: in fact it would have been impossible for us to have done so within four months after we had made the loans, etc. In fact investigation showed such to be the case, although I supposed the parties to be worth millions. I need not dwell on this matter. In fact I cannot. It is too horrible for me to think or write about. You will know from the position I occupied in your community how my situation must affect me on any other man that has always been strictly honest to the latter thus overwhelmed by circumstances which, when too late, he finds he cannot control. There was a combination to ruin me and it has succeeded. I am properly and deservedly, perhaps, the sufferer and an exile I am not writing you, however, in extenuation of criminal carelessness and consequent misery, but writing you as the executive of the City of Cleveland to advise you that so far as in my power lies I desire to make amends by turning over my entire property, real and personal, for the benefit of the city or my bondsmen. An action in the proper court will, I think, make this entirely legal. Below I give in full my entire belongings, to which I waive all right and title, and I will write my wife asking her to quit claim to all the real estate being or to me in my name for a nominal consideration. My stocks, deeds, lists of sale, etc., are in box 64, National Bank of Commerce. Good-bye, God bless the City of Cleveland and you all, is the earnest prayer of

"THOMAS AXWORTHY."

Mayor Babcock will probably make another trip to Montreal in the hope of having a personal interview with the defaulter.

"RECONSTRUCTED."

What the Canaries Have Been Singing About the New Ministerial Timber.

TORONTO, Nov. 13.—The World says this morning: That the Ontario Cabinet will shortly be "reconstructed" about one hundred little canaries continue to sing to young men of the World. It is now definitely known that poor Mr. Pardee will never take his seat again among the ministers. It is understood that all hopes of his recovery are given up, and his death may occur at any moment, so serious is his condition said to be.

Col. J. M. Gibson of Hamilton will undoubtedly be taken in, and the "reconstructed" Cabinet should be something like this:

Premier and Attorney-General—Hon. Oliver Mowat.

Commissioner of Crown Lands—Hon. A. S. Hardy.

Commissioner of Public Works—Hon. C. F. Fraser.

Provincial Treasurer—Hon. A. M. Ross.

Minister of Education—Hon. G. W. Ross.

Minister of Agriculture— Hon. Charles Drury.

Provincial Secretary—Col. J. M. Gibson, Hamilton.

The canaries who sang The World this information also sing that they will wager dollars to doughnuts that they sing correctly.

NEWFOUNDLAND ADVICES.

An Important Election Which Shows a Feeling in Favor of Union.

HALIFAX, Nov. 13.—An important election took place at Bonavista, Newfoundland, on Saturday, in which the question of confederation with Canada was a prominent factor. Mr. Morrison, an independent candidate, favorable to confederation, and supported by Mr. Moyine, the most enthusiastic Confederalist on the Island was elected by four hundred majority. Morrison is the law partner of Attorney General Sir James Winter, leader of the confederate wing of the Thorburn Government. The Opposition candidate is Mr. Johnston, law partner of Sir William Whiteway, who was supported on the stump by Sir William Whiteway, Mr. Bond, M. H., Dr. Skelton, M.P.P., and the whole force of the Opposition. Whiteway himself has always been a confederate, but he has recently allied himself with the anti-confederation party in an attempt to defeat the existing Government. During the canvas Whiteway said, if in power he would submit the question of confederation to a popular plebiscite of the people. The result is a great victory in favor of confederation, and a great defeat for the Whiteway party, who are temporizing with the question.

Brown's Time Hadn't Come.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 13.—William Brown, grocer of Collamer Village, whose family had left him on accounts of his drinking habits, last night placed three kegs of powder in his store where they would be exploded by fire, touched a match to some inflammable material and cut his throat. Two of the kegs exploded, wrecking the building, but Brown will recover.

Ald. Graham thought that the Railway Co'y should be notified of the above.

Ald. Anderson inquired if anything had been done towards the putting of a number of the prominent streets in better condition ? He thought something should be done, as they are in a bad condition.

Ald. Graham said that the condition of a number of the streets was caused by the excavations made on them for the sewer work.

Ald. J. W. Johnson suggested that a large amount of stone be broken this winter, and that this be placed on the streets in the spring. The condition of the streets could not this fall be much improved.

Ald. Anderson said that the western end of Bridge street was in a very bad condition, which he thought was greatly due to the water works.

Death from Grief.

A Loving Husband Dies on his Wife's Funeral Day.

We copy the following, which will be found to possess some local interest, from the Montreal Star of the 12th inst.

Thomas A. Cummins died suddenly, under peculiarly painful circumstances, at his residence, 82 St. Elizabeth street, on Saturday afternoon. On Wednesday last, his wife was claimed as a victim by death, and the funeral was arranged for Saturday afternoon. Mr. Cummins was prostrated with grief and was confined to his bed on Friday. Prior to closing the coffin, it was decided to send him down stairs to take a farewell glance at his dead wife. The scene was most affecting ; he kissed the dead lips, and it was with difficulty that the bereaved gentleman could be separated from the dead. He was conducted back to his room, being too ill to attend the funeral, and the remains of Mrs. Cummins were borne to the hearse, but as the cortege was about to depart, the relatives and others were startled by the announcement that Mr. Cummins was dead in his room. For a few minutes consternation reigned, and the family refused to believe the report, which, however, proved true, as the lifeless form of Mr. Cummins was found lying across his bed. The remains of the husband were placed in the same death chamber from which his wife barely a few minutes before had been removed. The case is a most melancholy one and the grief of the family can well be imagined. The deceased gentleman is the father of Arthur Cummins, fireman of No. 2 Station. He had reached the age of 57 years and was the father of four children. For the past fifteen years he had been employed in the Montreal Custom House and proved a faithful servant. He was formerly in the British army, having served in the 66th regiment and rose to the rank of sergeant and bugle major. Later on he was connected with the staff of the late Lord Wolseley, and was sent up to Belleville in 1866 at the time of the Fenian trouble to establish a barrack The deceased was highly respected, and his sudden and untimely death is deeply regretted by his numerous friends and acquaintances. The funeral took place this afternoon.

An Old-time Election Dodge.

In 1852, when Pierce (Democrat) and Scott (Whig) were the candidates for President of the United States, the New York Democrats wanted to carry Pennsylvania by sending a large sum of money to Philadelphia to help the boys "pay expenses." They were so closely watched by the Whigs that there was little chance of effecting the scheme secretly. John Brougham, the great comedian of the day, was a strong Democrat, and undertook the job. He made a wager of $10,000 that he would play at the Bowery Theatre, New York, and in Philadelphia the same night. The wager created the greatest excitement. Brougham got through his piece in the Bowery by 10 o'clock, arrangements having been made to take his company by the waggons of Adams' express to the Jersey City depot. Everything was ready. The police cleared the streets on the line of route for the race against time, and away flew the express waggons to the ferry boat, all Broadway being in an uproar. The special train was reached and flew with lightning speed, reaching Philadelphia in due course, when the numerous boxes of silver and gold were safely landed, which accompanied the "theatrical baggage !" John Brougham played his piece, finishing after midnight, won his wager, and carried Pennsylvania for the Democrats ! That's the way they did the thing "befo' de wah."

The Great Yukon River.

The official report of the Great Yukon River, just made by the Dominion explorers, shows that for 600 miles it is in British territory. This includes 200 miles of the gold-mining regions where the chief mining camps are situated. The river is 2,300 miles long, of which 2,000 miles are navigable without a single rapid or portage. Its breadth is six to seven miles in places and averages three or four. Rivers emptying into the Yukon are broader than the Hudson at New York. Little of the region traversed is fit for agricultural purposes, although there are valleys suitable for stock raising. Potatoes and other vegetables equal to the best produced in Ontario are raised at the further northern posts of the Hudson Bay Company. The country abounds with minerals and the winters are not more severely felt than those of central Canada.

LOUIS, Nov. 13.—A special to the Post-Dispatch from Gainesville, Tex., says : News was received here this morning from Fashonings, capital of the Chickasaw Nation, that Governor Guy was assassinated Saturday night. Advices from Chickasaw Nation are that serious trouble is brewing between the followers of Governor Guy and Byrd, his opponent in the late election. The report of the assassination of Governor Guy is not confirmed.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 13.—The trial of Dr. H. C. Hite, Evan Mellinger, Colonel Beckham, Frank Davis and Caleb Glascoe, charged with intimidating Government witnesses, commenced yesterday. The men were said to be members of an organization similar to the White Caps of Indiana, and the case promises some interesting revelations.

Shot by a Demi Mondaine.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—A Chinese laundryman named Hull Wah was shot and fatally wounded yesterday by a disreputable woman named Annie McKay. The shooting grew out of a quarrel over the laundry work, which the woman claimed to have left with the Celestial to be washed. She has not yet been arrested.

CHEESE MARKETS.

The cheese market at Utica manifested no change yesterday from the condition which prevailed on the board. Sales were the same. The attendance was rather light. The season for making is drawing to a close and many factories have discontinued operations. In another week all the October stock will have been taken. Yesterday's transactions were : 7 lots, 1500 boxes, 9½c ; 3 lots, 300 boxes, 9¼c ; 39 lots, 2877 boxes, 9¼c ; 13 lots, 1195 boxes, 9½c ; 17 lots, 1448 boxes, 10c ; 3 lots, 328 boxes, 10¼c ; 6 lots, 1282 boxes on commission. Total transactions 8820 boxes, ruling price 9¾c. Transactions one year ago 9489 boxes, ruling price 10¾c.

Offerings of cheese at Buffalo yesterday afternoon were 5700 boxes. All the cheese was the last week of September make, except that of the dovetailed combination, which sold their September cheese since the last market here. Bidding opened fairly active, with good quality for September cheese, 10¾ cents being bid. At this price there was no trading, as holders wanted 11 cents, but 10¾ bright lots were sold in the field. The balance of the offerings are retained by factories or are shipped east on sale.

There was a little better feeling on the Little Falls cheese market, although there is no increase in the prices paid except for three large lots of fine September cheese which sold at 10¾c. Colored cheese had the preference and no sales of white were made above 9¾c. The transactions were 2 lots at 9¾c, 39 lots at 9¾c, 29 lots at 10c, 3 lots at 10¼c, 1 lot at private terms and 9 lots consignment. Total, 6200 boxes. The sales of farm dairy cheese amounted to 745 boxes and the prices are 9¼c to 10¼c, bulk at 10¼c. Thirty-three packages of butter sold at 21c to 23c, bulk at the latter price.

THE RIPPER'S LATEST VICTIM.

Gen. Sir Charles Warren's Resignation Announced in the Commons.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Chief Commissioner Charles Warren, Chief of the Metropolitan Police, has tendered his resignation. It is understood his action is due to the severe criticism to which he was subjected in the House of Commons in connection with the Whitechapel murders.

In the House of Commons yesterday afternoon Mr. Matthews, the Home Secretary, announced Gen. Warren's resignation. The announcement was received with cheers.

A Ghastly Souvenir.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—John McCarthy, the landlord of Lizzie Fisher, the Whitechapel monster's latest victim, thus describes the hideous spectacle which met his gaze last Friday in the murdered woman's room :

"When I looked through the window the sight I saw was enough to kill me. The deed prepared myself for. On the bed lay the body, while the table was covered with lumps of flesh. Some portions of the woman's breasts had been removed and placed on a table. Its waxlike appearance was the most horrible flesh. The woman's nose had been cut off and her face was gashed and mutilated so that she was quite unrecognizable. Both her breasts, too, had been cut clean away and placed by her side. Her liver and other organs were on the table. I had heard a great deal about the Whitechapel murders, but I had never expected to see such a sight. The body was covered with blood and so was the bed. The whole scene is more than I can describe. I hope I may never see such a sight again."

The man with whom the victim has been recently living could not recognize her, but of course, the surroundings, clothes, etc., identify her. She leaves a natural son, aged 10, who was absent with a neighbor at the time of the murder and knows nothing of the occurrence.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

saved by a Woman—A Freight Train Stopped Just in Time.

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—On Saturday afternoon through freight No. 18, from Coteau to Ottawa, was coming down a steep grade at a fearfully rapid rate on the line between Maxville and Moose Creek when Engineer Brown noticed a female figure ahead wildly waving a red object. He immediately reversed and whistled down brakes and brought the train to a standstill within a few feet of destruction. It was found that the track had been completely washed away a few feet ahead, through the bursting of an adjacent dam just above a tank house.

The Expensive Parnell Commission.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Mr. W. H. Smith, the Government leader, said in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon that an extra estimate would be presented to meet the expenses of the Parnell Commission. He also said that application had been made to the Imperial Government for access to certain documents and that leave to examine these documents would be granted to the counsel of both The Times and Parnellites under certain conditions.

The Dangerous Coal Oil.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—The explosion of poorly-refined coal oil is the cause of another accidental burning. A little girl named Beauchamp, living on Maple street, while helping her mother in domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while resting on the table. Her burning clothing was only torn from her with much difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quickly summoned and the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined Oil a considerable quantity of inferior Coal Oil is being sold.

In order to avoid these low grades we have taken the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil :

'CARBON SAFETY OIL'

A specially refined and superior grade of Canadian Oil,

ASTRAL OIL,

A high grade American Oil.

These we can most confidently recommend to our retail trade as goods that will give entire satisfaction.

We are also fully supplied with Water White and Prime Canadian Oil and the usual brands of Canadian Oil.

A Wrong Opinion.

Many a dollar is paid for prescriptions for some disease that never trouble the patient, and when the sole difficulty was worms, which a few of Freeman's Worm Powders would remove. These Powders are pleasant, safe, and sure, contain their own cathartic, and are adapted for children or adults

FREEMAN'S WORM POWDERS destroy and remove worms without injury to adult or infants.

A Quarter of a Century.

For more than twenty five years has Hagyard's Yellow Oil been sold by druggists, and it has never yet failed to give satisfaction as a household remedy for pain, lameness and soreness of the flesh, for external and internal use in all painful complaints.

FEVER AND AGUE AND BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS are positively cured by the use of Parmelee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, causing them to pour copious effusions from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

To lessen mortality and stop the inroads of disease, use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. For all the diseases arising from impure blood, such as Pimples, Blotches, Biliousness, Indigestion, etc., etc., it has no equal. Mrs. Thomas Smith, Elora, writes: "I am using this medicine for Dyspepsia; I have tried many remedies, but this is the only one that has done me any good."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakens as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind. 8dwly

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarefies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc, if attended to in time are easily subdued, but allowed to run their own course, generally prove the fore-runner of more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives that suffer affliction from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Hickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions for from a diseased to a healthy state

Rest and Comfort to the Suffering.

"Brown's Household Panacea" has no equa for relieving pain, both internal and externa It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. "It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal, as its setting power is wonderful." "Brown's Household Panacea," being acknowledged as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family handy for use when wanted. "as it really is the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the Stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds," and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cts a bottle.

The Child of Waterloo.

BY GEORGE W. M. REYNOLDS.

CHAPTER XLVIII.

The turnkey said nothing, for he had nothing to say, merely to have expressed his notion of a Catholic, which was, that it was all mere sheer gammon—mere humbug.

The priest returned in less time than he had said, and was again conducted to the cell, and, when about to leave them, the turnkey said to him,—

'I will call you, sir, when the time is up.'

'You may call me, and I will tell you if I can leave my penitent; if not, you must not disturb the confession of this man. I will tell you if we are ready—I will come; but woe to you if you disturb me in the performance of my ministry.'

'Oh! bless my soul,' said the turnkey, 'nobody is a going to disturb you; only I sha'n't be within call, and then you will not like to be left all night with the prisoner, I suppose?'

The priest entered the cell, and the door was opened and closed upon him, and when the footsteps of the turnkey were heard to die away, the whole scene was changed.

The priest was busily engaged in filing off the fetters of the prisoner, who held out his hands, while the other worked with good will to get them off. In less than ten minutes they were off.

'Now,' said Sternholde, 'my hands and feet are free.'

'But how will you get out of this place?'

'Through that window. I will saw the bar, and when that is done, I can get through anything that may interpose itself as a barrier.'

'And, as to yourself, I shall be detained!'

'You can seize him by the throat and knock his brains out, before he can make any noise, or give any alarm, and you have only to proceed yourself to the gates, and you will be permitted to go out at your pleasure.'

'Yes, that will, indeed, be the case,' said the priest; 'therefore, hasten, and I will retard the discovery as much as I can.'

There was no time for words; the mendicant, or Sternholde, as we will call him, aided by the priest, soon removed the bars, and then he got through into a kind of narrow yard, near which was fixed a ladder. In an instant he ascended, and after much exertion he got to the roof.

Workmen had been making repairs, and thus the ladder had been left, but it was believed in a secure position.

Sternholde, therefore, Sternholde had scarcely got out of the cell before the turnkey came and knocked at the door, saying:

'Time is up: are you ready, Mr. Andrea Chat's-your-name? are you ready to leave?'

'Not yet,' replied the monk, who sat muttering some prayers, which the turnkey thought was giving absolution, and listening to catch the words, but, finding that he could not, he went away without having his curiosity gratified, and left Sternholde to escape, if he could.

He met with greater difficulties than he had anticipated, and more than once he gave it up as a bad job, and thought of returning, or of throwing himself from the summit, and thus put an end to the life struggle he was undergoing.

The turnkey came again and again, for the third time, when he became impatient, and entered the cell, and before he could express his surprise at the disappearance of the prisoner, he was seized by the throat, and the monk, grappling with him, endeavored to throw him back upon his head and stun him; but the first surprise over, the turnkey, in his turn, grappled with his antagonist, and being the stronger man, the priest was thrown down, and then an alarm was given.

Several turnkeys came running in, and the priest was quickly secured in irons; the whole prison was alarmed, and a search was commenced in a very short time.

It was surprising how quickly they detected the route of the mendicant, and in a few minutes more they were beside him before he was aware of it, for all his faculties were concentrated upon the means of getting safely out of a position of the most imminent peril; which he had got into in his endeavors to escape.

He was quickly seized and thrown down and secured afresh with irons, despite his most vehement and desperate struggles.

'We have you safely enough now,' said one of the turnkeys, 'and it's quite useless to attempt to struggle; you had better take it quietly, like a man.'

Then came the fierce reply; the denunciation of the whole human race, the frantic attempts at self destruction, the shout and laughter and the exultation in the admission that he had killed hundreds of men; that he had baffled them all for years, and that they could not count more days in their lives than he could count lives he had taken.

The men were all astonished at the occurrence, and the governor ordered him to be taken and placed in a strong room, with extra irons, and two men with him.

His ravings were terrific, and men did not believe in the horrible tale he told of his own criminality, but looked upon it as a species of frenzy or madness, during the continuance of which, visions of all that was dreadful visited him, and he believed himself a monster of crime even greater than they took him to be.

CHAPTER XLIX

Captain Morton thought it prudent, as, indeed, it was, to take Mabel away as he could from London, and spare her all the unpleasantness that was likely to arise from the knowledge that any man, however well deserving he might have been of his fate, should suffer the extreme penalty, in whose apprehension and punishment she had been forced into becoming the cause. This, Captain Morton rightly judged, would give her great pain, and a shock to her system that might take time to recover from.

He, however, resolved to travel slowly, and taking his own time in doing so, so that the fatigue should not be felt, either by himself or Mabel, whose troubles and adventures had already given her a severe shock, as well as to render her mind susceptible of any sudden emotion of alarm, and moreover it would give time to send Rafferty Brolickbones onward and prepare the Hall for the reception, and to acquaint Mrs. Morton with their coming.

What a change had taken place since last they were all assembled in the Hall; how much had been done, endured, and discovered since that time! What an epoch had it been! There were events enough to fill volumes, crowded into so short a space that the mind has scarcely time to take cognizance of them. But now they were likely to end, and the even tenor of their former life was likely to return, and the happiness was like to be continued, which had been so grievously and rudely broken in upon. The future was a smiling prospect, the past a darkened picture, in which were many dangers which were almost hidden, and from which escape was difficult.

CATARRH.

A New Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the interlining membrane of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes. The eminent scientists, Tyndall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made oftener then once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before an application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease.

So highly are these remedies valued that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy a parasite, of which they know nothing, by remedies, of the nature of the application of which they are equal ignorant. Mr. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effect a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases.

Mr. Dixon sends a pamphlet describing his new treatment on the receipt of stamp to pay postage. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son, 303 Church street west, Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Cured By B. B. B. When all Else Failed.

Mr. Samuel Allan, of Lisle, Ont., states that he tried all the doctors in his locality while suffering for years with Liver and Kidney trouble; nothing benefitted him until he took Burdock Blood Bitters, four bottles cured him.

Large Scrotal Hernia.

The change of late years in the treatment of Rupture is really surprising. Only a few years ago large Scrotal Hernia or Rupture could not be held by Trusses; now Mr. C. Clothe, the celebrated Truss inventor, offers in every case a success or no charge. He goes even further than this; he offers a 300 mile return ticket on any railroad to any one whose Rupture he cannot hold. Mr. Clothe is a responsible man, and above the reputation of taking advantage of people for the sake of the price of a Truss. This can be substantiated by the testimony of our most worthy physicians throughout the land, to whose patients his visits have proved such a comfort.

Among the Indians.

"While my husband was trading in furs he came across an Indian who was taken to his lodge to die. He had inward pains and pains in all his limbs. He gave some Yellow Oil internally and applied it externally, and cured him. It also cured my husband of rheumatism, and I find it valuable for coughs and colds, sore throat, etc." Mrs. A. Beaw, Cook's Mills, Serpant River, Ont.

Give Them a Chance?

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrah, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

Hesitation means Loss.

If your hair is coming out or turning grey, or if you find dandruff in your hair do not hesitate about looking after it. Get some of Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic," use it as directed and you will find that it will give you the best of satisfaction. Take warning, do not wait till it is too late but try it at once. All druggists sell it.

The Modus Operandi.

The mode of operating of Burdock Blood Bitters is that it acts at once and at the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and the Blood, to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in Chronic Complaints.

A BOMB AT COBOURG.

THE ANTI-FEDERATIONISTS CARRY THE DAY.

Victoria to Remain Independent—A Senate Vote to Fix Annual Income Secures—Modification of Federation Resolutions.

COBOURG, Nov. 13.—The Senate of Victoria University, composed of the Chancellor, Vice-Chancellor, Colonel Sproat (chairman), professors of the faculties, members of the Board of Regents and representatives of affiliated colleges and of the alumni met in Victoria College to-day to consider the question of surrendering the charter and entering into Federation. The result of the meeting was a great victory for the anti-federationists who believe in maintaining an efficient independent university.

Chancellor Burwash took the chair at 11 o'clock. The members of the Senate present were: William Kirby, LL.D., C.E., Vice Chancellor; Rev. A. Carman, D.D., General Superintendent; Professor John Wilson, LL.D., Professor Alfred Baker, M.A., Professor A. R. Bain, LL.D., Dr. Powell, Dr. Ormiston, Professor Eugene Haanel, Ph.D., F.R.S.C., Professor E. J. Hall-Dent, LL.D., Professor Arthur P. Coleman, Ph.D., Professor L. E. Horning, M.A., B. M. Britton, M.A., Q.C., M. Lavell, M.A., Rev. F. B. Rykman, D.D., Judge Dean, M.A., Rev. W. S. Griffin, D.D., J. J. Maclaren, LL.D., Q.C., Rev. E. H. Dewart, D.D., Rev. A. Sutherland, D.D., Hon. W. L. Sanford, Rev. John Potts, D.D., Rev. S. G. Stone, D.D., Rev. J. C. Antliff, D.D., Rev. A. Burns, LL.D., James Mills, M.A., Rev. W. R. Parker, D.D., S. F. Lazier, LL.B., H. C. McMillen, M.A., Rev. J. E. Sanderson, B.A., Rev. James Allen, M.A., W. S. Dounay, M.A., M.D., C. M. Gould, M.D., H. Hough, M.A., W. R. Riddell, B.A., LL.B., D. C. McHenry, M.A., G. N. Bigelow, M. A., LL.B., Rev. Hugh Johnston, M.A., B.D.

A letter was read from Hon Geo. W. Ross, Minister of Education, guaranteeing certain statutory legislation asked for by the Board of Regents. The letter opened the question on the following motion concurring in University Federation, which was moved by James Mills, M.A., principal of the Agricultural College, and seconded by Rev. Dr. Griffin, Guelph:

Whereas, the joint body consisting of the Board of Regents and the Advisory Committee by virtue of the powers vested in it by the General Conference at a recent meeting in the city of Toronto, resolved that the proper steps be forthwith taken to place Victoria University in federation with the Provincial University by giving the control of the latter to the Provincial Secretary provided we have assurance that by special Act of the Provincial Legislature or otherwise, Victoria University shall continue to exercise her powers to confer degrees as heretofore until removed to Toronto, and that all such degrees shall be included in the provisions of sections 7 and 11 of the Federation Act as graduates of Victoria University:

Whereas, the Board of Regents subsequently accepted this decision of the joint body and as a matter of courtesy asked the Senate to concur with this action, and whereas the conditions set forth in the resolutions of the joint body as presented by the committee of the Board of Regents have been satisfactorily met on all points by the Minister of Education:

Therefore, resolved, that this Senate ensures in the action of the Joint Committee of the Board of Regents in forthwith giving the required statutory notice as to the entrance of Victoria University into federation with the Provincial University as soon as the desired legislation shall be obtained.

It was moved in amendment by H. Hough, M.A., Toronto, seconded by Dr. Gould of Colborne:

Whereas this Senate has been taken to consist a resolution of the Board of Regents whereby it is proposed to surrender in the near future our degree-conferring power, and to notify the Minister of Education that we are ready to enter into federation with the Provincial University, and whereas it has been declared that the reference of this question to the Senate is a matter of courtesy and not of right, and whereas it is important that the relative powers of the Board and the Senate touching this matter should be clearly ascertained:

Therefore, be it resolved, first, that in our judgment the rights and powers vested in the charter and statutes of the Senate of Victoria University are such that the Senate alone has authority to surrender the degree-conferring power, and that any act of the Board of Regents providing for such surrender is ultra vires of that body.

Resolved, second, that in view of the fact that the earnest appeals of the past two years for subscriptions in aid of Federation have resulted in securing less than half the amount considered necessary at the last General Conference, showing that the general Methodist church at large is not with the movement, we consider it highly inexpedient to imperil the existence of our University by relinquishing the degree conferring power at the present time. Therefore we decline to concur in the recommendation of the Board of Regents until the amount subscribed is sufficient to enable the university of Victoria under Federation financially safe.

Resolved, third, that a joint committee consisting of the members of the Senate who are of the legal profession be appointed to consider the legal aspects of this question and to take such steps as may be necessary to protect the rights vested in regard to the surrender of the degree-conferring power, and report to the next meeting of the Senate, and that the Senate be first invited to a discussion of the question of Federation itself this Senate records its disapproval of a measure which will lower the value of our institution, which will deprive the Methodist Church of its long-enjoyed advantage of an independent university at a time when it is well able to sustain it, which places beyond its power the carrying out of its most important and traditional policy of maintaining an oversight of the training of its students in the higher and more perilous branches of the arts, and which brings altogether needless agitation and strife in the colleges of the country that proposed we believe can be maintained only in spite of the absorption of Victoria without receiving the boon and blessing of an educational system which was demanded by the people, and of which the registrar to transmit to the Board of Regents a copy of this resolution with the request that they take no further steps for the consolidation of the University of Victoria with the Provincial University until they have secured the amount contemplated by the General Conference as necessary to safety and efficiency in entering upon our work in our proposed new relationship.

Principal Mills was granted leave to amend his motion by striking the words, "as a matter of courtesy" out of his motion.

Dr. Stone moved to add the following words as a rider to Principal Mills' motion:

"And whereas the principle is unassailable that are in the hands of the Bursar of Victoria College, or which may hereafter be paid to the Board of Regents may deem necessary and adequate to the erection of the necessary buildings, and such income of an endowment as they may deem essential to the success of our operations as a federating college."

The Chancellor ruled Dr. Stone's rider out of order. The excitement was intense. Intense excitement as 8.30 o'clock, when Dr. Hough's amendment was carried by the following vote:

Yeas—Kerr, Lavell, Maclaren, Dean, Dr. Sutherland, Sanford, Burns, Lazier, McMillen, D. C. Sutherland, Dr. Sanderson, Gould, Hough, Riddell, Bigelow, Allen, Henry, Roynar, Bain, Horning, Powell, Rose—total—21.

Nays—Carman, Dean, Britton, Rykeman, Griffin, Dewart, Potts, Stone, Antliff, Mills, Parker, Johnston, Bedgley, Wilson—total—14.

The announcement of the result, a majority of seven for non-concurrence, was received with deafening cheers, the students singing:

On the old Ontario strand
Victoria evermore shall stand.

Four of the "nays" said they were prepared to vote against Mr. Mills motion; neither motion nor amendment suited them.

Mayor Clarke of Cobourg was introduced. He announced that the citizens of Cobourg had authorized him, in addition to the town's grant of $25,000 and 90 acres of land, to increase it to $31,500 a year for five years, to further this endowment of a chair in Victoria University.

Mr. H. A. Massey of Toronto was also presented to the meeting, and said that he would give from $100,000 to $250,000 towards the maintenance of an independent university at Cobourg, provided his bequest was supplemented by a similar sum. These offers were received with tremendous cheers.

The Senate adjourned and the Board of Regents was convened, when, on motion of Dr. Sutherland, it was resolved, in view of the action of the Senate, to defer further action indefinitely.

There was great excitement in town when the result of the meeting became known. It puts an entirely new phase on the Federation scheme, the outcome of which is fraught with much anxiety to the Methodists throughout the country.

THE SAULT STE. MARIE CANAL.

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—Although the award of the contract for the lock at Sault Ste. Marie has not been officially announced it is generally understood that the successful tenderers are Hugh and John Ryan, and that they will have associated with them W. M. J. Ramsay of Prescott, Ont.

No information has been received by the Department of Militia with reference to the reported disbandment of the 7th regiment of London and it is most probable that if any move in that direction is made it will be seemingly discountenanced at headquarters.

A lively time is expected at Rideau Hall during the Christmas holidays, as Lord Stanley proposes having a gathering of all the members of his family.

The hearing of the application to cancel the Edison patents, held by the Edison Electric Light Company of Montreal for incandescent electric lighting in Canada was commenced before Mr. Richard Pope, Deputy Commissioner of Patents, this afternoon. The petitioners are the Royal Electric Company and associated with them are the Sawyer Man Manufacturing Company, the United States Electric Company, the Westinghouse Company and the Thomson-Houston Company of Boston, Mass. Cancellation of patents is applied for on the ground that the patentee failed to comply with the patent regulations which provide that the article can not be imported one year after the patent is granted, and also failure to begin the manufacture within two years after the issue of the patent. The petitioners among other things represent that the Edison Company violated the law after due time had elapsed in importing lamps whole and in parts. Mr. R.D. McGibbon appears for petitioners and D. McLaren, Q.C., for respondents. A number of witnesses, including several experts, are to be examined and the case will probably take three or four days.

A TRAIN WRECKER ARRESTED.

GODERICH, Nov. 13.—Henry P. Romp, an engineer employed on the Grand Trunk Railway, was arrested here to-day charged with having placed the obstructions on the track that so nearly derailed the 7.30 train on Saturday evening last. The case was worked up by Grand Trunk Railway detective Charles Spence of Toronto and Constable Yule of Goderich.

Romp, who does not appear to be perfectly sane, wrote a confession of having perpetrated the deed but assigns no cause for his action.

The engine struck the obstruction about half a mile south of the station and had it not been that Engineer Green had it well under control would have jumped the track and been precipitated over a steep embankment which skirts the line at that point.

After writing his confession the prisoner undertook to plead not guilty, but Mayor Strachan refused to take the evidence committed him to stand his trial.

THE CORNWALL CANAL.

Navigation to be Opened To-morrow—Not to be Closed Sundays.

CORNWALL, Nov. 13.—Water will be let into the canal to-day and the dredge will start work to-morrow to dredge out the dam. It is expected navigation will be opened Thursday, providing the bank does not go out once more, which is not likely now.

About 2000 cords of stone has been dumped into the hole besides the large amount of earth.

The mills will not be allowed to use water until Monday and the canal will be kept open for navigation Sundays as well as week days for the remainder of the season.

A MYSTERY OF THE THAMES.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The body of a well-dressed woman was found in the Thames this morning. There were marks on the body that gave rise to a suspicion that the woman had been murdered, but the jury will that she committed suicide and that the marks were received by contact with objects in the water-bed. The police searched the casual wards of the various police stations in the hope of getting some clue to the murderer, but they were unsuccessful. They arrested a man who had a bowie knife in his possession, but there is no reason to believe that he was instrumental in the woman's death.

Robertson for $2,000 damages, for the seduction of his daughter. Annie, a young woman 20 years of age, and formerly employed in the grocery operator's

Vandalism in St. Catharines.

Valuable to Know.
Consumption may be more easily prevented than cured. The irritating and harassing cough will be promptly relieved by the use of Haygarth's Pectoral Balsam that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

Dangerous Counterfeits.
Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. For sale by all druggists or sent post-paid on receipt of price (50c. and $1.) by addressing Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Rare Combination.
There is no other remedy or combination of medicines that represents so many requirements, as does Burdock Blood Bitters in its wide range of power over such Chronic diseases as Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Complaint, Scrofula and all humors of the blood.

There are a number of varieties of corns, Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once. Do not delay in getting relief for the little foes. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

Orin Catlin, 49 Pearl Street Buffalo, N. Y., says: I tried various remedies for the piles but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications.

MRS. GEORGE LEECH, Ha'dimand Township, has received more benefit from two bottles of Dawling's Pepsin Compound, than anything she has ever taken in her life. She has been troubled with bilious ness, loss f appetite and constipation for years. Now she has none of those troubles. Pe ple write to her and see how she has recommend you to take Dawling's Pepsin Compound if you are Dyspeptics.

The cheapest medicine in use is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, because so very little of it is required to effect a cure. For croup, diphtheria, and dis ases of the lungs and throat, whether used for bathing the chest or throat, or taking internally or inhaling it is a matchless compound.

What does Dowling's Pepsin Compound cure? Dyspepsia and Indigestion. What are the symptoms? Biliousness, constipation, lack of energy, drowsiness, headache, pains in the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, depression of spirits. Ask your druggist for it.

Dowling's Little River Granules are highly recommended for all diseases of the liver.

Mr. Thomas Hallard, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: I have been afflicted for nearly a year with that most-to be dreaded disease Dyspepsia, and at times w rn out with pain and want of sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended I tried one box of Parmelee's Valuable Pills. I am now nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money.

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specifically upon the digestive organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of these medicines to cleanse impurity, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body. Mr. D. Cantwell, Cantwell P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

Of all the dyspeptic remedies ever placed in the market, Dowling's Pepsin Compound takes the lead. Why? Because it acts naturally on the digestive organs. It cleanses, and not mechanically, like the other patent medicines. Besides, it helps to assimilate and digest all the foods that enter the stomach. Ask your druggist for a bottle.

Belleville ites follow the example of Mrs. Geo. Leech, of Haldimand, and many others, and rid yourselves of that dire disease, dyspepsia and indigestion.

BABY'S SKIN AND SCALP
Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by Cuticura Remedies.
Our oldest child, now six years of age, when an infant six months old was afflicted with a virulent, malignant skin disease. All ordinary remedies failing, we called our family physician who attempted to cure it; but it spread with almost incredible rapidity, until the lower portion of the little fellow's person, from the middle of his back down to his knees, was one solid rash, ugly, painful, blotched and malign us. We had no rest at night, no peace by day. Finally, we were advised to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES. The effect was simply marvellous. In three or four weeks a complete cure—as healthy, leaving the little fell w's cr s n as white and healthy as though he had never been attacked. In my opinion your valuable remedies saved his life, and to-day he is a strong, healthy child, perfectly well, no repetition of the disease having ever occurred. GEO. R. SMITH, Att'y at Law and ex-Pros. Atty. Ashland, O. Reference: J. G. Wood, Druggist, Ashland.

CLEAR SKIN, PURE BLOOD.
No matter, who suffers from disease, who takes pride in their beauty, purity, and health, and in restoring upon the m a child's greatest inheritance—a clear skin and a healthy body—no one need be sure blood —should fail to make trial of the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

I have seen the CUTICURA REMEDIES used for milk crust by a visitor in my house, and can t s tify that the cure was speedy and permanent. I have also used them myself, for eruptions of the skin on my little child, with such success, that I say in every respect. The skin was broken out and beginning to assume ugly proportions. I have also heard my neighbors speak of the CUTICURA REMEDIES in the highest terms. E. P. BEAR. Churchville, Augusta Co., Va.

GEORGE RITCHIE & CO.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which baffle their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in all its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhœa, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and more critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription" when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small active doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and other diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes constitutional and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully adhered to for many years.

Large bottles (100 doses) $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 14

THE SPECULATIVE PROJECT.

The Toronto Mail and Prof. Goldwin Smith, in a letter to that journal, are, in the highest degree, optimistic as to the speculative project, which they claim has been greatly advanced by the election of a Republican to the Presidency of the United States. Considering that the issue upon which the Republicans succeeded was opposition to the reduction of the customs tariff and that the leading men of the victorious party straightforwardly declared against free trade or reciprocity with Canada, the opinion expressed by the Mail and Prof. Smith is evidently without a reasonable foundation. Such, at least, is the opinion of the Hamilton Times, which, although it has been an advocate of the project in question, says :

For Canada to join in with a country moving rapidly toward free trade offered a ready means of escape from the heavy burdens which the Canadian tariff monopolists have imposed upon the honest industry of the country. For Canada to enter a Zollverein on a 47 per cent. basis, and become subject to all the rings and trusts which flourish in the United States, would be a dreary horse of another color. Better stay as we are than jump out of the frying-pan into the fire ; better bring all our energies to bear to counteract by independent action within our own country which may offer to protection for another quarter of a century. In spite of Mr. Goldwin Smith's buoyant spirits, we are of opinion that the recent Presidential election in the United States has dealt a severe blow to the Commercial Union project in Canada.

The Times, after long pursuit of a phantom, has at last been convinced that further pursuit is vain. If, as we conclude from its utterances, our contemporary has determined to abandon the advocacy of the speculative project, it will thereby in part atone for numerous errors and inconsistencies in the past, which even the name would require a considerable amount of space, and help to dispel the delusion which it has at last discovered, from the minds of others who are still effected by it.

PROTECTION FOR OUR TIMBER.

OTTAWA, Nov. 12.—An Order-in Council has been passed increasing the present duty on pine logs from two to three dollars per thousand feet, board measure. The object of this export duty originally was to compel lumbermen to convert their timber into deals, boards, etc., in Canada, thus by affording work for our own people in the Dominion. It has been found, however, that despite this export duty, Michigan lumbermen who own limits in Ontario have been rafting the logs to the United States, and an increase of one dollar a thousand feet will probably induce them to quit the rafting business and convert the timber into lumber in Canada.

The above, which is taken from the Ottawa correspondence of the Empire, shows that our Government are wide awake to the interests of the country. American sawmill owners have of late been purchasing large areas of pine lands in the district tributary to the Georgian Bay, with the object of stripping the country of its timber and towing the logs to their mills in the United States, there to be sawn. The export duty of $2 per thousand feet having proved to be insufficient to stop this undesirable traffic, the Government have increased the duty to such an extent as to cause the owners of the limits, if they wish to utilize them, to give to Canada the benefit of manufacturing her product. This is as it should be, and as the action of our Government in this respect is in line with the policy of that of the United States, our neighbors will have no just ground of complaint.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

Public opinion in Great Britain appears to be more powerful than it is on this continent. Sir Charles Warren, chief of the metropolitan police of London, has been forced to resign his position because the men under his command have been unable to capture the Whitechapel murderer.

The Mail includes steamship subventions amongst the "abracadabra of protectionist enchantment," and yet great Britain grants more money for steamship subvention than all the rest of the world beside, and must find great profit in doing so, as new subventions are quite frequent.

Walter Ross, Esq., ex M. P. for Prince Edward, did not live long to enjoy the office of Clerk of the Division Court at Picton, to which he was recently appointed by his friends of the Ontario Government. There are none, however, who enjoyed his acquaintance but will not regret his demise. Mr. Ross, before he became a politician, was a successful merchant and had amassed a large fortune, which, however, was in the course of a few years, dissipated in heavy expenditure on account of political affairs. In short, he was a successful business man, but failed to make a like success in the political arena. Had he stuck to his business he would have lived and died a wealthy man. Mr. Ross' personal attributes were agreeable and he had a host of friends in this district.

A Female Paradox.

A lady, old and growing older still,
(As indeed we all grow old, you know,) became,
In spite of age, as young as youth—but ill,
And old, and wretched, feeble, lame, and sore,
A lady young because she felt a pain,
And ailing, and why ! Because the truth,
That keeps a lady young, they fail to grasp,
And yielding to disease, die in its fatal clasp,
Unstrung is that woman's weaknesses may be
Subdued by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Firearms of Earlier Times.

Under the above head Lock and Bell gives a very interesting account of early firearms, from which we quote as follows :

When hand firearms came into use the only method of firing the gun was by applying a blazing fuse to the priming in the pan. This was slow and uncertain, and the difficulties arising in the use of early firearms were so great that some wonder may be expressed at their being used at all. The gunner was forced to carry coarse powder for his charge, fine powder for his priming, a bag of bullets, a rest on which to place his piece when firing, and a burning match. So much luggage rendered the movements and progress exceedingly slow, and every man who carried a gun was therefore generally attended by an assistant to keep his fire going. The process of loading and firing was incredibly slow. At a battle fought in 1636 the best soldiers were able to fire only seven shots in eight hours, while two years later, in the battle of Wittemberg, the quickest arquebusers fired but seven shots each, although the fight lasted from noon until 8 o'clock in the evening.

The first improvement in the method of firing the piece was the wheel lock, which came in in the sixteenth century. This consisted of a steel wheel, with ratchets working against a flint. The wheel, being released by moving the trigger, revolved rapidly and struck sparks of fire from the flint, thus igniting the powder. The wheel lock was considered a wonderful invention, but no long time elapsed after it became common before it was superseded by the flint lock, the construction of which is so well known to most readers as to need no description. Many pistols of curious patterns and workmanship are found both with wheel and flint lock, perhaps the most interesting specimens being the dagge, used in Italy and the South of Europe. These queer weapons were constructed wholly of iron, were consequently very heavy, and had the barrels turned almost at right angles to the barrel. They made a tremendous report, but aside from that and the danger of bursting, they were worth little as offensive or defensive weapons. It is commonly supposed that the breech-loader is an invention of very recent years, but nothing is further from the truth, some of the earliest hand firearms ever made being breech-loaders. A hunting arquebus belonging to Henry VIII. is still preserved in the Tower of London, the pieces being nearly identical with that of a favorite modern rifle, and not the modern plan of breech loading is known that was not at one time or other foreshadowed in these ancient weapons. The German breech loaders were, however, the best. Many of the early pistols were also breech loaders, some of them being on the drop-down system—that is to say, the barrel turning down on a pivot to admit of receiving the charge. Both in guns and pistols the revolving system was applied as early as the fourteenth century, and the museums of Europe contain hundreds of specimens of fifteenth century revolvers—crude, indeed, but still capable of a good deal of rough usage. They were sometimes double barreled, alternately presenting one, then the other barrel ; they had three, four, five, six, and sometimes ten barrels. Generally all communicated with a common priming chamber, and they were thus all fired together ; but this peculiarity is noticed only in the early revolvers, for when all the barrels were discharged simultaneously there was no advantage in the fact of their being movable.

—Statements to the effect that Lord Randolph Churchill is in poor health are unfounded. He is in splendid form and just as much of a political crank as ever.

—It was an old woman in Indiana who invented the whisk broom, and millions of them are whisking away from daylight to dark without her having made a cent out of the invention.

—Two Tennessee men went out to fight a duel, one having an axe and the other a scythe, but a stranger came along and suggested a game of poker and all shook hands and became good friends.

—An extreme specimen of a dandy alighted from a four-wheeler and went round to pay the driver. The poor old rack o'bones mare turned her head to gaze at him. "Yes," said the driver confidentially to the horse, as the passenger moved away, "that's the blessed hobject you've been a drawin' of !"

—The city of Glasgow, Scotland, is about building a second underground railway that will be 7 miles long. The inside width will be 26 feet, and the rails from 18 to 23 feet below the surface. The steepest grade is 60 feet per mile. The cost of the entire work and land will be about $5,000,000, and the road is expected to pay 6 per cent. on the outlay.

WHY GEN. WARREN HANDED IN HIS RESIGNATION.

Lord Randolph Churchill's Trenchant Speech in the House of Commons in Connection with Latimore.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—In the House of Commons to-day Mr. Matthews, Home Secretary, stated that the resignation of Sir Charles Warren as Chief of the Metropolitan Police was solely due to his refusal to submit to the rule which forbids officials to publicly criticize Government service. Gen. Warren in announcing his resignation, said Mr. Matthews added, felt that he had known that such rule existed he would never have accepted the post.

In the debate on the estimates in connection with the Supreme Court of Judicature Mr. L. J. Jennings (Con.) moved to reduce the appropriation by a considerable sum.

Lord Randolph Churchill approved the proposed reduction. He said the money squandered on court officials was a public scandal and a national disgrace amounting to maleversation of the public money on a large scale. The new Department of Justice recently added to the machinery consisted of nothing but lawyers. It was also a huge brigandage on the taxpayers. Before the Government asked them to vote this money, let them obtain a pledge that these visible owls would receive earnest and immediate attention.

Attorney-General Webster deprecated Lord Randolph Churchill's excessive criticism as calculated to excite the imagination of the people. There could be no more unwise awkward favoritism in the matter of appointments nor slowed indifference toward the suffering of functions, but it could not alter salaries immediately. He promised that attention would be paid to the recommendations of the committee.

Mr. Labouchere's motion to reduce the estimates was rejected, 148 to 129.

The Oaths Bill.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The Oaths Bill passed its second reading in the House of Lords today without division.

The Parnell Commission.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—At the meeting of the Parnell Commission to-day Presiding Justice Hannen intimated that the court's decision in the matter of the disclosure of document was that all the documents which The Times possessed, including those from which The Times' solicitor thought spurious, should be disclosed in order to assist in the search for the truth.

Sir Charles Russell, counsel for the Parnellites, stated that he had received several threatening letters.

Justice Hannen remarked that he also and probably others engaged in the case had received similar letters. The intimidation of witnesses he said was so certain that precautions must be taken not to allow the premature disclosure of their names.

The taking of evidence so relative to outrages was then proceeded with and James Mannion, one of the witnesses called, declined to answer questions as a member of the National League. He said he had taken part in several outrages and had gone on moonlight expeditions. He knew no moonlighter who was not also a member of the League.

Peter Flaherty, a farmer of Galway, testified that he was a moonlighter, but was ashamed to acknowledge it. He was perfectly ready to act with the moonlighters again.

Edward Flannigan said he had been in America since 1879. He had been present at numerous League meetings at Pittsburg and New York, at which Stephen J. Meany had presided. He said that Meany had collected funds for the purpose of buying firearms for use in Ireland.

The court then adjourned.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 13.—The General Assembly of the Knights of Labor met here to-day. The reports of the Committee on Credentials was first considered. No great fight was made over the report, everything being decided practically as recommended by the committee.

Mr. T. B. Barry was in the hall when the session opened. He endeavored to speak but General Master Workman Powderly told him that having been expelled he had no right there and must go. He again tried, as he said, to say a word of explanation, but was compelled to leave the hall.

Penn Wonldn't Apologize to Uncle Sam.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The Department of State does not anticipate any serious results from the complications between this country and Peru growing out of the seizure of the building in which is situated the United States Consular agency at Molendo, Peru. The records were not disturbed. As the action appeared to be a technical discourtesy towards the United States an apology was requested, but was refused by the Peruvian Government on the ground that it had done nothing to warrant an apology. The State Department is waiting complete details of the affair before proceeding further, but as already stated anticipates no trouble.

This May Rent Carlisle.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 14.—An examination of the ballots in Boone, Campbell, Kenton and Pendleton Counties in the 6th Kentucky district shows that 7302 perforated tickets were cast for John G. Carlisle, the present Speaker of the House. His majority in the entire district was 6051, so that if no further search is made there are enough ballots to defeat him, if it shall be declared upon contest that these perforated ballots are void.

A Philadelphia Murder.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.—Peter Kretchmany yesterday shot and killed Mrs. Matilda Hellerman, aged 38, and then surrendered to the police. The only explanation the murderer gave was that his wife had died about three weeks ago and that she had been ruined and driven to her death by Mrs. Hellerman.

STANLEY ON ANNEXATION

THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL MAKES A STIRRING SPEECH.

His Excellency's Reply to an Address from the St. Jean Baptiste Society—The Advantages of our Government.

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—The officers of St Jean Baptiste Society waited on His Excellency in the Eastern Block this morning and presented an address. In the course of his reply, which was in French, His Excellency, after alluding to the devotion of the French Canadians to the British flag, as in 1775 and 1812, touched on the question of annexation. He said :

"Your loyalty, as you say, has been subject to many trials and you have overcome those temptations of which you spoke just now in a manner which does credit to and with just pride. In this, the nineteenth century, the same temptations do not fail to present themselves, although under a changed aspect. For instance, people talk of annexation and of various other cries known to the political world.

"The monarchical constitution gives us complete autonomy without obliging us every four years to, as they do in the United States, elect oscillations of politics like those which just now have disturbed the business of our neighbors in the United States, and where the external form of a republic it would be impossible to find a more complete expression of the sentiments and of the wishes of citizens than you find to-day with us.

"Do not therefore, gentlemen, listen to those who would endeavor to disturb you. We know very well the object of such intrigue. Let us remain tranquil. Do not let it be said that the Dominion of Canada has trusted itself.

"Without doubt the Confederation, like other states, will have her difficulties but she will come well out of them. Strong in the wisdom and the energy of her sons, preserving always what is best in the traditions of our two great nations, pressing forward always in all that concerns liberty and civilization, she will surmount her difficulties and she will overcome her obstacles."

MANITOBA MATTERS.

The Debate on the Address—The News paper Charges Reported Not Proven.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 13.—The Legislature got down to work this afternoon and Mr. McDougall seconded by Mr. Harrison moved the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

Mr. Norquay offered no amendment but criticised the Government pretty strongly.

Premier Greenway made a forcible reply and after several members had spoken the debate was adjourned.

Replying to a question the Premier said he hoped to be able to announce the policy of the Government respecting the Hudson Bay Railway aid act before the close of the session.

The Commission to enquire into the charges brought by The Call and The Free Press against the members of the Government and Donald Ross is also going to the non appearance of witnesses to prove the charges. Counsel for the newspapers state they were prepared to substantiate the charges they had made, but not those prepared by the Government for the Commission to investigate. Counsel for the Government contended that was a matter for the judge and the Judge decided he would report the charges not proven.

She Worked the Missionary Dodge.

ST. CATHARINES, Nov. 13.—A young lady of respectable parents here has got herself into a rather embarrassing predicament lately. She has been in the habit of collecting ostensibly for a missionary society, but in reality for herself. Her excuse when questioned about the matter, was that she did not recei e sufficient pin money to clothe her as stylishly as the other girls in her set, and she decided upon the course she took to increase her exchequer. She has left the city.

PETERBORO, Nov. 13.—The preliminary trial of Fred Greenfield, the noted criminal lately extradited from Buffalo on a charge of shooting at a constable with intent to kill, took place here to-day before the Police Magistrate. PAIN FROM INDIGESTION, dyspepsia, and tpo hearty eating, is relieved at once by taking one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after dinner. Don't forget this.

The Bridge Plans.

Mr. Corby, M. P., has received a telegram from Sir Hector Langevin, Minister of Public Works, stating, in reply to Mr. Corby's enquiry, that he will receive the deputation respecting the bay bridge on Friday. The deputation will accordingly leave for Ottawa to-morrow night.

Sudden Death.

Mrs Mayo, who resides near the station, last evening received a telegram announcing that the wife of her brother dropped dead in the street at Montreal yesterday morning. The deceased lady was in the city a short time ago, and appeared to be in excellent health. The cause of her death is supposed to be heart disease.

Still Growing.

The free night school at the City Mission is steadily increasing in attendance, last night being considerably larger that ever.

If our readers who have any school books or slates not in use would spend half an hour to-morrow in looking them up and taking them down to the mission they would be doing an act most appropriate for Thanksgiving Day.

Mock Parliament.

The Governor-General, having appointed Thursday the 15th day of November as a day of thanksgiving, there will be no meeting of the Parliament of the Belleville Legislative and Literary Society. This will enable the members to participate in the evening services.

A Good Idea.

At St. Andrew's church on Sunday, the announcements of the Thanksgiving made from the pulpit, were circulated in printed slips, copies of which were placed in each pew. This new departure is an excellent one, and might be followed with advantage in every church in the city.

A Musical Soiree.

The concert given last eveuing by Mr. Donley in the City Hall was largely attended by the parents and friends of the scholars, and a fine programme of musical talent was presented, thus evincing the thorough training that the pupils are subjected to. Those who attended speak in high terms of the entertainment.

Obituary.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. William Jones will deeply regret to hear of the death of their youngest daughter, Gerda. We clip the following from the N. Y. Herald :—"Suddenly, at residence, 341 West 20th street, New York, November 5, 1888, Gerda Beetison, youngest daughter of William and Emma Barber Jones."

Football.

A match was played yesterday afternoon between the High school team and the junior team of Albert College. Owing to the lateness of the hour of beginning the match, namely 5 o'clock, but a half hour's playing time was done when time was called, on account of darkness. Neither side had scored a goal.

The High School team will play the High School club of Picton to-morrow. Our boys will be conveyed to Picton by the steamer Annie Gilbert.

"No Boys Admitted."

This legend, in good large letters, adorns the door of the billiard room at the Mechanics' Institute. And yet boys are admitted, and play pool, and some of them are very noisy and by no means choice in their language, and the tables, balls, and cues suffer greatly from the recklessness of these "noisy boys." This nuisance is of several months' standing, and therefore it is now directed to it because the directors, having had knowledge of the subject and ample time to act, have failed to carry out their own rules.

Evading the Police.

At about 10 o'clock last night word was received at the police station that Robert Baker, who resides on Commercial street, had come home under the influence of liquor and was abusing his family and breaking the furniture of the house. It was also stated that he had thrown one of the young children out on the street. Two officers of the force repaired immediately to the scene of the conflict. Baker evidently saw the officers approaching, for he locked the front door and before the officers could gain admittance to the house he had made good his escape out of the back door, and could be found nowhere.

A Musical Family.

From the Toronto Empire of October 9th we take the following reference of the McGibeny family, who appear at the Opera House on Tuesday evening next :—"At Association Hall last evening standing room only could be had, and in fact many went home, thus missing one of the richest musical treats ever given in the hall, as it was the occasion of the McGibeny family's first appearance. It took the family but a few minutes to capture the ears and hearts of the audience, who recalled them many times. They compose a very remarkable musical group of father, mother and children, and are equally conversant on brass or string, besides well cultivated young making a delightful picture on the platform."

Noisy Neighbors.

On north and south Howell St., there are about 25 Italians, located in houses which do not reflect credit on the landlady of the property. What with drunken brawls and grievous discords in displaying their musical abilities, they render night hideous at all hours. Neighbors are also complaining of losing clothes line effects, such as towels, quilts, etc., and other articles, in the shape of firewood. As their occupation is only temporary, while it continues on the G. T. R. double track, it would be well for the landlady to dispense with such tenants, rather than gain a reputation for her property that would drive the remaining and intending tenants to other localities.

Sabbath Desecration.

The complaint against Mr. McCormack for desecrating the Sabbath by carrying on business on the Lord's Day, was an unanimously proper one and the Police Magistrate's decision will form a warning to others. The defendant is a respectable man and the Christian Sabbath is not regarded by the religious denomination to which he belongs, the seventh day of the week being that of which it inculcates the observance. Mr. McCormack therefore acted in accordance with his religious beliefs in what he did and had been in the habit of doing. But this is a Christian country, and its laws providing for the observance of the Sabbath apply to all who come under its operation. Sunday labor is not only an offence against the divine law and therefore abhorrent to our Christian people, but it is also a violation of our civil law, and cannot be permitted in Canada.

Mr. A. P. Wright has arrived in Toronto, and is working up a missionary spirit among the students of the city.

Bleecker Street Thanksgiving Tea Meeting.

Don't forget it. The ladies of Bleecker Street Church cordially invite their friends from the "city" to pay them their usual annual visit. Be sure and do so for they always have a good time. To-morrow, tea from 7 to 8:30.

Street Car Broken Down.

Last evening as one of the street cars was proceeding up Bridge street, the rear truck became detached, the result of which was the car left the track and came near being upset. The passengers who were on the car were somewhat frightened, but no one was injured. The injury was soon repaired and the car went on its journey in safety.

Misappropriation.

Mrs. Eliza D.Groff, who occupies apartments in a tenement house near the upper bridge, reported to the police this afternoon that during her absence in the country last week some parties, who live in the same building, entered her apartments and took therefrom some wearing appeal, and devoted it to their own use. The police will investigate.

Thanksgiving Services

Thanksgiving services will be held to-morrow in the different churches of England, the Bishop's church and the John Street churches, and the Tabernacle, where the pastor will preach. Services will be held in the Congregational church. The Rev. W. Bowen will preach, his subject being, "The witness of God in nature." The collection will be donated to the Home.

The Body of Ostrander Found near Bald win's Bay.

The body of Edward Ostrander, the Picton sailor who was drowned ab ut a month ago while attempting to board the schooner Gearing, at Oswego harbor, was discovered on Monday afternoon, on the beach near Baldwin's Bay. The remains were conveyed to Oswego and an inquest held, the result of which was, the jury returned a verdict that the deceased came to his death by accidental drowning. There were no wounds to intimate that death was caused otherwise than by drowning. The remains were prepared for burial, and sent to his parents at Picton. The deceased was a young man, but 22 years of age, and his demise caused much wide spread sympathy.

Father Chiniquy Not an Old Man.

Rev. J. L. Morin, pastor of St. John's Church, Montreal, writes to the Star :—"Father Chiniquy does not think that he is an old man, although he is in his eightieth year. Lately he was presented by some of his countrymen with a beautiful gold headed cane, as a token of their esteem and gratitude. He thanked them very heartily, although, he said, he did not know what to do with it, but, I promise you,' he continued, 'to carry it when I will be an old man.' So 'the apostle of temperance of Canada' is not going to retire yet from the active work of the ministry, as it was intimated in last night's Star. Last Sunday evening he gave an evident proof that he had not felt yet the glacial touch of old age. He spoke for an hour and a quarter, with as much vigor and eloquence as ever."

Alleged Sharp Practice.

A lively scene is reported to have taken place in a second hand store up street, yesterday afternoon. From what can be learned it appears that on Saturday last a party visited the place in question, for the purpose of purchasing a table. Seeing one which answered all purposes, the price was asked, and the purchaser agreed to pay the same, but having enough money to pay for it at the time, gave $1 to secure the article, and promised to call at the first of the week, pay the balance and take the article away. Yesterday, on going to the store, the proprietor denied all knowledge of the party, and of the transaction alluded to. Hot words were exchanged and had it not been for the interference of a third person, blows would in all probability have resulted. The affair will, in all probability, be investigated at the police court.

About 40 Italians went west on the mid night last night. They will work on the double track near Toronto. While at the station two of them became engaged in a fight and threatened to harm each other with knives. They were separated, however, before doing any harm.

Two of the city police officers visited the depot at midnight last night, as it was supposed that some of the Italians had concealed some articles of clothing, which did not belong to them, but the officers found nothing.

A carter's horse became frightened in the yard this morning and ran away. A number of tubs of butter were distributed in the yard, but no damage done to them. The animal was captured just outside the yard.

Albert College.

The reopening exercises at Albert College will be held on Friday evening next, at 8 o'clock. There will be a platform meeting in the chapel, at which addresses will be delivered by Revds Dr. Potts, Dr. Borwash, Dr. Carman, S. B. Burdett, Esq., M. P., and others, interspersed with choruses by the students. Later in the evening, refreshments will be served in the dining hall, and the halls and public rooms thrown open for visitors. In order that all friends of the College may have an opportunity of seeing the building in its improved condition, tickets of admission have been left with Messrs. Walmsley & Spafford, and C. B. Scantlebury.

Timber Making—Lumbermen Flooded Out.

TUFNSVILLE, Nov. 12, 1888.

W. G. Buck, the well known lumberman, is making square timber in the front townships. He is at present operating in Huntingdon. He has already shipped several car loads to Kingston, consisting of pine, oak, and elm, to be used in ship building and for other purposes, and expects to ship 60 car loads more this coming spring. Mr. Buck's operations extend over a large extent of territory, he having six gangs of men in different parts of the province. He lately made a large purchase of timber from Mr. Chas. Ashley, of Foxboro.

Several of our boys who went to the back woods have returned, and report that the country is flooded and the lumbermen say that lumbering operations are considerably retarded, but say there will be plenty of work when it freezes up.

"I turn it down," said the young lady who was playing euchre with a gentleman who had called upon her. "What do you make it ?"

"Hearts," was the response.

"Hearts seem to be a favorite trump with you young men," she said archly.

"What trump would you prefer ?" he inquired.

Uncle Sam Robbed of $4500.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Some crooked business has been discovered in connection with the transfer of silver dollars from the mint at New Orleans to Washington, for storage in the large new vault in the court yard of the treasury building, which has resulted in the shortage of $4,500. The silver is shipped by Adams' Express Company and the loss will fall upon it unless it can be proved that the packages containing the money were tampered with before they came into its possession. The money is shipped in wooden boxes containing two canvass bags with $1000 in each bag. The boxes are carefully sealed before they leave the mint for delivery to the express company and carefully guarded from that time until their delivery at the Treasury Department. The shipments average $500,000 a day, and the silver already placed in the vault amounts to over $50,000,000. The shipments from New Orleans were begun only a few weeks ago and it is in these that the discrepancy occurred. As far as known only two boxes were tampered with. In one of them the entire contents of one bag were removed and replaced with lead dollars. In the other box only about half the contents of one of the bags was taken and shot and pieces of lead were substituted.

Trying to Catch up with the C. P. R.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—The railway lines running between here and Council Bluffs have served notice on each other that they will not be bound after the present "gentlemen's" agreement after Jan. 1, and that notice is said to be the forerunner of a revolution in the running rules. It is also stated that the Northern Pacific and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe for through trains west from Chicago and the Union Pacific will meet this by arranging with one of the Missouri River lines for through trains between here and Ogden. With the advent of fast train west of Chicago it is certain that one of them will be made a solid limited train from New York to San Francisco, thus carrying out the European Adantic system project which has for a year or more been periodically agitated.

The paper also declared it to be untrue that Dr. Woodcock took part in spiritualistic experiments.

BELLEVILLE MARKETS.

INTELLIGENCER OFFICE,
Belleville, Nov. 14, 1888.

The grain market shows but little change, although receipts have been from 1,500 to 2,000 bushels per day. Wheat is scarcely so strong, but barley shows a slight advance. Others unchanged. Gaylord, Downey & Co. report as follows under date of the 9th inst., as to the Oswego market :

Comparative receipts of Canada barley at this port to date are—1888, 1,331,270 bus.; 1887, 2,137,274 bus.; 1886, 1,772,022 bus.; 1885, 1,901,000 bush. Canadians are still furnishing, and are expecting that an early advance in prices will follow the elections, and they seem to be in no hurry to sell.

The demand is fair, and should improve some from now on. The close of navigation, as those malsters who have been waiting till after election before starting their kouses, will now be in the market.

PROSPECTUS

Of the County of Hastings Directory for 1888-89.

A great many changes have taken place since we issued our last Directory, and there being a very general demand for a NEW DIRECTORY, the INTELLIGENCER Printing and Publishing Company have decided to issue a new edition, on or about the first of November, 1888.

The general plan of the work will be similar to that of the former Directories, but SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE INTRODUCED, which will render the Directory of great value to business men.

It will contain a complete list of the householders alphabetically arranged, of each Village City, Town and Township in the County, with street, or concession and lot upon which they reside; and to make this part of the work of additional value, it is intended to give the POST OFFICE ADDRESS of each householder in the various Townships.

The descriptive information will be very full and complete, and every pains will be taken to have it correct. There will be a of the Trades and Professions of Belleville.

THE MAP.

The Map accompanying the Directory will contain all the latest surveys, and will be a great improvement on the former one To make the map of greater value generally to the County and to the various municipalities within the Corporation, it will contain a plan of Belleville, Trenton, Stirling Marmora Madoc, Bridgewater, Tweed, Shannonville and Deseronto

While this will greatly increase the expense of the work, it will undoubtedly enhance its value, and be of special value to the different Corporations.

PRINCE EDWARD.

The County of Hastings being commercially connected with a portion of the County of Prince Edward, arrangements have been made to classify those business connections, and in view of the early construction of the bridge, it is intended to give an alphabetical list of the inhabitants of the Townships of AMELIASSURG and HILLIER in that County, together with other information respective those and adjoining Townships, which will be of general interest to our merchants, mechanics, and professional men.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Directory will be of special advantage on account of its extended circulation, but notwithstanding the prize for advertising space will be, viz :—One page, $10.00 ; half page, $6 00 ; Quarter-page, $4.00. The same plan will be adopted as in the last edition,—that of interspersing them among the alphabetical list of names—which will render them of additional value.

The subscription price will be two dollars per copy.

The benefit of such a work to business men in the City of Belleville and the County, is too apparent to need anything said in its favor. The publishers guarantee that the most studious care will be made to secure correctness in the details of the work, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the Directory a credit to this growing and prosperous City and County.

June, 1888.

The Dangerous Coal Oil.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—The explosion of poorly refined coal oil in the case of another accident al burning. A little girl named Beauchamp living on Maple street, while burning clothing was in domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while burning on the table. Her burning clothing was only torn from her with much difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quickly summoned and the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined Oil a considerable quantity of interior Coal Oil is being sold.

In order to avoid these low grades we have taken the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil:

'CARBON SAFETY OIL'

A specially refined and superior grade of Canadian Oil,

ASTRAL OIL,

A high grade American Oil.

These we can confidently recommend to our retail trade as goods that will give entire satisfaction.

We are also fully supplied with Water White and Prime White American Oil and the usual brands of Canadian Oil.

A WRONG OPINION.

Many a dollar is paid for prescriptions for some disease that never troubles the patient, and when the sole difficulty was worms, which a few of Freeman's Worm Powders would remove. These Powders are pleasant, safe, and sure, contain their own cathartic, and are adapted for children or adults.

FREEMAN'S WORM POWDERS destroy and remove worms without injury to adult or infants.

A Quarter of a Century.

For more than twenty five years has Hagyard's Yellow Oil been sold by druggists, and it has never yet failed to give satisfaction as a household remedy for pain, lameness and soreness of the flesh, for external and internal use in all painful complaints.

FEVER AND AGUE AND BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS are positively cured by the use of Parmelee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, causing them to pour copious effusions from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

To lessen mortality and stop the inroads of disease, use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. For all diseases arising from Impure Blood, such as Pimples, Blotches, Biliousness, Indigestion, etc., etc., it has no equal. Mrs. Thomas Smith, Elmira, writes: "I am using this medicine for Dyspepsia; I have tried many remedies, but this is the only one that has done me any good."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakens as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teeth ing or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind. 24dwly

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarefies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequence must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc, if attended to in time are easily subdued, but allowed to run their own courses generally prove fatal consumer of more danger ous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their affliction from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. In these the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Hickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

Rest and Comfort to the Suffering.

"Brown's Household Panacea" has no equal for relieving pain, both internal and externa It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. "It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal, as its acting power is wonderful." "Brown's Household Panacea," being acknowledged as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family handy for use when wanted," as it really is the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the Stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds, and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cts a bottle.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. The Child of Waterloo.

BY GEORGE W. M. REYNOLDS.

Now, however, beside the captain, and in her altered position, she felt all the confidence and happiness she was capable of enjoying.

Rafferty Brolickbones was well pleased to travel afterward at his own pace, which had it at all met his own desires, he should have flown home, he said, on the wings of a carrier pigeon; but Rafferty was not angelic enough to be treated with a pair of aerial clippers, and he couldn't fly; and, moreover, it was so incongruous that it was difficult to imagine how he could, in a future state, even think of becoming a cherub or seraph.

However, Rafferty pushed forward with all the haste he could, as if heaven and earth depended for their existence upon the speed with which he could reach Morton hall. At length he did make the best of his way to the village. This was the last aerial flippers, and he couldn't fly; and, moreover, it was so incongruous that it was difficult to imagine how he could, in a future state, even think of becoming a cherub or seraph.

However, Rafferty pushed forward with all the haste he could, as if heaven and earth depended for their existence upon the speed with which he could reach Morton hall. At length he did make the best of his way to the village. This was the last stage; and then after that he could bear no more delays, but he hastened on foot to the hall, and in an instant he rushed into the parlor, where Mrs. Morton was seated.

'Hurrah, ma'am—hurrah! The lost found! Oh, bedad, mistress, dear, have ye heard the news?'

Mrs. Morton looked up in amazement at the sound of the well-known voice of Rafferty Brolickbones; but her surprise was by no means lessened when she beheld the heated face and the excited accents of the faithful serving man: for he was, as some of the servants afterward declared, like a barrel of yeast which had found the bung out, and was working its way out of its place of confinement.

'Why, Rafferty, have you come?'

'Oh, bedad! haven't I; the captain, Mr. Henry, and Miss Mabel and all. Yes, here we are, or soon shall be, which is the same, or next to it. Oh, bedad—but——'

'Stop, Rafferty. Where is your master and Mabel, and Henry—where are they all? Tell me that, Rafferty.'

'Indeed, ma'am, they're all on the road; and I was sent forward to prepare you all against their coming. To get the old Hall in proper order; to get the people together; and won't we have eating, and drinking, and dancing, and shouting, and guns firing!'

'They are not likely to be here to-night?'

'Oh, no, ma'am—oh, no. They came down very slowly. They had been so fatigued and worn out in London, and Miss Mabel had been so ill-used, so locked up and put about, that I wander she is a living soul at this moment.'

'Poor thing—poor, dear child! The captain wrote me, and informed me of a great deal; but he said there was much more to be told than he could possibly find time to write.'

'Ay, indeed, he may say that, ma'am. He wouldn't get it all into a bible, if he were to try. I'm sure it'll take a blessed time to tell it. It'll go back from Easter to Easter and a Whitesuntide over, I'll warrant.'

'Well, well—you had better go and get some rest, and some refreshment, since you have nothing more to tell me, and, as I know they are well and coming, I must rest satisfied.'

Rafferty upon this, went into the servants' hall, where he became an object of great admiration. the servants collected around him in great numbers, to hear all he had to relate, which he did, never ceasing pressing anything that came uppermost in his mind, which greatly increased their wonderment and admiration.

'Lor', Rafferty!' said one.

'Did you, indeed, Rafferty?' said another. 'Why, you are a regular fire-eater, you are, to be sure.'

'Ay, bedad, so I had need be, for there was no chance of getting away; it was over the top of the tiles, I tell you.'

'Oh, ah! to be sure. Were you on the tiles, Rafferty? But that was very wrong, you know.'

'Oh, you don't know that London, else you'd know it is a sea of tiles. Besides, an old soldier would follow an enemy anywhere, and there is no mistake about it. But come, we are going to have a feast. Get the people together—get them together. I've got the captain's orders. We'll have a night to begin with; there's a barrel of ale on tap, we'll finish that now, and we'll have another to morrow—one tapped on purpose.'

There was a great shout given by the servants at this, and some others came in at that moment, and a scene of joyous riot and disorder ensued instanter.

The exuberance of Rafferty Brolickbones' spirits was so great, that when the beer was drunk out, he got upon the cask, and executed an Irish jig upon the end of it, with such right good will that he knocked the head of the barrel in, and he disappeared suddenly, to the great joy of the spectators, some of whom thought he had done it on purpose. However, he soon rose again, and convinced them it was quite an accident, for the edge of the barrel had taken the skin very cleanly off the end of both his nose and chin, as they disappeared in the barrel and close to its edge.

* * * * *

There was a beautiful arbor in the garden, and one that had been a great favorite with Mabel. It was impervious to the eyes, and was a cool, sequestered, and sweet retreat in summer.

But who are the occupants now? They are lovers—the volumes of unspoken love that beam from their eyes stamp them as the happiest of the happy. They seem to have given up the restraints of ceremony—they are accepted lovers. And who are they?

They are too well known to the reader. Harry Morton and Mabel. In a quiet moment he had followed her to her favorite bower, and there declared, fully and impassionedly, the love he felt. He knew she loved him—she admitted it; and, moreover, he had implored her to name the day, and, as he snatched a kiss from her lips, and as they rose to leave the bower, he said:

'Then, this day month, dearest Mabel, will see me one of the happiest men that the earth contains. Between this and then, how shall I not pray for the time to fly, and, after that, may it linger long away, longer than any impatient lover ever knew it to do so, when it stood between him and the object of his wishes.'

CHAPTER L.

The fate of the wretched but pre eminently guilty Sternholde was fast drawing to a close. After the recent attempt to escape by means of the priest, double care and caution was observed. He was placed in another cell, and as his frantic efforts were directed against himself as well as others, he was secured against any such attempts being made successful, and a strait-waistcoat was the result.

PAINFUL BURNS, bruises, scalds and cuts are quickly soothed and healed by Victoria Carbolic Salve.

CATARRH.

A New Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the interlining membrane of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes. The eminent scientists, Tyndall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made oftener then once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before any application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease.

So highly are these remedies valued that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy a parasite, of which they know nothing, by remedies, of the results of the application of which they are equal ignorant. Mr. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effect a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases.

Mr. Dixon has just published describing his new treatment on the receipt of stamp to pay postage. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son, 305 King street west, Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Cured By B. B. B. When all Else Failed.

Mr. Samuel Allan, of Lisle, Ont., states that he tried all the doctors in his locality while suffering for years with Liver and Kidney trouble; nothing benefitted him until he took Burdock Blood Bitters, four bottles cured him.

Large Scrotal Hernia.

The change of late years in the treatment of Rupture is really surprising. Only a few years ago large Scrotal Hernia or Rupture could not be held by Trusses; now Mr. C. Cluthe, the celebrated Truss inventor, offers in every case a success or no charge. He goes even further than this; he offers a 300 mile return ticket on any railroad to any one whose Rupture he cannot hold. Mr. Cluthe is a responsible man, and above the reproach of taking advantage of people for the sake of the price of a Truss. This can be substantiated by the testimony of our most worthy physicians throughout the land, to whose patients his visits have proved such a comfort.

Among the Indians.

"While my husband was trading in furs he came across an Indian who was taken to his lodge to die. He had heard pains and pains in all his limbs. He gave some Yellow Oil internally and applied it externally, and cured him. It also cured my husband of rheumatism, and I find it valuable for coughs and colds, sore throat, etc." Mrs. A. Beaw, Cook's Mills, Serpant River, Ont.

Give Them a Chance?

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what is the result? Loss of power.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrah, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

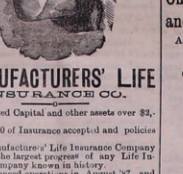

Hesitation means Loss.

If your hair is coming out or turning grey, or if you find dandruff in your hair do not hesitate about looking after it. Get some of Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic," use it as directed and you will find that it will give you the best of satisfaction. Take warning, do not wait till it is too late but try it at once. All druggists sell it.

The Modus Operandi.

The mode of operating of Burdock Blood Bitters is that it acts at once and at the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and the Blood, to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in Chronic Complaints.

SICK HEADACHE caused by excess of bile or a disordered stomach is promptly relieved by using National Pills.

CHAMBERLAIN'S TREATY.

RATIFIED IN ST. JOHN'S CHURCH AT WASHINGTON.

Nuptials of the Fisheries Commissioners and Miss Mary Endicott, Daughter of the United States Secretary of War.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Quietly and simply, in the presence of the bride's relatives and personal friends, a few members of Washington's official society and of several hundred of the general public, Hon. Joseph Chamberlain and Miss Mary Endicott were married at 2 o'clock this afternoon in St. John's Episcopal Church. The church was absolutely without floral or other decorations, and the awnings stretched across the sidewalk to the carriage step was the only sign of an unusual ceremony. No cards or formal invitations had been received, there were no best men or bridesmaids and the entire service was characterized by extreme simplicity.

Such of the friends of the family as had been verbally invited to attend took seats in the body of the church half an hour before the ceremony began. The cabinet meeting was ended at an early hour so as to permit the members to be present at the service, and they were in most cases accompanied by their wives. The President and Mrs. Cleveland entered the church just before 2 o'clock and were escorted to seats in one of the pews in the front row. Members of the Endicott family and relatives were seated immediately in the rear, while as many of the public as could find room in the little church filled the gallery and hallway.

Among the notable persons in attendance, besides the President and Mrs. Cleveland, were Mrs. Whitney, Mrs. Fairchild, Mrs. Dickinson, the Misses Bayard, Miss Vilas, Secretary Bayard, Secretary Fairchild, Secretary Whitney, Secretary Vilas, Postmaster-General Dickinson, Justice Lamar, the Misses Hunt, Mr. Samuel Ward, Col. John Hay, Capt. and Mrs. John R. Thayer, Admiral and Miss Rodgers, Mrs. Biddle, the Misses Macomb, and Gen. Greeley, besides a large number of guests from Boston.

Mr. Chamberlain entered the church at 2 o'clock and waited at the chancel by his supporters. As the strains of the organist, who immediately began to play the wedding march from Lohengrin and the bride, on the arm of her father, appeared in a pearl gray travelling dress and wearing a dark bonnet, passed up the right aisle and joining the bridegroom knelt before the altar.

Rev. Dr. Leonard, assisted by Rev. Mr. Franks of Salem, Mass., performed the service. The ring service, the bride and groom gave back the responses in a firm and audible voice. Prayer was pronounced and Joseph Chamberlain and Mary Endicott were man and wife.

Again the organ pealed forth its strains and the party passed slowly along the left aisle out of the church, and into the carriages, and were driven immediately to the house of the bride's parents.

A reception was held at the residence of the Secretary, and the newly married couple received the congratulations of the invited guests. After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain drove to the Pennsylvania Railway station, and it is supposed that they went to New York, although their destination was not known even to the bride's parents. They will return to Washington within a week and be the guests of Secretary Endicott for a few days. On Nov. 26 they will sail for Europe.

Wedding Bells in the Hoosier Capital.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 15.—A brilliant society wedding occurred here last night in the marriage of Miss Fannie Polk Vajen to Hon. Charles S. Frederick's Diary.

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—The North German Gazette says that as the advanced democratic papers have continued to falsely interpret the Chancellor's report to the Emperor on the subject of the late Emperor Frederick's diary it must again refer to the fact that Emperor Frederick, owing to his relations with the English Royal family, never concealed his regard for England and its dynasty and policy, not even before his father, who, owing to the good feeling towards himself of Russia and her dynasty, was led into a policy of open discussion, which, between father and son, was not advisable from socialist as well as business considerations. The servants of the father were bound by their office and honor not to discuss these matters before the son.

Demented Daughterly.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Janet M. Dougherty, who was arrested for annoying Mary Anderson, was arraigned in court to-day and removed to a hospital to be examined as to his sanity. Miss Anderson refused to make a complaint against him, so none was made by the police. Dougherty told a long story of his persecution. He appeared to under adverse circumstances and gave evidence of dementia in the narrative. While combing his hair he had heard her voice saying, "What beautiful hair she is bald, so he cut a look from a shock near his ear and sent it to her. Then was an irrational note on him as to what should be done with him if he got into a trance. He should die, he wanted Mary to advise as to the disposition of the remains.

Cheated the Hangman.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 15.—Fritz Anschlag, who was to have been executed on Friday for the murder of Mr. and Mrs. Hitchcock at Garden Grove in January last, and who, in a statement made a few days ago, also confessed to the killing of Julius Tough, a neighbor, in Butte County in 1885, both of which crimes were committed avowedly for the purpose of securing their landed property or money, committed suicide last night by taking strychnine and died at 12.20 this morning. Anschlag had concealed the strychnine in a plug of tobacco.

CLIPPINGS FROM EXCHANGES.

Prince Bismarck has gone back to beer and tobacco.

The report upon the French vintage says that the injury from the phylloxera seems at last to have been arrested. Since 1875 it has caused the enormous loss to France of $2,000,000,000.

The authorities of Portsmouth, England, have built a swimming bath for pauper children, who will also be required to learn to swim as a part of their regular schooling.

News from California says the Chinese of that state have leased numerous large farms at Fresno, and are building a packing house at Selma. This is an endeavor to head off the movement to supplant them with boys in picking and canning fruit.

Elder Evans, the head of the Shaker family at New Lebanon, has been spending some time in New York of late attending to the publication of his writings. At 80 years old he looks and acts and talks like a vigorous man of 55.

The unspeakable Turk regulates the servant girl question with a high hand. Eighty cooks employed in the imperial palace at Constantinople, who struck on account of non-payment of wages, have been sent into exile. Where are the woman's rights people? Here is a chance for missionary work.

A Michigan farmer, after losing three shoats, moored a large boar to the hog pen to grapple with the bear that was feasting on his stock. The boar pawed, long tusks, and pounced upon Bruen the moment he appeared. The bear attempted to bug his enemy, but the porker was too cute, and after a hard fight ripped the intruder open with his tusks. The farmer then came up with a lantern and brained the depredator with an ax.

Amelie Rives Chanler has set the fashion at afternoon tea of wearing a kid shoe made like a glove, each digit by itself, and the entire piece of kid fastened over it. The shoes are low at the heel, and ladies insist that they are very comfortable. They certainly ought to give great relief to the toes after they have been cramped up in the narrow pointed shoes which are fashionable for street wear.

Puzzle to an Insured Man.

Nobody knows what an insurance policy means until it has been burned out. The proprietor of a Buffalo repair shop has been for years carrying a policy, not only upon his goods, but also upon articles left with him for repairs. These latter were specifically mentioned in the policy, which was a very broad instrument in its terms and appeared in a pearl gray travelling dress and wearing a dark bonnet, passed up the right aisle and joining the bridegroom knelt before the altar.

Rev. Dr. Leonard, assisted by Rev. Mr. Franks of Salem, Mass., performed the service. The ring service, the bride and groom gave back the responses in a firm and audible voice. Prayer was pronounced and Joseph Chamberlain and Mary Endicott were man and wife.

Again the organ pealed forth its strains and the party passed slowly along the left aisle out of the church, and into the carriages, and were driven immediately to the house of the bride's parents.

Valuable to Know.

Consumption may be more easily prevented than cured. The first tickling and harassing cough will be greatly relieved by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. For sale by all druggists or sent post-paid on receipt of price (50c. and $1.) by addressing Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Rare Combination.

There is no other remedy or combination of medicines that meets so many requirements, as does Burdock Blood Bitters in its wide range of power over such Chronic diseases as Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Complaint, Scrofula and all humors of the blood.

There are a number of varieties of corns, Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them. Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

Orin Catlin, 49 Pearl Street Buffalo, N. Y., says: I tried various remedies for the piles but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications.

Mr. Thomas Gallard, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: 'I have been afflicted for nearly a year with that most horrible disease, Salt Rheum, and at times worn out with pain and want of sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended I tried one box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. I am now nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money.'

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimulating to action the diseased parts of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every kind and nature are driven from the body. Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell P. O., Ont., writes: 'I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well.'

Of all the dyspeptic remedies ever placed in the market, Dowling's Pepsin Compound takes the lead. Why? Because it acts naturally on the digestive organs of the stomach, and not mechanically, like the other patent medicines. Besides, it helps to assimilate and digest all the foods that enter the stomach. Ask your druggist for a bottle.

Belleville has follow the example of Mrs. Geo. Leech, of Haldimand, and purify the blood, and rid yourselves of that dire disease, dyspepsia and indigestion.

Strange, but Still True.
Mrs David Carstairs, Haldimand Township, met with a very pleasant surprise a few weeks ago. It seems Mrs. Carstairs has suffered a great deal from dyspepsia and indigestion, the symptoms of which were, pains in the stomach and bowels, and sick headache. She has tried a great many physicians, and an unlimited amount of patent medicines, but without any success; and last but not least, tried Dowling's Pepsin Compound, and one bottle has removed both pain and ache. She retains the highest regards to

WHAT AILS YOU?

Do you feel dull, languid, low-spirited, lifeless, and indescribably miserable, both physically and mentally; experience a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, or "gone-ness," or emptiness of stomach in the morning, tongue coated, bitter, or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headaches, blurred eyesight, "floating specks before the eyes, nervous prostration or exhaustion, irritability of temper, hot flushes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp, biting, transient pains here and there, cold feet, drowsiness after meals, wakefulness, or disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?

If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from that most common of American maladies—Biliousness, or Torpid Liver, associated with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. No matter what stage it has reached, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will subdue it, if taken according to directions for a reasonable length of time. If not targus, and nothing will so startle and permanently cured, complications and large sums of money saved. Biliousness, Torpid Liver, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Skin Diseases, Heart Disease, Neuralgia, Kidney Disease, or other forms of blood-taint are quite liable to set in and, sooner or later, induce a fatal termination.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery acts powerfully upon the Liver, and through that great blood-purifying organ, cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. It is equally efficacious in acting upon the Kidneys, Skin and other secretory organs, cleansing, strengthening, and healing their diseases. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it promotes digestion and nutrition, thereby building up both flesh and strength. In malarial districts, this wonderful medicine is unequaled as a safeguard against Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Dumb Ague and kindred troubles.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

CURES ALL HUMORS,

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, NOV. 16

THAT CHANGE OF NAME.

Our readers have no doubt noted with interest the suggestions made for the renaming of Hotel street. These are in the order in which they have been presented to the public:

1. "Brock street," by A. R. Dougall, Esq.
2. "Dufferin avenue," by Dr. Eakins.
3. "Victoria street," or "Princess street," by Col. Lazier.
4. "St. Lawrence street," by Ald. J. W. Johnson.

As the sole object which can animate any citizen in the abolition of the time-honored name of this street is to secure a more euphonious one—for a more appropriate name could not have been bestowed upon it, taking the facts of its history into consideration—we trust that a choice will not be hastily made and that discussion may be had and further suggestions will be made before the City Council fix upon the name by which this important thoroughfare shall hereafter be known. With the object, then of calling forth such an expression of opinion as may aid the Council in arriving at a determination, we propose to discuss briefly the suggestions which have been made.

A proper basis for comparison of the merits of surgestions in this regard would appear to be the nearness of their approach to the following requirements: (1) Harmony with the system of nomenclature adopted for the city and county; (2) Historical Association between the name and the place; and (3) Euphony.

Taking the above suggestions in their order, we have no hesitation in declaring that Mr. Dougall's appears to us to be the best, not only because it is in harmony with the general system of nomenclature adopted in this city and county, but because Sir Isaac Brock, besides stayed over night at the famous hotel which caused the unsightly jog in and moving of the street, carried to Toronto the petition which resulted in the removal of the first block of this street to a point south to the southward. True, Belleville already has a "Brock" street—an insignificant "street" in Murney ward, which is supposed to extend from Mary street to Coleman street, but it would be better to alter its name and confer that of the famous hero of Queenstown heights on the leading thoroughfare with which it would be fitly associated.

"Dufferin Avenue" has certainly the merits of euphony and conformity with the system of nomenclature. It has also to recommend it the slight historical association connected with the fact that the Earl of Dufferin, during his term of office as Governor General visited the city.

"Victoria street" we already have in Bleecker ward, whilst "Princess street" is a title worthy of consideration, although seemingly lacking in appropriateness.

Lastly we come to "St. Lawrence street," which distinction in the choice of Ald. J. W. Johnson is the parent of the by-law. Without expressing any opinion upon the appropriateness of this selection as ground as "Princess street," and to be less desirable for that reason than No. 1 or No. 2. Although our preference is decidedly for Mr. Dougall's suggestion because of the reasons given, there may be others which might be almost as appropriate. The names of many of the early settlers and those of their families have been bestowed on many of our streets; but amongst those names we have not seen that of Capt. John Singleton, who was a man of consequence and was the first settler on what was afterwards the Foster farm, which is now a portion of the city and is crossed by Hotel street. There was also Lieut. Ferguson, who was his companion. Both of these names have the merits of euphony, historical association and accord with the general system of naming in this district.

Another honored name which suggests itself is that of the Hon. Billa Flint—a gentleman who represented us in the Legislature of the old Province, who was Mayor of the then town of Belleville, who was a member of the Senate of Canada, who was the first man in Belleville to pay cash for grain, and whose business ventures and personal services in connection with the municipal, religious, educational and general interests of the city have been of the most constant and beneficial character and can hardly be known to the present generation. What could be more appropriate, then, than "Flint street?"

With these suggestions we close our present reference to the subject, as to which brief communications will be welcome.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

A fact significant of the growth of loyal sentiment in Canada has been elicited by the Montreal Star, which, having published the names of the signers of the annexation manifesto in 1849, subsequently interviewed such of the survivors as could be found. Of these gentlemen, 21 in number, 3 repudiated their signatures, 11 declared that they would not now sign such a manifesto, 6 were non-committal but indicated a change of opinion, and but one stated that he had not changed much, although he would require time to consider the subject before giving a public expression of opinion. That one was Mr. R. Laflamme, Q.C., Mr. Mackenzie's Minister of Justice. This is quite a healthy change of public opinion within forty years, and indicates what we have contended, that annexation ideas are dying out in Canada.

Premier Greenway of Manitoba did not, it would appear, fairly meet the charges of his accusers in the press. They professed their willingness to attempt the proof of what they alleged, and were represented by counsel, with that object in view, before a tribunal of Mr. Greenway's own choosing; but when the accusers found themselves limited to charges also of Mr. Greenway's own arrangement, they very properly declined to proceed. The commission therefore returned the Scotch verdict "not proven," which leaves Mr. Greenway and his colleague, Mr. Martin, in what appears to be a very unpleasant predicament.

The wise words of the Governor-General in reply to the address of the St. Jean Baptiste Society of Ottawa, will find an echo in the heart of every loyal Canadian.

Nine Million Witches Burned!

Sprenger computes that during the Christian era no fewer than nine million witches were immolated. In England, the last execution for witchcraft took place in 1716, but in Hindoostan as late as 1780 to 1790, several unfortunates were put to death. This is a terrible reflection on the boasted enlightenment of the age; but we must not be over censorious, while we daily see friends going down to death, ignorance or prejudice preventing the use of remedies which might save them. Many a cold runs into consumption, while indigestion and impure blood debilitates the system, inviting fatal attacks, when the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery would have ensured health and happiness.

Dungannon and Faraday Correspondence.

The weather has been beautifully fine and warm for about a month, and a large amount of ploughing has been done; but latterly we have had heavy rains, which were much wanted both for milling and domestic purposes, for two unusually dry summers have very much reduced the amount of water in all our lakes and streams.

Mr. J. Vankleek died at his residence, lot 5, 9th con. Faraday, on Nov. 5th, in the 77th year of his age. Mr. Vankleek, who was much respected, came from Madoc and settled here 15 years since, and succeeded in making a comfortable home in the woods. His remains were carried out by his family and buried at Hazard's Corners, in Madoc.

Mr. R. Thompson, who is running the grist mill at Bancroft, met with a severe accident on the 6th. He was fixing up the mill, when a heavy mass of machinery fell on his hands, crushing them badly; he was assisted by Mr. Mathews, who amputated one of his fingers and dressed his wounds.

The Hon. B. Flint paid a visit of several days' duration to Bancroft, and left last Saturday.

Mr. H. Gabel, junior, is about to start a blacksmith shop, and is now putting up a large building for the purpose on Bridge street, Bancroft.

Mr. S. D. Ross, merchant, of Bancroft, has in his possession the skins of 44 bears, and 48 lillies in the family. The deer hunting season has nearly finished; there are only a few more days left for still hunting, and as there are but little signs of snow, it is not likely that hunters will have much success in this branch of the sport. There are general complaints that when hounding, it was almost impossible to make the deer take to the water.

The Electric Light

Is a matter of small importance compared with other applications of electricity. By this agency Polson's Nerviline is made to penetrate to the most remote nerve—every bone, muscle and ligament is made to feel its beneficient power. Nerviline, pleasant to take, even by the youngest child, yet so powerfully far reaching in its work, that the most agonizing internal pain yields as if by magic. Neglect no longer to try Nerviline. Buy to-day a ten cent trial bottle and be relieved from all pain. Sold by druggists and country dealers everywhere.

A CANADIAN GIRL ADRIFT

ANNIE LYONS FURNISHES GOTHAM A SENSATION.

Calling to Bring Drugged Scotch to Terms She Drinks a Dose of Corrosive Sublimate but is Compelled Out.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—"You villain, you betrayed me, and now you want to cast me adrift!"

This accusation was heard by several persons who had halted in front of W. W. Scott's drug store, on the northeast corner of Seventh avenue and Fourteenth street. The words were spoken by a young woman, and the charge was directed at the proprietor of the place. Mr. Scott was also heard. He threatened the young woman with arrest if she did not leave the store. Policemen Mc-Vey and Gregg, who had been attracted by the crowd surrounding the drug store, asked what was the matter. The young woman, whose name is Annie Lyons, said that three weeks ago she came to this city from Toronto, Canada, with a letter of introduction to Mr. Scott from one of his nieces. Her story was that the druggist promised to look after her while she remained in New York and took her to places of amusement and finally accomplished her ruin. She said that he had cast her adrift, and that the object of her visit was to come to some sort of understanding with him about his intentions toward her.

Scott, who was quite nervous, told the policeman that there was no truth in what the young woman said, and asked for her arrest on a charge of disorderly conduct. McVey took her into custody, and while she was being conveyed as a prisoner along Seventh avenue she halted near the corner of Fifteenth street and taking a two-ounce vial from the pocket of her Newmarket cloak, swallowed about half its contents. The vial contained a strong solution of corrosive sublimate, a deadly poison. Without delay an ambulance was called and the sufferer was taken to the New York Hospital. The stomach pump was used with success, and the surgeons, in a late hour last night, were confident that Miss Lyons' life had been saved. Druggist Scott said that Miss Lyons came to his store half a dozen times during the past three weeks and talked to him about Toronto and his relatives there. Scott said that he came to this city from Toronto five years since and denied that Miss Lyons presented any letter of introduction to him from his niece.

Miss Lyons is about 21 years of age. She is a brunette, of stout figure and is not good looking.

AN INSURANCE CASE.

The Question of a Railway Company's Responsibility.

MONTREAL, Nov. 15.—On August 24, 1887, a barn owned by a man named Gardner, in the township of Whitby, Ont., was destroyed by fire alleged to have been caused by sparks from a passing train of the Ontario and Quebec Railway. The barn in question was insured in the Glasgow and London Insurance company for $1500. Mr. Gardner sent up an expert, and after examination paid Gardner $1500, and he transferred to the company any claims that he would have against the railway. They then sued the Canadian Pacific Railway, which pleaded in the first place that the fire was not caused by sparks from their locomotive, and in the second place that, according to the Ontario law, when a railway company uses all modern appliances for cars and locomotives for the protection of property through which said line passes, they are not responsible for such losses as that in question. The evidence in the case was concluded before Mr. Justice Tait yesterday, and His Honor took the case en delibere.

SUICIDE AT NEWMARKET.

John Aikey Mixes Strychnine With His Last Glass of Whisky.

NEWMARKET, Nov. 15.—This afternoon a man named John Aikey, after getting as drunk as the money he had would allow, deliberately mixed five grains of strychnine in whisky, drank the compound and died. Drink and continuous quarrels with his wife were the causes of this suicide. Aikey has no children. He recently served a term in Barrie jail for some petty crime.

Burned to Death.

MONTREAL, Nov. 15.—Mrs. Ann Shepherd, residing at 30½ Hermine-street, aged 67, was sitting in her room last night when the lamp exploded, setting her dress on fire. She shrieked and a neighbor named Andy McGarity did his best to save her. He dragged her out and the ambulance being telephoned for came in haste to the General Hospital. She was found to be horribly burned from head to foot, and after lingering in agony for five hours she died shortly before 1 o'clock. Her husband, Mr. J. Shepherd, works in the Canada Paper Company.

Lost His Wallet on His Wedding Day.

OTTAWA, Nov. 15.—A young man, Albert Carroll by name, arrived from the west last night to be married to a young lady here. Having dined at the Brunswick Hotel, he strolled into a factory and went out. He had his wallet, containing $110, in his inside pocket at that time, but when he returned $50 of it was gone. When or how he lost it is a mystery to him.

A Dishonest Carter.

MONTREAL, Nov. 15.—A young seamstress named Mary J. Renaud, of Longueuil, a few days ago gave a rascally carter four dozen pair of trousers to deliver for her. Instead of doing this the fellow pawned them. The detectives were informed and succeeded in recovering the articles, but cannot find the carter.

MONTREAL, Nov. 15.—An appeal has been issued by the ecclesiastical authorities, asking all Catholics to contribute one cent a month in order to complete the St. Peter's Cathedral. It is calculated that this subscription, from 400,000 Roman Catholics of the province, will produce a sum of $100,000.

Died While Eating.

MONTREAL, Nov. 15.—A man named Alphonse Hebert, aged 45, asked for a meal at the St. Patrick's Hospital yesterday, stating that he was starving. While putting a spoon in his mouth he fell back in his chair dead. At the coroner's inquest a verdict of syncope of the heart was returned.

RIOTING STREET-CAR MEN.

SCENES OF VIOLENCE IN THE CITY OF CHURCHES.

Attempts to Run Cars in Brooklyn Under Police Protection—Frenzied Attacks Upon the Blue Coats.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The striking street-car employes in Brooklyn rioted this morning. At 10.30 the company started a car from the stables near King's County Penitentiary, adjoining Prospect Park. Twelve mounted policemen and a patrol wagon containing nine officers acted as escort. The vehicle proceeded without obstruction until Myrtle avenue was reached, when a tremendous body of strikers and sympathizers filled the streets. They stood on the track and surrounded the car, refusing to give way. The officers charged on the crowd and dispersed them several times, but the rioters followed the car, throwing stones and other missiles.

At Flushing avenue a large wagon was placed on the track. In the meantime the car had been joined by enormous reinforcements. Hundreds of yelling and shrieking men stood on the street asking the officers to come on and fight them. Again and again the officers charged the mob, but it was like trying to break a heavy stone wall. They would only yield an inch. A perfect shower of stones, rocks and clubs descended on the heads of the bluecoats.

The locusts did great work and many of the rioters were carried off the scene with cracked heads, bleeding faces and badly injured limbs. Sergt. Sutton was severely injured by being struck in the face with an immense rock. The same rock after leaving the sergeant struck the driver of the car, a man named Hoffman, and also injured him severely.

At Gwynett street, where the Lorimer line branches off, the mob succeeded in tearing up the switch and the attempt to run the car any farther was abandoned. The police left the car at the mercy of the mob and began to charge in earnest. Mounted officers drove their horses into the crowd, and many were trampled under foot. After clubbing the rioters until they gave way they devoted themselves to the task of arresting the ringleaders. High Garrett, John Burke and six others were taken into custody.

At 10.30 o'clock a car was started from the stable at Park and Nostrand avenues. One hundred policemen, twenty-five of them mounted, surrounded the vehicle. They had proceeded only a few blocks when a mob of frantic, howling men advanced upon them hurling all kinds of missiles in the air. Inspector Riley ordered a charge and the big body of policemen swept down the street like a cyclone, driving everything before them. Right and left they whacked their long sticks on the heads of the rioters, scattering them. The mounted men drove into the mob, trampling upon them fearfully till the rioters rallied. The stones, bricks, mud and clubs continued to fly through the air and many officers were badly injured. Finally a last charge was made by the police and the mob was dispersed. Six more were arrested.

At 11.10 another car was started from the Nostrand avenue stables. The mob made a feeble attempt to re-form its lines and some of the leaders began to roll heavy boulders on the track to retard the progress of the car. Inspector Riley again swooped down upon the miscreants and in two minutes the street was clear. The car then proceeded.

THE CAUSES OF DECAY.

General Master Workman Powderly's Annual Report to the K. of L.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 15.—In the Knights of Labor General Assembly to-day two reports were read, one from General Master Workman Powderly and the other from ex-Secretary Litchman. Mr. Powderly's report took two hours of the time and Mr. Litchman followed for an hour and twenty minutes.

Mr. Powderly in his report says the year ending with this session has been the most trying and discouraging to those whose wish was to see the harmonious blending of all classes of workers beneath the shield of knighthood, since the organization of the order. He holds that their circular of false statements concerning the strength of the order, the extravagance of the general officers, the selfish desires of certain members high in the order, and the fact that the members of the Executive Board were not in harmony with each other drove away thousands of members from the order. The unwise strikes and the recent political campaign, during which members and associations were pitted against each other on questions which never were made part of the declaration of principles of the Knights of Labor, also had a depressing effect.

Mr. Powderly states that these trials have resulted in good for the order and denied anything like official dishonesty, inviting a thorough examination of all books and accounts. Many changes are desired in the constitution so as to avoid the frequent changes which are recommended at each session. At present the whole of the financial affairs are entrusted to too many hands. One responsible party should be entrusted with the management of all finances.

The afternoon session was cut short owing to the regular meeting of the Woman's Relief Corps; the Barry appeal which was looked for being a probability of to-morrow's session.

BRAKEMEN ON STRIKE.

The Louisville, New Albany and Chicago Employes Still Out.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 15.—The strike of the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago brakemen continues and no freight has been moved in to or out of Lafayette. The company yesterday afternoon made up a train at Lafayette which was moved under protection of the sheriff and police and without brakemen to a station 10 miles out, where it was distributed. The strikers endeavored to board the cars and draw the coupling pins but were prevented. Four arrests were made. The train near Lafayette have been soaped and greased for some distance. The company claim that some of the strikers desire to return to work but have been intimidated.

HOW TO WORK MURDERERS OFF.

A Medico-Legal Committee on Capital Punishment by Electricity.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—At the meeting of the Medico Legal Society last night the committee on capital punishment by electricity made its report. The committee concluded that the death current should be applied to the criminal in a way that is effective and certain. A long perforated table should be laid on a chair overspread with a rubber cloth. The criminal lies down on the table or sits upright in the chair and is bound fast with strong cords. His head fits into a helmet, which is strapped across his forehead, and around his neck. The electrodes should be securely fastened and an electrod not over an inch in diameter should be placed immediately under his back and extending down to the foot. A dynamo with not less than 3000 volts should be used.

Five Witnesses Who Testified Against the "King" Murdered.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 15.—A special from Springfield, Mo., says: "A rumor reached this city this morning from Christian County, in the home of the famous Bald Knobber King Dave Walker, that five of the witnesses who testified against him in his trial for murder have been taken out and killed by Bald Knobbers. It is said the friends of Walker waited until the Supreme Court had passed upon his case, and when it was announced that the ex-chief must hang they wreaked vengeance on the five leading witnesses who brought him within the shadow of the gallows."

An Express Clerk Skips Out From Tacoma With Several Thousands.

TACOMA, W. T., Nov. 15.—F. S. Simpson, a young man who arrived here from Fresno, Cal., two weeks ago with strong letters of recommendation from the Wells, Fargo Express Company, was given a clerkship in the Northern Pacific Express Company a few days ago. No bonds were required. Monday night Simpson went on the night run until very late, and by what he is supposed to have taken a boat for Victoria, B.C. He had checked off several large consignments of money. One consignment to Benj. Suples of Ellensburg, W. T., a cattle owner, contained $10,000 and one to C. O. Palmer of Dallas, Polk county, contained $1,000. It is supposed he took other sums.

The ball was kicked off and in 3 minutes Fidel scored another goal for Belleville. In the second half the Picton boys tried hard to retrieve their loss, but time was called before either team had scored a goal. C. Beresford, as referee, gave entire satisfaction to both teams.

A Neighborly Row.

At nine o'clock last evening Constable Hayes was called to quiet a row in West Belleville. It appears that no less than five families live in a house on the flats and that they attempted to keep all awake by all at once, when Mrs. Langley began telling Mrs. Geo. Meehan and Mrs. Lovelle her opinion of them in words more forcible than polite. When the police arrived peace was restored.

Old Sermons.

Mr. W. T. Sanford, who keeps a second hand store, has in his possession an ancient book of sermons. Information Wanted.

John Stewart, a contractor on the Central Pacific Railway, reports that four years ago, while engaged in constructing this line in the northern part of the country, he had in his employ one John McKinnon. One day while under the influence of liquor he went away, and from that time to the present he has been unable to learn of his whereabouts. He is anxious to hear from him as there is some money in his hands, which is due him for work which he performed. Mr. Stewart is at present at Parkdale, near Toronto, to which place McKinnon is directed if his whereabouts becomes known.

Tea Meeting.

The annual thanksgiving tea meeting was held last evening in the Bleecker Street Church and was largely attended, the church being crowded. The ladies had provided, in the usual style of the season, a sumptious repast, to which justice was done. After the inner man had been satisfied the company repaired to the body of the church, where a programme of music was rendered, the pastor, the Rev. A. Browning, occupying the chair. Addresses were delivered by the Revs. J. Learoyd, G. A. Diegman, G. H. Osgood and Mr. Bleecker, all of which addresses were interspersed with suitable music by the choir. The proceeds were large and will be applied to the general fund of the church.

St. Andrew's Church Association.

The lecture room of the "kirk" was filled last evening by the members and their friends met to participate in a Thanksgiving entertainment of the Association and to celebrate the 16th anniversary of Rev. Mr. Macleod's pastorate. The president of the association gave an interesting address upon the objects and modes of working of organizations which secured not merely the unity of strength, but the unity of harmony. A vocal duet by Messrs. Gillen and Rutherford was followed by a recitation by Miss Robertson with Scotch characteristic sketches. A pianoforte solo by Mrs. J. Bell-Smith was encored, and after a conversational interlude, Mr. Biggar gave a short account of Venice, her gondolas and palaces. Miss Phippen and Miss Gracie Pringle then gave an instrumental piece on piano and violin, and this ushered in refreshments prepared by many willing hands for many appreciative appetites. A vocal duet by Miss Falconer, music by the choir and some remarks by the Rev. Mr. Macleau brought a most enjoyable evening to a close.

Police Court.

Ald. Anderson took the Magistrate's seat this morning like a veteran, and Alderman Bogart leaned back in a seat beside him, ready to back him up in any possible way.

John A. Bowen, charged with removing goods from his premises by night, was dismissed.

Jos. Fleming, charged with the same offence, Mr. Flint claimed that the defendant left his house, which he had rented and now set him, the owner, at defiance. "Have you anything to say?" inquired Mr. Anderson. Kelly, excitedly: "He gave me permission to leave by letter; I have Mr. Gunn and half a dozen who could not read the letter, until Mr. Carscallen read it to them."

Mr. Flint: Not before your rent was paid.

Kelly, in a loud voice: "The house was not fit to live in, and you would not allow me for fixing windows and whitening it."

Mr. Anderson: "Have you got any witnesses?"

Kelly: "Yes, I have got them," when he wanted to put his wife in the box as a witness, which was refused. "Well then," said Kelly, "I will lay the case over until Monday; I consider that I have a right to lay it over, and want it done." The Magistrate: "I must have a reason to lay it over." Mr. Flint said that all he wanted was his rent.

To the Magistrate, Kelly said, he could not pay $1 50 per week or $1 either, telling him to give his judgment.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Celebrated in the City in a Quiet Manner.

Services in all the Churches—A Brief summary of Each.

Thanksgiving day passed off in a quiet way in the city. A new departure was made in the way of holding thanksgiving services. Formerly by the Ministerial Association places of worship were set apart, but this year services were held in nearly all the churches and the thanksgiving offering donated to the Home for the Friendless. The venture proved successful and the result has been that that worth institution has been greatly benefitted. All the services were well attended, thus evidencing the interest our citizens take in this laudable service. Following will be found a brief summary of the services held in the various places of worship :

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

The thanksgiving service in connection with this church was held yesterday morning, and was well attended. The pastor of the church, Rev. M. W. MacLean, occupied the pulpit, and took for his text the 30th psalm, 14th verse, "Offer unto God thanksgiving." He said : "To-day we find that thousands in this country are praising God for what He has done for them in the past year. God is the source of all blessing. He is our shield. The land that recognizes him is the land that is prosperous. The heart that believes in God is a happy heart. God is a being to whom we can make known our every request, to whom we can go to in all our trials and afflictions, he is all loving and can be moved by the tears of a person although He is all power, all natures subserve Him. We are dependent on him for everything, we go to him for everything. He that sitteth on the throne watcheth over the inhabitants of earth, watching over the well being of everything. The golden grain, the laden tree, the clouds, dispersing showers to refresh the earth, are all messages of divine love and care. It is him we live, move and have our being. Who can help but praise God for all his manifold blessings? He that owns the cattle on, neither slumbers or sleeps. He that clothed the lilies will clothe us. He that feedeth the sparrows will also feed us. He has been our shield in days gone by, and will be our shield in the future. He will go with us through the valley of death, and will be with us in the glories hereafter. Let us, therefore, live lives that will be an influence for better, let us scatter seeds of kindness, let us strive to be going about doing good. Special music was rendered by the choir, and the organ was presided over by Prof. Stanistreet. The collection was $23.45.

BAPTIST CHURCH.

The Thanksgiving service in the Baptist church was presided over by the Rev. A. Mihell, pastor of the church. The attendance was fairly good, the vestry being well filled. The meeting was opened with singing and prayer and the responsive reading of the 103rd Psalm, after which a short address was given by the pastor based upon 1 Chr. 29, 10 to 19. Rev. Robt. Wallace being present also gave a brief address from the opening verse of the Psalm of 103. The meeting being thrown open several testified to the Lord's goodness, some mentioning the fact that a year ago they were not asked, but that they are to-day rejoicing in Christ Jesus as their Savior. The collection taken was $4 15 and was unanimously voted to the Hospital and Home for the Friendless. Rev. R. Wallace closed with prayer.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

The services at this church were conducted by the Rev. D. F. Bogart, Rector. The impressive Thanksgiving services of the Church of England formed part of the service, after which the Rev. gentleman gave a practical address of the work performed by the ladies in connection with the Home for the Friendless. This institution, he said, has since its inception done much to alleviate the sufferings of those unfortunates who have no homes in which to reside. We should do all the lovers can for the furtherance of this grand and philanthropic work. The ladies who have undertaken this work should in every conceivable way be encouraged. We should this day return our thanks to God for all the many blessings which he has so bountifully bestowed upon us, and thank him that we are so highly privileged a people Offertory, $7.35.

BRIDGE ST. METHODIST.

At this church the attendance was fair, and had the pastor, Rev. Dr. Williams, been present the sermon would have been delivered in the pews, been circulated through the city, it would have attracted many others, for a programme which included in it three organ solos by Prof. Donley and two choruses by the choir would have been a great inducement. The pastor, the Rev. John Leasure, occupied the pulpit of the appointed and the Rev. Arthur Browning was the preacher. He selected as his text Acts, 17th chap., part of the 23rd verse : "To whom ye ignorantly worship Him, the preacher said, was the great Apostle Paul to whom he stood on Mara Hill in ancient Athens and from its height looked down on a city given over to the worship of 30,000 idols. He was now on the threshold of that Paul entered in that sermon that he (the preacher) wished to dwell on more than on the text. 1st. The unknown God made the world. It was the disputed point amongst the Greek learners, "who was the author of matter ?" and here Paul boldly declares that He to whom the altar was erected which bore the inscription "To the unknown God," that God unknown to them was He by whom they lived and moved and had their being. He was satisfied that God knew where best to put the various nationalities of the world, and that he had a purpose in putting our young nation on this continent. He did not think God intended that one nation alone should occupy this vast continent, but that it should absorb ours. He believed God intended a Canadian nationality and that that nationality should be a cosmopolitan one.

2nd. "God has made of one blood all nations of men." Here is the brotherhood of man. It ought to be one of our proudest boasts that we foster the feeling of a slave rested on Canadian soil ; that Canada by her laws and institutions invited the slaves of other lands and the downtrodden everywhere, to come to her shores. It was a crying shame that any nationality should be debarred the advantages of being on our free soil ; it was a disgrace to us that any man coming from any foreign nation should have to pay duty on himself, or else "go through in bond."

3rd. "God hath determined the times." When he heard men talk as though the country was going to ruin because this party did not happen to hold the reins of power he laughed at it, for he believed that God had determined the political times, as every other time. God was above political parties, and no party existed a day longer than God saw was best. Two things this year in political life of our young country had proved this to him, one was when the Premier of the Dominion stood in a church in Ottawa, and with tear-dimmed eye and faltering voice said, "God be merciful to me a sinner." another was the recent utterances of the Hon. E. Blake in reference to the Canadian Pacific Railway. Yes, God rules this political ring.

4 h. "God is not far from every one of us." No nationality has had greater proof of this than our own. Our freedom from the terrible accidents, devastating floods and cyclones of our neighbors proves this, and the thousand other woes that have come to other lands from which we have been saved, are evidences of the truth. Then how near God has been to our Church, what wondrous revivals ! And no Church anywhere has greater cause for thanksgiving and praise than Bridge St. Church. What a wonderful year it has been ! hundreds of souls saved, and God's grace keeping them. Thanks living is better than thanks giving. In view of God's nearness and all the mercies which His nearness means, let us live for Him who has crowned the year with his goodness. The collection taken up amounted to $40.00.

ST. THOMAS' CHURCH.

Services were held in this church both morning and evening and were well attended. At the morning service the Rev. J. W. Burke made an earnest appeal on behalf of the hospital. He spoke of the great amount of good which this institution had been the means of doing, of the zealous labors of the noble ladies who have worked so faithfully for the comfort of those who are outcasts on the world, and appealed to the sympathies of the members of his congregation to assist in the philanthropic work. The result of his earnest address was that at the morning service $26.45 was collected, and at the evening service $7.05, making a total of $33.50. This will be applied to the general fund of the Home.

JOHN ST. PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

A service of song and praise was held under the choir leadership of Prof. Coleman. Mrs. Howe, organist, opened with Handel's grand march "From God from whom all blessings flow." The service consisted of choice selections by the choir, in some cases assisted by the congregation, and was full heartily in the spirit of praise and thanksgiving. The pastor, Dr George, took three passages of holy writ as his text: 50th Psalm, 14th verse—"Offer unto God thanksgiving." 103rd Psalm, 33rd verse—"I will sing unto the Lord as long as I live; I will make another effort to get the court to take to the evidence in the case of the deceased, and Philip Canniff, son of the deceased, accompanied the remains. Mr. Canniff was one of the pioneers of this country. A number of prominent citizens of the locality and surrounding country were at the station to receive the remains. The funeral cortege was formed at the depot, and the remains taken to the cemetery, where they rest in the final resurrection of the just. The Rev. J. W. Burke officiated.

At a few minutes to 4 o'clock yesterday morning the fire bells were rung, as the bright reflection which was visible in the northern part of the city, indicated that a fire was in progress in that section. The hose carts had not proceeded far when it was learned that the fire was outside of the city limits, on the Canifton Road, a couple of miles from the limits. It proved to be a barn owned by Mr. John Donovan, who is engaged in teaming. The building was entirely consumed, together with a team of horses, a cow, a pig, lumber waggon, cutters, sleighs, buggy, and a quantity of hay and straw. There was an insurance of $700 in the National, which replaced the horses, cutters, sleighs, buggy, and a quantity of hay and straw. There was an insurance of $700 in the National, which replaced the horses, cutters, but Mr. Donovan says this will not cover his loss by some $200 or $300. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Fatal Shooting Accident—Alleged Confidence Men in the Toils.

TORONTO, Nov. 16.—Wednesday afternoon James E. Beswick, agent of the British American Assurance Company, and Edward Appel, aged 22, printer, residents of 40 Colborne street, started for Ashbridge's Bay for a night and day's shooting. Both carried ordinary breech-loading shot-guns. They rowed across the bay, and in a small strip of land which lies towards the centre of the bay, and almost directly opposite the front of Leopold Street, Parkdale, Ward. They rested for a night in a fisherman's hut and went out about 5.30 yesterday morning. In about an hour Appel, who had had his outfit on the shore. Both fired, and Mr. Apted stepped back to reload. He threw open the breech, took out the exploded cartridges and replaced them with loaded ones. The hammers of the gun were down at the time, and the quick action of shutting the weapon caused the plunger to strike the cartridges with sufficient force to explode one of them. Mr. Apted was standing directly in line with the muzzle of Mr. Apted's weapon, and the charge struck him fairly in the right side inflicting a terrible wound, causing almost instant death. Mr. Apted's face was sent across and got Drs. Pickering and Stephenson, but life had fled long before their arrival. The police were notified and the body of the unfortunate sportsman was brought over to the city to the residence of his father. An inquest was held last night when the jury returned this verdict : "That James Edward Beswick came to his death by being accidentally shot at the Island this Wednesday afternoon." The coroner's jury had been held in custody all day, was at once released. The deceased was a member of the Toronto Club and was a great favorite with all who knew him. The Parnell Commission.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—It is expected that the tedious part of the proceedings of the Parnell Commission will be relieved only when the Times produces evidence aiming to connect the accused directly with specific offences. If The Times' counsel to-morrow continues on the general line of examining stale facts or fiction, Sir Charles Russell, counsel for the Parnellites, will make another effort to get the court to order the prosecutors to begin the inquiry.

The Pall Mall Gazette, defying the law relative to contempt of court, severely criticises the course of the prosecuting counsel and advises the defence not to waste its funds by employing the full array of counsel daily but to reserve the pledge of counsel to watch the case and to bring back Sir Charles Russell and other leaders when evidence is produced affecting the accused. Seven thousand pounds of the defence fund have already been expended.

In Tuesday's and Wednesday's issues of the Ontario there appeared statements to the effect that Ald. Macoun was having his premises drained at the expense of the city. The facts are that the tiles which were used were purchased by Mr. Macoun from Mr. Vandewaters, of Sidney, and the men employed to perform the work were also paid by him at the rate of 25 cts. per yard. The tee which was used to connect Mr. Macoun's drain with that of the city, was also purchased by him. It will thus be seen that there was no foundation in whatever for the malicious statement. Ald. Macoun, in company with his Solicitor, Mr. G. D. Dickson, this morning waited the proprietor of the journal referred to, who, when the facts of the case were presented to him, offered to publish a retraction in this evening's issue of his paper.

A Wrong Opinion.

Many a dollar is paid for prescriptions for some disease that never troubles the patient, and when the sole difficulty was worms, which a few of Freeman's Worm Powders would remove. These Powders are pleasant, safe, and sure, contain their own cathartic, and are adapted for children or adults

FREEMAN'S WORM POWDERS destroy and remove worms without injury to adult or infants.

A Quarter of a Century.

For more than twenty five years has Hagyard's Yellow Oil been sold by druggists, and it has never yet failed to give satisfaction as a household remedy for pain, lameness and soreness of the flesh, for external and internal use in all painful complaints.

FEVER AND AGUE AND BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS are entirely cured by the use of Farmelee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, causing them to pour copious effusions from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

To lessen mortality and stop the inroads of disease, use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. For all diseases arising from impure blood, such as Pimples, Botches, Biliousness, Indigestion, etc., etc., it has no equal. Mrs. Thomas Smith, Elm, writes: "I am using this medicine for Dyspepsia; I have tried many remedies, but this is the only one that has done me any good."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakens as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teeth ing or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind. 24 lm'y

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarefies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc, if attended to in time are easily subdued, but allowed to run their own course, generally prove the cause of more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their affliction from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. Once of the most effectacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Hickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state

Rest and Comfort to the Suffering.

"Brown's Household Panacea" has no equal for relieving pain, both internal and external. It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. "It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal, as its acting power is wonderful." Brown's Household Panacea," being acknowledged as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family handy for use when wanted. "as it really is the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the Stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds, and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cts a bottle.

The Child of Waterloo.

BY GEORGE W. M. REYNOLDS.

He would not submit to anything, save upon compulsion. The priest had been denied access to him; the chaplain of the prison ordered not to read from him into a better frame of mind than that in which he was then in, but it was useless; he refused all intercourse upon religious topics, save to scoff and laugh at them.

'Bring me none of your scoffer-loving priests, or table fed parsons, or your pensioned dignitaries, who league together to enchain the world, and to gather together the loaves and the fishes.'

This language, of course, did little to appease the fury of the aroused prison authorities, and the chaplain was scandilized, and his calling entirely disgraced by such conduct.

However, he did all he could to reason with him; but it was unavailing, each new attempt being met by a corresponding increase of scorn and derision.

Thus he would have turns away the endeavors of the good man with the utmost contempt; and yet there was a something of noise and boast in all this; he required to hear the sound of his own voice to reassure him, and to cover his own weakness, and to aid in giving him that appearance of courage of which he boasted.

At length the day before the execution arrived, and the governor and the chaplain visited him.

'Sternholde,' said the former, 'There is no hope for you—you must die to-morrow.'

'To-morrow!' echoed Sternholde.

'Yes; your time is short. Consider well how you had best employ it, for opportunities now lost are irrecoverable. Time soon, with you, will cease to be.'

'Away, away; you cannot take away my life—its charmed.'

'If you can think so you are in a lamentable state of error,' said the clergyman; 'you cannot bear a life charmed against the penalty of the law; never was such a thing heard of, or dreamed of, depend upon it. You have your faith founded upon a rotten basis; be warned in time; the hours are few. Oh, repent, and seek for that mercy which you seem never to have shown to man, and may you find Him more merciful than his creatures.'

'When must I die?'

'To-morrow at eight.'

'So short a time?'

'It has been long; that is, quite as long as usual; and you must have known that there was no chance of mercy being shown you—you could have none to expect.'

Sternholde said nothing, but leaned back against the cell, and seemed lost in thought. The clergyman thought he might be yet induced to change his mind, that the certainty of death, so near at hand, would work a change in that man's mind, and stood hopefully in expectation that some such occurrence would take place, and be indicated by some expression on his part.

But nothing but sullen silence and a wandering eye was observable in him. Then, after having awaited patiently for some time, the governor said to him, in a kindly tone

'Can I do anything for you, Sternholde? Is there anything at this moment that can be done for you, or that you would desire?'

Sternholde shook himself, but answered not.

'Think,' added the worthy chaplain, 'think of the awful moment so near at hand; think upon the little time you have to make your supplications to the throne of grace—let me beseech you!'

'Too late—too late,' said Sternholde.

'Not too late for repentance. Be true, say but the word, and I will sit up with you all night. I will not leave you till that awful moment arrives when you quit this world forever.'

'Away, away; none of your hated jugglery here. I am what I have been, and a change now would be impossible; but it will advantage me nothing, and I will not consent.'

'But it would advantage you something hereafter.

'I'll have none of it.'

'Wretched man! hour after hour will your courage fail; hour after hour will death seem more fearful and, without the consolation of repentance, and the promises of Heaven to aid you, your last moment will be one of bitterness and gall. Think again of your salvation, if there can be no hope of your repentance. Time is short—fearfully short; yet, to those who ask it with a contrite heart, the mercies of Heaven are surely promised.'

'Ha, ha, ha! Leave me, I have heard enough of this. You may frighten timid minds, but I have had enough of your cloth; away, away, I have done—leave me to myself.'

The chaplain and governor looked at each other with sorrow on their countenances; the former whispered

'Ho is, I fear, a hardened sinner; but what an end!'

'His courage,' said the governor 'is only assumed, and not real. I cannot believe he will be the man to hold out in this manner to the end—he is much too furious.'

'He is, indeed, a wretched man, but I fear further efforts would be unavailing; and yet it is dreadful to see him die thus; but there is no help for it.'

'None,' said the governor, as he quitted the cell, leaving the wretched Sternholde to all the horrors of his fate.

When alone, Sternholde looked around upon the cell in which he sat; not a single ray of hope beamed from any quarter: no possibility of escape presented itself, and had there been plenty, he would have been unable to have taken advantage of it, since he was so secured that he could do nothing. His limbs were not at liberty, lest he should commit some act of self destruction.

'I am indeed cooped up here, and there is no chance of getting out of this. I must stay and die. Die, oh! Well, I have had a long career; I have been successful in many things, but I have been fatal to me. I would I had never attempted it; and yet it was a bold game, and, had it been successful, what a result!'

The wretched man endeavored to find consolation in the reflection that it would last him but a short time, for the knowledge that he must in a few hours die—it was a dreadful knowledge—kept forcing itself more strongly upon his mind, and the more dreadful did it seem.

However, the hours passed by, and the evening came. His meals were brought him, but though he drank, he ate but little. He seemed feverish, but not hungry. His eyes became red, and his whole appearance disordered.

At night the turnkey came in to sit up with him. It was the custom then to do so, and he felt this was an annoyance to him, for it forced the hateful knowledge upon his mind that he was compelled to die in a very few hours.

PROMPT, POTENT AND PERMANENT results always come from the use of Mishner's Aromatic Quinine Wine.

CATARRH.

A New Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the interlining membrane of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes. The eminent scientists, Tyndall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and those authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made to them more frequent than once a week, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before an application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease.

So highly are these remedies valued that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy a parasite, of which they know nothing, by remedies, of the results of the application of which they are equal ignorant. Mr. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effect a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases.

Mr. Dixon sends a pamphlet describing his new treatment on the receipt of stamp to pay postage. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son, 303 King street west, Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Cured By B. B. B. When all Else Fail ed.

Mr. Samuel Allan, of Lisle, Ont., states that he tried all the doctors in his locality while suffering for years with Liver and Kidney trouble; nothing benefitted him until he took Burdock Blood Bitters, four bottles cured him.

Among the Indians.

"While my husband was trading in furs he came across an Indian who was taken to his lodge to die. He had inward pains and pains in all his limbs. He gave some Yellow Oil internally and applied it externally, and cured him. It also cured my husband of rheumatism, and I find it valuable for coughs and colds, sore throat, etc." Mrs. A. Beaw, Cook's Mills, Serpant River, Ont.

Give Them a Chance?

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrah, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

Hesitation means Loss.

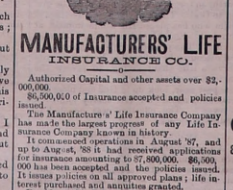

If your hair is coming out or turning grey, or if you find dandruff in your hair do not hesitate about looking after it. Get a bottle of Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic," use it as directed and you will find that it will give you the best of satisfaction. Take warning, do not wait till it is too late but try it at once. All druggists sell it.

The Modus Operandi.

The mode of operating of Burdock Blood Bitters is that it acts at once and at the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and the Blood, to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in Chronic Complaints.

SICK HEADACHE caused by excess of bile or a disordered stomach is promptly relieved by using National Pills.

The Dangerous Coal Oil.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—The explosion of poor, refined coal oil is the cause of another accident at Hemmingford. A little girl named Jennings was playing on Maple street, while helping her mother domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while resting on the table. Her burning clothing was only torn from her body with difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quick y summoned and the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined Oil a considerable quantity of inferior Coal Oil is being sold.

In order to secure only grades we have taken the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil:

'CARBON SAFETY OIL'
A specially refined and superior grade of Canadian Oil,

ASTRAL OIL,
A high grade American Oil.

These we can most confidently recommend to our retail trade as goods that will give entire satisfaction.

We are also fully supplied with Water White and Prime White American Oil and the usual brands of Canadian Oil.

SATAN'S DISGUISES.

DR. TALMAGE'S DISCOURSE ON MAN'S ANCIENT ENEMY.

The Fiend's Various Manners of Traveling the Earth and His Subtle Aptitude for Sowing the Seeds of Woe and Damnation—The Devil's Power.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 11.—The throngs in and around Brooklyn Tabernacle are on the increase. As an evangelist in the demand for Dr. Talmage's work, 250,000 copies of his forthcoming subscription book, "The Pathway of Life," have been bought from the Historical company by Messrs. B. F. Johnson & Co., of Richmond, Va., although the retail prices are from $4.50 to $5 a copy. In the history of literature no book has had such an advanced sale.

At the Tabernacle this morning the Rev T. De Witt Talmage, D.D., took for the subject of his sermon: "Satan on His Travels." His text was Job, 1, 7: "And the Lord said unto Satan: Whence comest thou? Then Satan answered the Lord, and said: From going to and fro in the earth, and from walking up and down in it."

In 1672 was printed the largest book ever published, namely, two folios, containing more than 5,000 pages, in small type, the author Joseph Caryl. It was a commentary on this Book of Job. When it took a year for the journey from England to India, the ship that bore the author of this commentary started for India, leaving his father writing on his book, and was gone for years, and when he came came back to England still found his father writing on it. I never saw the commentary, but I do not wonder at its size because I have a lot and to the interest of the book of Job. I am not surprised that Goethe, the unbeliever, took from this wonderful book the opening of his drama "Faust" and the Mephistopheles of the great German was only the Satan of Job. It seems that one day in heaven God was out. His throne and angels and archangels came to report on their different missions. I suppose one angel said: "I was out among the stars and I saw one of them blaze out." Another angel, I imagine, said: "I was off on a stellar excursion and was present at the birth of a new world." Another angel, I think, said: "I was journeying five hundred million miles in the wilderness of immensity and I saw a meteor run down a planet. Another angel, I know, and helped at the inauguration of a new race of beings amid the mountains and valleys of that mighty world in the southeast part of the heavens." But while these good and great spirits were making their reports a ghastly, grisly, hideous monster from some dirty subterranean, filthy world, came into the palace without wiping his feet, and God asked him where and how he had been occupying himself, and this greatest scourge of the universe made reply with blazing effrontery, and instead of acknowledging any of the mischief he had been doing said his time had been carefully pedestrian and had lived a sort of circumambulatory, peripatetic life. "And the Lord said unto Satan: Whence comest thou? Then Satan answered the Lord and said: From going to and fro in the earth and from walking up and down in it."

THE NUMEROUS LIEUTENANTS OF SATAN UPON EARTH.

This monster of my text has a great variety of names. You know that various villains are apt to take a variety of names. Arraigned in Paris for burglary a man will give one name, arrested in San Francisco for arson he will give another name, and arraigned at Montreal for murder he will give another name. So this creature of my text has many names. "Satan" is the name of the personal, literature Abaddon, Apollyon, Ahrimanes, Zamel, Asmodeus the revenging devil, Beelzebub the sovereign of devils, Lucifer the brilliant fallen angel, Diabolos the despairing devil, Mammon the money devil, Pluto the fiery devil, Baal the military devil, Moloch the bloody devil. He is called the father of lies, and has for his children and grandchildren and great grandchildren all falsehoods, deceptions, frauds, swindles, shams, humbugs and counterfeits. All men of good sense, whether enlightened by the Bible or in heathendom, have thought that there are base, cruel and maleficent influences abroad that have not their origin in the human race, and demonology is as certain as angelology. The word of Jesus Christ has brought to have had a demon in the hit and there is now a demon in every sword hilt. The ancients supposed the air was filled with sylphs and fairies and sirens and gnomes and vampires and salamanders and undines and hobgoblins. The Talmud says that Adam's first wife was Lilith and that their children were all devils. One or three hundred years ago a demonographer gave the names of ambassadors of evil which he thought Satan sent to different courts: Mammon, ambassador to England; Belphegor, ambassador to France; Martinet, ambassador to Switzerland; Rimmon, ambassador to Damascus; Moloch, ambassador to Spain; Hutgin, ambassador to Italy; and that there was a princess of devils by the name of Proserpine. But what was mere guess work of mythology or superstition has been made clear by divine revelation. We find that there is somewhere a branch of all wickedness. He has a throne of power and courtiers and armies and navies and machinery of evil as the power of the world. He is the supervisor of all mischief, and what he cannot do himself he delegates others to do, and as each one of our race is supposed to have a guardian angel I have no doubt that every human being has a besieging malignant spirit nagging his footsteps and trying to make him fall. Busy and act wrong, an especial devil, a devil of fraud or a devil of avarice or a devil of uncleanness or a devil of some kind, as you by my text the spirits are represented as reporting to the Lord, so I have no doubt the evil spirits report to Satan, who is the enemy of the whole human race, and who has a sagacity that makes flight around the world a matter of a second, and who marshals on his side the forces yvolcanic, atmospheric, epidemic, geologic, oceanic and cyclonic. "And the Lord said unto Satan: Whence comest thou? Then Satan answered the Lord and said: From going to and fro in the earth and from walking up and down in it."

THE AGE OF SATAN'S BLIGHTING RULE.

Satan began his attack on that world long before Adam and Eve were created. While I believe the Bible record that the world was fitted up for man's residence in one week, I believe also the geological record that the world was previously for hundreds of thousands of years going through great changes. The lumber for the house that was to be built in a week for our first parents may have been hauled to the spot a million years before. This Prince of the Power of the Air has been trying for all that million years to demoralize and ruin this world. His record is on the rocks. He tried to drown it with universal waters. He tried to burn it up with universal fires. Then he tried to freeze it into ruin, and covered it with universal glacier. And for ages he kept this world before our first parents occupied it in paroxysms and convulsions, and the remains of those struggles I have seen, and you have seen in museums, or if with geologist's hammer you have gone down into the vast libraries of the mountains. Yea, after the famous Bible week the world had been fitted into a paradise for the home of our sinless ancestors, Satan came into the Garden of Eden, not through the gate of foliage and upright in posture, but crawls in under the bushes a snake, and having despoiled our first parents goes to work to ruin Paradise, and does the work so thoroughly that one who recently visited the site of the ancient garden between the rivers Tigris and Euphrates says the place is a desert, not a flower, not a green ground. So poor that nothing but some date trees grow there, and the miserable villagers from near by are so well covered up with their rags as Adam and Eve were covered up with their innocence. So you see the father of lies for once told the truth when the Lord said unto him: "Whence comest thou?" and Satan answered the Lord and said: "From going to and fro in the earth, and from walking up and down in it."

In my text we have Satan on his travels, and I am going to tell you some of the routes he is apt to take. On his way down from the palace where he reported himself in answer to the question, Whence comest thou? his first range of roaming he may be expected to take is the air. It was not a witticism or a slip of the pen when Paul, in his letter to the Ephesians, called Satan the "Prince of the Power of the Air." I think it means that Satan works through conditions of the atmosphere. The world is full, full of angels, the east wind is full of devils. Satan spreads abroad his black wings and hurricanes and cereclydons and Caribbean whirlwinds are his chariots and his hatchet men. He takes the miasmas that float up from swamps and hatches them into typhoid fevers. He takes the exhalations and hatches them into pneumonias and rheumatisms and consumptions. Not only has the power in the upper air where the highest clouds float, but power over the lower air which we breathe, and as we breathe nineteen times a minute and take in three hundred and fifty cubic feet of air in every twenty-four hours and much of this air affects the arterial circulation, you see what opportunities the Prince of the Air has of contaminating and despoiling and demoralizing a man. Through atmospheric influence he sends down pestilences that carry off scores and covers the best of people with religious despondency, as in the case of Edward Payson and William Cowper and that beloved apostle of evangelism, Captain W. Alexander. His great delight is to have the air of churches vitiated, and in that way dulls the preacher and exhausts the people and sees to it that the atmosphere of not more than one out of a hundred churches is fit to breathe, and what is true of churches is true of halls, bath, are sephyrized. Yes, he is worthy of the title St. Paul gave him: "Prince of the Power of the Air."

MARRIAGE IS BY NO MEANS A FAILURE.

Another route he is apt to take is through domestic life. There is no greater sport for him than conjugal quarrel. It does not make any difference how long the marriage ring has been on the finger of the right hand, he will try to pull off the signet. He says to the husband: "What a pity you have to be compared with what she once was! Don't you see that the color has gone out of her cheek, and that she has several wrinkles about her temples and a sprinkling of frost on her locks? Besides that, you have advanced in intelligence, while she has stood still or gone backward. Hard it is that you should be chained to such dullness and imbecility!" Then he turns and says to the wife: "Think of the neglects you have a right to be jealous. He likes his cigar and his club, and anything and everything better than you. Why not get a divorce! Marriage is only a civil contract anyhow and not a divine alliance. Let me have that ring. It means nothing, and you might as well give it to me." The ring is handed over to Satan and he tosses it up and down like a plaything over the mouth of perdition and says: "I will hand it back, only let me have it a little while." And he keeps tossing that ring, with all its sacred memories, higher up and further out, tossing and catching, tossing and catching it until one day you clutch for it, crying: "Give me back my ring!" but lo, it has dropped into his yawning gulf and you make a fruitless attempt at catching and watching the ring, and you cry out: "Whence comest thou?" and he answers: "From going to and fro in the domestic life of the city and from walking up and down in it; that is all." There are thousands of marriage relations strained almost to the breaking, and I commend to all men and women who are restless in the present marriages state that they resume the old time courtship and take as much pains to make themselves agreeable as they did five or ten or twenty years ago, before the wedding march announced to the flushed and fluttering crowd that the bride and groom were coming. According to the statistics of Professor Dikes, in one year in moral New Hampshire there were 341 divorces; in immoral Maine, 478 divorces; in good old Massachusetts, 600 divorces, and in the New England of "steady habits," 2,119. In one county in Illinois 830 divorce suits were begun in one year, and in many places it seems as if a new arrangement had been made of the commandments, and instead of ten there were only nine, the Seventh Commandment having been left out. When you see how many husbands and wives are married by law, and know of so many who would like to dissolve conjugal partnership, do you not come to the conclusion that Satan is engaged in mighty industries?

ANOTHER FAVORITE RESORT OF MAN'S CHIEF ENEMY.

Another route that Satan is apt to take in his active travels is the factories and other manufacturing establishments. Here in the office or counting room and a good many hands of laborers are busy among wheels and spindles and fabrics. On this visit he will first step into the counting room office and make himself the owner and proprietor of the great establishment all alone with his correspondence and his accounts and he says to himself: "You are not making as much money as you ought to. You furnish all the brains. Were it not for your enterprise the whole thing would not be in existence. These men and women in your employ are of very common mold. Their appetite is coarse and they do not need the luxuries you require. Their comfort and happiness are of very little importance. Put them down on the very verge of starvation and take all the profits into your own possession, and if they do not like it tell them to go where they can do better." Having done his work in the counting room Satan steps right out among the workmen. He says: "You work too many hours and you do your work better than it needs to be done. You are serving a bloated bondholder anyhow. He has no right to have any more than you have. You should be ride and you walk! Why should he have tenderloin steak and you salt pork! Capital is the enemy of labor. Let labor be the sworn foe of capital. Why don't you strike and bring him to terms! Wait until he has a large order to fill by contract, and then he cannot help himself. Go all together, without a moment's warning, and tell him you are going to stop. If he has incre rosources than you know of and persists in going on and getting new men, give them a volley of brickbats, or put a little dynamite in his office and blow him and his factory all up with the same explosion." Look out there on the night sky! Great fire somewhere! What is it? The night is cold and Satan has made a big bonfire of that factory to warm himself by. The capitalist has lost heavily, and the workmen and their families are without bread and clothing. "Whence comest thou?" Satan replies: "From going to and fro among employers and employes, and from walking up and down among them. Ha! ha! I was the only one who knew anything out of that strike. What a splendid fire, and lots of smoke! Ha! ha! I like smoke."

SOME REASONS WHY GOD'S WORK WRONG.

Another route Satan is apt to take in his active travels is through the mercantile establishments. He steps into a store to see clerks: "How much salary do you get! Is that all! Why, you can't live on that! You have a right to enough for a livelihood. A few quarters out of the money the employer will never be missed; or here and there is a remnant of goods you could take home without being found out, or you could change those account books a little, and you could make five a three, and if you do not feel exactly right about doing that, you can some day pay it back, which you can do perfectly easy. Don't feel like running the risk! Well, then, you can't go to the theatre, and you can't go on that round with the boys, and you can't have so many flirtations, and you don't you could have your overcoat fur lined and take board at a tip-top place and walk amid splendid fellows and handsome females. While you are making up your mind I will just go through the different parts of this great commercial establishment and try every one, from the wealthy firm down to the errand boys." The result of that Satanic visit is that no one of the partners has drawn so much out of the concern that the whole business is crippled, and a bright and promising boy is sent home to his mother in disgrace, and a young man is in jail for embezzlement. Three lives ruined and three eternities. Whence comest thou, Satan? "From going to and fro among mercantile houses and from walking up and down among them. I like to ruin splendid fellows and beautiful females, and of all the liquors that I ever tasted fill my glass with a brewing of agonizing tears. Come! let us clink together the rims of our glasses and drink to the ruin and eternity of the fifty thousand young men I ruined last year! Ruin?" Satan would rather have one young man than twenty old ones. If he would win the septuagenarians and octogenarians he could do but little harm with them. But he says: "Give me the young people, especially if he be bright and generous and social." He sees that young men have for good or bad been the mightiest influence in this world. Hernando De Soto journeyed in search at 32. Gustavus Adolphus became immortal in history so early that he died at 38. Raphael, the most famous of painters, died at 37. William Pitt was prime minister of England at 24. Jesus Christ completed his earthly life at 33. Five years in a young man's life are of more power for good or evil than all the last fifteen of an old man's life. So Satan is especially greedy for young men, and in going to and fro in the earth he has especial temptation for them.

HOW SIMPLY MEN ARE DENUDED OF THEIR MONEY.

Another route that Satan on his active travels is apt to take is for the despoiling of the people's souls. It does not pay him merely to destroy the bodies of men and women. Those bodies would soon be gone, anyhow; but great treasures are involved in this Satanic excursion. On this route he meets a man who is aroused by something he has seen in the Bible, and Satan says: "Now I can settle all that the Bible has to impose tion; it has been deluding the world for centuries; do not let it delude you. It has no more authority than the Koran of the Mohammedan or the Shaster of the Hindoo, or the Zenda-Vesta of the Persian." He meets another man who is hastening to the kingdom of God, and says: "Why all this precipitation! Religion is right, but any time within the next ten years will be soon enough for you. A man with a constitution like yours and such muscular development need not be bothering himself about the next world." But Satan says nothing to him about the fact that the professor who gave his whole life to the study of health and could lift more pounds than any American died at about forty, and that another learned man, who proved conclusively that if we observed all the laws of health we need never die, expired before he got his book out. Satan meets another man who has gone through a long course of profligacy and is beginning to pray God for forgiveness, and Satan says to him: "Don't be in a hurry; what the Lord will not help such a wretch as you; you might as well brace up and fight your own way through life." Coming in a spite and an acuteness and a velocity that have been gaining for six thousand years, he ranges up and down, battling, disappointing, defeating, afflicting, destroying the human race. Through his own hand or delegated infernalism he has pursued and hunted us all, and cursed every land and cursed every home and cursed every nation and cursed every continent. He has instigated every war. He has sung with every pestilence. He has started every groan. He has pressed out every sigh. He has hurled every shipwreck. Lazarettoes, insane asylums, commercial panics, plagues, destroying angels, continental earthquakes, and world wide disasters are to him a perfect glee. Can you look upon the Communism and the Mormonism and the Mohammedism and the wide sweep of drunkenness and fraud and libertinism, the Franco-German war and Crimean war, the north and south United States war, and rivers of blood flowing across continents of misery into oceans of wretchedness, without feeling that the prince of the Evil One, who reported to the Lord Almighty, and when asked: Whence comest thou? answered: "From going to and fro in the earth and from going up and down in it."

But, blessed be God! I may substitute anthem for prose and sing: "Thanks be to our" for the "Dead March in Saul." The New Testament says: "The Son of God was manifested that he might destroy the works of the devil." It is proved that our Lord who would come down from heaven with key and chain and incarcerate and shut up the fiend dragon. It says that Christ came to "destroy him that had the power of death—that is the devil." And from the way Christ drove out those who were possessed with devils until he was glad to hide under the bristles of the swine of Gadara and from other violent ejectments we have reason to feel in existence a power a million fold mightier than the diabolic. The old lion of death shall go down under the stroke and roar of the Lion of Judah's tribe. Yea, my text shows that Satan was compelled to report to the Almighty and give account of himself. When God said to him: "Whence comest thou?" he was forced to answer. What means that Scripture which says that Christ shall bruise the serpent's head? If you have ever killed a snake the passage ought to be plain to you. You see this old serpent, the devil, has crawled across the ages, poisoning whole generations and leaving its trail on everything; but after a while it will be coiled, and rising and with everything in rage and with great lifted and forked tongue shot out it will make final attack on Christ, and Christ will advance upon it, and lifting his omnipotent foot, that foot strong enough to crush a world, lifting that foot right over the head of the reptile, will put down his heel with a crushing power that shall leave the monster bleeding and mashed, never to hiss again or bite again or shake his old rattle again. Thank God he has already received a stunning blow. Hear you not the rumbling of the Christian printing presses and the whirling of the Gospel chariot wheels! As many souls have been added to the Christian church in the last eighty years as in the previous eighteen centuries, and that is a ratio of increase acclamatory with gladness. The kingdom is coming, and I am so sure of it that I do not propose to fret and worry because it has not already come. I may jump to get on a boat that is going off, but I do not propose to jump for a boat that is coming in. The sharp attacks of infidelity and sin are a good sign that especial blessing is coming in showers over all the earth. Flies bite sharp just before rain.

THE OVERTHROW OF SATAN.

If we do not see the full consummation our children will see it. In the time of the French revolution a great procession of boys carried through the street a banner with the inscription: "Tremble, tyrants, we shall grow up!" Though we may fail to do our duty there is a rising generation being gospelled and coming by the hundreds of thousands from our Sabbath schools and Christian homes who might properly have on their banners: "Tremble, ye powers of darkness and sin, for we are growing up!" We may not amount to much in ourselves, but if we put ourselves in the right place we can do great exploits. Two put under two make only four, but four placed beside two make twenty-two. Yet two and two and I most need is power to drive back the Apollyon, the Asmodeus, this Abrimanes from our hearts and lives. And we can do it not by our own strength, but by divine power. Hear, then, here is a passage emblazoned with encouragement which says: "Resist the devil and he will flee from you." Remember it is no sin at all to be tempted. The best and the mightiest have been tempted. Milton describes a toad squat at the ear of Eve. The sin is in surrendering. Do not feel so secure in yourself as to think you can not be overthrown. How do you account for the fact that there are so many old men in Sing Sing and Auburn and the other penitentiaries, serving out their protracted sentences for frauds committed in mid life or advanced ages, although their early life had been good, and nothing bad been suspected of them until at 50 or 60 years of age the whole land was struck dumb at their forgery or embezzlement. The clock in the steeple of Old Trinity church striking the hours did not remind the recreant Wall Street of the passage of time that would soon bring exposure to and doom. The explanation is that Mephistopheles, Apollyon, Satan got in his work at that time. The man was not naturally bad. He was as good as any of you are, but Satan with whole battalions of infernals swooped upon him unawares. Look out for the wiles of the devil, not only those of you who are young, but the middle aged and the old. Outside of God you are not safe a single moment. But yield not to disheartenment. If we put our trust in God our best days are yet to come—days of victory, days of song, days of heaven, and the best days of the cause of righteousness in all the earth are yet to come. As the ten thousand men of Xenophon's army, when they came to the top of Mount Theches and saw the waters on which they were to sail to their homes, the soldiers with clapping hands and waving banners all together shouted: "The sea; the sea!" So we today in our march toward our heavenly home come up to the top of the mountain of holy anticipation, and look off upon oceans of light and oceans of glory and oceans of joy, and thrilled as we have never been thrilled before we clap our hands and wave our gospel ensigns and cry one to another and shout up to the responding and re-echoing heavens: "The sea; the sea."

THE PARNELL COMMISSION.

Lady Montmorris Faints in the Witness Box—Sir Charles Russell's Protest.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The proceedings of the Parnell Commission today were most interesting by the appearance on the witness stand of Lady Mountmorris, whose husband, Lord Mountmorris, was murdered at Clonbur, County Galway, in 1880. Sir Charles Russell, counsel for the Parnellites, was proceeding to cross-examine Lady Mountmorris when the latter fainted and would have fallen to the floor had not a court officer caught her. Sir Charles thereupon indignantly declared he would not proceed any further in cross-examination.

Sir Henry James, of the Times counsel, then announced that it was proposed to give evidence in relation to outrages committed in County Kerry.

Sir Charles Russell protested and Justice Hannen agreed that the Commission could follow the evidence by the method in which it was proposed to give it only with enormous difficulty, but if witness actually connected that there was no other manner to shorten the case than the course purposed, the court was bound to assent.

Sir Charles thereupon said warmly: "All I can do then is to protest against a course which certainly will not conduce to facilitate the enquiry."

Pat. Sullivan, a farmer of County Kerry, was examined. He said in June, 1884, a man came to his door, called him out and shot him with a revolver. After he had recovered from his wound he was called upon to attend a meeting of the League, where he was asked to let a particular tenant off with a reduction of rent. He promised. Cross-examined, he stated that he did not connect the shooting with any member of the League. At the meeting he was not threatened. Sullivan was then examined by Attorney-General Webster, who asked: "Since you came here to-day have you spoken to either of the Messrs. Harrington?"

Timothy Harrington, rising from his place in the counsel seat, said: "I never remember having seen the witness before."

Edward Harrington, who was seated on the bench behind counsel, also arose and exclaimed: "This is another impostor. I have never seen the man before to-day. It is hard to have our names thus dragged in."

Justice Hannan addressing Timothy Harrington said: "This proceeding is quite irregular. You ought to know that you cannot take part in the case both as counsel and witness."

Mr. Harrington replied: "I did not appear as a witness."

"Justice Hannen: "You cannot interfere at all."

Mr. Harrington: "The Attorney-General mentioned my name and I must request you to afford me the protection of the court."

Justice Hannen: "Let the court stand adjourned. We must maintain decorum."

The judges here left the bench hurriedly amid a scene of great excitement. Counsel for both sides remained in their places and Mr. Harrington remained with counsel for the defence. The judges were absent 10 minutes. When they returned their places on the bench Mr. Harrington immediately saw that he had not meat any disrespect to the court.

Justice Hannen responded: "All persons please meet obey the direction of the court. I am glad to receive your statement."

The taking of evidence was then resumed.

WITHOUT FOUNDATION.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 16.—It is officially declared that the assertions made by The Kreuz Zeitung and Post of Berlin, that the redistribution of troops in Western Russia implied an advance and that the Russian garrisons on the frontier have been strengthened by two and in some instances three divisions, are without foundation.

"DEAD."
Dead! Yes, I'm dead, and the cold earth now
Rests on the cold ash on my brow,
Yes terrify thing to be lying dead,
And the stiff, satin pillow beneath my head
Brings back to my mind fond memories,
The thought that I never more shall see
Those living I loved so well.

To think I could lie there so cold and still
And know why were coming and going at will,
To give me into my bridal grave,
Laying me softly and reverently
And never a movement I make to betray
That I was still here and still loved them that day.
Ah! God! And I loved them so well.

He came. I heard his loved step, but so hushed,
So quiet it the hot tears in his eyes had rushed.
To these eyes that had ever loved so well
On my fair young face happy face to dwell,
And this wound have been our wedding day!
My God! What a mockery. There I lay
Wedded to de th and stiff loved them that day.

The prayers were all ended, the dread moment had come,
When the loved ones I soon would be taken from Crowded around for a last, fond kiss
"My child!" And to think that I reared her for this,
My mother's voice! And then, his so slow:
"My wife!" And so soon to be laid so low."
So low! Low as a dog, but they covered me then
They covered me then from all human eyes,
Out of that pit on to more should I rise.
Gently they lowered me into the ground,
Thinking, to hear the sound brass, could pierce no sound.
But, oh! in the stillness eternal to me
Came the dear sweet sound of a wedding grave;
The patter of rain, that seems always to say:
"Await, heedless spirit, the Great Judgment Day!"

So, day after day and year after year,
My path to God heads I am lying here,
Enduring the penance I've done in the past;
Waiting yes, waiting, for—oh ! at the last?
Will it be mercy? Will it be low?
Never can know 'till I stand above.
Now I'm naught but a wife to the grave.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. Sabbath Desecration.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

DEAR SIR,—In an article with the above heading, which appeared in your paper of the 14th inst., there are some statements made which I consider untrue, and I thank you for the privilege granted me to reply.

In the first place, you say the charge laid against me is "eminently a proper one," then you give me the compliment of being a respectable man. If the charge were true I would not consider myself a very respectable man.

You say the Christian Sabbath is not observed by the religious denomination to which I belong. True, we observe the seventh day as the Sabbath of the Lord. The term "Christian Sabbath" is not a bible term; the bible recognizes but one weekly Sabbath, and that is the seventh day; it is called the Sabbath of the "Lord thy God." It is the day on which the Lord rested after the creation of the world, and blessed and sanctified, as stated in Genesis, ii., 3, and which he proclaimed from Mount Sinai, (Exodus xx.) The so called Christian Sabbath, the first day of the week, is lacking the blessing and sanctification of the Lord. It is further stated "that this is a Christian country," but I think it a disgrace to any country that would call itself Christian that would be found imprisoning its subjects if they disobey its laws, notwithstanding they obey the requirements of God. It is the kind of Christianity the three Hebrew children had to contend with when they were cast into the burning fiery furnace, Daniel, when he was cast into the lions' den and others too numerous to mention here. You also state that "Sunday labor is an offence against the divine law, and, therefore, abhorrent to our Christian people, but it is also a violation of the civil law." I will now challenge you or the writer of the article to produce the divine law which Sunday labor is an offence against. I have seached the scriptures to find it, in vain, and am prepared to back the statement that there is none, therefore, I deny the charge of breaking the divine law by Sunday labor and say it is false, but I would remind the writer of the article that there is a divine law which says, "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor." In accusing me of a violation of the divine law you have gone further than the Police Magistrate. He did not accuse me of that, but spoke with all respect for my convictions, and the sentence he gave me was for a violation of the statutes of Ontario and said that until the Ontario Legislature made an exemption for those that observe the seventh day he would have to go by it, but your article rather favors prosecution. The Chief of Police also spoke in my favor, therefore I have not the same reason to blame the authorities that I have to blame the writer of the article and parties that complained of me, some of which pretend to be called Christians. I think to be a Christian is to be a follower of Christ or Christ like and I don't see any account of Christ when he was on earth prosecuting people for not observing as he did. True, he reproved them of their sins, called some a generation of vipers, others hypocrites for making void the commandments of God by their tradition, but did not compel them to obey. The words of Christ are "Love thy neighbor as thyself."

Yours respectfully,
R. MCCORMACK.

EDITOR'S NOTE.—Mr. McCormack is inclined to split hairs as to the use of language. In doing so, we do not care to follow him; and we certainly will not enter into a discussion of the tenets of his belief. This much, however, he cannot fail to understand, namely, that the law under which we live provides against work being done on a certain day and that those who work on that day violate the law and are subject to the penalties which it provides—no matter what their opinions may be—whether Christian, Infidel, Jew, Gentile, Mahommedan, Buddhist, Confucian, or even Seventh Day Adventist.

Gross Misrepresentation.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

DEAR SIR,—The Ontario of yesterday contained a letter signed "Unknown," which is as gross a misrepresentation of a sermon as ever was published. As your correspondent overheard Mr. John H. Gordon, would be alderman of Ketcheson Ward, express views of that sermon in almost the words of the letter of "Unknown" it is fair to suppose that he was the author of that discreditable production.

When the public know the probable source from which the letter in the Ontario came, they will be able to estimate it at its proper value.

HONI SOIT MAL Y PENSE.

Brave Words for Canada.

SPOKEN IN SYRACUSE BY A CANADIAN.

DR. BEERS TELLS SOME PLAIN TRUTHS IN A GOOD NATURED WAY TO AN AUDIENCE OF UNITED STATES CITIZENS—THE DOMINION NOT FOR SALE—FACTS AND FIGURES ON THE TERRITORIAL EXTENT OF CANADA AND THE EMPIRE.

At the banquet of the 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th Districts Dental Societies of the State of New York, held in Syracuse recently, when 200 members from all parts of the State attended, including many ladies, several judges and clergymen, Drs. Willmott, Canar, Roberts and Snelgrove, of Toronto, and Dr. Beers, of Montreal, were present. I am able, through the courtesy of Mr. R. L. Spearman, shorthand reporter, to send you Dr. Beers' reply to the strangely worded toast, "Professional Annexation." Dr. Beers spoke as follows: Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen,—I must confess to a good deal of embarrassment in replying to a toast which is intended to be both professional and political, but I have been specially asked to do so by the chairman, and if I should offend anyone, as I must say exactly what I think, I can only offer to settle on the spot by inviting you, as the boys say, to "come out in the alley!" I have neither the presumption nor the vanity to imagine that I am able to do justice to the personal and professional courtesies which Doctor Jonathan has always bestowed upon his Canadian friends, as well as to the magnificent ignorance—sometimes ill nature—which Senator Jonathan has recently lavished upon his Canadian foes. But I can assure you that not even the professional liars who supply the New York Herald with Canadian news, or the wily politicians who eat forked lightning for breakfast and dynamite for dinner; not even the insane malice of men who hate Canada, as they may hate Cyprus, because it belongs to Britain; not even this can lessen the admiration Canadians have for the many noble and generous traits of character which belong to their American cousins. I am sure I speak, too, for my brethren from loyal Toronto, when I say that we have too often been under deep professional obligations to the kind nature of the cousin we still, from custom, call "brother," not to know that, however we differ politically, you as you wish your own respected; and that as you choose to fix at as hard, you have enough of English fair play to take a drubbing back, and to allow the possibility of Canadians loving and defending the fame and good name of the dominion, quite as much as you love and defend that of your Republic. No one more than loyal Americans would despise the politician who carries his patriotism in his pocket; the disloyalty of the political parasite who would make patriotism a house of cards, and dollars the chief end of a people; lutrigners who hire out success or annexation when they fail to get their political crimes or crotchets advertised; men whose business for notoriety and power is a fever of their existence. I am sure that you could have nothing but contempt for any free people who measure their allegiance purely by commercial standards, and who, fearing to face the difficulties which meet every nation, turn peddlers instead of protectors of their national birth right. Just as you had and have your croakers and cowards we have ours, but, Mr. Chairman, Canada is not for sale! and I am sure that you could have nothing but contempt for any free people who measure their allegiance purely by commercial standards, and who, fearing to face the difficulties which meet every nation, turn peddlers instead of protectors of their national birth right. Just as you had and have your croakers and cowards we have ours, but, Mr. Chairman, Canada is not for sale! revel in the ruin that destroys the crops, and who sincerely believe they can change the climate if they could change the Government. We have a few of those wiseacres of society who assume to possess a monopoly of foresight, and who, like Cæsus Caligula, think the world would have been better made could they have been consulted. But these people no more represent the convictions of Canadians than Tobin and Rosas and your Republican politicians and papers represent those of true Americans. I have no desire to hurt anybody's feelings here, but I hope I may be allowed to say something to remove the infatuation too prevalent in the States that

RESPECT OUR NATIONAL CONVICTIONS

CANADA FAVORS ANNEXATION.

Were we to judge you as you judge us—by the vaporing of the croakers, what value could we put upon your union, and would we not feel like agreeing with Roaster Johnson, when in his "Short History of the War of Secession," just published in Boston, thinks he sees in certain national circumstances the threatening elements of a second civil war? "Twenty years before the last civil war you had fire-eaters whose arrogance and vanity knew no bounds; who were advised by the Canadian press to study the elements of discord in the South instead of hankering for new ones in the North. It was just the same when years before that Georgia and Carolina appealed to arms and defied the general Government. Surely two threatened disruptions and one terrible civil war in the history of a century should be enough. But last Fourth of July I was near enough the Reunion of the North and South to be on the battlefield of Gettysburg, to see the ex Confederates wearing the starred and barred badge, and the inscription upon it, "That was the flag of treason and rebellion in 1861, and it is the flag of treason and rebellion in 1888." I read the protests of General Wagner, General Gobin and the Quartermaster-General of the Grand Army of the Republic against the gush and glorification of rebels because they had been rebels. I heard one officer boast that Southern privateers had destroyed $600,000,000 of your property, and had driven a quarter of a million tons of your shipping to make transfer to the British flag. I heard another gloat over the fact that they had nearly captured Philadelphia, I heard scores declare that they had not been beaten but starved. Reflecting upon all this, and hearing at this very hour the discordant echoes from the third quarter, it strikes me that if Senators like Mr. Blaine are sincere in their effusive professions of patriotism, they could find a good deal to manipulate in the genius down there in Dixie without meddling in the politics or the future of Canada. Canada minds its own business, and does not worry itself over yours, though you have coddled and dry nursed her enemies, and when she was at peace with you, allowed a horde of your citizens to invade her. Frankly, I may say that while I believe Canada

HAS NEED OF A NAVY,

too often she has not found her cousin one. If for once in the Treaty of Washington, remembering Maine, Oregon and San Juan, she did not let your diplomatists get the better of her, she felt that she had given you at least a reasonable quid pro quo. During the civil war we allowed your armed troops to cross from Detroit to Niagara and Canadian territory on the Great Western railway; but during the Red River rebellion in 1869, your Government refused leave to one of our vessels to go up the Canadian Ste. Marie canal, and arms and ammunition were purchased at considerable delay. When the St. Albans raiders, unknown to us, entered your territory from Canada, your Government was asked for the bill of damages and it was paid. When the Alabama claims bill was presented, it was paid so well that, years after every possible claim was settled, your Government retains a large balance which should have been refunded to Britain! What about the damages done to Canada in Canada by your citizens during the Fenian raids, most of them wearing the uniform of branches of your national troops? Not a cent has been paid. You expected Canada to know that a few quiet and straggling Southerners intended to raid St. Albans; you thought that England should have known that a solitary cruiser intended leaving one of her ports to prey upon your commerce. But what a splendid display of reciprocal consistency, that thousands of armed men should openly muster and drill in your chief cities for months before; openly occupy your border towns and villages, and attempt to invade us and your Government comparatively oblivious to it! In the face of these facts, it is not easy to swallow the statements or believe in the honesty of public men who talk of the exactions and encroachments of a people of 6,000,000 upon a people of 60,000,000.

CANADA CANNOT BE COERCED

or forced into union with such examples of political hypocrisy. There was a time, twenty years ago, when we were discontented provinces; when Canada proper contained only 370,488 square miles; when we had few railways; when stagnation seemed to mark us; when we had no winter outlet of our own to the sea; when our great Northwest was a great unknown. Even then annexation was unpopular. There had not enough been then accomplished by Canadian statesmen to make their rivals envious, and your own statesmen did not dream that we could build a railway to connect the Maritime and the old provinces, or that with a population of only 7,000,000, we would dare to span the continent with another, a work not accomplished by the States until they had 50,000,000. But can you be deceived into the belief that confederated Canada is now for sale, when since Confederation, twenty years ago, our revenue or consolidated fund has immensely increased; when our shipping and its tonnage has more than doubled—young Canada standing fifth in the list of nations, having more vessels than old France, Spain, Italy or Russia; when the assets of our chartered banks, the value of our imports, the extent of our exports tell a story of our marvellous progress; when, instead of about 2,000 miles of railway in 1867, we have now over 14 000, giving us a greater length of mileage than any other part of the Empire, excepting the United Kingdom and India; when the Canadian Pacific railway has established a line of steamers between Vancouver and Hong Kong and Japan, and our great Canadian line has become of Imperial importance; when we have developed our inexhaustible fisheries, thanks to your abrogation of the Reciprocity Treaty, so that we have 75,000 hardy men sailing our vessels and otherwise engaged in the business, and for 1887 we value those fisheries at $20,000,000? Can you wonder that annexation, as a serious subject, has received its death blow, and that in spite of the interjection of senatorial conceit on the one side, and the croaking of malcontents and political tramps on the other, Canada is loyal to the Motherland; that, from whose stout old loins both of us sprang? Confederated Canada, respected Canada, loyal Canada, progressive Canada is a powerful and political insult to the nerveless and pusillanimous who measure their allegiance purely by commercial standards, and who mean welcome were we neighbors, or rejoice even at annihilation rather than live the agonizing life of seeing their prospects and predictions destroyed. There were millions of your own citizens glad to do their worst to dismember your union; there were thousands who gave their lives to wreck the Republic that their own State interests taught to be prosperous, even when a few obscure cranks in Canada declare in favor of annexation, you think they speak the sentiment of a sober people who do not find it necessary to indulge in the spectacular or the rhetorical that you may see and hear the truth. You choose to ignore the treason of many a Southern white paper to day as you did twenty five years ago, and you exalt as gospel the partizans of the Canadian press, who are incapable of telling the truth.

ANNEXATION OR TURKEY OR RUSSIA

Personally and professionally, I am sure any dentist who visits you forgets he is not an American, and I am sure we try to make Americans coming into Canada forget they are not Canadians. You have big and hospitable hearts, that were intended for hospitality and not for quarrel. Personally and professionally we say something to remove the infatuation too prevalent in the States that

HIS OWN REVOLVER DID IT

FRED BARBER ENDS HIS LIFE AT SUSPENSION BRIDGE.

A Member of a Well Known Sheffield Cutlery Firm Blows out His Brains Yesterday Afternoon.

TORONTO, Nov. 17.—At 9 o'clock last night this telegram was received at the Queen's Hotel from Coroner Cornell of Suspension Bridge, Ont.:

SUSPENSION BRIDGE, Nov. 16, 1888.

The Queen's, Toronto:

Fred Barber committed suicide here to-night by shooting. Do you know him?

W. H. CORNELL, Coroner.

An answer was immediately sent that Mr. Barber was well known at the Queen's and in this city. He was about 40 years of age and was a partner in the firm of Thomas Ellin & Co., cutlery men, of Sheffield, England, and has travelled for them in Canada for 10 years. He has been in the habit of making semi-annual visits to Canada, and whenever in Toronto made the Queen's his headquarters. Mr. Barber has relatives in Oakville, and with them he spent Thanksgiving Day and returned to Toronto yesterday morning. Not feeling well he summoned Dr. Thorburn, who, after making out a prescription, told him to remain in bed all day. After the doctor left the hotel Barber came down to the office and said he had made up his mind to go to New York. He settled his bill and asked the clerk, Mr. Sam. Thompson, for a revolver which he had in the safe. Mr. Thompson says he has not the slightest idea when he gave it to Mr. Barber. Before leaving the hotel he told Mr. Thompson that he had been advised to go to the doctor to remain in his room, but that after he left he felt considerably better and thought he would walk around. It was after this that he resolved to leave the city, which he accordingly did at 12.50 p.m. That was the last the hotel people saw or heard of him until the telegram announcing his suicide last night.

Barber was a man of quiet manner and gentlemanly appearance and address. When Dr. Thorburn was consulted he saw that his patient was suffering from some mental disorder, and observed, last evening, when he heard of the suicide, that he was not surprised. The deceased was a total abstainer. The Queen's manager has also cabled Barber's firm in England of the suicide.

Details of the Suicide.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Nov. 16.—Shortly after the arrival of the Grand Trunk mail train at the New York Central depot, Suspension Bridge, N. Y., at 7.55 this evening, the employes around the baggage-rooms heard what they thought was the explosion of large fire cracker outside on the north platform. Hilley, a newspaper boy, called Bridge Conductor Wm. Rogers, who was standing a few rods away. The boy, pointing to a man lying down, asked him to keep him on his feet. Rogers, thinking that it was some one under the influence of liquor, attempted to raise him when a revolver fell from the folds of his overcoat and he found the man sweltering inhis life's blood, behaving deliberately placed the nozzle of a Smith & Wesson 44-calibre pistol to his left cocker revolver into his mouth and discharged the contents The ball entered his head, passing out behind the right ear, death was instantaneous.

The suicide was well dressed in a dark brown suit, with a heavy black beaver overcoat, black Christy hat, black, yellow and red and broad stripe necktie. On his left hand he wore a heavy gold ring, with large solitaire diamond setting. He is a heavy-set man, 5 ft. 11 in., and weighs 200 pounds. He has a heavy black mustache, tinged with a little grey. Coroner Cornell was at once notified and took the remains to his undertaking rooms.

In his pockets were a large number of letters and papers, both personal and business, and from them it was learned his name is Fred Barber, of 23 Chipping House Road, Sheffield, England, and was representing the firm of Taylor and Thomas Ellin & Co. of Sheffield. He held Grand Trunk Railway baggage certificate No. 2142, issued by Wm. Edgar, Montreal, Nov. 9, 1888. From the papers it was evident he had put up at the Queen's Hotel, Toronto, and St. Lawrence Hall, Montreal, and had sold a bill of goods for Thos. Ellin & Co., to C. & J. Allen, Toronto. Amongst a large number of cards were those of Joseph Martin, Montreal, and Joseph S. Tyler, Galt, Ont., also a personal letter from Peter Barclay, of P. Barclay & Co., patent cylinder lubricators, 19 Pearl-street, Boston, Mass., in regard to some patent that gentleman was securing for him. He had $122 in paper money and a gold watch and chain. He was identified by the trainmen on the G.T.R. mail train as a passenger on their train. They did not notice anything wrong, and he acted anything but like a person that would take his own life. When asked about his baggage he spoke very cheerfully and thanked the railway baggage check man when told about changing cars on the American side and that he would have to get his baggage passed through customs before he could go east. He held a through ticket by the New York Central to New York.

After the arrival of the train at the New York Central depot he went to the baggage-room, as directed, and had his large valise and hand bag examined through the customs and checked to New York. He must have gone straight from the room around the west end of the depot to the north side and shot himself.

MANITOBA MATTERS.

The House to Adjourn Today—Fletcher Again Acquitted of Treason.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 16.—A resolution condemning the action of the Canadian Pacific Railway in resisting the crossing by the Portage Extension and Brandon Railway Company, if the policy is continued, was adopted in the Legislature this afternoon. The House will probably adjourn to-morrow.

The Provencher election will eventuate early in January.

The question of responsible government for the Territories is attracting very little attention in the Assembly, the general opinion being that it is best to give the present system a fair trial.

Fletcher, charged with the murder of Matheson, was acquitted at the Brandon assizes.

A wealthy Irishman named Holt died very suddenly at Oak Lake yesterday.

The Bolton bachelor herd will be shipped to Kansas to-morrow.

Sir Lester Kaye intends entering largely into the manufacture of paper and binding cord from flax and expects it will be decided that the Northwest product is equal to the best Irish. Thirty-three thousand sheep will be imported from Oregon for his farms.

Leacock pulmonary accuses Attorney-General Martin of being a "common falsifier" in connection with statements attributed to the latter touching the action of the militia in the recent crossing difficulty.

Lost One of His Eyes.

GUELPH, Nov. 16.—H. Collins, a young man 16 years of age, while out shooting Thanksgiving day, had one of his eyes knocked out by the gun exploding.

The Great of the Cold Wave.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 17.—The crest of the cold wave is at present over the Northwest yesterday and left the following records of its intensity: Duluth 12 above zero, St. Paul 16, Moorhead 6, St. Vincent 2, Bismarck 12, Fort Custer 2, Winnipeg zero.

A Disastrous Gale.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Thursday's gale was very severe in the northern part of Ireland where much damage was done to property. At Belfast the wind blew with frightful force and several vessels were wrecked at the entrance to Belfast lough.

A Strike Compromised.

A SUCCESSFUL FORGER.

Two Kingston Merchants Victimized—A Life's Savings Burned.

KINGSTON, Nov. 16.—Kingston must be a favorite place in which to pass forged cheques. Two of them for $15 each, one drawn on the Ontario and the other on the Merchants' Bank, were got rid of yesterday by a young and shrewd man. In Lifton's jewelry store he presented a check signed by C. F. Gildersleve, received a silver watch valued at $12 40 and agreed to call for the change to-day. Shortly afterward the forgery was discovered, but the man had disappeared. Previously he entered George Sarsfield's boot and shoe shop, and after having selected a pair of boots, offered a cheque signed by E. W. Rathbun, explaining that he had been sent to that particular store. As the bank was closed he received the boots and $12 50 in cash and departed. The fellow, who put the name of Wm. Ross on the back of the cheques, let on that he could hardly write, so as to disarm the merchants if they suspected forgery. He tried several other stores without success, getting only two victims. It is thought he is an ex-convict.

Mr. and Mrs. Gobe, residing near Kingston, handed over their savings, amounting to $900, in an old stocking, hiding it under a bed. Their children transferred the stocking to a straw, and the next day and the first fire of the season was lighted the accumulations of years were destroyed.

Balfour Criticizes Gladstone.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Mr. Balfour made a speech last night at Leeds. In criticizing Mr. Gladstone's recent speech at Birmingham he said that the allegations sent forth by the ex-Premier were characterized by unblushing impudence. It was monstrous that the man who had for years occupied the bulk of the resident magistracy in Ireland, although he well knew that such invectives had led to so many outrages, should in order to obtain a cheer from a Birmingham mob hold them up to the odium of their fellow men. He said that the course of a long speech had Mr. Gladstone deviated into accuracy. A more scandalous performance had never been given by a great statesman.

Perils of the Deep.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Gen. J. A. Dumont, chief of the steamboat inspection service, reports that during the year ended June 30, 6425 vessels were inspected and 29,541 officers were licensed, being a decided increase over the work of the preceding year. The total number of accidents during the year resulting in loss of life was 36, causing the death of 50 persons or 18 less than during the previous year. Of the killed 85 were passengers and 117 employes. The loss of life is less than the average annual loss for the decade terminated with the year.

Colonial Stocks in London.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—It is announced that the Court of Chancery has definitely withdrawn the license to trustees to invest in Colonial stocks, finding the same beyond the court's existing legal powers. There is no chance of the bill before Parliament passing this session. City circles express regret that no salutary change is again postponed, especially seeing the evident justice in the demands of Sir Charles Tupper and others on behalf of the Colonies.

The Week's Failures.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The business failures occuring throughout the country during the last seven days, as reported to Dun, Wiman & Co., mercantile agents, number 205 and for Canada 32, or a total of 237 as compared with a total of 226 last week and 275 the week previous to the last. For the corresponding week of 1887 the figures were 224, made up of 205 failures in the United States and 19 in Canada.

Fast Time.

The Peterborough train yesterday on its way to that town made exceptionally quick time. It ran from Campbellford to Peterborough, a distance of 33 miles in 45 minutes. When the condition of this branch of the road is taken into account, the time made is wonderful.

Installation Services.

The Rev. T. W. Bowen, the recently appointed pastor of the Congregational church in this city, will be duly installed into his position at an installation service, to be held in the church on the evening of the 26th inst. A number of the prominent ministers of that denomination will be present on the occasion.

Would-be Burglary.

They had bored three large holes in the door and had tried to open it, but their efforts proved unsuccessful.

Umbrella Recovered.

The umbrella which was reported by Mrs. Bradford as having been stolen from her while visiting a house on St. James street has been recovered. It was found by Officer Morton in the possession of Laura Young who reports that she found the article near the railway track. Her statement is also corroborated by another young lady.

He was also a prominent Mason, under the auspices of which body he will be buried to-morrow afternoon.

A Barn Burned.

On Tuesday, a barn situated on the farm of Mr. W. Collins, in the 11th concession of Huntington, and leased by Mr. D. Post, was totally destroyed by fire, with its contents. The contents of the building consisting of the season's crop, and some farming utensils, were fully covered by insurance, on which body he will be partially insured. The origin of the fire is unknown.

St. Andrew's Day.

The St. Andrew's Society concert to be held on the 30th inst. promises to be a very interesting and varied event. Besides the great treat in store with some of the city Maggie Barr—the committee have also secured the services of the celebrated Rankin Family, who will give exhibitions of dancing in the Highland and Highland dances in costume. Miss Waltz, the latest addition to the cultured musical talent of Belleville, will also give some of her choice selections. Mr. and Miss Rankin and Mr. Fax will also lend their valuable assistance on the occasion.

A Crowded Market.

The market building was terribly crowded this morning. Will not the Market Committee use ordinary judgment and rearrange the interior of the building, which could easily be done so as to give twenty five per cent. more accommodation? By taking out the ends of the selling tables and dividing them to the aisles more room for the sellers could be obtained, and by the aisles closer, so that the sellers have only sufficient room to stand back to back, the waste space in the centre of the selling tables as now arranged would be done away with, and room desired. Let it be done at once.

Railroading Short-Hand.

What next? First, we hear of a man becoming proficient in Haven's short-hand in three months' time. Then, a lady accomplishes the same thing in two months. Next, a gentleman makes it in five weeks and steps into a position; only to be followed by a lady who does the same thing by the same system in four weeks. And now, in explanation, we are informed by The Haven College, 197 State Street, Chicago, that, admitting the four and five weeks' graduates to be specially bright pupils, it will, however, guarantee to qualify anyone for such positions in three months' time or refund the money.

A Pertinent Enquiry.

"Why is the flag at half mast on the City Hall this morning?" was the inquiry asked this morning by a gentleman who strongly opposed the project of bridging the bay, of a representative of this journal who had as strongly supported the project. The latter was not at the time possessed of the necessary information, but will now give it The flag was hoisted by request of the Mayor because of the approval by the Government of the plans for the new bay bridge. It ought to have been run up to the head of the pole, but something was foul and the caretaker did the best he could. The flag has since been run up to the top of the staff.

Our Railway Project.

A Satisfactory Assurance from Sir John.

During his visit to Ottawa on Friday, Mr. Henry Corby, M.P., interviewed Sir John as to a Government bonus of $3 200 per mile to the Belleville and Lake Nipissing Railway. The interview was highly satisfactory, the Premier giving good encouragement as to a bonus to the road from Belleville to a connection with the Canada Pacific.

Mr. Corby also obtained from Sir Hector Langevin a promise that the Royal arms shall be engraved, at an early day, on the large stone which forms a part of the front of the Government building.

House Thief Arrested.

An Indian From Deseronto Placed in the Toils.

On Saturday last Mr. Wilder, of Deseronto, had stolen from his premises a horse and buggy by an Indian, whose name was then unknown. Word was immediately despatched to the various police offices to be on the lookout for the thief. Nothing further had been heard of the stolen property or thief until late last night, when Chief Gunyoe, of Deseronto, arrived in the city, having in charge an Indian, who gave his name as Henry Godfrey. The Chief had the man arrested up west, and in his possession was found the missing horse and buggy. The accused is an old gaol bird. On February 6th, 1886, he was arrested at Sarnia and on the charge of false pretenses was sentenced to the penitentiary, from which institution he was discharged October 30th, 1887. He has also served short terms in the county gaol, and was before the Magistrate a short time ago charged with drunkenness. At the police court this morning he was, at the instance of Chief Gunyoe, remanded until Tuesday next.

Albert College Re-opening

MANY IMPROVEMENTS MADE IN THIS EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTION.

The Building Thrown Open to the Public for Inspection.

The improvements which have been going on in connection with this institution of learning for some time, have at last been completed. The building, from the cellar to the dome, has been thoroughly overhauled, and now presents a new and neat appearance. A furnace has been placed in the basement, and the building is now heated with steam; which power is very satisfactory. The rooms formerly used for a museum have been converted into dormatories, and the work done in a first class manner. The upper part of which has been added, together with the mansard roof, has had the effect of improving greatly the exterior appearance of the building. The work was performed by Messrs. Harris & Walton, and to them is due no small amount of credit for the tasty manner in which they have performed their part of the contract. A cupola has also been placed on the roof, into which has been placed in position the bell that for years has done good service on the Queen street. The work, which was done by C. F. Smith & Co., is also an excellent job, and they are entitled to praise The Faculty of the College are to be congratulated upon the improvements thus made.

The teaching staff and students of the institution decided on holiday, this morning, and that resolution was last evening carried into effect. The dignitaries of the Methodist church, consisting of the Rev. Dr. Carman, general superintendent, and at one time Principal of the College, and Rev. Dr. Potts and Rev. Dr. Burwash were invited to be present on this auspicious occasion. Invitations were liberally extended to the friends of the College, and the result was that the institution was filled to overflowing. The meeting was held in the college chapel and was presided over by S. B. Burdett, Esq., M. P., who is a member of the Board of Management in connection with the college. Associated with him on the platform were the rev. gentlemen above referred to. A number of city ministers also occupied places on the rostrum. The organ had been tastefully decorated by the students for the occasion and presented an animated appearance.

The proceedings were opened by an address by the Chairman, in the course of which he said that on the platform associated with him were some of the best educated men of the land. On behalf of the Faculty and Board of Management of the college he welcomed all. The institution had been improved at a great expense and the students and faculty were to be congratulated on the work performed. He also thanked the citizens of the city for the help that had been given them. He referred to the different educational institutions of the country and said that Canada had the best educational system that exists upon the globe, and is a great power in the land Not one student from the coll ge had ever disgraced himself or herself in any way. The Oddfellows orchestra followed with a choice selection, which was much appreciated, after which Rev. Dr. Gardner offered prayer. The Glee club of the college rendered a chorus in fine style.

Rev. Dr. Burwash, principal of Victoria University, in raising to speak said it was his pleasing duty to congratulate the people of this city on the improvements made on Albert College. For many years he had remembered this institution, as it was but a short distance from this locality where he first commenced his ministerial work. The work which had been preformed by this institution had been of the greatest value. The educational system of this young country was one of the best in the world. Some advantages we have not, which other countries have. We have come in this country to the high position we now occupy after a struggle. For many years go by our wants are more numerous our aims are higher. He was pleased that this was so, as the motto should be upward and onward. Here in Albert we have an institution that is fitting many to occupy prominent positions. Young men can here be supplied with an almost finished course. It has advantages above that of a high school. He here referred to the various departments which were taught in this institution. An institution like this fills a gap in our educational system. He spoke also of the improvements to the college, and the benefits which he was cert in would accure therefrom. It is by virtue of these educational institutions that England has developed such a fine type of manhood.

Rev. Dr. Potts said: A few days ago I visited the Alma College at St. Thomas, and as I had to congratulate them on their good work, so to night I congratulate the Faculty of Albert College on the grand work performed by them. This was the first time he had ever visited this Institution. This is a generous institution, as are all the institutions connected with the Methodist Church. He was pleased to know that our Church is doing much towards the educational interests of the young men of this country. What is to be the outcome of Albert College? In my vision I see intelligence in the Church light. I see stewards, ministers, and all church officers emanating therefrom. We, as Canadians, live in the finest country under the sun. Our institutions of learning will help to educate the minds of young men who in the future will occupy high and exalted positions in this fair land. It consecrates them to the service of the Lord. I wish Albert College God speed.

Rev. Dr. Carman, Gen'l Superintendent of the Methodist Church of Canada, was the next speaker. There are times when man can hardly believe his own eyes. Is it true that they have enlarged old Albert College? Is it a fact that another story has been added to this institution? Yes, it is a fact. It has put on additions that are a credit to the faculty of this institution. This college has been many times saved from financial troubles, but by pressing onward and believing in God the institution has been placed on a sound foundation. Prof. Dyer a great deal of credit is due for the work which has been accomplished. He wanted to run the institution by steam, and has succeeded in his endeavors. He had faith in his undertaking, and in the citizens of this city in their liberality in helping to push forward these improvements. The present principal is proving his ability to carry on this work.

Prof. Dyer then gave a statement of the improvements which had been accomplished, the cost of which was little over $7,000. The citizens of the city had subscribed towards this $3,000, and on behalf of the faculty he heartily thanked them.

A description of the plans then opened and $600 was subscribed by those present.

The speeches of the various speakers were listened to appreciatively. Each address was inte spersed with suitable music by the orchestra and choruses by the Glee Club. The meeting was brought to a close by the singing of the national anthem. An inspection of the building was then made by the spectators, and refreshments were served in the dining room to a large number. All appeared to be pleased with the evening entertainment.

The following is a list of the players and the instruments of the Military and Oddfellows' orchestra, which furnished the music at the entertainment: W. B. Rigg, (conductor), T. Coleman, F. Lalonde, L. B. Lesler, 1st violin; E. Rourke, Geo. Hollington, 2nd violin; Clem Jones, viola; R. Bland, 1st Cornet; L. Terwilliger, 2nd cornet; C. Turner, clarinet; J. Brooker, alto saxophone; C. Caverly, bar sax-phone; C. Evans, slide trombone; J. Weese, double base.

THE BAY BRIDGE.

The Plans Fully Approved.

Nothing in the Way of the Project.

The project of bridging the bay is now in a fair way of accomplishment. The deputation who interviewed the Government on the subject, namely H. Corby, Esq., M.P.; Thos. Ritchie, Esq., President of the Board of Trade; and Dr. Wilson, Mayor of the city, had a highly satisfactory interview yesterday with the Minister of Public Works in reference to the plans for the proposed bridge across the Bay of Quinte.

The deputation, who were introduced to the Minister by the Hon. M. Bowell and Mr. Corby, laid their business before him, and were received in the most courteous manner. It was learned during the interview with the Minister that the long delay in connection with the plans was caused by a misunderstanding on the legal agency of the matter in the department of Justice. The Minister, after hearing the statements of the deputation, said he saw nothing in the way of the project, and the Government engineer having given his approval of the plans without imposing any of the conditions which were so freely imposed by the prophets of evil here. Sir Hector said the only thing lacking was to acquaint the Privy Council with the opinions of the municipalities interested, which was done by means of a letter written in the office of the Minister, in which the approval by the Councils of Belleville, Ameliasburg and the Counties of Hastings and Prince Edward was recited, and the vote of the rate payers in favor of the bridge stated. It fortunately happening that a meeting of the Cabinet was held in the afternoon, the matter was laid before the Governor in Council, and fully approved.

The deputation returned this morning, highly gratified with the results of their mission.

A Pleasant Visit.

The two or three young children that have been taken in for treatment at the Hospital, have been the means of greatly increasing the interest taken in it by our young people. A pleasing instance of this was given yesterday afternoon, when a goodly number of the Rev. D. P. Rogers S. S. children went to see the little girl who was so badly hurt some weeks ago—each having highly suggestive baskets and parcels, and a lovely scrap book, made by the little class for the use of sick children at the Hospital. They were shown over the building, and perfectly charmed the old people in the Home, as well as the young ones, by different works, by their singing of favorite S. S. hymns; then well trained, sweet young voices fell ring the greatest credit on their music loving pastor.

A Token of Appreciation.

During last year's meetings of the Legal Literary Society, Mr. Jos. Doyle, in response to calls from the programme committee, furnished the music for their entertainments, and for which he was agreeably surprised by receiving a handsomely bound copy of the Toronto University Song Book, accompanied by a note from Mr. Alex. Walkem, secretary of the Legal Society. On the fly leaf of the book is the following legend: Presented to Mr. Jos. Doyle by the Belleville Legal Society as a souvenir of many pleasant hours rendered pleasant and musical by his artistical aid to the Society's work." Attached are the signatures of Mr. W. N. Ponton, Pres. of the Society and Alex. Walker, Secretary.

COLONIAL GOVERNORS.

The Question of Their Appointment Discussed in the Melbourne Assembly.

Melbourne, Nov. 16.—The Assembly to-day debated the question of what the colonies to take part in the nomination of their respective governors.

The Premier, while discussing the Queensland question, pointed out that the constitution gave to the Queen alone the power of appointing the Governor, and that on the advice of ministers responsible to the Imperial Parliament. He called particular attention to the probability of a vacancy occurring at the Cape of Good Hope, and to the fact that the selection of a governor rested with both the Colonial and Imperial Parliaments. He refused to endorse such a scheme and said he would oppose it. He thought the less the colonies insisted upon sharing in the power to appoint or nominate, the better it would be for the colonies.

The Premier's remarks were received with cheers.

Other members spoke in a similar strain.

QUEBEC'S BOODLE CASE.

SENSATIONAL EVIDENCE AT THE INVESTIGATION.

Was Useless to Tender Unless Things Were Fixed and so a Contractor Fixed Things.

Quebec, Nov. 15.—The civic boodle investigation was resumed to day. The whole session was occupied by the examination of W. McLea Walbank, the Montreal contractor for the Quebec water works, who told how he manipulated matters so as to obtain the contract. There were three in his syndicate, the other two being S. C. Stevenson and Mr. Lee, both of Montreal.

Walbank deposed that he made the acquaintance of Trudel, chief of the river police, who is charged with bribing aldermen, at the St. Louis Hotel, being introduced by the late Willis Russel, then an alderman, to whom he told that it would be useless to tender unless he fixed things beforehand. Trudel gave witness two names as acquaintance of his, one of which was Hon. Wilfrid Laurier.

After much negotiation Walbank offered Trudel a one-half interest in the contract if he succeeded in getting the Council to grant it to his syndicate. His interest was estimated at $30,000, which was to be divided among the Trudel syndicate, which included Charles Langelier, M.P., Pacaud of L'Electeur, Tarte of Le Canadien, and Carrell of The Telegraph, and afterwards Lawyer L. E. Valles, then a Councillor, was brought in.

Walbank repudiated all intention to bribe the Mayor and Council. He simply wanted local influence.

Shortly before the contracts were awarded Trudel handed on part of his $30,000 being paid. He wanted more, but the Walbank syndicate objected. Trudel wanted $10,000, deposited with Vincellette, Warden of Beauport Asylum, to be handed to Trudel after the contract was awarded. This was objected to and finally $8000 was handed Valles in trust and a package of bills and waste paper was sent Vincellette so as to make the members of the Trudel syndicate believe that the money had been deposited in full.

Further evidence was given tending to show that Trudel took all the money himself and gave the Walbank syndicate little return.

The evidence created much excitement, and further developments are looked for.

A MARKED RADICAL FEELING

Displayed in the House of Commons Against the Queensland Appointment.

London, Nov. 17.—The Queensland Governor question is still much canvassed inside and outside of Parliament. Official circles continue strong in the belief that in view of the frequent intensity of colonial politics it would be most unwise to take the sole responsibility for the selection of governors from the bipartisan bank of the Imperial Ministers; yet it is generally recognized that if Queensland persists in objecting to Governor Blake he cannot be forced upon the colony.

A marked radical feeling against Mr. Blake was shown in the House of Commons last night during the discussion of the question, and it is fully expected that the appointment will be cancelled. Privately it is hinted that a middle course will be found to satisfy the colonial demand for prior intimation as to a Crown nominee, and to avoid a recurrence of the unpleasant situation, especially seeing that South Australia would support Queensland, though she believes public opinion never enpanel a greater desire to co-operate with the Mother Country.

Pooley against the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad Company, to recover damages for injuries sustained in a collision on March 12 last, the day of the great blizzard, returned a verdict to-day for the plaintiff for $9000. Spencer was caught between the engine and tender and terribly injured. It is thought he cannot recover. The loss to the company is $50,000.

Limits to the Rights of Insinuation.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 16.—The Journal de St. Petersbourg, referring to assertions made by The Paris Matin in relation to a Franco-Russian alliance, says: "There are limits to the rights of insinuation. Russia certainly desires to see France regain her legitimate position among the nations, which is necessary to preserve the equilibrium of Europe, but she is convinced that peace is for the interest of both France and Russia. Such insinuations, therefore, can only injure the cause they claim to defend."

BABY'S SKIN AND SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by CUTICURA Remedies.

Our oldest child, now six years of age, when an infant six months old was attacked with a virulent, malignant skin disease. All doctors' remedies failing, we called our family physician who attempted to cure it; but it spread with almost incredible rapidity, until the lower portion of the little fellow's person, from the middle of his back down to his knees, was one solid mass, ugly, painful, blotched and malignant. We had no rest at night, no peace by day. Finally, we were advised to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES. The effect was simply marvellous. In three or four weeks a complete cure was wrought, leaving the little fellow's person as white and healthy as though he had never been attacked. In my opinion your valuable remedies saved his life, and to-day he is a strong, healthy child, perfectly well, no repetition of the sickness having occurred. GEO. B. SMITH,

CLEAR SKIN, PURE BLOOD.

No mother, who loves her children, who takes pride in their beauty, purity, and health, and in bestowing upon them in a child's greatest inheritance,—a skin without a blemish, and a body nourished by pure blood,—should fail to make trial of the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

I have seen the CUTICURA REMEDIES used for milk crust by a visitor in my house, and can testify that the cure was speedy and permanent. I have also used them myself, for scrofulous affections of the skin on my little child, with satisfactory results in every respect. The skin was fair from the first, and began to assume many proportions. I have also heard my neighbors speak of the CUTICURA REMEDIES in the highest terms. E. P. HALL,

HOW THE KING CAME HOME.

"Oh, why are you waiting, children,
And why are you watching the way?"
"We are watching because the folks have said
The king comes home to-day—
The king on his prancing charger,
In his shining golden crown
Oh, the bells will ring, the glad bards sing,
When the king comes back to the town."

"Ron home to your mothers, children;
In the land is pain and woe,
And the king must ride to the forest,
Fights with the Paynim foe."
"But," said the little children,
"The first will ever be found,
Wa fain would wait, though the hour be late;
He will surely come at last."

So the eager children waited
Till the closing of the day,
Till their eyes were tired of gazing
Along the dusty way;
But there came no sound of music,
No flashing golden crown;
And tears they shed, and they crept to bed,
When the round red sun went down.

But at the hour of midnight,
While the weary children slept,
Was he heard within the city
The voice of them that wept;
Along the moonlit highway
Towards the sacred dome,
Dead on his shield, from the well-fought field—
Twas thus the king came home.

Sunday Miscellany.

—Much wisdom often goes with fewest words.—[Sophocles.

—She is only half a mother who does not see her own child in every child.—[Helen Hunt Jackson.

—There is a fellowship among the virtues by which one great, generous passion stimulates another.

—"Why was Elijah translated?" asked the Sunday school teacher. As none of the class replied very promptly, a thin youth in the back row ventured the explanation: "Possibly it was because he wasn't understood in his own language."

—We often tell God that we are sinners, miserable and helpless but can we bear to be told so by others? Are we willing, from any source, to know our sins that we may forsake them?—[T. Adams.

—"A clerical mummy rose up from his sarcophagus and opposed the revival," is the pungent and pertinent way a Methodist preacher in Nashville delivered himself about it.

—An Arcade pastor created a sensation the other day during a sermon by giving out a hymn to be sung by the choir to a lively tune, with the remark: "Perhaps it may serve to wake the congregation up." And it did.—[Salamanca Republican.

—The Rector—My dear Mrs. Woodleigh, you must miss your church very much. I feel for you. Mrs. Woodleigh—I don't miss my church as much as you would suppose, for I make Janet sit at the window Sunday mornings and tell me just who are going by and how they are dressed.

—A subscription paper for a most religious object was passed to a zealous church member in town recently, when he remarked: "Well, I can give $5 and not feel it." "Then," said the solicitor, "give ten and feel it." The point was seen at once; and the "ten spot" was forthcoming."—[Gloucester Advertiser.

—Some one wishes strictures made on the habit which some leaders of prayer meetings and other gatherings have of asking a brother to "offer a word of prayer," or "a brief prayer." Perhaps such brethren would make a variation of their requests were they met with a response a Connecticut deacon made: "I've no object to praying, but I don't like to be stinted."

—In the latter years of his life the Rev. Rowland Hill used to come to his chapel in a carriage. He got an anonymous letter rebuking him for this, because it was not the way his heavenly Master travelled. He read the letter from the pulpit, and said it was quite true, and that if the writer would come to the vestry with a saddle and a bridle he would ride him home.

—Rev. Charles Poundtext (who has been writing his sermon, looking up suddenly)—"Maria, will you take the children out of the room for a few minutes!" Mrs. Poundtext (in surprise)—"Certainly my dear; but—are they annoying you?" Rev. Poundtext—"Not at all; but I have just dipped the mucilage brush into the ink well, and I would like to be at liberty to make a few remarks."—Life.

—No Christian can maintain a close walk with God, none can keep alive the hallowed fire of the soul without daily kindling it afresh at the altar. None can grow in knowledge and holiness without stated and regular seasons of prayer.—[Abbott.

—Kind words produce their own image in men's souls, and a beautiful image it is. They soothe and quiet and comfort the hearer. They shame him out of his sour, morose, unkind feelings. We have not yet begun to use kind words in such abundance as they ought to be used.—[Pascal.

—At St. Mandrier, near Toulon, a sarcophagus has been discovered with a silver plate on which are engraved the words: "Sagittaverus Ta Domine, cor meum cari tate tus." Above the inscription is also engraved a heart transpierced with two arrows, and there is a bishop kneeling and holding in either hand his mitre and crozier. The tomb is supposed to be that of St. Flavier, who, in 604, established with his friend, Mandrier, a hermitage in the peninsula, with whom he was massacred by the Visigoths in 512.

—Dr. Dunning laughs at a joke that befell his friend, Rev. Edward Everett Hale, not long ago. Dr. Hale was making one of his long pedestrian tours through a rural region, and became very hungry. Calling at the door of a farm house, he asked the woman if she would let him have something to eat. She looked over his tall, robust figure and then answered in a slightly contemptuous tone: "Yes, I'll give you some thing to eat; but a man as big and strong and as able to work as you are ought to be ashamed of tramping and begging around the country."—[N. Y. Times.

—The apparently inadequate practical result which has followed the immense expenditure of money and energy on missionary enterprise in the subject of considerable controversy in England at present. Canon Taylor, of the Established Church, has an article on this theme in the last issue of the Fortnightly Review. He gives statistics showing that at the present rate of advance of Christian missions it would take 183 years for all the societies to convert as many as are born in any one year among the non-Christian population of Asia and Africa. He also criticizes very severely the methods pursued by the missionary societies in their evangelization work. A point which has to be considered in estimating the practical results of missionary enterprise is the remarkable tendency among converted heathen people to revert to the religious of their forefathers. It is said that the Sandwich Islanders, so long cited as the best product of missionary zeal, are fast reverting to heathenish customs, and that the Abyssinians are merely nominal Christians. There is no doubt too that occasionally heathens profess conversion for the sake of the pecuniary assistance they expect to get from their evangelizers. Canon Taylor's article has naturally provoked a good deal of angry criticism, and it is replied to him that Christians have to obey the command and preach the Gospel to all the world, without troubling themselves about the results from an arithmetical point of view.

WHEN JIM WAS DEAD.

"Hit sarved him right," the neighbors sed,
An' 'bout him for the life he led,
An' him a lying thar at rest
With not a rose upon his breast;
Ah! meany cruel words they said
When Jim was dead.

"Jes' killed himself," "Too mean to live."
They didn't have one word ter give
Of comfort as they hovered near
An' gazed on Jim a lying there.
"Thar ain't no use ter talk," they sed,
"He's better dead."

But suddenly the room growed still,
While God's white sunshine seemed to fill
The dark place with a gleam of life,
An' o'er the dead she bent—Jim's wife!
An' with her lips close, close to his,
As though he knew an' felt the kiss,
She sobbed—a touchin' sight to see—
"Ah! Jim was always good ter me!"

I tell you when that cum ter light
It kinder set the dead man right;
An' round the weepin' woman they
Throwed kindly arms of love that day,
And mingled with their own they shed
The tenderest tears when—Jim was dead.

The Happy Little Girls.

Mabel cannot eat her supper. She feels sad. She has a pretty pink china bowl and plate. Her spoon is silver. The milk is rich and sweet. The bread is good. But Mabel cannot eat. She sits and thinks.

What is the matter?

When Mabel went to walk, Nurse took her by an old house. Mabel saw two little girls sitting on the door step. Their dresses were ragged, their hair was not brushed, their cheeks were thin and pale. One of them was talking. Mabel heard her say, "I am so hungry."

Jane said she knew the little girls; their mother was very poor. Sometimes she could get no work. Sometimes Nan and Nettie had to go to bed hungry.

When Mabel got home and began to eat her supper, she thought about the poor little girls. It made her feel so bad she could not swallow. The tears came in her eyes. She called mamma and asked her if she could send her supper to Nan and Nettie.

"No, my darling," mamma said, "you may eat yours, and the poor little girls shall have some, too."

Then mamma got a basket. She put two nice loaves of bread in it. She put some milk in a pail. She put some cookies in a basket, too. She called Jane, the nurse, and told her to go as fast as she could, and take some supper to the poor little girls.

Nan and Nettie stood by the window. They were watching for their mamma. It was almost dark. Nettie was crying. She said: "I want some supper! I want some supper!"

Nan wiped Nettie's eyes with the corner of her apron. She told her their mamma would come pretty soon.

The door opened. It was not mamma. It was Jane.

"Don't cry," said good Jane. "Get your bowls and spoons quick. Here is your supper. A nice little girl by the name of Mabel sent it to you."

Nan and Nettie opened their eyes wide. They peeped into the pail of milk. They took the cover off the basket. When they saw the big white loaves and the pretty cakes they laughed for joy. They ran to the pantry and got two yellow bowls. Jane poured some milk in them. She cut bread and crumbled it in. Then each little girl took a bowl and began to eat.

It made Jane laugh to see them.

"Don't eat so fast," said Jane. But in went the spoons—in the bowls and out, in the little mouths and out.

"Oh! how good it is," Nettie said.

"So good!" said Nan.

When Jane got home she told Mabel how happy the bread and milk made Nan and Nettie. Then Mabel was happy, too.

Cured By B. B. B. When all Else Failed.

Mr. Samuel Allan, of Lisle, Ont., states that he tried all the doctors in his locality while suffering for years with Liver and Kidney trouble; nothing benefitted him until he took Burdock Blood Bitters, four bottles cured him.

The Modus Operandi.

The mode of operating of Burdock Blood Bitters is that it acts at once and at the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and the Blood, to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in Chronic Complaints.

A Quarter of a Century.

For more than twenty five years has Hagyard's Yellow Oil been sold by druggists, and it has never yet failed to give satisfaction as a household remedy for pain, lameness and soreness of the flesh, for external and internal use in all painful complaints.

There are a number of varieties of corns. Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

Orin Catlin, 49 Pearl Street Buffalo, N. Y., says: I tried various remedies for the piles but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications.

Mrs. GEORGE LEECH, Hadimand Township, has received more benefit from two bottles of Dawling's Pepsin Compound, than anything she has ever taken during her life. She has been troubled with billio-ness, loss of appetite and constipation for years. Now she has none of these troubles. Pe-ple ought to be told how she will recommend you to take Dawling's Pepsin Compound if you are Dyspeptic

Mrs. Gardner's medicine in use is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, because so very little of it is required to effect a cure. For croup, diphtheria, and the sore of the lungs and throat, whether used for bathing the chest or throat, for taking internally or inhaling, it is a matchless compound.

What does Dowling's Pepsin Compound cure? Dyspepsia and Indigestion. What are the symptoms? Biliousness, Constipation, Loss of energy, drowsiness, headache, pains in the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, depression of spirits. Ask your druggist for it.

Dowling's Little Liver Granules are highly recommended for all diseases of the liver.

Mr. Thomas Ballard, Syracuse, N.Y., writes: "I have been afflicted for nearly a year with that most dreaded disease Dyspepsia, and at times worn out with pain and want of sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended I tried one box of Parmelee's Valuable Pills. I am now nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money."

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased liver, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body. Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

Of all the dyspeptic remedies ever placed in the market, Dowling's Pepsin Compound takes the lead. Why? Because it acts naturally on the digestive organs of the stomach, and not mechanically, like the other patent medicines. Besides, it helps to assimilate and digest all the foods that enter the stomach. Ask your druggist for a bottle.

Belleville-ites follow the example of Mrs. Geo. Leech, of Haldimand, and many others, and rid yourselves of that dire disease, dyspepsia and indigestion.

RADIANT HOME STOVES

"We never knew what comfort was until we got that stove. It can't be beat."

"That is the best stove we ever had."

"I would not sell that Radiant Home for double the money I paid for it, if I could not replace it."

These are a few of the remarks passed about the Radiant Home Stoves every day by those who use them.

The Dangerous Coal Oil.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—The explosion of poorly refined coal oil is the cause of another accident al burning. A little girl named Beauchamp living on Maple street, while helping her mother in domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while resting on the table. Her burning clothing was only torn from her with much difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quick y summoned and the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined Oil a considerable quantity of inferior Coal Oil is being sold.

In order to avoid these low grades we have tak n the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil:

'CARBON SAFETY OIL'

A specially refined and superior grade of Canadian Oil,

ASTRAL OIL,

A high grade American Oil.

These we can most confidently recommend to our retail trade as goods that will give entire satisfaction.

We are also fully supplied with Water White and Prime White American Oil and the usual brands of Canadian Oil.

Strange, but Still True.

Mrs. David Carstairs, Haldimand Township, met with a very pleasant surprise a few weeks ago. It seems Mrs. Carstairs has suffered a great deal from dyspepsia and indigestion, the symptoms of which were, pains in the stomach and bowels, and sick headache. She has tried a great many physicians, and an unlimited amount of patent medicines, but without any success; and last but not least, she tried Dowling's Pepsin Compound, and one bottle has removed both pain and ache. She returns the kindest regards to P. E. DOWLING, Cobourg, for his magnificent remedy. Belleville-ites, take pattern by this woman, and ask your Druggist for it

No. 218.—Charade.

My first is a revolver, though
Others with it roundly go,
Circled making only one,
Ending where it first begun;
Ever turning, never changing,
Steadiest when widest ranging:
Recipient of mighty shocks,
Secret home of cunning fox
My second makes the rivers flow
Through its lengthy windings slow;
Like a serpent twisting round
Circled oft my first is found,
Creeping up at eventides,
My whole in silence slowly glides.

No. 219.—Runaway Letters.

This little girl cannot learn her lesson in time and is crying about it. The letters flying around her head are telling her what to do. What do they say?

I should like to have seen the —— on board the ——.

He —— a mountain whose top —— always with snow throughout the year.

No. 221.—Magic Squares.

Arrange the numbers from 1 to 81 so that the whole will make a magic square having the sum of its lines, files and diagonals the same. Remove the marginal numbers and still have a magic square, and repeat the same process with like results until but one number remains, which will be the greatest common divisor of the sums of the several squares.

No. 223.—Enigma in Rhyme.

Places of trust I oft obtain,
And protect the house from vermin;
I act as shepherd on the plain,
And oft fairs I'm shown for learning;
In northern climes a horse I'm seen,
And a roasting jack I, too, have been;
Strange as it seems, it's no less true,
That I eat on four legs and beg on two.

No. 224.—Riddles.

(a) Why is an elephant like a brick? (b) Why is the death of Socrates like a garret? (c) Why are weary people like carriage wheels? (d) What musical instrument should we always distrust? (e) Why are some greatmen like glow worms? (f) Why are potatoes and corn like certain sinners of old? (g) In case of an accident what is better than presence of mind? (h) Of what trade is the sun? (i) What is queen of the rose, and why? (j) An old woman in a red cloak was crossing a field in which a goat was feeding; what strange transformation suddenly took place? (k) Why is a widower like a house in a state of dilapidation? (l) If the good all die early, why are the bad like the pupil of the eye? (m) When do two and two make more than four?

National Traits.

A clever Irish servant can answer two questions at the same time, when asked "What's o'clock and Where's the cold chicken?" if she replies, "Sure it's ate!"

The Highlanders did most execution at the battle of Waterloo, and this is accounted for because every man had "one kilt" before the battle began.

The difference between an Irishman frozen to death and a Highlander on a mountain peak in January?—One "is kilt with the cold" and the other is "cold with the kilt!"

A drunkard hesitating to sign the pledge is very like a skeptical Hindoo. He is in doubt whether to give up his jug or not (Juggernaut).

At School With Her Children.

Among the pupils of the state normal school is a young widow who has three little children in the primary department. There is something fine and inspiring in the thought of that gracious young mother going to school every day with her own little ones, full of patience and ambition, setting herself at the task of educating herself above the petty incidents and occasions of life growing round in a mental way, fair and comforting at all times. If a woman is rightly educated this is what will have been accomplished in her, no more. She will simply be in better and truer proportion.—New Orleans Picayune.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Is very palatable and much better than the plain oil. Dr. W. H. Cameron, of Halifax, N. S., says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver oil with Hypophosphites for the past two years and found it more agreeable to the stomach, and have better results from its use than any other preparation of the kind I have ever tried." Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

PROMPT, POTENT AND PERMANENT results always come from the use of Milburn's Aromatic Quinine Wine.

FOR WAR OR FOR PEACE

THE KAISER'S REICHSTAG SPEECH AWAITED WITH INTEREST.

The Movements of Russian Troops Occasioning Uneasiness in Germany—Interpreter William's Brezian Bath.

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—The Emperor's speech at the opening of the Reichstag on Thursday is awaited with exciting interest arising from the revival of the war alarm. The speech, however, will probably be not fixed throughout with a spirit of optimism which ought to extinguish the war scare. The prospects are that the session will be pacific and uneventful. Rabid party encounters are likely to occur over the colonial policy, the Progressists and Socialists combining in hostile criticism. The Centre will join with the Nationalists and Conservatives in support of the Government, especially in relation to the slave trade blockade.

In regard to the movements of Russian troops, The Cologne Gazette in a semi-official communication says: "The scope of the new Russian military orders cannot be accurately known until war experts having clear data on the matter can pronounce upon it. The reasons published at St. Petersburg for the redistribution of the army fechly try to conceal the truth, but in Berlin they are estimated at their true value. The fact that Russia is pushing fresh divisions toward the frontiers of Germany demands keen attention, although men of business need not discover in these movements any immediate threat against European peace."

Other papers show the same uneasiness, although they concur in considering it improbable that Russia will openly hasten forward her war preparations at the present moment when she is appealing for a new loan. Nevertheless the money market does not like to see Russia borrowing money. The Bourse in Paris does not consider the loan an unmixed evil, since it arranges to use one third of the whole amount for conversion. This fact modifies the hostility to the loan in Berlin. Still no subscription list will be opened in Berlin and Frankfort. On the contrary the semi-official press advises investors to unload on Paris.

It is hoped that the re-opening of the French market to Russian loans will facilitate the sales of German holders. The Post issues a warning against the investment by Germans in Russian bonds. The paper concludes that the purpose of the loan is to strengthen Russian credit and encourage a belief that her permanent policy will be pacific, so that she may for long raise a large loan designed for war purposes. Already during the week large amounts of Russian stock have been transferred in Paris, where the buyers appear to be influenced by other than business ideas. A spirit akin to the war scare exists relative to the Panama Canal speculation incites the French investors to risk their money in favor of their beloved ally.

The German and English consular authorities in Zanzibar are about to issue similar proclamations forbidding German and English subjects to contract with slave traders except for a supply of slave labor. This edict will be difficult of enforcement, as there are a number of ports and stations where the status of the men hired for work is doubtful.

An odd incident occurred on the Emperor's visit to Breslau. The Emperor complimented Burgomaster Friedenburg on the result of the recent election, when the Progressists were defeated by two Free Conservatives and one National-Liberal. His congratulations seemed to be awkwardly received. The Emperor afterwards on asking the reason learned that Friedenburg was a local leader of the Progressists.

Ex-Empress Victoria and the Princesses left for England at 7.30 this morning. On Friday they went to Potsdam and spent a long time at their devotions near Emperor Frederick's tomb in the Friedenskirche.

A TERRIBLE CRIME.

The Horribly Mutilated Body of a Massachusetts Woman Found in a Barn.

BRAINTREE, Mass., Nov. 18.—A most shocking murder was brought to light this afternoon in that portion of North Braintree known as the "Five Corners." The victim was Miss mehitable White, aged 64, who has been running a large farm in that section and who has lived with no other company than a hired man. At 4.30 o'clock this afternoon Ernest W. Densett, a nephew of the old lady, called at the farm house, but found the doors all locked, while the neighbors had not seen his aunt for about the place since Saturday night. A light was burning in the house. Young Densett went home and returned with his father and a few neighbors. They broke into the house and found everything in confusion, the rooms having been ransacked. The searchers went to the barn, the doors of which were also locked, and broke in.

A human hand was found protruding from a pile of hay. The covering was quickly thrown off and the horribly mutilated body of Miss White was brought to light, lying face downward, the feet and hands bound with hay ropes, the throat cut from ear to ear as though by a razor, while there was an ugly wound on the head behind the right ear.

Suspicion attaches strongly to John Thompson, the hired man, who came to the farm only last Monday from a Nova Scotia agency on Washington-street, Boston, and is described by the neighbors as a hard-looking character. He was seen at 5.30 o'clock last night driving home the cows with Miss White. At about 7.30 neighbors saw him driving rapidly towards the depot with the farm team and shortly afterwards return to the house. His trunk was missing.

The motive was evidently money, but it is known that there was little or none in the house.

THE COLONIAL GOVERNORSHIP.

A Report That Sir John Gorst Was Offered Newfoundland.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—A notice posted outside the Conservative Club at Chatham today says that Sir John Gorst, Under Secretary for India, was offered but declined the Governorship of Newfoundland.

The Times again discussed the Queensland incident. While agreeing that reasonable objections to the Crown nominee should receive careful attention, it believes the less the colonies insist upon a claim to share in the nomination of a governor the better for the colonies. The Spectator urges the Government not to withdraw Governor Blake from Queensland. It says the proposal would lessen the cordial relations and mutual respect of the colonies for the Mother Land. It is suggested that, seeing the great importance of the constitutional question, Canada follow the example of Victoria, and express an opinion to assist the decision of the Imperial Government. Victoria heartily supports outline Imperial responsibility.

Gov. Blake to Stay in Newfoundland.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—It is reported that Henry Arthur Blake, whose appointment as Governor of Queensland met with considerable opposition in the colony, will be retained as Governor of Newfoundland.

WHAT THE GOOSE BONE SAYS.

An Elaborate Study Shows That There Is Going to Be a Hard Winter.

The foreshadowing of the approaching winter, as it is read from the dots and the lines on the breast bone of a goose, is a cheerful story. The promise given forth of sleet, snow and cold, is a gloomy picture for the poor to look upon, and the many whose short purse will not permit them to lay in a bountiful supply of fuel will shiver at the thought of the kind of weather that the bone here foretells for the next four months. There will be more cold and wet weather than the people of this latitude have experienced for many a winter, and the cold spells will be longer and more severe than usual. The bone is dark at both ends, which indicates a long winter. White water will be here in November, and the ice and snow will be familiar sights far along into March.

The goose from whose bone this study was taken was hatched in April, and killed after the ides of September. The bone is wonderfully marked, and the dots and lines and lines mingle all along the keel, thus indicating very changeable weather, but the brews mostly turn down, and are heavy, showing that the general character of the winter will be falling, cold weather. As will be seen by the table given, the dangerous period is longer for November than any other month, running from the 10th to the end, with the most severe weather falling between the 20th and 26th, and at any time within this period blustering snows and unseasonably cold weather may be looked for.

The first danger period in December extends from the 1st to the 5th, after which there will probably be a few days of sunshiny weather. The next storm period will find the centers in the Christmas holidays, beginning on the 19th and passing to the 27th. As the goose bone shows, there will have very foul and probably some of the coldest weather of the season, and these cold lines run along the bone until about the middle of January. Watch this period, but above all prepare for it. It is more than probable that the earth will be covered with snow when Christmas dawns and that a cold north wind will be blowing, so that Christmas fires will have to be bright and big for comfort. The 24th and 25th of December will be the darkest stormy days of the month. On the bone all the indications of wet, cold and stormy weather meet about that time. It is a narrow line running in the edge of a sign, such as is seldom seen on the bone, and a mixture of weather may be looked for, with wet and cold predominating. During this long spell of bad weather some of the dots on the bone are very dark, which means very cold, and we need not look to see the mercury far away from zero during the holiday week.

The new year will come in cold and clear, with the first danger period commencing on the 4th. There are three storm periods in this month, the second commencing about the 14th and the last one about the 23d of the month. The dots that appear on the bone up in the middle of the month are heavy, from about the 10th to the 15th especially so, and during this period very cold weather may be looked for. During December and January the mercury will frequently be below zero, probably remaining there for days, and if there should be a low stage of water in the river there will be danger of a freeze over.

For February short storm periods run all along the bone, and the general character of the month will be stormy and blustering, with some very cold days at the first of the month and again at the close. These severe spells and continued cold weather will keep the ice and the snow in the mountains, and the first spring month will be as hoary as old winter. As the bone ends very dark, it is very probable that March will be a repetition of November. In that case, the farmers will find it very difficult to break ground, and all kinds of vegetation will be very late in getting a start. It will be about the first things in the ground too soon, as such a winter will be likely to be followed by killing frosts far into April. The writer remembers to have seen only one other bone to compare with the one this year, and that season there were frosts as late as May. Every indication from the reading of the bone points to a backward spring, and the gardeners who have their richest harvest in early vegetation will find their work risky and difficult.—Louisville Times.

How the Emperor Looked.

I hear from Rome that the German emperor only looks to advantage on foot. He "sits low," the backbone being short. With this the legs are long. His figure, therefore, is an ungraceful one for riding; the kneed advancing far toward the horse's head and the legs and thighs forming an acute angle. He has given up riding and now drinking does not eat much, and absorbs quantities of tea. His face was drawn and showed fatigue when he was in Rome. Every morning and evening packets of papers were placed on a desk in his sitting room. He glanced over all that was about himself, and when he had done so paragraphs of which he was the subject were cut out by a secretary and pasted into a scrap book.—London Truth.

A Meteor in Arkansas.

In the signature of the proceedings of the United States National museum, just issued, Mr. George F. Kunz gives an interesting account of the meteoric iron which fell in Johnson county, Ark., on March 27, 1886. The report is remarkable as a record of the great care bestowed by the writer upon ascertaining the history of the fall as observed by eye witnesses. A thorough description of the iron is given.

Its upper side is ridged and deeply indented, being in many places almost in two, while the lower side is flat and covered with large, shallow pittings. The writer concludes, that, after entering our atmosphere, the iron traveled with the ridged surface forward, the iron burning so rapidly as to be torn off, leaving part of the surface bright. The flame thus passed over the sides, and, the indented edge being downward, the flame was driven upward as the iron advanced. The flat side not being so much exposed, the iron was not so completely consumed, hence a crust and large but shallow pittings. These conditions would perhaps have been entirely different had the mass been round or thicker, for it evidently moved as straight as possible without rotating at all. The iron was found in the earth with the flat side down was due perhaps to the fact that it turned after losing its highest velocity.—Science.

Free Towns of Germany.

Hamburg and Bremen have finally surrendered most of their ancient privileges as free hanse towns and become incorporated in the general German custom system. They still retain the right of representation in the Prussian and German parliaments. Extensive improvements have been made in contemplation of the change. Whole blocks of old houses have been demolished, new warehouses and new quarry built, and the wharf quarter transformed.—Chicago Herald.

Vegetarianism in England.

Not only in London are vegetarians pushing forward; in Manchester also eight restaurants are flourishing. There are now two vegetarian societies and two journals. It is a popular error to associate the word "vegetarianism" with vegetables, the root word being vegetus—vital, vigorous, wholesome, healthful—and fruit, grain and nuts enter as largely into the vegetist's dietary as vegetables.—Home Journal.

Valuable to Know.

Consumption may be more easily prevented than cured. The irritating and harassing cough will be greatly relieved by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL, but Nasal Balm is the only remarkable success achieved by Nazal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. A Rare Combination.

There is no other remedy or combination of medicines that meets so many requirements, as does Burdock Blood Bitters in its wide range of power over such Chronic diseases as Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Complaint, Scrofula and all humors of the blood.

There are a number of varieties of corns Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

Do not delay in getting relief for little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

Orin Cattin, 42 Pearl Street Buffalo, N. Y., says: I tried various remedies for the pain but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications.

Mrs. George Leigh, Hadmund Township, has received more benefit from two bottles of Dowling's Pepsin Compound, than anything she has ever taken in her life. She has been troubled with bilious sness, loss of appetite and constipation for years. Now she has none of these troubles. People write to her and see how she will recommend you to take Dowling's Pepsin Compound if you are Dyspeptic.

What does Dowling's Pepsin Compound cure? Dyspepsia and Indigestion. What are the symptoms? Biliousness, constipation lack of energy, drowsiness, headache, pains in the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, depression of spirits. Ask your druggist for it.

Dowling's Little Liver Granules are highly recommended for all diseases of the liver.

Mr. Thomas Sallard, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I have been afflicted for nearly a year with that most-to be dreaded disease Dyspepsia, and at times w rn out with pain and want of sleep, and after trying almost everything known, and I tried one box of Parmelee's Valuable Pills. I am now nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money."

Parmelee's Pills possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, thereby imparting to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body. Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

Of all the dyspeptic remedies ever placed in the market, Dowling's Pepsin Compound takes the lead. Why? Because it acts naturally on the digestive organs of the stomach, and not mechanically, like the other patent medicines. Besides, it helps to assimilate and digest all the foods that enter the stomach. Ask your druggist for a bottle.

Belleville ites follow the example of Mrs. Geo. Leech, of Haldimand, and many others, and rid yourselves of that dire disease, dyspepsia and indigestion.

The Dangerous Coal Oil.
MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—The explosion of poorly refined coal oil is the cause of another accident at burning. A little girl named Beauchamp living on Maple street, while helping her mother in domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while resting on the table. Her burning clothing was only torn from her with much difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quickly summoned and the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined Oil a considerable quantity of inferior Coal Oil is being sold.

In order to avoid these low grades we have taken the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil:

'CARBON SAFETY OIL'
A specially refined and superior grade of Canadian Oil.

ASTRAL OIL,
A high grade American Oil.
These we can most confidently recommend to our retail trade as goods that will give entire satisfaction.

WHAT AILS YOU?

Do you feel dull, languid, low-spirited, lifeless, and indescribably miserable, both physically and mentally; experience a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, or of "goneness," or emptiness of stomach in the morning, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headaches, blurred eyesight, "floating specks" before the eyes, nervous prostration or exhaustion, irritability of temper, hot flushes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp, biting, transient pains here and there, cold feet, drowsiness after meals, wakefulness, or disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant, indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?

If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from that most common of American maladies—Bilious Dyspepsia, or Torpid Liver, associated with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. No matter what stage it has reached, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will subdue it, if taken according to directions for a reasonable length of time. If not cured, complications multiply and Consumption of the Lungs, Skin Diseases, Heart Disease, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, or other grave maladies are quite liable to set in and, sooner or later, induce a fatal termination.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery acts powerfully upon the Liver, and through that great blood-purifying organ, cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. It is equally efficacious in acting upon the Kidneys, and other excretory organs, cleansing, strengthening, and healing their diseases. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it promotes digestion and nutrition, thereby building up both flesh and strength. In malarial districts, this wonderful medicine has gained great celebrity in curing Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Dumb Ague, and kindred diseases.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-joint Disease, "White Swellings," Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large Treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a Treatise on Scrofulous Affections.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."

Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength and bodily health will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofula of the Lungs, is arrested and cured by this remedy, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease. From its marvelous power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "CONSUMPTION CURE," but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for Consumption, but for all Chronic Diseases of the Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Chronic Nasal Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an efficient remedy.

FARMERS GAMBLING.

Whilst the Legislature is, as it were, saving people from themselves by the suppression of bucket shops and similar establishments, and imposing severe penalties for being the proprietor of or being found in a gambling establishment, for the last two or three years there has been a house to house gambling carried on between the farmers of this County and a couple of so-called "agents," for speculative ventures. When the crash comes, as it surely must, there will be a tremendous cleaning out of the hard earnings of our farmers who have foolishly been dazzled into the prospect of sudden gain, and are many of them risking the sure competency needed in old age that would be the result of honest toil and industry. We have referred before to this oat transaction, but so long as the Legislature does not interfere, the blind dupes will keep on until the crash comes. The modus operandi of working the farmers is as follows: An agent calls at a farmer's house and sells him say 30 bushels of oats at $10 per bushel, for which the farmer gives his note for $300—the agent agreeing to sell for him sixty bushels of oats the following season for $7.50 per bushel. The bond in itself shows that it is a gambling transaction, yet many leading members of churches are dabbling in this gambling scheme, men who would be shocked if they saw their boys playing a less questionable game of draw poker or seven up. Across the face of the bond is plainly printed the character of the gambling transaction, for it reads: "It is agreed between the party to this bond and the company that the transaction represented by this contract is of a speculative nature, and is not based upon the value of the article named."

So far the agents have sold for them the allotted number of bushels, but the "suckers" are being surely gathered into the net, for the agents have this season withdrawn from the township of Thurlow. The crop of Thurlow dupes is almost ripe.

The same agents are now out with wheat which they are selling at $15 per bushel, agreeing to sell double the amount of the purchase at $10 per bushel.

There seems only one way to save the farmers against themselves, and that is for the Government to legislate the transaction into the class of gambling, to which it belongs, making the penalty commensurate with the offence.

THE SAME OLD METHODS.

The Grits of East Northumberland are pursuing the time-honored tactics of the party in the election contest which is now pending in that celebrated constituency. The riding is overrun with employes of the Ontario Government, whose mission it is quite easy to guess at, and a vile slander is being circulated against Mr. E. Cochrane, the Conservative candidate, with the object of defeating him. A slip, of which an immense number have been circulated in the constituency, bears the representation of a pump, under which is the heading "Dad's Cow" and the statement that Mr. Cochrane had been fined for watering milk sent by him to a cheese factory this season. The assertion, it is hardly necessary to say, is a vile falsehood. The facts are that Mr. Cochrane is not working his farm, which is operated by his son, and consequently he has not sent any milk to the factory this year. Mr. Cochrane has sued James Mather, the Grit postmaster at Menie, for circulating the slander, but it will still be used in the campaign. We hope that Mr. Cochrane will be elected and that the authors of the slander and those who have circulated it will be punished as they deserve.

Correspondence.

Whilst correspondents will be accorded space for the expression of their ideas on topics of public interest, it must be in all cases understood that the views so expressed are simply those of the correspondents themselves.

BELLEVILLE, November 16th, 1888.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

DEAR SIR,—Allow me through the columns of your widly circulated paper to caution the farmers of this county as to what is undoubtedly a swindle of the first water, viz: "An Oat Swindle" and to explain it more thoroughly I shall give one of the victims' version of it. About this time last fall he was approached by an ex farmer and informed, they were introducing a very superior kind of seed oat, and intended allowing only a few favorites to secure the "bonanza," and as he was one of the select, why he could have thirty bushels only at $10 per bushel and they would take sixty bushels this fall at $7.50 per bushel, insuring him a margin of $150 on the deal. Money being no object, they would take his note for the $300, merely as a token of good faith, payable one year from date, said note would be returned with $150 added when the sixty bushels of "Superior Oats" were delivered. Everything looks plausible, and farmer bites to his sorrow. Year expires and farmer notifies, as he supposes, holder of his note, that oats are ready for delivery. Imagine his surprise when he is very pleasantly informed "We are out of the deal," and refers him to a note shaver where his note has been discounted at about two thirds its face value no doubt, and to secure this note, he must accept next year's victims paper for the $450 endorse it and hand it over to holder of his note, in lieu of which he is handed his original $300 note and $150 cash, but only jumps from the frying pan into the fire, as he is now on paper which if not paid makes him liable for $450. Any farmer with a grain of common sense, must certainly see that in the end someone is going to be sadly victimized and the originators well out of the hole, with nests well feathered at the expense of "The favored few."

Respectfully yours,
PLOUGHMAN.

Nine Million Witches Burned!

Sprenger computes that during the Christian era no fewer than nine million witches were immolated. In England, the last execution for witchcraft took place in 1716, but in Illinois as late as 1780 to 1790, several unfortunates were put to death. This is a terrible reflection on the boasted enlightenment of the age; but we must not be over censorious, while we daily see friends going down to death, ignorance or prejudice preventing the use of remedies which might save them. Many a cold runs into consumption, while indigestion and impure blood debilitates the system, inviting fatal attacks, when the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery would have ensured health and happiness.

Bridgewater.

The railway needs of this place require attention. There is connection with Belleville via Madoc, and a regular passenger service could be easily granted; up to the present we have been favored only with a limited freight service. If the G. T. Co., so enterprising generally, would arrange so that the Belleville passenger train would run through to Bridgewater, and we see no reason why this could not be done, they would have no trouble in securing paying patronage, beside supplying a crying need to the public and opening up the almost unlimited resources of the place.

Senator Flint sustains his well earned reputation as a public benefactor. Within a few weeks he has thoroughly overhauled his flouring mill, putting in new machinery and otherwise improving it, bringing, as might be expected this industry to the very front. A bakery nearly ready for work, and road improvements are also noticeable.

Mr. J. Breeze and family have gone to Toronto. At an imformal S. S. meeting Miss Breeze was presented by Rev. Mr. Wilson, with an address in behalf of Sunday School and congregation, and two young ladies of her bible-class presented her also with a purse of gold. Miss Breeze will be much missed in church circles.

A new feature has been introduced in connection with the Methodist church service here, in the form of reading the lessons responsively. The subject announced by this pulpit for next sabbath evening is "the church, its object and origin."

The Electric Light

Is a matter of small importance compared with other applications of electricity. By this agency Polson's Nerviline is made to penetrate to the most remote nerve—every bone, muscle and ligament is made to feel its beneficient power. Nerviline, pleasant to take, even by the youngest child, yet so powerfully far reaching in its work, that the most agonizing internal pain yields as if by magic. Neglect no longer to try Nerviline. Buy to day a ten cent trial bottle and be relieved from all pain. Sold by druggists and country dealers everywhere.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

THE URGENCY IS GREAT.

AN APPEAL TO THE IRISH NATIONAL LEAGUE OF AMERICA.

President Fitzgerald Issues a Manifesto in Which He Begs for Funds for Parnell's Defence.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 18.—The following circular has been addressed by President Fitzgerald to the various branches of the Irish National League:

To the officers and members of the Irish National League of America:

"The foulest conspiracy known to British history since the days of Titus Oates has been entered into by the present Government of England, under cover of The London Times (newspaper), for the purpose of thwarting the efforts of Mr. Parnell and his colleagues to secure by constitutional agitation the legislative rights of the Irish people. Failing by every other device known to the tyrant and oppressor to repress the aspirations of men who, struggling for liberty, already begin to breathe its atmosphere, this Tory Government, beaten in its role of the tiger, now descends to the slimy methods of the serpent. Salisbury and his Cabinet have stooped to employ bravos, forgers, perjurers and outcasts of society to foreswear the character of the Irish leaders and thus drive them from public life, hoping thereby to force the Irish people to adopt as their only alternative the policy of violence and despair, a policy which in Ireland's poverty and helplessness could only end in her destruction.

"Even in this last infamous design this most despicable of all British Governments begins to fear the exposure of its unexampled turpitude. The Royal Commission created by the Tory Government and framed with a view to accord Mr. Parnell and his friends only that modicum of justice which even corruption must pay to public decency, has proved itself incapable of descending to the level of Tory baseness. The opening statement of the Attorney-General has failed in its evil intent and several of the witnesses have under cross examination made admissions damaging to the enemies of Mr. Parnell rather than to himself and his colleagues.

"The evidence the Irish leaders are prepared to offer will prove beyond a doubt the infamy of the Government and its mask, The London Times, is attempting by means of forged letters to destroy not only the representative of the Irish people but the venerable statesman who, as leader of the British Liberals, has dared to inaugurate a policy of justice and conciliation between the people of Great Britain and Ireland. Baffled at every point of its ignoble and malicious course the Salisbury Cabinet is now striving to keep back the damning evidence held by the Irish leaders by prolonging and extending the commission and constantly increasing the enormous costs in the hope of compelling Mr. Parnell to abandon the case for want of funds to meet the expenditure forced upon him and his friends.

"Irishmen of America, you have nobly supported and encouraged Mr. Parnell in his contest with the enemies of Ireland. He stands now before the bar of British public opinion to answer the charges of villainous conspirators with English secret service money at their backs. Will you desert him now? Will you by apathy and indifference aid the foul conspiracy that seeks to morally assassinate the foremost man of the Irish people? Concentrated in him to-day are the feelings and aspirations of the world-wide Irish race, and shall Charles Stewart Parnell become the victim of the forger and the perjurer because he has not the money that necessity will compel him to expend to defeat the machinations of his and Ireland's enemies? To harbor such a thought would be an insult to every man of Irish blood. Come, then, to the rescue of the man who stands as the ideal representative of our race to-day.

"We have fought our great constitutional battle in America. The heat of the contest is over, and now let Irishmen of every political shade join in friendly grasp and pledge their aid to our brothers beyond the sea. Every branch of the League is most earnestly requested to raise at once a Parnell defence fund and remit the same as speedily as possible to Rev. Charles O'Reilly, D.D., Detroit, Mich. The urgency is very great. Ireland speaks by the voice of Charles Stewart Parnell. He asks assistance, more for the cause of the motherland than the cause of personal defence. He asks your help in the name of the living and by the memory of the dead. I will answer for you—you never failed Ireland in the past and you will not fail her now.

"JOHN FITZGERALD,
"President Irish National Association."

"RANDY" THE REFORMER.

Cleveland's Conduct in the Sackville Case Defended—The Liquor Traffic.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Lord Randolph Churchill, in a speech yesterday at Paddington, expressed the hope that the post of Minister at Washington would soon be filled. He said there was no doubt that Lord Sackville had been primarily indiscreet and had made an inexcusable blunder. No fault could be found with the action of the United States Government towards the minister. The American people were essentially just and proud in their relations with other countries. He deprecated the insulting and menacing articles which had appeared in the English press since Lord Sackville's dismissal, and said Englishmen ought to inform the Americans that they cherish no ill-feeling towards them. [Cheers.]

Lord Randolph attached the greatest importance to the maintenance by England of an imperturbable and friendly attitude towards the United States, and he regarded the attitude taken by Mr. Cleveland after the rejection of the fisheries treaty by the Senate as an unfortunate one. The utmost allowance ought to be made for the American position on the Sackville affair in view of the time at which it occurred. Mr. Cleveland's action had been rather sharp, but it did not justify the menaces, sneers and sulks in which the newspapers had indulged.

A war between England and America, he declared, would be more atrocious and dangerous than any war since God created the earth. He trusted that the Government's policy towards the new Washington Administration would be conceived with a view to making the American people our best allies on all questions and producing a durable friendship between the English-speaking races, thus guaranteeing to humanity in turn the blessings of liberty and peace.

Lord Randolph approved of the Government taking measures to repress crime in Ireland, and strongly advocated the restriction of the traffic in intoxicating liquors.

Suicide at Kingsville.

WINDSOR, Nov. 18.—John Cooper, a 20-year-old son of George Cooper of Kingsville, committed suicide Thursday by shooting himself through the head with a revolver. He had been insane for the last four years and about six months ago tried to end his life by taking carbolic acid.

K. of L. Delegates to Receive Their Mileage—Barry's Expulsion.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 18.—The Committee on the State of the Order got the floor ahead of the Grievance Committee, and the Saturday morning session of the Knights of Labor Convention was devoted to hearing its reports. On the recommendation of this committee the treasurer was ordered to pay delegates' mileage on the last day of the session at the rate of 4 cents a mile each day. In view of the balance of $49.39 reported as being in the treasury some fear have been expressed by outsiders that there would be no money on hand to pay mileage. This morning it was announced that $500 had been received by the treasurer since Nov. 1, and of this amount $355 was for new charters, showing over twenty-five new assemblies within about two weeks.

Representatives of the glass men, District Assembly 300, announced that in case of need they had $100,000, from which the General Executive Board could draw as much as needed. District Assembly 48 of Cincinnati offered $3000 as a gift and others volunteered various sums, making the aggregate $150,000. Nearly every delegate tried to make some offer and by so doing prove the falsity of certain newspaper stories regarding the bankrupt condition of the order. Since this showing the members are jubilant and are not slow in showing their good feeling.

At the afternoon session the Committee on Appeals and Grievances got the attention of the General Assembly and reported the Barry case. Although not strictly speaking a follower of Barry, George Schilling of Chicago took the floor in his behalf and made a strong speech in favor of the expelled member. General Master Workman Powderly made a careful statement of his side of the case. Many other able speakers followed and the debate was at times rather warm but for the most part in good temper. At the end of the debate the roll was called and the General Executive Board was sustained by a vote of 122 to 24. It is claimed by various delegates that these figures do not exactly represent the relative strength of the Barry and Powderly forces, for of the 24 they say not more than half-a-dozen are actually Barry's close friends. It is clearly seen that Powderly is growing stronger hourly and will probably meet with little opposition.

Mr. Barry declared last evening that he would take the case to the high court of public opinion. He believed, he said, that when the truth was known the men who control the Knights of Labor and are living at the expense of poverty will be considered the most infamous scoundrels that ever lived.

This evening a lecture on "Temperance" was given by General Master Workman Powderly in Masonic Hall.

Thomas B. Barry, the expelled member of the General Executive Board, was hard at work all day in his room and late this afternoon gave to the press a long article explaining his position and repeating his former statements against the Powderly administration. He denies that he had advocated strikes before D. A. 125 of Toronto, as was claimed against him in a letter from that assembly.

SENSATIONAL SCENES.

The Parnell Commission's Work During Last Week Reviewed.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The Parnell Commission has sat but three days this week and has made no great progress. Sir James Hannen has more than once expressed his impatience at the way in which testimony is given, but nothing can hurry Mr. Murphy or Mr. Atkinson, who examine in chief most of the witnesses. It has, however, been a week of sensations. The evidence of those who suffered from outrages has been supported by those who perpetrated them. Mannion and Flaherty are novelties in English courts. They swore with coolness to the commission of horrible crimes. Mannion testified that he was both a Land Leaguer and a Fenian. Flaherty avowed himself a Moonlighter with murder in his program; he too was a member of the Land League. Paying rent or taking land from which a member of the League had been evicted was a capital offence.

Yesterday there were three or four scenes in the presence of what might be called a brilliant house. Lady Mountmorres, after testifying of her husband's murder, fainted under Sir Charles Russell's cross-examination. Then came a tussle between Sir Charles and an Irish peasant witness whose stubborn cunning was more than a match for the great lawyer's trained ingenuity. Then, his temper perhaps a little ruffled by this defeat, Sir Charles made another effort to alter the course of proceedings. Baffled in this, he sat down with the angry remark that the Judges' decision was not conducive to the ends of justice; of which Sir James Hannen wisely took no notice.

Last of all Mr. T. Harrington, M.P., who appears as one of the counsel for some of the defendants, tried to appear as a witness too, or to contradict what he supposed the witness on the stand to be saying. He refused to obey Sir James Hannen's repeated orders to be silent, contradicted him, too, talked him down, and became so violent that the president adjourned the court for ten minutes. Then, under pressure from Sir Charles Russell, Mr. Harrington apologized. It is no secret that Mr. Parnell strongly objected to Mr. Harrington's acting as counsel in the case, dreading, no doubt, such scenes as this, which are not helpful to the Irish cause. But even Mr. Parnell does not always have his own way.

CROSS AND WHITE.

The Case of the Boodlers Arrested in Toronto to go to the U. S. Supreme Court.

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 18.—One of the counsel for Cross and White, respectively ex-President and Cashier of the State National Bank of this city, left here yesterday for Washington with a copy of the record in the case and a petition for a writ of error, to be presented to one of the Justices of the Supreme Court. Cross and White, who were arrested in Toronto, were convicted of forgery in the Supreme Court at Raleigh last July. They appealed to the State Supreme Court, on the ground that the State could not try them, they having, as officers of a National bank, committed the offence. The Supreme Court sentenced them to long terms of hard labor on the public roads. The case was argued in the Supreme Court, which fully sustained the lower Court. White, who has for many weeks been in jail here for lack of bail, has at last given it and is at large. The case involves, in a very broad sense, the question of State rights, and this deepens public interest in it.

Miss Macdonald Dead.

KINGSTON, Nov. 18.—Miss Macdonald, Sir John's sister, died last night. She had been ill for years, but had wonderful tenacity for life. On several occasions it was thought death was near, and Sir John came to the city to bid her farewell, but she gained strength. A week ago the Premier came to Kingston thinking the end was near, but after remaining two days returned to Ottawa, she taking a turn for the better. Last night she was very low and Sir John was telegraphed for, but shortly before he arrived her spirit took its flight. The funeral will occur on Tuesday.

ANOTHER BREAK.

Lock-Gates in the Cornwall Canal Give Way—Navigation Interrupted.

CORNWALL, Nov. 18.—Another accident has occurred on the Cornwall Canal. About 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, while the barge Cleveland was entering through Gilles' lock the gates gave way, causing a stoppage of navigation. A force of men was put to work immediately to repair the damage and will be kept at it until it is completed. The gates will probably be repaired by noon to-morrow, when navigation will again be resumed. The last of the boats that had been delayed at the bend of the river before repairs on the break were completed had just passed through.

A Town Terrorized by Tramps.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 18.—A gang of 22 tramps boarded a local freight train a little after noon yesterday on the Boston and Albany Railroad between this city and Indian Orchard. When the train stopped at Indian Orchard they were obliged to get off while the switching was going on.

They attempted to board the train again and a brisk fight ensued. The train hands beat the men off with coupling pins and the ruffians retaliated by throwing stones until the train got out of reach. They then terrorized the community generally and threw stones at the depot. Help was summoned from this city, and a special train was made up with a force of policemen on board. The tramps were met just west of Indian Orchard station and the officers gave chase, each singling out a man. Six were captured in this way and City Marshal Clune shot and killed a seventh.

Fire at Teeswater.

TEESWATER, Nov. 17.—The saw mill, stave, heading, shingle and lath factory, owned by W. R. Thompson and operated by Thompson, Fessant & Co., was totally destroyed by fire last night. By strenuous efforts, aided by a heavy snowstorm, the large stock of heading, lumber, etc., was saved. Loss, about $5000. Insured for $1000.

Look Out for These Fakirs.

WINDSOR, Nov. 18.—The police have been notified to look out for Geo. Elmer and W. Saumpter, who are accused of swindling Londonites out of over $200. They pretended to be artists, and went round taking orders for crayon pictures, collecting $5 in advance on each picture and never delivering any.

COLLINGWOOD, Nov. 18.—Mr. Coste, engineer of the Public Works Department, has been inspecting the harbor. Mr. Telfer and the harbormaster are to draw a plan of further work required and submit it to the authorities at Ottawa.

The apartments formerly occupied by the Judge are at present not in use, and some means will in all probability be devised whereby they will be utilised for the accommodation of prisoners.

Only a Pocket.

The Napanee Beaver says: "Mr. Vrooman, who has been prospecting the Wagon Mine and at Tweed, has reached the extent of the deposit, and finds it is only a pocket of very limited extent, and that it would not pay for opening up. The ore is admittedly the best ever found in Hastings Ontario, and the discovery of its limited extent is a disappointment to all concerned, as it will be to the public who have anticipated the beginning of a new industry for this section. Mr. Vrooman has abandoned all prospecting in these parts."

Taken by Mistake.

William Kearl, on Saturday, came to the city with a horse and phaeton. He placed the same in the yard in the rear of the hotel kept by Mr. Robert Gibson. At about 5 o'clock the same evening he went to get his horse and conveyance, when he discovered that it was missing. The loss was immediately reported to the police, and late in the evening the property was found in possession of another man, who while under the influence of liquor had taken it by mistake. An explanation of the affair followed, when the mistake was rectified.

Church Re-opening.

For some time past the Methodists at the village of Stafford have been having extensive alterations and improvements going on in their place of worship. These have at last been completed, and yesterday special services were held therein. In the morning Rev. Dr. Gardiner occupied the pulpit, in the afternoon Rev. J. Learoyd and in the evening Rev. G. H. Cogeland—all from this city. The discourses were able expositions of divine truth. This evening a tea will be served, when these gentlemen will be present, with others, to deliver addresses.

G. T. R. Notes.

Everything at the station presented an animated appearance this morning. The freight that is at present being handled is enormous, and the demand for empty cars can scarcely be met.

A number of Sidney farmers have just completed the shipment of a number of cars of apples for the eastern provinces.

A gang of men were yesterday working on the double track near the railway bridge. These men are employed by the contractors.

A novice employed on the double track, whose name we were unable to procure, had his hand jammed on Saturday by a handcar.

Reformed Church of England.

The Rev. A. H. Whalley, of Mount Forest, who has been in the city for the past week, has been doing considerable parochial work among the congregation and those who formerly attended the church of England in Belleville, the results of his visits being very observable in the attendance at service on Thanksgiving Day and yesterday. On Sunday afternoon a Sunday School and Bible class was started with forty-nine scholars and teachers, twenty two forming a Bible class taken by Mr. Whalley. The Sunday School will be continued each Sabbath at 3 p. m. After the regular service last evening, Mr. Whalley addressed the congregation on the 39 Articles which all clergymen of the church of England when ordained, have to subscribe to. He read several of them, and then commented on the manner in which he says they are violated by he great majority of church clergymen at the present day.

A Sharp Retort.

The city flag being at half mast on Saturday morning for some time, caused all sorts of questions as to why it was so. Amongst others questioned was a gentleman who is an opponent of the Bridge scheme and is said to have an interest in the "Mary Ethel." He said that it was ominous of the Bridge scheme—that as they had been unable to raise the flag any higher than half-mast, so the bridge would never be more than half built, as the promoters had not the where with all to complete it. The friend who asked the question replied that he had been told another reason, namely, that it was intended to have raised the flag to the top of the pole in honor of the success of the deputation that had gone to Ottawa, but that as the flag was going up word was received to let it remain at half-mast in memory of the "Mary go-slow" and the scores of people who had lost their lives by catching cold while waiting for her.

Educational Sermons.

Special sermons in this direction were delivered yesterday in the various Methodist churches of the city, by the Rev. Dr. Carman, Gen'l Supt. of the church, Rev. Dr. Potts, of Toronto, and Rev. Dr. Burwash, Chancellor of Victoria University. Following is a review of the efforts of these noted divines:

HIGHER BIBLICAL KNOWLEDGE.

A large congregation was present at the Holloway St. church yesterday morning. The Rev. Dr. Burwash, Principal of the Victoria University of Cobourg, occupied the pulpit and delivered an able discourse. The following is a report of the rev. gentleman's remarks:

II Timothy, 2nd chap. and 2nd verse: "And the things that thou hast heard of me among many witnessed, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also."

These words call up before us the last days and scenes of the apostle St. Paul. The words are said in prison. He was chained to a soldier, still he was a free man. He was in his last close confinement. In a few short weeks he would be called up on to surrender his life, yet we find him not complaining, but he is hoping. He says "I am ready to go to my reward." He had perfect confidence in God. He had migatty faith. He had also care for the church in which engaging worldly to the future. The future and permanency of the church is in the faithfulness of the ministers who are to come. If the church is continuously provided with men of this stamp, there is no fear for its future prosperity. Christianity is a glorious doctrine. All true conversion consists of repentance toward God, Repentance, an awaking of the conscience of our responsability to God. It is the turning of the will towards a new light. It is the turning to all things that are good. This is a silent force but it has grand results. The sun shines upon the earth in its splendor and it is by its continued rays that vegetation grows, and if it should cease to shine all things in nature would die, and everything would be corrupted into rock. The teaching of Christianity is that of the man's conscience. There is power enough in christianity to remove all evils and thus power is supplied by the grace of God. We should live not for ourselves, but for the redemption of the world. We should help to make the world better. If we do this we shall see the works of the Lord progressing. The curse of intemperance should be removed from off this land. We need a higher knowledge of God's will, and then this can be accomplished. The christian ministers to do this work need not be eloquent, great speakers, but they must be faithful men who are able to teach. These are the necessary qualifications. A faithful man is a man who is true to his God and his obligations. What also made a faithful man is a man who is full of faith. The man of fidelity is a man of convictions, if he has no convictions he is not a strong man, but he will change at every turn, having no settled basis. We should be able to say that we know we have faith through our Lord Jesus Christ. Another qualification for the ministry is that the man must be a teacher, he must have a knowledge of the things pertaining to God. He should have the knowledge of things which are great, he should know the bible through, also the book of human life, the wants of human nature. If he does not understand these things he is not qualified for the ministry. The bible is the product of many great minds. Other books you can get to the bottom of, but in this book it was not so. It took 1500 years to write it, it took scores of gifted men to compile it, and those men spoke as they were moved by the holy spirit. Such a book was never before or since produced. The divine spirit overshadowed its construction. There is more yet in the bible that has not been explored. We are only just beginning to find out what are the glorious book. The greatest scholars of the age have written literary after library about this book yet it is not explored to its fullest extent. We should pursue a careful study of this grand work of God. Every chapter of the bible is a study for days and weeks. Everywhere there is great room for study. To day we need more than ever young men who are trained in the word of God to proclaim his work. We need biblical scholars. The church had wonderful sympathy for missionary work. This is a grand work, and one which needs increased interest. Our educational society is founded for the education of young men for the work of the ministry, who must be educated. This work is increasing and the colleges are increasing in interest and our young men are being converted to God. May this continue till the world has been brought to the feet of Jesus.

GOD IN KNOWLEDGE.

This was the subject which was taken by the Rev. Dr. Carman, General Superintendent, at the Bridge street church at the morning service. His text was the 28th verse of the first chapter of Romans: "And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient." He said the preacher, "I believe that such was the case at the present time, what a grand concentration of Christian energy there would be to remedy the evil. The word "knowledge" was hard to define, because its meaning was understood by all. He would define knowledge as marriage, and learning as the divine courtship leading up to it. There were two worlds—the world without and the world within us. The former was much the smaller and less valuable of the two, being but 25,000 miles in circumference, and 1,500 miles through, and we would enjoy it for but a time; the latter was boundless and eternal. The great point, then, he argued, was to educate mankind to look aright—to put God into their knowledge and so to avoid the evils spoken of in the text. It would be absurd, said the learned Doctor, for all the professors in the different colleges in Canada to gather together and attempt to drive the multiplication table into the head of an ox—it couldn't be done, for the idea was not implanted there by God; equally absurd would it be for all the ministers of all the conferences in the Dominion to assemble for the purpose of putting conscience—a sense of right and wrong, even into an animal so noble as a dog—it couldn't be done, for God had not placed it there. But with man the faculties were there to be cultivated. We had infinity and eternity within us; we could not escape them, for they were planted there by the divine power. Therefore let there be God in their knowledge; and he would say it with all reverence, there could be a great deal of God in a very little knowledge. It was not necessary to spend the truth grammatically. The evils of knowledge without God were shown in the case of the upholders and propagators of a lot of "isms"; every man without God in his knowledge who got hold of a small idea, imagined that he had made a grand discovery, and built upon it, but it was only a pea rattling in a puncheon. The preacher concluded with a strong appeal to his hearers to contribute towards the education of the young men destined for the ministry, and to aid in placing God in their knowledge.

CHRISTIAN INTELLIGENCE.

The Bridge Street Church last evening was filled, to listen to the Rev. Dr. Potts, of Toronto. The Rev. gentleman delivered an able discourse, of which the following is a synopsis:

Isaiah 52 chap. 7, 9 and 10 verses: "How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that brings good tidings, that publisheth peace, that bringeth good tidings of good that publisheth salvation, that saith unto Zion, thy God reigneth.

"Break forth unto joy, sing together ye waste places of Jerusalem, for the Lord has comforted his people, he hath redeemed Jerusalem.

"The Lord hath made bare his holy arm in the eyes of the nation, and all the ends of the earth shall see the salvation of our God."

There are few relations in life that are of more importance than the ministry. A successful minister is a man who is filled with the love of Christ. There is no man held in higher regard than a minister of the church. Their names never die. In the Methodist church we have had a number of such. Charles Wesley, whose name we perpetuate, was one of the foundees of Methodism. William Morley Punshon was also a great man and will always be held in fond remembrance. What will be the character of the man who are to occupy the pulpit of the Methodist church in the years to come? All are not qualified to expound the gospel. There is no book that is so much misread as the Bible, and he who wishes to expound its teachings must do so in an intellectual manner. The book should not be superficially read. There are a number who believe in the Bible, but they have but a surface knowledge of its contents. How beautiful it is in the chamber of sickness and also in the home of bereavement. Christianity comes to us with good tidings and blessings. The bible contains good tidings from Genesis to Revelation; from the beginning of Jesus Christ telling of his birth at Bethlehem, his death on the cross of Calvary, and his ascension to heaven. For seven hundred years before their fulfilment they were predicted to by Isaiah. These tidings are tidings of peace, the peace of God which passeth all understanding. It is also tidings of salvation. Salvation which converts a sinner is a grand salvation. To procure this salvation involved the incarnation of the second person of the adorable Trinity. It emanicipated us from sin into the conscious favor of God; it is also a salvation into the fullness of light, and glory, and gives us at last an abundant entrance into the glory of God; God reigneth, and His reign is both a wide and a righteous one. The Church has nothing to fear from this ruling monarch. The laws of our country have been changed, but who ever thought of amending the ten commandments or sermon on the mount? We as God's people have no desire to change his laws, they adorn us and are glorious to us. They reign in glory and among the people of the earth. If these laws are not obeyed, then there is need of revival of God's work, revival in the church, revival in homes. We want the grand old pentecostal shower. There is need of revival because there are waste places in Jerusalm. Where are they and what are they? They are those which bring forth briars and thorns instead of fruit in the heart. The heart is a waste place if the spirit of God not is enthroned there. The home is a waste place if the spirit of God is not there. These waste places are also found in the pews of our churches and sometimes in the pulpit. Does your companion know by your associations with him that you are a christian? A preacher may be eloquent and finished in oratory, but still there may be a waste place. The Gospel has not seen its best days yet. The ends of the earth will yet embrace it. The time is coming when there shall be light everywhere and no darkness.

The Rev. gentleman then made an earnest appeal to the congregation for assistance in carrying on this educational work, which met with a hearty response. The meeting was closed by the benediction by the pastor, Rev. J. Learoyd.

AT THE TABERNACLE.

Rev. Dr. Potts preached at morning service and Rev. Dr. Burwash at evening service. The congregations were large at both services and the discourses elegant and powerful.

Presentation and Farewell Address.

The following proceedings recently took place in connection with the removal of the Rev. D. Kelso, of Thurlow and Roslin, to another field of labor:

DEAR SIR.—Ere your departure to another field of labor in the Master's vineyard, we, the members and adherents of St. Andrew's Church, Thurlow, embrace this opportunity to convey to you our high regard for you as our pastor, and deep regret at our loss in your removal from amongst us. You have ever taken a deep interest in all matters relating to our welfare as a congregation, in sickness and sorrow you have ever proved a wise counsellor and sympathizing friend. In the pulpit you have never failed to proclaim faithfully and fearlessly the whole counsel of God, and have ever given a prominence to the great fundamental doctrines of the bible on which our salvation depends. In all the years in which you have been our pastor, your daily walk and conversation has been in accordance with your pulpit ministrations. We have been pleased to observe that in your intercourse with other denominations, you have displayed a spirit of liberality and also a readiness to assist in any good work for the benefit of the community. And we sincerely hope that in the new sphere of labor to which you have in the providence of God been called, you may have abundant success, and that you and your family may have every happiness and comfort in your new home.

We desire to present Mrs. Kelso and yourself with these articles, not for their intrinsic value, but rather as an expression of our regard and esteem, and a slight token of remembrance.

In conclusion, dear Pastor, we bid you farewell, expecting that in some future time we may meet you again, but if not in this world, we hope to meet in the better land.

Mr. Kelso in replying, said that his words on this occasion would be few—that he felt more than he could express. He thanked the congregation for their valuable gifts, and also for their kind address in which he found them for this renewed expression of their kindness, and assured them that their many tokens of good will and esteem were duly appreciated by Mrs. Kelso and himself. He said that wherever G d might order his lot, he would always remember the many happy years he spent in this congregation; and now that I am about to leave you, I carry with me the most pleasant associations of my sojourn in your midst. I have been with you for over twelve years; and now, my dear friends, I bid you all farewell, and may God be with you.

Rumor Untrue.

A report that has gained considerable notoriety is to the effect that yesterday, bones representing those of a human being had been discovered in the ruins of the barn burned on the Canifton road, on Wednesday night last. Upon investigating the affair it was found that there was no truth whatever in the rumor.

THE "CHEEKY" MORMONS.

THEIR SINGULAR REQUEST DENIED BY THE GOVERNMENT.

An Indian Murderer's Case—Immigration Returns for October—Disappointed Canadians Returning from the States.

OTTAWA, Nov. 18.—The Mormon delegates have left, professedly tolerably well satisfied with the result of their mission, but they have really obtained no special concessions from the Government for beyond promised any further favors than would be granted to other immigrants. Their application for assistant passages and for special arrangements with regard to the entry of settlers effects were not granted and, while of course no objection was raised to Mormons settling in Canada, they were clearly given to understand that they must conform to the laws of the country. One proposal made by them, and which may be regarded as somewhat "cheeky," was that those who already had a plurality of wives should be allowed to bring "their whole families" and be guaranteed from molestation, but they were firmly told that the law of Canada does not allow polygamy and if they infringed the law they laid themselves open to prosecution.

Judge Prinet has made a report to the Department of Justice in the case of Nepahese, B.C., of an Indian named Isennaquer for the murder in July last of an Indian boy named Moise. Isennaquer was found guilty and sentenced to be hanged on Dec. 12.

Immigration returns for the month of October show an increase over the same month last year of 3180 in the total number of arrivals and of 3043 in the number of settlers in that month. Registered number of arrivals since January 1 has been 146,807, of whom 78,212 settled in Canada, being an increase of 10,161 over the same period last year. West Lynne appears for the first time on the report, there being 246 entries at that point, and 46 leaving Canada. These are presumably either Canadians returning from the United States disappointed at American settlers blown to the Republic of Dakota to the more congenial climate of the Canadian Northwest.

TO TUNNEL DETROIT RIVER.

A Michigan Corporation Organized With That for Its Object.

DETROIT, Nov. 18.—Articles of Association of the Detroit Railroad and Tunnel Company were filed in the County Register's office yesterday afternoon. By the terms of the corporation the capital stock is fixed at $1,500,000. It may be increased to not more than one-half of the estimated cost of the tunnel and the line of railroad at $8000 per mile proposed to be constructed. There are 15,000 shares of stock at $100 each. The sole object of the company is to construct and operate a tunnel under the Detroit river, together with such tracks and with switches to connect with the same, the tunnel to extend under the river to the national boundary line, where it will be joined by another tunnel to be commenced on the Canadian side by a company which will shortly apply to the Parliament of Canada for incorporation. Some doubt exists here as to whether the purpose of the incorporation is to actually build a tunnel or merely boom the value of the principal stockholders' real estate.

A SINGULAR STRIKE.

The Hereford Railway Laborers Demanding Full Pay for Half Time.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Nov. 18.—The Hereford railway troubles have been resumed, and about 125 Italians are now on strike at Paquette, six miles from the border. On Thursday night they secured, by cutting away a portion of the track, two engines which had been in use during the day. They had previously presented the work of the steam plow.

Their grievance is the singular one of demanding full pay for half time work, during last month the time was so wet that work could not be carried on for about half the time, but the men consider themselves entitled to full pay.

TORONTO NEWS.

Another Sensation in Connection With the Murder of Barber's Wife.

TORONTO, Nov. 19.—A sensation has developed since Saturday in connection with the suicide of Frederick Barber in the New York Central depot, Suspension Bridge, N.Y., on Friday evening. It is learned that on Wednesday last Barber was married at Niagara Falls, N.Y., and that his bride had since mysteriously disappeared. Barber and the woman arrived at the New York Central depot at Niagara Falls on Wednesday, and while they sent their baggage to the Prospect House they sought a minister. About 9 o'clock that evening they called at the residence of Rev. C. S. Stowitts, Presbyterian minister, on Buffalo street, Niagara Falls, and requested him to marry them. He did so. The lady was magnificently dressed, quite handsome and gave her name as Mary Allison Hill of Fredericksburg, Virginia. After the marriage ceremony Barber and his bride went to the Prospect House and registered as "Fred Barber and wife, Sheffield, Eng." They were assigned to Room 23, where they remained until Thursday morning. They then left the hotel ostensibly for Toronto. Nothing has been heard or seen of the woman since then and nothing is known of such a person here.

On Saturday afternoon Thomas Douglas, for protesting against John Gardiner's throwing a cat into a tub of water, was knocked down by the latter and brutally kicked about the head. Douglas condition is serious and Gardiner will await in custody the outcome of his brutality.

A despatch was received from Graven hurst Saturday that James Ious, a photographer's assistant who went to Muskoka on a shooting trip two weeks ago, had been drowned.

Henry James Thorpe, a carpenter by trade, is a prisoner in the Dundas street police station on a serious charge. It is alleged that on Saturday night he visited his father-in-law, Adam Clark Cooper, at the latter's residence and after abusing him, fired three shots at him, all of which luckily missed.

KILLED HER FORMER HUSBAND.

Henry W. King, Jr., of Chicago Shot to Death in an Omaha Hotel.

OMAHA, Nov. 18.—At 7:30 yesterday morning a fair haired lady and woman arrived here from Chicago and registered at the Paxton House as Mrs. W. H. King, jr., and proceeded to King's room. The lady has been boarding at the hotel for some time with a woman to whom he was recently married. Calling him to the door some one ran his name out, and the new comer upbraiding him, while he urged her to go away and leave him. She finally said with tears in her eyes: Harry will you take me to breakfast; I mean you no harm." He repulsed her roughly and started for the elevator. She followed, and overtaking him, drew a revolver and shot him in the mouth. He staggered away. She followed and fired three more shots, when he fell down the stairs leading to the rotunda, dying immediately after his fall. She then left the smoking revolver in her hand. Kneeling by his side, she sobbed: "I've murdered my husband!" Judge Brewer of the United States district court and many guests were eyewitnesses of the affair.

Probably His Divorced Wife.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—Henry W. King, jr., or "Harry" King, as he was generally known here, was about 30 years of age and a graduate of Williams College. A few years ago he contracted an unfortunate marriage, as the result proved, causing his relatives much trouble and anxiety. Subsequently a divorce was secured and the supposition is that the shooting was done by the woman from whom King was divorced. Young King was a son of a well-known merchant of that name and has been very dissipated.

THE WONDROUS WIRES.

Sir Andrew Clarke in London in Consultation With a Victoria (B. C.) Physician.

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 18.—The Canadian Pacific Railway Company's telegraph was to-day brought into service in a manner that suggests wonderful possibilities in the future. Lord Rosmore, heir to the Earldom of Listowel, is lying at the point of death, at the hospital here, with typhoid fever attended with other complications. Through Sir Donald A. Smith, who is now in London, a telegraph circuit was made from London to Victoria by the Mackay-Bennett cable and Canadian Pacific Railway telegraphs, and Sir Andrew Clarke in London was placed in direct consultation with Doctor Hannington in Victoria. A conversation lasting three hours concerning the distinguished patient's condition was carried on. An unbroken circuit was worked from Victoria to the Mackay-Bennett cable office in New York, where the messages were repeated to London. Replies were received in 3 and 4 minutes

Lord Enniskmore, though still in a dangerous condition, is somewhat better to-day.

ANNIE LYONS' GRAVE CHARGE.

Against a New York Druggist—The Girl's Story Told to Justice Duffy.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Annie Lyons, the girl who attempted to commit suicide by swallowing corrosive sublimate after her arrest on Tuesday evening for raising a disturbance in W. Scott's drug store at Fourteenth-street and Seventh-avenue, was before Justice Duffy yesterday as a complaining witness against Scott, whom she charges with betraying her. Annie, who said she arrived here August 7 from Toronto, testified that Scott accomplished her ruin under promise of marriage, having first plied her with a quart bottle of wine and unlimited lager. She also related the particulars of two subsequent occasions when their alleged intimacy was renewed. Mr. Scott emphatically denied the whole story. Justice Duffy remanded the accused in the custody of his counsel until Monday.

FREEMAN'S WORM POWDERS destroy and remove worms without injury to adult or infants.

The Modus Operandi.

The mode of operating of Burdock Blood Bitters is that it acts at once and at the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and the Blood, to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in Chronic Complaints.

FEVER AND AGUE AND BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS are positively cured by the use of Parmelee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, causing them to pour copious effusions from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

To lessen mortality and stop the inroads of disease, use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. For all diseases arising from Impure Blood, such as Pimples, Boils, Biliousness, Indigestion, etc., it has no equal. Mrs. Thomas Smith, Bird, writes: "I am using this medicine for Dyspepsia; I have tried many remedies, but this is the only one that has done me any good."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakens as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind. 3d&wly

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transition from heat to cold. Heat carries the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the poisonous matter must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but when allowed to run their course, generally prove a more formidable and dangerous disease. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their affliction from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. Once the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Hickle's Anti Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

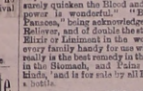

Ease and Comfort to the Suffering.

"Brown's Household Panacea" has no equa for relieving pain, both internal and externa It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal, as its acting power is wonderful. "Brown's Household Panacea," being acknowledged as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family handy for use when wanted, "as it really is the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the Stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds," and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cts a bottle.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station New York City.

Daily Intelligencer.

The Child of Waterloo.

BY GEORGE W. M. REYNOLDS.

'What is the time now?' inquired Sternholde, suddenly speaking, for the first time, to the turnkey who had to sit up with him all night long.

'A little after six.'

'And to-morrow at eight I am to die?'

'You are,' replied the man. 'There is scarce fourteen hours before you cease to live,' said the man.

Sternholde felt himself weak; he knew not how it was, but a sudden weakness seized him; he felt a sinking at his heart, as if his strength was not enough to enable him to retain his seat. Indeed, it seemed as if he were about to sink through the earth, such a dreadful sense of his position now came over him.

He staggered, rather than walked, to his pallet, and there lay down; and as he did so he thought he heard some confused noise in the courtyard. He thought there was the sound of workmen—of hammers and hammering—and the dreadful truth flashed across him.

'What—what noise is that?' he inquired of the man who sat up with him during that night.

'They are erecting the scaffold,' was the man's reply.

Sternholde felt a shudder creep over him, which he tried to suppress, and which he could no more stop than he could have carried himself suddenly away from that dreadful place.

Slowly passed the hours, and as they passed, decreased the ebb span of life that remained, and with it fled much of that courage of scorn of death that had served to support him during his previous career.

The sounds of the workmen became painfully distinct, and he could hear—nay, almost feel, every nail that was driven, and every beam that was raised. He could not bear to listen to these sounds, and yet his mind was chained down to them, and he could listen to nothing else—he could think of nothing else.

How painful it was, the sweat that he dewed his brow alone could testify. The man that sat up with him alone attempted once or twice to speak to him, but finding he was not inclined to talk, said no more, though now Sternholde wished he would speak to him, but he could not induce him to do so. He could not speak himself—he could not utter a sound—his tongue clove unto his mouth, and he could not say one word to him.

He lay motionless—no sound was heard, save those made by the workmen, and the solemn sound of St. Paul's Cathedral clock, and some of the neighboring church clocks which came at the dead hour of night with awful distinctness upon his ear. Little did he do, save count the hours and the quarters as they chimed, and think how fast life was fleeting from him.

The hours came and went with frightful rapidity, and he found morning dawned long before he would have believed half the night could have been passed, but he counted the chimes and the strokes, and he knew it was now past five.

He yet lay on his pallet; he seemed to have no strength left, not even to rise. Could death be so near at hand—could he be going to die? Yes, it was too certain; there were all the busy preparations being made for his execution.

The noise of the workmen proceeded as their labors neared their termination. The morning, too, was cold and wet, the rain fell heavily, and London was enveloped in misty gloom.

The authorities of the prison now came and went; doors were opened and closed, and at length the chaplain and the governor again entered the cell to see the wretched man.

'What can be done for you, Sternholde?' inquired the governor.

'Save me,' said Sternholde.

'Nay, I cannot do that; no earthly power can do so—all is over decided for you. Let me beg of you to employ your last moments in endeavoring to make your peace with Heaven.'

'The moments are few and short,' said the chaplain; 'make the most of them, and beseech the throne of mercy for pardon; do not die in this horrible state—seek mercy where mercy can be shown.'

'You shall not frighten me,' exclaimed Sternholde, 'by all your preparations, by all your jugglery. I will have nothing to do with you; I will not acquiesce in one single act that goes toward aiding in my own death.'

The governor and chaplain exchanged looks, and then quitted the cell. The time passed by, and soon came the sheriffs and all the officers connected with the occasion.

A breakfast was provided in the pressroom; but all that Sternholde could take was a cup of tea, and so great was his agony that he bit a piece out of his cup.

The ceremony of pinioning was about to performed, and the irons knocked off, but the moment they made the attempt to place the rope round his arms and hands, he threw himself on them, exclaiming, as he struggled with them,—

'I will not die this death; you shall not drag me to the scaffold; I will not tamely submit.'

However, the men secured him, for his strength was too far gone to be able to maintain any struggle with them; but he refused to stand; he could hardly do so, and he trembled excessively at the near approach of death, and talked incoherently and rapidly; but he was scarcely audible.

The moment arrived when the procession was about to be formed, when the various officers of the prison approached him; but he did not wish one of them farewell.

'I will not go,' he muttered; 'no, no, I will not go. You may drag me, but you shall not take me to die if I can help it. I will resist; you may murder me, but you shall not do it cheaply.'

The wretched man was too far gone; he trembled while he struggled, and at the same time the officials found but little difficulty in carrying him along the passages. The chaplain began to read the burial service, and the procession moved forward; the sound of St. Sepulchre's church bell came heavily on the ear, and not a sound was lost; Sternholde was carried forward, faintly struggling in the arms of those who bore him along.

Abject cowardice seemed to have come over him, and he could not think of death with calmness. They now came upon the platform; Sternholde was supported to the drop.

Among the Indians.

"While my husband was trading in furs he came across an Indian who was taken to his lodge to die. He had inward pains and pains in all his limbs. He gave some Yellow Oil internally and applied it externally, and cured him. It also cured my husband of rheumatism, and I find it valuable for coughs and colds, sore throat, etc." Mrs. A. Besaw, Cook's Mills, Serpent River, Ont.

CATARRH.

A New Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the interlining membrane of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes. The eminent scientists, Tyndall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made oftener than once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before an application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease.

So highly are these remedies valued that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy a parasite, of which they know nothing, by remedies, of the results of the application of which they are equal ignorant. Mr. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effect a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases.

Mr. Dixon sends a pamphlet describing his new treatment on the receipt of stamp to pay postage. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son, 303 King street west, Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Cured By B. B. B. When all Else Fail ed.

Give Them a Chance ?

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger airpassages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrah, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

Hesitation means Loss.

ATTACKED BY GLADSTONE

LAST NIGHT'S DEBATE IN THE BRITISH HOUSE.

Still Granting £5,000,000 to Carry Out the Ashbourne Act Introduced—The Liberal Leaders Amendment.

London, Nov. 20—In the House of Commons last evening Mr. Madden, Solicitor-General for Ireland, in the absence of Mr. Balfour, who is ill, brought in the bill to further facilitate the purchase by tenants of land in Ireland by giving £5,000,000 more for such applicants under the Ashbourne Act. Mr. Madden, in explaining the proposals, said the operation of the Ashbourne Act as a great success. There had been 14,338 signed agreements for the purchase of land, of which 7032 had been completed. There were only two courses open to the Government: One was to abandon the scheme of land purchase, and the other was to extend the act.

When Mr. Madden had finished Mr. Gladstone arose. He was received with prolonged cheering from the Opposition. Mr. Gladstone moved this amendment to the Government proposal:—

"That in lieu of voting £5,000,000 it is expedient, in view of the lamentable sufferings arising from recent evictions in Ireland, to extend the land act of 1887 so as to empower the courts to reduce or cancel arrears of rents that are found to be excessive."

Mr. Gladstone complained that the Government had broken their pledge to the House after obtaining the whole command of the time at the disposal of the Government under engagement that no controversial measures should be introduced. His amendment did not strike at the Ashbourne Act, nor would it necessarily stop its operations. He did not desire to stop the operations of the act, whatever he might consider its dangers, and he did not oppose the bill because it proposed to keep the act alive, but he objected to it because of the amount demanded. The Government, he said, had no power to ask Parliament for a limited grant which would suffice to enable them to continue the operations of the act until the spring, when Parliament could consider the whole matter. The Opposition would cheerfully agree to such an adjournment. The Government instead of taking that course produced a bill involving Parliament in a fresh approval of its land purchase policy. [Cries of "Hear Hear."]

Mr. Gladstone continued, stating that it was the manifest design of the Government to withdraw the subject of Irish land from the view of Parliament for several years. (Cheers.) That was not the course which could be allowed. The principle of the previous land act was totally different from the Ashbourne Act, under which £5,000,000 were obtained, apparently as a precedent for another £5,000,000, thus drawing the House by slow degrees into a system from which there was no escape from putting the land in the hands of the Sale, making the state the immediate landlord without proper guarantees. How different was the proposal from the Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Trevelyan laid down the principle that the Government should not ask the national taxpayers to advance public money unless the Irish taxpayers in Ireland evinced confidence in the tenants by offering local guarantees.

What reason has the Government for refusing with such facility to deal with the arrears? Where they the means of insuring the servitude of the tenants? [Prolonged cheers.] It was certain that this bill would give the landlords a leverage to bring up rents, which it would only be a handful of tenants to acquire holdings. [Cheers.]

The Government were not justified in relying upon the tenants will to pay, after the recent declaration of Mr. Balfour, that the majority of 3,000,000 in Ireland were bent upon putting down the minority of 2,000,000 in order to get at and fill their pockets. [Cheers.]

The tenants themselves had urgently demanded a settlement of arrears. A similar necessity had been acknowledged in the case of the crofters of Scotland. Much greater had been the need of Ireland, where the arrears were running without limit and led to a paralysis of the farmers' engagements and an increasing flow of evictions. He asked the House to intervene and prevent a recurrence of mischief, too certain to ensue, perhaps on a greatly augmented scale, under the Government's policy. Let them do justice to Ireland in the matter of arrears. [Cheers.]

Mr. Goschen, Chancellor of the Exchequer, denied that the Government were pledged not to introduce controversial measures during the winter session. Mr. Gladstone's statement, that if the Government had asked just sufficient to keep the act in operation till the next session it would have been granted, was incorrect. People were taking to ascertain whether such a proposal would be acceptable, and the response did not encourage the attempt. ["Hear! Hear!"]

The immediate extension of the Ashbourne Act was a necessity. It was desired by the tenants and he hoped the House and the country would perceive that they were dealing with land purchase which was not incompatible with dealing with arrears. The Government was prepared to deal with arrears in the course of time. ["Hear! Hear!"] His suggestion that there were practically existing landlords in a conspiracy to allow the arrears to continue and to encourage evictions was so absurd that it was scarcely worth answering. [Cheers.]

Mr. O'Brien maintained that the bill would make rich landlords richer. It would leave poor colliers in the west, in as bad a position as ever. It was merely a plan to shovel English gold into the pockets of the Irish landlords.

Mr. Campbell-Bannerman (Lib.) severely censured the manner in which the Government were thrusting the bill upon the House.

THE SLAVE TRADE.

France Has Not Engaged to Co-Operate in the East African Blockade.

PARIS, Nov. 20.—In the Chamber of Deputies yesterday M. Goblet, Minister of Foreign Affairs, stated that France had not engaged to co-operate with England and Germany in a blockade of the coast of East India. If the powers, he said, had requested permission from the French Government to search the ships flying the French flag which were suspected of being engaged in the slave trade or importing arms into Africa. The Government had replied that it could not recognize the right of England or Germany to search all vessels under the French flag. Certain abuses due to the slave trade might have arisen, but they did not have the gravity with which it was sought to invest them. They were not to be compared with those perpetrated in the interior or on the coast of North Africa. Nevertheless a French war ship would be sent to prevent slave trading being conducted under the French flag.

ROCKAWAY, L.I., Nov. 20.—Three Bohemian laborers were drowned while out rowing here yesterday.

Chapter on Letter Writing.

In youth we open many a correspondence which has no reason for being and continue it long after all parties are tired of it, simply for consistency's sake or from a fear of hurting somebody's feelings. "Surely," they say, "you can spare time to write a few lines to an old friend now and then." It would cost no, surely. But let us examine the matter. One can sit down and scribble a few lines with a pencil in five minutes. But that is not the kind of "few lines" which the expostulation implies. Whatever is worth doing at all is worth doing well, and a hurried note, evidently written from a mere sense of duty, is uncomplimentary rather than complimentary to the recipient. But it will be found that the completion of a satisfactory letter will demand on an average one hour.

Aside from the mere process of writing, there are numberless accompaniments which take time and make trouble. The writing paper, envelope, pen, penholder, ink, blotting paper, postage stamp, and perhaps also the seal, wax and taper, must be procured and put into proper shape. Often some or all of these accompaniments are not forthcoming immediately, or are out of order. Then the letter from the friend must be re-read and all its points noted. All these things take time and involve the expenditure of nerve force, and so, of course, does the composition of the letter itself. Then the letter must be read over, corrected, amended, folded, inclosed, sealed, addressed, stamped, weighed and posted. It is really quite a laborious and complicated affair, this apparently simple inscription of a "few lines," and if one has it to attend to twenty times every, for the benefit of twenty perfunctional correspondents, it will become shortly a grievous burden and an intolerable tax on his time and strength.

What then! Shall we never communicate with our friends! Not so; but reduce the number of correspondents, and frankly tell the chosen few that you have no time to write often or regularly, if that be the case. It is very easy to make the requisite elimination. We all know, in our secret hearts, which of our friends are most valuable, and which of them are of little value or positively harmful. The selection made, a little courage is all that is requisite for the next step. It may be a disagreeable duty, but duty is often disagreeable, and is meant to be so. If duty were always agreeable, there would not be much virtue in being virtuous.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Whims of Street Car Men.

It is generally supposed that men who serve the public must cast aside all their personal likes and prefer the service impersonally. But the fact is that men who have sufficient ability to rise into important positions—such as, for instance, the head of a great railway company—are men who have greater individuality than ordinary men, and consequently are more given to pet schemes, and more persistent in executing them. Take the street railway presidents in this town. Every one has his favorite. One of them must have nice coaches. No matter how the other stock is, the coaches must be the most improved pattern, and always as clean and bright as a new dollar, even were there no horses to pull them. Another one is almost a monomaniac on the subject of fat, sleek horses. If the roadbed becomes so rough as to damage anyone's watch, still the horses must be in fine condition. Another whom I know insists that every driver shall wear a clean, white collar, even though his clothes be soiled to the color of chile still another president must have his drivers clad in bright clean uniforms, and must have the conduct in A1 condition.—Driver in Globe-Democrat.

Police Orders in Vienna.

The Viennese delight in witnessing military pageants with all due liberty, so they were vexed and disgusted at the unusual precautions that have been taken to secure the safety of the emperor of Germany during his recent visit to the Austrian capital. The janitors of all the buildings that line the route of the procession received orders from the police to allow no one on the roofs of the houses under their care and to stand themselves by the street doors during the passing of the procession, with a view to preventing any one from entering the houses. They were also forbidden to have any scaffolding or arrangement of seats erected in the vestibules of the houses, which are in many cases very spacious. This latter measure is explained in the official police order, as dictated by a desire to secure the safety of the public, lest the erection of wooden structures should be attended by a fire or other accident, but the fear of bomb throwers was probably the real reason. These precautions were taken against the German Republicans, who, under various names, are quite numerous in Vienna.—San Francisco Chronicle.

The Latest Women's Club.

The organizations among women are of every conceivable kind and nature, from the church sewing society to the women's suffrage associations. The latest is perhaps the most unique. It is called "The Kindly Club," is not officered, and has its headquarters in New York city. Its object is the cultivation of kindly thought by kindly words and by the suppression of "evil speaking, lying and slandering." The only qualification demanded of a member is that she shall sign the form of membership and pledge herself "to strive earnestly to cultivate kindliness of thought and word; to resolve never to repeat derogatory or ill natured remarks of another, never to belittle any one, never to spread unkindly gossip or scandal."

The badge of the society is a pin with the design of a bridle, bearing as its motto, "The Law of Kindness." Those who do not care to wear the pin can choose the violet button worn by the society. The dues for membership are $1 a year, to be used in defraying expenses of publication and distribution of leaflets concerning kindliness. The meetings take place once a month at the headquarters.—New York Sun.

A Ring of Evil Omen.

A ring has risen into great prominence as being the cause of the misfortunes which have lately afflicted the royal house of Spain. The late King Alphonso XII gave it to his cousin Mercedes when he was betrothed to her, and she wore it during the whole of her short married life. On her death the king presented it to his grandmother, the Queen Christina. She died very soon after, when it passed to the king's sister, the Infanta del Pilar, who at once began to sicken and in a few days also breathed her last. Alphonso then gave it to his sister-in-law Christina, the younger daughter of the Duke of Montpensier, in three months she died. Alphonso then took charge of the ring himself, but he, too, soon fell a victim. By order of his widow it has now been suspended by a chain round the neck of the statue of the Maid of Almudena, the patron saint of Madrid.—New York Sun.

A Tax Upon Incomes.

The French cabinet has approved a scheme to impose a tax of 1 per cent. on incomes, and a tax of one-half 1 per cent. on interest returns. Incomes of less than 2,000 francs are to be exempt from taxation, and incomes of from 2,000 to 3,000 francs are to be allowed a certain mitigation. Resident foreigners are to be liable for the whole of their incomes, and temporary residents for the portion spent or collected in France.—Chicago Herald.

Valuable to Know.
Consumption may be more easily prevented than cured. The irritating and harassing cough will be greatly relieved by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

Dangerous Counterfeits.
Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. For sale by all druggists or sent post-paid on receipt of price, 50c. and $1.) by addressing Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Rare Combination.
There is no other remedy or combination of medicines that meets so many requirements, as does Burdock Blood Bitters in its wide range of power over such Chronic diseases as Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Complaint, Scrofula and all humors of the blood.

There are a number of varieties of corns Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure one. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

Otis Cattle, 49 Pearl Street Buffalo, N. Y. says: I tried various remedies for the piles but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications.

Mrs. George Lesuk, Ha'dimand Township, has received more benefit from a bottle of Dawling's Pepsin Compound, than anything she has ever taken in her life. She has been troubled with biliousness, loss of appetite and constipation for years. Now she has none of these troubles. People write to her and see how she is well recommend you to buy Dawling's Pepsin Compound if you are Dyspeptic.

The cheapest medicine in use is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Scarcely very little can be required to effect a cure. For croup, diphtheria, and diseases of the lungs and throat, whether used for bathing the chest or throat, or taking internally or inhaling, it is a matchless compound.

Why not does Dowling's Pepsin Compound cure? Dyspepsia and Indigestion. What are the symptoms? Biliousness, constipation, lack of energy, drowsiness, headache, pains in the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, depression of spirits. Ask your druggist for it.

Dowling's Little Liver Granules are highly recommended for all diseases of the liver.

Mr. Thomas Ballard, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I have been afflicted for nearly a year with that most-to be dreaded disease Dyspepsia, and at times were not with my head and want of sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended I tried one box of Parmelee's Valuable Pills. I am now nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money."

Parmelee's Pills possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body." Mr. T. Rowell, Carswell P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

All of the dyspeptic remedies ever placed in the market, Dowling's Pepsin Compound takes the lead. Why? Because it acts naturally on the digestive organs of the stomach, and not mechanically, like the other patent medicines. Besides, it helps to assimilate and digest all the foods that enter the stomach. Ask your druggist for a bottle.

Belleville ites follow the example of Mrs. Geo. Leech, of Haldimand, and many others, and rid ourselves of that dire disease, dyspepsia and indigestion.

The Dangerous Coal Oil.
MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—The explosion of poor, refined coal oil is the cause of many a accidental burning. A little girl named Beauchamp living on Maple street, while helping her mother in domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while resting on the table. Her burning clothing was only torn from her with great difficulty and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quickly summoned and the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined Oil a considerable quantity of inferior Coal Oil is being sold.
In order to avoid these dangers we have taken the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil:
'CARBON SAFETY OIL'
A specially refined and superior grade of Canadian Oil,
ASTRAL OIL,
A high grade American Oil.
These we can most confidently recommend to our retail trade as goods that will give entire satisfaction.
We are also fully supplied with Water White and Prime White American Oil and the usual brands of Canadian Oil.

WHAT AILS YOU?

Do you feel dull, languid, low-spirited, lifeless, and indescribably miserable, both physically and mentally; experience a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, or of "goneness," or emptiness of stomach in the morning, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headaches, blurred eyesight, "floating specks" before the eyes, nervous prostration or exhaustion, irritability of temper, hot flushes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp, biting, transient pains here and there, cold feet, drowsiness after meals, wakefulness, or disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant, indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?

If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from that most common of American maladies—Bilious Dyspepsia, or Torpid Liver, associated with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. No matter what stage it has reached, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will subdue it, if taken according to directions for a reasonable length of time. If not cured, complications multiply and Consumption of the Lungs, Skin Diseases, Heart Disease, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, or other grave maladies are quite liable to set in and, sooner or later, induce a fatal termination.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery acts powerfully upon the Liver, and through that great blood-purifying organ, cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. It is equally efficacious in acting upon the Kidneys, and other excretory organs, cleansing, strengthening, and healing their diseases. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it promotes digestion and nutrition, thereby building up both flesh and strength. In malarial districts, this wonderful medicine has gained great celebrity in curing Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Dumb Ague, and kindred diseases.

Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-joint Disease, "White Swellings," Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. "FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."

Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength and bodily health will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofula of the Lungs, is arrested and cured by this remedy, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease. From its marvelous power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "CONSUMPTION CURE," but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for Consumption, but for all Chronic Diseases of the Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Chronic Nasal Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an efficient remedy.

Sold by Druggists, at $1.00, or Six Bottles for $5.00.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, NOV. 20

A JOURNALISTIC JANUS.

Like the god Janus Bifrons, of ancient Rome, the Toronto Globe has, so far at least as the National Policy is concerned had two faces of different aspect. Its local, commercial and news columns smile upon that policy and record the benefits which it has conferred upon the country but in the editorial columns it is savagely scowled upon, denounced and abused without stint as the very essence of evil.

The scowling face of the Globe has been so often presented, that it is undesirable to refer to it further at present because of its well known hideousness.

The smiling face was presented a few days ago, when it referred to a visit to the shipbuilding works of the Polson Iron works at Owen Sound of a number of gentlemen from Toronto, who went to see the new steel steamship which is now being built there for the Canadian Pacific R'y Company. This vessel is described in glowing terms by the Globe as the first steel steamer ever built in Canada, and is some 30 odd feet larger than the Athabasca and Alberta, of the present C.P.R. fleet. The Polson works at Owen Sound, the Globe adds, cover about 8 acres of ground and are splendidly equipped with well built workshops, etc., everything, in fact, necessary for iron and steel ship building. Over 300 men are employed there at present, working day and night on the new boat, at night by the aid of electric lights.

Our contemporary then, with its broadest and most benevolent smile, tells its readers that "the benefit which the buildind of such a boat gives to Owen Sound directly and to the whole of Canada indirectly can be imagined when the fact that her contract price is $250,000 is remembered. Every dollar of that large sum will be spent in Canada, instead of being sent to some Clyde shipbuilding company, and the enterprise of Messrs. Polson in tackling such a piece of work is worthy of all praise."

This from the Toronto Globe, which has denounced the N. P.—and particularly the latest addition to it, that caused the establishment of these very works—as "organized robbery" is a fitting exemplification of the Janus-like attributes of the Grit organ. It is well, however, that the false representations of the Globe's editorial columns should find contradiction in its news columns.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

Our American friends do not seem inclined to wait for Wiman's and Butterworth's scheme to take effect so as to enable them to mass the commercial legislation of Canada. By the treaty of 1818, which has the force of law, and the Canadian regulations under that treaty, their fishing vessels are allowed to enter our harbors for shelter or repairs, the purchase of firewood, the procuring of water and for no other purpose whatever; which treaty is as binding upon them as upon us; and yet they assert that they have the right of rendering the [provisions of that treaty null and inoperative by simply granting their fishing vessels a license to "touch and trade." If this is an example of what they do now, what might we expect if they had the full power to legislate for us?

Republican papers announce that Mr. Harrison has offered Mr. Blaine the position of Secretary of State in the new American administration. This indicates pretty plainly that the policy of the Harrison government will be Mr. Blaine's policy.—Ottawa Free Press.

And Mr. Blaine's policy is, no free trade with Canada without annexation. The Globe, and the Mail and Prof. Goldwin Smith will please note.

Whilst noisy politicians amongst our neighbors have been threatening the abolition of British rule on this continent, and the capture of Halifax and Bermuda, Britain has been quietly conquering the United States. British fashions, sports, amusements, habits and even British modes of speech have quietly invaded the principal cities of the United States and are sweeping all before them. This triumph for the British lion is amusing, in view of the blustering of the tail-twisters.

Nine Million Witches Burned!

Sprenger computes that during the Christian era no fewer than nine million witches were immolated. In England, the last execution for witchcraft took place in 1716, but in Illinois as late as 1780 to 1790, several unfortunates were put to death. This is a terrible reflection on the boasted enlightenment of the age; but we must not be over censorious, while we daily see friends going down to death, ignorance or prejudice preventing the use of remedies which might save them. Many a cold runs into consumption, while indigestion and impure blood debilitates the system, inviting fatal attacks, when the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery would have ensured health and happiness.

Public School Concert.

Our Marmora correspondent writes:—"The children of the public school here gave their fourth annual concert this evening in the Town Hall. It by far surpassed any of the previous ones both in programme and financially, and could be termed a complete success were it not for the very disorderly manner in which some of the young people conducted themselves. A song by Miss Deacon was the favorite, though one and all the children did well, and each year shows a marked improvement in them all in this line of training. It is with deep feelings of regret that we chronicle the near departure of our teachers, more particularly the Principal, Mr. Dale, which takes place at Christmas. Captain O'Neill delivered a very witty address, and was followed in the same line by Mr. J. W. Pierce, after which the Chairman, Mr. W. E. Gladney, made a few remarks, and the concert was brought to a close by singing "God save the Queen."

BARBER'S BRIDE LOCATED.

THE WOMAN WHO MARRIED THE SUSPENSION BRIDGE SUICIDE.

A Love Match on the Atlantic Followed by a Wedding—A Dramatic Story of Intrigue—"Polly" Bredin's History.

TORONTO, Nov. 20.—Many of the mysteries surrounding the suicide of Fred Barber at Suspension Bridge last Friday evening have been cleared up. Early yesterday morning a middle-aged woman, richly dressed and wearing an overcast countenance, was shown into the reception-room at the Queen's Hotel and sought an audience with Mr. McGaw. This was granted, and to the host of the well-known Front-street hostelry the new-comer told the story of her marriage with the dead man on Wednesday last at Niagara Falls, N. Y. She also informed Mr. McGaw that she lived at No. 17 Windsor-street, the gate-guarded thoroughfare of St. George's Ward, and that she would claim the remains now lying in the metallic casket in the vault of St. James' Cemetery.

Mrs. Barber was seen at her home by a reporter last night. She was dressed in a rich costume of black, and appeared to be greatly distressed. Mrs. Barber is probably 35 years of age, and talks with a pronounced Scotch accent. She is intelligent looking and apparently a person of education. She is of somewhat low stature, and may be classed as between a blonde and brunette. However, she cannot be described as the beauty which the reporters of the associated press at Niagara painted her in their despatches to the Toronto papers. She said:

"Mr. Barber had the utmost confidence in me and we loved each other very much. I first met him on board an Atlantic steamer a few months ago, when I was on my way to the Old Country. We became friends, and before we left the steamer on the other side were engaged to be married. So we were. I first learned of Mr. Barber's suicide about 8 o'clock last Saturday night. I read it in the papers. I did not believe it, but the news so prostrated me that I was unable to go out, or I would have gone to the Queen's Hotel and proclaimed myself the missing bride. I have not the slightest idea why Mr. Barber shot himself, except that he may have been suffering from temporary insanity. We were married last Wednesday evening at Niagara Falls. After we were married we put up at the Prospect House for the night. Mr. Barber was very careful not to register me at the hotel as his wife until after we were married. Thursday we left the Falls and came to Toronto. We arrived in this city at 12.40 on Friday morning (by the late train) and came straight to this house. That is the reason Mr. Barber did not go to his hotel. He left me about 9.30 Friday morning to attend to some business. That is the last I saw of him. Before going out he wrote a letter to his mother—['here it is,' said Mrs. Barber displaying it]—and one to Mr. Eyre, the father of his first wife. The letter to Mr. Eyre was only half finished, and it spoke of domestic troubles at home."

The letter to his mother is as follows:

TORONTO, Nov. 16, 1888.

DEAR MOTHER,— * * * Now, mother, I told you I had seen the woman who would make me a wife when I arrived home last time, and from this opinion I have never varied. I therefore decided, after arrival here, to ask her to marry me and we have been married. I promised you before leaving home that if this were so, you should be the first one to know, and I therefore write you at once. Now she insists, and not against my inclination, that you shall stay with us during your life, and be both a stay to her and a loving care as well.

You know, dear mother, we, that is you and I, have both talked and argued this matter over and you have said "Get settled." I have done so, I hope for life. I have got a brave, loving wife, who will make a mother to Eyre, a kind daughter to you and a comfort to me. She will write herself to enclose with this, but my dear mother don't leave us, stay with us and we will try our utmost to all be loving and kind so that you may be happier than you have been for some years.

My wife will meet me in Halifax, from whence we sail (D. V.) in the Sarmatian on Dec. 15, and you may expect us to reach home about Xmas. I will write you further details in my letters as I go along, but in the meantime will you, like a dear, kind, loving mother, as you have always been to me, even though we have had our tiffs and makings up, try and get a good servant into the house for me. I have done what you have often told me you would like to see me do, and now it is done I know you would not do anything but what would tend to the happiness of all parties.

I shall write Mr. Eyre this mail and also my partners to whom it will not come as much of a surprise, knowing as they do that I have been in correspondence with my wife for some time. I don't know that I have more to say this time, but hope the step I have taken will be for the general good, and never be regretted by anybody. With affectionate love,

FRED.

"That tells the story," said the woman, "I was to have met Mr. Barber at the Queen's at noon on Friday and his letter and my letter were to have been put in the same envelope and despatched to England. Then we were to procure our berths on board the Sarmatian, and I was to meet him at Halifax on Dec. 15, as stated in the letter.

"I have been married before and have three children. I do not care to say anything about my first husband more than that I divorced myself from him. I do not wish, either, to say where my children are at present. They are at a boarding school."

That Fred Barber was led into a deliberate trap there seems to be no reasonable doubt. Mrs. Barber's maiden name was Mary Pattison Hill, and she came from Scotland to Canada several years ago and married Thomas W. Bredin, the son of highly respectable parents at Whitby. Bredin's father is a clergyman, and is said now to be in the neighborhood of Alliston. When Bredin married Mary Hill he was a teller in the Whitby branch of the Ontario Bank. Dissipation and irregular habits lost him his situation, and he and his wife separated, she accusing him of cruelty and he her of infidelity. Mrs. Bredin, about five years ago, came to Toronto and became an inmate of Bella Howard's irregular resort in Teraulay-street. She afterwards moved to No. 104 Richmond-street west, with Miss Howard, where she remained for a time. About three years ago she opened a house of assignation at No. 180 Adelaide street west. For 2½ years she kept this place so quiet that even the police did not know of its existence. In the directory she described herself as a music teacher. She is highly educated in music and speaks three or four languages. Her establishment was run on exclusive principles. Young men and boys of the city were not allowed to bring women to her place. Her patrons were traveling men of means and strangers of wealth. She had an extensive patronage, flourished and made money. But still the police never "got on" to her place, nor were there ever any complaints against her. One inspector, however, did visit the place one fine evening, but he could see nothing wrong and did not interfere. "No. 180" was painted in large letters on the transom over the front door. To her patrons she was known as "Polly" Bredin. Her husband, Thomas P. Bredin, was directoried as being a boarder at No. 180, and he is now or was a porter in the employ of the Grand Trunk Railway.

About six months ago Mrs. Bredin made a trip to Scotland and she met Barber on shipboard. He became infatuated with her and fell in love with her. It is stoutly asserted by those who now know the facts that Barber did not know the character of his new acquaintance. This is probably true and undoubtedly the cause of Fred Barber's suicide was that in some way as yet unknown he was made acquainted with the past history of "Polly Bredin."

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

All the Canadian Delegates Ask Powderly to Continue as Chief.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 20.—The desire of the delegates to the General Assembly of the Knights of Labor to continue Powderly as chief has been expressed to him formally. The seven delegates who represent the Canadian assemblies called on him and asked him to accept the office once more. He gave them to understand that he would do so providing he could choose his own advisers on the General Executive Board. Everything indicates that he will be given his wish, and there is now only a difference of opinion regarding the way it shall be done. One plan is for him to choose eight names, four of which will be selected by the Assembly. Another plan contemplates the nomination of four men, and if any be rejected new names shall be presented until the number is complete. Under any circumstances Mr. Powderly will undoubtedly continue in office and will choose his own cabinet.

Canada wants to be represented in the General Executive Board, the South has a like desire, and a movement is on foot looking to the selection of some representative business man. It is reported that a proposition looking to the formation of an entirely new constitution has been made to the General Assembly and has been considered by the committee. As there is a strong feeling in favor of a radical revision of the present constitution, there is little doubt that the new constitution will have many supporters.

Mr. Barry has ready another instalment of his attack on the Powderly administration, and it is said he will keep up his denunciations in the form of long articles for several days. This is his way of keeping before the public and preparing the way for the new order which he proposes to establish.

At the afternoon session of the General Assembly no active business was completed although a lively time interested the delegates. Last week George E. Detweiler, editor of The Knights of Labor, a Chicago publication, was in this city in his individual capacity of editor and member of the order after which his paper is named and of which it is not the official organ. On his return home he wrote an editorial which appeared in his publication on Saturday and was read here yesterday. This editorial was an attack on the character and position of this General Assembly, stating that Powderly is the ruling mind, that the convention was packed in the interest of the General Master Workman, and that Powderly and Litchman were afraid of publicity and therefore both of them were ready to make peace and promptly did so at the first chance.

Powderly took the floor and made a vigorous denial and denunciation of the whole matter. He had introduced and referred to a committee a resolution that whenever a member of the order shall through the public press make accusations of misdemeanor against members or officials of the order, without first having made and sustained those accusations before the proper court of the order, he lays himself open to immediate expulsion by the General Executive Board without trial.

Ex-Secretary Charles H. Litchman followed Mr. Powderly in a denunciation of the editorial and a denial of its statements.

W. F. Lewis, the Master Workman of the Miners' Assembly, and others followed, and all denied and denounced, while none defended the editor in his criticism.

The stand taken by Mr. Lewis in this case is regarded as significant and Powderly's friends hope it means that the miners will not desert the order. There has been a great fear of that and it will not be fully settled until after the meeting to be held by the miners at Columbus, O., on Dec. 5. By a secret circular Mr. Powderly has asked them to remain in the order and try to add to it those miners who are out. In like manner Mr. Lewis replied to Mr. Powderly saying that the Knights of Labor must do something for them if they wanted to keep their present membership among the miners. There the matter stands as it has for two weeks and action here is expected to influence the Columbus meeting next month. Mr. Lewis has kept quiet and took no stand for or against the charge but some hope his action yesterday is indicative of his probable action.

The increased expenditure for new war ships which has been provided for in the budget of 1889-90 amounts to 65,000,000 marks, the greater portion of which will be applied to the building of ironclads.

GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER.

John Naylor Gets Seven Years for Killing His Wife.

ST. ANDREWS, N. B., Nov. 20.—The trial of John Naylor for the murder of his wife at Clarendon on Sept. 29 was concluded yesterday. After Chief Justice Allan's address the jury retired and returned into court in less than an hour with the verdict of manslaughter, upon which the prisoner was sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary.

In a private interview with the prisoner in jail last night he stoutly protested his innocence and claimed to have no knowledge whatever of the cause of his wife's death.

AN AMERICAN CROOK.

Captured in Hamilton—A Railway Collision—Fined for Fighting.

HAMILTON, Nov. 20.—Late Saturday night Provincial Government Detective Griffin of Fort Erie, arrived here in search of Joseph Jeddo, alias Woodworth, whom he wanted for bringing stolen property into Canada. Jeddo is a smart and good-looking young fellow of about 26 years of age. He comes from West Seneca, N. Y., where he has a handsome young wife. He left his home a few weeks ago and went to Buffalo, where he stole a buggy. He also purchased a horse on the installment plan, and then skipped across the river to Fort Erie, where he traded it for two horses. From Fort Erie he went to Stevensville and sold the buggy, which was worth over $50 for $15. He also disposed of the horses at ridiculously low prices. Jeddo was found at the Walker House and placed under arrest. The only money found on him was 15 cents. Detective Griffin took his man to Fort Erie, where his trial will probably take place.

Shortly before 12 o'clock yesterday morning a collision occurred at the Northern and Northwestern switch on Ferguson-avenue near Kelly-street, between the express from the north and the pony engine, but little damage was done.

Before Judge Sinclair in chambers yesterday F. Fitzgerald, on behalf of Barton township, moved for orders appointing an engineer for the purpose of examining the roads of the Barton toll road company, Barton and Glanford road company and the Hamilton and Stoney Creek macadamized road company. Judge Sinclair, after hearing both parties, appointed Thomas Munro, engineer of the Welland canal at St. Catharines, to examine the three roads.

At the Police Court yesterday morning Pat McGrath and Michael Driscoll, who were found fighting in an alley Sunday afternoon and resisted arrest, were fined $3 each for fighting, McGrath being sent to jail for two months for assaulting an officer and Driscoll fined $2 for being drunk. Michael McGrath was fined $2 for being drunk also sent to jail for a month for interfering with an officer.

Albert Pomfret, a young man living at 170 John-street north, was accidentally shot in the forehead on Saturday. He and a friend from Galt were examining a bulldog revolver. The Galt man didn't know it was loaded and snapped the trigger. It was loaded, and the bullet struck Pomfret in the forehead, tearing a long furrow through the scalp and glancing from the bone it entered the ceiling.

The annual review and inspection of the Thirteenth battalion will likely take place next Saturday afternoon in the crystal palace grounds before Col. Otter, D.A.G., and his staff.

Mr. John Davis, the well-known fish dealer of the Arcade, is in luck again. On Saturday night before closing up his store he made sure that there was no money left there and nothing that could be carried away. Yesterday morning on going to his place of business he found that it had been broken into and ransacked. The tills were pulled out and every place bore signs of having been searched. Nothing was missing, but Mr. Davis was surprised to find a $2 bill which the would-be robber had dropped.

—The London City Clerk has experienced much difficulty in getting local clergymen to register the marriages solemnized by them as the law directs. An Ugly Cut.

Yesterday afternoon Jane Williams, who is familiarly known all over the city, met with a painful accident while under the influence of liquor. At about four o'clock she was proceeding down a Church street to her place of abode, when on the corner of that street and Dundas street, she fell, and striking her head on a stone inflicted a very ugly scalp wound, which rendered her insensible. She was conveyed to a house near by, when her wound was dressed.

Successful Hunting.

Mr. James Edgar has returned from the Northern townships, where he and a party have been waging war against the antiered monarchs of the forest. The chief fruits of the campaign were seen yesterday evening at Green's butcher shop, where five deer were shown. One was a large buck which weighed 216 pounds, another was an immense doe—one of the largest ever seen here—and the three others were young bucks. The party killed besides a number of partridges and some rabbits. All concerned are to be congratulated on their success. The season for deer hunting expires to-day.

St. Thomas Church Literary and Social Society.

A largely attended meeting of this society was held last evening in the Church Hall. An interesting programme was rendered, which consisted of instrumental solos by Mrs. Campbell and Miss Emborson, and a debate "Resolved, That Lord Clive's career in India was more creditable than reprehensible." The affirmative was supported by Messrs. C. H. Jellett, A. Pepler and R. M. Roy, jr., and the negative by Messrs. H. J. Fetherston and Mr. Geo. H. Chandler. After argument from both sides it was decided by the audience in favor of the affirmative. A number of new members were added.

Literary Notes.

"John Ward, Preacher," is the title of a novel by Margaret Delland, which has been published by J. Theo. Robinson, Montreal. It is an exceedingly clever story—the best novel of a religious character that has of late appeared. This, apart from its intrinsic character, as to which readers must judge for themselves. For sale by booksellers.

Mr. Bryce, of Toronto, has issued from his prolific press, Jules Verne's popular novel "Michael Strogoff" and "The Astonishing History of Troy Town," by Q. These books are in popular form and ought to meet with a ready sale. The booksellers have them.

To-Night.

The McGibeny Family appear at the Opera House to-night. Of this talented family the Springfield (Ill.) Daily News says: "The McGibeny Family need no compliments. Their fame is as broad as the continent. To have heard them is to have a line of blissful memory that reaches through all the future. From the oldest to the youngest, this family were formed to please. It was a refined and cultivated audience that greeted them, and the audience was delighted. It was a religious audience largely, and this only thinks it will be a benediction to their religion. Some people think the devil is in a fiddle, but the News would much sooner believe he was in the man who draws the bow. No man ever heard and enjoyed a McGibeny concert but he was the better for it. Their music is chaste, elegant, pleasing and full of power. The children are just too cute for anything. But go to-night and hear and see for yourself."

Christ Church Young People's Association.

A regular meeting of the above Association took place in their hall on John Street last evening, to a large audience. The chair was taken at 8 o'clock by Mr. A. H. Wallbridge. The meeting opened with prayer by Rev. S. Daw. J. A. Elliott, Secretary, then read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were approved of. Mr. W. R. Carmichael gave a reading, which was highly instructive. A debate was chosen for next meeting with Resolved, that the Scott Act is a benefit to Canada. A vote of thanks was then tendered the retiring officers for their past labors. The following officers were then elected :—Hon. President, Rev. S. Daw ; President, W. B. Grannum ; 1st Vice do., Miss Diamond ; 2nd Vice do., G. Markell ; Secretary, Miss Kyle ; Treasurer, Mr. Kerr ; Exec. Committee, Mrs. Daw, Mrs. Skinner, and Mr. Greatrix.

The meeting then closed by the singing of the doxology.

Stand or I'll Shoot.

The following is from the Peterborough Review of Monday : Peter Brennan, from Belleville, got a drunk at Wilson's hotel on Saturday, and when his spirits—or rather Wilson's spirits—got pretty well worked up, he began to let people know that he was from the Bay City and his expostulations broke a pain of glass in the hotel window. Mr. Wilson went up after the police and Constable Stewart went down, but the man had gone. However, Wilson spied the bouncer from Belleville a few blocks away, and Constable Stewart started in pursuit. He chased the man about a dozen blocks, when out "Stand or I'll shoot you like a rat." The man had probably heard of Stewart's past record, as he came to a halt in an instant and walked back to the constable, and trotted to the station. He consoled himself, however, on the way to the cells by telling the policeman that if it was on Front street in Belleville, he would not take him so easy. At the Police Court this morning there was no charge against him, but he convicted himself, by telling the Magistrate he had been drunk and disorderly, and had to pay a $2 fine and one dollar damages.

COLLEGE FEDERATION.

A Large and Enthusiastic Audience at the Bridge Street Church.

A Good Subscription Raised Towards this Scheme.

At the Bridge Street Church last evening a large audience gathered to listen to addresses on this question, which at present is occupying the minds of the leaders of the Methodist church. On the platform were the Rev. Dr. Carman, General Superintendent of the Church, Rev. Drs. Potts, Burwash and Gardiner, Rev. J. Learoyd and others.

Dr. Carman was chosen chairman and in accepting the position said he was pleased to occupy the chair. He loved educational work. He thought that the church did a good work in this direction. It strikes the first principles. He believed in christian education. He believed in a Methodist education.

He thanked God that he was sent to Victoria College and came forth a converted young man. He went there an unconverted young man, but the surrounding influence he was surrounded with and led him to give his heart to God. The joyous experience in my life was when I was connected with an educational institution. We have several grand institutions in this country. We have invested in this work over $1,000,000. We must have institutions that will send out men that are filled with intellect. The time has come when something had to be done to save Victoria College. The General Conference said the policy of the church was that federation was necessary, and the man who was called to herald this news was one of the foremost ministers of our church, Rev. Dr. Potts. He also eulogized the work which had been performed by a number of men in the direction of education.

Rev. Dr. Burwash, Chancellor of Victoria University, was the next speaker. He was delighted to see so many present on this occasion, as it was an evidence of onward movement. The education movement is also progressing. The colleges which were in vogue fifty years ago are now behind in the race of education. There were then no opportunities for higher education, and those who wished to obtain this qualification were obliged to go across the line ; and it was on this account that our fathers founded an institution for higher education. The first institution of this kind was Upper Canada College. There were then only seven thousand of Methodists in this country. They gave for this institution $40,000. The federation movement has grown out of the necessities of our country. Where shall our boys go for their college training? First, where their souls will be kept. Where they can obtain the best advantage in all the subjects which they desire to know. The United States are taking a number of our young men away from us because we are divided on this question of Federation. How can we unite to build a grand university on this continent ? and the answer is that federation will promote a higher intellectual education. In Cobourg there are at present 125 students in course of training, and while we can take care of them, Toronto is the centre of student life for this country. There are to day in the city of Toronto about 2,800 students. All the principal schools of the various departments of life are situated there. All the different churches have representative colleges in Toronto, except the Methodist. We feel that we have no religious home in that city, and the reason is that we are losing a number of young men. We must go where we can find them and gather them in. If we plant there an institution,it will grow and prosper.

Rev. Dr. Potts was the next speaker. He said he came as a servant and representative of the Methodist church, as he was appointed to solicit aid for college federation by the general conference. As the results of different conferences with the members of the Provincial Government the matter of federation was decided two years ago, the general conference decided in favor of federation. Mr. Ross, Minister of Education, then told us to go to Queen's park and select the site, and we can purchase it for an insignificant sum and we can put it at any time. The matter of legislation has also been granted by the local legislature. The gentlemen of that House vied with each other in passing the federation bill. There were but two objections in that body. What does federation mean ? It means that we leave Cobourg and go to Toronto. We have every advantage in going to Toronto. We will go their to utilize our resources. We can go there and procure a higher education for our young men. It would lift our Methodism higher than it is. In federation our young men would graduate and occupy more prominent positions than they now occupy. We want for this scheme $400,000, and I believe one half of this will be subscribed before the first day of January 1889. The Methodists of this section of our vineyard will do their duty towards the accomplishment of this grand and noble work.

He then made an earnest appeal for subscriptions, which were taken up,and a good sum realized towards the object.

The choir of the church was present and rendered some fine selections, after the speeches of the different gentlemen. The meeting was brought to a close by the pronouncing of the benediction by the Rev. G. H. Copeland.

Personal.

Mr. Howard Woof, of Syracuse, N. Y., is in the city on a short visit. He and we are pleased to learn, doing well.

Mr. Thos. Mackerty is confined to his house by illness, which is reported to be very serious.

Secretary Balfour is ill with chills and fever.

Rev. Mr. Spurgeon has gone to the south of France.

The physician in attendance gives no hopes of Mrs. Jay Gould's recovery.

Dr. Henry B. Sands, of New York, the eminent surgeon, dropped dead in his carriage while he was being driven home on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Albert Holden, of Montreal, is in the city.

Hearty Response.

The following members of the Tabernacle church, who were present at the Bridge Street church last evening, subscribed the following amounts towards the $700 which had been alloted to that congregation : Rev. Dr. Carman $500, Principal Dyer $60, Prof. Holgate $25, Miss Ella Gardiner, $30, Mr. W. H. Gordon $25, T. J. Spafford $30, Rev. G. H. Copeland $25. Total $685. It will be seen that but $15 remains to be subscribed in this church.

Literary and Social,

A well attended meeting was held last night, for the purpose of forming a Literary and Social Society in connection with St. John's Church, West Belleville. The following officers were elected : President, Mr. T. Nightingale ; 1st Vice do., Miss Large ; 2d Vice do., Mr. A. Robinson ; Secy, Miss A. Wallis ; Treas., Mr. F. D. Ford ; Exec. Committee, the above officers with Mrs. T. Nightingale and Mr. J. F. Jones.

The Society will meet in the parish room every Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

THEFT BY WHOLESALE.

Henry Godfrey Convicted of Stealing Horse, Harness and Buggy.

Other Cases to be Brought.

Henry Godfrey is a sharp-looking, intelligent half breed, who has evidently inherited all the bad qualities of both races and none of the good ones. He is clearly an accomplished falsifier, a clever rogue, and, to crown all, a horse thief. His accomplishments, such as they are, have had their natural result and Godfrey, who has already been in the penitentiary and in gaol many times, is now in gaol here, charged with having stolen one horse from John Doreen, another from Charles Maracle, a buggy and harness from James Darcy, a buffalo robe, a set rigs, a whip and a brush from Edward Jones. All the spoil appears to have been appropriated on the 5th and 6th inst. in Tyendinaga, where the persons who own it live. Godfrey drove via Trenton and Roseneath, to Peterborough, where he sold Doreen's mare for $60 or $65 for shipment to Montreal. Thence he went to Bowmanville, where he was arrested, as stated in a previous issue, by Chief Gunyou of Deseronto. All the property, except the buffalo robe, was found with the prisoner, who had pawned the robe at Carleton for a night's lodging.

He was brought here for trial and this morning made his appearance before Capt. the Police Magistrate and elected to be tried by Mr. Flint. The County Attorney prosecuted.

Prisoner was first tried on the charge of stealing Mr. Darcy's property and the evidence was so clear that the Magistrate said he thought there was no doubt in the case. Godfrey, however, elected to plead guilty. He knew, he said, he was guilty in the eye of the law, because the articles were found in his possession ; but he did not steal them. He was arrested, as stated in a previous issue, by Chief Gunyou of Deseronto. All the property, except the buffalo robe, was found with the prisoner, who had pawned the robe at Carleton for a night's lodging.

The Council of the Village of Aylmer, nine miles from here in the Province of Quebec, vote to-day on the question of imposing license fees on non-resident merchants, and the bylaw will probably be carried unanimously. A short time ago a train on the Pontiac Pacific Railway was derailed near Parker's Station by running down and killing five horses which had strayed on the track owing to the carelessness of a farmer named Corrman in Bryson. He got the gate of a field in which the horses were kept. Damage to the extent of $7000 was done to the train. On Saturday Corrman was tried before the Stipendiary Magistrate St. Julien at Aylmer and fined $20 for his carelessness in laying the gate open and the company will sue him for the damage done.

It is stated that Hon John Carling, Minister of Agriculture, will soon commence the distribution of the grants made to the Northwest agricultural societies.

GATHERING FOR THE FRAY

COUNSEL IN THE CROSSING CASE ASSEMBLING AT OTTAWA.

General Middleton Contradicts the Rumor of His Alleged Intended Resignation—Mariners Rewarded for Bravery.

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—The forces for the legal battle to be commenced before the Supreme Court on Wednesday on the Manitoba Railway question are assembling. Mr. Clark, solicitor for the Canadian Pacific Railway, arrived on Friday. Attorney-General Martin got here Sunday, and Mr. D'Alton McCarthy, Q.C., Hon. Oliver Mowat and Hon. Edward Blake are expected to-day.

General Middleton returned to the city yesterday after inspecting the Dufferin Rifles. He flatly contradicts the story published in the United Service Gazette and copied into Canadian papers that he intends resigning his position in January next on account of disagreement with the Government. He says that he has always been treated with the greatest consideration by the Government, and as the Militia Department with a handsome binocular, a gold watch and four silver watches for bravery in rescuing the crew of the schooner Caledonia, wrecked while voyaging between Arguilla and Lunenburg.

POSSIBLY A MURDER.

An Oneida Indian Struck by a Companion, Dies Suddenly.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 20.—Dan Kennedy, an Oneida Indian, was in the city last Friday with two other Indians, Jonathan Hall and William Nicholas, with whom he partook freely of fire water. In the course of a row during Monday Kennedy was struck on the head with a club by Nicholas, inflicting a painful though not supposedly serious bruise. Hall and Kennedy then went for home, Nicholas remaining in the city. The two former proceeded about a mile along the road, when Kennedy complained of feeling ill and lay down in a corn field and soon after died. The coroner will hold an inquest.

Strange, but Still True.

Mrs. David Carstairs, Haldimand Township, met with a very pleasant surprise a few weeks ago. It seems Mrs. Carstairs has suffered a great deal from dyspepsia and indigestion, the symptoms of which were, pains in the stomach and bowels, and sick headache. She has tried a great many physicians, and an unlimited amount of patent medicines, but without any success; and last but not least, she tried Dowling's Pepsin Compound, and one bottle has removed both pain and ache. She returns the kindest regards to

F. E. DOWLING, Cobourg,

for his magnificent remedy. Bellevillelites, take pattern by this woman, and ask your Druggist for it

FILES! FILES! FILES!

Dr. William's Indian File Ointment is a sure cure for Blind, Bleeding or Itching Piles. No one need suffer. Prepared for Piles only. It never fails to cure. Sold by druggists for $1.00, or mailed on receipt of price. WILLIAMS MF'G Co., Cleveland, Ohio.

The Modus Operandi.

The mode of operating of Burdock Blood Bitters is that it acts at once and at the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and the Blood, to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in Chronic Complaints.

FEVER AND AGUE AND BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS are positively cured by the use of Parmelee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, causing them to pour copious effusions from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passages of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

To lessen mortality and stop the inroads of disease, use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. For all diseases arising from impure blood, such as Pimples, Blotches, Biliousness, Indigestion, etc., etc., it has no equal. Mrs. Thomas Smith, Elm, writes: "I am using this medicine for Dyspepsia ; I have tried many remedies, but this is the only one that has done me any good."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once ; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakens as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind. 3d&wly

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transition from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but allowed to run their own course, generally prove fatal—one-tenth or more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their affliction from a neglected cold, and kindred diseases are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. Onof the most effacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from vicerd phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state

Rest and Comfort to the Suffering.

"Brown's Household Panacea" has no equa for relieving pain, both internal and externa It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal, as its acting power is wonderful." "Brown's Household Panacea," being acknowledged as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family handy for use when wanted, "as it really is the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the Stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds, and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cts a bottle.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station Now York City.

Daily Intelligencer.

The Child of Waterloo.

BY GEORGE W. M. REYNOLDS.

It rained fast, but there was a dense mass of people, who saluted him with a groan. He had pulled off the cap which had been drawn over his face, and he yet struggled with his supporters more violently, as the moments grew shorter, and the mob hooted and howled dreadfully, the rain came down heavily, the dismal tolling of the bell came more dreadful and more distinctly than ever.

The preparations for the execution were completed, so far as the prisoners were concerned, and then the signal was given, and the wretched man, by some misplacement of the rope occasioned by his struggles, swung to and fro, horribly convulsed, for the space of one or two minutes, notwithstanding the executioners hung to his legs and thus added their weight to his.

After a short and sharp struggle he was no more and the spirit of the wretched cu'prit was launched into the dread realm of eternity.

CHAPTER LI.

The month of probation which Mabel had appointed for Henry Morton was soon expired, though it might seem long to the impatience of the lover, who counted the minutes which divided the present from the moment in which his future happiness was to be completed ; when in fact there should be no longer time to intervene between the object of his love, where no doubt of the future could cross his mind.

This time was come ; the morning of the marriage was come, and the old Hall looked gay ; and there were not happier faces to be seen round the whole country than were at Morton Hall.

Rafferty Brolickbones was ahead of all the fun and blunders of the day—up to the hour of the marriage ceremony. There was a peculiar life and oddity about Rafferty on this morning, that no one could understand. He appeared to be bursting with all sorts of fun, and every now and then he broke into loud expressions of mirth.

What was the cause of all this nobody could tell ; but whenever Rafferty passed any one, he would look at them very hard, and burst into a fit of laughter ; and when about to speak, would appear as if he were bolting his own words, and choking in the process.

'Well, Rafferty,' one would say, 'what ails you this morning ! Are you well ! You seem as if you had an earthquake in your stomach and can't digest it.'

'No,' said Rafferty, 'it isn't that, but it has been so long in coming ; that's what I'm thinking about.'

'What has been coming ?

'Ah ! that's my affair ; do you mind your own, as the bull said to the dog when he ate up the calf.'

'Never heard of such a case in all my life—never knew that the creature would do so ; but never mind ; you haven't got over that ducking you have had in the lane.'

'Do you mind your business.'

'Oh ! we haven't any business at all now, Rafferty, it's all pleasure—it is high treason in you, Rafferty, to talk about business on such a day as this.'

'Well, well, who's got nothing to do ? I'll soon give him something to do, if it's only to hold his tongue.'

'That seems to be much like doing nothing.'

'Oh you don't know how hard it is to do so, sometimes, honey, or you would not say so,' said Rafferty, with a knowing look.

'Well I never thought so until I saw you this morning, walking about, a-boiling over with something or other.'

Thus Rafferty was attacked by one or the other the whole morning ; but when the hour for the marriage—which hour was an early one—came round, then all was bustle and the party to the church was a numerous one.

Captain and Mrs. Morton went with them to church, and then the happiness of both was completed, and they were now united to each other for life.

The whole party left the church—the village church where so many incidents had taken place—where the man Stern-Bones, the murderer, had come to seek concealment, and from which he had been chased by the hostler of the Morton Arms.

The house—the hall—had been opened the day or two previous to the calls of such as chose to go, who were in any way connected with the estate, and Rafferty being the head man, had a controlling influence upon the character and extent of the proceedings that were exorted for the benefit of his patron, and the comfort of all who came there.

However, when the marriage was over—when the newly-married couple came home to the hall, Rafferty was nowhere to be seen. But captain Morton remarked that Rafferty Brolickbones was somewhat eccentric in his notions, and, therefore, he thought nothing of that, though, on that occasion, it did somewhat surprise him.

No more was said at the time, and the bride's health was drunk round in some of the finest champagne, and that with the utmost good will. Many were the good and kind wishes that were, on that day, uttered toward the bride and bridegroom. They were both beloved by all who lived within the sphere of their influence.

"But where is Rafferty ?" inquired the captain.

Nobody know ; he was called for everywhere, and search was made, but no Rafferty was forthcoming, and by dint of much inquiry, it was decided thathe had disappeared suddenly and mysteriously, immediately after the ceremony had been performed that morning, and had not been seen since.

"And what can have become of him ?" said Captain Morton. "I am anxious about him, because I am sure, had not something happened to him, he would have been present upon such an occasion.'

(To be continued).

Among the Indians.

"While my husband was trading in furs he became snow-bound and was taken to his lodge to die. He had inward pains and pains in all his limbs. He gave some Yellow Oil internally and applied it externally, and cured him. It also cured my husband of rheumatism, and I find it valuable for coughs and colds, sore throat, etc." Mrs. A. Besaw, Cook's Mills, Serpant River, Ont.

CATARRH

A New Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lower, inner membrane of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes. The eminent scientists, Tyndall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membranes in a constant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made oftener then once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before an application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease.

So highly are these remedies valued that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy a parasite, of which they know nothing, by remedies, of the results of the application of which they are equal ignorant. Mr. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effects a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases.

Mr. Dixon sends a pamphlet describing his new treatment on the receipt of stamp to pay postage. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son, 303 King street west, Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Cured By B. B. B. When all Else Failed.

Mr. Samuel Allan, of Lisle, Ont., states that he tried all the doctors in his locality while suffering for years with Liver and Kidney trouble ; nothing benefitted him until he took Burdock Blood Bitters, four bottles cured him.

Give Them a Chance ?

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrah, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

Hesitation means Loss.

If your hair is coming out or turning grey, or if you find dandruff in your hair do not hesitate about looking after it. Get some of Dr. Doren wend's "Hair Magic,' use it as directed and you will find that it will give you the best of satisfaction. Take warning, do not wait till it is too late but try it at once. All druggists sell it.

AN OLD RUMOR REVIVED.

THE C. P. R. SOON TO ACQUIRE THE CANADA ATLANTIC.

Parliament Probably to be Called Late in January—The Sault Ste. Marie Canal Look Contracts Signed.

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—The rumor is revived here that negotiations are in progress for the acquirement of the Canada Atlantic Railway by the Canadian Pacific and that the arrangement will very shortly be completed. The scheme, it is said, involves the lease of the line by the Canadian Pacific Railway to the Pacific Junction at Chaffey from Hull to Montreal, the Canadian Pacific Railway making connection with Montreal by the Canada Atlantic to St. Polycarpe and thence by the short line from Toronto.

The fact that the private sealing companies of the Pacific coast, who are of course opposed to the monopoly of the Alaska Commercial Company, supported the Republican ticket, is taken as an indication that the rights of private sealers in Behring Sea may be better recognized under Republican than under Democratic rule and that American war vessels will not dare to molest British vessels engaged in American and Canadian vessels sealing in Behring Sea.

Sir John Ross, Commandant of Her Majesty's forces in British North America, accompanied by his A. D. C. Lieut. Dhuleep Singh, arrived in the city this afternoon and is the guest of His Excellency the Governor-General, who gave a dinner at Rideau Hall to-night. Sir John Ross was administrator of the Government for the brief period between the departure of Lord Lansdowne and the swearing in of Lord Stanley, but this is his first visit to Ottawa.

The Governor of Montana Territory has asked the United States Secretary of State to make a requisition on the Canadian Government for the extradition of George Godin, a half-breed who escaped last August from the jail in Helena, while under conviction and awaiting sentence for the murder of a farmer named Peabody. Godin is now in jail in Edmonton.

Commissioner Herchmer of the Northwest Mounted Police is at present inspecting the patrol recently established in Manitoba to stop the depredations of Dakota smuggling and timber thieves.

Although the matter has not yet been formally discussed in council there is a sort of general understanding about the department that Parliament will be called for the dispatch of business on either Jan. 24 or 31 and the preparation of annual reports and estimates is being hurried up.

Application will be made to Parliament to incorporate the Ottawa, Montreal Railway and Bridge Company, for the purpose of building a union depot on the west bank of the canal, between Sapper's bridge and the militia stores.

An order in council has been passed approving of the plans for the proposed bridge across the Bay of Quinte at Belleville. The Bay of Quinte Bridge Company was incorporated session before last. The Council of Belleville has agreed to take $30,000 worth of the company's stock and the municipality of Ameliasburgh $15,000. The bridge will unite the counties of Hastings and Prince Edward.

The contract for the lock on the new Sault Ste. Marie Canal was signed last week by Hugh and John Ryan, who will commence work immediately.

MORMONISM IN PETERBORO.

An Anglican Missionary who Swamped and Stamped out the Order.

PETERBORO', Nov. 20.—It is a fact not generally known that Ontario already has her Mormon settlement. About 20 miles north of this town in the remotest township of the county, there exists a form of Mormon heathenism, which at any rate has not been long in growth. On the contrary, owing to the absence of their shameful practice of bigamy, their teachings have been coming for some allotments, and until recently they have not only been able to keep their congregation together and prosper in outward unanimity but have also added a number of professing Christians.

Of late, however, things have been running far from smoothly. Rev. Charles Wantham, a worthy, well, Anglican minister of the gospel in the district and as a Christian minister, gathered around him adherents of the Christian doctrine of all denominations. Methodists, Presbyterians, Baptists and Episcopalians alike, and by means of an kind or another finally succeeded in discomfiting the Mormons that they were compelled to accept a challenge sent them by Mr. Wantham, to meet him at a public meeting to discuss the various points at difference. The result was that the Mormon elders were compelled to admit that their Book of Mormon was anything but inspired, and in fact anything but true. From this time out the adherents of the Mormon Faith are numbered, and they are gradually beginning to learn that such doctrines as theirs have no place in this Canada of ours.

AMBITIOUS CITY NOTES.

Business Transacted at the Session of the Presbytery—A Small Steal.

HAMILTON, Nov. 20.—At the meeting of the Hamilton Presbytery to-day deputations were appointed in each congregation to wait upon the members of Parliament and request them to bring the matter of closing up the Lachine canal, Sunday to the attention of the Dominion Government. The call from St. John's Church, Hamilton, to Rev. H. Alraham was sanctioned at $1000 per annum was sustained.

There are a few clerical errors in the literature that decorates the front of the city coat of arms on the new City Hall. The sandstone artist has placed a period after the "I" in "Industry," and has omitted to put commas after the first two words in "Commerce, Prudence, Industry."

Mrs. Saulberg of 147 John street north reported to the police this morning that there were four men at her house last evening. About 9 o'clock, after they had departed, she missed $12 in cash, a gold locket, a silver locket, a silver fruit knife, a pinknife and a box containing 200 tickets for an organ lottery. The value of the steal is about $25.

A special meeting of the City Council was held last evening to arrange for the public reception which it is proposed to give Lord Stanley of Preston.

A People's Church for Toronto.

DETROIT, Nov. 20.—At to-day's session of the Christian Workers Rev. J. M. Williamson of Toronto said it was his intention to erect a people's church, to hold 5000 people, exclusively for the purpose of gathering in non-church goers. The cost would not be less than $15,000, of which sum two brethren will contribute $5000 each.

An Oil Blaze at Petrolia.

PETROLIA, Nov. 20.—A fire broke out today about 2 40 in the boiler house of the Producers' Oil Refining Company. It soon spread to an underground tank of crude oil. The fire brigade was promptly on hand and did good service. Loss about $900, partly insured.

LATE LONDON CHRONICLES.

The Queen Takes a First Prize at a Dairy Show—What's the Matter With Bondy?

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The Queen here is looking very well and looked bright on her arrival at Windsor station. Only the railway officials and the Mayor of Windsor were on the platform to welcome her. No one was admitted to any stations when the train stopped. Even at Perth, where some of the privileged public are occasionally admitted, no such exception was made. The station was kept absolutely cleared while the Queen dined and during her departure.

There are ominous difficulties ahead it Lord Salisbury adheres to his resolution of not sending another minister to Washington until the American government has explained the offence of dismissing Lord Sackville. Pigs is certainly to be promptly recalled, and thus both posts will be practically vacant.

What has come over Lord Randolph Churchill? is the question everyone is asking. His meeting at Paddington was large, enthusiastic and expectant, and though his speech was excellent—indeed, one of his best—the feeling left on the minds of the audience was slightly disappointing. They had gone to hear him censure the Government, he did nothing but bless them. Herein was the disappointment. Lord Randolph's great power lies in attack. He is never better than when pointing out the foibles and shortcomings of his opponents. There were such opportunities awaiting—notably the opportunity of criticising his whilom friend and adviser, the Home Secretary. But Lord Randolph forbore. He is clever enough to see the increasing power of the temperance party in England and is therefore a little ungrateful to his old friends the publicans, but he is satisfied that the real work for Parliament is to be found at home. In social questions that interest and affect the masses of working people in England he is perfect.

The much talked of inauguration of the Lyric club on Friday eclipses the glory of any similar function ever attempted in clubland. Phipps has contrived to adapt the building in a present time with marvelous skill. It is difficult to say whether the white and gold music crypt with blue carpet and curtains, the baronial chalk, the Elizabethan billiard room, the oak, lined with bamboo, draped with delicate Persian embroidery, or the Arabian palm. There is nothing like it in London. Everybody in town was to be seen at the concert. The Duchess of Manchester, in low-browed blue lace, wore seven rows of enormous pearls. The Duchess of Leinster was in white, Lady Randolph Churchill in terra cotta brocade, Lady Goldsmith in sea green crepe de chenie. Lady Charles Beresford in black, the Marquise de Santurce in black silk and pink moire, and Lady Hothfield in black velvet and felt. Lord Hartington related his experiences with Chubb and the non-conformists to select circles of friends. Sir Morell Mackenzie chatted in a quiet corner to his old lieutenant, Mark Ilovell.

The Queen took a first prize in one of the classes at the recent dairy show with a beautiful shorthorn, originally bought for Her Majesty at Windsor, from a well-known breeder in Westmoreland. A fine herd of black Galloway cattle has recently been purchased for the royal farm.

The prize paid by Remedy for the Murtty and Grantully estates, the sale of which was announced last week, is stated in Edinburgh to exceed £600,000.

At the artists and crafts exhibition on Thursday evening last, Walker's lecture on printing was the occasion of an amusing scene. Walker had expressed himself mildly as to the mechanical ugliness of new face type, and the folly, from an artistic printer's point of view, of illustrating books with pictures designed without reference to their destination as a part of the printed page. By this Walker meant, though he did not say so, that the monthly Harper's or Century is looked at as a decorative object, an abomination of desolation. An American gentleman here ventured to remonstrate. Thereupon Wm. Morris clotured Walker's unspoken thought in unmeasured words, denouncing American artists, engravers and printers alike, regardless of the fact that the American gentleman happened to be Joseph Pennell, whose works in black and white are the pride of the Century. The artsand crafts speedily made merry and Walker, on with much relish. Crane was there with Sanderson, the veteran J. J. Linton and other more or less well-known publishers. Pennell, too polite to retort on the ill-usage of his older and more famous adversary, could only appeal meekly from the injustice and the explosiveness of the poetic socialistic man. The Pennell incident will probably be the staple topic for next Thursday, when Sanderson lectures on bookbinding. EDMUND YATES.

Some time ago a teacher, on answering a knock at the school door, found one of her pupils well wrapped up to protect her from the rain. "Teacher, mother says I needn't come to school today, 'cause it rains," and down stairs the little maid fled like a frightened deer.

Valuable to Know.

Consumption may be moreseally prevented than cured. The irritating and harassing cough will be greatly relieved by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

Dangerous Counterfeits,

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL in appearance and style. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. A Rare Combination.

There is no other remedy or combination of medicines that meets so many requirements, as does Burdock Blood Bitters in its wide range of power over such Chronic diseases as Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Complaint, Scrofula and all humors of the blood.

There are a number of varieties of corns Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

Orin Catlin, 49 Pearl Street Buffalo, N. Y., says: I tried various remedies for the piles but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications.

MRS. GEORGE LESCH, Ha'dimand Township, has received more benefit from two bottles of Dr. Hag'yard's Pepsin Compound, than anything she has ever taken in her life. She has been troubled with bilious ness, loss of appetite and constipation for years. Now she has none of these troubles. People write to her and see how she will recommend you to take Dowling's Pepsin Compound if you are Dyspeptic

The cheapest medicine in use is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil because so very little is required to effect a cure. For croup, diphtheria, and the ases of the lungs and throat, whether used for bathing the chest and throat, or taken internally or inhaling it is a matchless compound.

What does Dowling's Pepsin Compound cure? Dyspepsia and Indigestion. What are the symptoms? Biliousness, constipation lack of energy, drowsiness, headache, pain in the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, depression of spirits. Ask your druggist for it.

Dowling's Little Liver Granules are highly recommended for all diseases of the liver.

Mr. Thomas Sellard, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I have been afflicted for nearly a year with that most-to be dreaded disease Dyspepsia, and at times was out with pain so I want d to sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended I tried one box of Parmelee's Valuable Pills. I am now nearly well and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money."

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby restoring health. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body." Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

All of the dyspeptic remedies ever placed in the market, Dowling's Pepsin Compound takes the lead. Why? Because it acts naturally on the digestive organs f the stomach, and not mechanically, like the other patent medicines. Besides, it helps to assimilate the food with the foods that enter the stomach. Ask your druggist for a bottle.

Belleville ites follow the example of Mrs. Geo. Leech, of Haidimand, and many others, and rid themselves of that dire disease, dyspepsia and indigestion.

BABY'S SKIN AND SCALP
Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by CUTICURA REMEDIES.

Our oldest child, now six years of age, when an infant six months old was attacked with a virulent, malignant skin disease. All ordinary remedies failing, we called our family physician who attempted to cure it; but it spread with almost incredible rapidity, until the lower portion of the little fellow's face, from the middle of his back down to his knees, was one solid rash, ugly, painful, blotched and matter-ba. We had nurses at night to nurse by day. Finally, we were advised to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES. The effect was simply marvelous. In three or four weeks a complete cure - as wrought, leaving the little fellow's person as white and healthy as though he had never been attacked. In my opinion your valuable remedies saved his life, and to-day he is a strong, healthy child, perfectly well, no repetition of the disease having ever occured. GEO B. SMITH,

CLEAR SKIN, PURE BLOOD.

No mother, who loves her children, who takes pride in their beauty, purity, and health, and in bestowing upon them a child's greatest inheritance,—a skin without a blemish, and a body nourished by pure blood—should fail to make trial of the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

I have seen the CUTICURA REMEDIES used for milk crust by a visitor in my house, and can testify that the cure was speedy and permanent. I have also used them myself, for eruptions of the skin on my little child, with the same result in every respect. The skin was broken out and rag ed to a most unsightly appearance. I have also heard my neighbors speak of the CUTICURA REMEDIES in the highest terms. E. P. BOAR,

The Dangerous Coal Oil.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—The explosion of poor, refined coal oil is the cause of another accidental burning. A little girl named Beauchamp living on Maple street, while helping her mother in domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while resting on the table. Her burning clothing was only torn from her with much difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quickly summoned and the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined Oil a considerable quantity of inferior Coal Oil is being sold.

In order to avoid these low grades we have taken the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil:

'CARBON SAFETY OIL'
A specially refined and superior grade of Canadian Oil.

ASTRAL OIL,
A high grade American Oil.
These we can most confidently recommend to our retail trade as goods that will give entire satisfaction.
We are also fully supplied with Water White and Prime White American Oil and the usual brands of Canadian Oil.

WHAT AILS YOU?

Do you feel dull, languid, low-spirited, lifeless, and indescribably miserable, both physically and mentally; experience a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, or of "goneness," or emptiness of stomach in the morning, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headaches, blurred eyesight, "floating specks" before the eyes, nervous prostration or exhaustion, irritability of temper, hot flushes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp, biting, transient pains here and there, cold feet, drowsiness after meals, wakefulness, or disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant, indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?

If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from that most common of American maladies—Bilious Dyspepsia, or Torpid Liver, associated with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. No matter what stage it has reached, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will subdue it, if taken according to directions for a reasonable length of time. If not cured, complications multiply and Consumption of the Lungs, Skin Diseases, Heart Disease, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, or other grave maladies are quite liable to set in and, sooner or later, induce a fatal termination.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery acts powerfully upon the Liver, and through that great blood-purifying organ, cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. It is equally efficacious in acting upon the Kidneys, and other excretory organs, cleansing, strengthening, and healing their diseases. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it promotes digestion and nutrition, thereby building up both flesh and strength. In malarial districts, this wonderful medicine has gained great celebrity in curing Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Dumb Ague, and kindred diseases.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-joint Disease, "White Swellings," Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large Treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a Treatise on Scrofulous Affections.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."

Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength and bodily health will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofula of the Lungs, is arrested and cured by this remedy, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease. From its marvelous power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "CONSUMPTION CURE," but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for Consumption, but for all Chronic Diseases of the Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Chronic Nasal Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an efficient remedy.

Sold by Druggists, at $1.00, or Six Bottles for $5.00.

THE BEST MARKET.

In opposition to the teachings of those who tell our farmers that they might expect great things from the policy which would secure them free access to the market of the United States—a policy impossible, except at the cost of annexation—Mr. R. H. Lawder, in the Empire, invites our people to study the following comparisons of a few of the current quotations for some of the articles of farm produce in Canadian and United States markets:

Mr. Lawder, who is one of the best authorities in this country on the subject, urges forcibly that whilst free trade might improve the prices for barley and heavy horses; it would just as certainly lower the prices of wheat, oats, corn, rye, hay, straw, pork products and many other farm products. If farmers would only study carefully the extent and value of their home market they would be little disposed to relinquish its many and important advantages for the very vague and uncertain gain to be derived from competition with the immense army of farmers in the United States. In grasping at a shadow they may lose the substance, as the dog did with the bone in the old fable.

IN KANSAS THEY BUSTED.

The Berlin Daily News in a recent issue informed its readers that "more people are coming back from Kansas. Two Hallmans, several Sniders and others, with their families, are amongst the latest to return to good old Waterloo. They brought a carload of stuff, and when they got to Berlin station they all felt like singing in the loudest strains, 'God save the Queen.' Though very much poorer in pocket than when they went to that 'promised land' to seek their fortunes, they are richer than ever in their love for dear old Canada, and all her good people and good institutions. They don't go in for annexation a cent's worth. A residence of several years in the States cures the most violent annexationist."

If the Hon. Edward Blake should read the News' statement, it will no doubt cause him some painful reflections because of his laudation of Kansas some years ago.

THE MURDER FIEND.

Our despatches from London this morning give the best grounds as yet afforded for hoping that the murder fiend who has killed and mutilated nine fallen women and threatened to continue his career of slaughter until twenty similar atrocities had been perpetrated by him, will be captured. He last night attacked and wounded, but happily did not succeed in killing the tenth woman, who says she can recognize her assailant. The officers are said to be on the track of the murderer and his arrest is confidently expected.

A later despatch states the belief of the police that the assailant of the woman is not the Whitechapel murderer.

Whilst correspondents will be accorded space for the expression of their ideas on topics of public interest, it must be in all cases understood that the views so expressed are simply those of the correspondents themselves.

Exaggerations Contradicted.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

DEAR SIR,—I wish to pen a few facts through the columns of your interesting paper concerning the Welch Bros., who are reported to have crossed the lines to the home of their birth. It is also reported that they took an immense amount of money with them. Now, if this be true, they must be very smart business men, for within the last two years they have taken up notes at the O'Flynn Banking House, Madoc, to the amount of twenty-five hundred dollars, besides paying some on the machinery and various other bills. The Welch Bros. were generally respected as honorable business men, and the fact of their getting behind with their bills and leaving the country was owing mostly to the large amount of debts owing to them, and which they could not collect on account of the failure of the crops this year. Hoping these few remarks may be somewhat pleasing to their many friends, I am respectfully yours,

COE HILL.

P S—They do not owe nearly as much as reported.

"Calgary"

Notes From My Diary on Our Great North-West Country.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer:

SIR,—Calgary is the most important and the handsomest town between Brandon and Vancouver. It is charmingly situated almost surrounded by water. The Bow River with its beautiful, clear, blue, sweet water, encircles it on the west and bending round to the north and north east of the town, while the Elbow River on the south, bending north runs to the east of the town and here falls into the Bow River, leaving a narrow strip on the south west unenclosed, while the banks of both rivers opposite the town are high and clear, thus leaving the town in a beautiful valley. The banks of these rivers abound with quarries of beautiful freestone, much like that of which your Montreal bank building is constructed, and a very large saw mill is situated in the town on the Bow river, the waters of which float down large quantities of saw logs, thus supplying unlimited building material. It is 832 miles west of Winnipeg and 62 miles east of the entrance of the C. P. R. into the Rocky mountains. It is situated in the midst of one of the finest ranching countries in the world. Here cattle and horses run without shelter and without any other food than that which they pick from the ground all winter and come in fat in the spring. The secret of this seems to be that the fall of the year is dry and the ground is covered with a sweet nutritious grass from 6 to 15 in. high, which dies and cures on the ground, and on this the cattle and horses feed all winter. As we journey from Calgary towards the Rockies, great herds of horses in the lower valleys, thousands of cattle on the terraces, and myriads of sheep on the hill tops may be seen at once, making a picture most novel and interesting. Saw mills and coal mines also appear along the valley. The country about Calgary is not only valuable for pasture but is well adapted for grain growing. Both south and north of the town I saw fine oats and wheat, as well as very fine potatoes. I met with a Scotchman who had just returned from Fort Edmonton, 200 miles north of Calgary, who told me that at Edmonton on the Saskatchewan was the finest farming country he ever saw, and that the farming country all the way from there to Calgary was excellent.

Thus we have, Mr. Editor, on the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains, a country reaching north of the boundary from 300 to 400 miles, and eastward from 200 to 300 miles, where cattle and horses without artificial care live and grow fat winter and summer, and where the industrious agriculturalist can raise grain and vegetables to his heart's content.

Should not our hearts swell with pride and patriotism, in view of the probabilities of our great country?

I am, truly yours,
WM. ANDERSON.

Nine Million Witches Burned!

Sprenger computes that during the Christian era no fewer than nine million witches were immolated. In England, the last execution for witchcraft took place in 1716, but in Illinois as late as 1780 to 1790, several unfortunates were put to death. This is a terrible reflection on the boasted enlightenment of the age; but we must not be over censorious, while we daily see friends going down to death, ignorance or prejudice preventing the use of remedies which might save them. Many a cold runs into consumption, while indigestion and impure blood debilitates the system, inviting fatal attacks, when the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery would have ensured health and happiness.

GLADSTONE'S PROPOSAL NEGATIVED BY THE HOUSE.

The Motion to Introduce the Bill Granting £5,000,000 to Extend the Operation of the Ashbourne Act Agreed to.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—On motion of Mr. Smith, the Government leader in the House of Commons, this evening, the rule requiring an adjournment at midnight was suspended in order that the debate on the land purchase bill extending the operations of the Ashbourne Act should proceed until a division was reached.

John Dillon said he thought the time had come to take a broad view of the Ashbourne Act and show the British taxpayer what advances might be asked and the nature of the security for them. He hoped the debate had resulted in waking up the taxpayer to the imminence of the danger of finding themselves committed to a scheme of landlord purchase without due guarantee. It was astounding to hear the Tories speak with fervor about the creation of a peasant proprietary, at the same time charging the peasants with trying to frustrate the measure which was directed to that end. Among the first principles of the League stood the peasant proprietary. The League aimed at procuring such an alteration in the law as would enable every occupier of the land to become an owner. He said that he had formerly spoken in favor of the Ashbourne Act but it was when no coercion existed. With coercion the act was assisting the landlords to raise the price of land while it was breaking up the combinations of the tenants. He must warn the English people that the day might come when the national program would include the repudiation of liabilities under the act. This position has been forced upon the Irish people at the point of the bayonet. ["Hear! Hear!"]. Mr. Goschen had tried to show that there was adequate security for advances because the terms of purchase included both the landlords' and the tenant's interest. The truth was that in hundreds of cases the land commission had reported that the landlord's and tenant's interests together would not afford sufficient security for the prices at which it was proposed to purchase. ["Hear! hear!"] It was absurd to say that the existence of arrears was not used to raise the price of land, and it was equally untrue to deny that coercion tended to raise the price by crushing the power of the tenants to combine. The Government were trying to reduce the tenants to the unprotected position held by them in 1879. Such a course was cruel, dastardly, mean. It might inflict more misery upon the people, but they were wedded to liberty and were prepared to make sacrifices to achieve it. [Cheers.]

Lord George Hamilton (Con.) assailed the Parnellites as opposing the bill because they were conscious that it would enable the people to forsake the League yoke. The landlords' yoke might be heavy, but it was nothing compared with the tyranny of the League.

Mr. Gladstone's amendment was rejected, 330 to 246, and the motion to introduce the bill was agreed to.

The East Africa Blockade.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—In the House of Lords to-night Lord Salisbury stated that negotiations still proceeded in France with reference to the blockade of the East African Coast. Concessions by France would practically enable the Government to stop the slave trade. The objections that M. Goblet had taken were rather to the right-of-search theory than to its practice under the blockade. M. Goblet's promise to send a war ship for the surveillance of vessels flying the French flag ended the difficulty.

Sackville's Successor.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The Government is considering the advisability of appointing a successor to Lord Sackville before President Cleveland vacates his office. A successor may possibly be appointed in December. Lord H. C. Vivian, the Minister at Brussels could have the Washington post if he wanted it, but it is believed that he does not desire it. After him the choice rests upon either Mr. Plunkett, the present envoy to Japan; Sir F. C. Lascelles, the minister at Bucharest, or Mr. Monson, the minister at Athens. It is understood that Lord Sackville will go to Madrid and that Mr. Ford, the present minister there, will be transferred to Vienna. Mr. Satow, the minister resident at Bangkok, will succeed Mr. Palgrave as minister resident at Montevideo.

Gov. Blake Would Accept.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Sir H. A. Blake arrived at Queenstown to-day. In an interview he said that if the Government upheld his appointment as Governor of Queensland the hostility expressed toward him would not prevent his accepting the post. He believed that only a small section of the Irish opposed him and this opposition he considered strange as he thought he had won the esteem and confidence of the Irish in Newfoundland and as shown by the address presented to him on his departure.

Simpletons at Sackville's Sale.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The sale of the effects of Lord Sackville was continued at the British Legation to-day, and as was the case yesterday the articles sold brought generally more than they were worth. A considerable quantity of silver and plated ware was first sold and the hotel men were the best bidders. The contents of the stables were then sold. Everything which was marked with a coat of arms or looked peculiarly English brought good figures, sometimes two or three times their real value. A team of dark brown horses, which were said to have cost $800 a short time ago but which necessarily had no distinguishing monogram, brought only $370. The double harness they wore, covered at every available place with the Sackville crest, brought a good price. After everything in the stables had been sold the wines and cigars belonging to Lord Sackville were put up at auction and the bidding on them was brisk and spirited.

Tinged with Romance.

KINGSTON, Nov. 20.—Cape Vincent is teeming with romance these days. A young doctor was taken suddenly ill and was removed to the residence of a lady friend to whom he had been paying attention. His condition grew alarming and a physician was summoned, who in turn summoned the parents of the young man. While the physician was in search of some one to go after the parents, the young man sent for the girl and had the Gordian knot tied. The patient is now about the streets.

A Colored Brute Jailed.

WESTCHESTER, PA., Nov. 20.—James Mills, the colored assailant and would-be murderer of Bertie Howard, the 11-year-old adopted daughter of Farmer Isaac Beck, residing near Paoli, was brought to Westchester this afternoon and immediately lodged in prison. He was captured in bed last night at Cranberry, N.J., by Officer Jefferis of this place. The hack in which he was conveyed to prison was surrounded by a hooting crowd. On Thursday evening, Sept. 28, Bertie Howard was returning from school when she was met by the colored brute. He dragged her into a field close by and assaulted her. He then dragged her to a neighboring pond and threw her in. She dragged herself to the bank and was again thrown back by Mills. This was repeated the third time. The girl lay still in the water and the assailant, thinking she was dead, left. He went to his house, where he had been living with a white woman, changed his clothes and left. Bertie managed to drag herself from the water and to a neighboring house where she was taken in and cared for. For several days it was thought that she would die, but she finally commenced to mend and is now apparently healthy in body, though she has never been the bright, happy child she was before the assault. Mills acknowledged committing the assault, but says he was drunk at the time. He denies, however, that he attempted to drown her.

He Had No Jurisdiction.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Haytien Consul Vassot to-day demanded of Deputy Collector McClennand that the steamship George W. Clyde, scheduled to sail this afternoon, be prevented from sailing. He said she was loaded with guns and ammunition for Monte Cristo, San Domingo. McClennand said he had no jurisdiction.

Guilty of Murder.

POLLY BREDIN LOCKED UP.

Another Chapter in the History of the Barber Suicide.

TORONTO, Nov. 21.—The important event of yesterday in connection with the Barber suicide was the arrest of Polly Bredin on the charge of bigamy. The information reads: "That Polly Bredin, alias Mary Pattison Hill, on the 14th of November, at the town of Niagara Falls, New York State, did feloniously marry Frederick Barber, during the lifetime of her husband."

Mrs. Barber or Bredin was locked up in St. Andrew's Market Police Station and at once sent for her lawyers. She will be charged in Police Court this morning with the crime of bigamy, but it is not likely the case can proceed very far, because the clergyman who married her and Thomas W. Bredin, several years ago in that town, and Rev. C. J. Stowitts, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., who performed the marriage with Barber on Wednesday last, will have to be subpœned as witnesses. This will take a few days.

Barber's Last Letter.

NIAGARA FALLS, Nov. 21.—The following letter was found in the satchel of Fred. Barber, the Niagara Falls suicide, and was produced at the coroner's inquest:

Nov. 13, 1888.

My Dearest,—True yet, although this will be, I now feel, the last time I shall ever dare to address you. I can't hurt myself to see you again, as my heart overcomes my head and makes me say and promise things which we both know are impossibilities unless we count on certain ruin in this world.

Up to my landing in this country I was an honorable man. Since then I have been a dishonorable fool in my intercourse with you. Had I the sense to see the drift of your letters I would have realized that you wished to put something to me and make me understand that what we wished for could not be.

On Saturday you were straight and honorable and I could not see it. Since then you have given me the opportunity and over again to say I would withdraw my attentions, and even last night you were straight and true. In your presence I am unable to think of anything but yourself; I can't look in any other direction. You know and I know well that any ceremony that we might go through as a marriage would be illegal either here or at home. What is the use, then, of putting ourselves in a more equivocal position than at present? There is some arrangement, you tell me, at present with your friend in Montreal for your going home again. Be it so. He is a man of true thought, and I feel myself, compared to him, a worm. I have thought myself sincere (God help me, where is the sincerity?) I have no right to address you—you are so superior to me in thought and action and everything else. I keep thinking from your having my letters all tied up that you had made up your mind to this and intended it should be so. Forget me, Polly; wipe me out as not worthy to tie your shoes. I feel it is so. I won't persecute you again, but shall look upon it as an honor to be able to do anything I can for you at any time, if you wish it. I'll deserve shooting for the crime of trifling, but God knows it has been without the intention of doing so, and yet I can see now what I have done. I can also see that after my vacillating conduct of yesterday, you could not respect me as a man of moral courage and as one you could look up to.

This all seems well, and I feel I have done you wrong. Forgive me if you can, but our loving intercourse shall cease and then perhaps you will be able to look up to the man whom I feel I have wronged horribly. Punishment will overtake me, and I deserve it, and shall not try to run away from it. You ask me for your letters, which have during the last three months been such a comfort to me I can't describe, and I am in honor bound to comply with your request. I have not slept all night; am sick and ill, and don't know what to do. I dare not see you. Break this off, for God's sake, and our own happiness of any kind. What we proposed to do would only bring more unhappiness than we have ever experienced. I cannot say more, but legally marry we cannot, and the other way means destruction to ourselves and our children, whatever we may think when talking to one another.

Good-bye; God bless you, my darling. Still your own loving

FRED.

The Photo-Rocket.

A Frenchman has invented a "Photo-rocket," by means of which a bird's-eye view of the surrounding country can be taken. A small camera is attached to a rocket, and also a closed parachute. The camera is circular, with 12 lenses, like so many eyes, in its circumference, and in its centre a circular sensitized plate. By means of the rocket the camera is sent high into the air. When at its greatest height, shutters open for a second, a view is taken, the parachute expands and the apparatus descends safely to the ground, guided by a cord to which it has been attached to the hand of the operator. By this means the position of an enemy on the field can be photographed and studied at leisure—at least such military service is expected of the photo-rocket when the invention is perfected.

A Nuisance.

Last evening at the Opera House, during the readering of "Mustering Down" by the Choir, a most unseemly noise was by some one made a remark, the effect of which caused a number to laugh loudly. Later in the evening the owner of the property was found, when he departed to his home in peace.

A Free Fight.

A free fight between five young boys occured last night, on Dundas street. The parties in question had attended a meeting in the Mission church, when one of them, either accidentally or on purpose, sat down on a hat belonging to one of the company, thereby damaging the same. After the meeting was over a general quarrel resulted, which led to blows, in the course of which one of the boys received a broken nose and a black eye. The affair will in all probability be investigated.

Young People's Association of John St. Church.

This Association met on Monday evening last, and in addition to a very interesting programme a pleasant time was spent. Dr. Gibson read a paper on public and private Hygiene. The paper was a very able one, and dealt with the subject historically and in its practical application to life. On motion of T. Ritchie seconded by D. B. Robertson a vote of thanks was passed by the Society to Dr. Gibson, and it is understood the Society intends to have it printed for the benefit of the members.

Some fifteen more names were added to the list of membership.

Buggy Recovered.

Chief Newton returned from Lindsay last evening having there met Joseph Johnson, who about a week ago left this vicinity having in his possession a buggy, the property of J. Vicburn. The prisoner was captured at his father's home in Rearboro, which is situated a short distance from Lindsay; the buggy was also found there, but the cover is missing. Johnson says he intended to bring the buggy back to its owner—that he had borrowed it for a time, and had no intention of keeping it; that he wished to go home to see his parents, and as soon as he was through visiting them, he would have returned with the vehicle.

Prisoner, who was brought before the Police Court this morning, was remanded until Friday.

A Slight Blaze.

At a few minutes to 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, a fire alarm was rung out from the corner of Lingham and Mill Sts., near the G.T.R. station, was discovered to be on fire. An alarm was immediately sent down to the city, and in the meantime, before the arrival of the brigade, an alarm had been sounded at the depot. The result was, the G.T.R. brigade was upon the scene and had two streams playing upon the blaze in less than two minutes after the alarm. Their prompt ness no doubt saved the building from destruction. As it was, the roof and upper part of the house was burned. Mr. Robt. McDowell occupied the house, but at present he is in the shanties. His wife was in the house at the time, and says the fire was caused by the burning of a stovepipe. The loss by the hasty removal of the furniture, is covered by insurance. The building is owned by Geo. Dafoe, and the loss will amount to about $250, upon which there is no insurance.

A Good Citizen Gone.

Death of James Cook, of Rawdon.

We very much regret to learn that our old and highly esteemed friend James Cook, of Rawdon, died at his home in that township on the 17th inst., at the age of about 70 years. Mr. Cook, who was a native of the north of Ireland, came to Canada when a young man and settled in the township of Rawdon, where he ever resided during upwards of forty years. Mr. Cook soon entered public life, and during many years rendered able and faithful service to his township in the Council, and as Reeve, and Deputy-Reeve in the County Council. In politics Mr. Cook was a Conservative and an active one, and was one of the ablest organizers we have ever known. His services to his party were highly appreciated, and in 1874 he was presented with a handsome watch in token of the regard and esteem of the Conservatives of North Hastings. Personally Mr. Cook was a proverbial Irishman—generous to a fault, open hearted, and an honest man to the day. He leaves behind him a good name, which is better than riches, and will long be lamented by his wide circle of friends. The family have our warmest sympathy in their bereavement.

The McGibeny Family.

A Grand Entertainment—A Large Audience Greets Them.

This celebrated family of musicians gave an entertainment last evening at the Opera House. The building was filled by one of the finest audiences which has ever gathered within its walls. Much had been anticipated by the flattering notices which preceded them, but in this respect none were disappointed. The audience was highly entertained from the rise to the fall of the curtain, some even expressing a wish that the entertainment had lasted for a longer period. The family was upon the stage when the curtain rose, and the reception was a happy picture, the father and children seeming to vie with each other in presenting to the audience a picture of entertainment. Where all the members of the family performed their respective parts in such an able manner it is difficult to particularize. In the instrumental part of the programme Mr. Hugh McGibeny, a violinist, deserves special notice. His rendition of "Souvenir de Haydn" carried him home by storm, and he responded to an encore in which he gave imitations on the violin of a number of peculiar sounds. The playing of Miss Sadie Scott, entitled "I would that my love," by Miss Viola McGibeny and Mrs. Hugh McGibeny was one of the chief features of the instrumental part of the programme, and the ballet, as the completion of it, were loudly applauded and encored, to which they responded. Master Dickie's clarionet solo, entitled "Mabel Waltz," was performed by this young musician, who is but 10 years of age, in an artistic manner and won for himself much applause. The vocal portion of the programme was equally superb. The kindergarten songs, by the younger members of the family, created no little amusement. Master Leo, who rendered "Bob White," was received with hearty applause, to which the little fellow responded to an encore. The "Coon Duet," by Miss Hattie and Master Leo, was also encored. The quartette, by the lady members of the family, and the quartette by the gentlemen, were given in tasteful style and elicited a hearty encore. Little Annie, the orchestra leader, is a born actor, and in his song was loudly applauded. What shall we say of Miss McGibeny in the minuet? She is the personification of the poetry of motion. The final selection on the programme, "Pythian Quick Step," by the band, was a fitting close. If the family should ever visit this city again, we are certain that a larger house, if possible, will greet them.

A $20,000 Palace Coach.

The McGibeny Family—Their Splendid Palace Car.

The palace car belonging to this family of singers is the largest and finest, and best equipped car in the country, its length is seventy-five feet, exceeding the length of regular passenger coaches by over thirty feet. As a consequence it rides very easily and furnishes ample room for a thousand and one conveniences. In the front is located the kitchen, with range, water heaters and lockers, arranged in a most economical and desirable manner. Next to the kitchen is the pantry, and the manner in which the many shelves, drawers and nooks are arranged is almost a mystery. Above the pantry is the water tank, from which all supplies are drawn. We pass through a hall and enter the drawing room, in which is a superb piano, together with sofas, easy chairs, and other articles of luxury and convenience. Immediately adjoining their office are the ladies' dressing, eating and bath room. In addition to these conveniences, there are sixteen berths and two state rooms. This splendid travelling car is also provided throughout with electric call bells, and five servants in attendance quickly supply every want. At night, by means of electric lamps, the car is made as light as day, and as it is heated in winter the temperature is the same at all times. Under the car are ten lockers, in which can be transported enough provisions for a month's supply, a ton of anthracite coal, half a ton of ice, and whatever other articles they may desire.

Gossip about Celebrities.

—Lord Sackville and his daughters are just as popular in Washington society as they were before the President "sent him his passports."

—Since the marriage of his daughter Gwendolen to Mr. Harford, Count Congreve is melancholia. He is no longer careful about his attire, and his friends are worried about him.

—The beautiful Countess of Dudley has insured her life for $300,000 for the benefit of her younger children. This is the lady who set the fashion in England of sleeping between black silk sheets.

—The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Stuart Phelps to Dr. D. Ward was a genuine love match. Mrs. Ward, as is well known, is many years the senior of her husband, who is a recent graduate of Andover. The disparity of years in this case is not at all between George Eliot and Mr. Cross.

—Now it is asserted that Mrs. Cleveland has invited Mrs. Harrison to be her guest at the White House sometime during the coming winter. Why should she not? The present first lady and the future first lady ought to find each other's companionship pleasant. The act is eminently characteristic of Mrs. Cleveland.

—A correspondent in Russia writes that "one peculiarity of the Russian marriage service is the absence of the bride's parents, whom ancient usage forbids to be present at the ceremony. The absence of the mother in-law must make the Russian marriage, which should be an occasion of general happiness, a rather melancholy affair for the groom."

—London's famous preacher, Rev. C. H. Spurgeon, says that he is always preparing his sermons, reading and thinking, but the specific preparation begins at 6 o'clock on Saturday evening. His great difficulty is to find a text, he having preached so many sermons in the course of his life. His published works fill thirty-three volumes, and these he keeps on a shelf near at hand, so that he may look back and see that he does not repeat himself.

—Charles Stewart Parnell has long refused to sit for his portrait painted. He cannot endure the tedium of "sittings." He is now, however, in the hands of H. M. Thaddeus, the young painter whose portraits of Mr. Gladstone and The Pope have both attracted a good deal of attention. Mr. Thaddeus is obliged to keep a close watch on Mr. Parnell, who often grows rebellious under the restraint laid upon him, and threatens to desert the artist altogether.

—It was when the late Professor Proctor was an English school examiner that a little girl defined the difference between a man and a brute as follows: "A brute is an imperfect beast; man is a perfect beast."

Indeed There Was.

"Was there ever a time in your life, Mr. Slammaround," asked Miss Lillibud, in tones of tender sentiment, "when all the world seemed a dreary waste to you when your heart was hungry and starving; all the very springs of your life were turned to bitterness, and death seemed the sweetest boon the gods could offer you; when all friends seemed false!"

"Indeed there was," said Slammaround, earnestly. "I can remember it as tho' it was yesterday. I was only 18 years old at the time, and I didn't try to smoke another cigar for six years after."—Brooklyn Eagle.

A GATHERING IN GOTHAM.

ANNUAL DINNER OF THE NEW YORK CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

The Chief Magistrate is Loaded and the Republic Glorified — "Our Relations with Canada."

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The 129th annual dinner of the Chamber of Commerce held to-night drew out a brilliant gathering in which much of the wealth of this commercial centre was represented. Charles S. Smith as president of the Chamber presided. On his right were Gen. W. T. Sherman, Hon. Warner Miller and Chauncey M. Depew. On his left sat Prof. Goldwin Smith, Hon. Frank Hiscock and Samuel D. Babcock.

President Smith spoke to the toast "The President," of whom he said that no words or sentiment could add force or dignity to the simple assertion that the Chief Magistrate represented 60,000,000 people.

Gen. W. T. Sherman responded to "The United States" and briefly got over the subject. He said that with an educated, united and intelligent people her success will continue to be commensurate with her opportunities, and her power co-extensive with her vast domain.

Prof. Goldwin Smith handled "Our Relations with Canada," and said: "As a Canadian I have the greatest pleasure in responding to the toast. Such an expression of good will on the part of such a body of American citizens as the Chamber of Commerce of New York towards Canada would be welcome at any time, but is especially so at this time, when there has been a little misunderstanding not between the two communities but between the diplomatists. As you have some gentlemen among you whose delight is to twist the tail of the lion so we have some whose delight is to twitch the feathers of the eagle but their number is very small. The fisheries dispute will be at rest by and by, when the fisheries are common to us all."

AGAINST HIS WILL.

The First Action Taken by the K. of L. Convention—Powderly's Defeat.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 20.—The afternoon session of the Knights of Labor was taken up by the consideration on Law with many changes of the constitution. Contrary to Powderly's recommendation the time of meeting was changed, which is the first action yet taken against his will. The General Master Workman shall hereafter fill all vacancies on the board by appointment, this being a new power added to the office. It is now proper for any member of the General Executive Board to approve the reports of the Secretary-Treasurer, although that was formerly permitted only by the General Master Workman. A clause that any officer of the order may hereafter declare vacant any place on the board, and it can do so without the same time expelling the officer so removed. Before appointment organizers must pass a proper examination.

The same committee reported approval of Powderly's denunciation of the provincial committee.

CAN BE TOLERATED.

Rome Won't Squelch the K. of L. if the Constitution is Amended.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The Catholic News has received from its Rome correspondent the following text of the reply sent by Cardinal Simeoni, perfect of the Propaganda, to his Eminence Cardinal Gibbons:

"It is my duty to inform your eminence that the fresh documents relative to the association known as the Knights of Labor, forwarded to this Sacred Congregation, were examined and at the sitting of Aug. 16 of the current year.

"After having attentively studied the whole subject, the most Sacred Congregation has directed me to reply that, so far as at present appears, the association of the Knights of Labor can, for the moment, be tolerated. The Holy See, however, in order requires that the necessary modifications should be introduced in the rules of the society to make clear what may might seem obscure, or might be interpreted in a bad sense. These modifications are required particularly in the preface to the rules concerning local associations.

"And then the words savoring of socialism and communism must be corrected in such a way that they shall openly affirm the right conferred by God on men acquiring property, using legitimate means, and respecting the proportionate rights of all others.

"I am most happy to be able to inform your Eminence that the Sacred Congregation has highly approved of the design of the American hierarchy to see with us that in this and similar associations nothing should be secretly introduced which is contrary to justice and morals, or not entirely conformable to the regulations regarding the Masonic sect. Whilst confirming your Eminence in this excellent design in the name of the Sacred Congregation, I beg you to accept the assurance of our respectful and devoted sentiments."

A Fatal Quarrel.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—John Noland, who had quarreled with his mistress, Emma Bosh, shot her this afternoon at No. 1 Second-street where they had lived, and she will likely die. The young couple hired a room at that address six weeks ago, and lived there quietly until yesterday, when they had a fight. He was injured and was told by the girl to go to a hospital. He went however to a dispensary, but on his return home last night Emma would not admit him. He went there again at noon, to-day and learned that a better looking man was in his room with Emma. He swore and fumed in the hall, but Emma would not let him in. At 1 o'clock he went over to the house and talked with the landlady in the hall. He sent up for Emma and she finally came down. She told the landlady to retire as he wanted to speak privately to Emma. She retired and soon heard a fifth pistol shot while in the hall. On rushing up she saw Noland fleeing through the front door and Emma lying in the hall dead with blood. The girl was found to have been shot in the abdomen, shoulder and wrist. She was removed to a hospital, where doubts are expressed of her recovery. Noland was caught by an officer in his flight. He gave his age as 26 years and said the girl had seriously injured him the day before and he wanted revenge.

Another Whitechapel Murder

A WOMAN ATTACKED AND WOUNDED IN THE THROAT.

Hopes That the Fiend Will be Arrested.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Great excitement was occasioned this morning when it was reported that another woman had been murdered and mutilated in Whitechapel. The police immediately formed a cordon around the premises and an enormous crowd gathered.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—(Later)—An investigation of the reported murder reveals the fact that the woman was only wounded in the throat. She states that a man visited her lodgings and suddenly attacked her with a knife. She struggled and screamed and the man ran away. She states that she will be fully able to identify her assailant. His arrest is hourly expected.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—(Latest)—It is the opinion of the police that the assailant of the woman in Whitechapel last night is not the famous murderer.

Sad Accident.

A LITTLE CHILD BURNED TO DEATH.

Our Marmora correspondent writes on the 20th inst. "On Saturday last, while Mr. Geo. Terril and wife were in this village doing their trading, they left their children at home. The youngest was about two years old and got hold of some matches and was putting them in the stove, when its clothing caught fire, and before assistance could be rendered the child was so badly burned that it died on Sunday."

—A despatch from St. John, N. B., says: An illustration of the good which shipowners was afforded by the charter of the St John ship, Crossbrook, from Newport to Melbourne, £4,670. Last year the same charter to the same vessel was £2,500.

—Captain Boycott, who enjoys the distinction of having given a new word to the English language, still lives and prospers. He left Ireland handsomely supported by the people who had suffered through the harshness of the severe non-resident landlord whom he represented, and he is now living quietly in the village of Finn, Suffolk County, England. He is a land agent there, too, and represents Sir Hugh Adair.

PROSPECTUS

Of the County of Hastings Directory for 1888-89.

A great many changes have taken place since we issued our last Directory, and these being a very general demand for a NEW DIRECTORY, the INTELLIGENCER Printing and Publishing Company has decided to issue a new edition, on or about the first of November, 1888, the general plan of the work will be similar to that of the former Directories, but SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE INTRODUCED, which will render the Directory of great value to business men.

It will contain a complete list of the householders alphabetically arranged, of each Village, City, Town and Township in the County, with street, or concession and lot upon which they reside; and to make this part of the work of additional value, it is intended to give the POST OFFICE ADDRESS of each householder in the various Townships.

The descriptive information will be very full and complete, and every pains will be taken to have it correct. There will be a

CLASSIFIED BUSINESS DIRECTORY of the Trades and Professions of Belleville.

THE MAP.

The Map accompanying the Directory will contain all the latest surveys, and will be a great improvement on the former one. To make the map of greater value especially to the County and to the various municipalities it will show the Corporation. It will contain a plan of Belleville, Trenton, Stirling, Marmora Mining Company, Bridgewater, Tweed, Shannonville and Deseronto.

While this will greatly increase the expense of the work, it will materially enhance its value, and be of special value to the different Corporations.

PRINCE EDWARD.

The County of Hastings being commercially connected with a portion of the County of Prince Edward, actuated by a desire to meet the wishes of those business connections, and in view of the early completion of the bridge, it is intended to give an alphabetical list of the inhabitants of the Township of AMELIASBURG and HILLIER in that County, together with other information respecting those and adjoining Townships, which will be of general interest to our merchants, tradesmen and professional men.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Directory will be of special advantage on account of its extended circulation, but notwithstanding the price for advertising space will be, viz: One page, $10 00; Half-page, $6 00; Quarter-page, $4 00. The same plan will be adopted as in last Directory, that is, limiting to them among the alphabetical list of names—which will render them of additional value.

The Descriptive matter will be 25 cents per copy.

The benefit of such a work to business men in the City of Belleville and the County, is so apparent to need anything said in its favor. The publishers therefore hope that the generous offer will be made to ensure correctness in the details of the work, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the Directory a credit to this growing and enterprising City and County.

Orders for the Directory, or for Advertisements, may be left at the INTELLIGENCER Office, Belleville.

Strange, but Still True.

Mrs. David Carstairs, Haldimand Township, met with a very pleasant surprise a few weeks ago. It seems Mrs. Carstairs has suffered a great deal from dyspepsia and indigestion, the symptoms of which were, pains in the stomach and bowels, and sick headache. She has tried a great many physicians, and an unlimited amount of patent medicines, but without any success; and last but not least, she tried Dowling's Pepsin Compound, and one bottle has restored both pain and ache. She returns the kindest regards to F. K. DOWLING, Cobourg, for his magnificent remedy. Bellevillites, take pattern by this woman, and ask your Druggist for it.

The Modus Operandi.

The mode of operating of Burdock Blood Bitters is that it acts at once and at the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and the Blood, to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in Chronic Complaints.

FEVER AND AGUE AND BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS are positively cured by the use of Parmelee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, causing them to pour copious effusions from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

To lessen mortality and stop the inroads of disease, use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. For all diseases originating in Impure Blood, such as Pimples, Boiches, Biliousness, Indigestion, etc., etc., it has no equal. Mrs. Thomas Smith, Eliza, writes : "I am using this medicine for Dyspepsia ; I have tried many remedies, but this is the only one that has done me any good."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS. — MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once ; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakens as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to take. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind. 3dwly

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarefies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc, if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course, generally prove fatal one-runner of more danger ous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their affliction from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. Once of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from vitiated phlegm by cleansing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state

Rest and Comfort to the Suffering.

"Brown's Household Panacea" has no equa for relieving pain, both internal and externa It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. "It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal, as its acting power is wonderful." "Brown's Household Panacea," being acknowledged as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family handy for use when wanted," as it really is the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the Stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds, and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cts a bottle.

The Child of Waterloo.

BY GEORGE W. M. REYNOLDS.

'Arrah ! and sure yer honor is right. I'fakes ! where would Rafferty be if not at a wedding when a wedding was going on ! But, carracramp ! here I am. I have been doing a little business on my own account.'

As Rafferty spoke, he pushed the door open and stood on the mat—oh, ye gods ! with as fine a specimen of female flesh as could be found in any county in the three kingdoms—namely, fair, fat, and forty.

The lady was indeed all these combined in one. She was very fair—very fair, indeed, her face being something more than the color of the 'red, red rose,' being a very red rose indeed that could match the vermilion of her cheek.

And as for 'fat,' goodness gracious ! think of her and a five-mile walk in the dog-days, and think of Shakespeare's fat knight 'larding the lean earth,' and you have some notion of her condition.

And then for the 'forty' part of the business,—gentle reader, excuse us, this is forbidden ground. A lady's age is a thing quite sacred, and men have no business with it. For my part, I never heard rightly the age of any of the feminine gender after fifteen; after that period it was always wrapped in mystery, and it is difficult to come by the truth when that is the case. So, for our parts, we never even believe in a tombstone when we see the age mentioned on it, being convinced that it is difficult to learn while the object was living was more difficult and apocryphal when dead.

'Well, Rafferty, what have you to say for bringing this unfortunate friend of yours into trouble ?'

'Arrah ! sir—captain dear, I have been in trouble myself—that is, I may be before I die ; but I have been doing a little in the matrimonial line myself.'

'Eh, Rafferty ?'

'I have been to the parish church, captain dear, and ladies and gentlemen, and this,' continued Rafferty, taking the fat hand of the blushing Phœbe—'and this is the bride !'

'The bride, Rafferty—did you say the bride ?'

'Bad ess to me, yer honor, if she's any less.'

'Then you've got married, Rafferty !' exclaimed Captain Morton, in extreme and almost ludicrous astonishment.

'Arrah ! and yer honor's just hit it; and why shouldn't an old soldier get married, as well as another man ?'

'Oh, certainly, Rafferty, certainly ; no reason on earth why you should not get married, and I hope you will be happy with your choice. You shall not be without my good wishes, Rafferty.'

'I am sure of that, yer honor.'

'And of something more substantial too.'

'Yer honor is always kind and generous,' said Rafferty ; and turning to Mr. Henry Morton and to Mabel, he continued—'May yer honor live long and happily ; and as for Miss Mabel—arrah ! I mane Mrs. Henry Morton—I can never forget. I nursed her when she was a child, and, though a poor body, I shall always feel bound her as if she were my own child. May she live to be as happy as I am sure Mister Henry will try and make her.'

'You are right, my good Rafferty,' said Henry Morton, who could not hear unmoved, nor anyone else, the words of the honest Irishman—'you are right ; she shall be happy with me, for I shall strive to make her so ; and allow me to wish you, my honest old friend, all the happiness you deserve, for your fidelity and courage have never been questioned.'

'No,' said Captain Morton, 'they have not ; and this last act of his in carrying away the presiding priestess of the bar at the Morton Arms, to my mind, required no little of that excellent quality. We will not keep you and your bride, Rafferty, to whom we will wish all joy, any longer. go and make yourself as merry as you please and how you please ; you have ample means below.'

With this generous hint, Rafferty quitted the wedding party, and each retired, and the day passed off happily.

CHAPTER LII.

And now let us imagine three months to have elapsed, and look again at the young and beautiful bride, to see if she is happy.

It is a pleasant evening, and the shadows of the tall trees that are in front of Morton Lodge are thrown far across the beautiful green sward, where, upon some rustic chairs, sit a happy party. We will look into the face of the young bride, and we shall see at a glance that it is beaming with contentment. There is a quiet, placid look of domestic happiness about the whole group, that is rarely seen ; and most of all would it have been of the pencil of some gifted lover of his art and of humanity, to paint that happy group, as there, in gentle converse, which, in the evening air, sounded scarce above a whisper, they passed a pleasant hour, ere the night closed in, and told them to seek the indoor enjoyments of the mansion.

Captain Morton and his wife were walking to and fro, conversing together ; while Henry, as he leaned over the back of the chair on which Mabel sat, was bringing to her mind recollections of the past.

'Does it not seem, dear Mabel, long, long ago since we were separated, and the envious fates appeared forever to have conspired against us ?'

'It does, indeed, Henry ; and this season of joy and tranquility which we have passed, appears to have cast something of the halo of its own beauty over those events which preceded it.'

'It is so with myself, Mabel, and a happy thing is it that we forget suffering quicker than we forget joy. The reminiscences of happiness will cling to us when the remembrance of grief holds in the chambers of our brain but a dim and shadowy existence.'

'It is so, Henry, it is so ; and yet there are times even now, when I look back with something of a shudder, and wonder how I had the resolution and the courage to bear up against the trials that beset me.'

'I understand you, dear Mabel ; and I can well perceive yours to be one of them—there is a natural capacity to find sufficient energy to meet the occasion, and that strength, energy and courage, comes but with the occasion. We cannot imagine its existence, although we may imagine the incident that would call it forth.'

'I understand you, Henry ; and thus it is we shudder at things which, when they happen, we meet gallantly and courageously.'

'Yes, Mabel : imagination, as well as conscience, doth make cowards of us all.'

Mabel was silent for a few moments, and then she said, quietly,

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites,

is very palatable and much better than the plain oil. Dr. W. H. Cameron, of Halifax, N. S., says : "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver oil with Hypophosphites for the past two years and found it more agreeable to the stomach, and have better results from its use than any other preparation of the kind I have ever tried." Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

Among the Indians.

"While my husband was trading in furs he came across an Indian who was taken to his lodge to die. He had inward pains and pains in all his limbs. He gave some Yellow Oil internally and applied it externally, and cured him. It also cured my husband of rheumatism, and I find it valuable for coughs and colds, sore throat, etc." Mrs. A. Bosaw, Cook's Mills, Serpent River, Ont.

CATARRH.

A Now Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the interlining membrane of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes. The eminent scientists, Tyndall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and those authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made oftener then once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before an application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease.

So highly are these remedies valued that ignorant imitations have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy a parasite, of which they know nothing, by remedies, of the results of the application of which they are equal ignorant. Mr. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effect a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases.

Mr. Dixon sends a pamphlet describing his new treatment on the receipt of stamp to pay postage. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son, 303 King street west, Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Cured By B. B. B. When all Else Failed.

Mr. Samuel Allan, of Lisle, Ont., states that he tried all the doctors in his locality while suffering for years with Liver and Kidney trouble ; nothing benefitted him until he took Burdock Blood Bitters, four bottles cured him.

Give Them a Chance ?

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrah, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

Hesitation means Loss.

If your hair is coming out or turning grey, or if you find dandruff in your hair do not hesitate about looking after it. Get some of Dr. Fellow Lemon's "Hair Magic," use it as directed and you will find that it will give you the best of satisfaction. Take warning, do not wait till it is too late but try it at once. All druggists sell it.

A Quarter of a Century

For more than twenty five years has Hagyard's Yellow Oil been sold by druggists, and it has never yet failed to give satisfaction as a household remedy for pain, lameness and soreness of the flesh, for external and internal use in all painful complaints.

THE LEGAL BATTLE BEGUN

ARGUING THE CROSSING CASE IN THE SUPREME COURT.

Hon. Edward Blake Opens for the Canadian Pacific Railway—A Broad Construction to be Placed Upon the Clauses of the British North America Act.

OTTAWA, Nov. 22—Arguments in the Manitoba railway crossing case was commenced at 2 o'clock to-day in the Supreme Court. Hon. Edward Blake, Christopher Robinson and G. M. Clark appeared for the Canadian Pacific Railway and Hon. O. Mowat, D'Alton McCarthy, Attorney-General Martin and J. J. Hornsby for the Province of Manitoba. Hon. F. Langelier watched the case on behalf of the Province of Quebec. The counsel who it was said would appear on behalf of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia did not file an appearance.

Mr. Blake commenced shortly before 2 o'clock and spoke about two hours. He seemed in excellent health and spoke as clearly, forcibly and logically as is his custom. He pointed out that the whole question with which the court had to deal was the one as to the validity of the Manitoba act authorizing the construction of the Portage extension.

Hon. Mr. Mowat said that the other side had to prove that the provincial act was not valid.

Chief Justice Ritchie observed that it was usual for the persons attacking the validity of legislation to commence the case.

Mr. Blake resuming read the reference to the court by the Railway Committee of the Privy Council and contended that the simple question to be decided was whether any work or undertaking under the exclusive legislation of the Canadian Parliament was ultra vires of the Provincial Legislature, and any assumption of authority over such work or undertaking by the Provincial Legislature therefore void. He held that the ninety-second section of the British North America Act had removed the legislative authority which would otherwise have been with the province. That section did not declare that certain specified works were to be regarded as for the general advantage of Canada but that such works as were declared by the Parliament of Canada to be for the general advantage of Canada were to be so regarded. The test question to be applied in any case was not whether the work mentioned was one for the general advantage of Canada but whether the Parliament of Canada had declared it to be so. He contended that if Parliament declared a work to be for the advantage of Canada, no matter if it ran only from the city of Ottawa to Hogs Back, a little way out, the declaration was indisputable, and no matter what our private opinion was they would be works for the general advantage of Canada.

He argued that the clauses of the British North America Act must be treated in the broadest possible way. The Provincial Legislature might build a railway inside or subsidize that railway, embarrass its finances and burden itself for the future in order that the railway may be built under its control, and yet ten years after its construction three words of the Parliament of Canada might declare that to be a specific work for the general advantage of Canada, and would be competent to remove it from the jurisdiction of the province and place it within the jurisdiction of the Parliament of Canada.

Mr. Christopher Robinson followed for a few minutes in a similar strain until the adjournment of court at 4 o'clock and will continue his argument in the morning.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

The Canada Atlantic and the Canadian Pacific Railway.

OTTAWA, Nov. 22.—Mr. Andrew Flack, Secretary of the Canada Atlantic Railway Company, says that there is no truth in the rumor that negotiations are in progress for the acquirement of the road by the Canadian Pacific Railway. The rumors are current, however, and those who are supposed to know say there is some foundation for them.

Dr. Scott and Mr. A. Lindsay of Southampton, Out., had an interview with the Minister of Public Works yesterday, with reference to the harbor improvements at that place.

The Marine Department has received information that all buoys in the north and south channels of the St. Lawrence below Quebec have been taken up except five, which will be left until the departure of the last ocean-going steamer.

Sir John Macdonald returned from Kingston this morning.

General Middleton will go to London next Monday to inspect the Seventh Battalion.

Burned Out.

HAMILTON, Nov. 22.—All last summer the family of Mr. Joseph Wright had been living in a small cabin on the Beach, between the Ocean House and Burlington. They have been a curiosity to many a traveller. Yesterday Mrs. Wright and one child came to the city, leaving her husband and four children in the cabin. At about 3 o'clock Mr. Wright left for Burlington to meet his wife, and when he got about half a mile away he looked back and saw his cabin in flames. The children had piled the stove full of wood and set fire to the place. Mr. Thomas Hood was in a boat shooting near by and heard the children's screams. He went quickly to their assistance, but was too late to save the place. Just as he arrived he saw the oldest boy, aged 7 years, carry the baby out of the flames. The lad certainly saved the infant from a horrible death. The cabin and every bit of clothing, bedding and food were burned, not a thing worth being saved. The family are very poor.

A Grapevine Transaction.

HAMILTON, Nov. 22.—At the Police Court yesterday William Henry of Stamford was committed for trial in $1000 bail for obtaining by alleged false pretences a note for $130 from Isaac Smith of Winona in a grape vine transaction which originated in 1885.

There is a peculiar state of affairs existing at one of Murton & Reid's large coal sheds at the bay. About $100,000 worth of coal has been piled in one large shed. The most of it was put in wet and the immense mass has commenced to heat like grain and volumes of steam are pouring out of it. It is feared that the heat may become so great as to end in spontaneous combustion.

Suits Against The Empire and News.

MONTREAL, Nov. 22.—J. M. Conroy, plotsher of this city, has entered two actions for $10,000 damages each against The Empire and The Toronto Evening News because of libellous remarks which they recently published in their repective columns.

An Elopement Spoiled.

MONTREAL, Nov. 22.—This city appears to be a perfect paradise for eloping couples. Wednesday G. Kennedy of Norwich, Ont., located his truant wife here. She was about departing for England with his widowed brother-in-law, John Vener. The trunks were seized, but the woman refuses to return to her children.

Names Among the Alous.

Each person has but one name, without any prefix or suffix to determine whose child he may be, and the names is often given from a mere whim; as, for example, if a baby girl pitches upon a dirty old pot as her favorite plaything (and this is a very possible case, for toys are not common), the chances are that she will very soon be designated as "The Pot" or "The Kettle" by the family, and eventually the name will become affixed to her. Hence we may say that names are given to Alou children very much the same way that nicknames attach themselves to children in America and Europe.

Not only are there no family names, but each person's name dies with its owner, the repetition of a name in different generations having nothing to do with the preservation of the memory of an older person. Children are not named for a rich uncle or a maiden aunt, to secure "prospects" for them. There are no posthumous names, as with the Japanese, and a dead person is not spoken of by name if it can be avoided by any circumlocution; indeed every effort is made to avoid all reference to the dead.—J. K. Goodrich in Popular Science Monthly.

An Insurance Against Water.

A family of my acquaintance awoke the other morning to find that a break had occurred in the water pipes in the bathroom on the second floor and that their back parlor was flooded. The carpets were saturated, the furniture was drenched and most of the books in the library were ruined. The full extent of the damage could not be estimated at once, for it was not certain how far the ceiling had been injured. The occurrence suggested the question why some enterprising men of business do not organize a company to insure householders against accidents from this cause. Why not insure against water as well as fire? Thousands of occupants of city houses would gladly pay a small premium to secure immunity from loss by such an accident as is here described. These accidents do not happen very frequently, but they are annoying in the extreme. Here is a new field for development. The company that first enters it will be sure of at least one customer in Brooklyn to begin with.—New York Tribune.

Watching the Restless Grasshopper.

There is nothing like having some definite object, not too momentous, for scrutiny and contemplation during a vacation trip. The Londoner has come to tell us says that she speculated much during her outing as to the habit of the grasshopper in climbing to the end of a stalk of grass, and then, after stopping a moment, resuming its ascent. Why should the grasshopper be forever climbing up the stalks of grass! And why, having got there, should he fiddle in the air reflectively for awhile, and then run down again? The grasshopper, during this lady's vacation, no doubt served her, since she had to have some occupation, very much in the way that the pin did which Latude—or was it somebody else?—found in his dungeon, and which he kept in the darkness, groped after and found again, and then again threw up, only to search after it once more, beguiling himself into forgetfulness of his misery and insanity.—Boston Transcript.

Hints Concerning the Lips.

Red lips are the announcement of good health and good health is the fashion; women who have very determined wills frequently will into their faces by dint of forcing their lips together in a way they think expresses determination; the lips are very pliable and naturally assume the position which is often not given to them. A woman who feels on pleasant terms with the world at large, who makes it a point only to say pleasant things, who have about her mouth that something that the French call riante—the look that tells of a laugh without the sound, and a smile that is not a smirk. With all his gallantry it took a Frenchman to say this: "To be beautiful a woman must not talk much or she will contract her mouth in an unbecoming manner."—"Bab" in Philadelphia Times.

Popularity of the Autobiography.

One often sees the gaunt form of Mark Twain in New York, for he comes often to look after the affairs of the Webster Publishing company, of which he forms a not inconsiderable part. His firm has made a specialty of publishing the autobiographies of famous personages, in relation to which Mr. Clemens was talking to a friend the other day. "Nothing sells like an autobiography," said he. "Bring one the biography written by the well known author of ——— and I will sell a few thousand copies. Bring me his autobiography and the sale will be represented by one and an endless number of ciphers."—The Epoch.

A Frightful Leap to Death.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 22.—A horrible suicide occurred at the residence of H. O. Bonnell, Wick avenue. Mlle. Julia Goudart, aged 23 years, a French governess, came from New York city about ten days ago to teach French to Mr. Bonnell's child. Friday she became melancholy, and she has acted strangely ever since. This morning she went to the attic of the house, set fire to her clothing, which was piled on the floor, walked out on the roof and threw herself head foremost to the flagstone walk below. She alighted on her head, crushing her skull and died in a few minutes. Disappointment in love is said to be the cause of the suicide.

Gen. Sheridan's Memoirs.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Mrs. Gen. Sheridan left here yesterday for Canada for the purpose of securing the copyright to her husband's memoirs to be published in London on Nov. 26. The American edition will be issued on the same day. Her legal adviser is reported to have said that she should be present on British soil when the book is published in England, in compliance with the technicalities of the law, so as to protect the family in the English publication.

Slain After a Drunken Quarrel.

WILLIAMSBURG, Pa., Nov. 22.—Bertie Kasack, a Hungarian, was murdered last night at the "Swamp" settlement near Frenchtown, by one of two Hungarians who were visiting him. The party had been drinking heavily and were all drunk. During a quarrel one of the visitors shot Kasack as he was going out of his shanty, causing instant death. The murderer, whose name is as yet unknown, made his escape.

Found Responsible for His Crime.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 22.—A few days ago Patrick Donahue, whose mind has been diseased for some years, killed his 18-year-old son with a tool-shit and attempted to commit suicide by cutting his throat with a razor. The self-inflicted wound was slight and he was immediately removed to the insane asylum at Utica. The coroner has had the case on hand for several days, much evidence being taken, the last night found Donahue responsible for the killing of his son. The case will go before the grand jury.

An Advance in Freight Rates.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—The Northwestern lines have agreed to advance their proportion of the through rate on traffic from the seaboard to St. Paul to the basis of 70 cents first-class, taking effect Dec. 1. This is an advance of 10 cents and is made in consequence of the reduction in west bound rates by the trunk lines.

Valuable to Know.

Consumption may be more easily prevented than cured. The irritating and harassing cough will be greatly relieved by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success of Hagyard's Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. For sale by all druggists or sent post-paid on receipt of price (50c. and $1.) by addressing Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Rare Combination.

There is no other remedy or combination of medicines that meets so many requirements, as does Burdock Blood Bitters in its wide range. Ask for Burdock Chronic diseases as Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Complaint, Scrofula and all humors of the blood.

There are a number of varieties of corns Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

Orin Catlin, 49 Pearl Street Buffalo, N. Y., says: I tried various remedies for the piles but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications.

Miss GEORGE LEECH, Hadmand Township, has received more benefit from two bottles of Dowling's Pepsin Compound, than anything she has ever taken in her life. She has been troubled with bilious-ness, loss f appetite and constipation for years. Now she has none of these troubles. People write to her and see how she will recommend you to take Dowling's Pepsin Compound if you are dyspeptic.

The cheapest medicine in use is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, because so very little of it is required to effect a cure. It relieves Coughs, Colds and dis ases of the lungs and throat, whether used for bathing the chest or throat, for taking internally or inhaling. It is a matchless compound.

What does Dowling's Pepsin Compound cure? Dyspepsia and Indigestion. What are the symptoms? Biliousness, constipation lack of energy, drowsiness, headache, pains in the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, depression of spirits. Ask your druggist for it.

Dowling's Little Liver Granules are highly recommended for all diseases of the liver.

Mr. Thomas Hallard, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I have been afflicted for nearly a year with three sips in the darkness groped after and at times was run out with pain and want of sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended I tried one box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. I am now nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money."

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimulating to action the remaining organs of the system, thereby removing diseases. In fact, so great is the power of this wonderful medicine to purify that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body." Mr. D. Carswell, Harwich P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

Of all the dyspeptic remedies ever placed in the market, Dowling's Pepsin Compound takes the lead. Why? Because it acts naturally on the digestive organs f the stomach, and not mechanically, like the other patent medicines. Besides, it helps to assimilate and digest all the food that enters the stomach. Ask your druggist for a bottle.

Belleville has follow the example of Mrs. Geo. Leech, of Hadimand, and many others, and rid ourselves of that dire disease, dyspepsia and indigestion.

The Dangerous Coal Oil.
MONTREAL Oct. 17.—The explosion of poorly refined coal oil is the case of another accident al burning. A little girl named Beauchamp living on Moyle street, while helping her mother in domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while getting on the table. Her burning clothing was only t rn from her with much difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quickly summoned and the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.
Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined Oil a considerable quantity of inferior Coal Oil is being sold.
In order to avoid these low grades we have tak n the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil:
'CARBON SAFETY OIL'
A specially refined and superior grade of Canadian Oil,
ASTRAL OIL,
A high grade American Oil.
These we most confidently recommend to our retail trade as goods that will give entire satisfaction.
We are also fully supplied with Water White and Prime White American Oil and the usual brands of Canadian Oil.

$500 REWARD

is offered by the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy for a case of Chronic Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous or purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a nasal twang; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians.

By its mild, soothing and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "cold in the head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache. Sold by druggists everywhere; 50 cents.

"Untold Agony from Catarrh."

Prof. W. HAUSNER, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician said me was incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, from dread of sunset, my voice would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."

THOMAS J. RESNOR, Esq., 209 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure cure for catarrh now manufactured, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

Three Bottles Cure Catarrh.

ELI ROBBINS, Hampton P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says: "My daughter had such catarrh when she was five years old, very badly. I saw Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy advertised, and procured a bottle for her, and soon saw that it helped her; a third bottle effected a permanent cure. She is now eighteen years old and sound and hearty."

MUNICIPAL ASSESSMENT.

The present method of revising the municipal assessment by Courts of Revision chosen generally at hap-hazard from the members of the municipal councils, whilst the position is not unfrequently thrust upon the least competent of the members who are not considered fit for any other sort of occupation in their capacity as councillors, is at present exciting a considerable amount of reprobation. It is argued, and with considerable force, that—in cities and towns in particular—many of the councillors who sit in judgment upon the work of the assessors are more intent upon pleasing the appellants from their own wards, and thereby forwarding their own re-election, than in doing justice to the taxpayers as a whole. Certainly, there are many inequalities in assessments which seem difficult of explanation. The cause does not, as a rule, rest with the assessors, but with those who revise them. Hence the complaints that are now being ventilated through the press in many localities.

Amongst the plans suggested for the desired information, are the abolition of the courts of revision, the appointment of permanent assessors, and the publication of the assessment rolls and the taxation of the land upon which church buildings stand. By these means, it is claimed, assessors would be forced to look sharper after their business, whereby the assessment would be greatly increased, and wealthy churches which occupy large plots of ground would be made to pay a fair share of taxation. In addition, it is contended, the rolls would be more carefully prepared, and the appeals would be greatly lessened in number.

That the assessment law will be considerably altered within a short time seems certain, and no doubt the above and other suggestions will be considered by the Legislature.

FROZEN WHEAT AS SEED.

Prof. Saunders, director of the Dominion Government's experimental farm, writes to the press as follows:

In view of the fact that a considerable quantity of wheat has been frozen during the past season, both in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, and that it is very probable that in many localities such wheat will be used as seed during the coming spring, it becomes a question of great importance to the municipal farmer, as well as to the country at large, how it is safe to use frozen wheat for the purpose. Arrangements have been completed at the Central Experimental farm at Ottawa for testing the vitality of such grain, as well as cereals and agricultural seeds of every sort, and however numerous the samples sent may be, every effort will be made to have results promptly forwarded to the individuals sending them. The results of a few tests made with frozen wheat received last year all went to show a high degree of vitality, ranging from 95 to 61 per cent., the grading lowest in vitality being also weak in growth. The question of vigor as well as of vitality is a most important bearing on the fertility of grain, and every la mer who has doubts as to the quality of his seed should promptly avail himself of the opportunity thus offered of determining its true value for the purpose. Samples may be sent free by mail addressed to the Director of Experimental Farms, Ottawa; two or three ounces of wheat are sufficient for the purpose, and the tests are made and the returns sent free of charge. Farmers throughout the Dominion are invited to send samples of any cereals or agricultural seeds they may desire to have tested.

NOTES ON EAST NORTHUMBERLAND ELECTION.

The result in East Northumberland must be a great shock to the nerves of the Grit lights of this city. According to the Ontario, Mr. Clute was in the riding, thrilling audiences with his eloquence and his usual sarcastic nasty vocabulary. He "brought down the house," we are told, but alas! it fell about his ears. Mr. McCargar was in the riding telling the farmers what he knew about cheese making. He evidently did not put in sufficient rennet. Mr. Burdett, according to an account in the Globe, was making wonderfully witty and telling speeches "as effective," the Globe says, "on the stump as he is in Parliament." From the result, we would say the Globe is for once about right. The two Biggars were here, there, and everywhere, coercing their mortgagees. The License Inspectorship of Hastings was twisted to make the liquor traffic, as usual, do the business for the party of professed temperance principles. With such an influence, what could be expected of the chances of Cochrane? But he got there all the same.

The Globe says that at the last election in East Northumberland "the fact that the question of unrestricted reciprocity was new and scarcely understood, and had not been adopted by the Reform party accounted for the election of Mr. Cochrane by a small majority."

A few more elections like East Northumberland and the Grit party will be trying some new scheme to bamboozle the farmers. Their adopted child killed its foster-parent.

In referring to the Grit effort in the riding, the Globe says: "The Liberal campaign is conducted in an educative spirit. The main subject is Unrestricted Reciprocity and it is being explained from every point of view by a band of able speakers."

It will take some time to educate the electors of the whole country at the rate the electors were "educated" to Grit doctrine in East Northumberland.

Think of the array of Grit talent wasted in East Northumberland, not mentioning the contingent from this city. Sir Richard Cartwright, whose speeches the Globe says, "were exceedingly effective." Mr. Bain, of North Wentworth, and Mr. McMillan, of South Huron. These gentlemen, the Globe says, talked "straight home to their hearers." Dr. Mellory, whom the Globe says the farmers are more and more alive to the importance of having him represent them in Parliament; Mr. Barron, of North Victoria, who, the Globe says, is "a power at the hustings," yet Truth was barron; Mr. McMullen of North Wellington; Mr. Preston, Dr. Platt, and Peter Ryan. It seemed necessary for the Globe to say that the Reformers were fighting honorably, as if any could question it. Every considerable place in the riding, we are told, was visited. There must be something wrong in the policy, or such an array would have carried the Reform party to victory. It will be in order for the party to adopt a new policy.

An Unhappy Home.

"I wish my wife would get well or—something," said a husband who had been sorely tried with an invalid wife. It seems a heartless speech, but who can tell the discomforts of a home where the wife is always sick. Poor food, erying children? No wonder the man grows desperate. But if he would get Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the wife, he would find that the sunshine would return to his home. "Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhœa, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppression, prolapsus or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, "bearing-down" sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

Let Them Reflect.

The Montreal Journal of Commerce states that northern New York cheese has been largely purchased this year by Montreal dealers for shipment to the old country. It has been stated that early in the season a considerable quantity was shipped as Canadian. When American cheese seeks to masquerade as Canadian, thus admitting the superiority of the local product, croakers on this side of the line should stop to reflect what they are croaking about. The Customs officials in England are now very particular in insisting upon goods being branded with the name of the country of production, and shippers not complying are liable to a fine.

To Cure a Corn.

There is no lack of so-called cures for the common ailment known as corns. The vegetable, animal, and mineral kingdoms have been ransacked for cures. It is a simple matter to remove corns without pain, for if you will go to any druggist or medicine dealer and buy a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor and apply it as directed the thing is done. Get "Putnam's," and no other.

Other launches and stations are being designed and constructed, and a new era in river traveling seems to have been fairly begun.

LABBY'S LONDON LETTER.

"THE MOST RISING MAN IN EUROPEAN POLITICS."

The Czar Furious at the Condition of Russian Railways—Political and Fantastic Freaks.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Count Herbert von Bismarck is absurdly described as perhaps the most rising man of the day in the field of European statecraft. So far is this from being the case that I hear from a person who is behind the scenes at Berlin that Count Herbert's days at the Foreign Office are numbered, and that on the retirement of Prince Bismarck, which is certain to take place next spring, he will be practically shelved by being dispatched to London as Ambassador. The fact is that Count Herbert, instead of being a man of great political talent, is simply nothing beyond a manly, agreeable German, with a great father to guide him. The most rising man in European politics is Count von Waldersee, who will be the de facto ruler of the German Empire in conjunction with the Kaiser before another year has passed.

The marriage of the Crown Prince of Greece and the Princess Sophia of Prussia is to take place at Athens during the first week in May.

Emperor Francis Joseph celebrates the 40th anniversary of his accession to the throne on Sunday week, and has positively forbidden all rejoicings. Nor will he receive any gifts. He desires that the money which might be expended in such ways be devoted to the poor and to charitable objects.

The Czar is furious at the discovery that the Russian railways, on which hundreds of millions of roubles have been expended, are in such a rotten condition that in the event of war the whole transport arrangements must inevitably be broken down.

John Bright has landed and I sincerely hope that he will entirely regain his health and strength. For, Unionist and hard hitter as he is there is much that is lofty and athletic that is very loveable to those who know him. But I am sorry to hear that his general condition is not deemed satisfactory by his friends.

If Mrs. Chamberlain is as witty as her mother she will prove a great acquisition to the Birmingham upper circles. Mrs. Endicott is reported to have said that there were five obstacles to her daughter's marriage—two below the ground and three above.

It appears from Thornton's shorthorn circular that at the fourteen sales that have been held during the past three months 639 animals were sold for £14,494 11s, giving an average price of £23 7s. 3d. a head.

In the Dominion a minister of the Scotch establishment, at a place called Whitinch, received an impressive lesson a few Sundays ago on the subject of politics in the pulpit. It seems that the general assembly has published a manifesto on the bi-centenary of the revolution of 1688, and the Rev. Quintin Johnston, after reading this edifying document to the congregation, proceeded to complement it with his own valuable views on the political situation, describing Gladstone as a tool in the hands of Romanism, and so forth. Thereupon up rose a young lady in the congregation who called upon the preacher to stop, and, having frightened him into silence, proceeded to rate him soundly for desecrating the house of prayer by propagating partyism within its walls. The offence seems to have been so excellent in the Rev. Mr. Johnson was moved to apologise frankly for the offence. We could do with a few young ladies of the same type on this side of the ocean.

There really appears to be no bounds to the aberrations and fantasticalities of the clergy of the present day. I heard last week of a reverend parson of a western diocese who astounded his congregation by exhorting them to be contented in his sermon to pray earnestly for the early discovery of the Whitechapel murderes.

It is stated that Lord Salisbury has decided to send Lord Sackville to Vienna, as successor to Sir Augustus Paget, whose term of service expires next January. Lord Sackville will, of course, be provided for at once in an adequate way, but I do not believe he will be sent to Vienna.

HENRI LABOUCHERE.

Milanese Workmen for Peace.

MILAN, Nov. 22.—Forty-six workmen's societies at a meeting yesterday protested against the triple alliance and against war in general. A resolution was adopted declaring that they would not support the Italian Government in the event of war. The protest will be sent to workmen's associations throughout Italy, and the workmen of France will be invited to adhere in the name of the brotherhood of labor. The Milanese workmen ask other associations to co-operate.

Bishops to be Created Next Month.

ROME, Nov. 22.— he Duke and Duchess of Aosta have left Turin en route to Berlin. They have been invited to visit Emperor William.

At the papal consistory in December a number of bishops will be created. The nomination of cardinals has been postponed until the March consistory. The postponment is due to difficulty experienced in the creation of French cardinals.

Dumjohn's Victim, Not Jack The Ripper's.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Investigations by the police show that the Whitechapel woman who reported yesterday morning that she had been attacked by a man, who went to her lodgings with her, is a fallen woman of the lowest order. She suffered only a slight abrasion of the skin on her throat and her story is discredited in her story of an attack. They believe she inflicted the injury herself while she was drunk.

Bronze John.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 22.—The official bulletin is as follows: New cases 3, deaths 2. Total cases 4646, total deaths 405. Of the new cases only one was white.

THE FLOUR MARKET SICK.

Decline in Production—The Output Reduced One-half.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 22.—The Northwestern Miller says: The flour output of Minneapolis is on the decline, the falling off of 8000 barrels last week being only precursory to a much heavier loss the current week. The total production last week was 141,700 barrels, averaging 23,617 barrels a day, against 149,800 the previous week and 114,400 barrels for the corresponding time in 1887. Since our last issue the millers here have entered into an agreement to reduce their output one-half. This arrangement went into effect Monday and is to continue until Jan. 1. This takes in every merchant on the falls, but the owners are allowed to consult their own convenience as to how they shall accomplish the desired end. The arrangement is evidently designed to pave the way for a water pool as soon as the power becomes poor. The effect of the arrangement is already felt in the flour output, five mills representing a daily product of over 7000 barrels being idle to-day and there are several others which are almost on the point of stopping. The mills at St. Louis, Milwaukee and Lacrosse, as well as those located at less prominent points in Minnesota, Dakota and Michigan, have practically agreed upon the plan to reduce the flour output one-half for a number of weeks to come. The flour market is very sick and the millers report that they are practically getting no orders. The decline in wheat induced millers to lower quotations 25 cents per barrel Monday. There is no improvement in foreign trade. The direct exports last week were 23,400 barrels against 31,560 barrels the preceding week, and 1,739,076 bushels of wheat received for the week. The receipts were 216,390 bushels of wheat, 135,794 barrels of flour and 4300 tons of mill stuff.

THE ANGLICAN CHURCH.

Opening of the Buffalo Congress—Prof. Clarke on Church Colleges.

BUFFALO, Nov. 22.—Yesterday morning's session of the Church Congress was opened by Bishop Coxe with prayer, followed by the singing of the hymn, "A Glory Gilds the Sacred Page." The first paper was presented by Rev. W. B. Bodine, president of Kenyon College, Gambier, O., on "Colleges and Universities in their relation to the Church."

Rev. Dr. Potts, president of Hobart College, read a lengthy paper upon "The Church University and Church Colleges as Ideal for the Future Church."

Rev. Arthur Brooks of New York, Rev. P. W. Sprague of Charlestown, Mass., and Rev. Wm. Hughes of Norristown, N.J., spoke on the subject.

Rev. Prof. Wm. Clarke of Toronto followed and cited the names of a number of men, graduates from what is called church colleges. He believed in having church colleges, and that all the denominations should have them.

Another session was held last evening, when the subject for discussion was "The Question of Race in this Country."

Annie Lyons' Complaint Not Proven.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The case of Annie Lyons of Toronto, who charged Druggist Scott of Fourteenth-street and Seventh Avenue with deceiving her, was resumed in the Jefferson Market Police Court yesterday afternoon before Judge Duffy.

Judge Duffy reviewed the case briefly and at the end made a rather bitter speech against Mr. Scott, saying that he had received several anonymous letters giving Scott a bad character, but as the case was not proven he dismissed it. Miss Lyons was led back to her cell weeping and moaning piteously. She will be held to answer to a charge of disorderly conduct and possibly attempted suicide.

Precocious Pugs.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—A prize fight with kid gloves for a purse of $100, Marquis of Queensberry rules, took place on Long Island yesterday afternoon between Benny Moore, 18 years old, and Eddie Morgan, of the same age. Both are from this city. Moore's weight was 114 pounds and Morgan's 118. The referee was Jack Golden, and the fight was to a finish. Both were new to the prize ring, neither having ever fought for stakes, although they have been well known as amateurs. They fought six rounds, and the first three matters were even. In the last three Moore pushed the fighting and catching his opponent on the jaw the latter knocked him out. The fight lasted 24 minutes.

THE LAND PURCHASE BILL.

Mr. Labouchere and Sir G. O. Trevelyan Attack the Measure.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—In the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, Mr. Madden, Solicitor-General for Ireland, moved the second reading of the Irish land purchase bill.

Mr. Labouchere moved that the bill be rejected. He complained of the undue haste in which the measure was being pressed forward and said there was an obvious desire on the part of the Government to prevent the country from considering their proposals on the question of land purchase. He denied that Parliament had obtained at the last election any authority to legislate upon this question, the supreme importance of which requires the special sanction of the country. As the bill stood it was a gross injustice upon the British taxpayer. Besides that, it was injurious to Ireland as it would encourage a gigantic system of absenteeism. Until a home-rule measure was carried nothing ought to be done towards land purchase.

Sir George Otto Trevelyan (Lib.) warned the House that if it assented to the bill it would not be able to stop further grants and it would soon be called upon and compelled to advance millions. Among the dangers of the Ashbourne Act not the least was that it committed the British taxpayer to a system of indiscriminate purchase which gave no good security for advance, and which left the tenant in a condition to repudiate if bad years rendered him unable to pay his instalments.

On motion of Mr. Parnell the debate was adjourned.

The Parnellites are discontented with the manner in which the debate on the Ashbourne extension bill is conducted. They declare that the bill is not fought with sufficient spirit and tenacity and that the attitude of the Liberal leader is wanting in hostility. Mr. Parnell, responding to the desires of his party, has decided to fight every stage of the bill.

THE EMPRESS' BIRTHDAY.

Berlin Decorated in Honor of the Event—The Military Budget.

BERLIN, Nov. 22.—Many public and private buildings were decorated with flags yesterday in honor of Empress Frederick's birthday. The Reichsanzeiger says: "With sincere sympathy for the grief which during the past year of her life has fallen to the lot of Her Majesty are everywhere mingled heartfelt wishes for her future."

It is semi-officially denied that the ex Empress will return here at Christmas. On leaving England, it is stated, she will go directly to Italy for the winter.

Although no extra military credit has as yet been presented in the Bundesrath, it military circles it is considered certain that a loan of 350,000,000 marks will be demanded. This will be in addition from the credit already before the Bundesrath, amounting to 62 million marks, to meet extra expenditures under the annual provisional budget.

The O'Connor-Teemer Race.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—John Teemer and William O'Connor of Toronto, who will row a 3-mile race with a turn on the Potomac here Saturday for $1000 a side and the championship of Ontario, are both in good condition. Mr. J. R. Elder of the Columbia Athletic Club has been selected as referee.

Fatal Tenement House Fire.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—At a fire in a tenement at 110th-street yesterday afternoon a woman named Mrs. Mary Lally was burned to death on the top floor. The fire only did $3000 damage and originated in a shop on the first floor. There was a scramble among the tenants to escape but no other casualty is reported.

Brockville's Enoch Arden.

BROCKVILLE, Nov. 22.—After an absence of 26 years Mr. Shannon, former resident, turned up in town to claim his girl bride and finding that she is about to be married to a Cleveland man, having removed to that city some years ago, he returned to his Western home without seeing her.

The Rev. D. V. Lucas.

This Rev. gentleman, whose visit to our city some months ago was so much appreciated, is to revisit us next week, and intends conducting a week's campaign, commencing with Sunday. On Sunday he will preach in John St. Presbyterian Church in the morning, and in Bridge St. Church in the evening.

Installation Services.

At the installation services in the Congregational church on Friday evening, Nov. 30, when Rev'd T. W. Bowen will be installed pastor of that church, there will be present a number of prominent men of that denomination. Rev. Dr. Jackson, Rev. T. Hall and A. McFayden, of Kingston, will participate in the proceedings.

A Church Mouse.

"As poor as a church mouse" is an old adage, but it will not apply to the mouse that last night gave a number of ladies who attended the prayer meeting of a certain church the "fidgets," for this mouse was fat and saucy, and though very small, the ladies squirmed, and moved from seat to seat; and—— we leave our readers to imagine the rest.

Police Court.

The charge of desecrating the Sabbath preferred against the Grand Trunk employees, for working on Sunday last, was laid over until Monday next.

Stephen Cummins, charged with stealing a game fowl from John Gibson, pleaded guilty to the charge. He was remanded until Monday next for sentence.

Threatened His Life.

Archie Murray, who resides near the Grand Trunk station, last night about 9 o'clock reported that he was standing in his door way when one Thomas Gardiner came along, and in an insulting manner threatened to take his life, but made no effort to carry out the threat. He does not know for what cause he was threatened. The affair will be investigated.

Chewing Gum.

An observant gentleman in this city who has watched the increase of the disgusting habit of chewing gum, writes us that "it is a remarkable fact that nearly all the females —I couldn't call them ladies—who indulge in the nasty thing, are those whom nature has somewhat quashed for it, for they possess capacities much more than ordinary jaw power," and adds: "I am prepared to bet that as a rule it is only the homeliest and ugliest who do it."

Health Report.

We have received a copy of the monthly report for October of the Canadian mortuary statistics, from which we learn that during the past month the number of deaths in this city was 13, four of which were males and nine females. Of these 2 died of convulsions, 2 fevers, 1 of diseases of affections, 2 constitutional, 2 from violent deaths, and the remainder from local causes. We have been informed by the Health Inspector, Dr. Bell, that there has been no death in the city for three years as the result of diphtheria affection, while it has been committing ravenous work in the near localities.

Prof. Dorenwend's Wigs and Toupees for Gentlemen.

Gentlemen who have lost their hair, are beginning to realize the great advantages derived from wearing artificial coverings. They supply protection to the scalp where the nature has failed, and also fill up the deficiency in appearance caused by baldness. Hundreds of gentlemen in all parts of America testify to the beneficial results of using Prof. Dorenwend's wigs and toupees. Each article is carefully made, is light and strong, and when worn cannot be detected by the closest observer. Prof. Dorenwend will be at Queen's Hotel on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1st, and will show a big stock of them. Go and see them, whether you buy one or not; he makes no charges for trying them on.

Mohawk Thanksgiving Dinner.

Last evening a large and representative gathering of the Mohawks assembled at the parsonage of their popular clergyman, the Rev. G. A. Anderson, upon the occasion of their thanksgiving dinner. After a sumptuous repast had been partaken of and to all appearances thoroughly enjoyed, music and games were indulged in for a time, when, on motion of Chief Loft, Rev. Mr. Anderson took the chair and briefly addressed those present. Addresses were also given by Chiefs Brant and Loft, Rev. Mr. Geen, of Belleville, and Mr. T. Claus, the last being in Mohawk. Miss S. Anderson and Miss Loft, by their singing and playing, added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening. The general feeling expressed was that such gatherings were beneficial and should be established as an annual affair. After a short service the happy assembly dispersed.

A Sad Case.

William Arthurs, an old man 65 years of age, who has been a resident of this city about forty years, last night applied at the police station for protection. At the police court this morning he requested the magistrate to send him to the gaol. He says he has no home here, is without money and cannot find work. For a number of years he has supported himself by working at anything he can find to get to do, and has a considerable corporation work. His wife is in the city, but they have not lived together for some time. The magistrate remarked that the man's habits of intemperance had brought him to the position he now occupied. He however gave him a chance to apply for admission to the home of the Friendless, and if this should prove unsuccessful he would have to send him to the County gaol. The man has sons, who, it is said, would provide for him if he would leave drink alone.

Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto Coming.

We take pleasure in announcing the visit of Prof. Dorenwend of the Paris hair works, Toronto, with his magnificent assortment of styles in ladi's' bangs, front-pieces, (plain and wavy,) switches, half wigs, full wigs, gents' wigs, toupees, &c. The Professor is noted as the manufacturer of the best and most natural looking hair goods in America. Wherever he has visited, the press is unanimous in praising him as an artist, and an energetic business man. This, together with the fact that he has the largest and most magnificent establishment of the kind on the continent will recommend him and his goods to the public, and we have no hesitation in saying that our readers and their friends cannot do better than invest in some of the Prof.'s goods, as satisfaction is sure. He will have his show rooms at Queen's Hotel, on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1. See his advertisement in another column.

Oddfellowship.

A Pleasant Visit to Stirling.

The degree team of Minpah Lodge I. O. O. F. who went yesterday to Stirling for the purpose of giving an exemplification of the work, returned at noon and report themselves highly pleased with the reception accorded them by their brethren of Stirling Lodge.

On their arrival at the village the visitors were met by Bro. Haight, N. G. of Stirling Lodge, and several members of the Lodge, with vehicles for the conveyance of themselves and their paraphernalia. The visitors were taken to the Stirling House, where they were most hospitably entertained by Mr. Bennett, the courteous host, and their entertainment paid for by the Stirling brethren, much to their surprise.

At 8 p. m. Lodge was opened and before the work was entered upon, the attendance was swelled to upwards of 100, made up as follows: From Belleville, 29; from Madoc Lodge, 13, including Mr. Marshall Magabee, D. D. G. M.; from Campbellford, 6; and the remainder were made up of the local brothers, whose comfortable and commodious lodge room was crowded almost to discomfort by,as remarked by a widely experienced brother who was present, one of the finest and most intelligent looking bodies of men he had ever seen.

The performance of the work in all the degrees occupied upwards of three hours, and was watched with great interest by the lodge room, and the gathering separated in the wee sma' hours, highly gratified with the result of their exertions, the recollection of which will long be regarded with pleasure by all who were present, and especially by the visitors from Belleville, to whom the hospitality of the brethren of Stirling were of the most kindly yet unobtrusive character.

Chicken Thieves.

In the search yesterday by the police officers for the stolen game fowl belonging to John Gibson, another game fowl was found belonging to Geo. Cottrell. A young fellow named Simon Gulliver confiscated the same, but his whereabouts is at present unknown. The fowl was found on the premises of Jas. Simpson, which are situated a short distance east of the station.

Tyendinaga Council.

Council room, Nov. 6th, 1888.

Council met according to adjournment, members all present.

Upon motion, the petition to have the boundary line in the 9th concession, from Wring's to Burn's corners opened, was laid over.

Moved by Mr. Nash, seconded by Mr. Monro, that whereas the road leading from the third to the second concession over Wyman's bridge is unfit for public travel, be it therefore resolved that the Clerk is hereby authorized to ask the Township Engineer to examine said road, and also the side road between lots 25 and 26, and the side road between lots 20 and 21 at his earliest convenience and report which of the three roads would be the cheapest to build and the most convenient for the public.

Moved by Mr. Monro, seconded by Mr. Milligan, that the money appropriated for the road leading from the third concession to Wyman's bridge be expended on the side road between lots 20 and 21, leading from the third to the second concession. Carried.

The following bills and accounts were ordered to be paid, viz:

The Auditors' incidental expenses, $6 10; postage, 74 cts.; R. L. Lazier, gravel, $6.65; J. Elliott, gravel, $2 25; H. J. Abbott, plank, cedar and gravel, $5 60; T. S. Carman, printing Voters' Lists, &c., $6 40; G. Blaker, gravel $1 10; G. Armitage, gravel, $4; P. McGuinness, gravel, $3; T. Creeper, taxes refunded, $1; Dr. A. McLaren, attendance upon paupers, $25; J. McCullough, goods furnished paupers, $5 56; J. McCuliffe, gravel, $5; J. Little, gravel, $2.15; the bill of the Rathbun Co. was laid over. $25 was granted towards fencing the hill south of Kinsaford upon condition that Richmond give a like amount; the House of Providence, Kingston, support of Mrs. O'Neil, $16 30; the street ahead of us at home, but solid structures of delicate stuffed wicker an inch thick, of conventional and regular size, let into the floor—elastic, spotless, immovable, and perfectly safe—and even the daintiest of slippers. Chairs and tables are, of course, unknown, and the posture of repose is to seat oneself on one's heels. This squatting is by no means very painful at first, and, like the "blameless dances" in "Ruddigore," "takes a deal of training." At meal times you squat anywhere, and your food is placed before you. When you are tired you throw yourself anywhere on the floor, with no fear of soiling your white linen suit. When evening comes you do not seek your bedroom, you simply make it by sliding the walls round the spot you have chosen for your slumbers. The rough and ready way, according to my American friends, is to tread around on the floor till you find a reasonably soft mat, and then lay a few walls upon it for a couch.

A Bear Story.

(Toronto World.)

On Sunday night a captive bear being fattened by a West end butcher broke away and "clawed" a young man that he encountered on the street.

By special cablegram we have the following account of the affair as published in London, Eng., yesterday:

From the Times, London.

We have just received intelligence of another terrible bear catastrophe in our Colony of Canada. The sad affair occurred on Monday last in a small village called Toronto, a few miles from Winnipeg on the main line of the Union Pacific Railway, and not far from the main station at Hudson Bay. It appears that a settler named John Shaw, a young Englishman of the village Fire, Water and Gas Club, was on his way home from one of its meetings, and when almost at his own door, a huge grizzly bear sprang upon him from the adjoining forest. The snow at the time was about 8ft. deep and the thermometer 50 below zero, and the unfortunate man being on snowshoes and only armed with a walking stick, was unable to cope with the savage beast, and consequently was fearfully mangled. His cries, however, brought to the spot some half dozen of his lively young friends near the edge of the bush, and these with the assistance of the members of the Fire club, who had also been attracted by the cries, soon dispatched the bear. The bear was found to measure 18 feet from snout to tip of his tail. The town has since the commencement of the winter been overrun with bears, and it is not safe to venture out at night without a good rifle and a lantern. The unfortunate settler was carried to the hospital at New York, the nearest township, and we are glad to say is doing as well as can be expected.

A BUFFALO BOY STOLEN IN CHICAGO AND NO TRACE LEFT BEHIND.

The Chicago police are mystified over the strange abduction of a Buffalo boy in that city, and as yet have found no clue to his whereabouts, nor can they find any one who would have an object in stealing the boy. Nearly a month ago John Conway, who is now residing at No. 769 Root street, Chicago, went there from Buffalo. Mr. Conway was out of employment and went there to find work. Having only one child, a boy named Johnny 6 years old, his wife being dead, he decided to leave him in Buffalo temporarily, and the Sisters of Charity there consented to take care of the child. Mr. Conway found employment in one of the packing houses at the stock yards and at once wrote to Buffalo to have the boy sent to him. Johnny was put on a Michigan Southern train, in charge of Conductor Ladd. He reached Chicago on the afternoon of Nov. 1st. The sisters had written to Mr. Conway to meet the boy at the train, but he failed to receive their letter in time, and the child arrived at the Van Buren street depot alone. For several hours the poor little fellow sat in the waiting-room expecting his father to come for him. Late that night an officer took him to the Harrison police station. He was cared for by the matron and efforts were made by the police to locate his father. A day or two later he was sent to the St. Joseph Orphan Asylum. Mr. Conway finally received the letter from Buffalo and was much disturbed. He went to the rail way depot and inquired the destination of the train that his boy had been stolen from the orphan asylum. He was sent up town to Inspector Bonfield's office, where he soon related his story to the Chicago Herald, which relates the story as above, says the officers at St. Joseph's Orphan Asylum were nearly as perturbed as was Mr. Conway when they learned the state of affairs. They say that on Tuesday afternoon, election day, a man called at the institution and inquired if a boy named Johnny Conway had been sent there. He then said he was a police officer and had come for him. He showed a letter from Detroit to some person here, which spoke of the boy, mentioning the name of Conductor Ladd, in whose charge the lad came to Chicago, and telling the recipient to "have Crane investigate." The man did not give his name, but it is supposed that he was Crane. The boy was given in his charge, and the two left together. The police have as yet found no trace of either of them. The mother of the abduction, for such it appears to be, is not known, and Mr. Conway claims that he cannot imagine any motive.

A Japanese House.

Where Walls Have Not Only Ears But Legs.

Japan Letter.

A Japanese house is unlike anything corresponding to it at home. From the outside it is an uninviting big black barn; inside it is a spotless doll's house magnified a thousand diameters, all white and wicker and white paper. The entrance hall is a platform raised a couple of feet above the ground, where you take off your boots if you are a foreigner, or leave your sandals if you are a native, and then open door slides back and you are in—but that depends on circumstances. Sometimes you are in one room and sometimes in another. It may be a general assembly room fifty feet square; it may be a bedroom (if you call early in the morning)

Here walls have not only ears, they have also legs, and will walk off in a body to make a new room you simply "form square" by sliding enough panels in their grooves to enclose the space, or, at your pleasure all the rooms are thrown into one, enclosed, in our case, by forty-six panels. Those forming the sides of the house consist each of sixty little paper panes. To wet one's finger, push it quietly into the window and peep through, this is the natural Japanese counterpart of accidental surreptitious inspection by the keyhole. The floor is matted; not mats strewed about as at home, but solid

The Reeve introduced a by law appointing places in which to hold the municipal election for A. D. 1889, and returning officers to hold the same, which was adopted as follows, viz:—No. 1 polling sub division, court room, Shannonville, W. E. Pearsall, R. O.; No. 2, town hall, Marysburgh, S. Osborne, R. O.; No. 3, house of W. T. Randall, Lonsdale, W. T. Randall, R. O.; No. 4, Moult's school house, S. Moult, R. O.; No. 5, Black's school house, M. Williams, R. O.; No. 6, Ryan's shop, M. Ryan, R. O.; No. 7, Hanley's Hall, B. Callery, R. O.

A by law was also introduced and adopted for the levying and collecting of an additional five per cent. on all taxes, rates or assessments, or parts thereof which shall not be paid to the collectors of the municipality on or before the twentieth day of January in each year after the date of the passing of said by law.

Council adjourned till the 15th day of December.

HARRISON IS AMBITIOUS.

HE DESIRES A BRILLIANT PAGE IN HISTORY.

It Is Said That His First Message to Congress Will Propose the Purchase of Cuba—Willing to Pay a Bonus.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—A News special from Indianapolis says: An intimate friend of Gen. Harrison said yesterday that Gen. Harrison, like all Presidents, would like to do something that will give his administration a prominent place in the history of his country, and "I have reason to believe," continued the speaker, "that one of his first official acts will be negotiations for the annexation of Canada."

"What is his plan of annexation?"

"He believes the United States can and should receive Canada in a peaceful manner. His idea is that the territory can be annexed to the United States by assuming Canada's debt. If the territory can be obtained for that consideration I think Gen. Harrison would favor it, considering the bonus. I understand he has said privately that the surplus in the treasury could not be spent in a wiser manner than by buying Canada. Whatever his plan for making Canada a portion of the United States may be I know he heartily favors such a move, and will so recommend in his first letter to Congress."

East Northumberland had several contests since 1880. In that year Darius Crowter, a local preacher and a Liberal, defeated William Kennedy (Con.) in a contest for the seat made vacant by the death of the late Joseph Keeler; his majority was about 200. In 1882 Edward Cochrane, the new member elect, left Mr. Crowter at home. At the general election in 1887 Dr. Mallory fought the constituency and beat Mr. Cochrane by 8 votes. He was unseated and at the next election in December, 1887, Mr. Cochrane was successful by 24 votes, only in his turn to be unseated.

QUEBEC POLITICS.

The Legislature to be Called Jan. 10—Proposed Cabinet Changes.

MONTREAL, Nov. 22.—The Quebec Official Gazette will on Saturday contain a proclamation calling the Legislature for Thursday, Jan. 10.

It is understood that the Magnetic local election, resulting in the return by acclamation of the Conservative member, Mr. Johnston, will take place about the middle of December and that the Government candidate will be Lieut.-Col. Rhodes of Quebec, the former representative of the county, who will previously be sworn in Minister of Agriculture, Colonization and Mercier taking the new portfolio of President of the Council. These facts were obtained from a gentleman who had a conference with the Ministers yesterday.

Mr. Mercier has been detained at his Quebec residence for three days past through illness. His ailment however is not considered serious.

All the departments are in full blast preparing for the session.

A Conservative M.P. stated yesterday that the Ottawa session would begin in the third week in January.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Polly Bredin in the Police Court Charged With Bigamy.

TORONTO, Nov. 22.—At the Police Court yesterday Polly Bredin was arraigned on the charge of bigamy. Mr. W. R. Meredith, Q.C., M.P.P., appeared for the prisoner, who pleaded guilty and demanded a jury trial. At the request of the crown a remand was had until Tuesday to secure witnesses from the United States.

Aikins Pfeffers, arrested in Listowel on a charge of having stolen $15 from a milk-dealer named Robbs, was yesterday remanded by Justice Wingfield till Friday.

The alleged confidence men Alexander and Hunter appear to have been quite skilled in the various arts of fleecing and other styles of gentlemanly theft. The detectives have in their possession a considerable number of the prisoners which has a history. Apparently it is simply a walking stick with a stout ferule and a nobby handle. The ferule, however, is sectional, and when the top is unscrewed a pair of tweezers is discovered, which opens and shuts by operating the handle. The idea is that the owner to walk into a bank, and when he sees a package of bills within easy reach of his cane he unscrews the ferule, distracts the attention of the cashier, and rakes in the notes with dexterity. He does not take them himself, but simply transfers them from the cashier's desk to a confederate in waiting, who, if the steal is successful, picks them up from the floor and walks out.

A SHOCKING ACCIDENT.

Two Men Horribly Mutilated and Killed at Dorval by a Grand Trunk Train.

MONTREAL, Nov. 22.—Ulrich Noel, aged 19, and Philip Casavant, aged 21, both employed as plasterers at the new Grand Trunk station at Dorval, a village at Dorval, were walking along the track coming from the direction of Lachine yesterday and just as they arrived at the engine-shed situated a few yards from the station two trains were noticed coming along close behind them, both going in the same direction. One was the Toronto express leaving Montreal at 9.10 and the other was a ballast train out from St. Cathrines. Seeing that the men made no attempt to get off the line, the driver of the Toronto train blew the whistle, and shouted out to them:

"Get off the line if you don't want to be killed."

Charles Burton from the station platform and the other officials seeing that the men were running the deadliest risk frantically shouted and waved their arms to them to jump off the track, but just as the unfortunate men seemed suddenly to realize their danger the express swiftly ran them down and all was over.

The engine caught up Noel and flung him with terrific force against the side of the boiler, dashing his brains out on the spot. The other man seemed to be crushed right underneath the body of the engine and was dragged on for nearly 200 yards. Both his legs were missing and the trunk of his body was badly mutilated. The poor fellow had grasped for breath and then expired without a word.

An inquest was commenced last night.

H. BULL.

Strange, but Still True.

Mrs. David Carstairs, Haldimand Township, met with a very pleasant surprise a few weeks ago. It seems Mrs. Carstairs has suffered a great deal from dyspepsia and indigestion, the symptoms of which were, pains in the stomach and bowels, and sick headache. She has tried a great many physicians, and an unlimited amount of patent medicines, but without any success; and last but not least, she tried Dowling's Pepsin Compound, and one bottle has removed both pain and ache. She returns the kindest regards to P. E. Dowling, Deseronto, for his magnificent remedy. Belleville Ontario, takes pattern by this woman, and ask your Druggist for it.

PILES! PILES! PILES!

Dr. William's Indian Pile Ointment is a sure cure for Blind, Bleeding or Itching Piles. No one need suffer. Prepared for Piles only. It never fails to cure. Sold by druggists for $1.00, or mailed on receipt of price. WILLIAMS MF'G Co., Cleveland, Ohio.

The Modus Operandi.

The mode of operating of Burdock Blood Bitters is that it acts at once and at the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and the Blood, to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in Chronic Complaints.

FEVER AND AGUE AND BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS are positively cured by the use of Parmelee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, pass up them to your copious effusions from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

To lessen mortality and stop the inroads of disease, use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. For all diseases arising from Impure Blood, such as Pimples, Blotches, Biliousness, Indigestion, etc., it has no equal. Mrs. Thomas Smith, Elm, etc., it has no equal. Mrs. Thomas Smith, Elm, writes: "I am using this medicine for Dyspepsia: I have tried many remedies, but this is the only one that has done me any good."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakens as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind. 3dlwly

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transition from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc, if attended to in time are easily subdued, but allowed to run their own course, generally prove one-runner of more danger ous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptive date their affliction from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. Oneof the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from vicid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

Rest and Comfort to the Suffering.

"Brown's Household Panacea" has no equa for relieving pain, both internal and external. Cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal, as its acting power is wonderful." "Brown's Household Panacea," being acknowledged as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family handy for use when wanted, as it really is the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the Stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds, and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cts a bottle.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City.

The Child of Waterloo.

BY GEORGE W. M. REYNOLDS.

'I would not dwell upon a painful reminiscence, or even awaken one, but what would I not give if old Mr. Rourelli could look upon the scene like this.

Mrs. Morton was near at hand, and heard the wish. She approached Mabel, and took her by the hand.

'My dear child,' she said, 'you utter that wish as if you were hopeless of its accomplishment.

'Is accomplishment!' said Mabel, with surprise.

'Yes, dear Mabel, its accomplishment. Do you not believe that one so good and excellent in all respects as your dear grandfather, enjoys all the happiness that can be promised in that world which is to come for all of us—that world in which there is no grief, no sorrow, no tears, Mabel, and from which it has ever been a favorite idea of mine, to think that it will be one of the choicest pleasures of the good and great who have gone before us to look down from their star-spangled home upon those they loved on earth?'

'That is a charming theory,' said Mabel, 'and I will cling to it.'

'Do so, dearest; it is one that may be believed by the purest and the best. If it be a delusion it is heaven born, and pardonable for its beauty.'

'You have awakened me to a better sense I will no longer, dear mother' (Mabel still loved to call Mrs. Morton mother). 'I will never again, dear mother, wish with a sigh, that old Mr. Rousell were here to look upon us in our happiness. But when the feeling comes across me, that we are more than usually happy, and I feel that heart-gushing tenderness toward all things that can scarcely express itself in words, I will not say I wish he saw us, but I will say he does see us.'

Henry saw a tear trembling in the eyelid of his young wife, and he drew her arm gently in his as he said,—

'Come Mabel; let us walk on to yonder mound, and see the last of the setting sun.'

'Who can this be?' said Captain Morton; 'There's somebody coming from the house with a stable jacket on, whom I don't know.'

'Why, good heaveus! its Rafferty,' said Henry.

'Rafferty—impossible!' he went and settled in the next town, twelve miles off, with his wife.'

But it was Rafferty, who, then came up to the party said,—

'Would you be afther having candles in the dining room, or you are going to set light to the new chandeleree? A mighty dash it cuts like a lot of broken glass bottles hanging from the ceiling.'

'Why, good God, Rafferty!' said the captain, 'you left my service three months ago, and got married, and went to live twelve miles off, and here you are in your old costume, asking us if we'd have candles in the dining-room, or the chandelier lighted.'

'It's the dress, is it?, said Rafferty. 'Faith, then, and I found that in my old room, on the same peg that I left it. You see, sir, I've been in your service a good while so I thought I'd take you on again. Where's the use of finding that?'

'But where's your wife, Rafferty?' said Mrs. Morton. 'I'm afraid we cannot have your wife.'

'Afraid, marm—afraid you can't have her? Faith, and I'd be afraid if you could, marm.'

'Well, but, Rafferty, where is she?' said the captain.

'Ateen you and me and the post, captain, it's not worth asking about. Here I am again—let by-gones be by-gones. Sor row take the Christian as would throw a fellow's misfortunes in his face!'

'But you must tell us,' said Henry; 'we can't encourage men to leave their wives.'

'You can't encourage Mr. Henry? Nobody asked you, sir. It be a fact, indeed, would be encouraged by you, sir. I wish I'd had Miss Mabel myself instead of you. She couldn't have took to British brandy like Mrs. Rafferty, and fell down a trap door and broke her neck!'

'Oh, that is it, is it?' said the captain; 'then you are a widower, Rafferty?'

'Yes, sir; what's happened is a what's-a-name to me—a great something; but he added something about beer orale,—'Oh! I have it, sir, a great morale lesson. I've been through a champagn or two, captain, but this has been just the worst; so say no more about it.'

They did respect Rafferty's feelings, now they really found what had happened, and Rafferty himself quietly slid into his ordinary employment again; and nothing could give him greater offense than any allusion to his brief sojourn in the realms matrimonial.

It was a great pleasure to Mabel, as well as to Henry, and, in fact, to all the Morton family, to provide for Troubled Tom; but the great difficulty was, how to provide for him; for, although they got him a great number of employments, he went to sleep so perpetually that he was really of no use to any one, and at last he became quite a puzzle among the family to know what to do with him; and then Troubled Tom, in an extraordinary fit of wakefulness, came out with a suggestion himself.

'Oh, dear,' he said, 'it's a great bore to have to say anything. I—I should like a little bit of sleep somewhere, only nobody'll let me have it. Now I tells yer what—'

At this juncture Troubled Tom gave evident symptoms of leaving off and taking a nap; but after being well shaken, he resumed, and actually proposed that a chair should be appropriated to him in any field, which was likely to be much attacked by birds, and there he allowed to fall asleep all day, doing the duty of an animated scare-crow.

This of course, the Mortons would not agree to; so he lived at the Hall, and dozed away his time by the kitchen fire, alike insensible to the boiling over of pots and pans and the scolding of the cook.

Reader, we have now brought our eventful history to a close, and those who have followed our heroine through her many perilous adventures, know well how deserving she is of the happiness that has certainly fallen upon her.

It will be seen, in the course of her eventful career, how, in the time of utmost need, friends will rise up for the unfortunate, so that none need despair, for what could have been a more destitute and pitiable object than a young infant upon the field of carnage, from whence Mabel had been plucked, and whom death had bereft of one parent—despair of another?

Nor was the happiness we have depicted of short duration; but as years passed on, and she became a happy mother, seeing the living image of herself and husband in the little prattler that clustered round her knee, she would shed those tears of joy which come from the overflowing heart—tears so different from those which grief produces; and many a time she would tremble as she crept closer to her husband's heart, and whispered:

'Is it a sin to be so happy?'

And he would smile, and, pointing to the blue heavens above, would tell her that that omniscient Being who preserved the Child of the Battle Field, preserved her to be what she now was—the happiest of the happy.

[THE END.]

Among the Indians.

"While my husband was trading in furs he came across an Indian who was taken to his lodge to die. He had inward pains and pains in all his limbs. He gave some Yellow Oil internally and applied it externally, and cured him. It also cured my husband of rheumatism, and I find it valuable for coughs and colds, sore throat, etc." Mrs. A. Besaw, Cook's Mills, Serpant River, Ont.

CATARRH.

A New Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the interlining membrane of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes. The eminent scientists, Tyndall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made oftener then once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before an application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease.

So highly are these remedies valued that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy a parasite, of which they know nothing, by remedies, of the results of the application of which they are equal ignorant. Mr. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effects a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases.

Mr. Dixon sends a pamphlet describing his new treatment on the receipt of stamp to pay postage. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son, 303 King street west, Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Cured By B. B. B. When all Else Fail ed.

Mr. Samuel Allan, of Lisle, Ont., states that he tried all the doctors in his locality while suffering for years with Liver and Kidney trouble; nothing benefitted him until he took Burdock Blood Bitters, four bottles cured him.

Give Them a Chance?

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger airpassages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrah, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is Dr. Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

Hesitation means Loss.

If your hair is coming out or turning gray, or if you find dandruff in your hair do not hesitate about looking after it. Get some of Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic," use it as directed and you will find that it will give you the best of satisfaction. Take warning, do not wait till it is too late but try it at once. All druggists sell it.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites

Is very palatable and much better than the plain oil. Dr. W. H. Cameron, of Halifax, N. S., says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver oil with Hypophosphites for the past two years and found it more agreeable to the stomach, and have better results from its use than any other preparation of the kind I have ever tried." Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

A Quarter of a Century

For more than twenty five years has Haggard's Yellow Oil been sold by druggists, and it has never yet failed to give satisfaction as a household remedy for pain, lameness and soreness of the flesh, for external and internal use in all painful complaints.

THE CASE OF MANITOBA.

PRESENTED BY MR. MOWAT BEFORE THE SUPREME COURT.

It is Frequently Interrupted by the Judges Who Make a Number of Suggestions and Ask several Questions.

OTTAWA, Nov. 22.—Argument in the Manitoba railway crossing case was resumed in the Supreme Court this morning and Mr. Christopher Robinson, Q.C., is continuing his argument on behalf of the Canadian Pacific Railway commenced last evening, quoted a number of authorities to show the interpretation given to railway legislation by the Federal authorities. Dealing with the action of the Manitoba Legislature in authorizing the construction of the Portage extension, he said yet legislature could of its own accord give final jurisdiction. He showed the ill effects of concurrent jurisdiction. The Federal Parliament in declaring certain roads to be for the general advantage of Canada took a step which should be in itself sufficient to prevent the provinces from constructing further railways intended to cross any of the railways declared by the Federal Parliament to be for the general advantage of Canada. It is unreasonable, he said, for the Provinces to object to the Dominion assuming the entire control of railways. Vast railways traversing the Dominion should not be handicapped by Provincial roads, which, while competing with the former, were governed by other regulations.

There can be no judicial interference. There cannot, he argued, be judicial interference in matters of policy, such as the assumption of all legislative control in railway matters. The tendency of the age is towards placing the various roads under the power of the central authority. The various provinces enacted legislation which conflicted with that of the Dominion. This formed the strongest argument, when the Dominion was obliged to assert its legislative clearly bestowed under the British North America Act.

Hon. Mr. Mowat opened the case for Manitoba. He commenced by a general declaration that in endeavoring to assume control of provincial roads the Dominion Government was exceeding the power granted it by the British North America Act and contended that the act did not give the Dominion Government the power with regard to railways which it was assuming. The question before the court was a twofold one.

First: Is the Manitoba act for the construction of the Portage extension valid?

Secondly: If so, is it valid to cross the Canadian Pacific Railway?

The enactment of the Federal Parliament in effect is to deprive the province of their rights to build roads. Since May, 1883, these provinces have no longer enjoyed a right granted them by the British North America Act. He disputed the wisdom of the Dominion in assuming legislative jurisdiction when it destroyed the vested right. If the terms of the Federal Railway Act are regarded, the construction of provincial railways crossing Dominion roads becomes almost impossibility in British Columbia, Manitoba, Ontario, Quebec, and possibly the Maritime Provinces.

The Minister of Justice, despite the expense of Federal legislation preventing the granting of provincial charters authorizing roads to cross Federal roads, actually considered provincial acts relating to provincial railways in a favorable manner on various occasions during the past five years. Sir John Thompson made reports on charters which granted provincial railway charters. Some of the acts were allowed, but not in a single instance does the Minister of Justice suggest any difficulty regarding the method and manner of crossing Dominion roads.

Mr. Mowat then went on to argue touching what really should be the interpretation of the Act. It was impossible to imagine that Parliament really thought of forbidding railways built by the provinces, and that view was quite consistent with the legislation enacted by Parliament. All the language of the 30th section meant, or grammatically could mean, was that when the railway became a work it would be for the general advantage of Canada. There was no indication of any other meaning. If the larger construction would be utterly unwarrantable. The construction put upon them by the other side was much larger than the words require. The language of the 30th section also meant that not until the railway was built should it be subject to the legislation of Parliament.

Mr. Justice Taschereau referred Mr. Mowat to the definition of what a railway was. He contended it was for what an owner, with Mr. Mowat having read the clause.

Hon. Edward Blake said it was worth more than was being given at.

Mr. Mowat: "It only stipulates what a railway shall do."

Proceeding, Mr. Mowat said that before 1883, the corresponding clauses in the bill legislation would apply to all railways passed under provincial legislation which should cross a Dominion railway. That was the meaning before 1883, and we found it repeated in 1882, 1884, 1885. The construction would be that the legislation intended it to remain unaltered. He held that the courts could not be interesting to prove was the intention of the Parliament of Canada and the provinces as sequiesced in by the Dominion Parliament.

Chief Justice Ritchie: "Have you not, Ontario, an act which says it shall not be altered?"

Mr. Mowat: "The Ontario Revised Acts, My Lord."

Justice Strong: "In a new clause which was introduced in an old enactment I think we must suppose that the new clause carries it."

Mr. Mowat: "If my learned friend's construction of the 30th section is right I think we must say that the 177th clause of the revised statutes excluded it."

Mr. Justice Strong: "Then you must come to what the construction of the 306th clause is."

Mr. Mowat, proceeding, argued that an Act of Parliament must be read by the light of the preamble. He argued that if the Canadian Pacific Railway's construction of the statute was correct all the money paid for the abandonment of monopoly had gone for nothing. The Dominion was not going to build the road and so $15,000,000 was guaranteed in order to get rid of the supposed monopoly. In his construction of legislation that was quite sufficient. Nothing more was needed and the province could build their railways.

Mr. Justice Strong: "The abolition of that monopoly might have been done on the ground of policy. In the interest of its own public policy they might cause it to be regarded as a Dominion work."

Mr. Mowat: "It is one of a number of things which I thought I would mention in that direction."

Mr. Justice Strong: "It is not an argument that would commend itself to the judicial mind. Of course as a question of policy it may be very good."

Hon. Mr. Mowat went on to say that the Dominion Government had established for the provincial railway lines which had been authorized to connect with the Canadian Pacific and other railways mentioned as for the general advantage of Canada and more of them were disallowed. Amongst these were the Irondale, Bancroft and Ottawa Railway, the Richmond Hill Junction Railway, the Brockville, Westport and Sault Ste. Marie Railway, the Jacques Cartier Railway and others. All these had been built since 1883 and not disallowed.

Mr. Justi e Strong observed that this would have the effect of recognizing these persons to whom a grant was made as a corporation duly and legally incorporated. Would it have any effect beyond these particular bodies to whom the grant was made?

Hon. Mr. Mowat thought it a pretty strong argument that the operations of the companies were valid.

Mr. Justice Taschereau pointed out that it was the Canadian Pacific Railway who were taking action and not the Dominion Government.

Mr. Mowat closed by contending that any language held to take away certain powers from Provincial Legislatures must be clear and explicit and not contained in doubtful clauses of an act of Parliament.

Mr. D'Alton McCarthy, Q.C., followed on behalf of Manitoba. He dealt upon the argument advanced by Mr. Mowat, that a work could not be declared to be for the general advantage until it is actually in existence and that Parliament must have an opportunity of exercising judgment before making such a declaration. He pointed out that the railway at present under discussion might actually be constructed without crossing the Canadian Pacific, although it was a matter of convenience that it should so cross, and held therefore that the charter granted by the Provincial Legislature must be valid without dispute.

Justice Taschereau: "Whether the act is valid or not is a question quite different to that we have to answer."

Mr. McCarthy said it was hard to understand how a charter which had been good when passed could become void merely by the carrying out of the authority given.

Justice Strong: "We may answer the question in the negative without impugning the validity of the charter."

Mr. Blake: "I see where they can build the line without crossing the Canadian Pacific Railway."

Mr. McCarthy, continuing, held that in accordance with the ordinary rule if there was the slightest doubt in the matter, if the building of the province was not altogether unreasonable, it should be given the benefit of the doubt.

At the conclusion of Mr. McCarthy's argument Mr. Bilkie intimated to Hon. F. Langelier, who was watching the case in the interest of the Province of Quebec, that if he wished to address the court he could do so, but he declined, saying he was quite content with the arguments of Mr. Mowat.

Hon. Mr. Blake spoke for an hour in reply to the arguments of Hon. Mr. Mowat and Mr. McCarthy and had not concluded when the court rose.

Knights of Labor.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 22.—At the Knights of Labor Convention, by a vote of 88 to 62, it was decided to continue the salary of $4,000 to the General Master Workman, and the Secretary Treasurer will be paid $2000. Members of the Executive Board will receive $4 a day and expenses. The report of the committee was accepted and these matters as to salary came up immediately afterwards.

Strewn Along the Road.

GUELPH, Nov. 22.—At Rockwood last night several young men were strewn along the road by a runaway. One, John Lacey, got his arm broken, and another, Samuel Bradshaw, was thrown from a bridge into the river below. Fortunately the water was not deep, but the ice bothered the young man considerably before he got out.

Montreal's Fugitive Shortbander Arrested.

MONTREAL, Nov. 22.—J. Whitfield, the shorthand writer who skipped from the city last week leaving a blank and who is charged with obtaining goods from merchants here under false pretences, was arrested to-day in Quebec on a telegram from Chief Hughes. He will probably be brought to Montreal to-morrow.

The Gypsy in Austria.

The wanderings of gypsies through their favorite land, Austria, have received a serious check. The Austrian minister of the interior has issued a decree by which itinerant gypsy bands, wherever they turn up, will be called to order. They are given an ultimatum, and should it be ascertained that they have come from the east they are turned back under escort. On each occasion all expenses entailed by their transport is to be defrayed by themselves, and should they be insolvent their live stock and chattels are to be sold at auction. The gypsy of Austria and Bohemia is said to be of doubtful honesty, whereas the Hungarian gypsy is hard working and inoffensive. A case recently learned disclosed a Hungarian gypsy horse dealer employing an English governess for his daughters, who were receiving an excellent education, while his son was an officer in the Roumanian army.—New York Sun.

An Underground River Discovered.

At Whiteville, N. C., and underground river has been discovered. When in the vicinity of the supposed stream it can be plainly heard, but when a person lies flat on the ground the phenomenon becomes really alarming. The sound seems to be that the water is not any great distance down and that it is not a small stream, but a majestic river that is coursing onward in the bowels of the earth on its way to the sea. Vehicles passing over the ground where the phenomenon exists create hollow echos from below, and the earth is in many places for a long distance around seems to be cavernous, judging from the sounds that follow. This may be one of the streams that feed the wonderful springs of Florida.—Chicago Herald.

The Development of Mexico.

American capital and enterprise have taken such a hold in the development of Mexico that a New York syndicate will in February open a bank in the City of Mexico with a capital of $3,500,000. It will be called the International and Mortgage Bank of Mexico. This is an American affair, if directed aright. What is chiefly wanted now is a live, enterprising banker from the United States at the head, who will keep the institution in the line of American ideas and influence, and out of European influences, which are slowly opposed to the entrance of their rivals into the banking business of this southern republic.—Chicago Herald.

The English Hunting Season.

For the English hunting season, which has just begun, 945 packs of various kinds are advertised to take part. Fifty packs of stag hounds are in England and Ireland. Of fox hounds there are 195 in England, 7 in Scotland and 73 in Ireland. Harriers there are 96 packs in England, 3 in Scotland and 20 in Ireland, and of beagles there are 191 in England, Wales and Ireland combined.—New York Sun.

Remedy for Fetid Feet.

After bathing and thoroughly drying the feet, apply moistened bi-carbonated soda to and between the toes, and the result will be very satisfactory.—Herald of Health.

Valuable to Know.
Consumption may be successfully prevented than cured. The irritating and harassing cough will be greatly relieved by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

Dangerous Counterfeits.
Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success attained by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by worthless imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. For sale by all druggists or sent post-paid on receipt of price (50c. and $1.) by addressing Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Rare Combination.
There is no other remedy or combination of medicines that meets so many requirements, as does Burdock Blood Bitters in its wide range of power over the chronic diseases as Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Complaint, Scrofula and all humors of the blood.

There are a number of varieties of corns Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

Grip Catin, 49 Pearl Street Buffalo, N. Y., says, I tried various remedies for the piles but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications.

Mrs. George Leech, Hadmand Township, has received more benefit from two bottles of Dawlings Pepsin Compound, than anything she has ever taken in her life. She has been troubled with bilious ness, loss f appetite and constipation for years. Now she has none of these troubles. People write to her and see how she will recommend you to take Dawling's Pepsin Compound if you are dyspeptic.

The cheapest medicine in use is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, because so very little of it is required to effect a cure. For coughs, bronchitis, and die ases of the lungs and throat, whether used for bathing the chest or throat, for taking internally or inhaling it is a matchless compound.

What does Dowling's Pepsin Compound cure? Dyspepsia and Indigestion. What are the symptoms? Biliousness, constipation, lack of energy, drow siness, heads he, pains in the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, depression of spirits. Ask your druggist for it.

Dowling's Little Liver Granules are highly recommended for all diseases of the liver.

Mr. Thomas Gallard, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I have been afflicted for nearly a year with that most to be dreaded disease dyspepsia, and at times was worn out with pain and want of sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended I tried one box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. I am now nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money."

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energy of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cause and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body." Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

All of the dyspeptic remedies ever placed in the market, Dowling's Pepsin Compound takes the lead. Why? Because it acts naturally on the digestive organs. If the stomach and not mechanically, like the other patent medicines. Besides, it helps to assimilate and digest all the foods that enter the stomach. Ask your druggist for a bottle.

Belleville follows the example of Mrs. Geo. Leech, of Hadimand, and many others, and convince themselves of that dire disease, dyspepsia and indigestion.

The Dangerous Coal Oil.
MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—The explosion of poor, refined coal oil is the cause of another accident al burning. A little girl named Beauchamp living on Maple street, while helping her mother in domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while resting on the table. Her burning clothing was only t rn from her with much difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quickly summoned and the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined Oil a considerable quantity of inferior Coal oil is being sold.
In order to avoid a case of this kind we have taken the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil:

'CARBON SAFETY OIL'
A specially refined and superior grade of Canadian Oil,

ASTRAL OIL,

These we can most confidently recommend to our retail trade as goods that will give entire satisfaction.

Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by Physicians. Sold by druggists everywhere; 50 cents.

"Untold Agony from Catarrh."

Prof. W. HAUSNER, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sunset, my voice would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."

THOMAS J. RUSHING, Esq., 290 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure remedy for catarrh now manufactured, and one has only to use it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

Three Bottles Cure Catarrh.

ELI ROBBINS, Runyan P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says: "My daughter had catarrh when she was five years old, very badly. I saw Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy advertised, and procured a bottle for her, and soon saw that it helped her; a third bottle effected a permanent cure. She is now eighteen years old and sound and healthy."

BELLEVILLE FRIDAY, NOV. 23

A POINTER FOR THE FADDISTS.

The faddists have untiringly proclaimed that the farmers of Ontario are just pining for a chance to adopt their quack nostrum for all the imaginary ills under which they are alleged to labor.

Their assertion has been put to the proof in East Northumberland, which is an agricultural constituency.

Dr. Mallory, the Grit candidate, was elected over Mr. Cochrane at the general election in February, 1887, before the fad had been born.

Dr. Mallory was unseated and has since contested the constituency twice with Mr. Cochrane.

In the last two elections Dr. Mallory ran as a commercial unionist or advocate of unrestricted reciprocity, and was defeated by Mr. Cochrane, firstly by 24 and secondly by the larger majority of 53.

Dr. Mallory, who was successful before the fad existed, has twice been unsuccessful with the fad as the chief issue, and the majority against him on that issue is evidently increasing.

The Globe said a few days before the last contest that when the Dr. was first beaten on this issue it had not been properly understood by the people, but that such was not now the case. Accepting this state ment as correct, it is still worse for the Grits, for it shows that when their fad was not properly understood in East Northumberland the majority against it was 24 and that when there could be no lack of knowledge on the subject, it was defeated by 53.

These facts contradict the false assertions of the reckless scribblers of the Grit party, the Mail, Wiman, Goldwin Smith & Co.

DRAW OATS.

A new game has been invented, which is played chiefly by farmers. The game has been christened "draw oats," and consists in farmers drawing oats from one to another, pretending that they are worth $10 per bushel. The worst feature of the game is that people actually give their notes to each other in playing this game, pretending that the oats are worth $10 per bushel.

It must be plain to any one that the day will come when a good many farmers will have their notes out and their barns filled with this grain, when they cannot get any one to "play oats are worth $10 a bushel" with them.

Let us make a suggestion, that this transportation of oats from one farmer to another is all labor lost; that the game could be played just as well with any article of small bulk, marbles, for instance. Our farmers could as well sell one another 10 or 20 marbles at $10 per marble, agreeing to take back three times the number of marbles the following year at $7.50 each. This would effect a saving in transportation, and have the same result, whilst preserving the gambling features of the oat deal.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

Mr. Edward Blake and Mr. Mowat have crossed swords before the Supreme Court at Ottawa as counsel in the legal battle between the Canada Pacific Railway and the Government of Manitoba as to the crossing of the C. P. R track by the Red River Valley Railway extension. Mr. Blake represents the former and Mr. Mowat the latter. The public will watch for the result with interest.

The sending of the Radical Labouchere's comments on the proceedings of the Parnell Commission to the press of Canada is a useless enterprise. Send the facts and we in Canada will form our own opinions.

The Globe intimates that it is not Dr. Mallory's intention to contest the election of Mr. Cochrane. The Dr. is wise, in view of the steady increase of the majority against him.

Needs Reforming.

There is considerable need for improvement in the management of the Mercer Reformatory in this city, if all that is whispered regarding the way the unfortunate inmates are employed and the condition in which they are turned out is true. With a parsimony in the use of money which does not distinguish the Government in all its dealings with public funds, those who are placed in charge of the above institution are given to understand, so it is alleged, that the thing must be made to pay, and consequently the girls and women are kept busy at jobs of sewing for various firms and are not allowed to earn a cent with which to help themselves when their terms of imprisonment are expired. With not a copper in their pockets they leave the gates of the Mercer, and were it not for the Christian women who do their best to keep an eye over them and encourage them, they would be at the mercy of depraved men who, knowing the time their victims will be released, are ever ready to lure them back to their former evil life. These girls and women ought to be paid for a least a portion of the work they do, so that they might have a trifle at least to live on when they get out. While philanthropy and charity are doing a good work in helping such fallen ones, it is no wise relieves the Government of the moral obligation it has assumed in opening and keeping in operation this institution. It was built, not with public money, properly speaking, but with ex-cheated funds, and certainly a wise and humane policy ought to characterize its management by the provincial authorities. —Toronto World.

An Unhappy Home.

"I wish my wife would get well or—something," said a husband, who had been sorely tried with an invalid wife. It seems a heartless speech, but who can tell the discomforts of a home where the wife is always ailing? Poor food, crying children! No wonder the man grows desperate. But if he would get Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the wife, he would find that the sunshine would return to his home. "Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhœa, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppression, prolapsus or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, "bearing-down" sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

CANADA AND AUSTRALIA.

AN IMPORTANT CONFERENCE IN LONDON YESTERDAY.

The Pacific Cable Scheme—The Parnell Commission—The Land Purchase Bill Passes Its Second Reading.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—A conference of influential Australians and Canadians was held to-day. Sir Donald Smith of Montreal presided.

The question of laying a cable from Vancouver to Australia, to touch at Hawaii, Fanning Island, Samoa, Fiji and New Zealand, was discussed and approved, and it was voted to urge the Imperial Government to support the project.

It was said that the tariff between England and Australia by this route would be four shillings per ward.

The Land Purchase Bill.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The debate on the Land Purchase Bill was resumed in the House of Commons to-night by Mr. Parnell. He declared emphatically that he approved the bill, but believed that it was so designed that under the present circumstances it would be impossible to put it into effective operation. He had always held that the creation of a peasant proprietary was the only means of solving the land question. His own bill simply asked that church tenants be allowed to acquire land by paying the church commission annually for 49 years a rent equal to four per cent. on the capitalized value of the holdings. That would have created no risk to the Imperial exchequer. The Conservatives opposed the proposal. Now the time would come when they would find it needful to go further. The Irish party were always ready and eager to assist in a settlement of the land question. It was a calumny to say that anyone off the Irish members tried to make political capital out of the question or opposed the bill because it would make the government of Ireland easier. (Cheers.) On the contrary their opposition to the bill arose due to the knowledge that it would cause a loss to the exchequer without effecting its ostensible object.

The Government had not taken up the land question with a view to helping tenants but at the solicitation of landlords who seemed that they could not any longer maintain their position wanted to dispose of their property at inflated prices. ("Hear! Hear!") The bill did not contain provisions enabling the state when supplying money to decide what tenancies it would be desirable to purchase in the public interest. The Government left the landlords to decide. Congested and rackrented estates would not be touched under the bill. The only way to make the land lords of congested estates agree to accept the value of their property was to empower the commission to purchase at such a price as would really represent the landlord's interests. Arrears ought to be considered along with that reduction, otherwise the land purchase arrangements were futile. He would not like to predict that tenants might repudiate bargains made under the measure on the ground that advantage had been taken of their necessities, but the bill would not stand that they need permanent settlement that was desirable. Any bargain with the farmers ought to have a basis that would put confiscation out of the question ("Hear! Hear!")

The measure showed an entire absence of consideration for the wishes of tenants. The present system of government trampled upon the national feelings. If the Government meant to attempt a large scheme of land purchase it was essential to establish in Ireland representative authority to act as the buffer between the tenants and the state. The tenants would have their 86 and may be 103 members of Parliament. [Parnellite cheers]. Government would be as much dependent as now upon the Irish vote. No sane government of self-respecting character would tolerate the sending of tax collectors around the cottages with an escort and a crowbar brigade to enforce payments. If the national sentiment was conciliated there would be nothing to fear from the influence upon the hot youth of the country of all the Fenian propagators from New York to San Francisco. It was those who exercised coercion that fomented disaffection far more than Ross. ["Hear! Hear!"] This was not merely an agrarian question, it was knit up with national aspirations. If the Government meant well to tenants by the bill he implored them to insert suitable provisions dealing with arrears, the tenants' greatest difficulty. That done, he could cordially appreciate the measure and the legislature would reap the reward in the conciliation of the people. (Cheers.)

Lord Randolph Churchill said that the assertions that the bills was introduced to enable landlords to sell at inflated prices would not bear examination. The Parnellites knew that inflation did not exist in Ireland but very much the reverse. Regarding the national sentiment, he appealed to Mr. Parnell to say what room there was for romance in dealing with a matter of fact, advance and repayment of money. ["Hear! hear!"] Had Mr. Parnell any alternative bill? Would he support the principles of Mr. Balfour's bill? [Mr. Parnell here gave a negative shake of his head.] Then, what other scheme?

Mr. Parnell: "I would accept the bill if the disadvantages connected with it were modified by dealing with arrears."

Lord Randolph, continuing, said he trusted that after the recent speeches of the ministers the Government would bring up the arrears question early in the future. In the meantime he could not admit that coercion militated against land purchase. How could it impede free action on the part of either landlord or tenant? As a financial operation the bill certainly was not good enough. The security for advances was totally insufficient, but the risk might be worth incurring when limited to an advance of ten millions which would not be tolerable under a larger scheme. It would never do to make the state the immediate landlord of the Irish tenantry. The present measure would not apply to more than 25,000 holdings. It was not likely to be a danger to the state though probably it could be safely extended.

The bill passed the second reading by a vote of 299 to 224.

A GHASTLY DISCOVERY.

Mysterious Death of an Old Man in Charlotte County, N.B.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Nov. 22.—Another ghastly discovery has been made in Pennfield, Charlotte County. Wm. McCarthy, about 70 years old, who resided in an old tumbledown log hut in Pennfield, was found stretched on the floor of his dwelling with one foot caught in the flooring. The sleeves of his shirt were rolled up, one hand was covered with blood and his head touched the wall in the corner of the room.

How he came to his death is a mystery. He had probably been dead several days when found.

HAMILTON'S ART EXPOSITION.

Preparations Progressing Favorably—Juvenile Burglars—Wedding Bells.

HAMILTON, Nov. 22.—Eight small boys answering to the names of Joseph Forster, Wm. Dennis, Frank Larney, Ernest Schultz, Thomas Spence, David Martin, Burleigh Noyes and Henry Hyde, were tried at the police court this morning for being implicated in the theft of a quantity of tobacco, candies and biscuits from a store at the corner of Kelly and Cathcart-streets. Forster, Dennis and Schultz pleaded guilty to entering the store and stealing the articles. They lifted up a grating, and, in that way, gained an entrance to the shop. The value of the goods taken was not more than $3. The other defendants did not take any part in the theft; but they helped to get away with the spoils. The boys were severely lectured by the police magistrate and then allowed to go.

An enthusiastic and largely attended meeting of the ladies' committee of the art exposition was held this morning, and the report showed that everything is progressing most favorably. The work of erecting the booths and decorating the armory will commence on Monday morning.

There was a pleasant little gathering at the residence of William Webster, 53 Park-street north, yesterday afternoon, when Miss Lizzie Webster of this city was married to Reuben S. Hamlin, vice-president of the Western Bank, Oshawa. The bride and groom were unattended, and the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Dr. Mockridge, was witnessed only by the immediate relatives of the contracting parties.

Last evening Charles W. Graham, manager of Buntin, Gillies & Co.'s establishment here, was married to Miss Annie Nicholson, second daughter of the late Donald Nicholson, contractor. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's mother, corner of Markland and Ontario streets, in the presence of a very large number of the friends of the young people. J. Gewinski of Toronto acted as groomsman, and Miss Nellie Nicholson, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid.

Yesterday afternoon at the residence of M. W. Johnson, 240 Cannon street east, occurred the marriage of his cousin, Miss Millie Stanicombe of this city, to Robert Irvine Russell of Bolton. Rev. Mr. Maxwell performed the ceremony.

THE RIPPER WRITES AGAIN

ANOTHER LETTER SENT TO THE LONDON POLICE.

Jack Likes the Work too Well to Leave It Long and Promises to Do the Next Lot With a Vengeance.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The latest Whitechapel sensation has been sifted down to nothing but the mere ravings of a drunken woman after a row with her lover. The woman is even of a lower type than those who fell prey to the Whitechapel murderer. She associates say that she is very quarrelsome and that the man whom she accused of trying to cut her throat has been living with her for a year. The people in the house heard them quarreling, and when the man ran down stairs and the woman came to the top of the landing and screamed, "He tried to cut my throat; follow him," three men gave chase, but the fellow got away easily enough. But the police know who the man is and where he lives. They have been watching his house all day, and when he gets over his fright and returns home they expect to get him. There is, however, not the slightest reason to suppose that he is the Whitechapel fiend. The police say that the woman inflicted the wound in her throat herself. The injury is very slight.

The really interesting incident of the day is another letter from Jack the Ripper, dated Portsmouth. Here it is:

"DEAR BOSS: It is no good for you to look for me in London, because I am not there. Don't trouble yourself about me till I return, which will not be very long. I think the work too well to leave it long. O, that was such a jolly job, the last one. I had plenty of time to do it properly. Ha! ha! The next lot I mean to do with a vengeance: to cut off their heads and arms. You think it is a man with a black mousseline. Ha! ha! You have done another you can catch me. So good-bye, dear boss, till I return. Yours,

"JACK THE RIPPER."

The letter is in the same hand as the one received just before Mary Kelly was murdered.

Fatal Accident—The Barber-Bredin Mystery—A Shooting Case.

TORONTO, Nov. 23.—A market gardener named Thomas Hickey, who resided in Dixie, took a load of onions to Cooksville market yesterday morning, where he disposed of them. In the afternoon on his way home he endeavored to head off a ballast train on the C. P. R. but failed. The engine struck the wagon, and the unfortunate man was crushed under the wheels. Hickey was 79 years old, and leaves a widow and a married son.

The remanded case of Henry J. Thurle, charged with shooting his father-in-law, Adam C. Cooper, on Saturday night last, was resumed yesterday morning. The charge was proven and he was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. Leaving the dock Thurle turned towards his mother and Mr. Cooper and said, "Good-bye, mother. I'll sing a song for you and pray for a bless ing on you, father-in-law."

Nothing new has transpired in the Barber-Bredin case of much interest. The unfortunate man's effects at the Queen's Hotel have been carefully searched, but nothing bearing on the occurrence has been found. Rev. Mr. Wallace, pastor of the West Presbyterian Church, Dennison avenue, recollects distinctly marrying W. Bredin to the wayward Polly, who then gave her name as Mary Pattison Watson. The marriage took place on July 18, 1874. Why poor Barber shot himself is as much a mystery as ever.

A VALUABLE FIND.

HAMILTON, Nov. 22.—Through the efforts of George Dickson, M.A., of Upper Canada College, Toronto, some exceedingly valuable manuscripts belonging to Lord Nelson have been brought to light at Waterdown. They are in the possession of Luke Mulloch of Waterdown, grandson of Lieutenant Ramage, who was one of the officers on board the Polyphemus at the battle of Copenhagen. Besides several autographs of Lord Nelson, there is a water-color picture of the battle painted by Lieut. Ramage from a sketch made at the time the battle was in progress. The officer submitted the picture to Lord Nelson for his criticism, and the great admiral replied in an autograph letter, the original of which is in Mr. Mulloch's possession. He has also a copy of Nelson's plan of the battle and instructions to his officers. This is not in Nelson's handwriting, but it is signed by him, and bears several interlineations in red ink in his writing.

On Saturday last E. A. Noyes, Hugh C. Baker and Mr. Dickson went out to Waterdown to see the manuscripts, and large photographs were taken of each paper. It is understood that Mr. Dickson proposes having them published in The Century Magazine as a sequel to the series of letters on the same battle which appeared in the last number.

The Case of the Bridgewater.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Mr. Allen, the owner of the ship Bridgewater of New York which was seized at Shelburne, N. S., in July, 1887, for alleged violation of Canadian revenue laws, has unconditionally released after a detention of 81 days, is to this city on the matter. Mr. Allen has had interviews with Mr. Bayard and other high officials and expresses himself as being fully satisfied with the Government's action in the premises. From what he could be gathered from the conversation it is inferred that the State Department has very recently made a further communication through the British minister resident and the hope is entertained that the matter will soon be amicably and satisfactorily settled.

It is understood that Mr. Dickson proposes having them published in The Century Magazine as a sequel to the series of letters on the same battle which appeared in the last number.

The Case of the Bridgewater.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Mr. Allen, the owner of the ship Bridgewater of New York which was seized at Shelburne, N. S., in July, 1887, for alleged violation of Canadian revenue laws, has unconditionally released after a detention of 81 days, is to this city on the matter. Mr. Allen has had interviews with Mr. Bayard and other high officials and expresses himself as being fully satisfied with the Government's action in the premises. From what he could be gathered from the conversation it is inferred that the State Department has very recently made a further communication through the British minister resident and the hope is entertained that the matter will soon be amicably and satisfactorily settled.

The steamer Varuna, as she came into port last evening, presented a chilling appearance, being well coated with ice. Dr. Gustavus Griffin, M. D., B. He has been arrested on a charge of endeavoring to blackmail Hon. Robert Dunsmuir by sending him threatening letters. Griffin is accused of sending letters to Mr. Dunsmuir in Greek and Spanish, and the interpreter who translated the letters was threatened with death for mixing himself up in the case.

The Christmas Harper's.

It is pretty well understood that the conductors of Harper's Magazine always intend to issue a Christmas Number which shall be not only complete in itself; but arranged on the same scale but different from those followed during the rest of the year; and the articles in the Christmas Number for 1888 were selected, evidently, with this end in view. The result is an unusually strong and novel; the originality of its pages is, perhaps, most striking in the short stories (the serial stories all ended in the November number)—as in "The Christmas Story of a Little Church," by Grace King, "Seorus Dismal," by W. W. Archer, and "The Front Yard," by Miss Woolson—the last being a daring comparison of Italian and New England natures and ways. In poetry, too, the number is exceptionally good. Artistically, it has never been surpassed.

The Mid-day Mail.

Of late a great deal has been said and written in connection with the change of time table on the G. T. R., and the arrival of the noon mail. In conversation this morning with a railway official, who is thoroughly versed in the management of the road, a representative of this journal was informed and requested to state that, so far as the receiving of mail matter was concerned, all persons east of Toronto were better supplied than by the former time table. The mail train from the east which formerly arrived here at 11:30, did not wait at Toronto to connect with the trains west of that city, hence the mail matter laid in Toronto till six o'clock in the evening, and was forwarded on the train which arrived here at midnight. But by the present arrangement it is different; the train which now arrives here at 12:30, does not leave Toronto until the arrival of the mail train from the west, and hence the mail matter that formerly arrived here at midnight is brought down on this train. The same gentleman also informed us that the train is making excellent time, and meeting present requirements.

Non-Support of a Child.

Edward Caton on Trial Charged With this Offence.

Edward Caton, charged by Mary Champagne with non support of an illegitimate child, of which she claims he is the father, was brought before Deputy Judge Lazier yesterday afternoon. Mr. Geo. E. Henderson, Q. C., conducted the prosecution; the prisoner being defended by Geo. D. Dickson, Esq., Q. C. The prisoner pleaded guilty to the charge.

The complainant in her testimony deposed that she was 18 years of age, and had never been married. She became acquainted with Caton about over a year ago, she then living with her parents on the Kingston road. Shortly after the acquaintance she was engaged as a domestic in the house of Mr. Geo. Fox. Caton continued to visit her quite regularly, and after an acquaintance of about one month succeeded, upon promise of marriage, in seducing her. Some three months before the child was born, her father in conversation with Caton inquired of him what he intended to do in the matter, and he promised to marry her as soon as time were given in which to procure means to furnish a home. Two months were given him, at the end of which time he did not appear to be any further advanced in the way of preparation than he was before. He was, upon request, granted two weeks longer in which to settle the matter, but during that interval, the girl asserts he left the neighborhood and returned until recently. The girl then took the necessary means to have him brought to justice. A number of witnesses were examined, and the case was adjourned until 10 this morning.

Witnesses for the defence testified that the plaintiff had been unchaste, whereupon the judge found the prisoner not guilty, and he was discharged.

Our Harbor and its Revenue.

Closing of Navigation—Smallest Shipments of Grain On Record—Average Revenue.

The waters of the bay having been sealed by last night's frost, navigation has closed for the season, fully a week earlier than usual. Should the ice that is now formed break up, as is not unlikely, it is not probable that any navigation will be resumed, as there is nothing of pressing importance to arrive.

From the books of Mr. Watters, the Harbor Master, who is always ready to furnish all information that is desired, we gather the facts that the season has been of almost unprecedented dullness in shipping, especially in the export of grain, the quantity of which shipped by water for several years averaged about 500,000 bushels, and reached its highest total in 1882, namely 738,527 bushels, but has annually declined to 144,353 bushels last year. This year it has amounted to but 46,160 bushels, the explanation of which decrease is two-fold, namely the shortness of this year's and last year's crops and an alteration in the course of trade by which grain is now exported hence chiefly by rail.

The revenue on the whole, however, shows a considerable increase, owing to the unusually large quantity of logs passing through the boom, much of which was hung up last year. The returns for this season and last are as follows :

	1887.	1888
Gross revenue.....	$3 402 05	$3 650 00
From imports.....	1 882 55	1 647 45
From exports.....	1,057 50	2,002 06

Of this amount there is about $200 to collect.

The quantity of coal imported this year was 18,771 tons, against 18,979 tons last year. The other articles on which dues were paid this year and last season, compare as follows :

	1887.	1888.
Barley.....	134.390	46,169
Peas.....	9 963
Sawlogs, etc.....	240 332	388,551
Floats.....	773	1,145
Cedar, long.....	26,834	64,174
Posts.....	27,941	50,769
Ties.....	13,606	18,145
Staves.....	15,641	45,189
Long logs, over 13 ft.	861	1,148
Timber.....	81	163

The dues coll ected this season on stuff which passed through the harbor gates was $2,187 70, of which the amount arriving from saw logs was $1,699.93 and $4.20 from timber.

The number of calls by vessels and barges during the season was 158 and by steamers 188. This includes the Hero and Alexandria, but none of the other Bay steamers, which are not subject to harbor dues.

The Budget.

This excellent journal, which has heretofore been devoted to insurance matters, has taken a long step forward and will now rank as a general insurance, financial and commercial journal. The November issue, which signalizes the new departure, contains a number of valuable articles, the principal one of which is "a readable review of the financial and commercial situation, by Mr. Meyer, who it is understood is one of the most competent authorities in the country on this subject. Contributions by the most eminent men in Canada are promised. Amongst them are Sir Richard Cartwright, M. P., ex-Finance Minister of Canada; Henry W. Darling, Esq., President of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, ex-President of the Toronto Board of Trade; Hon. S. C. Wood, ex-Treasurer of the Province of Ontario, Manager of the Freehold Loan and Savings Company; N. C. Wallace, Esq., M.P., Chairman of the "Combines" Committee; and W. D. Matthews, Esq., President of the Toronto Board of Trade, Director of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Others will be added as opportunity serves. The price of the Budget is but $1 per year, and it is published at 64 Bay s reet, Toronto.

Ice Bound.

The steamer Quinte came up from Picton this morning, arriving one hour behind time. The cause of this delay was owing to the ice in the Picton harbor, which was frozen completely over. On her arrival at this port the captain was informed that it was impossible to make Trenton and did not proceed. The Varuna was unable to proceed from Trenton this morning on her downward trip.

Barnett Will Come.

Roland Gideon Israel Barnett, the Hebrew financier who played such a prominent part in the Central Bank crash, in this city, will probably be in Toronto before the end of the month. The Toronto Police authorities are very reticent on the matter, and none of them will acknowledge that they know anything of the affair, but the Mail has it on outside authority that Barnett was to leave England in charge of a Scotland Yard officer about the 21st inst.

Death of Mr. Foster.

The Father of the Finance Minister Passes Away at the Age of 82.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Nov. 22.—Mr. John Foster, of Apohagin, died last night, aged 82. His son, the Minister of Finance, was with him at his death, and will remain till after the funeral, when he will return to Ottawa. The deceased was a worthy old gentleman, much respected in the community.

Prof. Macoun's Surveys.

Prof. John Macoun, of the Geological Survey, has returned to Ottawa after a season's exploration in the Peace River country. A survey was first made of that portion of the Athabasca river lying between "the Landing" and Little Slave river, returning to Athabasca landing. The Hudson Bay Company have now two steamers on the Athabasca river, one running from Little Slave lake and Peace to Grand rapids, and the other from Fort McMurray to Fort Smith. The steamer running on the upper portion of the river was only completed last spring, and the company expect to reap a rich harvest from parties going to the Peace River country and upper waters of the Yukon from Fort McMurray as a survey was made of the Clear Water river to Portage la Loche. This portage is twelve miles in length and rises over 600 feet in the first two miles. After the portage has been crossed, Methezo river, a small stream which runs into the Churchill, was entered, and by means of this stream and a series of lakes the party reached the H. B. post on Isle a la Crosse lake, having followed the route which Sir John Franklin had used nearly 70 years before. Up to this time (August 15) no game of any kind had been seen, and very few fish had been caught in either lakes or rivers. From the Churchill the party turned south to Cumberland House, on the Saskatchewan, which was reached on October 12. Descending the Saskatchewan to Grand Rapids, it was hoped that a better means of travelling down Lake Winnipeg than that afforded by canoes could be secured, but no boat of any kind was to be had, and em his king again to their canoes the party, after considerable delay through ice and strong winds, reached the mouth of the Red river on November 15 and walked into Selkirk.

A Modern Hercules.

REMARKABLE FEATS OF STRENGTH BY A PHILADELPHIA GIANT.

Philadelphia can boast of a modern Hercules in the person of George Spotman, a giant in muscle and stature, say the Record. He stands 6 feet 4½ inches in his stockings, measures 50 inches around his chest and weighs 273 pounds, scarcely an ounce of which is superfluous flesh.

Spotman recently paid a sort visit to a gymnasium on Arch street and gave an exhibition of what he could do. The pupils eyed him curiously when he picked up the 100 pound dumb bell and twirled it between his fingers as a dude might do with a bamboo cane.

When he stretched out his arms and asked all who could possibly do so to jump on his back, arms, shoulders and head, to take a ride, eight sturdy and strong men complied with the request, and, holding on to his ears, hair and collar-button, they bore their weight upon him. He carried them without much difficulty.

Not satisfied with this, the young giant went to the strength testing scales and pulled up the 2,000 pound weight with ease. He then wrapped two straps around the weight and, by means of fastening the ends to the 3,300 pounds of iron he calmly raised the weight and took a promenade around the hall with his load.

As his last act, instead of wrestling with a Numidian lion, as Hercules of mythological fame did, he caught hold of a bear which a friend had expressly brought, and hugged the animal so hard that it grunted for mercy. Spotman has yet to perform seven more difficult tasks and then he will pose himself as a modern Hercules and the feat of twelve unparalleled feats of strength.

Sale of Mr. Reed's Phosphate Property in Ottawa County

OTTAWA, Nov. 22.—The Montreal deputation consisting of Aemilius Irving, Chamberlain, Ald. Laurent, Kennedy and Malone and City Surveyor St. George, accompanied by Messrs. J. J. Curran, M. P., and J. S. Hall, M.P.P., waited upon Hon. J. H. Pope, Minister of Railways and Canals, to-day and preferred a request for Government aid towards the construction of the proposed subway under the Lachine Canal. The deputation was affably received by the Minister, who promised that Chief Engineer Page should examine and report upon the matter as speedily as possible and it should then be brought before Council. The feeling in the deputation was that assistance will be granted.

Louis Watthieu, of Frankfort, Germany, has purchased for $40,000 Mr. James Reed's phosphate property in Ottawa County. Mr. Watthieu is a dealer in asbestos and phosphates, and intends next year to erect large works at the mines for the purpose of getting out phosphate, which will be shipped to Frankfort, where it will be prepared for the German market.

The Chamberlain Implement Co. are complaining that the high rates of ocean freights this summer have greatly reduced the exports of deals to England and board lumber to South America and Australia, and the result is that the yards are filled to overflowing, it being estimated that there are over 100,000,000 feet of lumber lying in the yards which is said to be the export items but could not be exported for want of freight at reasonable rates. Last year the rate for lumber from New York to Liverpool was 38s. to 40s. per standard. Two railway men who have just returned from New York and Boston say that the rates demanded this year are from 65s. to 80s. per standard. If the Chaudiere piling grounds are not relieved during the winter there will be no place to pile the first of next spring's cut and great inconvenience and loss will result.

Mr. J. M. Hall of Madden, Miss., had an interview with the Minister of Customs yesterday relative to a recent seizure of sprinklers at Woodstock for undervaluation. The latter has decided to let the payment of a small addition to the duty charge and a fine under section 8 of the Customs Act.

The hearing of the case of the Canadian Pacific Railway v. the Western Union Telegraph Company has been postponed until the February term of the Supreme Court.

PANIC-STRICKEN CHILDREN.

Fire in a Long Island City School Building —A Brave Woman.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—At 1.15 this afternoon fire broke out in the First Ward Public School at Long Island City. One of the pupils of the school had gone into the basement and lighted a gas jet. The woodwork close to the jet took fire and flames instantly shot up through a crevice in the floor. Over 900 children were studying at their desks in the various rooms of the school building. When the children saw the flames the panic in every room of the building. The children rushed pell-mell for the narrow doors, crowding, jostling and striking each other in their efforts to get out. They did not wait to get their clothing or books. All efforts on the part of the teachers to bring order out of the chaos proved unavailing.

"Fire! fire!" rang out from one end of the building to the other and the children became crazed with terror. Those who succeeded in gaining the stairway in the upper stories were crowded and pushed so roughly that they could not stand, and many were thrown head first down stairs, where they landed in heaps of four and five.

In a room on the second floor were sixty children. Their teacher noticed the fire door when the terrible alarm was echoed and reechoed through the building, and placing her back to it she told the children that the order should leave the room until they had formed the regulation "fire line" and marched out in an orderly manner. Her authoritative tone had the effect of temporarily restoring the children's presence of mind and in a few seconds they had formed in line and began to march out. No sooner had they reached the hall way, however, than they saw the smoke coming up from the lower floor and began to scream children on the chairs. This was too much for them and again they broke into the wildest disorder. They threw themselves down the stairs in their mad rush for safety and fell on top of the other unfortunate little ones below.

Outside the schoolhouse there was also great confusion. The rumor that the schoolhouse was on fire spread through the streets and a great crowd soon gathered. They were yelling, crying, hooting and swearing. Frenzied mothers stood on the sidewalk wringing their hands and crying pitifully to the men about them to assist their little ones inside. The firemen who were on the scene brought out a few of the injured children and added fuel to the growing excitement.

In the meantime the teachers had succeeded in quieting the little ones assigned them there was no danger from fire. The police assisted them in the work and aided the firemen in bringing out the children who had been bruised and cut in their awful falls down the stairways.

The fire was soon extinguished, and an examination of the little children was made. It was found that many of them had suffered contusions on their heads and bodies, and that many of them would have to go about for three or four days with bandages over their eyes. Large numbers were sent home suffering from the shock.

ANOTHER BIG BLAZE.

Fire at Montreal Causes a Loss of $40,000—and Result from Defective Flue.

MONTREAL, Nov. 22.—A fire broke out to-night in the large five-story brick building at the corner of White-lane and Courtwayne and completely gutted the building. The losses are: On building $6000, insured for $2000; Montreal Watch Case Co., loss $20,000, insured; Lovell & Co., machine shop, $3000; Lewis Davis & Co., silk manufacturers, $1000, insured; A. Eolt & Co., manufacturing jewellers, $10,000, insured.

A young girl employed in the Watch Case Company's factory, who was in the building along with other employes, was miraculously saved from death by a young man who was also employed there.

Hotel Fire at Mattawa.

MATTAWA, Nov. 22.—About 8.15 to-night a fire broke out in the top flat of the Mackay House and in a few minutes the flames were bursting through the roof. By 9.15 the fire had been thoroughly subdued. The damage to the building, which is considerable, will be fully covered by insurance.

Death of a Wellington Pioneer.

GUELPH, Nov. 23.—Archibald McCerkindale, one of the pioneer farmers of South Wellington, died last night. Deceased was for many years clerk of Guelph Township.

Inspection of the G. R.

GUELPH, Nov. 22.—Mr. Smith, the Government Engineer, arrived at Guelph to-day, and went over the road for the purpose of examining the structures reported upon in his former report, in company with President Bell, Messrs. Bond, Gowdy and Hurland, and other directors of the road. He made a careful examination of all structures, and seemed to be impressed with the views of the directors as expressed to him, that, though at present and when he examined the road before, there was very little water in the streams, the necessity of some of the trestle work was not apparent, but that at other seasons of the year it would be impossible to provide for the greater quantity of water without the openings as they at present exist. He will make his report to the Minister of Railways at once, when his views will be fully explained.

The Mule's Virtues.

The mule is very rarely sick—not near so often sick as is the horse. Its hoofs are much sounder. It is not so apt to be injured, not being so easily frightened. It will do the same amount of work on two-thirds the amount of food required by the horse. It will eat coarser food. When properly bred and handled it is fully as trustworthy and industrious as the horse. The docility and patience of the ass is proverbial. The mule endures exposure better than the horse. It will endure heat better, and I have never been able to perceive that it did not endure cold as well, though the idea that it cannot is general. But there is no good reason why it should not endure the weather of the Northern States. While the mule is most used in warm climates, it is also used in regions where the temperature is full as low as in our Northern States, and there lasts longer than do our horses. —Country Gentleman.

Strange, but Still True.

Mrs. David Carstairs, Haldimand Township, met with a very pleasant surprise a few weeks ago. It seems Mrs. Carstairs has suffered a great deal from dyspepsia and indigestion, the symptoms of which were, pains in the stomach and bowels, and sick headache. She has tried a great many physicians, and an unlimited amount of patent medicines, but without any success; and last but not least, she tried Dowling's Pepsin Compound, and one bottle has removed both pain and ache. She returns the kindest regards to P. E. Dowling, Cobourg, for his magnificent remedy. Belleville ites, take pattern by this woman, and ask your Druggist for it

The Modus Operandi.

The mode of operating of Burdock Blood Bitters is that it acts at once and at the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and the Blood, to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in Chronic Complaints.

FEVER AND AGUE AND BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS are positively cured by the use of Parmelee's Pills. They purify and cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, cause them to pour copious effusion from the blood into the bowels after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

Poisson morbidity and stop the inroads of disease, use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. For all the cases arising from impure blood, such as Pimples, Blotches, Biliousness, Indigestion, etc., etc., it has no equal. Mrs. Thomas Smith, Elmvale, writes: "I am using the medicine for Dyspepsia; I have tried many remedies, but this is the only one that has done me any good."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakens as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teeth ing or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle Be sure and ask for "MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind. 365y1y

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarefies the blood, quickens the circulation, and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc, if attended to in time are easily subdued, but allowed to run their own course, generally prove fa ore-runner of more danger ous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their affliction from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are too numerous to name are generally exposed. Oneof the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Hickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions a disease to a healthy state

"It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal, in its acting power is wonderful." "Brown's Household Panacea," being acknowledged as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family handy for use when wanted." "It really is the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the Stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds, and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cts a bottle.

Farmer Eno on Prayer-Meeting's

Well, wife, prayer-meetin's up in town
Are looked rather thin
Jest folks enough to lift a prayer,
Or start a down hill hymn.
They crowd to see a circus show,
Or demagogue floorah;
But when the Lord is advertised,
It doesn't seem to draw.

Now, take the stock upon my farm
I'm givin' feed an' care,
You'll find when chorin' time comes round
They like to meet me there.
They plead more for their strummicks' sake
Than some folks for their souls;
They think far more of meetin' me,
Than folks, the Lord of folds.

Sich members put their prayin' off,
Like "Laze Yadd" does his work,
Till by and by there comes a time
When there is no more shirk.
"Laze" cricks his back, when it's too late,
To try an' save his hay;
Jest like some folks will have to strain
To save their souls, some day.

She Was a Hustler.

SHE MARRIED MANY MEN, BUT ALWAYS BURIED THEM.

From Judge.

A weather beaten woman, of melancholy and discouraged mien, sat in front of a drummer on a railroad train. She was clad in rusty mourning, and her appearance indicated that her loss was recent; when near Chicago, she turned to the drummer and asked:

"What place are we coming to next?"

"Chicago, madam."

"Lemme see: that's in Illinoy, ain't it?"

"It is."

"I'd orter to know, but I forgot I'd ben in Illinoy. I buried my first husband there 'bout twenty years ago."

"Indeed!"

"Yes, sand from Illinoy I went to Ioway, I buried my second man out in Iowy, and I ain't been there since. That was eighteen years ago. Went down to South Carliny from Iowy."

"Oh! did you? I've been there."

"You hev! Ever been to a place called Black Snake Forks? No? Well, Hen Dodson lays there."

"Who was Mr. Dodson?"

"My third man, and a right smart fellow he was. He had a cousin named Hi Duggan. Ever run across Hi?"

"I think not."

"You'd know if you had. Everybody liked Hi. Him and me were married in Georgy, and he is buried nine miles from Atlanty."

"Oh, indeed. And do you live in Georgia now?"

"Land, no! Ain't set foot there for most a dozen years. I went from Georgy away up to Minnesoty, and I met Tom Hixon up there."

"Tom Hixon."

"Yes; him and me lived most a year there after we were married; then a blamed old white mule we had kicked Tom so fatally that I buried him one cold day under the snow up near St. Paul, and sold off and went out to Kansas, near Atchison, and took up a quarter section o' land and jinin' a man named Dill."

"And you——"

"Was. I married Dill, and he took chills and fever 'fore three months and left me a widder 'fore the year was out. I tell you, I've had mighty bad luck."

"I should think so."

"That's what I have. There was Ben Barber. After me and him was married in California we got along splendid, and was making money fast when all of a sudden Ben goes head first down a 900 foot shaft, and, of course, I was a widder 'fore the year was over struck bottom."

"Then you left California?"

"Yes; I stayed there eight or nine months and then Bob he wanted to—"

"Bob who?"

"Oh! Bob White! He was Ben's partner, and he never gave me no peace till I married him. He is buried in the Black Hills."

"Great Cæsar!" cried the drummer, "do you make a business of going around the country burying husbands?"

The widow wiped her handkerchief to her eyes and said in a tone of keen reproach:

"That's a purty way to talk to a lone widder that's got her husband's carpsin a baggage car ahead, and takin' him out to Dakoty to lay him aside his other kinfolks. You'd ort to be 'shamed to be so onfeelin'."

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Is very palatable and much better than the plain oil. Dr. W. H. Cameron, of Halifax, N. S., says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver oil with Hypophosphites for the past two years and found it more agreeable to the stomach, and have better results from its use than any other preparation of the kind I have ever tried." Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

"While my husband was trading in furs he became across an Indian who was taken to his lodge to die. He had inward pains and pains in all his limbs. He gave some Yellow Oil internally and applied it externally, and cured him. It also cured my husband of rheumatism, and I find it valuable for coughs and colds, sore throat, etc." Mrs. A. CATARRH

At New Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Hay Fever, Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the interlining membrane of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes. The eminent scientists, Tyndall, Huxley and Bain endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made oftener then once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before an application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated a new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease.

So highly are these remedies valued that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy a parasite, of which they know nothing, by remedies, of the results of the application of which they are equal ignorant. Dixon's new treatment is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effect a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases.

Mr. Dixon has a pamphlet describing his new treatment on the receipt of stamp to pay postage. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son, 303 King street west, Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Cured By B. B. B. When all Else Failed.

Mr. Samuel Allan, of Lisle, Ont., states that he tried all the doctors in his locality while suffering for years with Liver and Kidney trouble; nothing benefited him until he took Burdock Blood Bitters, four bottles cured him.

Give Them a Chance?

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrah, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

A Quarter of a Century

For more than twenty five years has Hagyard's Yellow Oil been sold by druggists, and it has never yet failed to give satisfaction as a household remedy for pain, lameness and soreness of the flesh, for external and internal use in all painful complaints.

THREE LITTLE MAIDS.

Three little maids one Summer's day,
Determined to take a ride
In quite a novel and curious way,
So they to the livery hied.

And thus to the livery clerk they spoke,
"Pray hasten, good man, and dress
That cute little donkey to yonder cart
Let him be hitched with express."

The donkey was small, and thin, and gray,
With ears uncommonly long,
To which blue ribbons were tied, and his bray
Was also uncommonly strong.

And he winked one eye at the three little maids,
As they harnessed him up to the cart,
As if he would say, "I'll show you, my dears,
A trick or two, ere we part."

The three little maids jumped in, and away
They went in the grandest o' style;
Laughing and cantering, full of glee;
But the donkey's head, meanwhile,

Was hung with a sober, solemn air,
As if he scorned such folly;
And he trotted along in a meek-faced way,
In a settled melancholy.

They came to a bridge, which the legend bears,
"Five dollars fine," you know it.
The donkey raised his humble eyes,
And stood in a study before it.

"Get up! Get up!" the little maids cried,
But the donkey looked over his shoulder,
As much as to say, "Consider, my dears,
We'll be quite a few minutes older."

In vain they chirruped and shook the lines;
He stood in deep meditation,
And pensively gazed at the notice there,
As if in all creation

He never had seen a sight so queer,
And then he looked down at his four
Of donkeyish laughter, the like of which
He never had betrayed before.

His feelings relieved, in a solemn trot
He ambled quite comfortable;
But in spite of all that the maids could do,
He took a bee line for the stable.

But just before they did reach the door,
He ran one wheel on a stump,
And tipped the three little maids in the road,
In one disconsolate lump.

Slowly and sadly the three walked home,
And each declared to the other,
"The next time we take a donkey ride,
We'd better invite our brother."

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. EQUALITY OF REWARD.

DR. TALMAGE'S SERMON ON MAN'S USE OF HIS ENDOWMENTS.

The Parable of the Talents—Inferiority of Gifts No Excuse for Indolence—The Degrees of Happiness in Heaven in Proportion to Degrees of Usefulness on Earth.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 18.—At the Tabernacle this morning the acclaim of the worshipers was very great as they joined in the opening doxology. Professor Browne rendered exquisitely the organ solo, sonata in C minor, Rheinberger. The pastor, the Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D.D., took for his text: "Unto one he gave five talents, to another two, and to another one; to every man according to his several ability." Matt. xxv, 15. He said:

Many of the parables of Jesus Christ were more graphic in the times in which he lived than they are now, because circumstances have so much changed. In olden times, when a man wanted to wreak a grudge upon his neighbor, after the harvest he scattered the seed wheat over the field and was expecting the harvest, his avenger would go across the same field with a sack full of the seed of darnel grass, scattering that seed all over the field, and of course it would sprout up and spoil the whole crop; and it was to that practice alluded in the parable when he spoke of the tares being sown among the wheat. In this land our farms are fenced off, and the wolves have been driven to the mountains, and we cannot fully understand the meaning of the parable in regard to the shepherd and the lost sheep. But the parable from which I speak today is founded on something we all understand. It is built on money, and that means the same in Jerusalem as in New York. It means the same to the serf as to the czar and the Chinese coolie as to the emperor. A man who has it is made out of bone or brass, or iron or copper, or gold or silver, it speaks all languages without a stammer. The parable of the text runs in this wise: The owner of a large estate was about to leave home, and he had some money that he wished properly invested, and so he called together his servants and said:

"I am going away now, and I wish you would take this money and put it to the very best possible use, that when I come back returns to me the interest." To one man he gave $9,400, to others he gave lesser sums of money; to the least he gave $1,880. He left home and was gone for years, and then returned. On his arrival he was anxious to know about his worldly affairs, and he called his servants together to report to him. "Let me know," said he, "what you have been doing with my property since I have been gone. The man who had received the $9,400 came up and said: "I invested that money. I got good interest for it. I have in other ways rightly employed it and here are $18,800. You see I have doubled what you gave me." "That's very good," said the owner of the estate; "that's grandly done. I admire your faithfulness and industry. I shall reward you. You shall be ruler over five cities." And he came up with smaller accumulations. After a while, I see a man dragging himself along, with his head hanging. I know from the way he comes in that he is a lazy fellow. He comes up to the owner of the estate and says: "Here are those $1,880." "What!" says the owner of the property, "haven't you made it accumulate anything?" "Nothing—nothing." "Why, what have you been about all this years?" "Oh, I was afraid that if I invested it, I might somehow lose it. There are your $1,880." Many a man started out with only a crown in his pocket, and achieved a fortune; and this fellow of my text, with $1,880, has gained not one farthing. Instead of confessing his indolence, he goes to work to excuse his inactivity. Excuse for sin is most always impudent and impertinent. Of course, he loses his place and is discharged from the service. The owner who went out into a far country is the Lord Jesus Christ going from earth to heaven. The servants spoken of in the text are members of the church. The talents are the gifts and qualifications of usefulness given in different proportions to different people. The coming back of the owner is the Lord Jesus returning at the judgment to make final settlement. The raising of some of these men to be rulers over five or two cities is the exaltation of the righteous at the last day, while the casting out of the idler is the expulsion of all those who have misimproved their privileges.

ERRONEOUS IDEAS REGARDING CHRISTIAN LIFE.

Learn first from this subject, that becoming a Christian is merely going out to service. If you have only rendered this idea about becoming a Christian, I want now to scatter the romance. If you enter into the kingdom of God, it will be going into plain, practical, honest, continuous, persistent Christian work. I know there are a great many people who have fantastic and romantic notions about this Christian life, but he who serves God with all the energies of body, mind and soul is a worthy servant, and he who does not is an unworthy servant. When the war trumpet sounds, all the Lord's soldiers must march, however deep the snow may be, or however fearful the cold against them. Under our government we may have colonels, and captains, and generals in time of peace, but in the church of God there is no peace. Every time a good man gets victory shall have been achieved. But I have to tell you it is a voluntary service. People are not brought in as did Lazarus were dragged from Africa. A young man goes to an artisan and says: "Sir, I want to learn your trade. I by said indentures, yield myself to your care and service for the next four, or five, or seven years. I want you to be my master, and I want to be your servant." So, all of us come into the kingdom of God at all, we must come, saying to Christ: "By thou my master. I take thy service for time and for eternity. I choose it." It is a voluntary service. There is no drudgery in it. In our worldly callings sometimes our nerves are worn out, and our head aches, and our physical faculties break down; but in this service of the Lord Jesus, the harder a man works the better he likes it, and a man in this audience who has been for forty years serving God enjoys the employment better than when he first entered it. The grandest thing that can ever be been stowed upon you is to have Christ say to you on the last day: "Well done, good and faithful servant!"

THE MANY VARIOUS ENDOWMENTS OF MAN.

Learn also from this parable that different qualifications are given to different people. The teacher lifts a blackboard and he draws a diagram, in order that by that diagram he may improve the mind of the pupil with the truth that he has been uttering. And all the truths of this Bible are drawn out in the natural world in a great diagram. Here is an acre of ground that has ten talents. Under a little culture it yields twenty bushels of wheat to the acre. Here is another piece of ground that has only one talent. You may plow it and harrow it and culture it year after year, but it yields a mere pittance. So here is a man with ten talents in the way of getting good and doing good. He soon, under Christian culture, yields great harvests of faith and good work. Here is another man who seems to have only one talent, and you may put upon him the greatest spiritual culture, but he yields but little of the fruits of righteousness. You are to understand that there are different qualifications for different individuals. There is a great deal of ruinous comparison when a man says: "Oh, if I only had that man's faith, or that man's money, or that man's eloquence, how I would serve God." Better take the talent you have and the given you and employ it in the right way. The rabbis used to say, that before the stone and timber were brought to Jerusalem for the Temple every stone and piece of timber was marked; so that before they started for Jerusalem, the architect knew to what place that particular piece of timber or stone should fit. And so I have to tell you we are all marked for some one place in the great temple of the Lord, and do not let us complain, saying: "I would like to be the foundation stone—we—we—mean." Let us go into the very place where God intends us to be, and be satisfied with the position. Your talent may be in personal appearance, your talent may be in large worldly estate, your talent may be in high social position, your talent may be in a swift pen or eloquent tongue, but whatever be the talent it has been given only for one purpose—practical use. You sometimes find a man in the confirmation of a town saying: "He has no talent at all;" and yet that man may have a hundred talents. His one hundred talents may be seen in his power of endurance. Poverty comes, and he endures it; persecution comes, and he endures it; sickness comes, and he endures it. The martyrs and angels he is a specimen of Christian patience, and he is really illustrating the power of the Gospel, and is doing as much for the church, and more for the church, than many more positively active. If you have one talent, use that; if you have ten talents, use them, satisfied with the fact that we all have different qualifications, and that the Lord decides whether we shall have one or whether we shall have ten.

I learn also from this parable that the grace of God was intended to be accumulative. When God plants an acorn, he means an oak, and when he plants a small amount of grace in the heart, he intends it to be growthful and enlarge until it overshadows the wide nations. Here are parents who at the birth of each child lay aside a certain amount of money, investing it, expecting by accumulation and by compound interest that by the time the child shall come to mid life this small amount of money will be a fortune, showing how a small amount of money will roll up into a vast accumulation. Well, God sets aside a certain amount of grace for each one of his spiritual children at his birth, and it is to go on and, as by compound interest, accumulate, until it shall become an eternal fortune. Can it be possible that you have been acquainted with the Lord Jesus for ten, twenty, thirty years, and that you do not love him more now than you ever did before? Can it be that you have been sitting in the lord's vineyard, and that Christ finds on you nothing but sour grapes! You may depend upon it, if you do not use the talent that God gave you, it will dwindle. The rill that breaks from the hillside will either widen into a river or dry up. The brightest day started in the dim twilight. The strongest Christian man was once a weak Christian. Take the one talent and make it two; take five and make them ten. Take one and make them twenty. The grace of God was intended to be very accumulative.

MAN'S LACK OF ADAPTABILITY TO CIRCUMSTANCES.

Again: I learn from the text that inferiority of gifts is no excuse for indolence. This man, with the smallest amount of money, came growling into the presence of the owner of the estate, as much as to say: "If you had given me $9,000, I would have brought $18,800 as well as this other man. You gave me only $1,880, and I hardly thought it was worth while to use it at all. So I hid it in a napkin and it produced no result. It's because you didn't give me enough." But inferiority of faculties is no excuse for indolence. Here is a man of Ages, declared in his last moment: "I have nothing more to pray for; God has given me everything. Surely no man can live on earth after the glories I have witnessed." Oh, my brothers and sisters, how sweet it will be, after the long wilderness march, to get home. It was a happy moment for the tired dove in the time of the deluge when it found its way safely into the window of the ark.

ASSIMILATING EDUCATION.

The Matriculation Exams at McGill and Toronto to be Consolidated.

TORONTO, Nov. 24.—The masters of collegiate institutes and high schools in Ontario will be pleased to learn that the matriculation examinations of McGill and Toronto universities will be for all probability assimilated after the end of the present academic year. For years teachers have had to struggle along the strait jacket upon them by a multiplicity of classes, and were considerably relieved when Queen's and Victoria universities decided to adopt the text-books and examinations prescribed by the Provincial University. The universities themselves reaped no little advantage from this wise policy, as the masters are now in a position to devote their whole time and energy towards training their students, thereby giving them a sounder foundation upon which to build during their arts course.

When it is remembered how wide and varied the curriculums of the universities of Ontario now are, it will be seen how impossible it is for teachers to do justice to all the subjects they are called upon to go over with their students, and at the same time prepare candidates for colleges, prescribing different text-books. In collegiate institutes, where there is a large staff, the load is lighter, but in smaller schools the task of the teacher is not by any means an easy one. In Eastern Ontario district, where the smaller schools are particularly found, perhaps more students find their way to McGill, than to the universities of Ontario, and it only one student aimed at matriculation there, and one other intended going through the arts course of the Provincial University, the work of the teacher would be just as arduous and as productive of waste of energy as if both were called on to teach two classes of fifty each.

In Western Ontario few students are prepared for the matriculation examination of McGill, but an occasional one, out of circumstances, will choose that institution for his alma mater, and consequently teachers have either to make a separate class for him or pursue the drudgery of instructing him privately. The Minister of Education, who has done so much during his incumbency for secondary education, was quite aware of these difficulties, and for some time ago opened communication with Sir William Dawson, president of McGill University, with the object of having the course of the sister universities assimilated. Sir William received the proposals in the most friendly manner, and, as already stated, teachers in Eastern Ontario especially will be relieved of a burden which they bore patiently, but which yet had the effect of retarding the progress of the schools under their charge. The text books prescribed for matriculation in Toronto University will now be available for the sister universities in the Province of Quebec.

THE CROSSING CONFLICT.

CONCLUSION OF THE ARGUMENT IN THE SUPREME COURT.

Mr. Blake's Little Joke—Attorney General Martin's Settled Opinion and Justice Strong's Comment Thereon.

OTTAWA, Nov. 23.—In the Supreme Court yesterday morning Hon. Edward Blake continued his summing up in the Manitoba crossing case, concluding shortly after noon. He reviewed the proceedings at the bar. Mr. Mowat and Mr. McCarthy and contended that the act of the Manitoba Legislature became invalid from the time it authorized the construction of a line crossing the Canadian Pacific, or for that matter any of the ten roads specially classified in section 306 of the Railway Act. Mr. Blake went on to show the effect of section 308. Provision by a distinct declaration is there made to equalize by proclamation all railway acts passed by the provinces after May, 1883. Before that date all these acts were legal without obtaining sanction by the Federal Parliament. Mr. Mowat proposed, he said to take advantage of an abolished preamble in order to place a proper construction upon the act. This Mr. Blake contended was not the case. Mr. Mowat improperly believes, he said, that section 306 of the Railway Act does not affect the Legislature, and that from the analogy between the Crown and the Provincial Legislature is greater than the analogy between the Dominion and the Crown. "Mr. Mowat," added Mr. Blake with a broad smile, "got his erroneous idea possibly because he had long possessed a little crown in his own province." After some further argument Mr. Blake concluded by holding that Parliament had in view the centralization of jurisdiction in railway matters in the hands of the Federal authority. Great necessity existed why the regulation of crossings and the settlement of a score of other questions should rest with a competent legislature, and Parliament in assuming this authority was but proceeding in accordance with the principle of the British North America Act.

Attorney-General Martin rose to correct what he called a misunderstanding on the part of Mr. Blake. The portage extention over Lake Superior was not a railway at all, as the latter road has authority by virtue of its charter to cross the main line of the Canadian Pacific. Once the crossing at the Portage was effected the Red River road could make the desired connections. The Manitoba Government never contended it had power to cross the main line of the Canadian Pacific. Mr. Martin asked the court to bear this in mind, contending that the Pembroke Mountain branch did not come under the provision of the Railway Act.

Mr. Justice Strong: "We are bound to go by what we get. We must consider the case as was stated by the Railway Committee."

Mr. Mowat asked the court to distinguish in its judgment between the Canadian Pacific Railway and its branches, and expressed the hope that the judgment would be forthcoming shortly.

BOTH OARSMEN CONFIDENT.

Excitement at Washington Over the O'Connor-Teemer Race.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Not since the presidential election has there been such excitement as there is now prevails over the coming boat race for the championship of America between O'Connor and Teemer, which takes place on the Potomac River this afternoon. It promises to be the greatest aquatic struggle ever seen in America. Talk in the hotel lobbies all centres on the race. The Canadian contingent here is strong. Two trains arrived yesterday with upwards of 300 from Toronto and vicinity. As to the betting, which is very heavy, O'Connor has the most followers who are eager to wager their money on him, but there are few takers. The heaviest bet yesterday was made by Joseph Forster, who stepped $1,500 even with B. Morris of Pittsburg. It is estimated that there is upwards of $50,000 here to back the men. The oarsmen's friends are few and far between. I saw O'Connor and asked what he thought of the race. He said: "You can say that I never felt better and am confident of victory. Teemer is rowing fast, but I think I can beat him." O'Connor will pull about 163 pounds and will use a Ruddock boat with a Warren seat.

Teemer is also sanguine, even more so than O'Connor, but the money is all behind Toronto's sculler. Teemer will also row at 163 pounds and will be boated by Ruddock.

The race will take place about 4 o'clock, over what is known as the "lower course," from the foot of F-street to Long Bridge and return, a distance of four miles. Mr. B. Elder of the Columbia Boat Club will act as referee.

DEATH OF JUDGE ARMSTRONG.

The Chairman of the Labor Commission Falls Lifeless in the Street.

SOREL, Nov. 24.—General regret is felt here at the sudden death this afternoon of Chief Justice Armstrong, chairman of the Labor Commission. While walking on the street the judge was seen to suddenly stagger and fall to the pavement. Bystanders immediately rushed to his assistance and carried him to an adjoining house where medical aid was rendered, but death had meanwhile ensued from apoplexy. Judge Armstrong was 68 years of age and had resided over 30 years in the island of St. Lucy, West Indies, as chief justice. He was also for some years president of the Montreal and Sorel Railway.

The South Norfolk Ry. Completed.

PORT DOVER, Nov. 24.—The last train on the South Railway reached here, the terminus, at 4 p.m. yesterday, bringing a large number of excursionists from Simcoe and Victoria. The last spike was driven by Mr. B. Killmaster, the President of the road, amid great cheering. A large crowd assembled from the country to witness the event. Freight and passenger trains will be put on at once.

$500 REWARD

is offered by the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for a case of Chronic Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, acrid, at others thick, tenacious, mucous, and purulent, the eyes are sore, weak, watery, and inflamed; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a nasal twang; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the symptoms here given, result in consumption, and end in the grave. So obstinate is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians. By its mild, soothing and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "cold in the head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache.

Sold by druggists everywhere; 50 cents.

"Untold Agony from Catarrh."

Prof. W. Hausner, the famous mesmerist, of Bloom, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sunset, my voice would entirely fail me, and I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."

Thomas J. Rushing, Esq., 268 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure remedy for catarrh ever manufactured, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

Three Bottles Cure Catarrh.

Eli Robbins, Bunyan P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says: "My daughter was afflicted with what she was five years old, very badly. I saw Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy advertised, and, procured a bottle for her, and soon saw that it helped her; a third bottle effected a permanent cure. She is now eighteen years old and sound and hearty."

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, NOV 24

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

The Mail has been stricken dumb by the result in East Northumberland, as to which it has made no remarks.

Can it be that the Parnellites are preparing their adherents for possible or probable failure of their case before the Commission by alleging the partiality of the Judges? It looks a little that way.

As to milk, the false accusation made by the Grits against Mr. Cochrane, M P., of sending skimmed milk to a cheese factory, which was circulated by local members of that party, brings to mind the fact that they two years ago rejected the tenders for the supply of milk to the D. & D. Institute and gave the contract to a third party because he was a Grit, at one cent per quart more than the others had offered to supply the lacteal fluid for. It was the public purse, not the milk, which was "skimmed" on that occasion.

The Toronto World furnishes the following gratifying information: "It may not be generally known that wholesale manufacturers of shoes in Montreal have found a market in England for their shoes and that the trade is growing rapidly. It was found that to sell a shoe in England it must be made on the same pattern as those being worn there, broad heels and flat soles. Therefore English dies and lasts were brought over and competition is made possible by the fact that so much is done by machinery here that is done by hand there and that factories here have a division of labor to which the shops of the Old Country are strangers."

There have been six elections in East Northumberland in six months, so it is not unlikely the people have become sick of politics, and that the Liberals have allowed the election to go by default? The Government's voters were no doubt forced to the polls.—Mail.

If, as our contemporary suggests, the Liberals allowed the election to go by default, they must have very little regard for the orators of their party and for that fantastical project which the farmers were alleged to be anxious to endorse, now that they have been educated as to its merits.

Again: if the Government voters were forced to the polls—we do not pretend to understand how they could be forced, but we take the Whig's word for it, as that sage journal, having long been Conservative, knows all about it—they cannot have recorded their votes, as the majority was but 29 greater than at the last election. Further explanations seem to be in order.

"Political Polemics."

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

Sir,—Will you permit me to instance one of the reasons why many men keep out of Party Politics? I quote from your East Northumberland article of yesterday. The article may have been worthy of East Northumberland, but it was not worthy of Belleville, at least five of whose citizens it endeavors to besmirch. Perhaps ridicule in the hour of triumph may be justifiable, even if it be not tasteful, and Mr. Clute and Mr. Burdett can laugh with you, if not at you; but when you descend below the bait of ridicule and use such an expression of two of your fellow citizens as "The two Biggars were here, there and everywhere, coercing their mortgagors" then I think you are abusing the liberty of the Press and indulging (as you do not often do) to the license of irresponsible journalism. Such an accusation, with all its insinuating suggestiveness, while it does not hurt the reputation of the gentlemen accused among those who know them, yet must hurt the sensitive pride in their good name, which all good citizens possess, and which we should together endeavor to uphold. Why not relegate such unfair personalities to the petty press of the interested constituency? Why not recognize the responsibility of printing in a leading article of a City Daily such an unfounded and unfair attack? The time always comes sooner or later when such springs recoil. Everything tends I believe to obliterate the old party lines. Your journal of course sees nothing of this; you are wedded to Party Government, and to strict Party rule, but I will be much surprised if at the next general election you will not discover that it will be found impossible to corral in the old members of your party and make them fall into line. It will not be a Grit and Tory duel, but a direct issue as to whether Canada shall by patent, but poor by policy is to be restrained any longer within herself for the benefit of a few, or whether her trade and commerce shall not, more strictly find their outlet, and expand by reciprocal relations with other countries, with whom the prickly hedge of prohibitive customs prevents our free dealing. We want their capital; we want their markets. They want our products. Let us not endeavor to turn trade and the expansion to which it entails of supply and demand. Many of your old time supporters and friends will, I believe, continue to be your friends, but will cease to be your supporters unless you take a broader view of our political and commercial situation and prospects, and they will be found side by side with the gentlemen you so whom you yesterday endeavored to cast obloquy, advocating the broad and liberal policy of free trade so far as it may be consistent with our natural needs and our natural honor. We are in a transition stage at present. Every one admits that there must be some change, and some certainty attained. We hope for a change of some kind. No change can make us worse off commercially or financially in any event, and there must be something wrong when our grand resources and the energy of our five millions have accomplished so little in the way of successful development equable of the two large cities of Toronto and Montreal; and so we cannot, I believe within our borders the young and energetic men and women who, the records of this Consulate will show, are daily going South and West. Yours,

W. N. Ponton.

Belleville, Nov. 23, 1888.

Editor's Note—There are, it is generally understood, very few persons in this country who are better qualified to criticise, edit a newspaper more discreetly than the person to whom that duty has been entrusted. It is evident, from the above letter, that The Intelligencer has in Mr. Ponton a friend who is possessed of this idea. Therefore that gentleman need not blush because of any undesired promotion into which he may be brought by the publication of the above letter, because his amiable desire to correct what appears, to him, to be the error of the conductor of a paper which he daily reads and esteems, is not without precedent. In times past we have had other friends who have pursued a similar course, but they learned by experience that The Intelligencer knew its own business better than they did after all. They now confess the fact, and we have no doubt that Mr. Ponton will in due time come to the same conclusion.

An Unhappy Home.

"I wish my wife would get well or—something," said a husband who had been sorely tried with an invalid wife. It seems a heartless speech, but who can tell the discomforts of a home where the wife is always sick. Poor food, crying children! No wonder the man grows desperate. But if he would get Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the wife, he would find that the sunshine would return to his home. "Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, "bearing-down" sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

The Halifax company appeals to local sentiment for fair play and support.

Give me two pennies."

THE DETROIT EXTENSION.

THE C. P. R. SHAREHOLDERS CONFIRM THE LEASE.

President VanHorne Points Out the Immediate Necessity of the Acquisition—Indications of a Favorable Year.

Montreal, Nov. 23.—At the adjourned meeting of the shareholders of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company held to-day to consider the lease of the Detroit extension of the Ontario and Quebec Railway 37,800 shares were represented and voted unanimously to confirm the lease. The president submitted the correspondence with the Grand Trunk Company concerning a package lease between London and the Detroit river, from which it appeared that the Grand Trunk will not have anything to do with the matter. He explained the relations of the Canadian Pacific with the Michigan Central and stated that the latter company's policy would in no sense be antagonistic to the Canadian Pacific. He also explained the relations of the company were well established the immediate competition with the Detroit extension seemed to be an absolute necessity. It would at once place the company in an independent position and add very largely to its earning power.

Tae President spoke with great confidence of the general position of the company and stated that while owing to the late movement of the crops of the Northwest, to the delay in completing and opening the American line west of Sault Ste. Marie and to other similar causes the results of the year's working would fall short of earlier expectations, the surplus above fixed charges would be at least as large as that of last year, and that the excellent conditions for the coming year, extensive improvements made this year and the large additions to its rolling stock and other facilities would at once be felt in reduced expenses and increased earnings.

To Run Trains into Chicago.

Chicago, Nov. 23.—The Evening Journal says the report that the Canadian Pacific road has made arrangements to run trains into Chicago is corroborated by J. Francis Lee, the commercial agent in this city. In answer to inquiries Mr. Lee said: "The Canadian Pacific has made all its arrangements to that end. It is now building a line between London and Windsor, Ont., to connect at Detroit with the Wabash system. It will run trains into this city over the Wabash tracks and will have terminal facilities here in connection with that system."

"Have any arrangements been made for reaching from the northwest, say from St. Paul, as reported?"

"I know of no such arrangements and do not think it has been thought of."

"How soon will you be running your trains into this city?"

"We expect to have everything in shape in about a year from now. We will probably be running trains in here by this time next year."

NUMA GILLY'S CHARGES.

The Disturbed Condition of that Easily Disturbed Country—France.

Paris, Nov. 24.—While the sinister shadow of Boulangism steadily increases in the land, the republican faction seem to be on the brink of another quarrel over financial scandals which threatens to be even worse than that under which President Grevy and M. Wilson went down. People are talking more about Numa Gilly's wholesale charges than anything else, in spite of the fact that the very gravest accusations against the politicians of the right and left do not seem so far to have much proof back of them. But, from what I learn, much worse is to come.

The deputies have all received a circular letter signed by P. Martin, ex-agent of the Panama canal company, asserting that Baihaute and Barbe, formerly ministers of Public Works, had each received the past two years large sums in return for the official and parliamentary assistance they had rendered the Panama canal company. In addition Martin says that fifty-one members of the chamber are implicated in a similar corrupt way in the fortunes of Compte DeLesseps' enterprises, but he reserves their names in order to concentrate the charge on these ex-ministers and force Lesseps to proceed against him in the courts, where he is ready and anxious to meet them. I take the liberty of doubting, however, that they will sue him unless they are forced into it. Martin also attacks the present effort of Lesseps to obtain at least the formal backing of the Credit Foncier for his project of a new loan. It appears that the government is pretty deeply involved in support of this plan, M. Floquet relying a good deal on patriotic flummery about piercing the Isthmus of Panama under the French flag for electioneering capital in the general elections next year. Hence, any big scandal now about the Panama canal will not only smash finally M. DeLesseps' chances for getting any more money out of the confiding French people, but will seriously threaten the government itself.

Quite as important in another way is the opening of subscriptions for the new Russian loan here in France. It is not so much that the investment is a very bad and unwise financial one, but that it will create a lot of politic l sentiment of a dangerous sort. Every peasant who holds 500f. in Russian 4 per cents will have a new belief in the certainty of Russia's friendship for France to the obvious increase of willingness to engage in international adventuras.

Agassiz and the Spiritualists.

Professor Agassiz used to tell the following story. He had denounced spiritualists as knaves. Home, the spiritualist, once called upon him at Cambridge, Mass., and asked him to attend a spiritual seance that was to be held in Boston. Agassiz ordered him out of his house. Home observed that this was a strange reception indeed on the part of a philosopher.

"Well," said Agassiz, "what shall I see at your seance?"

"You will see," replied Home, "legs and arms moving about the room, and some of them will touch you."

"Mr. Home," answered Agassiz, "I will attend your meeting, and I will aid you to clear up the mystery of those floating limbs. I have a sword; it so happens that it was recently sharpened. That sword I will bring with me, and I will cut at the legs and arms."

The next day Agassiz drove up to the hall where the seance was to be held. The doors were shut, and a placard stated that Home had suddenly been recalled to New York.

To Cure a Corn.

There is no lack of so-called cures for the common ailment known as corns. The vegetable, animal, and mineral kingdoms have been ransacked for cures. It is a simple matter to remove corns without pain, for if you will go to any druggist or medicine dealer and buy a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor and apply it as directed the thing is done. Get "Putnam's," and no other.

CATARRH CAN BE CURED.

NASAL BALM INSTANTLY RELIEVES COLD IN THE HEAD. NASAL BALM POSITIVELY CURES CATARRH In all Forms and Stages.

THE PROOF.

Mr. G. T. Corbin, Mail Clerk on C. P. R., says:—Nasal Balm is a boon to all suffering from cold in the head. It gives relief rapidly and never fails to effect a speedy cure.

D. Deslauriers, President of the Quebec Creamery Association, says:—Nasal Balm beats the world for catarrh and cold in the head. In my own case it effected relief from the first application.

THE PROOF.

Mr. A. W. Mallory, Millerstown, Ont., says:—My daughter suffered for years from a most distressing and annoying catarrh. Her case was under the treatment of eminent physicians in the United States and Canada. Two months' use of Nasal Balm has had more beneficial effects than all former treatments combined.

Mr. Horatio Collier, Woollen Manufacturer, Carrollstown, Ont., states:—Nasal Balm is the only positive remedy for catarrh that I ever used.

G. L. Porter, Manufacturer of Wooden-Ware, McIntosh Mills, Ont., says:—Nasal Balm completely cured me of a case of catarrh from which I had suffered for over ten years. It cannot be too highly recommended, and should be used by anyone troubled with catarrh. It is one of the family wonders of science.

Mr. E. G. Hart, of Gananoque, says:—My child was suffering severely from cold in the head, indeed to such an extent that breathing was difficult. One application of Nasal Balm gave instant relief, and in a short time made a perfect cure.

R. A. Harmon, Druggist, Danville, Ont., writes:—I use your Nasal Balm in my own family, and find it by far the best remedy we can get. When baby gets cold we rub his forehead and nose with Nasal Balm, and in the morning he is all right.

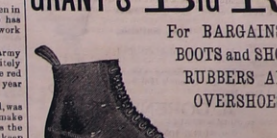

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS The reputation achieved by Nasal Balm from its wonderful curative properties has induced certain unscrupulous parties to place imitations on sale, closely resembling the style of our package, and with names similar in sound. Beware of all preparations styled Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam etc; they are fraudulent imitations. Ask for Nasal Balm and see that you get it.

If you cannot obtain Nasal Balm from your dealer it will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents and $1, by addressing FULFORD & CO., Brockville, Ont.

TEMPERATURE

as Registered by Dr. Bell's Self-Registering Thermometer

SATURDAY, Nov. 24.

Maximum 25; minimum 12.
Barometer 30.60.

A Capable Representative.

The Trenton Advocate says the thanks of the citizens are due to Mr. H. Corby, M.P., for the interest he evinced in having changes made, as desired by the people of that town, in their new public building. Mr. Corby is certainly an energetic and capable representative.

Goods Seized.

The police yesterday afternoon, acting under a distress warrant, seized a quantity of utensils belonging to Mr. Robert McCormack. It will be remembered that Mr. McCormack a short time ago was convicted and fined $1 for laboring on Sunday, or in default thereof 2 days in gaol. He refused to pay the fine, hence the seizure.

Football.

An exciting game of football was played yesterday afternoon on the grounds of the Deaf and Dumb Institute, by a team representing that Institution and the Albert College club. For over one hour the battle raged and neither had scored a goal, when time was called. Those who witnessed the contest say it was a fine exhibition of this sport.

A Noisy Load.

Last evening as the foot ball team of Albert College were on their way home to that institution after the match with the D. & D. club, they made the streets resound with their hilarity. It is said that the firemen at No. 2 station thought that a fire was in progress and were prepared to respond to duty when the cause of the confusion was discovered.

Look Out for Them.

There are two artists travelling through this section of the country taking orders for the enlarging of pictures, who ask for a deposit of $5 and that the remaining amount, whatever it may be, will be collected when the picture is delivered. Have your goods delivered and then pay for them, as it is said that some have already regretted the visit of these parties.

Forger Wanted.

The Chief of Police yesterday received a circular detailing a description of one Joseph Barlow alias "Skippy," of Buffalo, N. Y., who is wanted in that city on the charge of forgery. It is supposed that he is in some part of Canada. Whilst engaged as a clerk he forged a note to the amount of $337, which he got cashed, and immediately left for parts unknown.

St. Andrew's Day.

Friday next will be St. Andrew's day. The St. Andrew's Society of this city will duly celebrate this anniversary. In the afternoon the Society will attend St. Andrew's Church, where its Chaplain, Rev'd M. W. Maclean, will deliver a sermon. In the evening a grand concert will be held in the Opera House, for which some of the noted vocalists of the country have been engaged.

The tickets are now being sold for this concert and the plan will be opened on Monday morning at H. E. Holden's office.

A Bold Thief.

This morning a circular was received by the chief from Buffalo informing him that on Wednesday last a man about 30 years of age went into a jewellery store in that city and asked to be shown some gold watches. The lady clerk not thinking anything was wrong in the request, placed five of the finest time pieces of this description on the counter for the would be purchasers inspection. She had no sooner done so than he snatched the articles and made good his escape. The police of that city offer a reward of $100 for his capture. He is represented as being a professional in this vocation. The theft was perpetrated in broad daylight.

Pay of Government Short-Handers.

Even though the Government offers $900 to $1,200 a year for young lady and gentlemen short handers and type-writers in the easiest positions, and much larger salaries to experts, it is said sufficient cannot be obtained for its needs, because of the great increase each year in such positions both in Government departments and among private business firms in all our cities. This is a field to which more of our young people should direct their attention, especially when such schools as The Haven College, 197 State Street, Chicago, offers to refund the money in any instance where it fails to fit a student for such positions in three months' time.

Prof. Dorenwend's Wigs and Toupees for Gentlemen.

Gentlemen who have lost their hair, are beginning to realize the great advantages derived from wearing artificial coverings. They supply protection to the scalp wherein nature has failed, and also fill up the deficiency in appearance caused by baldness. Hundreds of gentlemen in all parts of America testify to the beneficial results of using Prof. Dorenwend's wigs and toupees. Each article is carefully made, is light and strong, and when worn cannot be detected by the closest observer. Prof. Dorenwend will be at Queen's Hotel on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1st, and will show a big stock of them. Go and see them, whether you buy one or not; he makes no charges for trying them on.

Commercial Notes.

American spring wheat flour from frozen wheat has lately been received in Montreal. It looked sound, but when the dough was placed in the oven it fell flat.

The outlook for dressed hogs in the Montreal market is favorable. Prices now range $1.25 per 100 lbs. higher than last year and dealers look for a higher average than last season.

The flour boom is taking a rest and prices are declining.

The export of apples from Montreal this year is greatly beyond precedent. The shipments from the commencement of the season are 243,364 barrels, against 94,058 barrels last year. In car lots good to fine winter varieties range from $1.50 to $1.85 per barrel, and second qualities sell at $1.10 to $1.25.

Cheese is on the boom again. Sales of finest have ranged up to 11¼c. per lb. The stock in Canada is estimated at 175,000 boxes.

PAINFUL BURNS, bruises, scalds and cuts are quickly soothed and healed by Victoria Carbolic Salve.

The Ferry Disabled.

The ferry Mary Ethel sustained a serious injury this morning shortly after commencing her regular trips. She had considerable difficulty in breaking the ice, and in so doing a large hole was made in her side, the effect of which was that the water came in in large quantities. She was represented by one of the passengers as being badly damaged, and although the conveyances were placed on the opposite side, the water came into the engine room and nearly extinguished the fires. The injury was repaired and the boat after some delay resumed her trips regularly.

The Bay.

The tug "Bonar" left this morning for Mosquito Bay, for the purpose of releasing Mr. Mullin's scow "Hattie Ann," and a schooner which was loading grain there. She had ice of nearly two inches in thickness to break.

Big Bay froze over during the night.

The Quinte made her trip, but went no further west.

At 1 p. m. the Varuna passed down from Trenton, with two loaded schooners and a sloop in tow. The tow was going very slowly as it passed the harbor.

Trenton's Water Power.

On Monday, December 17th, the votes of the people of Trenton will be taken on a by-law "to authorize the issue of debentures to the extent of $28,267.34, for the purpose of erecting and constructing a bulk head, retaining wall, flume, piers, booms, sluices, and for dredging the river Trent in connection therewith, and for more fully developing and utilizing the water power of the River Trent within the limits of the town, and for other purposes in connection with the dam and bridge recently erected by the said town across the river Trent within the limits of the said town." The annual requirement under this by-law will be $2,286.72

A Strange Phenomenon.

The Madoc Review says: "Bannockburn people are at present greatly interested in a remarkable case of horse affliction. Mr. James Harris, of that place, has a horse which has a live snake in its eye. The snake appears to be about 7 inches long and ¼ inch thick, and is continually on the move, in fact quite lively. It appears to live under a kind of scum in the eye. The people of that place are greatly interested in the case, having never heard of anything like it before, and in fact we never have either. The facts as above set forth are, however, vouched for by a correspondent, who says the strange abode of the little reptile has been quite an attraction for sightseers."

Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto Coming.

We take pleasure in announcing the visit of Prof. Dorenwend of the Paris hair works, Toronto, with his magnificent assortment of styles in ladies' bangs, front-pieces, (plain and wavy,) switches, half wigs, full wigs, gents' wigs, toupees, &c. The Professor is noted as the manufacturer of the best and most natural looking hair goods in America. Wherever he has visited, the press is unanimous in praising him as an artist, and an energetic business man. This, together with the fact that he has the largest and most magnificent establishment of the kind on the continent will recommend him and his goods to the public, and we have no hesitation in saying that our readers and their friends cannot do better than invest in some of the Prof.'s goods, as satisfaction is sure. He will have his show rooms at Queen's Hotel, on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1. See his advertisement in another column.

PROBABILITIES.

TORONTO, Nov. 24.—Moderate winds; fair and milder weather.

Board of Health.

The Board of Health will meet on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Committee Meeting.

The Executive, Public Works and Fire Committees will meet to night.

Accident in a Printing Office.

A part of the ceiling in the Ontario job room fell this morning. A portion of the type in a book form which was on the press was smashed, and other damage was done.

Light Bread.

A resident of the city stated this morning that a loaf of bread purchased by a friend from a baker was six ounces short in weight, and that one furnished to himself was two ounces light. We commend the matter to the attention of the authorities.

Foxboro Stone Quarries.

A large number of men are employed in the quarries near Foxboro, on both sides of the river. The stone is of the first quality, and can be got in any thickness or size that may be required, whilst the deposits cover a large area. Foxboro stone is being very largely used by the Grand Trunk.

Buy Early.

"Those who are far-sighted," remarks the New York Tribune, "are already beginning to lay in their stock of Christmas presents in order to escape the fancy holiday prices." A better incentive to being energetic in the matter of Christmas shopping lies in the fact that the early buyer has the widest range of choice. To revise the old proverb, "The early bird has the pick of worms."

No Time Lost.

The following appears amongst the list of appointments in the Ontario Gazette:—"Francis McManus, of the town of Picton, in the County of Prince Edward, to be clerk of the First Division Court of the said County of Prince Edward, in the room and stead of Walter Rose, deceased."

Mr. Mowat has lost no time in making this appointment. Contrasted with the delay in filling other offices which have become vacant, Mr. Mowat's—or shall we say Mr. Fraser's?—haste in this instance is suggestive.

Church Church.

The Rev. R. M. Pope will conduct the services in the Holloway Street Church to-morrow, both morning and evening. The evening services will partake of a Thanksgiving nature.

The Rev. A. Wallace, of the Marchmont Home, will preach in the Tabernacle to-morrow evening.

Rev. D. V. Lucas will preach in the John St. Presbyterian church to-morrow morning and in the evening at Bridge Street. The Rev. gentleman will also conduct special services each evening next week in the city.

The Rev. T. W. Campbell, of Christ Church, Toronto, will conduct the services in the Reformed Church of England to-morrow, and will address the scholars of the Sunday School in the afternoon.

Arrested Under the Charlton Act.

Edward Caton Discharged for one Offence and Re-Arrested on Another.

Edward Caton was yesterday morning discharged by Deputy Judge Lazier on the charge of non support of a child, of which he was charged with being the father. This morning he was re arrested, the warrant for his commitment being as follows:

"That Edward Caton, being above 21 years of age, of the city of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, in the latter part of the month of December, A. D. 1882, did unlawfully, under promise of marriage, seduce and have illicit connection with Mary Champagne, the said Mary Champagne being at the time aforesaid an unmarried female of previously chaste character, and under 18 years of age. This prosecution is commenced before the expiration of one year from the commission of said offence."

The result of this case will be watched with much interest, as it is the first that has been tried in this city since the Charlton Seduction Act became law.

The prisoner was this afternoon admitted to bail in $400 with two sureties—his father in $200 and R. McCaffery in $200.

Imperial Federation,

According to Mr. George Johnson, the Dominion statistician, the idea of imperial federation is not a new one by any means. In a book to be found in the national library at Ottawa, and entitled 'The administration of the colonies,' by Thomas Pawnall, first published in 1764, there are suggestions based on much the same grounds as those advanced by the imperial federationistr. Thomas Pawnall, who held the important office somewhat vaguely designated as 'Governor and commander-in-chief of his majesty's provinces, Massachusetts Bay and South Carolina, and Lieutenant-Governor of New Jersey,' seems to have had in his mind an idea that the British Isles, with our possessions in the Atlantic and America, should be united into a one grand marine political community—united into a one imperium in one centre, where the seat of government would be.' The volume referred to deals also with a proposal to unite the British dominions in one commercial system, and this scheme governor Pawnall laid before the duke of York, who seems to have taken kindly to it and referred the governor to the king's minister, who granted an audience but rejected the plan.

—The Quebec Legislature is called for the 9th of January.

—A farmer named Daly has been murdered at Tralee, County Kerry.

—It is intended to bore for gas at Ruthven, Essex county, going down 2,800 feet for it if necessary.

—The New South Wales Assembly unanimously carried the Premier's resolution regarding the appointment of Colonial Governors.

—Gen'l Harrison emphatically declares that he has said nothing, either before or since the election, regarding the annexation of Canada.

—Copenhagen was brilliantly illuminated on Thursday night in honor of the Princess of Wales, who, with her daughter, departed for England.

—Twenty-seven Nova Scotians were drowned this season from the Gloucester fishing fleet. This is a much smaller number than the average.

—The Journal de St. Petersbourg denies that a secret treaty has been entered into by Corea and Russia, but admits that Corea has granted Russia facilites for trade across the frontier.

—The Kingston Baseball Association started with a capital of $589, made $4,232, and retired in debt $260. The delinquent stockholders are being asked to pay up salaries for three months, which amount to $1,708.19.

—In consequence of ill-health Col. Rhodes, who was mentioned as the coming Protestant Minister in Mr. Mercier's Government, declines to reenter politics. The candidates in Megantic at the approaching election will therefore be Mr. Johnson, ex-M. P. P., Conservative, and Mr. Thompson, Liberal.

FROM BENCH TO GUTTER.

A Former Chief-Justice of Utah Drops Dead in a Bucket Shop.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—William W. Drummond, ex-Chief Justice of Utah, died suddenly in a low barrel-house on Desplaines street last night. He was in rags and tottering with the infirmities of dissipation. He had entered the place, presumably to rest a while. While sitting on a chair by the stove he fell forward to the floor, and when the bartender reached him he was dead.

Judge Drummond came to Chicago from West Virginia in 1851 and practised law here. In 1853 he was appointed by President Pierce, Chief Justice of Utah. Soon afterwards he met a woman named Pleasant Ridgeway, for whom he left his wife and family of five children—four girls and a boy—and on reaching Utah he abandoned himself to a life of such notorious dissipation that in a short time he was forced to resign the judicial position he held. He returned to Chicago and resumed the practice of law, but his reputation was such as to render success impossible. He continued to live with the Ridgeway woman until she wearied of him and abandoned him for another. He went down fast after that.

For the past eight years he has been a frequenter of low lodging houses, and eked out a livelihood by begging, and has been arrested for stealing letters from the street boxes and other like offences. The body was taken to the Morgue. When he was a young man he was looked upon as the most brilliant and promising lawyer in the West.

DIED IN AN OPIUM JOINT.

Sad Fate of a Pretty Canadian Girl Who Was Ruined and Deserted.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—A pretty girl dead in a Chinese opium joint. Such was the fate of Louise Cavillea, a handsome Canadian, who was found lifeless in a bunk at the den of Ah Wah, No. 117 Fourth-avenue. Louise came here four months ago and was known as Eva Johnston, and plunged into a life of shame. When she went into Ah Wah's place, with a companion named Albert Rogers, she was under the influence of wine, and the effects of both the wine and opium smoking caused her death.

The pretty red brown hair of the dead girl fell over the head of the copper dissecting pan in the Morgue yesterday, while the keen scalpels were busy cutting into her fair flesh. Ah Wah, Ah Lee and other Chinamen stood around in their queer, satin lined blouses and chattered in their strange sing song. They looked scared. Wah, Lee and Rogers were held to answer for her death.

Not long ago Louise was a happy, innocent girl at Toronto, Canada, her parents being well to do. She was graduated from a leading female seminary. It was the same old story of ruin and desertion; her father died of a broken heart because of his daughter's disgrace, and the mother removed from the old home so full of painful memories. The body of the girl will be sent to a small town in Michigan, where the bereaved mother sorrowingly awaits her.

Powderly Re-Elected.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 24.—Powderly was yesterday re-elected General Master Workman of the Knights of Labor for the next two years.

Morris L. Wheat of Iowa was elected General Worthy Foreman.

Hayes was elected Secretary-Treasurer, a Powderly victory, and Mrs. Barry director of women's work.

Powderly was chosen to represent the order at the Paris Exposition. He took the floor and stated that although his salary had been left at $5000 he would accept only $2000.

A. W. Wright of Toronto, J. J. Holland and John Costello of Pittsburg and John Devlin of Detroit were elected members of the General Executive Board, A. W. Wright receiving the largest single vote, 94, given in any of the ballots.

Four Brothers Wedded to Four Sisters.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 24.—Four brothers married to four sisters by the same minister was the record furnished yesterday afternoon, when George Rothenberger was married to Miss Louisa Wieglieb by the Rev. Adam Zimmerman, of St. John's Church. The parents are German Lutherans, of Zimmerman's congregation. Thirty years ago they settled upon adjoining farms ten miles from the city and their families have grown up together. Two years ago the first couple of brothers and sisters were married. There remain three pretty girls of the Wieglieb family who will soon seek husbands, but there are no more Rothenberger boys. The couples already married are living happily in this vicinity.

A Belligerent Irishman.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Owing to a division in the ranks of the Irish Revolutionary Brotherhood memorial services were held in two halls in celebration of the twenty-first anniversary of the execution of Allen, Larkin and O'Brien, the Manchester martyrs. At the Cooper Union about 1000 people were present. Another meeting was held in Chickering Hall. Patrick Sarsfield Cassidy presided. He praised the work of Charles Stewart Parnell for his noble battle for Irish independence. He said it was time war was begun for Ireland's freedom. General F. F. Miller and Dr. McGlynn were among the other speakers.

Walking on the Waves.

NEWBURGH, N.Y., Nov. 24.—Prof. C. W. Oldrieve of Boston, who is walking on the Hudson River from Albany to New York, left Marlborough at 11 o'clock yesterday, but walked only a mile. He returned there and made another start at 3 p.m. He is supposed to have passed here some time in the night and rested at Cornwall or West Point. The steamer Emiline, from Haverstraw this morning, reports having met him at Conshook Island. He walked slowly and seemed to be in good condition.

BLEW THE FELLOW'S HEAD OFF.

A Kentucky Judge in the Capacity of Both Court and Executioner.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 24.—At Sharpsburg last night Judge E. R. Withers, a prominent citizen, shot and instantly killed Lewis Daniels, a negro desperado. Daniels had gone to Judge Withers' house in the absence of that gentleman and outrageously abused the lady members of the family. This the Judge endured, hoping to avoid bloodshed. A few nights ago as Mrs. Withers and her sister, accompanied by a colored woman, who had been Daniels' wife, were on their way home from Judge Withers' store, they were met by Daniels', who at once attacked his wife, threatening to kill her. The terribly frightened colored woman appealed to her white companions. At this Daniels pointed a pistol at Mrs. Withers, telling her he would shoot. The ladies screamed and assistance came, but Daniels was gone.

Judge Withers that night loaded his shotgun. Last night he heard a noise in his kitchen. Taking his gun he went in and found Daniels, whom he ordered to leave. The negro reluctantly left, but had gone only a few steps, when he suddenly wheeled around, thrusting his hands in his pocket as if to draw a pistol. Withers then fired with both barrels of his gun, blowing Daniels' head off. Withers is 65 years old, has been Police Judge of Sharpsburg and is now a justice of the peace. He surrendered and gave bond to appear Monday.

THE ASHBOURNE ACT.

A Number of Amendments to the Land Purchase Bill Negatived.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—In the House of Commons to-night Mr. W. H. Smith moved that the rule compelling adjournment at midnight be again suspended to enable the House to conclude the debate on the Irish Land Purchase Bill. Carried, 1 95 to 159.

On motion to go into committee on the bill Mr. Parnell proposed an amendment giving the Government power to instruct the Land Commission to deal with arrears when fixing judicial rents. Rejected, 182 to 148.

The Parnell Commission.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—At the sitting of the Parnell Commission to-day Inspector of Police Huggins testified concerning outrages at Castle Island, County Kerry. From November, 1882, to September, 1884, 160 outrages had been committed. He denied that he was employed by The Times.

A Kilkenny Row.

DUBLIN, Nov. 24.—The meetings announced to be held throughout Ireland yesterday in memory of the Manchester martyrs were proclaimed by the Government. A few conflicts occurred between the people and the police. The most serious disturbance was at Kilkenny. A despatch received from there at a late hour says that the police were charging in all directions and that a magistrate had threatened to give orders to the police to fire on the mob.

—At the auction sale in Washington of the personal effects of Lord Sackville a funny incident occured. A writing desk was put up, a handsome piece of carved wood, but the bidding on it was very slow. The auctioneer did his best to raise the figure to a reasonable sum. Pretty soon he whispered to his assistant, who disappeared. In a moment the rumor, started in some mysterious way, ran through the crowd that it was upon this desk that Lord Sackville penned his famous letter to Murchison. At once a large price was offered for the desk, and bid after bid followed in quick succession, until the article was finally sold at an exorbitant figure.—World.

—"One young German," says the London correspondent of the Sun, "has just received an exalted notion of English Puritanism and respectability. He landed in this country on Tuesday. On Wednesday he stared, perhaps a little impolitely, at a disreputable woman on Whitechapel road. A quarter of an hour later a policeman rescued him, much injured, from the furious mob, and took him to the lock-up. He was let go on his statement that he was going to America. The woman had cried out that he was 'Jack the Ripper,' but the German, who did not understand a word of English, thought all the demonstration was brought about by English feelings of propriety shocked at his indiscreet staring."

BABY'S SKIN AND SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by Cuticura Remedies.

Our oldest child now six years of age, when an infant six months old was attacked with a virulent, malignant skin disease. All ordinary remedies failing, we called our family physician who attempted to cure it but in a short time almost incredible rapidity, until the lower portion of the little fellow's person, from the middle of his back down to his knees, was one solid rash, ugly, painful, blotched and malignant to look at. We were advised to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES. The effect was simply marvellous. In three or four weeks a complete cure was wrought, leaving the little fellow's entire skin as white and healthy as though he had never had an attack. In my opinion your valuable remedies saved his life, and to-day he is a strong, healthy child, perfectly well, no repetition of the disease having ever occurred. GEO. R. SMITH,

CLEAR SKIN, PURE BLOOD.

No mother, who loves her children, who takes pride in their beauty, purity, and health, and in fostering upon them a healthy stimulant inheritance,—a skin without a blemish, and a body nourished by pure blood—should fail to make trial of the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

I have seen the CUTICURA REMEDIES used for milk crust by a visitor in my house, and can testify that the cure was speedy and permanent. I have also used them myself, for eruptions of the skin on my little child, with satisfactory results in every respect. The skin was for a time, and then began to assume ugly proportions. I have also heard my neighbors speak of the CUTICURA REMEDIES in the highest terms. E. P. BEAR,

Strange, but Still True.

Mrs. David Carstairs, Haldimand Township, met with a very pleasant surprise a few weeks ago. It seems Mrs. Carstairs has suffered a great deal from dyspepsia and indigestion, the symptoms of which were, pains in the stomach and bowels, and sick headache. She has tried a great many physicians, and an unlimited amount of patent medicines, but without any success; and last but not least, she tried Dowling's Pepsin Compound, and one bottle has removed both pain and aches. She returns the kindest regards to P. E. Dowling, Colborne, for his magnificent remedy. Belleviellites, take pattern by this woman, and ask your Druggist for it

A traveler passing through a town bought a hat for $3 and gave in payment a $50 bill. The hatter called on a merchant nearby, who changed the bill for him, and the traveler having received his $44 change went his way. On turning to search for the traveler he had left town, so that the note was useless on the hatter's hands. What did the hatter lose by the transaction?

Education on a Novel Plan.

For fifteen years Mrs. Alfred Hemenway has carried on the work of education in Boston on a novel plan. It is Mrs. Hemenway's idea to educate those who are too old to go to school, and whose early education was neglected. This school grew out of a mere accident, but it has grown with such rapidity that now it numbers hundreds of pupils and teachers. The lessons are given at the pupils' houses, and most of the pupils are much older than their teachers.—Harper's Bazar.

There was a grand reunion of the Billings family at Springfield, Mass., recently. Several hundred members were present, all descendants of three Billings brothers who came to this country in 1640. Many family heirlooms were exhibited consisting of portraits, table linen and bric-a-brac. It was voted to publish a history of the Billings family which Charles Billings had prepared. —Harper's Bazar.

ONLY A WOMAN.

Only a woman! a delicate woman
Who starts at the sight of a mouse;
Whose weight is four score
Of such many pounds more.)
And yet what a power in the house.

Calmly, serenely, she orders her household
With almost a soldierly drill;
Er m chaos she's bringing,
Yet all the while singing,
Sweet order, her part to fulfill.

Only a woman! a soft-hearted woman,
Whose bright tears are ready to flow;
And yet, she's small hand
Is made to command
In her womanly sphere here below.

Small things may try her and ruffle her temper,
And yet with great trials she'll rise,
And shame even man
With some well-devised plan
That must have dropped down from the skies.

Only a woman! a fair-skirted woman,
Who strives to make men of her boys,
Who reads their young hearts,
The while she imparts
True principles in with their joys.

Training her daughters—their constant companion—
Softly leading them each by the hand,
Teaching them truth
In their innocent youth,
That their names may be g-lid in the land,

Only a woman! a beautiful woman
Now gliding through chamber and hall,
Her laughter and song,
That to home life belong,
Robs many a heart of its thrall.

Joy of her children; queen of her husband;
Who else may claim such a throne?
Strong and enduring,
Sweet peace insuring,
Who but fair woman long?

—Newsboy's Appeal.

Sunday Miscellany.

We can hardly learn humility and tenderness enough except by suffering.—[George Eliot.

George F. Pentecost, the evangelist, is preaching in England. His children are being educated in that country.

All the sin that has darkened human life and saddened human history began in believing a falsehood; all the power of Christianity to make men holy is associated with believing the truth.—[J. A. Broadus.

An item from London says the split of the Baptists is decisive. Spurgeon heads the Surrey and Middlesex Baptist Association from the Baptist Union. All Baptist churches in sympathy with orthodox views are about to join the Spurgeonites.

There is truth in the remark that a bag, if empty, hangs loosely by its string, but the more there is put in it the closer is the mouth drawn and the harder is it to get anything out. So, often, as men have more means to give, is it more difficult to obtain money from them.—[Christian Inquirer.

Remember, dear reader, the love of men and women is very sweet, but all must pass away; and what will you do if you have no wealth but the wealth that fadeth, no love but the love which dies, when death shall come!—[Spurgeon.

The latest thing in New York is said to be a Sunday school trust, the object of which is "to prevent the children trading in Sunday schools." When a Sunday school is about to give a festival or excursion, it is well known that it always increases very largely in membership just before the event. The trust will try to make this sort of thing impossible.

Some of the ministers of Glasgow about 140 years ago would be regarded as weak and vulgar men. One of them, who was much plagued with an idle, dissipated son, prayed for him one day in church in these terms: "O Lord, have mercy and compassion on this fiery, silly thing, my son Jamie; there is not the like of him in all Glasgow, save Mathew Glendinning yonder in the foreloft."

The Swiss people do not believe in proselytizing children, but on the contrary think that they should be left unbiassed by parental or other influence until they reach the age when they can intelligently choose a religion for themselves. The other day an English lady was sentenced to 100 days' imprisonment for converting children under age in the Canton of Vaud to the doctrines of the Salvation Army. The same principle carried out here would close all our Sunday schools.

There are many curious copies of the Holy Writ in the various collections of books in the world, but there is considerable doubt if there is one as rare as that owned by Dr. Williams, a London physician. It is written entirely in shorthand, and is on exhibition in its owner's library on Clifton street. This volume for the amount of reading matter it contains is remarkably small, and the characters are exquisitely written. It is said to have belonged to an apprentice, who, suspicious of James II.'s intention regarding Protestantism, wrote the whole for himself, fearing that he might be deprived of his printed copy.

Though you have a straight line of apostolic succession, if your work is poor, you are not in the line of succession; and if your church does not make full-grown men, it is not. I do not care anything about the line of succession of my grapes, if my vineyard brings forth better wine than your vineyard does. You may say that yours came from those that Noah planted; but they are not as good as mine are for all. "For by their fruit ye shall know them." And the best of all churches, as of all orthodoxies and all doctrines, and all usages, and all governments, is this: What is their effect upon the generations of men?—[Beecher.

Baptist Inquirer: It is said that the clergyman of Delaware county is at his wit's end to know what to do in the very singular case in which he finds himself. The people of his neighborhood, he says, are all converted, and all church members and attendants, so that there remains nobody who needs really to be preached to. When it was sugested to him that the children might be expected still to provide occasion for his labors, he answered with a slight tincture of sadness, that they were all so well brought up that they, too, without exception, became church members as soon as they were old enough. If the dear brother, having so lovely an ecclesiastical patch, is desirous to do some good, it is evident it might be safely left while he labored elsewhere. If from his surroundings, he dreams that the millennium is close at hand, he might get a thorough awakening by working as an evangelist in the lower wards of New York.

The rainy sundays lately, says the Portland Advertiser, have had rather a demoralizing effect on church congregations; but one Portland minister does not let that discourage him, having in mind a story that doctor Payson, of this city, use to tell. One very stormy Sunday he went to church, more from habit than because he expected anybody there. Just after he had stepped inside the door, an old negro came in, and asked if Dr. Payson was to preach there that day, exclaiming that he was a stranger in town, and had been advised to go to his church. "Upon that," said Dr. Payson, "I made up my mind to preach my sermon, if nobody else came." Nobody else did come, so the doctor preached to the choir and the old negro. Some months afterward he happened to meet the negro, and, stopping him, asked how he enjoyed the sermon that stormy Sunday. "Enjoy dat sermon," replied the old man, "I 'clar, doctor, I neber heard a better one. Yo' see I had a seat pretty well up front; an, whenebber you'd say anythin's pretty hard like 'gin de sins ob men, I'd jess look all roun' for see who you's a re hittin', and I wouldn't see nobody on'y jess me. An I says to m'self he must mean you, Pomp, you's such a dretful sinner. Well, doctor, dat ar sermon set me thinking what a big sinner I war; and I went an' joined the church down home. I's a deacon now."

The Medus Operandi.

The mode of operating of Burdock Blood Bitters is that it acts at once and at the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and the Blood, to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in Chronic Complaints.

Lullaby.

Close your eyelids, baby, darling,
Like soft clouds o'er skies of blue!
All unseen and holy angels
Keep their watch, dear, over you,
To his couch in golden splendor
Sinks, at last, the summer sun;
While the twilight, soft and tender,
Tells the day is done!
Lullaby! sleep and rest,
Cradled on this faithful breast!
Safe from life's storms, fierce and wild,
Sleep and rest, my little child!
Slumber!
Lullaby!

Like a bird, that, tired of roaming,
Seeks at eve its downy nest,
So my birdling, in the gloaming,
Sweetly sleeps upon my breast!
Off to dream land's fairy spring—
Slumber's silken sails unfurled—
While night winds are softly blowing
O'er the silent world!
Lullaby! Sleep and rest,
Cradled on this faithful breast!
Safe from life's storms, fierce and wild,
Sleep and rest, my little child!
Slumber!
Lullaby!

Doing and Being.

A young girl had been trying to do something good, and had not succeeded very well. He friends hearing her complaint, said:

"God gives us many things to do; but don't you think he gives us something to be, just as well?"

"Oh dear! tell me about being," said Marion, looking up. "I will think about being, if you will help me."

Her friend answered:

"God says:

"Be kindly affectionate one to another.

"Be ye also patient.

"Be ye thankful.

"Be ye not conformed of this world.

"Be ye therefore perfect:

"Be courteous.

"Be not wise in your own conceit,

"Be not overcome of evil."

Marion listened, but made no reply.

Twilight fell into darkness.

The tea-bell sounded, bringing Marion to her feet. In the firelight Elizabeth could see that she was very serious.

"I'll have a better day to morrow. I see that doing grows out of being."

"We cannot be what God loves without doing what He commands. It is easier to do right than to be cross, indolent or unselfish, or humble, or just, or watchful."

"I think it is," returned Marion.

Father Knows.

A gentleman was one day opening a box of goods. His little son was standing near, and as his father took the packages from the box he laid them upon the arm of the boy. A young friend and playmate of the merchant's son was standing by looking on. As parcel after parcel was laid upon the arm of the boy, his friend began to fear his load was becoming too heavy, and said:

"Johnny, don't you think you've got as much as you can bear?"

"Never mind," answered Johnny in a happy tone; "father knows how much I can carry."

Brave, trustful little fellow! He did not grow restless or impatient under the burden. There was no danger, he felt, that his father would lay too heavy a load on him. His father knew his strength, or rather the weakness of that little arm, and would not overtask it. More than all, his father loved him, and therefore would not harm him. It is such a spirit of loving trust in Him that God desires all His children to possess.

Among the Indians.

"While my husband was trading in furs he came across an Indian who was taken to his lodge to die. He had inward pains and pains in all his limbs. He gave some Yellow Oil internally and applied it externally, and cured him. It also cured my husband of rheumatism, and I find it valuable for coughs and colds, sore throat, etc." Mrs. A. Besaw, Cook's Mills, Serpent River, Ont.

Said by the Little Ones.

DIDN'T EVEN GET A HOLE.

A mother gave her little boy a couple of doughnuts the other day, telling him to divide with his sister. A few moments later the little sister came in crying as if her heart would break, and when asked what was the matter she sobingly exclaimed:

"Bobby comes out wif de donu's, and said for me to wait till he had eaten the outside and he would give me the holes. Then he lost the holes and I didn't get any."

HIS UNKIND TEACHER.

Father (to his little son who has just handed him the teacher's report of progress and conduct for the past month):

"This is very unsatisfactory. I am not at all pleased with it."

Little son—"I told the teacher I thought you wouldn't be, but he wouldn't alter it."—Boston Journal.

GOT SQUARE WITH HIM.

"My dear boy," said a mother to her son as he handed round his plate for more turkey, "this is the fourth time you've been helped."

"I know, mother," replied the boy, "but the turkey called me once and I want to get square with him."

He got his turkey.—San Francisco Wasp.

POLICE WANTED.

A little bright eyed four-year-old boy, upon hearing his father read the touching story of Joan of Arc, was greatly moved by her sad trials; but when the part was reached where she was about to be burned to death at the stake, the poor little fellow could not endure the narrative longer, but rushing distracted to his parent's arm, and with big tears running down his plump cheeks, cried—

"But, papa, where were the police?"

Cured By B. B. B. When all Else Failed.

Mr. Samuel Allan, of Lisle, Ont., states that he tried all the doctors in his locality while suffering for years with Liver and Kidney trouble; nothing benefitted him until he took Burdock Blood Bitters, four bottles cured him.

IT IS SAFE TO USE Freeman's Worm Powders, as they act only on the worms and do not injure the child.

PROMPT, POTENT AND PERMANENT results always come from the use of Milburn's Aromatic Quinine Wine.

A Quarter of a Century!

For more than twenty five years has Hagyard's Yellow Oil been sold by druggists, and it has never yet failed to give satisfaction as a household remedy for pain, lameness and soreness of the flesh, for external and internal use in all painful complaints.

—With a whoop and a hustle
Come the boy and the girl;
While he boasts of his muscle,
With a whoop and a hustle
And ribbons a rustle,
She coaxes a curl.
With a whoop and a hustle
Come the boy and the girl.—Puck.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Is very palatable and much better than the plain oil. Dr. W. H. Cameron, of Halifax, N. The Dangerous Coal Oil.

MONTREAL Oct. 17.—The explosion of poor, refined coal oil is the cause of another accident al burning. A little girl named Beauchamp, living on Maple street, while helping her mother in domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while resting on the table. Her burning clothing was only torn from her with much difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quickly summoned and the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined Oil a considerable quantity of inferior Coal Oil is being sold.

In order to avoid these low grades we have tak n the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil:

'CARBON SAFETY OIL'

A specially refined and superior grade of Canadian Oil,

ASTRAL OIL,

A high grade American Oil.

These we can most confidently recommend to our retail trade as goods that will give entire satisfaction.

We are also fully supplied with Water White and Prime White American Oil and the usual brands of Canadian Oil.

Model Sides of Bacon, as Rated by the Most Important English Markets—The Best Quality of Pigs for Bacon Curing Purposes.

In a recent issue of American Cultivator attention is called to the illustration here reproduced, a glance at which gives an idea of those parts of the pig which are of the highest value on the English bacon markets. It also gives a clear idea of the best quality of pigs for bacon curing purposes for the British trade.

MODEL SIDES OF BACON.

The following are the current prices per pound in England for the parts as numbered in the illustration. To reduce the figures to American currency let each penny be called the equivalent of 2 cents:

1. Streaky quarter	11d.
2. Rib quarter	11d.
3. Middle quarter	8½d.
4. Ham quarter	8½d.
5. End of neck	7½d.
6. Middle of neck	8½d.
7. Thick back and sides	10d.
8. Prime back and ribs	11d.
9. Loin	12d.
10. Fillet	10d.
11. Rib shoulder	6d.
12. Prime streaky	11d.
13. Thin streaky	8½d.
14. Flank	6½d.
15. Middle of gammon	11d.
16. Knuckle of gammon	7d.
17. Fore end	6d.

An English writer, in explaining the illustration, says:

"For brevity's sake we will take the left hand side of bacon, this being divided into five parts, and it will be observed that the most valuable parts are the streaky and the rib quarters, numbered 1 a. d 2, and that the middle quarter and ham quarters, Nos. 3 and 4, are of less value, while No. 17, the shoulder or fore end, is worth only six pence per pound, or only little more than half the value of the second part of the pig; and that a little more than two-thirds of the value of the third portion, the loin and ham, or, as the latter is called in the trade, the gammon. If to this be added the fact that the heads of the pigs are valued at from one pence to two pence per pound, one can understand why the bacon curer asks for pigs with heads weighing as little as possible, also light in the shoulders, long and clean in the ribs, wide in the back and thick in the flank, with hams square and deep, and not strong in the bone, but possessing a good coat of hair. Given such a pig properly fattened, our bacon curers can produce at a profit sides of which bacon will defy competition with the whole world.

Norton's Virginia Grape.

Numbered with wine grapes, is Norton's Virginia, introduced to cultivation by Dr. D. N. Norton, of Richmond, Va. For several years but little attention was paid to this grape, Catawba being the leading variety for wine making. It was not until some Missouri wine dressers had discovered its real value as a wine grape that the Norton was planted extensively in nearly all the wine growing sections of this country where the season is long enough for its thorough ripening.

The Cythiana, which has been called the twin sister of the Norton, closely resemble the latter, although a marked difference exists between them, in some points. Mr. E. Dubois, a Florida horticulturist, in Florida Fruit Grower, says: The type of the Norton, when fermented on the husk, makes here a dark red wine of much body and color and of pleasant bouquet, without that caffeine flavor existing in the Norton wine from Ohio and Missouri. The Cythiana makes a still darker wine with at least as much body. The Cythiana wine properly fermented compares favorably with fine imported Burgundy, and if turned into port none of the European grapes cultivated in California and used for that purpose can compare with it. The Norton and Cythiana grapes fermented together make a first class claret.

NORTON'S VIRGINIA.

The Norton wine, owing to its high percentage of tannin, possesses great medicinal properties and is particularly valuable for dysentery and diseases of the bowels. Both grapes are now recognized by all experienced grape growers as the most trustworthy and the best wine grapes in America, and will add that they are the most valuable grapes for Florida. They will thrive in almost any kind of soil, and while in a high level ground they will bear immense crops, on a hillside, not so steep, the yield will be lighter, but the quality of the fruit much superior, imparting its superiority to the wine.

The president of the Ontario Fruit Growers' association believes that the only secret in storing apples is to have a cellar that is sufficiently dry and cool. Some growers of late years affirm that apples keep best in a cold but moist cellar.

Symptoms of Pneumonia.

This is the season of the year when pneumonia is to be dreaded and guarded against. This treacherous and dangerous disease may occur in connection with bronchial and other affections of the air passages induced by "taking cold." But if a person has first been attacked with symptoms of a cold, and they have existed for a day or more, he need have little fear that pneumonia will set in as a consequence. People who have caught cold, and are suffering from acute bronchitis—have a painful, "tearing" cough, are "sore across the chest," etc.—are very often apprehensive of the more serious disease under consideration. There is scarcely greater danger of its appearing then than there is while they are in their usual good state of health. We emphasize this fact, for we know that unscrupulous practitioners steal no little capital by pretending, as they often do, to "break up pneumonia," prevent patients from having it, etc. No immediate treatment can be applied by them or other physicians which will prevent pneumonia in any condition of the system. If the disease is coming, it will come, in spite of medical interference.

What symptoms should lead a person to suspect that he has pneumonia? An attack is usually sudden, and generally commences with a chill, frequently accompanied by what are called rigors—shivering, chattering of the teeth, etc. In the majority of cases this occurs during the night, and after exposure. The chill is severe and prolonged, lasting from half an hour to several hours. About the same time, or soon afterward, a pain is felt underneath the nipple on one—the affected—side. This pain is sharp, and is described as "stabbing." It is aggravated by coughing, sneezing, and when the patient takes a "long breath." Fever sets in early, and is one of the first symptoms. It usually runs very high, as is indicated by the great heat of the skin. One peculiarity, seldom noticed in other affections where there is high fever, is often observed in this disease, the skin is moist from the outset.—Herald of Health.

Opening Indian Graves.

On the farm of Mr. Bernard Stoltzen, about ten miles out of Covington, Ky., two Indian mounds were opened last week and some remarkable relics were found, which Mr. Stoltzen has forwarded to the Smithsonian Institution. Both the mounds were small, the larger being about 8 feet high at the center and 22 feet in circumference, and the other about 5 feet high and 15 feet wide. In both were stone coffins. The slabs were roughly blocked out and stood together without mortar, and the tops of the boxes were a number of irregular pieces of stone just laid across. In one were a few moldy and crumbling bones, human, of course, and the other was full of dust. The bones were hardly recognizable, but one of them was probably a femur, and one part of the pelvis. The skull was quite gone. There was also a number of large bowie heads and daggers, and a piece of wood—probably part of a bow—which had been wrapped around with some sort of an animal thong, and which seemed to be partially petrified. Two or three rude pieces of crockery were found, and several circular pieces of polished stone. The stone coffins were polished very nearly, but not quite, east and west. There was a good deal of ashes about and some bits of charcoal. The graves were undoubtedly those of mound builders, and we calculated, chiefly from the size of a tree which had evidently grown before one part of the mound had been made, that the tumuli were at least 500 years old.—C. F. Finch in Chicago News.

Love in Bird Life.

What frauds birds are. They are represented in poetry as sweet, gushing things, rising to greet the morn with melody and bursting forth in song on the slightest provocation. To read bird poetry one might consider them the most amiable of God's creatures, when the fact is, according to naturalists, the majority of singing birds are waspish and quarrelsome among themselves to a high degree. They behave worse during their singing season, when they are busy courting and mating, when they are popularly supposed to be flitting about in the most loving manner, tenderly whispering each other to be "my valentine."

Those who have made a close study of birds will tell you that mates are won, not by pure bird witchcraft, but by the most part, the stronger party carrying off the prize. Some of the more pugnacious often fight until they are killed. The females battle furiously for the males, who sit calmly by observing the combat, quite unprejudiced and ready to say, "May the best bird win." Sometimes the conqueror flies off with her dearly won valentine, only to meet some superior female on the way who disputes the prize and wins it. If the superior female be a "star" singer in bird opera she probably has to support her husband until she can get rid of him and share another.—Texas Siftings.

Where to Find Heaven.

There was a Methodist minister who preached one day on heaven. The next morning he was going down town, and he met one of his old wealthy members. The old friend said, "Pastor, you preached a good sermon about heaven. You told me all about heaven, but you never told me where heaven is."

"Ah!" said the pastor, "I am glad of the opportunity this morning. I have just come from the hilltop yonder. In that cottage there is a member of your church. She is sick in bed with fever; her two little children are sick in the other bed, and she has not got a bit of coal or a stick of wood, or flour, or sugar, or any bread. If you will go down town and buy $50 worth of things, nice provisions, and send them up to her, and then go up there and say: 'My sister, I have brought you these nice provisions in the name of our Lord and Saviour; then you ask for a fire, and you make a fire in the third Psalm, and then you get down on your knees and pray—if you don't see heaven before you get all through, I'll pay the bill."

The next morning the pastor said, I saw heaven and I spent fifteen minutes in heaven as certainly as you are listening."—New York Graphic.

Condition of Southern Negroes.

A good deal of loose talk is heard during the year about the condition of the negroes in the south. But there is such a thing as honest truth. Here is the latest bunch of statistics on the subject: In the south there are now 16,959 colored teachers, 1,000,000 pupils, 17,000 in the male and female high schools, and 3,000,000 worshipers in the churches. There are sixty normal schools, fifty colleges and universities and twenty-five theological seminaries. They pay taxes on nearly $3,000,000 worth of property, this in the southern states which, if including the northern states, would double the property valuation.—New York Tribune.

A Circassian Slave's Suicide.

A Turkish police court in Constantinople has been investigating the cause of the death of a young and beautiful Circassian slave, found floating in the Bosporus, with her hands and feet firmly bound with things. The court had the body identified as that of a girl who belonged to a wealthy Turk. Then it rendered the decision that the deceased came to her death by drowning, she having cast herself into the sea with the purpose of taking her own life. The firmness of this purpose was shown by the solidity with which she had bound her own hands and feet before throwing herself into the water.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Valuable to Know.

Consumption may be more easily prevented than cured. The irritating and harassing cough will be greatly relieved by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

A Rare Combination.

There is no other remedy or combination of medicines that meets so many requirements, as does Burdock Blood Bitters in its wide range of power over such Chronic diseases as Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Complaint, Scrofula and all humors of the blood.

There are a number of varieties of corns Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

Orin Catlin, 49 Pearl Street Buffalo, N. Y., says: I tried various remedies for the piles but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications.

Miss. George Leech, Haldimand Township, has received more benefit from two bottles of Dowling's Pepsin Compound, than she could have ever taken in her life. She has been troubled with biliousness, loss of appetite and constipation for years. Now she has none of these troubles. People write to her and see how she is! We recommend you to take Dowling's Pepsin Compound if you are Dyspeptic.

The cheapest medicine in use is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, because so very little of it is required to effect a cure. For croup, diphtheria, and diseases of the lungs and throat, whether used for bathing the chest or throat, for taking internally or inhaling it is a matchless compound.

What does Dowling's Pepsin Compound cure? Dyspepsia and Indigestion. What are the symptoms? Biliousness, constipation, lack of energy, drowsiness, headache, pains in the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, depression of spirits. Ask your druggist for it.

Dowling's Little Liver Granules are highly recommended for all diseases of the liver.

Mr. Thomas Hallard, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I have been afflicted for many a year with that most-to-be dreaded disease Dyspepsia, and at times was on such pin and want to sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended I tried one box of Parmelee's Valuable Pills. I am now nearly well and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money."

Parmelee's Pills possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. Herein is the great secret in the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body. Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

Of all the dyspeptic remedies ever placed in the market, Dowing's Pepsin Compound takes the lead. Why? Because it acts naturally on the digestive organs of the stomach, and not mechanically, like the other patent medicines. Besides, it helps to assimilate and digest all the foods that enter the stomach. Ask your druggist for a bottle.

Belleville rites follow the example of Mrs. Geo. Leech, of Haldimand, and many others, and rid themselves of that dire disease, dyspepsia and indigestion.

The Dangerous Coal Oil.

Montreal, Oct 17.—The explosion of poorly refined coal oil is the cause of another accident at burning. A little girl named Beauchamp living on Maple street, while helping her mother in domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while resting on the table. Her burning clothing was only torn from her with much difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quickly summoned and the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined oil a considerable quantity of inferior Coal oil is being sold.

In order to avoid it we grade we have tak n the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil:

'CARBON SAFETY OIL'
A specially refined and superior grade of Canadian Oil,

ASTRAL OIL,
A high grade American Oil.

These we can most confidently recommend to our retail trade as goods that will give entire satisfaction.

We are also fully supplied with Water White and Prime White American Oil and the usual brands of Canadian Oil.

$500 REWARD is offered by the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for a case of Chronic Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a nasal twang; the sense of smell is obtuse; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with general depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without one. Thousands of cases annually, without a thought of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by Physicians.

By its mild, soothing and healing properties Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "cold in the head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache. Sold by druggists everywhere, 50 cents.

"Untold Agony from Catarrh."

Prof. W. Hausner, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N.Y., writes: "I have personally suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sunset, my voice would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."

Thomas J. Rushing, Esq., 502 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could scarcely breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure remedy for catarrh now manufactured, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

Three Bottles Cure Catarrh.

Eli Robbins, Bungay P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says: "My daughter had catarrh when she was five years old, very badly. I saw Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy advertised, and procured a bottle for her, and soon saw that it helped her; a third bottle effected a permanent cure. She is now eighteen years old and sound and hearty."

Mr. Frank McManus Gets There.

AN END OF THE GREATEST LOG-ROLLING TOURNAMENT EVER WITNESSED IN PRINCE EDWARD COUNTY—MR HARE, EX M. P., OUT-GENERALS HIS ENEMIES AFTER A PROLONGED STRUGGLE.

Picton Gazette.

News was received here on Tuesday that Mr. Frank McManus had been appointed to the Clerkship of the First Division Court of Prince Edward. For nearly two and a half years this office—emoluments from $300 to $400—has been a bone of fierce contention between two factions of the local party. Mr. Hart was the local member at the time the vacancy occurred, and as he was a supporter of the Mowat Government, it was generally understood that he controlled the patronage of the county. For a time his nominees for various offices, and chosen from the ranks of his supporters, were successful; but in an unlucky hour he offended the log rollers and the result was that he failed to reach the ear of the government. Mr. Mowat, in the meantime, visited Picton, and notwithstanding Mr. Hart could not be induced to pay his respects to the Premier during his stay in town, he was eventually prevailed upon to meet him at the sand-banks—a meeting of the Emperors as it were—when it was hoped a reconciliation could be affected. Mr. Mowat wanted Mr. Hart to consent to withdraw his nominee for the Clerkship, and substitute another. This Mr. Hart absolutely refused to do. The result of the conference was to complicate matters still further. Mr. Boyle had been appointed pro tem, and there was no urgent necessity for filling the office at once—It was considered best to let matters cool down a little—and besides the local election was coming on and it would not be prudent to stand-off Reformers in the ranks.—After the local elections came off, the Dominion elections were also sprung upon the country, and prudence suggested that it would be the height of folly to make an appointment at that time. The election in Prince Edward being under a protest was talked of, culminating in a petition being filed against the return of Mr. Platt. It would never do to fill the office until the result of the protest trial should be ascertained. The unseating of the Doctor followed, and then it was decided at headquarters that it would be very unwise—nay sheer madness—to fill the position before after the election. During all this time Mr. Boyle was stoutly maintained by the knowing ones that the late Mr. Walter Ross would be the successful applicant. Very many did not believe this and after the return of Mr. Sprague it appeared to be pretty well understood that his nominee, Mr. McManus, would eventually be successful. The election being over, and there appearing to be no further excuse for further delay, Mr. Mowat carried out his promise by handing the office over to Mr. Ross. The friends of Mr. McManus naturally felt the disappointment very keenly; but they had no other remedy left them but to lay low and watch their chances, which came sooner than they expected and in a way that could not have been anticipated or desired. At the time of receiving the appointment Mr. Ross was not in the enjoyment of his usual good health. Finding it impossible to do the work, the services of Mr. Boyle were retained. The death of Mr. Ross was the occasion of another scrambling for the position; but as it was understood Mr. Sprague had not withdrawn his recommendation in favor of Mr. McManus—and had even renewed it—it was not difficult to foresee who would win in the race. Mr. Hart naturally feels jubilant. He has out-generaled his enemies, and no doubt feels like climbing on the top of the cupola of the Royal Hotel and giving one tremendous hoot—"Cock a doodle doo." Nodoubt Mr. McManus will perform the duties of his office in a highly satisfactory manner. He is in no way responsible for the action of the log rollers, which, from beginning to end, stands out prominently as being one of the most disgraceful exhibitions of political chicanery—over a mighty small matter—which has ever engaged the attention of men claiming to have the best interests of the people at heart.

PERSONS WE HEAR ABOUT.

The German emperor affects to despise music as unworthy the notice of such a battle scarred veteran and world swaying statesman as he is—in his opinion.

Miss Braddon, who is writing her memoirs, naively says that she had no idea she was personally so interesting.

Emma Abbott is said to realize $78,000 a year from her real estate investments in the west.

A brother of Millet, the eminent French artist, lives in Boston and earns a modest living as a sculptor.

In order to avoid offending any political party in Spain the queen regent has got a young Irish woman, Miss Georgina Davenport, as a governess for the king.

Miss Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, now Mrs. Herbert Ward, proved her earnest devotion to the principles of economy by buying for her entire wedding wardrobe made at a dress reform establishment.

Jane Hading has the usual French idea, or rather Parisian idea, of geography. "Why do the people speak English here?" she exclaimed when she reached Canada.

The crown prince of Germany, now 6½ years old, is drilled every day for half an hour by a sergeant major of the First Regiment of the Guards. He is an extremely handsome little fellow.

The shah of Persia has discovered a new lake in his dominions, and has written an article about it which he calls "The New Lake Between Kom and Teheran." He sent his production to a newspaper editor in Teheran, who, of course, published it, but the existence of the lake is still doubted by Persian geographers.

A memorial tablet has been placed in Christ Church, Hartford, Conn., above the pew long occupied by Julia H. Sigourney. It bears some lines by John Greenleaf Whittier, who says: "I knew Mrs. Sigourney well from, as a boy, I came to Hartford. Her kindness to the young rustic stranger I shall never forget."

A prominent Chicago lawyer is Miss Ellen J. Martin, who has been practicing since 1876, and has build up an extensive office business. Her partner, Miss Frederica Perry, is also a successful lawyer and gives her attention to local work, the work necessary to the cases that come to them.

The question regarding the age of various preachers is frequently asked. In all probability the oldest preacher in the world is the Rev. David Smith, who recently opened the general conference of the African Methodist Episcopal church in London with prayer. He is no less than 104 years of age, and has been a church member for ninety years.

The Banana "Lifters" at the Piers.

No sort of work about the South street piers attracts so much attention from the idlers along shore as the discharging of a banana laden ship. When the steamship Wergeland was at Pier 10 last week there were no less than fifty men about her, while the boys were not to be counted because of the way they dodged about. It takes over twenty men to do the work, including the gruckmen who come and go. As the boys sneaked about they fell up against a stack of bunches of bananas from time to time, and the bunches contained less bananas at every fall. Now and then a boy got down on the steamer's deck. Here he was sure to be seen by the boss 'longshoreman, but he talked about with a look of innocence on his face until he got to the pile of over ripe fruit condemned by the inspector. Then he dropped on his knees after a furtive glance at the boss and began stuffing bananas into his shirt, which invariably bagged capaciously over the gunwale of his trousers. Three different boys were seen at this by a reporter, and in each case the boss looked at the lad out of the corners of his eyes until a dozen bananas had been picked up, and then there was a burst of profanity that was stunning to the unaccustomed ear. It would have frightened any boy but a wharf rat half out of his wits, and even these made haste to get ashore as the boss jumped for them.

But it was observed that the boss always jumped too slow, and when he threw anything at the boys, which he did at every attack, he missed the mark by a very wide space. The reporter mentioned this circumstance to the boss. He crinkled the crow's feet about his eyes a bit and said:

"Hit thim! they're that scart they'd dodge a streak o' lightnin'. Look at thim legs and cheeks. Did yez ever see the loiks av it? It's the bananmies as makes 'em fit for pigs."—New York Sun.

A Pensioned Brigand.

Under the regime of the Bourbons it was no uncommon thing for the government to enter into legal compacts with the banditti that infested Campania, and to pay them certain fixed sums. That the present Italian administration should have on its civil list a bandit in the receipt of regular pay seems hardly credible, but is a fact nevertheless.

On the island of Ischia there lives an old man who in his "better days" was a notorious robber captain, a man of great enterprise, and possessing remarkable talent for organization, who baffled all the attempts of the authorities to lay hands on the cutthroats under his command in all parts of Southern Italy. Consequently, the government at length decided upon entering into an agreement by which they allowed the man a full pardon and a pension for life on condition that he would retire from his "profession" and break up his band.

The bandit afterward settled down in one of the most beautiful islands in the world, where he discharges the duties of doorkeeper and guide to visitors, and receives an allowance of six francs a day, a sum which enables him to live like a prince.—Gazette du Nord.

The Author of "John Ward, Preacher."

One anecdote of Margaret Deland shows her simplicity and the absence of all conventionality. She had amused herself by writing poems and destroying them as soon as read, sensing or caring nothing for them or attaching little or no importance to the gift which they revealed. But one day as she was returning from marketing she called upon a friend, and while waiting in the parlar amused herself by writing a poem. The sudden entrance of the friend surprised her in the act, and a moment later, in a playful way, the poem was snatched away from the unthinking author. There on a scrap of coarse brown wrapping paper was her exquisite poem. "The Succory," which was thus barely saved from the ignominious fate of its predecessors.—Book Buyers.

A Popular Author at Home.

"Tom" Hughes is as popular as country court judge as he is as the author of "Tom Brown's School Days." He is now past middle life, and has the British robust figure and the British red, round face and small eyes; in fact, he bears an excessively jolly appearance. Mr. Hughes is an ardent cooperator, and after a busy day's work in court thinks nothing of traveling some thirty or forty miles into the heart of Lancashire to address a cooperative meeting. He is a very quiet speaker and a general favorite with his audience.

The Location of Calvary.

Every indication goes to show that Golgotha, or Calvary, was a knoll outside of the Damascus gate, exactly in the opposite direction of that affixed by Christian tradition, and which would do away with the Via Dolorosa as a sacred thoroughfare, the street shown as that along which Christ bore his cross on his way to execution. It is only probable that Calvary was the ordinary execution ground of Jerusalem, which is called in the Talmud "the House of Stoning," about A. D. 100, and which current tradition among the Jews identifies with this knoll—a tradition borne out by the account of it contained in the Midrash, or text of the Talmud, which describes a cliff over which the condemned was thrown by the first witness. If he was not killed by the fall, the second witness cast a stone upon him, and the crowd on the cliff, or beneath it, completed his execution.

It was outside the gate, at some distance

After he was arrested he was identified as the party who committed the offence, was placed in confinement and remanded until Tuesday.

Gentlemen who have lost their hair, are beginning to learn the great advantages derived from wearing artificial coverings. They supply protection to the scalp wherein nature has failed, and also fill up the deficiency in appearance caused by baldness. Hundreds of gentlemen in all parts of America testify to the beneficial results of using Prof. Dorenwend's wigs and toupees. Each article is carefully made, is light and strong, and when worn will defy detection by the closest observer. Prof. Dorenwend will be at Queen's Hotel on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1st, and will show a big stock of them. You need not see them, whether you buy one or not; he makes no charges for trying them on.

Little Workers' Bazar.

The society called the "Little Workers," composed of a number of little girls, have for some time past been making fancy work for the purpose of holding a bazar. This sale was held on Saturday in the store formerly known as Orr's Hall, and the proceeds, which amounted to over $50, given to Mrs. Schuster, a lady who is doing grand work among the poorer classes of our city. Some of the articles which were sold were given to Mrs. Schuster, and will be distributed by her to the children of the Mission Sunday School at their Christmas entertainment, and the little girls who were instrumental in accomplishing this good work were: Gussie Simpson (pres.), Lena Lozier, Bella Holden, Lizzie Dumont, Alice Coleman, Emma Meyers, Annie Lozier, Daisie Geen. They are to be congratulated upon their success.

Whirled to His Death.

Belleville Workman Killed at Deseronto.

Gilbert Sine, a French Canadian who had his home in this city, was on Saturday caught in a belt in a mill where he was employed, whirled around a pulley, and so terribly injured that he died on the following day.

The deceased, who had for several years lived here and bore an excellent character as a sober and hard working man, was about 35 years of age. During the summer he was employed as a coal shoveller by the Rathbun Company here, and a short time ago went to work in the mill at Deseronto. He leaves a widow and seven children, several of whom are of tender years. The unfortunate man was little dependence, as Mr. Bolyea—Mrs. Sine's father—and her brothers here are not in a position to assist them materially. We commend them to the care of the Woman's Christian Association and the sympathies of the public for such relief as can be given them in their forlorn situation.

John Street Presbyterian Church.

A Sermon in this Sacred Edifice by the Rev. D. V. Lucas.

A large congregation was assembled at the John Street Presbyterian church yesterday morning for the purpose of hearing the discourse by the Rev. D. V. Lucas. The Rev. gentleman is an earnest evangelist and also a noted temperance lecturer. He delivered an excellent discourse, the following being a synopsis of his remarks: St. Matthew, 12th chap. 42nd verse: "The queen of the south shall rise up in the judgment with this generation, and shall condemn it; for she also came from the uttermost parts of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon; and behold a greater than Solomon is here."

God has made us to know his will, and if we neglect to do it, then great will be our responsibility. As they ridiculed the preaching of the gospel in the days of the apostles, so they do at the present day. The doctrine of the judgment is forcibly taught in this passage, for the queen of the south had been dead, as far as the knowledge of Solomon was concerned. We are making a library—every year a volume, 365 pages in each book, and at the judgment day each of these days will be revealed. We write on our page to-day, but we cannot turn it back; it must go to the judgment day, and these pages will then be there to confront us in that great day. Every secret thing we do will be brought to judgment. The queen of the south came to Solomon for the purpose of beholding his wisdom. She had travels a great distance in order to accomplish her purpose. So the sinners should come to Jesus for the purpose of learning of his wisdom. We are far away from God as regards our moral condition. We are unlike God in that we are unholy, while He is pure; hence we have a great distance to go before we can reach his realm. Man is mortal, while God is immortal; how far has man wandered from his God! as the queen of the south was in the uttermost parts of the earth from Solomon, so are we in the uttermost parts of the world from God; but she heard of the wisdom of this great man and came to see him, so as we have heard of God we should go to Him; if we had not heard of God we should not have been in the perilous position we occupy today. We have heard of Him, and it is a wonderful story, and it is the sweetest heard of Solomon by an ambassador travelling through that country, so we have heard of Christ the king of glory by ambassadors of the cross. When she came to this great king and saw his glory and his wisdom, she said the half had not been told her. You cannot be told half the glory and wisdom of God by ever so eloquent a preacher, but when you come to Him and accept Him in your heart, you can then realise his goodness. The angels in heaven have not the power to tell half of the love of Jesus Christ. He is the only one who can tell it. The Queen brought unto Solomon great presents, but he did not wish them. Christ wants a present, what is it? Christ longs for your immoral soul. One soul is worth more than the whole whole world, it overbalances the value of the universe. The world was set in the balance against the soul of Christ, and when he said, what shall a man give in exchange for his own soul. True pleasure alone can be obtained by believing in Christ. There is no other pleasure in this world, but that which is obtained by believing in the Lord Jesus Christ. He appealed to his hearers to accept Christ as their true friend, and all would be well at the judgment day.

In the evening the rev. gentleman preached in the Bridge Street Church to a large congregation. After which he held a temperance meeting in th City Hall.

POLICE COURT.

A Big Batch of Business Despatched.

Two Years for the Indian—Committed for Mayhem—Sabbath Desecration Dismissed.

MONDAY, Nov. 26.

The police court room this morning was filled, as a number of cases of interest were to be heard. The first case called was the

DESECRATION OF THE SABBATH.

Mr. John Bell, Q. C., appeared on behalf of the G. T. R. in reference to the working of employees on Sunday. G. E. Henderson and the City Solicitor appeared for the prosecution. It was proved that the work performed was of necessity, whereupon the Magistrate dismissed the case.

SEDUCTION.

The case of Mary Champagne against Edward Laird, charging him with seduction, was laid over for one week. The prisoner was let out on the same bail accepted on Saturday.

STEALING BUGGY.

Joseph Johnston was brought up on remand, charged with the larceny of a buggy from Mr. Vickers. He was further remanded until Friday.

AGGRAVATED ASSAULT.

Frank Kerl was charged by W. D. Fuller with committing an assault. It appears the accused owed Mr. Fuller some money, and on Saturday last went to his office to pay him something on account. Fuller gave Kerl to accept 7 cts., when the latter picked up the money and receipt and proceeded to go out. Mr. Fuller laid hands on him, and prevented him from doing so. While thus engaged, Kerl seized Mr. Fuller's left thumb in his mouth and bit it. Fuller was compelled to strike him two or three times before he let go his hold. Mr. G. D. Dickson, Q.C., appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. G. E. Henderson, Q.C., for the defence. The latter put up for trial on the charge of mayhem, and was liberated on bail, himself in $400 and one surety in $200.

HORSE STEALING.

Henry Godfrey, found guilty of horse stealing, was brought up for sentence. The prisoner addressed the court and asked the Magistrate to be as lenient with him as possible. He had been led into the present circumstances while under the influence of liquor. The Magistrate then addressed the prisoner on the enormity of the crime he had committed, and in the hope that at the expiration of his term of imprisonment he would pursue a straightforward course. He then sentenced him to 2 years in the penitentiary.

CHICKEN THIEF.

Stephen Cummins, on this charge, appeared for sentence. The Magistrate dismissed him, but fined him $10 and costs or 30 days for having fowls in his possession for the purpose of fighting.

LARCENY.

James Hunter charged Alexander Wardhaugh with the larceny of a sum of money. The Magistrate will render judgment on Friday.

To Cure a Cold.

There is no lack of so-called cures for the common ailment known as corns. The vegetable, animal, and mineral kingdoms have been ransacked for cures. It is a simple matter to remove corns without pain, for if you will go to any druggist or medicine dealer and buy a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor and apply it as directed the thing is done. Get "Putnam's," and no other.

THERE IS NO ONE ARTICLE IN THE LINE of medicine that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters.

Winter Navigation.

Adventurous Voyages on the Bay of Quinte.

During the last three days, navigation on the Bay of Quinte has been of such a character as to afford a faint idea of what the whalers and explorers experience in the arctic and antarctic seas. The bay has been covered with ice from an inch to two inches thick, and the difficulty of forcing a way through new ice of such thickness can only be understood by those who have seen it done. It is necessary that vessels engaged in such work shall have their bows shod with iron, otherwise the planking would be cut through at the water line in an incredibly short space of time, and sink.

The steamer Verona, as was noted in Saturday's issue, forced a passage from Trenton with the schooners L. D. Bullock and Picton and a sloop in tow, the schooners being bound for Long Point with cargoes. Down the bay, after leaving her tow, the steamer picked up the schooner Persia and brought her to Ferry Point, where she is to load barley for the Grangers. The Mary Ethel had to assist in the latter part of the work.

The Hero, according to promise, started on her last trip on Saturday, but did not reach here until 10 a. m. on Sunday. Capt. Nicholson brought his boat to Deseronto on Saturday night, but, reports to the effect that he being unfavorable, he there until daylight. A strong north easter was blowing and the ice was drifting off the north shore, so the boat was steered as closely to the north land as there was water to float her, and, by taking advantage of every opening and passing between the wreck of the Minnie Hickely and the Ox Point, and between Snake Island and Point Ann, won her way to the city, after having covered, in her devious course, a distance of forty miles, or twice the distance in a straight line by the steamboat route. The freight was discharged, and the boat started at once on her return trip, which she made in safety.

The schooner D. Freeman, Capt. N. Allen, had an even more adventurous trip. With a part cargo of coal she entered the bay and with both anchors over the bows as ice breakers made good time before the humming north easter. So loud was the noise caused by the vessel passing through the ice that voices could not be heard on the decks, and finally the ice became so heavy that the schooner anchored be assured that her plank-ing would be cut through. On Sunday morning the Hero passed up and was asked for a tow, but declined, as the captain was not certain that his boat would reach here, even without the encumbrance of a heavy tow. As, however, the wind was fair, Capt. Allen, with the hardy spirit which distinguishes him, steered after the steamer and succeeded in keeping in her wake until Ox Point was reached, when being unable to follow her course between the Point and the wreck, he went outside through the strong ice and passing to the north of Snake Island, got up to the bar at the harbor's mouth, when the tug Bonar brought her to the Downey Company's elevator, little the worse of her extraordinary voyage up the bay.

The tug Bonar on Saturday released a schooner in Mosquito Bay and took her to Bay Island. She then took Mr. James Mullin's scow Hattie Ann, wood laden from Deseronto, in tow, and brought her to the railway wharf. The scow was badly cut by the ice and is leaking considerably.

Dangerous Counterfeits

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so than they usually closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head, has induced numerous parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. The Great Sculling Race.

CANADA ONCE MORE HOLDS THE CHAMPIONSHIP OF AMERICA.

O'Connor Easily Beats Teemer.

The single sculling race for the championship of America between Wm. O'Connor, of Toronto, and John Teemer, of Pittsburgport, Penn., was rowed on Saturday afternoon on the Potomac River at Washington, and resulted in an easy victory for the Toronto man, who came in ten lengths ahead of his rival. The weather was blustery and the time, 21m. 29¾s., was good, considering the state of the water, the wind being strong and the water lumpy. The Mail gives the following account of the race: At 4.25 the race was begun. O'Connor dashed away first, to the complete surprise of Teemer's friends, who were under the impression that he would get the best of the start. Teemer was not at all slow in getting off, but O'Connor's quickness had enabled him to take a decided lead of a quarter of a length before 25 yards had been rowed. As soon as the oarsmen had settled down it was seen that O'Connor was pulling a vigorous stroke of 36 while Teemer was pegging away at 38. One hundred and fifty yards from the start O'Connor had gained somewhat, though just exactly by what distance he was leading it was impossible to determine, as the referee's boat was still at the starting point, and remained there so long, unable to get in motion, that the se on board practically saw nothing of the contest till after the men had turned the buoys, and were met half way up the course on their way back. It was plainly evident, however, that O'Connor had increased his lead at a quarter mile to a length and a half, and that Teemer had run his stroke up to 40. Here Teemer looked over his shoulder to place his man, and this fact was declared by O'Connor's friends to be a sure indication that the champion was already beaten. Teemer's friends would not have it so. That way, arguing that he would finish as strong as when he started out.

As the oarsmen went further down the course both began to steer a ragged course and went over close to the Washington side of the river. They had now sculled over half a mile at a hitting pace, Teemer easily, but ineffectually, trying to cut down O'Connor's lead. Nearing the three-quarter mile O'Connor discovered his error in hugging the Washington side, and went towards the Virginia shore, seeing which Teemer did likewise. A strong current and an equally strong wind from the north were assisting the oarsmen on their journey to the turning buoy. So fast, in fact, were they going that O'Connor turned his buoy in 8:45, three open lengths in front of Teemer. This latter in turning struck the flag on his buoy, but was not retarded in his progress to any appreciable extent. As he headed his boat for the finish line O'Connor was joined by Lee, his trainer and jiggers. "You've got him easy, Bill," was the encouraging remark Lee made to his man. Teemer was plainly in difficulties after he got round his buoy, if he was not before. He seemed almost unable to keep his boat moving against the current and wind, and practically was out of the race. Hamm, his trainer, rowed alongside of him, but the champion had shot his head and was unable to respond for a final effort. O'Connor also found in the wind and current serious obstacles to a rapid progress homeward, but his long, strong, and steady stroke never fell and now reduced to 29, was slowly but surely carrying him in an easy winner. At the three quarters he was five lengths in front, and advantage he increased to ten lengths, and then to ten. As he went over the finish line he was given a grand reception, a noticeable feature of which was the waving of the Union Jack by the Potomac club's four-barred crew. O'Connor waited for Teemer to finish, and when the latter crossed the line called to him to come over and shake hands, which request Teemer completely ignored, rowing straight to his boathouse. O'Connor's time was 21m. 20s.

BABY'S SKIN AND SCALP
Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by CUTICURA REMEDIES.

Our oldest child, now six years of age, when an infant six months old was attacked with a terrible, malignant skin disease. All ordinary remedies failing, we called our family physician who attempted to cure it; but it spread with almost incredible rapidity, until the most portion of the little fellow's person, from the middle of his back down to his knees, was one solid rash, ugly, painful, loathsome and offensive. We had no rest at night or peace by day. Finally, we were advised to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES. The effect was simply marvellous. In three or four weeks a complete cure as wrought, leaving the little fellow's skin as smooth and clear as though he had never been attacked. In my opinion your valuable remedies saved his life, and to-day he is a strong, healthy child, perfectly well, no repetition of the disease having ever occurred. GEO. A. SMITH,

CLEAR SKIN, PURE BLOOD.

No mother, who loves her children, who takes pride in their beauty, purity, and health, and is endeavoring upon the world's greatest inheritance,—a skin without a blemish, and a body burning red by pure blood—should fail to make trial of the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

I have seen the CUTICURA REMEDIES used for milk crust by a visitor in my house, and can testify that the cure was speedy and permanent. I have also used them myself, for eruptions of the skin on my little child, with satisfactory results in every respect. The skin soon broken out and began to assume ugly proportions. I have also heard my neighbors speak of the CUTICURA REMEDIES in the highest terms. E. P. BEAR,

SHILOH'S CATARRH REMEDY—a positive cure for Catarrh, Diphtheria and Canker at

A Quarter of a Century

For more than twenty five years has Hagyard's Yellow Oil been sold by druggists, and it has never yet failed to give satisfaction as a household remedy for pain, lameness and soreness of the flesh, for external and internal use in all painful complaints.

FEVER AND AGUE AND BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS are positively cured by the use of Parmelee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, causing them to perform copious effusions from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

To lessen mortality and stop the inroads of disease, use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. For all diseases arising from Impure Blood, such as Pimples, Blotches, Biliousness, Indigestion, etc., etc., it has no equal. Mrs. Thomas Smith, Elora, writes: "I am using this medicine for Dyspepsia; I have tried many remedies, but this is the only one that has done me any good."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakens as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind. 348eowly

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat excites the blood, and causes the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when those are suddenly checked the consequence must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc, if attended to in time are easily subdued, but we need to run their own course, generally prove to be more or more danger ous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptive die date from taking the first neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. Oneof the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from vicied phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state of the mucous membrane.

Rest and Comfort to the Suffering.

"Brown's Household Panacea" has no equa for relieving pain, both internal and externa There is no Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, But Cramps, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache, It will most surely quickly and Permanently Heal, as its searching power is wonderful." "Brown's Household Panacea," being acknowledged as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family handy for use when wanted, "as it really is the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the Stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds, and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cts a bottle.

PRIDE AND PREJUDICE.

By Jane G. Austin.

Do you know the Chateaugay Woods—those vast tracts of sombre hemlock stretching for leagues over the Adirondack hills and vales, and yet within so few hours' travel from New York, that centre of all that is furthest from silent or primeval or innocent?

It was a bright September morning, and woods and sky and air, and the treacherous brook tumbling down the hill side toward the saw-mill at the foot, were all at their freshest and most charming. I see still the figure of the young girl who, mounted upon a fiery little Cuban horse, controlled him easily with one hand as she paused just in the edge of the woods on the brow of the hill, and contemplated the scene below with eager, sensuous delight.

A handsome creature she was, this young Sybarite, and harmonious with the scene in her intense vitality, freshness, and eager appreciation; tall and lissome, but with promise of more than usual physique in later life, with a satin smooth dusky skin, a rare rich crimson tinting the cheeks and burning on the lips, strong, wavy hair, not quite enough to make their frown significant, and great eyes just as bright and just as brown as the brook when it flashes out from among the hemlock roots into the sunshine; a figure modelled after the Greek, with masses of wavy hair drawn back from the low forehead, leaving the tiny ends exposed, and knotted at the nape of the neck in a great soft coil, on which the riding-hat, with its scarlet tanager's breast and wing, sat like a crown.

Half a mile down the steep white road, Murgatroyd checked her horse at the edge of the platform of a saw-mill. The whole interior was visible through the great double doors, making all one end of the building; several men were at work, and overlooking them a powerful young fellow, in loose blouse and blue trousers, up held by a broad leather belt, showing to perfection suce a figure as hemlock forests, mountains, and plenty of physical exercise alone can develop. He looked round at the sound of the pony's feet, and came slowly forward to greet his employer's daughter; for all those hills and vales and forests, the brook and the mill, belonged to Stephen Murgatroyd, who, partly from a love of nature, oddly surviving thirty years in Wall Street, partly as knowing that the master's eye is wholesome for any business, had built a sort of sylvan lodge here in the Chateaugay, whither he was found of resorting for a few days at a time, and whither Mary in those latter years had grown fond of accompanying him. And Leon Leduc, who was Canadian by name, Saxon by nature and looks, in the master's absence had charge of everything, and managed better than the master could for himself. When nobody else occupied the sylvan lodge, Leduc made it his home, and if Mr. Murgatroyd came up alone, the two kept house together with mutual satisfaction, the younger man generally giving the elder some new bit of intelligence out of the scientific or political works of the day, or commenting on the latest travels or newest whims of philosophy, with a careless ease, showing wide reading and a prodigious memory. But when Mary came, generally bringing one or two companions of her own world with her, Leon Leduc retired to one of the log cabins built for the mill hands, wood-choppers, log drivers, and other employes of the vast estate, where he delighted and, with no pretence or self-consciousness, instructed as large an audience as could get near him.

"Good morning, Mr. Leduc. I am going to rest in the shade a little while. I have ridden a long way," said Mary giving the rein to Leon, who held it firmly, and so that the rider's feet were within an inch of the platform, and did not offer any further help in dismounting, or even look to see how gracefully it was accomplished.

"You may let one of the men loosen Moro's girths, if you please, and take out the bit. Is freshens him up wonderfully."

Without reply the overseer preformed the suggested duty himself, Miss Murgatroyd crossing the platform and looking down at the brook flashing at the foot of the steep bank. Moro comfortably established, Leduc hesitated, glanced into the mill, glanced at the unconscious maiden, her shapely back turned square upon him, and reluctantly approached her.

"Will you go into the office and sit down, Miss Murgatroyd?"

"Nobody has such original ideas as you, Mr. Leduc. To fancy my desiring on this heavenly morning to shut myself up in that horrible, stuffy little office, to amuse myself with contemplating the inky desk and the backed ledger and cash-book! No; I intend getting down this bank and gathering those harebells at the bottom, or are they gentians?"

"Gentians, I believe. I shall be happy to gather them for you myself, if you will allow me. The bank is very steep and slippery, and the pool just here very deep."

The offer was courteous, the manner just what befitted a young man in woollen shirt and trousers, hard sun-burned neck, speaking to his employer's daughter. Why then did the girl's smile grow so cruelly proud as she replied:

"By no means, Mr. Leduc. I could not think of taking you from your duties. Pray don't let me interrupt you any longer."

A swarthy flush rose under the sunburn of the overseer's face, and with a silent bow he turned away, walked as far as the first sharp-toothed saw gnawing its way into the heart of the great hemlock bole, stood there a moment, then turned and strode back. Mary was half way down the bank, clinging to a shrub with one hand, and with the other reaching toward the gentians.

"My time belongs to Mr. Murgatroyd, as you suggest, Miss Murgatroyd," said a calm voice above her, "but I think it will be as faithfully spent in keeping you out of danger as in watching the saw. Please give me your hand and let me help you up the bank, and then I will get the flowers."

"By that sin fell the angels," and as they were falling one of them may have looked very like the face Mary Murgatroyd turned up toward the man kneeling on the edge of the bank and reaching down his hand to her, so proud, cruel, and repellent.

"Really, Mr. Leduc, I think you had better keep to the work papa set you at. He never likes people disregarding his orders."

(To be continued).

The Modus Operandi.

The mode of operating of Burdock Blood Bitters is that it acts at once and at the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and the Blood, to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in Chronic Complaints.

Hesitation means Loss.

If your hair is coming out or turning grey, or if you find dandruff in your hair do not hesitate about looking after it. Get some of Dr. Doren wend's "Hair Magic," use it as directed and you will find that it will give you the best of satisfaction. Take warning, do not wait till it is too late but try it at once. All druggists sell it.

CATARRH.

A New Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the interlining membrane of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes. The eminent scientists, Tyndall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular mode of treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made otherer then once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before an application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease.

So highly are these remedies valued that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy a parasite, of which they know nothing, by remedies, of the results of the application of which they have equal ignorance. Mr. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effect a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases.

Mr. Dixon sends a pamphlet describing his new treatment on the receipt of stamp to pay postage. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son, 303 King street west, Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Office hours, 7:30 a. m. to 8:30 p. m., Sundays excepted.

Cured By B. B. B When all Else Failed.

Mr. Samuel Allan, of Lisle, Ont., states that he tried all the doctors in his locality while suffering for years with Liver and Kidney trouble; nothing benefited him until he took Burdock Blood Bitters, four bottles cured him.

Give Them a Chance ?

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger airpassages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrah, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

Among the Indians.

"While my husband was trading in furs he came across an Indian who was taken to his lodge to die. He had inward pains and pains in all his limbs. He gave some Yellow Oil itternally and applied it externally, and cured him. It also cured my husband of rheumatism, and I find it valuable for coughs and colds, sore throat, etc." Mrs. A. Besaw, Cook's Mills, Serpant River, Ont.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Is very palatable and much better than the plain oil. Dr. W. H. Cameron, of Halifax, N. S., says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver oil with Hypophosphites for the past two years and found it more agreeable to the stomach, and have better results from its use than any other preparation of the kind I have ever tried." Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

Mrs. David Carstairs, Haldimand Township, met with a very pleasant surprise a few weeks ago. It seems Mrs. Carstairs has suffered a great deal from dyspepsia and indigestion, the symptoms of which were, pains in the stomach and bowels, and sick headache. She has tried a great many physicians, and an unlimited amount of patent medicines, but without any success; and but but not least, she tried Dowling's Pepsin Compound, and one bottle has removed both pain and ache. She returns the kindest regards to P. E. DOWLING, Cobourg.

THE WORK OF THE STORM

NEW ENGLAND'S COASTS STREWN WITH WRECKS.

A Nor'easter on the Atlantic—The Fated Crew of the Edward Norton—"On the Reef of Norman's Woe."

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—The schooner Mattie Eaton, hence for Port Spain, is ashore on Nantasket beach full of water. The schooner Aveion, St. John for New York, dragged ashore on Spectacle Island on Monday. She will probably float when the weather moderates. She experienced terrific weather in the bay. Nothing but the crew were washed overboard and lost. Their names were Charles Blackford, John Doucette and James Randall of Tiverton, N.S. The schooner Cox and Green from Philadelphia is ashore here and reported to have bilged. The schooner Bertha P. Walker from Philadelphia is ashore at Hull. Captain Westgate and the first mate were lost. The schooner Gertrude Abbott of Philadelphia is also ashore here.

At Danvers, Mass., the storm is the worst ever experienced at that time of the year. The wind blew a hurricane and the snow drifted to the height of trees and four feet. Horse cars were abandoned all along the line and religious meetings and public schools were abandoned last night.

At Portsmouth, N.H., the schooner Oliver Dyer of Saco went ashore at Joy's Point, Newcastle, yesterday morning. The crew took to the rigging and were rescued by the life-saving crew with the exception of the cook, who was drowned. The vessel will be a total loss. The schooner James H. Duguy of Bath is ashore at Newcastle, but will be gotten off. An unknown schooner is ashore on Clark's Island high and dry.

At Salem, Mass., reports of damage by the storm, which continues with unabated fury, continue to come in. The yacht Oneta went ashore at Orient Point, Mystic, badly stove. The schooner Richard Deeity of Sedgwick, Me., broke her moorings and drifted ashore at the Willows where she lies high and dry and will probably go to pieces.

At Gloucester, Mass., the British brig Lady of Lockport, N.S., whose crew left her anchor inside of Ten Pound Island, went adrift on Sunday and her crew abandoned her Sunday night and went aboard of the schooner J. and J. Locke of Barrington, N.S. The J. and J. Locke afterwards went adrift and the two crews abandoned her and went on board of another schooner, where they remained all night. Both the Alice and the Locke are supposed to be lost as they drifted to sea.

The beach in the neighborhood of Newman's Woe is strewn with wreckage, consisting of lumber, lath, barrels, etc. Several vessels that lay in the outer harbor are missing and it is supposed that they have drifted to sea. Several could be seen from Stage Fort with colors in the rigging signalling for tugs. The northeast storm still continues with unabated fury. The snow has changed to rain and the storm now is so thick that it is almost impossible to see more than 300 yards from the shore. The wires of all the telegraph companies are down and no communication by telegraph can be had with Boston or any of the adjoining towns. It is feared that great damage has been done to shipping along the coast. There have been numerous minor accidents in this harbor. The storm is of longer duration than any known here for years.

As far as can be learned here the names of those lost are as follows: Richard Morton are Captain Frank Curran and his son, 14 years old; Michael McDougall, Patrick Mullaley, Michael Curran, James Power, D. Lafferty, Lawrence Flaherty, John Hornish, Lawrence Bennett (colored), Archie Campbell. There were probably four or five others on board, supposed to be from Scotland, whose names could not be ascertained. Lawrence Allen, one of the crew, is the only survivor. He is now at the hospital and his statement was received by reporter in person this morning to the owners.

There May be Worse News to Come.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—This city and the surrounding neighborhood are still suffering under the storm which raged over almost the entire country Sunday and more especially Sunday night. Until noon it was driving and sleeting in New York, and not going about was most disagreeable. The force of the storm was shown by the number of broken telegraph and telephone wires seen everywhere, and by the damage reported along the river front. Telegraph and telephone communication with a great number of other places were cut off and telegrams were only received subject to indefinite delay. But according to Sergeant Dunn, the officer in charge of the signal service bureau in this city, the worst effects of the storm may not yet have been reported. He said: "The storm is a very destructive and extensive one. It is now clearing off, the storm centre having passed us in a northeasterly direction, following the course of the Hudson river line. Steamers coming from Europe—those which left the latter part of last week—will encounter it in its full strength. The captains have been duly warned by this bureau from Washington via Paris and London of the storm and its direction and were therefore governed in time to change their course. The area of the trouble has been a very extensive one, covering the entire coast from Florida to Nova Scotia."

Drives From Their Homes.

ATLANTIC, N. J., Nov. 27.—The terrific storm which began Sunday continued all through the night with increasing fury and is still raging and spreading destruction from end to end of the ocean boulevard. Houses, pavilions and cottages have broken to pieces. Should the gale continue it is predicted that to-night's tide will complete the wreck of more cottages along the ocean front. Many of the owners of the properties destroyed are non-residents and in the confusion and excitement of the hour an accurate estimate of the losses cannot be made, but they will be very heavy.

There have been many narrow escapes from drowning but so far no fatalities have been reported lost. Residents along the greater part of Baltic avenue were compelled to use boats to get away from their flooded houses and many distressing scenes were witnessed during the night as the poor, badly frightened and in many cases scantily clad inhabitants, mostly colored people, sought safety and shelter from the rising water and the blinding hail and howling wind.

Manhattan Beach Disasters.

MANHATTAN BEACH, Nov. 27.—About 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon the pavilion, which runs along the whole front of the Manhattan Beach Company's property about 750 feet, was thrown upon the sand and destroyed from one end to the other. Immediately afterwards the depot at the west end of the marine railway was swept on to sea bodily and in a few minutes more fully one-third of the track of the road was carried away. The Brighton pavilion was partially carried away and it is feared the rest of the building and what is left of the marine railway and the east end depot will go at the next high tide if the storm continues.

TORONTO TOPICS.

A Gambling House Keeper Fined—Poor Lilly Charlton—A Crook in Quod.

TORONTO, Nov. 27.—Charles W. Chesson, the young man who keeps the house No. 21 Mercer-street, where young Payne of Illinois lost $140 at poker, surrendered to the police yesterday, and upon pleading guilty to a charge of keeping a gambling house was fined $50 and costs or thirty days' imprisonment.

A cripple giving his name as William Brennan was arrested yesterday on a charge of vagrancy. It is thought that his real name is Lownsborough, that in 1873 he was tried with a man named Francis Smith on a charge of having killed one Currie, on which he was acquitted; that a year or so afterwards he was sent to penitentiary for robbery, and that after serving three months he escaped and fled to the States, where he lost a leg while railroading.

The case against Herbert E. Simpson, photographer, charged with illegally using Mrs. Pierce's gun, was dismissed by the Police Magistrate yesterday, the evidence failing to support a criminal charge.

The young girl Lilly Charlton, on whom there was an abortion performed, is still lying at the point of death at her widowed mother's home, No. 85 Sackville-street, and although apparently not suffering as much as she did Sunday night she is evidently weaker and steadily growing worse. Dr. Wright was to-day in the jail to put in an appearance at the Police Court yesterday and the other prisoner charged with the crime, young Lily Williams, was remanded until Dec. 3, bail being refused. Druggist John O. Wood, who is wanted in connection with the case, cannot be found.

Draughtsman McMinn of the Waterworks Department has resigned.

On Saturday a man named John Crocker was arrested at Port Credit on a charge of having stolen a horse and buggy from Wm. Stock of this city. When the prisoner was brought before the magistrate yesterday his counsel got him remanded to jail for a week to sober up. It appears that the young man is highly connected, and was sent from New York to this city to be treated for dipsomania. He, however got drunk, became delirious, and while in this condition jumped into Mr. Stock's rig and drove away to escape from the devils that were pursuing him.

The firm of Lowden, Paton & Co., wholesale druggists, is on the point of dissolution and liquidation and consequent career will be closed. John Paton was taken into the firm about fourteen months ago and has sunk $20,000 in the concern. He has instructed his solicitor to take proceedings against Mr. Lowden for obtaining money under false pretences, claiming that misrepresentations were made to him when he entered the partnership.

Fred. A. Clarry of Parkdale, whose possessions for selling tickets in his lottery, called Clarry's Grand Villa Sweepstakes, is still fresh in the public mind, was arrested yesterday, charged with running a lottery.

Mid Winter in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Nov. 27.—Sunday and yesterday a characteristic November wind and snowstorm has prevailed at Montreal. The wind began from the northeast and attained a maximum velocity of 46 miles per hour. Snow began falling late in the evening and continued falling until about 9 o'clock yesterday morning, when it was blowing at a mile a minute steady, with a few gusts as high as 72 miles per hour. The snow piled up in great drifts and the streets had a mid-winter look, sleighs making their appearance pretty generally, though the windswept many places bare.

TRADE AND TRAFFIC.

Leading Features of the Grain and Produce Markets at Home and Abroad.

TORONTO, Nov. 27.—St. Lawrence Market was flat yesterday morning. The supply was small and the demand nil.

The receipts of hay and straw were small and the demand was poor. Hay sold at $20 to $25 and straw at $14 to $15.

The street grain market was active. Receipts of wheat were small and the demand fair; 400 bushels were offered and sold at 90c for fall, spring and red, and 87 and 88 cents for goose. The supply of barley was fair, but the demand was not large, and the price came down a little; 5000 bushels were offered and sold at 62 to 67 cents. The price of oats was a little easier, 200 bushels selling at 38 and 39 cents.

On the Call Board $1.25 was bid for No. 1 Manitoba hard wheat, with sellers offering at $1.25 to arrive. No transactions were made.

Eggs are 25c per dozen. Tub butter is 15c to 23c and rolls 22c to 27c.

THE CHEESE MARKETS.

The Utica market yesterday was not very active for cheese, but a fair trade was closed out altogether while others were left to be finished up next week. The usual number of large buyers were still making skim cheese and will probably continue until into December some time, but next Monday will finish up the market days for this season. Factorymen are congratulating themselves on the successful ending of the season and the fine prices they are getting for late ends. Following is a list of sales: 1019 boxes at 10c., 366 boxes at 10½c., 130 boxes at 10¾c., 608 at 10¾c., 113 boxes at 10⅞c., 410 boxes at 10¾c., 625 boxes at commission.

At Fulton 2500 boxes of cheese were sold at 10c. and 11c.

Drowned on Her Way to Church.

ORILLIA, Nov. 27.—On Sunday while Wm. McPhee was drawing Miss Kate Rook to church on a hand sleigh the ice gave way precipitating both into the lake. McPhee was rescued in an exhausted condition but Miss Rook was drowned. Her body was found during the night.

Sealforth Votes Against a Bonus.

SEAFORTH, Nov. 27.—The bonus of $2500 to assist Thomas Hendry in building his foundry which was destroyed by fire here last summer, was voted upon yesterday and defeated by a majority of nine.

Caribou Election.

OTTAWA, Nov. 27.—A despatch from Victoria says Barnard is elected for Cariboo by fifteen majority.

Valuable to Know.

Consumption may be more easily prevented than cured. The irritating and harassing cough will be greatly relieved by the use of Haggard's Pectoral Balsam! that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

A Rare Combination.

There is no other remedy or combination of medicines that meets so many requirements, as does Burdock Blood Bitters in its wide range of power over such Chronic diseases as Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Complaint, Scrofula and all humors of the blood.

There are a number of varieties of corns. Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them. Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

Orin Catlin, 49 Pearl Street Buffalo, N. Y., says: I tried various remedies for the piles but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications.

MRS. GEORGE LEACH, Hadimand Township, has received more benefit from two bottles of Dowling's Fermenti Compound, than anything she has ever taken in her life. She has been troubled with Biliousness, loss of appetite and constipation for years. Now she is free of these troubles. People write to her and see how she will recommend you to take Dowling's Pepsin Compound if you are Dyspeptic.

The cheapest medicine in use is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, because so very little of it is required to effect a cure. For croup, diphtheria, and diseases of the lungs and throat, whether used for lathing the chest or throat, for taking internally or inhaling, it is a matchless compound.

What does Dowling's Pepsin Compound cure? Dyspepsia and Indigestion. What are the symptoms? Biliousness, constipation, lack of energy, drowsiness, headache, pain in the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, depression of spirits. Ask your druggist for it.

Dowling's Little Liver Granules are highly recommended for all diseases of the liver.

Mr. Thomas Holland, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I have been afflicted for nearly a year with that most-to-be dreaded diseases Dyspepsia, and at times worn out with pain and want of sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended I tried one box of Parmelee's Valuable Pills. I am now ready to say well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money."

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact it is this that is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body." Mr. D. Cornwell, Carswell P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

Of all the dyspeptic remedies ever placed in the market, Dowling's Pepsin Compound takes the lead. Why? Because it acts naturally on the digestive organs of the stomach, and not mechanically, like the other patent medicines. Besides, it helps to assimilate and digest all the foods that enter the stomach. Ask your druggist for a bottle.

Belleville ites follow the example of Mrs. Geo. Leech, of Haldimand, and many others, and rid themselves of that dire disease, dyspepsia and indigestion.

The Dangerous Coal Oil.
MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—The explosion of poorly refined coal oil is the cause of another accident al burning. A little girl named Beauchamp living on Mance street, while helping her mother in domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while resting on the table. Her burning clothing was only torn from her with much difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quickly promoned and the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined Oil a considerable quantity of inferior Coal Oil is being sold.
In order to avoid these low grades we have taken the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil:
'CARBON SAFETY OIL'
A specially refined and superior grade of Canadian Oil,
ASTRAL OIL,
A high grade American Oil.
These we can most confidently recommend to our retail trade as goods that will give entire satisfaction.
We are also fully supplied with Water White and Prime White American Oil and the usual brands of Canadian Oil.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may truthfully be said that their action upon the system is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative influence. Sold by druggists, 25 cents a vial, manufactured at the Chemical Laboratory of WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

SICK HEADACHE, Bilious Headache, Dizziness, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the stomach and bowels, are promptly relieved and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets.

$500 REWARD is offered by the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for a case of Chronic Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a nasal twang; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians.

By its mild, soothing and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "cold in the head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache.

Sold by druggists everywhere; 50 cents.

"Untold Agony from Catarrh."

Prof. W. HANSEN, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sunset, my voice would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."

THOMAS J. RESHING, Esq., 2303 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last six months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure remedy for catarrh now manufactured, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

Three Bottles Cure Catarrh.

ELI ROMANES, Bungay P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says: "My daughter had catarrh when she was five years old, very badly. I saw Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy advertised, and it cured a bottle for her, and soon saw that it helped her; a third bottle effected a permanent cure. She is now eighteen years old and sound and hearty."

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, NOV. 28

AS TO "RESTRICTION."

It has been shown beyond question that the prices of farmers' produce are higher in Canada than in the United States.

Is there any article which the Canadian farmer produces that he cannot sell readily at market prices?

There is but one sort of grain that is "a drug in the market," and that is barley.

Our barley is grown chiefly for the United States market.

Again, the Concord (New Hampshire) Patriot of November 15th says:

Farmers in Chester are offered 65 cents a barrel for apples, while the barrel, picking, putting up, and drawing to the station costs 60 cents.

And yet we have people amongst us who cry out, on behalf of our farmers and fruit growers, that our market is not open to the producers and manufacturers of the United States and theirs to us.

Likewise, these parties blame the Canadian Government because there is not reciprocity in natural products, despite the facts that the United States put an end to reciprocity and imposed high duties on Canadian products, and Canada did not retaliate until after the expiration of twelve years, and then and continually since has offered reciprocity in natural products.

Similarly, they call the policy of our Government "restriction" and at the same time propose to annex Canada commercially to the United States, by entering into a compact of free trade with that country and adopting its prohibitary tariff, thus shutting out of our market the trade of the world.

Such is the foundation for the cry of "restriction."

A FRIENDLY DIG.

Truth, as all know, is often spoken in jest. The Hon. Edward Blake told, by way of a somewhat sarcastic jest, a very plain truth to Mr. Mowat on Friday last. In his closing argument on the great railway case, in which he and Mr. Mowat were the leading counsel on opposite sides, Mr. Blake said:

His learned friend had been accustomed to wearing a little crown in his own province for so long that evidently he had got the idea into his head that no legislation could be passed affecting him unless it specially mentioned him by name.

This is no joke. It is the truth, varnished with sarcastic humor, and Mr. Mowat will be wise to act upon the hint thus conveyed. If a Conservative had said such a thing how vehemently the Grit press would have denied the allegaton. As it came from Mr. Blake, however, the "deeps are dumb."

A FALSE CALCULATION.

It appears these are still fifty four electors in East Northumberland who are not sufficiently educated in political economy to understand the value and importance of unrestricted reciprocity with the United States, for while at the late election there were 53. "They are learning" that unrestricted reciprocity has no advantage for the people of Canada, and that it is an impossibility.

A LEAN AND SLIPPERED PANTALOON.

Imagine poor Sol. White being shot in his tracks by "Yen Blose" from the north of Ireland. Despite Yen in India, and battalions of the native "Corn stalks" from Australia, to say nothing of that old "muskrat" Sir John spoke of having—Montreal Herald.

The poor old Herald must be verging on its second childhood; its memory is clearly failing. It was Sir. Laurier, the leader of the Herald's party, who "spoke of having" a musket to shoot down the Canadian Volunteers with, and not "Sir John."

ON THE STOOL OF REPENTANCE.

The Ontario in an editorial propounds the conundrum :—"Are we not reaching for a higher level in political morals?" The general opinion is that the Ontario could find a first-class opening in that direction. If it is "reaching," so far as we can judge it has not yet got very far; but we are glad to hear that it is still reaching. "While the lamp holds out to burn, &c."

The Bye-Elections.

(Halifax Herald.)

The election in East Northumberland yesterday is the 36th bye election since the general election of February 1887. It is also the 5th Government victory. The following is the record, which though somewhat familiar to our readers, some of our Grit friends may not before have had the pleasure of pursuing:

Won by Government majorities	36
Won by Government candidates	23
Won by Grit candidates	8
Grit seats won by Government	5
Government seats won by Grits	0

The following shows the details :

Won by Government.	Won by Grits.
East Bruce.	West Bruce
Carleton	Kent
Charlevoix	L'Assomption
Colchester (twice)	Missisquoi
Cumberland (twice)	Prince Edward
Digby	Russell
Haldimand	Yarmouth
Halton (1)	Halton (1)
South Lanark
West Middlesex
Nicolet
East Northumberland (twice)
Pictou
Queens, N. B.
South Renfrew
Restigouche
Osborne (twice)
Victoria, B. C.
Victoria, N. S.
South Victoria
East Assiniboia
Cardwell
Dorchester, (Independent Nationalist)
Montreal East, (Independent Labor)

Those counties the names of which are printed in italics, are those lost by the Grits. They are counties which the Grits carried in February, 1887, on Blake's Manifesto platform, and have lost since on the Wiman Cartwright programme. They preeminently represent the great industries,—barley-raising, lumbering, shipping and fishing—that the Grits declared above about all others to be especially blessed by free access "to the markets of 60 millions of people right at our doors." Their refusal to remain in the Grit column in support of the Wiman fad, largely accounts for the awful silence that has of late been observed organs and orators on that once "overshadowing issue."

Gritism appears to be about played out. "The people" are showing that they can not "be made to believe anything."

An Unhappy Home.

"I wish my wife would get well or—something," said a husband who had been sorely tried with an invalid wife. It seems a hopeless case when a man can tell the discomforts of a home where the wife is always sick. Poor food, crying children! No wonder the man grows desperate. But if he would get Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the wife, he would find that the sunshine would return to his home. "Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," nervous prostration, "bearing-down" sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in the ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

Lost in the Woods.

A Young Man's Sufferings from Cold and Exposure.

(From our Faraday Correspondent.)

On Thursday, the 15th of November, a young man named Walter Clarke (who came out from the old country a year or two ago), started from Mr. E. Jeffrey's, in the Vankleek settlement, Faraday, with the intention of going through the woods to the residence of Mr. F. J. Barber, about a mile off, and then by the road to L'Amable. He went, but nothing was heard of him for the next three days, and parties tried to trace him up, but without success. To fully realize his situation, it must be understood that the centre of the Township of Faraday is a blank, for, the Coe mining company having purchased 11,000 acres of land here, there is neither a house or a road for many miles. On leaving Jeffrey's, Mr. Clarke travelled too far to the west, missed F. Barker's, and became lost. He travelled a great many miles that day, in all directions, till nightfall. It rained heavily, and he got under a rock for shelter, but got thoroughly wet through and cold. To add to his misery, he had no matches wherewith to make a fire.

He started early next morning, and late in the day, after a fearful tramp, succeeded in striking Johnston's lumber shanty, at the south west end of Faraday, about 7 miles in a bee line from where he started, and where he arrived thoroughly exhausted. Here he stopped all night, and returned next day by the Page Road and Hastings Road to the Vankleek settlement, where he arrived on Saturday evening after a three days' tramp.

—A gentleman going to Texas asked a friend for a letter of introduction. The friend opened a drawer, took out a large and handsome spring-bladed dagger knife and a six-chambered revolver, and gave them to him.

—The little boy had come in with his clothes torn, his hair full of dust, and his face bearing unmistakable marks of a severe conflict. "O, Willie, Willie," exclaimed his mother, deeply shocked and grieved, "you have disobeyed me again. How often I have told you not to play with that wicked Stapleford boy." "Mamma," said Willie, "do I look as if I had been playing with anybody?"

IF SICK HEADACHE IS MISERY, what are Carter's Little Liver Pills if they will positively cure it? People who have used them speak frankly of their worth. They are small and easy to take.

PROVINCIAL BOUNDARIES.

THE NORTHERN LIMITS OF ONTARIO AND QUEBEC.

Arrangements in Progress for a Meeting to Adjust the Question—The St. Lawrence Telegraph System.

OTTAWA, Nov. 27.—When the Premiers and Auditors of Ontario and Quebec were here some time ago for the purpose of endeavoring to settle the outstanding debts between these provinces and the Dominion it was mentioned in this correspondence that Mr. Mercier had an interview with Sir John with a view to arranging for something for the purpose of trying to agree on the northern boundaries of Ontario and Quebec. It is now understood that arrangements for such a meeting are in progress and it is expected to take place shortly.

The Minister of Justice has three cases of capital punishment under consideration just now.

Surveys of Lakes Winnipeg, Manitoba, and Winnipegosis were made by the Interior Department last year and charts will be issued as soon as further data regarding adjacent land, etc., are obtained.

In the Exchequer Court yesterday morning the case of Clark and Barber v. the Queen was called and by the consent of the parties interested the hearing was adjourned sine die. It will be remembered that this was a private scheme of the late Senator Fortin and at his instance the Government has built about 300 miles of the line, from Bale St. Paul to a point beyond the Moisic River. It will require 400 miles more, a portion of which will have to be cable to reach Fraserville.

A petition containing over 3300 signatures has been received by the Department of Inland Revenue praying for the repeal of the Scott Act in the County of Victoria, Ont.

It is expected that the water will be let out of the Dominion canals about next Saturday.

Hon. J. A. Chapleau is reported somewhat better, but is very unwell.

Hon. G. E. Foster returned yesterday from his trip to New Brunswick to be present at the death-bed of Sir Leonard.

C. H. McIntosh returned to the city yesterday from a two weeks' trip to Wiunipeg.

Parliament to Meet Jan. 24 or 31.

OTTAWA, Nov. 27.—Parliament will meet for the despate of business on either Jan. 24 or 31. The matter was informally discussed by the Cabinet yesterday and a definite decision will be arrived at in a few days.

Kingston Jottings.

KINGSTON, Nov. 27.—Half a dozen American deserters came to Kingston from Sackett's Harbor last week.

Recently Mrs. White, wife of Rev. Mr. White, of Amherst Island, came near being choked with a piece of meat. When her husband reached home he found her prostrated, and with difficulty her life was saved.

The Government has purchased Dr. Horsey's residence on King street for the commandant of the R.M.C. at $12,300.

A thief entered John Robertson's store at Harrington and stole $100 worth of goods. It is thought the burglar is an Indian recently liberated from the penitentiary. He carries a shotgun which he would use before being captured. He is now at large in the woods.

Harry and Alexander Cartwright, sons of Sir Richard, went shooting on Saturday, and, as they were to have returned on Sunday and a terrible gale blew Sunday night, it is feared that they have met with an accident. Sir Richard went to Wolfe Island yesterday in search of his two sons. Harry is employed in the B.N.A. Bank and Alexander is here from Toronto on a visit.

About 200 citizens took an excursion over the N. and T. yesterday to see the line which Kingstonians are asked to bonus for extension to this city.

Hamilton News.

HAMILTON, Nov. 27.—The store of Joseph Mills & Son, hatters and furriers, on James street, was entered Sunday night by burglars, who effected an entrance from the rear of the premises. Fifteen Persian lamb caps and about $10 in cash—in all amounting to about $150—were carried off by the thieves. From the fact that they were undisturbed, and that the store is stocked with expensive fur garments, it is surprising that a larger haul was not made.

About $5.9 worth of cocohnuts and prepared cocoanut was stolen Sunday night from the warehouse of James Simpson & Co., 38 McNab-street north.

At the Police Court yesterday morning some daylight was let in on the manner in which some husbands respect their marital vows. Leonard Jordan, a laborer, was charged with aggravated assault against Clayton Forsyth, told the court that the latter's wife decoyed him to go to a certain house of ill-fame and bring her husband home. When Jordan got into the mansion where Forsyth was revelling and broached the object of his mission, the latter, who was standing on the stairway, kicked complainant in the ear. The magistrate, out of consideration for his wife, allowed prisoner to go with a fine of $10 and some good advice for future use.

Rejoicing in Windsor.

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 27.—There is great rejoicing in Windsor over the decision of the Canadian Pacific to build a road from London, and property in the west end has taken a jump. From the conversation of Mr. Jennings, mechanical superintendent, with the town officials it is thought operations will be commenced here immediately, and that by the end of 1889 the road will be in running order. The question of giving a bonus if the road locates its division shops at Windsor is discussed. Citizens will submit a bylaw to the taxpayers on Thursday, asking for a bonus of $40,000 to the road.

New Brunswick Notes.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Nov. 27.—The snow which fell to a depth of 4 or 5 inches in Southern New Brunswick has already about disappeared by reason of the heavy rainstorm which followed. The wind blew a gale all Sunday night and part of yesterday and bad news from sea is expected. The scarcity of tonnage continues. Coasting freights are higher for nearer points than they have been for some years.

Word from the lumber districts indicates that the winter's cutting will be commenced on a scale much larger than usual. Wages to axemen on the north shore are reported twenty five per cent. higher than last year.

Mayor Thorne will be a candidate for a third term.

Convict Roberts, who escaped from Dorchester Penitentiary, has been captured.

The Quebec Boodle Enquiry.

QUEBEC, Nov. 27.—In the boodle enquiry yesterday a number of witnesses were examined, amongst others Mr. Landry, ex-M.P., who deposed that when he was contributing the articles to The Nouvelliste charging the mayor and councillors with illegally receiving money in connection with the waterworks contract, they had offered Mr. Langelier to publish any reply he had to make in their columns, and he never took advantage of such offer.

A Daring Attempt.

MONTREAL, Nov. 27.—A young man went into Grant's jewelry store on Beaver Hall hill last evening. Asking to see some diamonds he was shown about $1400 worth. He at once snatched the plate of jewels and skipped. Grant followed him and fired three shots, but did not hit him. The thief dropped the diamonds, which were recovered, but escaped himself.

THE FISHERIES QUESTION.

MR. GOURLEY RECEIVES A CURT REPLY IN THE HOUSE.

The Debate on the Land Purchase Bill Resumed—Another Amendment Proposed by Mr. Parnell—Rejected.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—In the House of Commons last night E. T. Gourley (Lib.) asked if the correspondence on the American fisheries question was to be produced; whether it was the intention of the Government to negotiate for a new Commission, and whether in the meantime, owing to the divergence of legal opinion relative to the treaty of 1818, it was intended to suspend the enforcement of these provisions.

Sir James Ferguson, Parliamentary Secretary for the Foreign Office, curtly replied: "The Government will not publish any papers nor make any statement on the subject at present. A modus vivendi is in operation."

W. H. Smith, the Government leader, replying to a question intimated that the Government under the present circumstances was unable to make any statement regarding the appointment of a minister at Washington.

Mr. Stanhope, the War Secretary, announced that British troops would be sent to Suskim if the naval authorities required support in driving the rebels inland.

The House then went into committee and the debate on the Land Purchase Bill was resumed.

Mr. Parnell proposed an amendment to the effect that no money be advanced for the purpose of more than one holding, if such holding were rated at not less than £20 yearly. He urged that the adoption of his proposal was necessary in order to provide for a useful distribution of this parliamentary grant. The sum ought to be husbanded and used as far as possible to establish a genuine peasant proprietary.

Mr. Balfour replied to Mr. Parnell. This was his first appearance in the House since his sickness and when he rose to speak he was loudly cheered. He contended that Mr. Parnell's amendment if adopted would interfere with the smooth working of the plan of action. The men who had various holdings were as a rule the flower of the tenantry, they were thrifty, energetic farmers who saved money for the purpose of land investment. It would be unwise to exclude these men from the benefits of the act. Besides it was a great convenience to both the landlords and the tenants when an estate was sold as a whole.

Mr. Sexton contended that unless the amendment was accepted a new class of small landlords would be created, giving trouble in the future.

At this point David Sheehy, member for South Galway, a Nationalist, stopped the debate, appealing to the chairman on a question of privilege. He stated that he was leaving the House when an attendant handed him what appeared to be an ordinary visitor's card. Upon going into the lobby a constable from Ireland served him with a summons under the Coercion Act. He moved to report the case in order to give the House an opportunity to discuss this audacious breach of privilege.

Mr. Balfour deplored the incident and did not know under what authority it had happened. He entirely disapproved of such measures occurring within the precincts of the House. ("Hear! Hear!")

Sir William Harcourt held the Government responsible for the instructions which had been given the constable serving the summons. The dignity of the House was affronted by it and an inquiry was therefore necessary.

Mr. Balfour disclaimed responsibility for the act and stated that he would give an emphatic pledge that so far as the Irish Executive was concerned the incident would not occur again.

John Morley proposed that a committee be appointed to enquire into the circumstances of the incident. Mr. Smith consented and a committee was appointed including Sir William Harcourt, Mr. Morley, Sir Charles Russell, Mr. Parnell, Mr. Timothy Healy, Home Secretary Matthews, Mr. Goschen, Mr. Madden, Sir Edward Clark and Sir Walter Ridley.

A vote was then taken on Mr. Parnell's amendment and it was lost, 134 to 111.

A Warrant Issued for Mr. Harrington.

DUBLIN, Nov. 27.—Edward Harrington, M.P., failed to appear in court yesterday in answer to a summons charging him with inciting tenants to adopt the plan of campaign through his paper, The Kerry Sentinel. His counsel applied for a postponement of the case in order that Mr. Harrington could attend the meeting of the Parnell Commission in London. The magistrate refused to grant the application because the inciting continued. A warrant has been issued for Harrington's arrest.

Six Summons for Mr. Finucane.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Six summons were served upon Mr. Finucane, M. P., last evening as he was entering the House of Commons. Detectives were waiting to serve summons on other Irish members, who are to be prosecuted for intimidating farmers who have taken holdings from which tenants have been evicted.

M. WILSON REAPPEARS.

The Deputies Adjourn as an Expression of Their Sentiments.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—M. Wilson, son-in-law of Vice-President Grevy, appeared yesterday in the Chamber of Deputies for the first time since his trial. After the transaction of some formal business M. Messeron, alluding to the presence of M. Wilson, proposed to suspend the sitting for one hour, stating that the Chamber of Deputies would understand the reason.

M. d'Ornano, a Bonapartist, thought the Chamber ought to adjourn altogether.

M. Mesureur's motion was approved by a vote of 335 to 30.

On resuming its sitting M. Millerand moved that the Chamber having given sufficient indication of its sentiments, return to the order of the day.

M. Wilson thereupon left the Chamber accompanied by M. Andrieux.

A Chinaman Beaten and Robbed.

MONTREAL, Nov. 27.—A brutal assault was made last evening upon a Chinaman named Sang Wah, who keeps a laundry at 328 St. Lawrence Main-street. About 5 o'clock two men entered the place, and while one of the ruffians set to work to beat the proprietor, the other rifled the till, and after securing $50 the scoundrels made off, leaving Sang Wah in almost a dying condition. No arrests have yet been made, and the life of the injured man is despaired of.

Not Permitted to Land.

The ice on the Red River is covered with water owing to the warm weather.

A lumberman on Lake Winnipeg is said to have decamped.

Arthur Reid's Suicide.

MONTREAL, Nov. 27.—Although the inquest on the body of Arthur E. Noel Reid took place, nothing of importance was elicited apart from the fact that the young man had run up a bill for $240 at the Windsor hotel, and when being asked to settle the same the other day he told Mr. Sweet that as soon as he got a draft on Calgary cashed the bill would be paid. It appears, too, that a letter received here with a draft for £200 sterling from his mother, Mrs. Roberts, a great deal has been said about the suicide being brought about because the victim had been rejected by a lady member of Lydia Thompson's theatrical company, but this seems to have been greatly exaggerated. The jury declared that the deceased had committed suicide while in a state of temporary mental aberration.

Officers and Arrests.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—On the way to his hotel from the banquet of the Patriotic League on Sunday Gen. Boulanger was continuously cheered. Police lined the route and made 40 arrests. Most of the prisoners were subsequently released.

Australia and Canada.

Now where are we seeking closer trade relations with Australia anything with regard to our cousins of the antipodes is of special interest. We don't remember our citizens ever having a lecture on Australia ; to-night, however, the Rev. D. V. Lucas, M. A., who spent nearly a year there, is to lecture on "Some queer things in Australia," in the City Hall.

Christ Church Young People's Association.

A regular meeting of the above association took place in the hall on John street with a large audience. The chair was taken at 8 o'clock by 1st Vice-Pres. Miss Diamond, Miss Boyle secretary. The meeting was opened by prayer by Rev. Mr. Daw. The programme for the evening opened by a song from Mrs. Skinner, followed by a vocal duet by Mr. and Mrs. Daw. This was followed by an original duet by Messrs. Greatrix and Hamilton. A debate for next Tuesday evening is, resolved "That the pen is mightier than the sword." The meeting then closed by singing the doxology.

Personal.

Dr. W. L. Bullis, of Allerton, Iowa, is in the city visiting relatives.

Judge Lazier is still confined to his house. He is improving slowly but suffers considerably.

Mrs. Angus McKeown, who has been visiting at her father's, Mr. Wm. Kingston's in Rawdon township, and also with her friends in Belleville for the past three months, left this morning for her home in Victoria B. C. Mrs. McKeown came here in August last from Victoria in rather delicate health, but three months of our autumn breezes have wrought a great change in her appearance and we are glad to know that she goes back home much stronger and looking much better than when she came.

Mr. Nathan Frost, of this city, will on Thursday leave for Vancouver, where he has been engaged as book keeper for Mr. Wm. Templeton, who is doing a prosperous business there.

Sergt. Downs, of the police force, is confined to his house with an attack of rheumatism.

There is no lack of so-called cures for the common ailment known as corns. The vegetable, animal, and mineral kingdoms have been ransacked for cures. A Runaway.

A horse attached to a buggy, which was left standing on Pinnacle street yesterday afternoon, near the residence of Dr. Gibson, became frightened at a passing engine and ran away. The animal was captured near the market after being considerable damage to the harness.

A Painful Accident.

Job Davis, who is employed by Mr. T. S. Carman, was the victim yesterday afternoon of a painful accident. He was engaged in getting into a rig at the lower end of Front street, when a little boy who was also in the rig hit the horse with the whip, which caused it to start and Davis was thrown to the ground. His left shoulder was dislocated and a bone at the elbow broken. Dr. Tracy reduced the fracture.

China Inland Mission.

Great Interest Awakened in the Cause.

The Rev. Robt. Wallace has just returned from Toronto, where he went to attend the first meeting of the International Auxiliary Council of the China Inland Mission. In showing the deep and wide spread interest which has been awakened by Mr. Taylor's visit, the Council had no fewer than 61 candidates for work in China before them—young men and women from different parts of Canada and the U. States. Mr. Wallace brought back a beautiful photograph of the group of 14 who accompanied Mr. Taylor ; also a large one of Mr. Taylor, quite a work of art. The other members of the Council, besides Mr. Wallace, are : Mr. S. H. Blake, Dr. Parsons, W. Gooderham, Elias Rogers, J. D. Nasmith, W. Frost, from Attica, N. Y.; Mr. Helmer, Lockport, N. Y.; Mr. Cavers and Mr. Savage, Hamilton, and Alfred Sandham, Secretary.

Social and Literary.

The weather was unfavorable last night for pedestrianism, but it did not prevent a large number of old and young people attending the first regular meeting of the St. Thomas' church Social and Literary Society. The comfortable Sunday School room was well filled, and an interesting programme successfully carried out. Rev. J. W. Burke occupied the chair. There was instrumental music by Miss M. Corbett and Miss A. Lingham, and several excellent contributions by Mrs. Campbell, who presided with her usual grace and ability. Vocal selections were given by Miss Benjamin and Mr. Marshall, both of whom received an encore. Prof. Greene created amusement with one of his humorous performances, Mr. Ashley acting as interpreter, and the Rev. Mr. Farrar gave an interesting reading. The principal feature of the entertainment was a spirited debate on the bridge question. The project was ably supported by Messrs. G. E. Henderson and J. E. Hallwell, while Mr. R. Purdy opposed it. The chairman left the decision with the audience, and the affirmative almost unanimously prevailed. Evidently St. Thomas church congregation are a unit for the bridge.

Another Horse Stealing Case.

Joseph Jonhson and Joseph Duvall Sent to the Central.

Joseph Johnson, charged with the larceny of a buggy belonging to Mr. James Vicburn of this city, and whose arrest was effected last week at Reaboro, does not appear to be as innocent a person, as he has been regarding himself for. Yesterday morning the police magistrate said it was his intention of discharging him for taking the buggy in the manner he did, but as there was some doubt as to another charge he remanded the prisoner until Friday. It has since been discovered that evidence existed strong enough to cause his conviction on a charge of stealing a horse. It appears that Johnson is the son of a respectable farmer who resides in the township of Ops, in Victoria county, a few miles from Lindsay. Near Johnson's place lived one Joseph Duvall, (a name suggestive of the dashing highwayman Claud Duval of olden times) and the two are represented as having known each other since childhood and being in the habit of frequently visiting each other. On the 20th of September last Duvall, in company with Johnson, proceeded from Rearboro to Johnson's place, for the purpose, Johnson says, of visiting him. Yesterday they both took with them a halter, and on the way Johnson captured a horse, but in attempting to ride the animal was thrown violently to the ground. Duvall then led the animal to his father's place, where it was kept for 7 or 8 days. During this period Duvall removed to Belleville, and Johnson came to the city with this horse for the purpose of seeing Duvall. While in the city he became acquainted with Vicburn, who was engaged as a dealer in wood, was employed by him, and used this same horse for hauling wood. It is said that Vicburn offered to purchase the horse but he (Johnson) did not wish to sell it. About a month ago he obtained from Vicburn his buggy, stating that he was going to the country for a short time to visit his parents. He obtained the same, but, as he did not return, Vicburn became alarmed and reported the affair to the police, the result of which was that he was arrested at Reaboro, and Chief Newton went to this place and secured the horse. The Chief, at the time of his arrest, inquired of Johnson where he obtained the horses with which to drive to his home. He said he bought it for $75, but could not tell from whom. To-day Calvert, who resides near Roseboro, owns a horse about this time, and when Chief Newton was there informed him of the fact. The Chief at first did not then suspect that the horse in Johnson's possession was the missing one, as Johnson said he had it when in Belleville. Mr. Calvert was in the city yesterday, and made inquiries about the animal, and when Johnson found that he could not get out of it he told how he obtained the animal, but accused Duvall of having implicated him. Duvall was shortly after arrested on the charge.

To Chief Newton is due a great deal of credit for the manner in which he has sifted this affair out, for at first, as Johnson appeared to be an innocent person and would have been discharged had not the Chief, as above narrated, succeeded in obtaining evidence to place him on trial for horse stealing. Mr. Calvert last night received a telegram from Roseboro stating that the horse and Johnson's father's was beyond doubt his.

Both parties were brought before the magistrate this morning and pleaded guilty to the offence. They were then sentenced to 6 month in the Central Prison.

CITY COUNCIL.

The City Council met last evening.

Present : His Worship Mayor Wilson ; Ald. Petrie, Foster, J. W. Johnson, Lott, Graham, Ross, Bogart, Collins, Reeves, Lu Roche, Anderson, Macoun, Brown, Hay, Starling, Falkiner, L. Johnson, Smith.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From the Health Officer, Dr. Tracy, giving a detailed statement of the work performed by him and the Board during the past year.

From S. S. Wallbridge, applying on behalf of Wm. Holmes for compensation for some property which belonged to members of No. 2 Fire Co., and which was at present being claimed by the said organization.

From the Board of Health, asking an addition of $70 for the Chairman of the Board. Dr. Tracy.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

The reports of the various Committees were presented.

Council went into committee of the whole on reports, Ald. Macoun in the chair.

The item in the Public Works report of the pay sheet for the past two weeks, was discussed.

Ald. J. W. Johnson thought that the money expended on a drain on Hotel street was not in accordance with the rules of the Council, as no money had been appropriated for that purpose.

Ald. Graham said the drain was a necessity to many citizens in that locality, and had been more than what it was at first thought it would, and still was not completed.

Ald. Anderson thought the drain was a necessity, and as it was not at present in a complete condition he thought that it should be proceeded with and finished.

Ald. Bogart said that he thought Ald. Graham, as chairman of the public works was justified in the carrying out of this work.

Ald. Macoun said that the drain was a necessity. A number of residents on Hotel street had for years been agitating the building of a drain. A benefit would be derived by ratepayers of both Ke.cheson and Baldwin Wards.

Ald. Collins agreed with Ald. Johnson in the view he took with reference to the expenditure of money without first consulting the Council.

The item was passed, as were also the other items of the committee's report.

The committee rose and reported. The reports was received and adopted.

INQUIRIES.

Ald. Collins inquired if the nuisance of bicycle riding on the sidewalk was to be prevented.

MOTIONS.

Moved by Ald. Anderson, seconded by Ald. J. W. Johnson :

That in the opinion of this Council the appeals from the assessment should not be decided by a Court of Revision composed of members of the Council of the municipality, and that a special committee composed of the Mayor, City Solicitor, Ald. Falkiner and the mover and seconder of this resolution be appointed to consider the best way of effecting such a change.—Carried.

Ald. Anderson thought that a change should be made in reference to our present system of appeals from taxation. He thought that no members of the Council should be on the Court of Revision, if this could even still be kept up.

Ald. Falkiner thought that a reform was needed, and that it was a matter of great importance and a question of deepest interest. It should be dealt with in a business like manner. He thought that a committee should be appointed for the purpose of reporting the matter to the Government.

Ald. Petrie had the high honor of being a representative of the banner ward of the city, namely, Foster ward. He was in favor of any motion that would have the effect of equalizing the taxation of all property holders.

NOTICE OF MOTION.

Ald. Petrie gave the following notice of motion : That the Grand Trunk railway be requested to cease making a public nuisance of Pinnacle street in the manner in which they do by allowing a number of empty cars to remain on the track on said street.

Council adjourned.

Reformed English Church.

The Congregation Organize.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather last evening, a large number of this congregation, both ladies and gentlemen, assembled to organize themselves into a working church. Shortly after 8 o'clock, the Rev. T. W. Campbell, Rector of Christ Church, Toronto, took the chair, and after prayer and a short address on the principles and working of the R. E. Church, proceeded to the business of the evening.

The first resolution, "That it is desirable to form a Reformed Episcopal Church in the city of Belleville" being carried, the Chairman suggested that the meeting elect the officers of the Church, who are to retain their offices until next Easter ; Mr. Boyce and Mr. Butler were then chosen Wardens ; Mr. S. Kennedy Veatry Clerk, and Messrs. Wm. McCoy, Thos. Thompson, G. Worrell, Jos. Middlemas, S. Kennedy, and the Wardens elected Vestrymen. Mr. Dunnet and Mr. London were elected lay delegates to the Synod. The important question of selecting a Minister was then taken up, and in the most unanimous manner the Rev. A. H. Whalley, of Mount Forest, should be asked to take charge of the work here. A resolution to that effect was then put to the meeting and carried unanimously. The new Church will be called "Emmanuel."

The Chairman stated that he would endeavor during the present fortnight to obtain resident minister could be obtained. A vote of thanks was then tendered to the Rev'd Mr. Campbell for presiding, and for the interest he has taken in forwarding the work of the Reformed English Church in this city.

Mr. Dunnet was elected Superintendent of the Sunday School by the teachers, at their first meeting.

Ministerial Association.

The Ministerial Association assembled this morning in the Mechanic's Institute. There were present : Rev. R. Wallace, President, and Revs. Bird, Bowen, Bodle, Copeland, Dr. George, Pope, Dupuis, and visitors Mackenzie and Lucas. The Secretary read a paper on the demoralizing influence of certain pictorial posters which are found on our streets, but for want of time the consideration thereof was laid over for a week. Rev. Mr. Copeland read an able paper on the relation of the Church to politics, the Government, &c., which was well received. Rev. Mr. Bird had been ordered to prepare a paper comprising the substance of the discussions which have taken place on the Sabbath question, and the following paper was read, adopted, and ordered to be published : "Resolved, that we the Ministerial Association of this city, witness with heartfelt regret and alarm the persistant efforts on the part of men who, under the cry of necessity and personal right, do openly, if not defiantly seek to turn the christian Sabbath into a day of unusual labor, merrymaking, pleasure seeking and kindred decorations, irrespective of the right guaranteed to every citizen in the Dominion of being undisturbed in the quiet of his home, and in the capacity of a worshipper in the house of God.

2. Resolved, that we unqualifiedly condemn the flagrant and continual violation of the Lord's day, on the part of Railroads, steamboats, carters, and vendors of milk, and those whose business it is to keep horses and conveyances for the public, all of whom not only ignore the sanctity of the Sabbath themselves, but also deprive their employes of their heaven-born right to a day of rest.

3. Resolved, that we earnestly request the city authorities to see to it that the laws against Sabbath desecration be enforced at once. And we hope and trust that every true citizen and lover of his country will do his utmost to discourage and suppress such daring contempt of our wholesome laws. The publication is glad to learn that milk dealers have expressed a desire to give up Sabbath delivery as soon as public sentiment will sustain them.

A Temperance Lecture.

The City Hall was well filled last evening, the occasion being the first of a series of meetings to be held there by the Rev. D. V. Lucas. Mr. W. E. Holton occupied the chair. The meeting was opened by prayer by Rev. A. Wallace, who invoked the divine blessing on the lecturer and the subject which he had at heart. Mr. McConkey, of Trenton, asked the privilege of addressing the audience for a few minutes, in the course of which he spoke of the great evil that intemperance had wrought upon a number of his companions and the lesson which he had drawn therefrom, and which he had striven to impress upon the minds of the young men who were present. Rev. D. V. Lucas was the next speaker. He referred to the social glass and to the fact that most of those who are addicted to the habit are the victims of its influence. He said that 99 barrels out of every 100 of liquor consumed, 99 glasses out of every 100 drank, was done so in groups. Not one young man out of a hundred will take a lone drink. The fondness of companionship is part of our nature, and it is this fondness that leads so many of our young men to destruction. He related a number of incidents to prove the truth of his assertion. He also referred to the condition which the curse of intemperance brought many to, and appealed to the young men present to have the courage to resist the evil. The addresses were interspersed with suitable music by a choir composed of members of the different churches. At the conclusion of the addresses coffee and refreshments were served by the ladies of the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

This evening in the City Hall Rev. Mr. Lucas will deliver a lecture, the subject being "Some Queer things in Australia."

In Memoriam.

We copy the following from the Kingston News : "The death of Jane Dawson, dearly beloved wife of Col. James Wood, of Sydenham, and daughter of the late John Dawson, of Kingston, on the 13th inst., will be learned with deep regret. Her married life extended over a period of nearly fifty-four years, and she left to mourn her loss her husband and four children, one son and three daughters, the former being John Wood, of Sydenham ; and the latter, Mrs. T. B. Carnahan, of Kingston ; Mrs. A. C. Barnett, of Farmersville, and Mrs. S. Joyner, of Sydenham. She was a Christian for many years and an affectionate wife and mother. With her, obedience was a virtue, and, through her painful and tedious illness, she never murmured, but said she had nothing to regret, and that all was right. She was of a very sunny disposition, and at all times had a pleasant word for everyone. She will be greatly missed by her numerous friends and acquaintances, by whom she was both loved and respected. The bereaved ones have the heartfelt sympathy of a large circle of friends." The deceased was a sister-in-law of Mr. Jos. P. Reeves and aunt of Mrs. R. S. Bell, of this city.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE genuine article. Such is the case with the remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. A CRIME OR A HOAX?

Chocolates Sprinkled With Yellow Powder Turn Up in a Dead Letter.

OTTAWA, Nov. 27.—What is either another case of attempted poisoning by means of candy or a silly joke of some Toronto crook has just been brought to light by the officials of the Postoffice Department. A few days ago there reached the dead letter office here a small cardboard box addressed to an individual at Galt, Ont. The package had been sent letter postage from Toronto, but only 2c. worth of stamps, and consequently, being short of postage, was forwarded to the dead letter office for additional postage. On being opened by the officials to discover, if possible, the name of the sender, the following appeared on a piece of paper about four inches square, evidently written by a female :

"Hundred—I send these with my love. Mets murdered. HANNAH.

"I defy you to show these to Mat Howie. I curse the day I ever saw him. Eat of these and die, you cowardly villain."

An examination of the box was made yesterday and it was found to contain three or four chocolate creams, which had evidently been broken before being placed in the box. The white creamy substance, probably concealed from exposure, had been well sprinkled with a yellowish powder having a something of the appearance of insect poison. The precise number of the candies cannot be ascertained, as they were separated in about a dozen or fifteen pieces.

The box is one of ordinary cardboard, 3½ by 2 inches. The address was evidently in a female hand-writing, as also the word "Hannah" on the bottom of the receptacle. There has been no fifth case reported to the officials here as to whether the candies were sent in a joke or in earnest. The Postmaster-General has the matter under consideration and will decide in a day or two what to do about it.

FIRE AT GUELPH.

The Barns at the Model Farm Completely Destroyed—Loss $30,000.

GUELPH, Nov. 27.—The Ontario Government has sustained a serious loss by the destruction of their barns at the Model Farm last night. The reflection was first noticed from the city about 6.30, and almost immediately after the flames shot high in the air. The barns were the largest in the Dominion, and the flames were seen several miles away. The main barns were burned to the ground, also the two large wings attached to it for the horse stable and cattle sheds. The bull shed was also completely destroyed. The live stock are all saved.

The fire started in the upper part of the main barn. All the students and attendants had left only a short time before for their supper. Fred. Shaw was in the barn 10 minutes before it was discovered and every thing was all right. The opinion of the officials is that the barn was fired by an incendiary.

The total loss is estimated at $30,000

Woolen Mills Burned.

THE RAILROAD ARTICLES will be continued by several very striking papers ; one especially interesting by Ex-Postmaster-General Thomas L. James on "The Railway Postal Service." Illustrated.

MR. ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON'S serial novel "The Master of Ballantrae," will run through the greater part of the year. Begun in November.

A CORRESPONDENCE and collection of manuscripts unusually interesting of J. F. Miller and a famous group of modern FRENCH PAINTERS will furnish the substance of several articles. Illustrated.

The brief and papers written last year by Robert Louis Stevenson will be continued by equally interesting contributions by different famous authors. Mr. Thomas Bailey Aldrich will write the first of them for the January number.

Many valuable LITERARY ARTICLES will appear ; a paper on Walter Scott's Methods of Work, illustrated from original MSS., a second "Shelf of Old Books," by Mrs. James T. Fields, and many other articles equally noteworthy. Illustrated.

Articles on ART SUBJECTS will be a feature. Papers are arranged to appear by Clarence Cook, E. H. Blashfield, Austin Dobson, and many others. Illustrated.

FISHING ARTICLES describing sport in the best fishing grounds will appear. Salmon, Winninish, Bass, and Tarpon are the subjects now arranged. The authors are well-known sportsmen. Illustrated.

ILLUSTRATED ARTICLES of great variety, touching upon all manner of subjects, travel, biography, description, etc., will appear, but not the conventional commonplace sort. Illustrated.

Among the most interesting in the list of scientific papers for the year will be a remarkable article by Professor John Trow bridge, upon the recent great developments and uses of PHOTOGRAPHY. Illustrated.

A class of articles which has proved a special interest will be continued by a group of papers upon ELECTRICITY in its most recent applications, by practical writers, and a remarkable paper on DEEP MINING, and other interesting papers. Unique illustrations.

Strange, but Still True.

Mrs. David Carstairs, Haldimand Township, met with a very pleasant surprise a few weeks ago. It seems Mrs. Carstairs has suffered a great deal from dyspepsia and indigestion, the symptoms of which were, pains in the stomach and bowels, and sick headache. She has tried a great many physicians, and an unlimited amount of patent medicines, but without any success; and last but not least, she tried Dowling's Pepsin Compound, and one bottle has removed both pain and ache. She returns the kindest regards to

P. E. DOWLING, Cobourg,

for his magnificent remedy, Belleville ladies take pattern by this woman, and ask your Druggist for it

☞ This would make a beautiful Christmas present. Call and see the original at H. Dell's warerooms, next door to G. S. Tickell's, Front Street, Belleville.

P. S.—In answer to those who ask how we can sell so cheap, we would say we buy in large lots for cash and get better terms than any other dealer in Canada.

A Quarter of a Century!

For more than twenty-five years has Haggard's Yellow Oil been sold by druggists, and it has never yet failed to give satisfaction as a household remedy for pain, lameness and soreness of the flesh, for external and internal use in all painful complaints.

FEVER AND AGUE AND BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS are positively cured by the use of Parmelee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, causing them to pour copious effusions from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

To lessen mortality and stop the inroads of disease, use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. For all diseases arising from Impure Blood, such as Pimples, Boils, Blotches, Humors, Tetterine, etc., etc.; it has no equal. Mrs. Thomas Smith, Elon, writes: "I am using this medicine for Dyspepsia; I have tried many remedies, but this is the only one that has done me any good."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakens as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind. 8dlwly

Nothing so seldomly obstructed perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but allowed to run their own course, generally prove the precursor of more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their affliction from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. Of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Hickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It remedies a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state

Heat and Comfort to the Suffering.

"Brown's Household Panacea' has no equal for relieving pain, both internal and external. It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. "It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal, as its acting power is wonderful." "Brown's Household Panacea," being acknowledged as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family handy for use when wanted, "as it really is the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the Stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds, and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cts a bottle.

A CARD.

PRIDE AND PRIDE.

By Jane G. Austin.

"And you cannot imagine a law higher than Mr. Murgatroyd's orders or Miss Murgatroyd's pleasure!" said the young man, his face turning lively pale, then flushing as if it had received a blow. A bitter little laugh rippled, and he sprang to his feet he moved away, but had not gone a dozen paces before a scream, a rustle, a splash, told their story, and seeking off his shoes and flinging down his hat, Leduc sprang to the top of the bank, marked the spot where the white gleam of a sinking face shone up through the swirling waters of the pool, and leaped in. Already the swift current was grappling with her; already the heavy riding-clothes were dragging her down like anchors, when his arm wound around her waist, and her swooning caught the strange words, "Oh, my darling, my life! you shall not die!"

After that nothing until the maiden recovered consciousness, lying upon the couch in the despised office, with two tawny, hard-handed, kindly women about her.

"What is it?" stammered she, feebly; and one replied:

"Why, miss, you fell in the pool, and Leduc he saw you, and got you out, and sent on one of the hands hot-foot to the shanty for us, and we've been better'n half an hour bringing you to. I tell you, miss, 'twas a narrow 'scape."

"Leduc saved me!"

"Yes, indeed. Lucky he was round, for the current sucks awful strong in that pool, and if you hadn't been got out when you was, you'd 'a been over the dam, and the Lord knows where by this time."

"Where is he?"

"He set off for your pa and a carriage as soon as you began to come to. Took your pony, he did, and I guess he'll be back 'fore long now. Hark! Seems as if I heard wheels, and that's your pa's voice sure-ly."

Yes, it was Mr. Murgatroyd, whom Leduc had met a short distance from his house. But having seen the father enter the room where his daughter lay, Leduc turned away, and briefly saying to one of the men that he must go home and change his clothes in the mill, not to return until its visitors had departed.

The principal architectural pretence of the sylvan lodge was a great square verandah, the ends closed by vine-covered trellises, and furnished with a sofa-table, chairs, and couches of rattan. Here on the evening of her accident Mary lay, beautiful in her pallor and her languor, the former enchanced by the vivid scarlet of the Indian shawl draped about her. Her father had driven to the station, some eight miles distant, to meet a party of friends proposing to spend some days at the lodge, and she was quite alone when up the path strode Leon Leduc's stalwart figure, an odd look of indecision, almost of defiance, upon his face. In his hand he carried a little basket covered with paper, and seeing Miss Murgatroyd upon the verandah, came straight toward her. A bright wave of color, perhaps a reflection from the Indian shawl, swept over the girl's dainty pallor, and half rising, she said, "Oh, Leon, I am so glad to see you and thank you!"

"It was my duty, my hired service."

"Leon! how can you be so unkind as to recall my insults! I am so sorry for them."

His face softened at once, and smiling he said: "Do not remember anything but that I am glad to have served you, and that the bank is unsafe. At any rate, there will be no temptation for you there now, for I dug up the gentian."

"Mr. Leduc! to destroy the poor innocent flowers, as if it was their fault!"

"No, indeed, I could not have done such a thing. I went down to gather them for you, and then it seemed too bad to break them off, and I thought you might like to have them growing near you, so I took up the sod very carefully, and here they are."

"How lovely! how good of you!" And Mary, craning her neck forward, peeped into the basket, all crowded full of the sweet blue eyes, with their long fringes of eyelashes, but did not offer to take it into her hands, so that Leon, forced to remain close beside her, sank upon a camp stool, the basket on his knees, and stole one long, ardent look at the lovely head and face so temptingly bent toward him.

"The darlings!" murmured the girl, putting out one long shapely hand and softly touching the flowers. "I do so hope they will live! Where shall I have them put?"

"Close by the channel that goes down from the well; they are used to plenty of water, you know," said Leon, who evidently had arranged it all. "I will take a spade and set them there now if you like, and you had better have them shaded for a day or two. Then in the winter I will throw something over them, so that they may not be destroyed, and next year they will welcome you to the woods.

"How thoughtful you are, Leon!" murmured Mary, softly. "Yes, put them out, but—wait a little first. Papa has gone to Downs to met Mr. and Mrs. Pomroy; you will remember her as Miss Melton two years ago, and Mr. Melton her brother. They are coming to stay two or three days or a week. Are you sorry?"

"Sorry, Miss Murgatroyd! Why?"

"Because they will take all my time, and I shall not come to the mill or ride to the logging camp alone."

Leon was silent. A strange sweet spell was creeping over his senses. He clinched his hand until the nails bit into the palm, and the pain steadied him.

"We workmen will miss your visits, Miss Murgatroyd," said he coldly. "But of course, when your friends are with you, we cannot expect to be noticed."

"Why do you talk like that, Leon?" exclaimed the girl, half sorrowfully, half indignantly, all wooingly. "You know very well no man in the world, gentle or simple, has half the right to my attention that he has who saved my life. Leon I have been a very supercilious, haughty, disagreeable girl, and especially toward you; but I am sorry now—indeed I am. Leon, I am so proud any more; I never will be proud to you again."

The words came in a whisper soft as a kiss, and the slender hands stole out again, the warm soft fingers trembling a little as if longing to be grasped by other fingers; but Leon Leduc's strong brown hands only grasped the handle of the little basket until it crushed beneath his fingers, and his head sank upon his breast, his eyes never turning toward those moist beseeching eyes so shyly waiting for them.

A whippoorwill in the neighboring wood uttered his melancholy cry once, twice, thrice, and as he ceased Leon Leduc slowly spoke: "I am glad for you if you are no longer proud, for pride is a terrible tyrant to the nature it rules. I am not so strong as you; I cannot give up my pride."

Then, with no mockery of leave-taking, he went away, and presently hearing the clink of a spade against stone, Mary knew that he was setting out the gentians.

SHILOH'S CATARRH REMEDY—a positive cure for Catarrh, Diphtheria and Canker ui

CATARRH.

A New Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the interlining membrane of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes. The eminent scientists, Tyndall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made oftener than once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before an application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease.

So highly are these remedies valued that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy a parasite, of which they know nothing, by remedies not the result of the application of which they are equal ignorant. Mr. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effects a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases.

Mr. Dixon sends a pamphlet describing his new treatment on the receipt of stamp to pay postage. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son, 303 King-street west, Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Cured By B. B. B. When all Else Failed.

Mr. Samuel Allan, of Lisle, Ont., states that he tried all the doctors in his locality while suffering for years with Liver and Kidney trouble; nothing benefitted him until he took Burdock Blood Bitters, four bottles cured him.

Give Them a Chance?

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cells that go to make them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrah, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

The Modus Operandi.

The mode of operating of Burdock Blood Bitters is that it acts at once and at the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and the Blood, to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in Chronic Complaints.

Hesitation means Loss.

If your hair is coming out or turning grey, or if you find dandruff in your hair do not hesitate about looking after it. Get some of Dr. Dutcher's "Hair Magic," use it as directed and you will find that it will give you the best of satisfaction. Take warning, do not wait till it is too late but try it at once. All druggists sell it.

Among the Indians.

"While my husband was trading in furs he came across an Indian who was taken to his lodge to die. He had inward pains and pains in all his limbs. He gave some Yellow Oil internally and applied it externally, and cured him. It also cured my husband of rheumatism, and I find it valuable for coughs and colds, sore throat, etc." Mrs. A. Besaw, Cook's Mills, Serpant River, Ont.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Is very palatable and much better than the plain oil. Dr. W. H. Cameron, of Halifax, N. S., says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver oil with Hypophosphites for the past two years and found it more agreeable to the stomach, and have better results from its use than any other preparation of the kind I have ever tried." Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

THE LATEST FROM LONDON

RESUMPTION OF THE LAND PURCHASE BILL DEBATE.

Another Batch of Evidence Concerning Outrages Given Before the Parnell Commission.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—In the House of Commons to-day Mr. Smith stated that if British troops were sent to Suakim they would not be employed beyond the vicinity of the port.

Mr. Balfour intimated that Mr. Harrington, Mr. Elcumane and other members of the Parliamentary under secretary's staff would be permitted to attend the sittings of Parliament during the time the Irish estimates were under discussion.

The debate on the Irish Land Purchase bill was resumed and Mr. Shaw-Lefevre moved to insert in the bill a provision directing that no advance shall be made to any tenant or purchaser exceeding £2000. He urged that tenants borrowing above that sum came within the landlord and not within the peasant proprietor class.

Mr. Balfour proposed as a substitute for Mr. Shaw-Lefevre's proposal that no advance exceeding £3000 be made unless the land commission decide that a large advance, not, however, exceeding £5000, is expedient.

Mr. Balfour's proposal was agreed to.

Mr. Shaw Lefevre next moved that no advance be given unless the tenant or his predecessors in the title had occupied the holdings for at least five years. The motion was rejected. The Government accepted a clause proposed by Mr. Healy exempting the purchaser from all liabilities for rent arrears from the date the purchase is sanctioned.

Mr. Healy then proposed a clause with the object of preventing the auction, sale or purchase by threats of eviction. Rejected.

Other amendments proposed by Mr. Healy were negatived and the bill finally passed the committee stage.

The Oaths Bill Passed.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The Oaths Bill was passed in the House of Lords to-day without amendment.

SICK AND TIRED OF REITERATION.

The Parnellites Counsel Object to the Mass of Evidence Touching Outrages.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—At the sitting of the Parnell Commission to-day Sergeant Gill, county of Cork, was called concerning outrages. He said that an increase of police had been necessary at Castle Island.

Sir Charles Russell, counsel for the Parnellites, interposing the witness said: "We admit all that, we are sick and tired of reiteration containing enormous expenses."

President Sir Richard Hannen said he hoped the details would be given as briefly as possible.

Witness continuing said that since 1880 the police force had been doubled. Prior to the founding of the league in 1880 the district had been quiet. Afterwards outrages had been frequent. He had kept a book for recording outrages.

Sir Charles Russell demanded that the book be produced.

Sir Henry James said the book contained letters and official communications support ing certain persons and it was desirable they should not be published.

Sir Charles Russell asked: "Why should The Times counsel have access to the book and we be denied the same privilege?" Until the judges rule otherwise I shall continue to fight for this and every other book named in the case," he added.

Mr. Reid, for the Parnellites, also urged that the book be produced. He said if counsel were not entitled to see the book they would not have an opportunity to meet the case properly.

Justice Hannen said it was highly desirable that the names in the book, including a column headed "Motives," should be produced. Special entries relating to certain persons might be perhaps to be left out. He suggested that Sir Henry James and Sir Charles Russell inspect the book, and then if they still not agree the judges themselves would inspect it.

Other policemen then testified at length concerning outrages. Mr. Reid suggested that in order to save time numbers should state simply the number of outrages they were cognizant of and the period in which they were committed. Justice Hannen welcomed the suggestion and Sir Henry James promised to comply with it as far as possible.

Inspector Davis said he had discovered that there was an inner circle of the League which organized Remians to execute the League's decrees. He declined to give the name of his informant. Mr. Reid pressed him for the name and witness finally appealed to the court for protection against the question. Mr. Reid complained that his clients were at the mercy of an anonymous informant. If he had the name he might prove the informant the greatest liar in the three kingdoms. Sir Henry James said the witness might have good reason for concealing the name. Mr. Reid said he would defer the question.

Witness then in answer to questions said the man who gave him the information was not in the pay of the police. He was a member of the League and had taken part in the work of the inner circle. Another person similarly situated had also informed him of the workings of the inner circles. One of the informants was a Protestant, but the other could not. Mr. Reid concluded his cross-examination by reading extracts from speeches made by Father O'Rearden denouncing outrages as a shame and a disgrace.

Proclaimed Baronies.

DUBLIN, Nov. 27.—The Baronies of Connell and Clane, County Kildare, have been proclaimed under the second section of the Crimes Act.

The Grasping Landlords.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Henry George in an address in London this evening said that the grasping for land in America was rapidly making that country what it was in England. He wanted to utterly abolish landlordism and to grant to every child a share in the soil.

The Queer French.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—The Reinach duels and other Parisian journals ridicule the action of the majority of the Chamber of Deputies in adopting the motion of M. Menoosier yesterday to adjourn the sitting for an hour on account of the presence of M. Wilson, the son-in-law of President Grevey. They say the members who voted for the motion evidently desired to give France a proof of the purity of conscience austerity and virtue of the Chamber. M. Wilson, in an interview, said the incident would not have the effect of keeping him from the Chamber. He would continue the struggle no matter what action the members might take.

Destroyed by Incendiaries.

BELAIRE, Md., Nov. 27.—Fire consuming house of McGaw Bros., near Spesutia Island, was started by incendiaries Saturday night. Twelve thousand cases of canned corn, 8000 empty cases and all the machinery and fixtures were destroyed.

LIBERTY OF CANADIAN PRISONERS.

Convicts Given Great Freedom but Never Attempt to Escape.

"What kind of a penitentiary do they have there?" was asked by a Detroit Journal reporter while conversing with a traveler who recently returned from a trip to the Stony mountains, about twenty miles north of Winnipeg.

"It's the greatest institution of the kind I ever saw. Prisoners are made to feel that they are prisoners, yet there are no rigors of discipline to make men unruly. There are about 200 convicts there. Maj. Benson proved himself an extraordinary disciplinarian in the army, yet he was well fitted. Surgeon Sutherland, of the penitentiary, told me that when a prisoner arrived there Maj. Benson at once had a private talk with him. He gave the prisoner to understand that if he was his friend that he intended to use every one fairly, but he had been put there to discharge a certain duty, and that the convict had been sent there to perform a certain duty; that he should take his sentence, just or unjust, as a man. And in every case he won the convicts over, so that in all his time there Maj. Benson has never had use for the dark cells or had a prisoner escape.

"I hope, by the way, would be rather difficult. The penitentiary and all the buildings connected with it are on Stony Mountain, a place covering some forty acres which rises abruptly from the prairie some thirty or forty feet. It is the only elevation for a long distance, and from it a magnificent view is obtained in all directions. The penitentiary, on account of its location, is therefore without a wall. The guards have their boats around the edge of the so-called mountain, which is triangular in shape, and looking down they command the prairie for a long distance. The warden will put the convicts at no work which conflicts with an organized trade. They are at work on the buildings and at farming. There are only twenty-two guards. The prisoners are allowed to go to work on their parole.

"Maj. Benson took me to see what he called his 'strong gang,' and a most remarkable trio it proved. The men were Indians and aged respectively 70, 80 and 84 years. 'Dressy Maud' shot the policeman at the time of the Riel rebellion. Chief Charlevois commanded the Indian forces in the Riel rebellion. The third one, 'Almost to Relieu,' or 'Blue Eyes,' was sentenced for life for murder as a cannibal. He is an Athabasca Indian. At the time of the rebellion their supplies were short and the men were much suffering. 'Blue Eyes' family consisted of his mother-in-law, wife and three children. The mother-in-law was killed and eaten, then the children, one by one. Finally 'Blue Eyes' killed his wife for food.

"Only the Indian chief, of the three, could speak English, and he appeared quite intelligent. When I saw them they were half a mile from any guard, and Maj. Benson said he could trust them anywhere. They seemed vigorous and well, were at work in a vegetable garden and looked as though they had a good many years of comfortable sentence before them. I took their pictures, of course, for I'm never without my camera. The convicts there wear a light colored uniform, one leg darker than the other and the opposite side of the blouse darker.

"They don't have the sullen, dogged look of convicts in American prisons. As we drove along they would bring up their hands with a military salute to Maj. Benson or the surgeon, and look bright and pleased to see them. A number of prisoners here been taught taxidermy, and the main entrance to the prison, through which all pass in and out, presents a very fine collection of mounted birds and beasts. White owls abound there, and some magnificent specimens have been stuffed. There are elk, buffalo, deer, antelope, mountain sheep, coyotes, foxes, wolves and other animals in the collection, and a great variety of birds. It gives the convicts a chance in their leisure, and some of them have become expert taxidermists."

BABY'S SKIN AND SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by CUTICURA REMEDIES.

Our oldest child, now six years of age, when but about six months old, was afflicted with a virulent, malignant skin disease. All ordinary remedies failing, we called our family physician who attempted to cure it; but it spread with almost incredible rapidity, until the lower portion of the little fellow's person, from the middle of his back down to his knees, was one scab red, ugly, painful, blotched and malignant. We had no rest day or night, day by day. Finally, we were advised to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES. The effect was simply marvellous. In three or four weeks a complete cure was wrought, leaving the little fellow's person as white and healthy as though he had never been attacked. In my opinion your valuable remedies saved his life, and to-day he is a strong, healthy child, perfectly well, no repetition of the disease having ever occurred. GEO. E. SMITH, Att'y at Law and ex-Pros. Att'y, Ashland, O. Referen e: J. G. Weir, Druggist, Ashland.

CLEAR SKIN, PURE BLOOD.

No mother, who loves her children, who takes pride in their beauty, purity, and health, and in bestowing upon them a child's greatest inheritance,—a skin without a blemish, and a body nourished by pure blood—should fail to make trial of the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

I have seen the CUTICURA REMEDIES used for milk crust by a visitor in my house, and can say it only half the cure was speedy and marvellous. I have also used them myself, for eruptions of the skin on my little child, with satisfactory results in every respect. The skin has broken out and begun to assume ugly proportions. I have also heard my neighbors speak of the CUTICURA REMEDIES in the highest terms. E. P. BEAR. Churbville, Augusta Co., Va.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Extermin tor is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

Orin Catlin, 49 Pearl Street Buffalo, N. Y., says: I tried various remedies for the piles but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications.

Mrs. George Leach, Haldimand Township, has received more benefit from two bottles of Dawling's Fepsin Compound, than anything she has ever taken in her life. She has been troubled with bilious ness, loss I appetite and constipation for years, and finds relief from these troubles. People write to her and see how she will recommend you to take Dawling's Fepsin Compound if you are Dyspeptic.

The cheapest medicine to use is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, because so very little of it is required to effect a cure. It relieves pain, sprains and dis ases of the lungs and throat, whether used for bathing the chest or throat, for taking internally or inhaling it is a matchless compound.

What does Dowling's Fepsin Compound cure? Dyspepsia and Indigestion. What are the symptoms? Biliousness, constipation, lack of energy, drowsiness, headache, pains in the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, depression of spirits. Ask your druggist for it.

Dowling's Little Liver Pellets are highly recommended for all diseases of the liver.

Mr. Thomas Ballard, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I have been afflicted for nearly a year with that most-to be dreaded disease Dyspepsia, and at times was out with pain and want of sleep, and after trying almost everything known, as I tried one box of Parmelee's Valtable Pills. I am now nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money.

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specifically upon the digestive organs, and are unsurpassed for the correction of indigestion, costiveness, biliousness, and kindred complaints, all arising from a disordered condition of the stomach, and the consequent derangement of the liver and bowels. Being purely vegetable, they may be taken with perfect safety by any one, at any time, without making any change in diet, and the absence of any disagreeable taste renders the administration of them an easy matter. The Dangerous Coal Oil.

MONTREAL Oct. 17.—The explosion of poorly refined coal oil is the cause of many accidental burnings. A little girl named Beauchamp living on Maple street, while helping her mother in domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while resting on the table. Her burning clothing was only torn from her with much difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quick ly summoned and the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined Oil a considerable quantity of inferior Coal oil is being sold.

In order to avoid these low grades we have tak n the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil:

'CARBON SAFETY OIL'
A specially refined and superior grade of Canadian Oil,

ASTRAL OIL,
A high grade American Oil.

These we can most confidently recommend to our retail trade as goods that will give entire satisfaction.

We are also fully supplied with Water White and Prime White American Oil and the usual brands of Canadian Oil.

$500 REWARD

is offered by the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for a case of Chronic Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a nasal twang; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians. By its mild, soothing and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "cold in the head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache. Sold by druggists everywhere; 50 cents.

"Untold Agony from Catarrh."

Prof. W. HAUSNER, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sunset, my voice would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."

THOMAS J. RUSHING, Esq., 2902 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure remedy for catarrh now manufactured, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

Three Bottles Cure Catarrh.

ELI ROBBINS, Runyan P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says: "My daughter had catarrh when she was five years old, very badly. I saw Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy advertised, and procured a bottle for her, and soon saw that it helped her; a third bottle effected a permanent cure. She is now eighteen years old and sound and hearty."

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 28

THE PRICE OF THE FAD.

Mr. Chamberlain, speaking as the representative of the British Government, stated on several occasions that if Canada discriminated in favor of the United States and against Great Britain, the mother country would sever the tie which binds us to her. Mr. Chamberlain's utterances have never been repudiated by the British Government or by the British Parliament; therefore they are official and authoritative.

Mr. Blaine, who is the leading statesman of the dominant party in the United States, has said that Canada can only have commercial union after political union has been consummated.

The New York Tribune, which is the leading organ of the Republican party in the United States, which party will govern after March 4th next, says:

The fact that commercial reciprocity would be far more advantageous to Canada than to the Union is not one of determining weight. Americans are not opposed to making such a bargain merely because they would be certain to give more than they would receive in return. They are not ungenerous, and would not stop to calculate closely the comparative value of the two markets to be exchanged under commercial union. But what they cannot understand is the plea for reciprocity without political union. Why should Canada be admitted to all the commercial advantages of membership in the Union while retaining its relations to the British Empire? The experiment has been tried in the past, but it has never resulted satisfactorily. Political union must precede commercial union.

Such are the only terms upon which commercial union could be obtained, even were it desirable. The people of Canada, so far as they have given expression to their opinions at the polls, are decidedly averse to the project. But the question arises, and must be answered, whether the advocates of the project are willing to pay the price demanded.

OAT GAMBLING.

A correspondent writing to the Ontario from Rawdon takes the INTELLIGENCER to task for our criticism of the oat gambling that is being engaged in by the farmers of the County. In answer to the article in question we would say, that we have never stated that the agents have not fulfilled their part of the agreement, for we understand they have done so, and no doubt they will do so as long as they can find farmers gullible enough to purchase oats at $10 per bushel. And well they can afford to fulfil their agreement under such circumstances, as they deduct $2.50 per bushel from each bushel so sold. The proprietor of a wheel of fortune may fulfil his agreement as well, yet who will question the justice of the law that prohibits such gambling, even where the proprietor fulfils his part of the agreement? For $2.50 per bushel these agents have taught farmers to gamble between themselves in a way that will simply mean destruction to many of them when new victims are not forthcoming.

OUR ASTUTE COMMISSIONER.

The political plotters of Pomona, California, who trapped Lord Sackville so easily, made a similar attempt upon Sir Charles Tupper, our High Commissioner in London, but not with equal success. Sir Charles' answer, which was as follows, was not published by "Murchison" or his confederates:

VICTORIA CHAMBERS, London, Oct. 15.

DEAR SIR,—I esteem it a high compliment that your letter of the 5th ult. should have been addressed to me; and I may say it was sent on to me here by my son in Ottawa. My official position, as a representative of Canada in Great Britain, makes it quite impossible, however, for me to offer any opinion on the question you raise as I am sure, on reflection, you will immediately comprehend. As you will be aware, the hope is uppermost in everybody's mind that the matters in dispute between the two countries may soon be disposed of in a manner satisfactory to both, and your knowledge of public opinion in Canada will show you that Canadians are most desirous that their relations with the United States should be of the most cordial and friendly character.

I am yours faithfully,
(Signed) CHAS TUPPER.
Mr. Chas. F. Murchison.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

Our neighbors will try to get the advantage of Canada by calling champion O'Connor an "American" oarsman. If they cannot steal our fish, they can appropriate our reputation—filch from us, as it were, our good name.

An exchange states that the New York Sun has lately declared that, after sending a special correspondent to this country charged with the duty of making the fullest possible enquiry into the sentiments of our people, it can discover no grounds for believing that there is, on this side of the line, anything like a general movement or even aspiration towards annexation. Annexationists are scarce and gradually becoming fewer.

The Republicans of the United States are evidently in for a long lease of power. The protection issue alone is sufficient to maintain them in office, but they will make assurance doubly sure by the admission of the territories of Washington, Dakota and Montana as states. It is probable that Dakota will be carved into two states, and as there are large Republican majorities in all those territories, their addition to the Union will render the cause of the Democrats more hopeless than ever.

The Christmas Harper's.

A glance at the table of contents of the Christmas number of Harper's Magazine will show that it is an exceptionally strong issue. The spirit of the Holidays pervades its clear and artistic pages. Particular attention should be given to the frontispiece, "The Viking's Daughter," after one of F. S. Church's pictures.

The plot of the first story, "The Last Mass," turns upon the defeat of the Spanish Armada in 1588, and it gives Walter Besant an excellent chance, which he has not neglected. It is written in quaint style, being told by an English girl of long ago. The nine illustrations, some of them full pages, are by Charles Green.

"A Likely Story" is one of Mr. W. D. Howell's best farces—work that he always does with a nimble pen. It is a regular Comedy of Errors, and abounds in amusing situations and bright dialogue. Harper Pennington's illustrations are exceedingly well done.

The excellent poetry in the Number is nobly supported by the illustrations which go with it. War has its tributes from E. C. Stedman in "Morgan," and in "The Men of the Alamo," from James Jeffries Roche. A charming fancy is T. B. Aldrich's "At a Reading," while "A Soul-Drama," by Anna D. Ludlow, rises to a high pitch of sentiment and feeling.

The Easy Chair, the Study, and the Drawer are permeated with the spirit of the Holidays, and have a great deal to say about Christmas—all of it good. The Drawer is especially amusing, and there is a sharp point to George Du Maurier's full-page sketch.

The remaining portion of the contents is worthy of the high reputation of that famous magazine.

An Unhappy Home.

"I wish my wife would get well or—something," said a husband who had been sorely tried with an invalid wife. It seems a heartless speech, but who can tell the discomforts of a home where the wife is always sick. Poor food, crying children! No wonder the man grows desperate. But if he would get Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the wife, he would find that the sunshine would return to his home. "Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, "bearing down" sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

FEARS FOR THE STANLEY.

THE NEW STEAMER PROBABLY OUT IN THE BIG BLOW.

Extension of Bonding Privileges to the Northern Pacific—The 90-Days Quarantine on American Cattle to Remain.

OTTAWA, Nov. 27.—It is understood that the Government has decided to extend to the Northern Pacific Railway the same bonding facilities enjoyed by other roads on their giving the customary surety bonds, which will amount to $80,000.

Ever since the Dominion Government surveyed the Swan district efforts have been made to get the parties who settled the surveys to make entry of their lands, but with only partial success. Circular after circular has been issued by the Dominion Lands Commissioner, but very little attention has been paid to them. The districts in which entries have been most backward are Prince Albert, Carlton, Duck Lake and along the south branch of the Saskatchewan. The Government has now sent Mr. Bourgeois, D.L.S., to Duck Lake and vicinity to try to get entries made, and a new circular has been issued informing the settlers that it is in their own interests to have their entries made right away. The circular concludes as follows: "Notice is also hereby given that inasmuch as many of the persons herein referred to are doubtless now entitled to a patent for their lands, application for patent in all such cases should be made at the same time that homestead entry is obtained." In this connection it may be stated that the halfbreeds of Batoche have never made any entries in the Interior Department, but nevertheless the Government has never disturbed them in the enjoyment of their lands.

It is understood that the request of the Montana ranchmen, that the ninety-day quarantine on American cattle entering the Northwest be removed, will not be granted, as it is felt that if this was done the English Government would most probably schedule Canadian cattle and our exporters would lose the advantage which they now possess over American exporters of being able to transport their cattle from one point of the United Kingdom to another while American cattle must be killed at the port at which they are landed.

Some anxiety was felt in the Marine Department to-day as to the safety of the new Government steamer Stanley, built on the Clyde, which was to have sailed on Nov. 21. If she did so she was probably in the storm which raged on the Atlantic on Saturday and Sunday, and being, comparatively speaking, a small vessel she may have had difficulty in weathering so severe a gale. A cablegram was sent to Glasgow today to ascertain whether she had sailed.

The United States Treasury Department officials deny the truth of the report that there has been any change in the policy of the Administration or of the department towards the Alaska seal fisheries. There has been a relaxation this season of their watchfulness in Behring Sea.

General Middleton and Adjutant-General Powell to-day examined a new water bottle, the invention of Mr Lewis of Quebec, and expressed themselves so pleased with it that its adoption by the Canada Militia will be recommended. It is of block tin, stout and servicable, and will stand a good deal of knocking about. Its chief advantage, however, is that it contains a small charcoal filter so that muddy or partly impure water can be rendered drinkable in a few minutes, a great advantage to troops on the march in a poorly watered country. General Middleton said with reference to it: "No European army has yet got anything like a good water bottle. They are either of glass or wood. In England the troops carry the latter. If I am not mistaken the Imperial authorities have offered a reward for a suitable water bottle, one that will suit all requirements. This new invention costs something like 50 cents, I believe. It is a little heavier than the ordinary article."

FOR BURGLARY.

A Hamilton Dry Goods Clerk Arrested on a Serious Charge.

HAMILTON, Nov. 27.—John James Jarvis, a good-looking dry goods clerk, who has been working for James Shea for about three weeks, was arrested this afternoon on a serious charge of burglary. Jarvis is a well-dressed young man about 21 years old. He was formerly employed by J. L. Mader, a dry goods merchant in Attwood, a small town in the county of Perth. He worked there off and on for about two years, but left four or five weeks ago to accept a more lucrative position in Listowel. One Sunday night about a month ago he returned to Attwood and went into Mr. Mader's store without getting his permission. Jarvis retained possession of some keys which enabled him to get into the premises. He was caught in the act of going through the safe, but the level-headed person who detected him allowed him to escape out of the back door. That was the last seen of Jarvis in Attwood. Mader got a tip from a commercial traveler that the young man was working in a store here, and Constable Struthers was sent to hunt him up. He arrived this morning, and in company with two detectives went to the store where he was employed and took him in charge.

Judge Sinclair to-day granted a summons to quash a conviction in a liquor case against John Berlinghoff and H. R. Hall. The defendants were fined $40 by the police magistrate for keeping their bar-rooms open during prohibited hours. The case will come up for argument on Dec. 10.

The winner lost 19 minutes in correcting, while Thienes lost 32 minutes and then became discouraged.

A Foundered Collier.

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—The steamer Allentown, said to have foundered off Cohasset, carried her full capacity of coal consigned to Salem, Mass., parties and had a crew of 18 men. She sailed from Philadelphia Nov. 21, and was due to arrive on Saturday last. The steamer cost $250,000 and belonged to the Philadelphia and Reading Company, to whom the cargo also belonged. Nothing can be learned here of the crew list or insurance on the vessel.

DOINGS IN THE DOMINION.

POLLY BREDIN HELD FOR TRIAL FOR BIGAMY.

The Toronto Malpractice Case—Montreal's Jack the Ripper—The St. Kitts Perjury Cases Dismissed.

TORONTO, Nov. 28.—Herbert Verral, the young man who was maltreated in a west end saloon on Thursday, and who it was thought would succumb to erysipelas, was yesterday morning pronounced out of danger.

The enterprising Mr. Clarry who strove to part with his mansion at Parkdale with the aid of a $5 ticket lottery, and who was fined $20 and costs for doing so, was again in the Police Court yesterday, charged with not surrendering the books and tickets of the "Grand Villa" sweepstakes as he was required to do. Mr. Clarry obtained a remand.

J. Henderson, of Burlington, missed a horse from his stable Monday. Yesterday morning it was found at Duck's Hotel at the Humber, where the gentleman who unceremoniously borrowed it had left it.

Lilly Charlton, the victim of the alleged malpractice with which Dr. Valentine is accused, is in a critical condition, and a consultation of physicians took place yesterday afternoon. Wood, the druggist charged with aiding in the criminal operation, is reported by his attorney to be visiting friends and ready to return when wanted for trial. The girl has made a dying statement which is not to be made public if she recovers.

Fred Barber's inamorata Polly Bredin was again in the dock yesterday on a charge of bigamy. She looked haggard, and during the proceedings wept copiously. Rev. Mr. Wallace, who married her to Bredin in July, 1874, at the Queen's Hotel, testified to the regularity of the marriage, but could not identify the woman. William Thomas, one of the witnesses to the union, remembered the occurrence, but not the parties. Rev. Mr. Bredin, father of the husband, told how he met the couple a few days after the marriage, and they subsequently stopped in his house in Bowmanville. Rev. C. S. Stowitt, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at Niagara Falls, N. Y., said he married the woman in the dock on Nov. 14 to Frederick Barber, and the marriage was solemnized according to the laws of New York and the ordinances of the Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Woolnough, who lived next door to Mrs. Bredin when the latter kept the house at 182 Adelaide-street, swore that Bredin was a frequent visitor, and that when Mrs. Bredin moved to Windsor-street he was on hand at the removal and assisted in the work. Finally, Detective Slemin deposed that Mrs. Bredin had admitted to him before her arrest that she divorced herself from her husband, but that the latter was not divorced from her. Police Magistrate Denison decided that a strong case was made out sufficient to commit, but as Mr. Meredith, counsel for prisoner, desired that the case should go before the Assizes and not the General Sessions, it was agreed that until the latter are concluded the case should be remanded from week to week. Mrs. Bredin was subsequently admitted to bail, herself in $1000 and two sureties in $500 each.

A. B. Cameron, barrister, and Miss Alice Walker, daughter of ex-Ald. David Walker, were married in St Andrew's Church yesterday morning in the presence of a large and fashionable assembly.

The case of the Queen v. Gibson was argued in the Queen's Bench yesterday. This is a crown case reserved by the County Court at Hamilton as to the sufficiency of an indictment charging the defendant with injuring one Edward Buscombe in his trade as a bricklayer. A resolution was passed in the Hamilton Bricklayers and Masons Union that no union men should work on the new City Hall building as long as Buscombe was employed. Upon these facts an indictment was laid, which the County Judge reserved for the decision of the full court. After an extensive argument judgment was reserved.

The agreement between the city and the University authorities respecting Queen's Park lease and the chairs to be endowed by the city in connection therewith was finally concluded yesterday. The agreement provides that the actions against the city shall be dismissed, thus restoring the original lease with the balance of its term, namely, 970 years at a nominal rent. The two chairs established by the city are made conditional upon the Government of Ontario spending an equivalent sum ($6000) on the salaries of professors and lecturers in the School of Science to be maintained in Toronto. The effect of this is that the city practically secures an endowment of $12000 a year for the University by spending $6000 on the two chairs selected by it.

THE WHISKY DETECTIVES.

Charges of Perjury Against Them Fall to the Ground at St. Catharines.

ST. CATHARINES, Nov. 27.—Police Magistrate Comfort this morning gave his decision in the whisky detective perjury cases. He first took up the case of John Jaynes, which also applied equally to the case of Elijah Jaynes, and also indirectly on the case of Mrs. Sherlock. All the evidence, generally speaking, was greatly modified on cross-examination, and was not sufficient to commit the prisoners. In the case of Mrs. Sherlock, although there was no doubt she was anxious to tell what she thought to be true, she contradicted herself in several instances, and he thought it was simply from her memory failing her that caused her evidence to break down when it did. He would, therefore, also dismiss her case.

Montreal's Jack the Ripper.

MONTREAL, Nov. 27.—When the wife of Baker Jos. Cloran of McCord-street awoke this morning at 5.30 o'clock she found a man lying on the sofa in the sitting room. She hastened to the telephone to summon the police and then demanded the man's business in her house. He suddenly jumped up and drawing a large knife from his hip pocket remarked: "I am Jack the Ripper, and if you don't keep quiet I'll silence you." Hearing a noise on the front stair the individual rushed through a rear door and escaped just as four policemen entered the house.

Ingersoll Cheese Market.

INGERSOLL, Nov. 28.—This week 14 factories registered 7675 boxes principally September and balance of season's make, the total offering being considerably smaller than last week on account of several factories having sold through the week. Yesterday 4 factories sold 2735 boxes at 11½c. Sales through the week run from 11¼c to 11½c. Market brisk, 19 factories represented, 9 buyers present. Cable, 55 shillings, Cable, Nov. 26, 1887, was 59 shillings.

Albany Barley Market.

ALBANY, Nov 28.—Barley grows weaker in price every day although small changes have been made in quotations. Consumers are holding off for a lower basis of values before buying very extensively. Two-rowed state 79c. to 81c., six-rowed state 87c. to 88c., Canada 80c. to 90c., the latter price for choice No. 1 bright. Receipts 11 cars.

KNOCKED DOWN AND ROBBED.

A Belt Containing $200 Taken from Adam Ambrozenvitch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Adam Ambrozenvitch, a coal miner, removed from Pennsylvania to Jersey City a week ago with his family. He had saved $200 while working in the mines, and he carried it with him in a belt. Jacob Rueskoffski, William Stonowiski, and John Lavitski, also miners, came to Jersey City with him. They all intended returning to their native land. Ambrozenvitch had a friend in Jersey City, and was staying with his family at his house until the steamer for which they had tickets was ready to sail. Saturday night he went out for a walk. At the corner of Washington-street and Railroad-avenue three men stepped from behind a building, and one of them, who he says was Rueskoffski, said in Polish: "What have you got about you?"

"Nothing. Hello Jacob!" replied Ambrozenvitch. The three men then surrounded him he says, and demanded his money. He tried to get away and was knocked down. One of the men tried to get on his body, but he slipped away and got up. All three of them attacked him then, and finally succeeded in getting him down on the ground where they beat him until he was unconscious. When he recovered his senses he found that the belt with his money had been stolen. He went to Justice Weed's office and swore out a warrant for the arrest of the three men who had accompanied him from Pennsylvania. Rueskoffski was arrested and held in default of $1000 bail. He denied knowing anything about the robbery. The other two men could not be found.

Quick and Complete Destruction.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 27.—The storm has abated, much to the relief of property owners along the beach. A survey of the situation shows that no such destruction to property has ever been known since the incorporation of the city. The work of the waves was quick and complete.

Caught in the Hurricane.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Steamers which reached port to-day report having been caught in the hurricane, but no serious damage was sustained. The schooner Jonathan May, from Savannah with lumber, was driven ashore at Sandy Hook last night. She will probably go to pieces as the surf is very high.

A Clear Case.

"I am sorry to see you here, Mr. Shadbolt," said the police magistrate, "on a charge of being drunk on the street. I think this is your first offence, though, and I am not disposed to"—

"But I was not drunk, Your Honor," protested Shadbolt. "I knew exactly what I was doing. I can remember everything that took place, from the time Dinguss asked me to lend him $10 till the policeman collared me."

"You are well acquainted with Mr. Dinguss, I presume?"

"Certainly."

"Did you lend him the $10?"

"I did, your Honor, but"—

"The fine, Mr. Shadbolt, will be $3 and costs," remarked the magistrate, shaking his head sadly.

—The Ontario Legislature will probably meet on the 24th of January.

—The next municipal elections in Ottawa will be fought on the question of the abolition of exemptions from taxation.

Charged With Stealing Money.

Mr. John Mathison, who in company with James Vicburn is engaged as a wood dealer, at the police court this morning charged Thomas Minor with stealing from him $33. It appears that Minor has been engaged as engineer for the above firm, whose wood yard is situated near the market. On Monday Mr. Mathison left his vest hanging in the office containing the money, and during a short absence the money was abstracted therefrom. Suspicion was placed on Minor, who has since been watched, with the result that this morning he was arrested. He was brought before the magistrate who remanded him until Monday next.

Australia and Homeward.

The Rev. D. V. Lucas' work, under the above title, of which mention was made in Monday's issue, will be found interesting and entertaining. The author first gives a brief account of the aboriginies, and then describes the animals, birds and native trees and flowers of the island continent, after which he refers to the new race who have, by their superior knowledge, wrought such wonders in that far off land within half a century. The second portion of the book is composed of a series of twelve letters in which the journey home is described and the countries which border the route are briefly but instructively discussed. The book is written in a fluent and pleasing manner and is profusely illustrated. It is on sale at Scantlebury's; price $1.

The "Poet" Gay.

The "Master of all Poets" has written from his retreat, market square, Guelph, to the editor of the "Intelinger," transmitting a personal greeting in thrilling verse and two recently printed gems of the venerable master's art, entitled "Rev. John Wesley and Rev. Dr. Hoggs,"

"A few verses composed on two bright men
Who can never return to this earth again."

To be properly appreciated, these effusions must be read. The poet states the fact that he will be seventy eight years of age in March next, and he carols as follows on the subject:

"My name is Gay
And my hair is very little gray
And I feel as happy as the flowers
Last May, and no one to care for
But myself."

Lovel's Gazetteer and History.

Mr. John Lovell, the veteran publisher of Montreal, has just issued another prospectus of his projected "Gazetteer and History," page 7 of which shows how the entire work will be carried out. In his eleven volumes he proposes to give the history of 10,000 places, with descriptions of 3000 islands, lakes and rivers in the Dominion, all in alphabetical order. It is satisfactory to read his Instructions to over 100 Province Editors. He cannot put his great work in hand until he has a subscription list to cover cost of publication. He says that "the issue of Lovell's Gazetteer and History now rests with the Canadian people." The undertaking is worthy of encouragement, and all who can should subscribe at once to this work, and secure the issue of a faithful history of our great country.

Go and see them, whether you buy one or not; he makes no charges for trying them on.

A Pleasant Gathering.

This was the most successful concert ever held by the above, as the proceeds amounted to about $13. The concert was closed by all joining heartily in singing "God save the Queen."

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

County Council.

The November Session Opened at the County Chamber.

The last session of the County Council for this year was commenced on Tuesday afternoon at the Shire Hall.

The Warden and Councillors were all present.

The minutes of the last meeting of the June session were read and confirmed. The Warden, Mr. Bleecker, Reeve of Sidney, then addressed the Council as follows:

GENTLEMEN,—It gives me great pleasure to meet you at this the opening of the last session of this Council for this year and I think we can look back upon the year's work with satisfaction.

At the June session of this Council that vexed question of equalization, which has been a source of trouble and dissatisfaction for a number of years, was amicably arranged and I think has given pretty nearly general satisfaction.

The harvest has been successfully gathered, and while we entertained fears at one time that the crops in certain sections would be almost a complete failure, I think we have reason for great thankfulness to the giver of all good, that our fears in that direction were not realized. We know that some sections did suffer from the severe drought, but I believe as a whole taking the County together the harvest has yielded a fair return.

I have learned from the chairmen of both the bridge and gravel roads committee that the work reported necessary to be done at the June session has been accomplished and our roads and bridges are in a first-class condition. I have had occasion to travel across our new iron bridge at Marmora, that has been erected since our last meeting. It certainly is a beautiful structure and reflects credit upon the committee under whose control it was built, and also the builder, Mr. Weddell. I wish also to refer to our hospital that is in connection with the Home of the Friendless, and that it is successfully managed. I believe, in saying that, I voice the opinion of the Council, and that the good Christian ladies of the city, who have contributed so largely of their time and means towards its success, are worthy of all praise.

We must again congratulate our venerable Clerk upon his continued good health, and I am sure I speak the sentiments of this Council when I say that we trust he may long be spared to fill the position that he has so long held.

I have no doubt but at this session the business of the Council will be considered in the same pleasant manner that has characterized each session during the year, and that you will give each question due consideration, and deal with all upon their merits.

A communication from Toronto was read in reference to toll gates in the county.

The presentment of the Grand Jury at the fall assizes was read and filed.

On motion of Mr. Duncan, seconded by Mr. W. R. Aylsworth, the Council adjourned until Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 28.

MORNING SESSION.

The Council met pursuant to adjournment, the Warden in the chair.

The minutes of yesterday's proceedings were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From the Superintendent of the D. & D. Institute asking the Council to make a visit to the Institution during the present meeting.

From the Belleville Legal and Literary Society thanking the Council for the privilege of holding their meetings in the Council chamber, and asking that they at present be allowed to use the same.

It was moved that a deputation be heard from the society in reference to the communication.

Mr. J. Earl Halliwell was pleased to have the privilege of addressing the Council. He thanked the Council for the privilege they had extended to the Legal Literary Society in the use of the chamber, and he was sure it would be a favor to allow the society to use the chamber in future.

Mr. D. Kavanagh moved, seconded by Mr. W. R. Aylsworth, that the communication be referred to the committee on Ways and Means.—Carried.

The statement of the Treasurer, giving receipts and expenditure for the year, was laid on the table.

The Council went into committee of the whole on Ways and Means, Mr. C. F. Aylsworth in the chair.

The communication of the D. & D. Institute was first discussed.

Mr. W. R. Aylsworth thought that the invitation should be accepted. A number of the Councillors had never visited the Institution, and the present opportunity should be embraced. The Institution was doing a grand work, and a number of pupils were there from this County. He moved that the invitation be accepted.

Mr. Robt. Gordon seconded the motion. He thought that a visit to the Institute was time well spent, and the Council should accept the invitation.

The motion was carried, and to-morrow afternoon designated as the appointed time.

Mr. Vermilyea moved that the sum of $4 be refunded to Mr. Fuller as foreman of the Grand Jury, he paying the same when visiting the D. & D. Institute. The mover said he thought Mr. Fuller should not be compelled to pay this sum, as before and since the County has always paid the bills for visiting this Institution by the grand juries.

The communication of the Belleville Legal and Literary society was then discussed.

The Warden said he had never given his consent to allow this society to use this room, although they had met in it.

Mr. W. R. Aylsworth said the society had the privilege of using the room in times past. He thought that they ought in the city to be able to find a room in which to hold their meetings without using the county chamber. At present he thought that the prayer of the petition ought to be refused.

Mr. Robert Gordon thought that they represented a respectable class of the citizens of the county, and he was willing to favor the petition.

Mr. Duncan was in favor of the petition. He thought one good turn deserved another. The city had done at different times many acts which were in the interest of the county and under the circumstances the society should be allowed the use of the chamber until the January session.

The Warden and Mr. Ross spoke in the same sense.

Mr. Duncan moved that the Council chamber be allowed to the use of the society until the January session. Mr. Robt. Gordon seconded the motion, which was carried.

Mr. Wm. Mackintosh, School Inspector of North Hastings, presented an account amounting to $51.37, which was ordered to be paid, as were also the following accounts: Rathbun Company $91 59 for coal; INTELLIGENCER Printing Co. $117.60; Charles Cook $3 75; Educational department, Toronto, $273 70; Dr. Curlett $35; for the removal of lunatics and prisoners to other places of confinement, $211.92.

The committee rose and reported progress and asked leave to sit again.—Granted.

Moved that the committee rise.—Carried.

It being 12 o'clock the Warden left the chair.

Its Advantages and Disadvantages—A Wicked, but Fine Place.

(Correspondence of the Intelligencer.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17th, 1888.

Having a few moments at my disposal I thought I would give the readers of your paper a few facts about the city of San Francisco. I came here two years ago last September a stranger in a strange land. I didn't remain a stranger very long, for I soon fell in with friends whom I afterwards found to be true and worthy Orange men from the old sod. Having a light purse after my trip around by British Columbia I made up my mind to take the first job that I could get, at the same time keeping a lookout for something better. I soon went to work shovelling sand and from that to making white lead, then into the furniture business, which I am still following, only now as one of the firm. The first Sunday I spent here I thought I must have made a mistake in the day, for the peddlers were shouting in all directions. On going out upon the streets I found that the saloons were all open and a great number of stores doing business, the same as on Saturday; in fact, the Sabbath day is the saloon keeper's best business day. I also learned that a baseball match was to take place quite close to my rooming place; hundreds of respectable looking people crowded to the place, paying their 25c. and 50c. to see the game. The cheering of the multitude as the game went on annoyed me very much. On speaking about the Sabbath day being spent in such a way, I was told that this is a free country. I thought to myself it is free, but not the freedom we have at home in Canada. It is freedom here to serve the devil. A friend undertook to show me some of the sights of the city. We went through China town, a part of the city inhabited by the Chinese, where they have their own stores and carry on their own business. I will never forget the sights I saw on that trip, although now I pay little attention to the same things, for I see them quite often. China town is a terrible filthy place, in fact it takes a man with a pretty strong stomach to keep his last meal down while passing through. The China opium dens, where both sexes indulge in their favorite drug we left for the police to visit. Those who have been through them tell me I have seen very little of China town; well, I have seen enough anyway. After passing through China town we came to a street which was filled for several blocks with nothing but fallen and degraded women. We soon got out of this street into pure air again. I don't think there is a city in the States that needs reforming as much as this place. The saloons are numerous and all appear to make money. Between the two W's—wine and women—many a young man has been ruined for life. Notwithstanding the many temptations which the young man has to contend with here, there are strong influences for good thrown around, if they will but give heed. The Y. M. C. Association are doing a grand and noble work for the young men. Many a young man has been taken from the gutter and, like the prodigal son, brought back to his father's home. Don't let the reader think that this is the worst place in the world. No, by no means. All we want is reform, and then we have one of the finest places in the States. The climate is everything that could be desired, and as to the productiveness of the state, we have all kinds of fruit, vegetables and grain in abundance. The straw berries grow so large that it takes a man with a mouth split from ear to ear to get one in without first taking a bite off. The churches are alive to the great need of reform. We expect D. L. Moody here shortly. No doubt he will find plenty to do. An effort was made at the last election to have reform in schools by putting in able and intelligent women as school directors, and thus take the schools out of the hands of the politicans. Good industrious girls are very scarce here. They get from $20 to $25 per month and board. The winter rains have set in this week. The laborers are crowding in from the wooods.

Thanking you for making room in your valuable paper for these few lines I will let my pen rest for some future time.

Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto Coming.

We take pleasure in announcing the visit of Prof. Dorenwend of the Paris hair works, Toronto, with his magnificent assortment of styles in ladies' bangs, front-pieces, (plain and wavy,) switches, half wigs, full wigs, gents' wigs, toupees, &c. Wherever he has visited, the press is unanimous in praising him as an artist, and an energetic business man. This, together with the fact that he has the largest and most magnificent establishment of the kind on the continent will recommend him and his goods to the public, and we have no hesitation in saying that our readers and their friends cannot do better than invest in some of the Prof.'s goods, as satisfaction is sure. He will have his show rooms at Queen's Hotel, on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1. See his advertisement in another column.

"Some Odd Things in Australia."

This was the subject of a lecture which was delivered in the City Hall last evening by the Rev. D. L. Lucas. Despite the unfavorable weather, the attendance was fair. The lecturer, who has traversed sections of the country referred to, gave striking illustrations of the manners and customs of the people. He also shewed their manner of worship and dress. The lecturer was very attentively listened to by those present.

This evening the Rev. gentleman conducts services at the Tabernacle church.

To Cure a Corn.

There is no lack of so-called cures for the common ailment known as corns. The vegetable, animal, and mineral kingdoms have been ransacked for cures. It is a simple matter to remove corns without pain, for if you will go to any druggist or medicine dealer and buy a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor and apply it as directed the thing is done. Get "Putnam's," and no other.

—Nine fishermen are supposed to have starved to death at Romoish, on the Donegal coast.

—Diphtheria is very prevalent in Chicago, and is epidemic in many of the small towns in the interior of the State.

—The Belgian Government will ask the Chamber of Deputies for five millions to complete the national armaments.

—A despatch from Whitby, England, says that a lifeboat was upset there on Tuesday and that twelve persons were drowned.

RECKONING THE LOSSES.

Terrible Destruction of Life and Property Caused by the Storm.

COHASSET, Mass., Nov. 27.—The damage by the fearful storm which has raged along the south shore for the past three days is far in excess of anything of the kind before known in this locality and a careful inspection of the property along the coast line from Cohasset to Windmill Point, Hull, shows it to be much greater than was indicated in yesterday's despatches. All day long wreckage of various descriptions has been coming ashore along the beach, more particularly at Sandy Cove. Huge timbers, spars, cabin furniture, fine inside furnishings, chairs, life preservers and other articles appertaining to the steamer's outfit and many of them stamped with the word "Allentown" have been seen in the breakers off shore and found scattered along the water front. This wreckage tells too plainly that the steamer Allentown has been broken up on one of the huge sunken ledges off this port. The vessel must have gone down with all on board a very few minutes after striking.

$30,000 Damage Done at Coney Island.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The amount of damage done at Coney Island by the storm will probably reach $30,000.

The Cable Parted.

NANTUCKET, Mass., Nov. 27.—The cable connecting this island with the mainland has parted at the shore end and is lost.

Nova Scotia Notes.

HALIFAX, Nov. 27.—Alderman H. F. Worrall, flour and general grocer, has assigned. The liabilities are not stated, but will be heavy. Mrs. Worrall is preferred for $35,000. Mr. Worrall has been unfortunate in business speculations, and has lost a large amount of money. His latest loss was by Miller, the absconding baker. Mr. Worrall was not only a heavy creditor, but one of his bondsmen for supplying bread to the Imperial troops. Mr. Worrall had to take over the contract, and this also involved loss. Mr. Worrall married the widow of W. L. Black a few years ago, and she was worth a quarter of a million.

Last month 2127 ounces of gold were mined in Nova Scotia. The Old Albion mine at Montague, near Halifax, is being reworked by a small company. A $900 nugget was found on Saturday and purchased by the Local Government. It will be sent to the Imperial Exhibition at London.

A ten foot bed of rich copper ore, 1000 feet in length, has been struck at Coxheath copper mine, Cape Breton.

Mrs. Sarah O'Rourke said she was tired of life and attempted to jump off a wharf yesterday morning, but was dissuaded.

Done by Drink.

HALIFAX, Nov. 27.—Two revolting tragedies from drink are reported. Eliza Nixon, aged 35, wife of Thomas Nixon, blacksmith, drank herself to death, leaving a family of little children. At the coroner's inquest a woman swore that deceased drank "a pint and a half of gin a day." Last evening William Summers, an old soldier, got drunk and beat his wife. She ran into a next door neighbor's to escape his ferocity. Summers then smashed his stove and all the furniture, followed his wife and continued to beat her in the neighbor's house. This was objected to by Frank Norgraine, the neighbor, and the two men clinched. Summers got his grip on Norgraine's throat, and when he let go the latter exclaimed: "My God, I'm dying," and rolled over and died. He was a respectable man, aged 55, a native of Sweden. Summers is a drunken scamp of 35. He was arrested.

M. Wilson Sits Again With the Deputies.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—The Senate has adopted the commercial convention between France and China.

In the Chamber of Deputies Gen. Boulanger's election from the Department of the Nord was declared valid.

M. Wilson was again present in the Chamber of Deputies to-day. The deputies did not suspend the session as was done yesterday to manifest their displeasure at his presence.

The council of the Grand Orient Masons have decided to take part in the demonstration at the grave of the revolutionist Baudin on Dec. 2.

Erie Canal Navigation.

ALBANY, Nov. 27.—Supt. Shanahan has received telegrams from assistant superintendents along the line of the canal stating that on the Syracuse and Oswego divisions of the Erie boats can move as usual and locks 43, 44 and 45 are working in good order. Boats that ran aground Monday on Nine-mile Level are moving. There are 75 boats on Nine-mile Level west of Ilion. All moving ice is getting soft and the prospects are that all boats en-voyage will be able to reach port before Nov. 30, the day set for official closing of the canal.

General Assembly K. of L. Adjourns.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 27.—The General Assembly Knights of Labor took a final adjournment at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The Committee on Law recommended that the temperance plank now in the constitution remain intact. The place for the next meeting will be chosen by the General Executive Board.

The Pope's Departure.

ROME, Nov. 27.—The Moniteur says that the Pope's departure is the probable solution of the Roman question. It is certain that several nations would contend for the honor of receiving him.

The Osservatore Romano denies that the Pope is relying on the outbreak of war to gain temporal power.

The American Ejectments.

FORT DODGE, Iowa, Nov. 27.—The backbone of resistance to the Snell ejectments is effectually broken. Farmers from all parts of the disputed land were here yesterday, and five of them made settlements by which they will be allowed to resume possession of their farms. The terms made in most cases were called easy.

The Switchmen's Strike Declared Off.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—The strike of the switchmen employed at the Union Stock Yards because two members of the day force were appointed yard masters of the night force was declared off to-day and the strikers returned to work to-night. The matter was compromised.

Both Legs Were Cut Off.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Frederick P. Bagely, 18 years old, a native of St. Mary's, Ont., was trying to get on a freight train on the New Haven Railroad yesterday afternoon, when he fell on the track and was run over. Both his legs were cut off.

The Proposal Rejected.

ROME, Nov. 27.—The Senate to-day rejected a proposal to give illiterate persons the right to vote at elections for local administrative officials.

A Desperado Killed.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Nov. 27.—Bill Thompson, who killed Sheriff Gerty at Viau, I. T., Saturday, has been killed while resisting arrest.

SCHNEPPER DID KILL HIMSELF.

Waited in Central Park Until 5.40 a.m., and then Shot Himself Dead.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The warning to the Park police on Saturday that Barber Christian Schnepper had gone to the Park to commit suicide did not save Schnepper. At 5.40 o'clock Sunday morning Policeman Bagley heard a pistol shot near the Arsenal, and, hastening in the direction of the sound, found a man with a wound in the right temple. Beside him was a revolver. The man died in a few minutes. He was Schnepper, who left the house of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Rose, at 71 Bank-street, on Saturday night. He took her little boy into the street, gave him his watch and other jewelry and money, and told him to give them to his mother and tell her that Schnepper had gone to Central Park.

Schnepper had a barber shop in Red

Bank for five or six years. His business was good and he was prosperous and happy until about three years ago. He fell sick then, and when he was again well enough to go to work he found his skill gone. His hand was unsteady and he did not dare use a razor. He sold his business and subsequently tried to make a living by selling books and other light work. A year ago last summer he bought a kerosene oil route. He was obliged to give that up when cold weather came on. These reverses brought on the despondency which ended in his suicide. He was a member of the Knights of Pythias and other benefit orders.

THE LATEST IN TRUSTS.

Contemplated Formation of a Gigantic Railway Combine.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—A local paper says For several weeks past, Jay Gould, C. P. Huntington, Charles Francis Adams, W. B. Strong and other railroad magnates interested in Western railroads have been holding conferences in New York, in which Chairman Midgley of the Southwestern Railway Association has taken a prominent part. It has been learned that the project under consideration contemplates the formation of a gigantic railroad trust or clearing house comprising all roads between points west of a line drawn through Chicago and Milwaukee on the east, St. Paul and Minneapolis on the north, Colorado, New Mexico and Wyoming on the west and Arkansas on the south. All the existing freight and passenger associations within the territory named are to be abolished and merged in the new trust or clearing house.

A Rumored Settlement.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—There were many rumors current in regard to a settlement of trunk line matters to-day, but nothing official can be obtained.

Chauncey M. Depew said to-night that there is no definite plan under consideration for the settlement of the freight question. He thought, however, that the difficulties would be righted in a few days, but in answer to the many rumors of adjustment said: "I assure you we have done nothing more toward a settlement to-day than any other day this week."

Two Fatal Boiler Explosions.

POYNETTE, Wis., Nov. 27.—The boiler of a threshing machine exploded last evening, frightfully mangling and killing Jack Tuttle and Charles York and seriously injuring Allison Cross, Ira Hall, Warren Palmer and Wm. Buckley. Mr. Buckley was the owner of the machine, and died of his injuries.

COCHRAN, Ind., Nov. 27.—The boiler in the chair factory exploded yesterday, killing Wm. Benecke, John Stark and Wm. Matthews, jr., and severely injuring Fred. Bruce, the engineer. The factory was destroyed.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. Strange, but Still True.

Mrs. David Carstairs, Haldimand Township, met with a very pleasant surprise a few weeks ago. It seems Mrs. Carstairs has suffered a great deal from dyspepsia and indigestion, the symptoms of which were, pains in the stomach and bowels, and sick headache. She has tried a great many physicians, and an unlimited amount of patent medicines, but without any success; and last but not least, she tried Dowling's Pepsin Compound, and one bottle has removed both pain and ache. She returns the kindest regards to P. E. DOWLING, Cobourg, for his magnificent remedy. Belleville ladies, take pattern by this woman, and ask your Druggist for it.

A Quarter of a Century

For more than twenty-five years has Hagyard's Yellow Oil been sold by druggists, and it has never yet failed to give satisfaction as a household remedy for pain, lameness and soreness of the flesh, for external and internal use in all painful complaints.

FEVER AND AGUE AND BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS are positively cured by the use of Parmelee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, causing them to pour copious effusions from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

To lessen mortality and stop the inroads of disease, use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. For all diseases arising from Impure Blood, such as Pimples, Boils, Biliousness, Indigestion, etc., etc; it has no equal. Mrs. Thomas Smith, Elmira, writes: "I am using this medicine for Dyspepsia; I have tried many remedies, but this is the only one that has done me any good."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakens as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING STRUP," and take no other kind.

Nothing so surely obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but allowed to run their own course, generally prove the forerunner of more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their affliction from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. Dowell the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

Rest and Comfort to the Suffering.

"Brown's Household Panacea" has no equa for relieving pain, both internal and external It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. "It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal, as its acting power is wonderful. "Brown's Household Panacea," being acknowledged as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family handy for use when wanted, "as it really is the best remedy in the world for Draamps in the Stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds, and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cts a bottle.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. PRIDE AND PRIDE.

By Jane G. Austin.

"I will trample them under my feet in the morning," said she, in a voice strongly the savoring of the pride she had adjured.

Next came the roll of wheels, and then gay, brilliant, overwhelming Louisa Pomroy, on her way from Newport to Saratoga, and her rich fool of a husband, and Harry Melton, handsome, high bred, wealthy, and sworn admirer of Miss Murgatroyd.

They were to stay but a few days, and these days must be filled full of all sylvan pastimes and delights; so horses had been provided for all, and the very first morning a gay cavalcade rode into the woods to visit the logging camp deep in the heart of the forest.

"I haven't warned them that we were coming, and you will see the genuine camp life, Mrs. Pomroy," said Mr. Murgatroyd to the pretty bride, who tinkled out her baby laugh, and clasped her hands exclaiming:

"Oh, how perfectly lovely! And we will eat some of their—what was that word, now?—oh, their slapjacks, and hominy, and pork, and things—won't we Mary?"

"You may if you like, Lulu; it's not such a novelty to me," replied her friend, a little briefly, for she was listening to a very tender speech from Harry Melton, and wondering where Leon Leduc's work had taken him this morning.

As fate would have it, it had taken him to the logging camp, and at the last turn of the road they came upon him, standing beside a heap of bark, and directing its recording after the fatal blow it had received from a falling tree.

"Fine-looking fellow that!" remarked Mr. Melton, putting his glass to his eye, an i staring at Leduc just as he would have stared at a statue in a picture gallery.

"Yes; the overseer," replied Mary, quite audibly. "A very useful person; papa quite trusts him with his affairs here in the woods."

"So hard to find anybody worth trusting nowadays; dishonest employes quite the rule, you know—an awful bore." And having stared sufficiently at the phenomenon thus presented to him, Mr. Melton turned his glass upon the giant hemlocks, too grand to be supercilious, that looked good naturedly down at the pigmy staring up at them, and rustled a welcome. Mrs. Pomroy, who would have flirted with the old serpent just as surely as Eve did, had there been no other subject at hand, was meantime making eyes at Mr. Murgatroyd, and going into pretty raptures and wonderments over everything she saw. Such big trees! such dark foliage! such big axes! such smooth stumps! such fine-looking men! such picturesque red shirts! such a lovely blue sky away, way up so high! And oh! what was that!

"A crow's nest, ma'am," replied one of the woodmen, for her cavalier had stepped aside to speak to a knot of choppers consulting over the best direction to fell a new tree.

"A crow's nest! Dear me! I wish I could have it! I will give anybody a dollar to bring it to me. And the childish beauty clapped her hands and glanced gleefully around at the rough and admiring faces of the men.

"You are extravagant, Lu," remarked Mary, her slow haughty tones contrasting with the chattering treble of the other. "Any of the men would go if papa bade them. Leduc, can't you get that nest for the lady?"

"If having the tree cut down, Miss Murgatroyd," replied the overseer, fixing his eyes upon hers, for a moment, then slowly turning them away. "These men, you will remember, are hired for definite labor, not as general servants. I will have the tree felled at once if Mr. Murgatroyd wishes."

"It seems to me your model overseer is a little insolent," said Melton, half aside, and she replied:

"Children and servants always put on airs before company."

Then they rode on, Mrs. Pomroy lingering to cast an irresistible glance into the eyes of the handsome overseer, as she said, "Have it cut down, please, and I will keep the nest to remember a brave proud man by."

"I don't think you will care to keep it when you see it," replied Leon smiling briefly. "It is very big and very dirty."

It was after the loggers' dinner, at which the guests assisted as proposed, and just as they were mounting for their return home, that two men appeared, bearing between them from the forest the section of a hemlock-tree, with a mass of sticks, and hay, leaves, and filth built in and among the stumps of the severed branches. The overseer, handsome and smiling, led them forward, and said to Mrs. Pomroy as she stood with her brother and Miss Murgatroyd.

"This is the crow's nest, madam. You see it is hardly a pretty plaything for a lady."

"How curious!" exclaimed the beauty. And then she whispered to her friend: "Do give the man some money for me, dear. I am afraid to. Perhaps you are afraid too, though?"

"I!" exclaimed the proud girl, and taking out her portemonnaie, she selected a bank-note, and stepping up to Leduc, tendered it saying, "Mrs. Pomroy wishes to give you this to divide amongst you."

If Louisa Pomroy had feigned a terror she did not feel a moment before, she now felt a genuine terror. She did not speak as she saw the color drop out of the sunburned face, and the eyes contract and blaze as they fastened, not upon her, but the woman close beside him. For a moment both stood silent and menacing, then raising his hand, Leduc lightly struck the fluttering paper with the back of his fingers in a gesture of superb contempt, and said:

"Give it to Mr. Murgatroyd, if you please; he sells his lumber; but these men and I don't sell ourselves."

"Splendid fellow!" murmured Louisa Pomroy, and really felt what she expressed. Whatever Mary felt, she said nothing, nor did she cast one glance toward the tall figure striding toward the wood; but as Harry Melton put her upon her horse, he noticed with surprise that her face was white and shrunken.

(To be continued).

Among the Indians.

"While my husband was trading in furs he came across an Indian who was taken to his lodge to die. He had inward pains and pains in all his limbs. He gave some Yellow Oil internally and applied it externally, and cured him. It also cured my husband of rheumatism, and I find it valuable for coughs and colds, sore throat, etc." Mrs. A. Beaw, Cook's Mills, Serpent River, Ont.

The Modus Operandi.

The mode of operating of Burdock Blood Bitters is that it acts at once and at the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and the Blood, to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in Chronic Complaints.

CATARRH.

A New Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the interlining membrane of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes. The eminent scientists, Tyndall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made oftener than once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before an application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease.

So highly are these remedies valued that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy a parasite, of which they know nothing, by formulas, of the results of the application of which they are equal ignorant. Mr. Dixon's remedy is supplied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effect a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases.

Mr. Dixon sends a pamphlet describing his new treatment on the receipt of stamp to pay postage. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son, 303 King street west, Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Cured By B. B. B. When all Else Fail ed.

Mr. Samuel Allan, of Lisle, Ont., states that he tried all the doctors in his locality while suffering for years with Liver and Kidney trouble; nothing benefitted him until he took Burdock Blood Bitters, four bottles cured him.

Give Them a Chance?

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrah, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Is very palatable and much better than the plain oil. Dr. W. H. Cameron, of Halifax, N. S., says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver oil with Hypophosphites for the past two years and found it more agreeable to the stomach, and have better results from its use than any other preparation of the kind I have ever tried." Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

Hesitation means Loss,

If your hair is coming out or turning grey, or if you find dandruff in your hair do not hesitate, but do something after it. Get some of Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic," use it as directed and you will find that it will give you the best of satisfaction. Take nothing; do not wait till it is too late but try it at once. All druggists sell it.

TIMELY LONDON TOPICS.

KING MILAN'S GAMBLING ENTERPRISE FORBIDDEN.

A Clever Royal Surgeon—Serious News from Spain—Emperor William's Illness—The Queensberry Governor-ship.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Prince Louis Ferdinand of Bavaria, who married the Infanta Paz of Spain, is a very clever surgeon, and in one of the hospitals at Madrid recently operated on a woman suffering from cancer of the breast with complete success. His relative, Duke Charles Theodore, of Bavaria, the brother of the Empress of Austria, is both a skilful and a surgeon, and very skilful. But his fondness for the knife is not appreciated at the Vienna and Munich hospitals, for whenever he operates all regular arrangements are upset, and the whole staff is required to be in attendance on him. If one sister of mercy is sufficiently addressed as "Your Royal Highness," and strict etiquette is observed, all goes well; if she is decidedly a nuisance, which the Duke is at Vienna he often passes him whole day at the general hospital, and if his left foot, leg, ale to be cut he hastens joyfully to the work.... Both by the emperors of Russia and Austria to relinquish the plan which he had formed for enlisting his coffers for establishing public gambling tables at Belgrade. As the wealthy nobles of Hungary, Austria and Russia would inevitably have become the easiest victims of his Servian majesty's roguish and rouge et noir tables, the two emperors have peremptorily forbidden the enterprise.

News from Saskim in essence in serious ness. It is admitted that the present garrison is hardly sufficient to cope with the besieging force. Suakim itself cannot be taken, for the causeway by which it must be approached is commanded by British gunboats, but neither can the enemy's strong treschments be carried, nor their fire silenced. There is talk of sending more British troops to Suakim, and questions are asked in the House of Commons. Mr. Stanhope said troops would certainly be sent if needed, but not more than were needed to discipline the rebels.

Lord Randolph Churchill's advice to Lord Salisbury to appoint a successor to Lord Sackville forthwith has been declined with thanks, so Mr. Smith's answer to Mr. Gourley in the House of Commons was understood to signify. But there is some feeling on the matter, and some sound Tories interpret his answer as meaning no more than that Lord Salisbury has not yet made up his mind. Lord Randolph, I hear, considers it so important that unless something is done he will call the attention of the House to the subject. The House has really nothing to do with sending diplomatists abroad, and if Lord Randolph speaks it will be to put pressure on the Government indirectly. Many member of the House agree with him, and the Opposition may be tripped up because they if he wishes to be disagreeable to the Prime Minister. There is outside the House very little interest in the matter.

The Duke of Marlboro's quarrel with the rector of Woodstock has drawn forth a letter from the rector. The Duke, he says, has not closed the schools and has no power to close them. He has withdrawn his subscription, but it was only $50, not $500 as reported. He has therefore called the rector to give religious instruction in other schools, which seem to be under the management. Finally he has withdrawn the rector's privilege of driving through Blenheim park. The rector, it would seem, said, put himself in the wrong originally by assuming to pronounce against the validity of the duke's recent marriage. Whether the duke could not afford to ignore this is a question upon which perhaps can only be answered in Woodstock.

The Duchess of Sutherland's death is sincerely regretted, but socially will have little effect in London, except that of putting a number of families into mourning. Stafford House has rarely been opened of late. The Duchess has for many years had not only the respect, but for reasons widely known, the deep sympathies of society. The duke's absence, at such a moment, the circumstances of his journey and his companionship are commented upon with severity. The Queen's journey to London and visit to the family are a striking proof of her friendship for the late duchess.

There have been many reports in court circles here of late that Emperor William is suffering from an acute attack of his cironic trouble, a swelling inside the ear, about which the doctors are much alarmed. It keeps the poor old man awake continually, and drives him to contemplate the preparation for relief. His odd way of turning up at sunrise drills, and his strangeness in making from one palace to another at all day, are thus accounted for. On Sunday one of the people best informed in England on inner Berlin news told me that he had become worse during the last few days and it is announced that owing to a cold he will remain indoors during the rest of the week. If the ear malady should take a serious turn there would be immense excitement all over Europe.

There is a rumor in the lobbies that Lord Balfour of Burleigh is to be Governor of Queensland, in place of Sir Henry Arthur Blake, who will be forced to resign in the face of the Irish protest.

CUT HIS THROAT.

A Letter to Two Witnesses in His Pocket—Waiter Strong Will Not Die.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—George Strong, 47 years old, a waiter by occupation and an Englishman by birth, tried to kill himself at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon by cutting his throat with a razor at his lodging house, 54 New Chambers street. Thomas Cassidy and Charles Broad, who lived in the house, and Thomas Gorman of 18 Cherry street told the Oak street police that they were all in Strong's room when Strong caught up a razor, the blade of which was tied to the handle by a string, and drew it across his throat. After notifying the police they found the following note:

"Dear Tom and Charley: God Bless you both. I am starving for hunger. I hope the Lord will forgive me for this. George Strong."

On the other side of the sheet Strong had written:

"Mr.——has Being the Carce of all this, but I forgive him."

Strong is said to have a wife living in England. The police noted "despondency" as the cause of his attempt at suicide. He was taken to the Chambers street Hospital, and will probably recover.

France's Extra Budget.

PARIS, Nov. 29.—The Budget Committee of the Chamber of Deputies before approving the extra Budget of 1,000,000,000 francs for proposed defensive work has decided to interrogate M. De Freycinet, Minister of War, on the necessity for the works and the Minister of Finance on the extent of resources already available.

ONLY TWO BIG HOLES WERE FOUND.

And 1000 Pounds of Nitro-Glycerine, a Team and a Magazine Vanished.

TERRYVILLE, Pa., Nov. 29.—A shock like an earthquake was caused by an explosion of nitro-glycerine at the Van Vleck Magazine, one mile north of Pleasantville. "Doc" Haggerty, employed by the Torpedo Company, whose factory is situated on Hemlock Run, ten miles above Warren, left the factory early in the morning with a load of 1000 pounds of glycerine in cans for the Van Vleck Magazine. He passed through Pleasantville about 11.30 o'clock. Half an hour later the explosion was heard. A party left at once for the magazine. At the place where it had stood they found a great cavity in the hillside, and just in front of this where the team had stopped with the load was another hole twenty feet square and ten deep. Not the slightest trace of Haggerty was found. About two hundred yards away a few small bits of horse flesh were picked up, but not another vestige of the team, driver or magazine remained.

Haggerty lived at Hemlock and leaves a widow and six children. He was an experienced driver, and it is thought that rough roads caused the disaster, although another theory of the explosion is that in unloading the nitro-glycerine Haggerty dropped one of the cans.

A schoolhouse about a quarter of a mile from the magazine was completely wrecked and the dwelling house of a man named Gutshaw was shaken to pieces, and Mrs. Gutshaw, who was looking out of the window, was fatally injured by flying debris. Trees, rocks and earth were hurled in all directions. Luckily for the people of the village the magazine did not contain the usual amount of nitro-glycerine.

WIDDEMER CHOOSES HIS WIFE.

He Could not Keep Her and His Pastorate too, so He Threw up the Latter.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29.—By the terms of the sentence imposed upon the Rev. Howard T. Widdemer by Bishop Whitaker, the clergyman was practically obliged to choose between keeping his wife and remaining in the Protestant Episcopal Church. He has now decided to accept the former alternative, and on Friday last he sent the following letter to the Bishop of the Diocese of Pennsylvania:

"NEW YORK, Nov. 23, 1888.

"Right Rev. O. W. Whitaker:

"I desire hereby to withdraw from all connection with the Protestant Episcopal Church, in order that I may feel entirely free to continue in the Lord's work in whatever direction his providence may seem to point. Please accept this letter as a final and absolute severance on my part of all relations with the above named church.

"Very truly, HOWARD T. WIDDEMER."

The charges upon which Mr. Widdemer was found guilty by an ecclesiastical court and sentenced by the Bishop was the violation of the church canon upon marriage and divorce. It was proven that he had been divorced from his first wife in Hartford, Conn., on April 11, 1882, upon a charge of desertion, and that on Nov. 1 of the same year he married again, the first wife being then living.

IF SICK HEADACHE IS MISERY, what are Carter's Little Liver Pills if they will positively cure it? People who have used them speak frankly of their worth. They are small and easy to take.

Valuable to Know

Consumption may be more easily prevented than cured. The irritating and harassing cough will be greatly relieved by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

A Rare Combination.

There is no other remedy or combination of medicines that meets so many requirements, as does Burdock Blood Bitters in its wide range of power over nearly all Chronic diseases as Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Complaint, Scrofula and all humors of the blood.

There are a number of varieties of worms. Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them. Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

Orin Catlin, 49 Pearl Street Buffalo, N. Y., says I tried various remedies for the piles but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications.

Mrs. GEORGE LESCH, Hadmand Township, has received more benefit from two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters, than anything she has ever taken in her life. She has been troubled with biliousness, poor appetite and constipation for years. Now she has none of these troubles. People write to her and see how she recommends you to take Dowling's Pepsin Compound if you are Dyspeptic.

The cheapest medicine in use is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, because so very little of it is required to effect a cure. For croup, diphtheria, and all sore of the lungs and throat, whether used for bathing the chest or throat, or for taking internally or inhaling, it is a matchless compound.

☞ What does Dowling's Pepsin Compound cure? Dyspepsia and Indigestion. What are the symptoms? Biliousness, constipation, lack of energy, drow ness, headache, in fact the whole stomach, bad taste in the mouth, depression of spirits. Ask your druggist for it.

Dowling's Little Liver Granules are highly recommended for all diseases of the liver.

Mr. Thomas Hilard, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: I have been afflicted for many years with that most to be dreaded disease Dyspepsia, and at times was run out with and want of sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended I tried one box of Parmelee's Valuable Pills. I am now nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money.

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body. Mr. D. Cantwell, Darnwell P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

☞ Of all the dyspeptic remedies ever placed in the markets, Dowling's Pepsin Compound takes the lead. Why? Because it acts naturally on the digestive organs if the stomach, and not mechanically, like the other patent medicines. Besides, it helps to assimilate and digest all the foods that enter the stomach. Ask your druggist for a bottle.

Be levil-ites follow the example of Mrs. Geo. Leech, of Haldimand, and many others, and rid themselves of that dire disease, dyspepsia and indigestion.

The Dangerous Coal Oil.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—The explosion of poorly refined coal oil is the cause of another accidental burning. A little girl named Boudinger living on Maple street, while helping her mother in domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while resting on the table. Her burning clothing was soon reduced from her with much difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quickly summoned and the poor child is suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined the considerable quantity of inferior Coal oil is being sold.

In order to avoid these low grades we have tak n the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil:

'CARBON SAFETY OIL'
A specially refined and superior grade of Canadian Oil.
ASTRAL OIL,
A high grade American Oil.
These we can most confidently recommend to our retail trade as goods that will give entire satisfaction.
We are also fully supplied with Water White and Prime White American Oil and the usual brands of Canadian Oil.

DR. WILLIAM'S INDIAN PILE OINTMENT
Will cure Blind, Bleeding or Itching Piles. No one need suffer. Prepared for Piles only. Is a never fails to cure. Sold by druggists for $1.00, or mailed on receipt of price. WILLIAMS MFG Co., Cleveland, Ohio.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institution, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the women and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an supporting cordial and restorative agent.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, it is, in many cases, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhœa, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe, remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small occasional doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrappers, and faithfully carried out for many years.

Large bottles (100 doses) $1.00, or Six bottles for $5.00.

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, NOV. 29

ELECTORAL REFORM.

The gross corruption which has long prevailed in connection with politics in the United States, and which was made manifest in a marked manner during the recent Presidential contest, has led to a demand by the press of that country for such a reform of the laws as will ensure purity of election. So great has the evil become that the Detroit Evening News says:

"The United States seems to have reached a stage where money is the prime factor controlling our elections. The increase of poverty and the large floating vote makes the result merely a matter of dollars and cents. The party raising the biggest corruption fund and expending it in the most judicious ways has the offices.

"Here is the first great danger menacing the republic—corruption at the ballot box. Strike down this buying of votes, and money will lose its power to make results in this manner. This can only be done by an act only allowing secrecy in the depositing of the ballot, but by requiring it. No maudlin sentimentality about the "liberty" of showing the ballot to a friend "for consultation" before depositing it must be allowed to make election day a time for bribery.

"How can this secrecy be secured? Simply by taking away the opportunity to sell a vote; by not allowing the elector to show it. That this may work a hardship in isolated cases is apparent, but that on the whole it will re ult in a much healthier political condition cannot be denied.

The state of affairs which our contemporary depicts is certainly lamentable and calls for reform; but the remedy which it proposes is not adequate to effect the desired end, although an improvement might be caused. At least such has been the experience of Canada and Great Britain, in which just such laws as the Free Press suggests have for some fifteen years been in force. The effect of these laws has probably been to lessen corruption, but in Canada there have been not less than one hundred elections set aside for bribery and corruption, and in several cases of a notable character, as involving ingenious devices to cheat the law. The London, Lincoln, Lennox, Dundas, Chambly, Niagara, Jacques Cartier, Glengarry, Ottawa county, Lsprairie, and other cases in this country show that the law had largely failed of its object. And yet, probably, the elections in Canada are as pure as in any other country in the world. A complete cure for electoral corruption has yet, evidently, to be devised.

EXTRADITON TREATY WITH MEXICO.

Mexico has hitherto afforded a safe retreat for Canadian criminals of the lesser grade, but this state of affairs is not likely to continue much longer, as we learn from the Ottawa correspondence of the Empire that the Imperial authorities have submitted to the Government for their approval a draft of a proposed extradition treaty with Mexico. It is most liberal in its provisions, covering 23 offences, and including all such offences as burglary, fraud, threats to extort money, arson, rape, etc., whilst dynamitards are included within the operations of the treaty. The drafts meets with the hearty concurrence of our Government, and a despatch will be forwarded to the Colonial Secretary to this effect. One clause of the treaty provides that all expenses connected with the extradition of an individual shall be borne by the demanding State.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

Great Britain, the United States and Germany have a difference as to Samoa, and some angry correspondence is said to have passed between the Governments on the subject. The two former, whose interests are identical, have been acting in concert.

The Cleveland, (Ohio), Leader says:

"It is strange that the British Colonies of Canada and Australia should beat the United States, and the Mother Country as well, in rowing. They have only 8,000,000 people against 100 000,000, but O'Connor, Searle, Kemp, Beach and Hanlan, three Australians and two Canadians, could probably not be matched by any other five oarsmen in the world to-day."

Jacob Gaudaur, too, is a Canadian, and makes the sixth champion—three Canadians and three Australians.

The man who was last seen in the company of the latest victim of the Whitechapel murder fiend was thus described by a witness:

"The man was about 5ft 6in in height and 34 or 35 years of age, with dark complexion and black moustache turned up at the ends. He was wearing a long, dark coat trimmed with astrakhan, a white collar with black necktie, in which was affixed a horseshoe pin. He wore a pair of dark spats with light buttons over button boots, and displayed from his waistcoat a massive gold chain. He also had a big seal with a red stone hanging from it. He had a heavy moustache curled up, and dark eyes and bushy eyebrows. He had no side-whiskers, and his chin was clean shaven. He looked like a foreigner. I could swear to the man anywhere. He carried in his right hand, which he held up in his excitement, a bunch of brown kid gloves. He walked very softly."

The attention of the Minister of Customs having been called to the question of admitting mining machinery free of duty, Mr. Bowell said the whole question is under the consideration of the Government, who are disposed to afford every facility that can be given for the development of our mining resources.

The Minister of Militia having been attacked through the Montreal Herald for importing uniforms for the North-West Mounted Police from England instead of getting them manufactured in Canada, according to the principles of the National Policy, the following effective reply has been made: In the first place the Minister of Militia has nothing to do with the Mounted Police, that whole body of men being managed by the N. W. M. P. Department, under the efficient leadership of Cmmissioner Police White; and in the second place, all the uniforms for the Police are manufactured in Canada. Since the introduction of the National Policy, scarlet cloth for tunics, serge for summer wear, blue cloth for riding breeches, and the grey cloth for overcoats are made in Canada, and the uniforms made up in this country. Before the introduction of the N. P. everything used by the police, even to the flannel for their shirts, had to be imported. The only articles imported for the force are the helmets, a certain class of button, and trimmings such as yellow braid, which are not made in Canada.

Those graduates of the Kingston military college who have taken commissions in the British army, have done credit to their instructors and to themselves, as they have been admitted to be the equals, if not the superiors, of those trained in the mother country. The last batch numbered seven, of whom four are French Canadians—a fact over which, the Montreal Gazette suggests, the preachers of disintegration might find it profitable to ponder.

"There was a frog who lived in a spring,
He caught such a cold that he could not sing."

Poor, unfortunate, Barrachian! In wha a sad plight he must have been. And yet his misfortune was one that often befalls singers. Many a once tuneful voice among those who belong to the "genus homo" is utterly spoiled by "cold in the head," or on the lungs, or both combined. For the above mentioned "croaker" we are not aware that any remedy was ever devised; but we rejoice to know that all human sufferers may keep their heads clear and throats in tune by a timely use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical discovery, both of which are sold by druggists.

—Over 200 members of the North-West Mounted Police, or about one-fifth of their number, have post office savings bank accounts, their joint accumulation amounting to about $25,000.

—The British manufacturers of cotton thread have formed a trust and advanced prices 33 per cent. And the free trade papers in Canada cry out, "Combines are impossible under free trade."

—A correspondent, describing the effects of a squall upon a canal boat, says—"When the gale was at its highest, the unfortunate craft heeled to larboard, and the captain and another cask of whiskey rolled overboard."

—Robinson—"I say, Dumley, that umbrella I lent you last week, I saw Jones carrying this morning." Dumley—"You don't say so. I let Smith take it yesterday, and he must have loaned it to Jones. That man Smith can't be depended upon."

THERE IS NO ONE ARTICLE IN THE LINE of medicine that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters.

THE LAST DAY IN JANUARY

FINALLY FIXED FOR THE MEETING OF PARLIAMENT.

The Stanley Wasn't in the Storm—Confusing Geographical Nomenclature—The Chaudiere Lumber Cut.

OTTAWA, Nov. 29.—At the meeting of Council yesterday it was decided to call Parliament for the despatch of business on Thursday, Jan. 31.

The Auditor only left about the new Government steamer Stanley, which it was feared had been caught in the recent storm, but was allayed by the receipt by the Marine Department of a cable message from Glasgow stating that the steamer was only handed over by the builders to the agent of the department on Saturday, and was expected to sail from Greenock yesterday.

Sheriff Hathaway of Clark County, Mont., arrived here yesterday for the purpose of getting the warrant for the extradition of George Goden, or Coden, a French half-breed who escaped from Helena Jail while under sentence of death for the murder of an old settler named Embody. Goden was captured by the Northwest Mounted Police and is in jail in Edmonton. The police will receive a reward of $300 for his arrest. Sheriff Hathaway left for Edmonton last night.

The Commissioner of Inland Revenue will probably order another analysis of milk to be made shortly. The department is at present analyzing baking powders.

In a letter received by a gentleman here the school instructor of the Oka Indians who received a few years ago from the township of Gibson, Muskoka district, reports that the crops have been very good. There is plenty of work on the reservation and wages are high.

Dr. Montizambert, medical officer at Grosse Isle quarantine station, is in the city. He says that the number of cases of infectious disease dealt with at the quarantine station were about the same as last year. The new regulations which went into operation in 1887 are working admirably and producing the most satisfactory results. Dr. Montizambert states that it is not uncommon for him to have yellow fever cases to deal with. Last August he believed some convalescent cases arrived at Grosse Isle. The patients were landed and kept in the hospital until well and the vessel was thoroughly fumigated. In regard to the scheme of building a landing at Grosse Isle on the plan of that at New Orleans for disinfecting clothes and bedding, Dr. Montizambert says he is still inquiring into the subject and he will very likely recommend that the New Orleans plan be not only adopted and that the construction of the landing be put off for another year. He has studied the whole question in the United States and is convinced that it is possible to get some better system.

Lieut. Gilbert representing the Dominion Land Surveyor's Association had an interview with the Minister of Interior yesterday with reference to the geographical nomenclature in the North-west. They pointed out that the same names for lakes and rivers were repeated over and over again, which rendered it very confusing. Mr. Dewdney promised to take the matter into consideration.

The lumber cut by the Chaudiere mills during the past season is estimated at about 500,000,000 feet which is somewhat in excess of last year's cut.

The contract for harbor works at Penetanguishene has been awarded by the Public Works Department to Porter & Reed of Wiarton.

Hon. Mr. Chapleau's health does not improve, and some of his friends are urging another trip to Paris, but he scarcely feels strong enough to undertake a sea voyage at this time of the year.

Commander Bolton of the Bayfield has presented to the Marine Department his report on the survey of the Georgian Bay. He conducted last summer in the entrance to Collingwood harbor and a portion of the bay near Owen Sound.

Mr. A. M. Burgess, Deputy Minister of Interior, who has been on sick leave for three months, will resume his duties on Jan. 1, by which time it is expected his health will be entirely restored.

NO LAW TO FIT THE CASE.

A Woman Arrested in Montreal for Wearing the Attire of a Man.

MONTREAL, Nov. 28.—A woman named McKeon was brought before the Chief of Police yesterday charged with going about dressed in men's clothes She came from below Quebec some six months ago and hired out as a servant to a gentleman in this city and has been working there ever since. She has occupied the same room with the coachman who yesterday morning made the discovery that she was a woman dressed in man's attire and had her arrested. The Chief discharged her as he could find no law under which he could hold her. She says that she left her husband because he threatened to kill her and she was dressed in men's clothes in order to obtain employment.

Ambition City Notes.

HAMILTON, Nov. 29.—Shortly before noon yesterday a scaffold on which several men were working at a building in process of erection, gave way and Marshall Kirkendall, a painter, was thrown to the ground, a distance of about 20 feet. His jaw was broken and he sustained other painful injuries. The other men saved themselves by jumping on the roof of the bay window.

J. D. Barnes of Philadelphia, Supreme Chief of the Knights of the Golden Eagle, instituted a lodge of the order here last evening.

A painter named Pollit took a fit at the top of the main staircase of the Masonic Building yesterday morning, and tumbled to the bottom. The fall cured his fit and he was able to walk home.

The work on the two arches for the Stanley reception is proceeding rapidly. The merchants' and manufacturers' arch will be 70 feet high. It is a double arch, with one passage for the street car lines, and the other for carriages.

Burned In His Cabin.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 29.—The facts regarding the death of Stephen Shelby who was burned to death in his cabin on the fifth concession of Yarmouth, are such as lead to the impression that deceased had while drunk overturned the lamp, which set fire to his cabin, consuming it and him also.

Sympathy from a Sister Republic.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—The Secretary of State has sent the following telegram to the Chancellor of the Swiss Confederation at Berne: "By direction of the President I make expression of the sorrow felt throughout the United States for the death of the honored head of the Swiss republic."

Rioting Pennsylvania Miners.

MOUNT CARMEL, Pa., Nov. 29.—Two gangs of Russian and Italian miners, between whom there has existed a bitter feud for months, met on the streets of Mount Carmel yesterday, and for an hour a bloody riot followed. Several on both sides were stabbed, and the injuries of three of the men may prove fatal.

John McCullough's Memorial.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29.—The bronze bust of John McCullough, the dead tragedian, in the character of Virginius was unveiled at Mount Moriah Cemetery yesterday afternoon in the presence of a distinguished company of members of the histrionic profession and friends of the actor.

The Rate Conference Committee.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—The Conference Committee representing the lines east and west of Chicago, having under consideration the division of rates on through traffic, adjourned yesterday subject to the call of the chairman.

An Orange Steamer.

CHARLESTON, S.C., Nov. 29.—The steamer Gulf Stream, which sailed from New York for Charleston on Friday last, has not been heard from.

HEALY HATES HASTINESS.

HIS AMENDMENTS TO THE LAND PURCHASE BILL ACCEPTED.

But He Objects to the Third Reading and the House Adjourns—Mr. Harrington Not to Be Arrested at Present.

OTTAWA, Nov. 29.—In the House of Commons last evening Mr. Balfour said that Edward Harrington would not be arrested under the pending warrant against him during the debate on the Irish estimates.

Mr. Smith announced the withdrawal of the Tax Bill.

The debate on the Irish Land Purchase Bill was resumed and Mr. Mahony (Nat.) moved the insertion in the bill of a new clause to the effect that the Land Commission shall take as security for the payment by tenants of their instalments the improvements executed by the tenant or his predecessor on his title.

Mr. Balfour opposed the motion on the ground that it would introduce great confusion, and also because it was against the interests of the purchasing tenant.

The motion was rejected.

Mr. Smith, the Government leader, appealed to the House to assist in closing the discussion on the bill. The Government, he said, was desirous of meeting the Opposition as far as possible and would accept the series of amendments proposed by Mr. Healy relating to subletting to labourers and also the provision that the Land Commission shall not sanction an advance of money to a tenant unless they are certain that the application of the tenant was not made under duress. The Government also intended to promote the bill dealing with the registration of titles.

Mr. Morley and Mr. Sir Wm. Lefevre both expressed themselves satisfied with these concessions and Mr. Smith thereupon moved that the bill be read a third time.

Mr. Healy, however, objected on account of undue haste and the House adjourned.

Henry George on the Land Purchase Bill.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Mr. Henry George, in a speech at Glasgow last evening, said that the feeling of the country was against buying out the Irish landlords. If it was good to use the national credit to enable countrymen to buy their own land, why was it not good to use the national credit to enable townsmen to buy their house?

What "Roaster" Means.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Several witnesses were examined before the Parnell Commission yesterday with reference to outrages in the Castle Island district, County Kerry. Maurice Kennedy, a farmer, reluctantly gave evidence regarding the proceedings of the local league of which he himself was a member. He had heard the word "roaster" used at meetings of the league but did not know its meaning. Mr. Shannon, a Dublin solicitor who is assisting The Times, testified that Kennedy told him that the local league had a list of roasters hung up in the office. Roaster meant a turn-spit for roasting or boycotting landlords. The people were forbidden to work for man whose names were on the list of roasters.

The Plan Failed.

DUBLIN, Nov. 29.—The efforts of the tenants on the Marquis of Conyngham's estate at Glenties to carry out the plan of campaign has failed and they have accepted a reduction of five shillings. Their demand was for a reduction of eight shillings.

European Disarmament Impracticable.

BERLIN, Nov. 29.—In the Reichstag yesterday the debate on the budget was resumed and Herr Liebknecht (Radical) attacked the foreign policy of the Government and suggested that it ought to propose a general European disarmament.

Herr von Boetticher, Prussian Minister of State and Imperial Secretary of State for the Interior, declared that the suggestion was impracticable. Prince Bismarck, he said, had never provoked a conflict—on the contrary he steadfastly sought peace. The Federal Governments were well aware that the social legislation of past years has not removed all evils, but they would have been held faithless of duty if they had done nothing. Their endeavors had been to remedy the evils singly. The Government cast back upon the Socialist party the charge of pursuing a policy of agitation. It was the desire of the Government to reconcile antagonism and promote the welfare of all classes.

ROME, Nov. 29.—The Vatican has received hundreds of telegrams inquiring whether the Pope intends to quit Rome. Cardinal Rampolla has replied to the Nuncios abroad that nothing has been decided upon.

A large audience nearly split their sides in Shaftesbury hall last night while witnessing the funny pranks that Professor Reynolds, the mesmerist, made his subjects perform. Lucas lectured last evening in the Tabernacle to a large audience on "The Indian Tribes of Canada, their numbers, customs, oratorical powers, their wit and the direful effects of intoxicants among them in past years." The chair was occupied by Mr. Crossland presided and the Rev. Mr. Browning also took part in the proceedings.

Each article is carefully made, is light and strong, and when worn cannot be detected by the closest observer. Prof. Dorenwend will be at Queen's Hotel on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1st, and will show a big stock of them. Go and see them, whether you buy one or not; he makes no charges for trying them on.

The Council went into committee of the whole on Ways and Means; Mr. C. F. Aylsworth in the chair.

An account of Dr. Sutton, Madoc, for $5, for the examination of a supposed lunatic, being presented,

Mr. Duncan was opposed to the payment of this bill, as was also W. R. Aylsworth.

Mr. Kavanagh said that in the present case the Dr. thought the person should not be committed to the county gaol, hence the Dr.'s account ought to be paid by the county.

Moved by P. P. Clark, seconded by D. Kavanagh, that a grant of $50 be given to St. Ola road, township of Limerick.

Mr. Duncan thought the grant should not be given, and he hoped the motion would be withdrawn.

The grant was carried.

Moved by Mr. W. R. Aylsworth, seconded by Mr. Thompson, that $25 be granted to the Teachers' Institutes of North and South Hastings, to be paid to the inspector of each Institute.

Mr. W. R. Aylsworth thought that these Institutes should be kept up, as they were doing good and they needed the money, and he was for paying the same.

The motion was carried.

The account of Messrs. Bell & Biggar, for legal services tot the county, amounting to $121 80, was ordered to be paid.

Moved by Mr. Thompson, seconded by Mr. Bacon, that a grant of $100 be made to the township of Madoc for the purpose of gravelling the Marsh road leading from Madoc village to the bridge on Eldorado.

Moved by Mr. J. M. Clarke, seconded by Mr. W. E. Gladney, that $50 be granted to the Cumo road leading to Wadsworth Lake, the grant to be taken out of next year's appropriation.

Mr. E. Gladney moved, seconded by Mr. Hilton, that $200 be granted to the Colonization road in Marmora, on condition that the Government give the same. The mover said the work on this road had to be done during the fall or the spring and he hoped the Council would see their way clear to grant the same.

Moved by Mr. Kavanagh, seconded by Mr. Vermilyea, that a grant of $50 be given to all the northern municipalities, that amount to be taken out of the June appropriation.—Carried.

The accounts of the Ontario Printing Co. amounting to $454 55, E. Harrison for stationary $36, and John Johnston, School Inspector for South Hastings for 38 60 were ordered to be paid.

Moved by John Bateman, seconded by Mr. Williams, that a grant of $100 be expended and he did not wish to assist in making any Operations at this session.

After some further discussion the motion was withdrawn.

The committee rose and reported progress and asked leave to sit again.—Granted.

On motion of Mr. Duncan, seconded by Mr. W. R. Aylsworth, the Council adjourned until Thursday morning at 10:30.

Bridgewater Correspondence.

The marble deposit here is being gotten into workable condition by Mr. J. E. Harrison. The exposed layers of the formation are manufactured into lime, making it a white lime of superior quality, better in every respect than that made from the ordinary limestone. The process leaves uncovered the pure white material so much sought after for ornamental and ornamental purposes. It is hoped that this marble will soon be transformed into many a noble structure in the towns and cities of this country.

The women of this place are enterprising. They have inaugurated a series of entertainments to be held during the winter season. The first of the series takes place on Thursday evening; the programme, it is said, is literary and musical in its character, and will be as interesting as intellectual.

In spite of all the evil whiskey has done, it seems there are still left those who are its slaves. A most disgraceful scene was witnessed on our streets last evening. Three young men from, it is said, the neighboring village of Tweed, in possession of a horse and buggy evidently not their own, disturbed the place by the use of most shameful blasphemy as they drove through the streets, and abusing at the same time the poor dumb animal in a most uncalled for and shameful way. This same has been witnessed here before quite recently. An authority over such matters is very much needed here.

Mr. J. Tuttle, a much respected and worthy citizen, has gone to British Columbia. A local merchant has advertised a sale of his stock and declares his intention of going thither also.

Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto Coming.

We take pleasure in announcing the visit of Prof. Dorenwend of the Paris hair works, Toronto, with his magnificent assortment of styles in hair goods, (front puffs, plain and wavy,) switches, half wigs, full wigs, gents' wigs, toupees, &c. The Professor is noted as the manufacturer of the best and most natural hair goods in America. Wherever he has visited, the press is unanimous in praising him as an artist, and an energetic business man. This, together with the fact that he has the largest and most magnificent establishment of the kind on the continent will recommend him and his goods to the public, and we have no hesitation in saying that Belleville and their friends cannot do better than invest in some of the Prof.'s goods, as satisfaction is sure. He will have his show rooms at Queen's Hotel, on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1. See his advertisement in another column.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Wandering Jew to Sail from England Today—A Suspected Murderer.

TORONTO, Nov. 28.—Robert Duggan, who a short time since had his foot crushed in the works of Messrs. Inglis & Hunter, will have to lose it to-day.

Roland Gideon Israel Barnett, whose connection with the frauds perpetrated on the Central Bank occasioned a hurried leave-taking from the city, and who was subsequently arrested and held in London, Eng., sails for Canada to-day in charge of a Scotland Yard detective.

Geo. Gowland, who carried on a jewelry establishment at 101 King street east, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of insanity and lodged in No. 1 Station. Gowland's mind is undoubtedly deranged.

A boy named William Case was arrested Tuesday evening at the Union Station for trespassing. Yesterday morning Case told the magistrate that he ran away from his home in Rochester. The authorities of the Flour City will be communicated with. Case told a detective that he stole a sum of money from a Rochester merchant to pay his railroad fare.

The Mining Commission, appointed at the last session of the Ontario Legislature, held a sitting yesterday in the Agricultural Department's offices. John Charlton, M. P., presided, and associated with him were Archibald Blue, Hamilton Merritt, William Coe and Prof. Bell, of the Dominion Geological Survey. Mr. Blue conducted the examinations of A. J. Cattensch, solicitor for the former Silver Islet Mining Co., Thomas Ledyard, mining engineer, and Jas. D. Dewar, J. A. Proctor, Geo. A. Shaw, David Boyle and Prof. Galbraith. Mr. Boyle thought a school of mining instruction like the Columbia School of Mines should be established here.

William Williams admitted to the larceny of a coat from C. Martin & Co. yesterday. One prior conviction was entered against Williams, who was sent to the Central Prison for six months.

Lily Charlton was very low last night and there is no hope of her recovery.

Detective John Cuddy yesterday afternoon brought to Police Headquarters Eddie Lake, whom he arrested in Union Station. Lake was stated as a vagrant. He is a well-known crook, and will be remembered as the party who about a year ago, in company with George Stone for shooting at Mr. Wallace Nesbitt. Stone and Lake were charged with burglariously entering Mr. Nesbitt's house at Stanley-crescent and Grosvenor street, and were surprised and fired the shot. Stone is now doing a term, but Lake was acquitted and ordered to leave the city, which he did but returned yesterday. The detectives think that he has just come from Detroit, although he admits that his last place of residence was Montreal. A patrolman was murdered in Detroit Monday, being by burglars in a manner similar. If Lake is just from that city he may know something of the crime.

VICTORIA AND FEDERATION.

Lindsay District Declines for Various Reasons to Accept the Allotment.

LINDSAY, Nov. 29.—At a convention of the Lindsay district in Kent street Church yesterday, after a most excited discussion this resolution, moved by Rev. Geo. McAmmond of Omemee, duly and seconded by Rev. W. D. P. Wilson of Janetville, was finally carried:

"That whereas the Conference special committee has allotted to this district the sum of $2485 to be raised for the federation scheme, it is the opinion of this convention that the amount is in all proportion to the financial ability of the district, and while we fully accord to the Secretary of Education the right to appoint General Conference authority to collect by personal subscriptions throughout the district for the federation scheme, we do not feel as a district that our present financial circumstances and the attitude of our people generally towards the movement would justify us in accepting the allotment laid upon the district."

FIRE AT SARNIA.

The Alexander House Completely Gutted Late Last Night.

SARNIA, Nov. 29.—The Alexander House of this town caught fire about 11:30 last evening. Fire was first discovered near the roof in the back part of the building and an alarm was quickly given. All the guests and employes had plenty of time to get out and save their property before the building being a frame structure burned very rapidly and the inside of the building is completely gutted. A large quantity of the furniture was saved in a damaged condition. It is believed to have been insured but details cannot be obtained at present.

HIS TRUNK WAS MISSING.

A Montreal Commercial Traveler Loses $5000 Worth of Jewelry Samples.

MONTREAL, Nov. 29.—Arthur St. Jean, commercial traveler for Alfred Eaves, wholesale jeweler, has returned from a three weeks' trip in the Eastern Townships, during which he had with him two valuable trunks, each containing over $5000 worth of jewelry. When St. Jean came to Waterloo from Sherbrooke on Tuesday last he found he missed one of his trunks, and since then every effort to find it has been fruitless. One supposition is that it was stolen and smuggled over the line.

Indians Killing Cattle.

FORT MCLEOD, Man., Nov. 29.—There is considerable complaint among the stockmen of the Little Bow district about roving bands of Indians that frequent that part of the country. It is absolutely certain that these Indians are killing cattle, more particularly young ones. They get permits to go down there for game. Those who know the country say they cannot get enough to keep them alive, and that their real object is to kill cattle. Any action that Commissioner Herchmer can take to protect the cattle on these trails will be much appreciated by the cattlemen.

The Haytian Blockade.

The Crew Probably Drowned.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

DEAR SIR,—The rumor having become current that all the seats for St. Andrew's social Concert on Friday evening in the Opera House have already been taken up, I beg to correct that impression.

There are three hundred and fifty good seats in the family circle that have not been taken yet, as well as about 125 of the balcony chairs which can be secured, and the committee beg to assure the public, while thanking them for the generous response to their call for aid to the benevolent fund of the Society, that they know from their past large experience that they will be able to give ample accommodation to all that will be present.

They also wish to assure the public that they feel sure that the bill, which will be presented on St. Andrew's night, is the best of the many good ones they have ever presented to the Belleville public, besides which it is Maggie Barr's (Fenwick's) retiring bow.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. For sale by all druggists or sent post-paid on receipt of price (50c. and $1.) by addressing Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont.

Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this receipt, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. A Quarter of a Century

For more than twenty-five years has Hagyard's Yellow Oil been sold by druggists, and it has never yet failed to give satisfaction as a household remedy for pain, lameness and soreness of the flesh, for external and internal use, in all painful complaints.

Fever and Ague and Bilious Derangements are positively cured by the use of Parmelee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, causing them to pour copious effusions from the blood into the bowels, of or which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

To lessen mortality and stop the inroads of disease, use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. For all diseases arising from Impure Blood, such as Pimples, Boils, Blotches, Biliousness, Indigestion, etc., etc., it has no equal. Mrs. Thomas Smith, Elm, writes: "I got a big start with medicine for Dyspepsia I have tried many remedies, but this is the only one that has done me any good."

Advice to Mothers.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakens as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. 84dwly

Nothing so suddenly overcomes the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat arrests the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be fatal. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, &c., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but allowed to run their own course, generally prove the forerunner of more danger ous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their affliction from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. Once the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

PRIDE AND PRIDE.

By Jane G. Austin.

The last day of Mrs. Pomroy's visit had arrived, and to several of the party assembled round the early breakfast table at the lodge it was a day of anxiety and importance: to Harry Melton, for he had resolved that before the now risen sun should set he would break through Miss Murgatroyd's subtile evasions and defences and force her to give an honest answer to the question he had not yet been allowed to ask; to Mr. Murgatroyd, for he had, with considerable care, arranged a deer hunt for his guests on this last day, and could not be sure that the scouts sent out to discover and drive the deer within reach of the amateur huntsmen, would succeed in doing so; and to Miss Murgatroyd, because—well, she could not told have why, except that all days since the one she fell into the millpool were to her days of anxiety and a hidden conflict, beginning to fall upon the outline of her peachy cheek and lissome figure.

"I hope those fellows have driven in some deer," muttered the host to his daughter, as every body got to saddle in the crisp, lovely September morning; already tasting of October. "I sent Leduc last night to look after it, and if it's to be managed, he'll manage it; that's one consolation."

"I am glad there is one consolation somewhere," thought Mary under her bright smile and nod. "I wish I could find it. Will Leduc come in sight, I wonder?"

"Our last day, Miss Murgatroyd," said Harry Melton, significantly, as he ranged his horse alongside of hers, which immediately began to curvet and plunge dangerously.

"I beg your pardon, Mr. Melton, but Moro never will travel comfortably beside a strange horse. He is wretchedly broken, so far as society manners go. I must fall back a little."

"If you didn't worry his mouth with the curb, he would go pleasantly enough," reported Melton, too bitter a sportsman to the ruse to be quite polite, but reining his own horse back, and suffering his host to precede him.

The hunt was to be carried on canonically, that is, with horses and dogs, so far as the lay of the country permitted, and if the deer would only obligingly keep to the numerous wood roads and open glades, or to the stretches of forest clear of undergrowth everthing might proceed in as orderly a fashion as in an English park; but unfortunately, besides the hundreds, whose tall straight boles offer no obstacle to sight or progress, there are in the Chateauguy wilds tracts of second growth, scrub oak, birch, maple, and other deciduous trees, whose drooping branches and thick-set suckers, concealing numerous decayed logs, cavities where roots have been torn up, and heaps of wood rubbish, make a horse but a sain thing for safety, and deer stalking the imperative subatitute for hunting. If the deer, pursued through the open country, has sense enough to take to these thickets, of course his chance of escape is vastly increased, especially if he is lucky enough to cross one of the numerous little ponds abounding in this region, and so throw the hounds off the scent. Of the three fine bucks sighted and hunted by the Murgatroyd party, two were wily enough to seek this refuge, one being run down and killed in the open after a fine sharp bout of about four miles.

"We must dismount and take up positions at various points in the bush," announced Murgatroyd breathlessly, as he cantered back from a little tour of inspection down a tangled wood road. "I have just seen Leduc; he says those two fellows are just in this swamp somewhere, and he has sent round the men and hounds to drive them out on this side. I'll post you at different points, and it 'll be hard if some fellow don't get a shot. Mary, you and Mrs. Pomroy stay just here, and don't dismount. Melton, Pomroy, come with me."

The three men disappeared, and Mary fidgeted in her saddle awhile, then said: "Lo, I'm not going to sit here doing nothing. I will ride down the wood road as far as I can and have some chance of seeing the sport." So ruthless Mary was released, and shot down the crooked path, his rider gayly bending to his glossy neck to escape the branches that lashed her head and shoulders. Presently in a little open glade the road ended, and slowly pacing round its circle the maiden saw through the matted undergrowth the gleam of running water, and heard the babble of a brook. The long ride had made her thirsty, and slipping from the saddle she hitched the reins around a birch boll, and unhooking the little silver cup from her girdle, parted the undergrowth, and made her way through it for some rods, until on the bank of the little stream she stooped and dipped her cup, while a voice from behind a neighboring tree gayly said,

"Give me to drink too, fair Rebecca!"

"Mr. Melton! How came you here?" exclaimed the girl, severe as Diana catching sight of Acteon. Acteon laughed.

"I think it is I who should ask. I was stationed here to wait for monsieur le cerf, who is likely to seek the water, and to come down that little path. By Jove!"

He seized his rifle and laid it to his shoulder. Mary sprang to the top of the bank and looked where he aimed. There, just bursting from the thicket, and astounded at the human figures so suddenly presented, paused the stag in act to leap, motionless for one moment as a statue, head up, nostrils distended, eyes starting, the image of arrested motion, of passing thought, just one instant, but it was the instant too much, for in that moment the sharp crack of the rifle rang out, and the splendid creature, springing high in air, stumbled forward and fell, his proud head in the dust.

Among the Indians.

"While my husband was trading in furs he came across an Indian who was taken to his lodge to die. He had inward pains and pains in all his limbs. He gave some Yellow Oil internally and applied it externally, and cured him. It also cured my husband of rheumatism, and I find it valuable for coughs and colds, sore throat, etc." Mrs. A. Besaw, Cook's Mills, Serpant River, Ont.

The Modus Operandi.

The mode of operating of Burdock Blood Bitters is that it acts at once and at the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and the Blood, to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in Chronic Complaints.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Is very palatable and much better than the plain oil. Dr. W. H. Cameron, of Halifax, N. S., says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites for the past two years and found it more agreeable to the stomach, and have better results from its use than any other preparation of the kind I have ever tried." Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

Milburn's aromatic quinine wine fortifies the system against attacks of ague, chills, bilious fever, dumb ague and like troubles.

CATARRH.

At New Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the interlining membrane of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes. The eminent scientists, Tyndall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made offener than once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before an application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease.

So highly are these remedies valued that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy a parasite, of which they know nothing. Remedies, of the results of the application of which they are equal ignorant. Mr. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from last night to look after it, and if it's to be last night to look after it, and if it's to be managed, he'll manage it; that's one consolation."

Mr. Dixon sends a pamphlet describing his new treatment on the receipt of stamp to pay postage. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son, 303 King street west, Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Cured By B. B. B. When all Else Failed.

Mr. Samuel Allan, of Lisle, Ont., states that he tried all the doctors in his locality while suffering for years with Liver and Kidney trouble; nothing benefitted him until he took Burdock Blood Bitters, four bottles cured him.

Give Them a Chance ?

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrah, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

Hair-ation means Loss.

If your hair is coming out or turning grey, or if you find dandruff in your hair do not hesitate about looking after it. Get some of Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic," use it as directed and you will find that it will give you the best of satisfaction. Take warning, do not wait till it is too late but try it at once. All druggists sell it.

SOCIETY SADLY SHOCKED

THE GREAT SIR ROBERT WALPOLE'S NAUGHTY HEIR.

Miss Valiery Weldenham's Suit for Breach of Promise—The Case Comes to a Sudden End.

TORONTO, Nov. 29.—Society has received another distressing shock by the announcement that the heir of Sir Robert Walpole, the celebrated Prime Minister of the first and second Georges, and the future Earl of Orford, has been sued for breach of promise. The case was called in the Queen's Bench division. The plaintiff, Miss Valiery Weidemann, brought the suit against Capt. Robert Horace Walpole for breach of promise and for libel, claiming £1000 damages.

Not many months ago Capt. Walpole and Miss Corbin, an American lady, were quietly married in Paris, and from subsequent events it is presumed that the affair was conducted privately owing to Miss Weidemann's avowed intention of making trouble for the groom.

The principal witness was Miss Weidemann herself. She is a bright, freshlooking blonde, the daughter of a North German pastor, and a person of education and refined manners. Although subjected to sharp interrogations she told her story in an impressive manner. She testified that Capt. Walpole met her in 1882 at the Hotel d'Angleterre at Constantinople, where she was employed as governess to the proprietor's daughters. He met her at dinner one night and made her acquaintance, much against her will. He paid her marked attention for several days after that, and finally asked her to marry him, at the same time forcibly kissing her. She angrily left him and when she returned from the opera that night she did not notice that the bolt catch on her bedroom door had been removed. She sat at the window a few minutes before she knew that Walpole was at her side. She ordered him from her room and tried to ring the servants' bell, but he forcibly restrained her, and, after convincing her that he loved her sincerely, he finally accomplished his purpose. Next evening he dined with her, and in an earnest of his intentions he placed his signet ring on her finger. She kept it now though Capt. Walpole made repeated attempts to recover it. Next day he persuaded her to go to Cannes, and gave her £100. On arriving there she met his mother, but when she spoke of her supposed engagement, Mrs. Walpole told her the captain was only a friend, and that he would be married if he did not marry a rich girl. Mrs. Walpole contrived to have her put out of the hotel. Capt. Walpole then took a villa—Capt. Darlington—to live in, to take her to Paris, where he promised to meet her. At Paris Walpole told her to meet him in Berlin, but when she arrived there she found that he had no intention of meeting her. She then went to her brother in-law's in Germany, where her child was born in 1883.

The witness admitted by implication that when she heard of Capt. Walpole's intended marriage she sent to Miss Corbin the following note:

"I shall meet you one day, and you will bear my curse to the end of your existence. This for marrying a man you have no right to marry."

Capt. Walpole will deny the promise, and plead that if it was made it was in Turkey, where no action is maintainable. He claims that the signet ring was stolen, and the letter which he wrote his agent accusing her of theft is the basis for an action for libel, which Walpole will plead as privileged.

A Verdict for the Defendant.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—The case of Valery Weidemann, daughter of Horace Walgrole, the heir presumptive of the Earldom of Welford, for breach of promise, was continued to-day. The plaintiff contradicted herself and declined to answer vital questions. Finally the jury interfered, the trial was stopped and a verdict for the defendant was rendered.

A Triple Tragedy.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 29.—Details of a horrible outrage, murder and suicide come from Nevada, Mo., to-day. The outrage and murder were committed about eight miles west of Nevada, the victim being Miss Ella Wray, aged 21, the daughter of a widow lady and belonging to one of the best families in that section. Yesterday Miss Wray accompanied George Corb, who taught the district school and boarded with Mrs. Wray, to the city. Corb returned last night alone and informed a brother of Miss Wray that the girl had been dragged from the buggy and murdered by two unknown men. The body was found in a clump of bushes near the roadside, the young woman's throat having been cut from ear to ear. Corb was placed under guard and during the night committed suicide by taking poison, thus escaping lynching. The coroner's inquest developed the fact that the girl had been outraged and then murdered.

The Strikers In the Soup.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 29.—The railroads have filled the places of the striking switchmen, and the strike is claimed by the company to be practically over. The companies have refused to treat with Grand Master Switchman Sweeney, as he is regarded as a disturber. At the railway superintendents' meeting concessions to the strikers' demands was unanimously refused. The latter hope to receive aid from the firemen and engineers.

Arrested on Suspicion.

BUFFALO, Nov. 29.—David McAuliffe and Wm. Smith were arrested here last night on suspicion of being implicated in the robbery of Joseph Mills & Son's hat store at Hamilton, Ont., Sunday night. The men were trying to sell Persian lamb caps that had Mills' name stamped inside, and they were immediately taken into custody. The authorities here notified Chief McKinnon of Hamilton of the arrest, and he instructed them to hold the men.

Cleveland Had a Popular Majority.

BOSTON, Nov. 29.—The Herald says Cleveland had a plurality of 79,500 of the vote cast for president, the total being Cleveland, 5,560,990; Harrison, 5,490,491. These figures, however, are only approximate, and the official returns may show a change in them. The entire vote thrown was 11,285,825, or about 1,250,000 over the vote four years ago, when Mr. Cleveland had a plurality of 62,683 over Blaine.

A Rebuke for Sir Morell.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—At a council meeting of the British Medical Society a resolution was passed deprecating the publication of the details of the late Emperor Frederick's sickness as a violation of professional confidence. The council accepted the regrets of the editor of the society's organ concerning the publication of them.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Death of Billy Owen—Rumored Business Disaster—Lilly Charlton Still Alive.

TORONTO, Nov. 30.—The Mining Commission resumed its session at 10 o'clock yesterday morning and took more expert evidence.

Mr. W. G. Owen, the well-known horse trainer, died at 4 o'clock yesterday morning of inflammation of the lungs after a week's illness. His name was familiar on every race course in America.

Lilly Charlton, the victim of Dr. Valentine's alleged malpractice, is still alive but there is no hope of her recovery. Dr. Valentine is much better at the jail, and it is expected that he will be around in a few days. He is still suffering, however, from the terrible shock to his nerves, occasioned by disipation and his subsequent arrest.

Yesterday morning's charges brought up from Ottawa Capt. the Hon. C. C. Colville and Mrs. Colville and Capt. A. McMahon, aides of His Excellency the Governor-General. They drove at once to the Queen's Hotel to attend to the preparations for the stay of the Vice Regal party on their visit to Toronto, to be present at the St. Andrew's Society's ball to-morrow night. The party, which will arrive from Ottawa this morning, will be made up of Lord Stanley and Her Excellency, Miss Lister, Hon. Algernon and Mrs. G. J. Baget and Mrs. Bagot. Eight valets and servants will accompany the Governor-General's party.

Fred. A. Clarry, projector of the Grand Villa sweepstakes, was released on bail yesterday morning. The charges against him will be heard to-day.

James Robertson, who gives himself out in some quarters as a graduate of Cambridge and others as a poor relative, was fined in the Police Court yesterday morning $30 or 60 days for trying to obtain money on the latter representation.

Edward Lake, who was arrested some time ago for complicity in the burglary of Wallace Nesbitt's house, and was arrested for vagrancy yesterday, in the Police Court this morning, though he pleaded hard for liberty, was remanded for a week.

The Chancellor yesterday handed down judgment in the village of Markham v. township of Markham case. The case is brought to compel the township to pay up its share of the $20,000 to the old Nipissing Railway and to fix the proportion to be paid by the defendant after the village became a separate municipality. The Chancellor gave judgment for the plaintiff with a reference to the Master to fix the amounts payable, and saddled the defendants with the costs.

The World says this morning: For some days past there has been a rumor on the street that a lawyer of an adjacent city, who was a well-known operator on a large scale in cattle and dairy farming and manufacturing speculations was about to assign. The result was not expected to be disastrous inasmuch as it was well known that his family was at his back with a million or so to their credit. Yesterday, however, it leaked out that the million had been so seriously encroached upon that a serious disaster set in and Mr. R. B. Osler, it is understood, has charge of the matter.

Beating the Best Men.

When Miss Fawcett, daughter of the late postmaster general of England, applied to a famous mathematical coach at Cambridge to be taken as his pupil, she was rudely repulsed, and the ungallant tutor remarked that he "would take no babies." Very well. This same Miss Fawcett has been systematically beating the best men of her year in the Trinity college examinations, and will doubt less be senior wrangler for the ensuing year. —New York Tribune.

Sawdust Instead of Sand.

A new house which is being built at Shirley Mills is nearing completion, and in one way it will be an oddity. One room was plastered with mortar made with common spruce sawdust in place of sand, and it looks quite well. It has been used on three rooms in Greenville, and is pronounced a success. It can be applied as cheaply as mortar made with sand, and seems to adhere to any surface as well.—Portland Advertiser.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely IMITATE THE ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take any imitation dealers may urge upon you. Valuable to Know Consumption may be morecasily prevented than cured. The irritating and harassing cough will be greatly relieved by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

A Rare Combination.

There is no other remedy or combination of medicines that meets so many requirements, as does Burdock Blood Bitters in its wide range of power over such Chronic diseases as Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Complaint, Scrofula and all humors of the blood.

There are a number of varieties of corns. Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

Orin Catlin, 49 Pearl Street Buffalo, N. Y., says: I tried various remedies for the piles but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications.

Mrs. GEORGE LEECH, Hadimand Township, has received more benefit from two bottles of Dawling's Pepsin Compound, than anything she has ever taken in her life. She has been troubled with biliousness, loss of appetite and constipation for years. Now she has none of these troubles. People who try it, as she has done will recommend you to take Dawling's Pepsin Compound if you are Dyspeptic.

The cheapest medicine in use is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, because so very little of it is required to effect a cure. For croup, diphtheria, and diseases of the lungs and throat, whether used for bathing the chest or throat, for taking internally or inhaling it is a matchless compound.

☞ What does Dowling's Pepsin Compound cure? Dyspepsia and Indigestion. What are the symptoms? Biliousness, constipation, lack of energy, drowsiness, headache, pains in the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, depression of spirits. Ask your druggist for it.

Dowling's Little Liver Granules are highly recommended for all diseases of the liver.

Mr. Thomas Ballard, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: 'I have been afflicted for nearly a year with that most to be dreaded disease, Dyspepsia, and at times worn out with pain and want of sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended I tried one box of Parmelee's Valuable Pills. I am now nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money."

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body." Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

☞ Of all the dyspeptic remedies ever placed in the market, Dowling's Pepsin Compound takes the lead. Why? Because it acts naturally on the digestive organs of the stomach, and not mechanically, like the other patent medicines. Besides, it helps to assimilate and digest all the foods that enter the stomach. Ask your druggist for a bottle.

Belleviteites follow the example of Mrs. Geo. Leech, of Haldimand, and many others, and rid yourselves of that dire disease, dyspepsia and indigestion.

The Dangerous Coal Oil.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—The explosion of poorly refined coal oil is the cause of another accident al burning. A little girl named Beauchamp living on Hayle street, while helping her mother in domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while resting on the table. Her burning clothing was only torn from her with much difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quickly summoned and the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

Resulting from the high price of Crude and the low price of Refined Oil a considerable quantity of inferior Coal Oil is being sold.

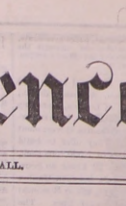

In order to avoid these low grades we have taken the agency of the two celebrated brands of oil:

'CARBON SAFETY OIL'
A specially refined and superior grade of Canadian Oil,
ASTRAL OIL,
A high grade American Oil.
These we can most confidently recommend to our retail trade as goods that will give entire satisfaction.
We are also fully supplied with Water White and Prime White American Oil and the usual brands of Canadian Oil.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N.Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, worn-out, "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is entirely vegetable in its compositions and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, sick stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is entirely vegetable in its compositions and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, sick stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhœa, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovarian, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken by those declining or approaching the critical period, known as "the change of life."

"Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. The guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, NOV. 30

THE CITY BY-LAWS.

There are upwards of six hundred and fifty by-laws on the city's record books, and it is safe to say that the provisions of the great bulk of this mass of legislation are as little known to the majority of the ratepayers as are the laws of China and Japan. So widely diffused, indeed, is this ignorance of the measures upon our municipal statute books, that some years ago a well-informed member of the Council who is not now resident in the city, gave notice of and proposed a by law for a very useful purpose, but was surprised on being shown a by law still in force which had been duly buried in the record book and covered the ground much better than his own measure, which he of course abandoned. The reason for the lack of knowledge regarding the local laws is that they have never been consolidated or printed, as they ought to be every ten years, hence it is very difficult, and involves a great deal of labor, to obtain full information on the subject, and to ascertain which of the by-laws are in force and which of them have been repealed.

The six hundred and fifty by-laws referred to include many excellent enactments, a large number of which were passed during the leadership of the late C. G. LeVesconte, who was one of the ablest municipal legislators that ever lived in Canada, and who had able colleagues in the Council. They cover the greater part of the field of municipal legislation, and their provisions, if published as they ought to be, would be observed and conduce to the good government of the city.

It is therefore the duty of the Council to have the by-laws consolidated and printed, in order that every resident of the city may have an opportunity of knowing the effect of the laws to which he is expected to conform and that no one may be punished for an offence committed in ignorance.

AN EXPLANATION.

The Messrs. Biggar, of this city, feel aggrieved that we should have said, in an article published on the 21st inst., that they "coerced" their morigagors in the late election in East Northumberland, as tending to injure them in their business relations. We would reply that the term was never intended to be taken in a literal sense as meaning that they had "compelled" electors who had borrowed money from them to vote for a certain candidate, but that their presence here and there in the riding would have, it was expected, an influence upon those who were indebted to them, as well as others. In justice to them, we would say that we have good reason for believing that Mr. Cochrane complimented them upon not having attempted to compel borrowers to vote for the Liberal candidate.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

The Colborne Express thus adjures the Ontario Government to carry out the anti-election promises made on their behalf for the gain of a few by the recent elections in East Northumberland:

Test out the new registrar, police magistrate, license inspector bailiff—from amongst the many to whom individuals the offices were promised by Master Frost.

A despatch from Montreal states that the firms of Anderson, Anderson & Co., and F. Greer & Co., of London, managing proprietors of the Orient Line, have renewed their offer to the Canadian Government to carry the mails. They offer to build three express steamers of 7,500 tons each, to steam not less than 20 knots an hour, and to make the passage between Halifax and Plymouth in five days, and to Rimouski in five or six hours longer time. The steamers will in beauty and convenience surpass the Umbria and Etruria, the ocean greyhounds of the Cunard Line. In their offer to Ottawa show that while, in 1882, 4,000 cabin passengers were brought to Montreal, this number had fallen off in 1885 to 2,744 and only had increased in the last years because some of the lines carried passengers to Montreal for the same price as to Quebec. This state of affairs, they claim, was caused because steamers landing in New York are so much more commodious, and they will try and remedy it by their new line, which will be an entirely independent one. The vessels will be ready within eighteen months after the contract is awarded, will be built either on the Clyde, at Barrow or Belfast, and must run 20 knots an hour on their trial trip.

"There was a frog who lived in a spring,
He caught such a cold that he could not sing."

Poor, unfortunate, Batrachian! In what a sad plight he must have been. And yet his misfortune was one that often befalls singers. Many a once tuneful voice among those who belong to the "genus homo" is ruined by "cold in the head," or on the lungs, or both combined. For the above mentioned "croaker" we are not aware that any remedy was ever devised; but we rejoice to know that all human singers may keep their heads clear and throats in tune by a timely use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, both of which are sold by druggists.

Another Government Victory.

An election in Cariboo, B. C., yesterday resulted in the return of another Govern ment supporter—all the candidates being, in fact, Liberal Conservatives. This makes the 32th by-election and the 29th Government victory since the general election. Of the bye elections 10 have been in Nova Scotia, 2 in New Brunswick, 6 in Quebec, 10 in Ontario, 1 in the Northwest territories and 2 in British Columbia. It will be seen that, with the exception of Manitoba and P. E. Island, all sections of the Dominion have been appealed to. The results have been as follws ;—In Nova Scotia the Government has been sustained to 9 of the 10 elections—in 4 of them no Grit candidate offering. And in the one case (Yarmouth) in which the Grits won, they did so by a majority considerably decreased from what it was at the general election. In New Brunswick the Government won both elections. In Quebec it won 4 of the 6. In Ontario 11 of the 16. And in British Columbia and the Northwest all three. Five seats won by the Grits at the general election are now held by Government supporters. Of these 1 is in Nova Scotia, 2 in Quebec, and 2 in Ontario. All the seats won by the Government at the time of the general election the Grits have won none.

The moral is that Gritism is dying all along the line; and that the base and infamous policy that it is now propounding is greatly accelerating its collapse.—Halifax Herald.

THE CENTURY
MAGAZINE IN 1889.

WHY has it such an enormous circulation? Experts estimate that between two and three millions of people read each number.

BECAUSE THE CENTURY is above everything a leader. It led the development of wood engraving in America and it has fostered American authors. It is alive to the issues of to-day. What it prints sets people thinking and talking.

BECAUSE whatever other periodicals may come into the family, the great reading world has found out that "no household can keep abreast of the times without THE CENTURY." "Its success is explained by its contents."

BECAUSE the greatest writers of the world like to have their work read by the greatest number, and therefore to such a magazine as THE CENTURY the best materially come. It was for THE CENTURY that Gen. Grant first wrote his reminiscences of important battles.

BECAUSE it is publishing the life of Abraham Lincoln, by his private secretaries. Of this it has been said, "The young man who is not reading it robs himself of that which he will one day hunger for." The coming year presents the most important part of this great history, which may be begun at any time.

BECAUSE it is printing those remarkable articles on "Siberia and the Exile System," by George Kennan, which are attracting universal attention and are being reprinted in hundreds of foreign newspapers, but are not allowed to enter Russia. The Chicago Tribune says that "no other magazine article printed in the English language just now touch upon a subject which so vitally interests all thoughtful people in Europe and America and Asia. They are "as judicial as the opinion of a Supreme Court tribunal,—as thrilling as the most sensational drama."

BECAUSE during 1889 THE CENTURY is to have a series of engravings of the greatest pictures of the old Italian masters, made by Timothy Cole, the leading wood-engraver of the world, who has spent four years in Italy on this work; a series of "Strange True Stories of Louisiana," by George W. Cable; occasional richly illustrated papers describing the scenes of the current International Sunday school lessons; interesting illustrated papers on Ireland, and a series of humorous and pathetic Irish-American stories; a striking illustrated novelette, "The Romance of Dollard," by a new writer, and other novelettes to be announced later; supplemental war papers, untechnical and descriptive of special incidents; "Pictures of the Far West," by Mary Hallock Foote, etc., etc. We have not space here to announce all the new features. Let us send you (free) our "Catalogue of Special Publications," with original illustrations, containing full prospectus, special offer of back numbers to beginning of the Siberian papers, etc. The November number, which begins the new volume, is for sale everywhere after November 1st. THE CENTURY costs 35 cents a number; $4.00 a year. Address THE CENTURY Co 33 East 17th Street, New York.

HE LIVED ONLY AN HOUR

CAPTAIN BRISE OF THE WEST RIDING REGIMENT SHOT.

Killed by a Kick—Plucky Rescue—Eviction at Hamilton—Kingston Votes Two Railway Bonuses.

HALIFAX, Nov. 29.—Captain Riggles Brise of the West Riding Regiment, met with a terrible and fatal accident to-night. He had just returned from a shooting excursion in the country and was alighting from his wagon at Robinson's livery stables. As he went to step out, his foot caught in some way with a double barrelled gun, both barrels of which were loaded. The weapon was discharged and the contents of the two barrels lodged in his stomach. He was carried into the stables and afterwards removed to the Artillery barracks, living for only one hour. His wife was summoned and reached him just before he lost consciousness. Captain Brise was about 35 years old and came to Halifax from Bermuda with his regiment a couple of months ago. He was married two years ago to a Bermuda lady and has one child.

An inquest is to be held to-morrow.

EVICTION AT HAMILTON.

An Old Woman Put on the Sidewalk—A Lively Runaway.

HAMILTON, Nov. 29.—This afternoon the police were notified that Mary Foley, an old woman who lives on Young-street, between Cherry and Wellington-street, was shamefully ejected from her home by a bailiff, who had a distress warrant for rent. The old woman was found lying helplessly drunk in a mud hole in front of the house. The bailiff made the seizure, put Mrs. Foley and her trunk on the sidewalk and locked the door. Mrs. Foley's friends provided her with lodgings at the police cells.

James Manning's house, on the Governor's road, was broken into a few evenings ago. A watch, a brooch, $4 in cash, and all the food in the house were stolen.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Cruickshank was practicing the children of the Hess-street school in the fire drill in preparation for the visit of the Governor-General. A little crippled girl named Baker was in one of the upper rooms and she did not go out with the rest of the children when the alarm sounded. Two young rascals of boys ran up stairs after the rest of the children were out and yelled to her that the stairs were burning. She was so badly frightened that she became unconscious, and the teachers had much difficulty in restoring her.

About 10 o'clock this morning a runaway horse made things lively in the vicinity of the James-street market. David Henry, a lad who drives for Charles Vesper, butcher, left a colt standing in front of 42 Market-street. While he was away the horse became restless and started off at a 2.40 gait along Market-street. A man who works for James Liddle, flour dealer, tried to stop it and was dragged along the road for some distance. The wagon also passed over him, but luckily he was not hurt. There were collisions, in the last of which the wagon was demolished, the animal was stopped.

A PLUCKY RESCUE.

Narrow Escape From Drowning of a Campbellford Girl.

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 29.—This afternoon as a 12 year-old daughter of Mr. J. Alexander was getting a pail of water from a flume, her hat fell off and reaching for it she fell in and was carried down with the current. This flume is covered and extends for several hundred feet without an opening. Fortunately she was observed going under the covered place by Mr. Henderson, who plunged in after her. Others driving the planking was torn up some distance down the rise and both were rescued.

KILLED BY A KICK.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 29.—The Northwest Assembly has decided that a vote on prohibition shall be taken by ballot.

Both bylaws submitted to the people today were defeated by large majorities, that against Colonization being 123, and against debentures 92.

Hector McDonald of Rat Portage was found wandering on the Canadian Pacific Railway track this morning with his feet all torn and suffering from the D. T.'s. He had walked over seventy miles.

George Parker was killed by a kick from a horse at High Bluff to-day.

Mrs. Edy, whose husband eloped with another woman from McGregor, has joined him in St. Paul.

Henry S. Shields, a Toronto boy, has been sent down for stealing a check and gun. He was previously convicted of theft in Toronto.

Flour has fallen 15 cents per hundred.

Kingston Votes Big Bonuses to the N. and T and the K. and S. P. Railways.

KINGSTON, Nov. 29.—The bylaws granting a bonus of $75,000 to the Napanee and Tamworth Railway and $150,000 to the Kingston and Smith's Falls Railway were voted on here to-day and both carried. The vote was:

	For.	Against.

Chatham Votes Another.

CHATHAM, Nov. 29.—The bonus bylaw granting $40,000 to the Canada Pacific Railway to run their road through this town was voted on to-day and carried by about 220 majority.

THE SARNIA FIRE.

Doubtful if the Hotel can be Re-built—The Insurances.

SARNIA, Nov. 29.—The Alexander House, badly burned last night, was valued at from $8000 to $10,000 and was insured for $5500, $2000 being in the Western, $ 000 in the Royal and $1000 in the Scottish Union. It is a question whether or not the building will be a total loss, the damage being so great as to possibly prevent its being rebuilt under the fire limits bylaw. Andrew Alexander, sr., is the owner.

The contents were insured by George Johnston, the landlord, for $4,335, $1000 being in the Royal and the balance being in the Lancashire.

THANKSGIVING IN THE STATES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Thanksgiving was a day of religious devotion, charity and saturnalia in this city as heretofore. The customary services of praise and thanks, the customary sermons on the bounties of Providence and the increasing prosperity of the land, drew many to the different churches in the morning. In the different prisons, houses of industry and the prisons, substantial meals, in which of course the turkey figured, were distributed.

The Minister promised to take the matter into consideration.

There is no truth in the reports which have been circulated that the Government is throwing obstacles in the way of intending exhibitors at the Paris exhibition next year. The Dominion Government has simply decided not to be officially represented at the exhibition, but private exhibitors are, of course, at liberty to do as they please.

J. F. Wood, M.P., was here to-day. He said it is intended to push the construction of the New York, Ontario and Ottawa Railway, chartered last session to run from Ottawa to Brockville or to a point between Brockville and Westport on the Brockville, Westport and Sault Ste. Marie Railway.

He Was a Hustler.

MONCTON, N. B., Nov. 29.—The other day a young mechanic left Berwick in the cars of the Windsor and Annapolis Railroad for Kentville. At Waterville he stepped from the cars for his bitters and tarrying too long at the cups was left behind. It Puzzles the Vets.

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 29.—Noah Bowman of Terry's Corners has a horse which has a peculiar ailment. He was driving the animal last week and it almost instantly became covered with a frothy sweat. He got out of the wagon to examine it and found a swelling on the neck in front of the collar nearly the size of a foot-ball. The swelling is not being stationary makes the matter more mysterious.

Didn't Want Her Chickens.

BRANTFORD, Nov. 29.—A curious case came up at the Police Court this morning when Mr. R. Elliott was charged with cruelty to a domestic fowl. DOC. TUMBLETY.

Hamilton Reminiscences of the Notorious Patent Medicine Fakir.

HAMILTON, Nov. 29.—The Spectator tonight says: Since the patent medicine fakir Doc. Tumblety got himself into prominence by being arrested in connection with the Whitechapel crimes numerous reminiscences of his sojourn in this country are coming to the front. During 1854 the doctor was in Hamilton selling patent medicine on the market. He used to ride about the streets, when not engaged in business, at a mad canpace on a magnificent horse and was a prominent figure about town. The block below where Reid's cigar factory now is on King street east was at that time the Burlington hotel. John Smith, Dominion emigration agent, Dr. Chittenden and other prominent Hamiltonians were then young fellows boarding there, and Dr. Tumblety took up his abode there, too. He hired the small brother of a big Irish chambermaid to assist him with his fake medicine seances on the market days. The boy would come up crying with toothache and the skilful doc. would instantaneously cure him before the gaping rustics. One night, however, Tumblety loaded the kid up with a wrong dose, which, instead of allaying the counterfeit pain, gave him a very tangible pain in his little inside and threw him into convulsions. When Tumblety returned to the hotel the big Irish chambermaid sailed into him May quis of Queensberry rules, got him a black eye, badly disarranged his hair and made him such a laughingstock that he had to leave the city.

Seats to Spare.

She was a little cross-eyed woman, and she had stood up in a street car and clung to a strap till she was tired. Suddenly she spoke:

"Thank you, sir. Since you kindly offer me a seat I will take it."

Six men looked up. Each one of the six thought she was staring at himself, and she took her choice of the six seats instantly placed at her disposal. Wonderful is the power of the human eye when it happens to be a little askew.

PAINFUL SORES, bruises, scalds and cuts are quickly soothed and healed by Victoria Carbolic Salve.

—"Where is your brother, William?" "He is in Italy studying music." "Is that so? Well, as soon as he returns send him round to my store." "Why?" "I can sell him a hand organ at a bargain."

Gentlemen who have lost their hair, are beginning to realize the great advantages derived from wearing artificial coverings. They supply protection to the scalp wherein nature has failed, and also fill up the defficiency occasioned by disease, baldness. Hundreds of gentlemen in all parts of America testify to the beneficial results of using Prof. Dorenwend's wigs and toupees. Each article is carefully made, is light and strong, and when worn cannot be detected by the closest observer. Prof. Dorenwend will be at Queen's Hotel on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1st, and will show a big stock of them. Go and see them, whether you buy one or not ; he makes no charges for trying them on.

The Gas Trouble.

The gas which has been supplied to the public for the past two days was of a very inferior quality, the cause of which is thus explained by the manager Mr. R. R. Earle: Something became wrong in the working of the new apparatus for the manufacture of gas from gas oil, which immediately ceased its operation, until the representative of the company, which placed the apparatus in position, arrived to inspect it. The result was that the company was reduced to the making of gas by coal, and this could by no means begin to equal that produced by the former system. Mr. Earle is confident that the remedied in a short time, and he hopes that those who have been put to inconvenience will bear with the company in this instance.

ST. ANDREW'S DAY.

The Local Celebration of the Scottish Anniversary.

The St. Andrew's Society was established in 1836, although for several years previously the Scotchmen of Belleville and vicinity were accustomed to celebrate the day, and dine together at Munro's hotel. The past Presidents of the Society were as follow:

George Neilson	1859 1861
James Brown	1861
Andrew Thomson	1862

To day being St. Andrew's day, it was celebrated by the Scotchmen of this city in a becoming manner. This afternoon a large number preceded by the piper of the St. Andrew's Society, proceeded to St. Andrew's church, where the Chaplain, Rev'd M. W. Maclean, preached an appropriate sermon. This evening a grand concert will be held in the Opera House. The best vocal talent of the province has been secured, as well as the best local talent, and a fine programme will be presented. The committee has also secured the following talented artists, viz.: Miss Maggie Barr, Hamilton ; Miss Waltz, Brooklyn; Miss Maggie Rankin, Woodstock; Miss Agnes E. Fax, of this city ; Mr. R. S. Rankin, Woodstock; Misses Aggie and Crissy B. Rankin, Master Fred McLennan and Jas. B. Rankin, Woodstock ; Pipe Major Chas. M. Walker, Montreal ; Mrs. Campbell and Prof. Stanistreet, accompanists.

The performers are all here. Maggie Barr (Mrs. Fenwick) is the guest of Mr. Wm. Smeaton. Pipe Major Walker arrived this morning from Montreal, and is the guest of Mr. Donald McLean. The Rankin family arrived from Woodstock by the noon train.

All the reserved seats have been sold, and a full house is assured.

The County Council at the Institute.

A Pleasant Visit.

On invitation of Mr. Mathison, the members of the County Council, accompanied by a few friends, among whom we noticed Mr. W. Mackintosh, P. S. I. for North Hastings, visited the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb yesterday afternoon. It was the first time these gentlemen had come in a body, and both the Superintendent and his assistants were pleased to extend to them the most cordial welcome. The educational and industrial departments were gone through in turn and, judging from the remarks dropped here and there, no less satisfaction was experienced by the intelligent visitors than was felt by those whose pleasurable duty it was to receive them. After each class had been visited and the modes of training noted, a general gathering took place in the chapel, where a most agreeable half hour was spent. We confess that while we, on a former occasion, had the pleasure of witnessing the rendering of that divinely-inspired prayer of the faithful Christian, "Nearer, my God, to Thee," the sight of five sweet children, bereft of speech, raising their little hands in silent appeal, while their eyes, beaming with all the innocence of their infant souls, were turned to Him whose cross they so cheerfully embrace, filled us with mingled feelings of gratitude and of joy—of gratitude for preserving a work we done in our midst, and of joy that the fruit of that work be manifest in the seemly bearing and evident understanding of the higher truths. The sign language also is full of poetic beauty that the expert can use with ineffable grace and impressive reality.

Passing from the sublime to the ridiculous, as Mr. Mathison humorously remarked, Mr. Greene, the Garrick of pantomime, was asked to favor the audience with one of his amusing stories. Whether the Prof. thought the higher temperature we are now enjoying would give his "hornets" a good chance to revive, or simply that they would just tickle the fancy of the visitors, he let them out of their well known retreat—the hip-pocket of the long-tailed sweeping country minister's legged garment. Age seemed to have increased the voracity of the hornets, and they set to plundering sacred morsels with an earnestness that left but little chance for oral expression ; the minister rose to the occasion, and the next move was literally a flight of eloquence. That the members of the Council and all present enjoyed the story, was apparent in the waves of laughter that kept rolling along the entire performance, and the hearty applause accorded at the end. When a more serious mood had been reached, the Lord's prayer was recited in pantomime, which is always done in an impressive manner by the children of silence; Mr. Mathison kindly interpreted. After leaving the chapel, a general survey of the industrial departments was made, and indications of order and discipline as well as of expertness in practical workmanship were everywhere noticeable. In fine, the gentlemen drove away feeling they had spent a most enjoyable afternoon while convincing themselves of the excellence of the work prosecuted, and carrying with them nothing but favorable impression of the place, and its courteous and excellent management.

Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto Coming.

We take pleasure in announcing the visit of Prof. Dorenwend of the Paris hair works, Toronto, with his magnificent assortment of styles in lady's bangs, front pieces, (plain and wavy,) switches, half wigs, full wigs, gents' wigs, toupees, &c. The Professor is noted as the manufacturer of the best and most natural looking hair goods in America. Wherever he has visited, the press is unanimous in praising him as an artist, and an energetic business man. This, together with the fact that he has the largest and most magnificent establishment of the kind on the continent will recommend him and his goods to the public, and we have no hesitation in saying that our readers and lady friends cannot do better than invest in some of the Prof.'s goods, as satisfaction is sure. He will have his show rooms at Queen's Hotel, on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1. See his advertisement in another column.

Albert College Improvements.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of Albert College was held yesterday afternoon. The improvements which have lately been made to this institution were discussed and the steam heating in particular. This part of the work has not been working as satisfactorily as the principals wished, but Mr. Chown, who was present, and who performed the work, promised that according to contract he would see that the work was put in a condition that would be satisfactory to the committee. Mr. Robson was appointed as engineer.

THERE IS NO ONE ARTICLE IN THIS LINE of medicine that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters.

Chairman.

Mr. Vermilyea moved that the report of the committee be adopted.

Mr. Gladney said he had much pleasure in the choice of Mr. Bruce Con.) by a vote of 106 against 3433 for Lord Compton, the Gladstonian.

Mr. Gladney said he had much pleasure in endorsing the report, and for the adoption of the report. The iron bridge which had been built in the township of Marmora was a first class one, and was, perhaps, the best in the county. This opinion was concurred in by Mr. Hilton.

The Council went into committee of the whole on ways and means, Mr. C. F. Aylsworth in the chair.

Gordon, that our County Treasurer be and is hereby authorized to pay the provincial grant for the removal of prisoners, lunatics, &c., from the County goal to the Central prison, asylums, &c.; to pay them when presented, without laying the same before the committee, in any case that he believes the account to be right; after payment, the Treasurer to report same to next session of the County Council.—Carried.

Prohibition.

The final meeting of the series held during the week by the Rev. D. V. Lucas, M. A., of Toronto, was held in the S. School rooms of Bridge St. church last night, Rev. J. Learoyd in the chair. Mr. Lucas's address was very earnest and practical one, on "the final victory of the temperance cause," which he believed would be the adoption of prohibition in the Dominion.

A vote of thanks to the lecturer, moved by the Rev. Mr. Copeland, seconded by A. G. Northrup, Esq., and supported by Mr. W. Johnson, was amidst applause conveyed to Mr. Lucas.

PROBABILITIES.

TORONTO, Nov. 30.—Northwest and west winds, cloudy to partly cloudy, rain or sleet, showers in some localities ; not much change in temperature.

DISASTROUS FIRE AT TRENTON.

The Purdy Block in That Town Destroyed.

The town of Trenton has had a number of disastrous fires and this morning was again visited by the devouring element. From what can be learned it appears that at about 11:30 last night fire was discovered in Mr. Baird's grocery store, which is situated in the Purdy block. The flames were extinguished before much damage was done, and a watch was placed on the building in case it should break out afresh. A few minutes to seven o'clock this morning in spite of a vigilant watch the fire again broke out, and before the flames could be subdued the fine block was reduced to ashes. The stores burned out were Messrs. Baird's, Bell's and Wier's. The opera house was also on the second floor of the burned building. The loss has not been estimated. There was an insurance of $6,000 on the block and $4,000 on the stocks of the different stores.

Fatal Curiosity.

A Lumberman Takes Horse Medicine and Dies From Its Effects.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

PEMBROKE, Nov. 29.

A very unfortunate circumstance took place on the 27th November in one of Rathbun's shanties on their Pawdash Lake limits. It appears that a quantity of chemicals and medicines had arrived, such as are usually kept on hand by the Company, and a man by the name of Watson was foolishly trifling with the packages. Being unable to read and write, he supposed there would be no harm in tasting some of them, and he took about a small spoonful of horse mixture, on which the directions stated that about eight drops was a dose. Soon after on resuming work he was taken ill and expired, a victim to his fatal curiosity.

AN M. P.'s BREACH OF TRUST.

The Holborn Division of London Elect a Conservative.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Robert Gent Davis, M. P. for the Kennington division of Lambeth, was committed to prison on Tuesday for contempt of court in failing to pay £373 due by him as administrator of his uncle's estate. He appeared in court to-day and offered to apologize and to refund the money. The judge, however, refused to interfere, and the order of arrest was handed to the sheriff for execution. Davis' debt was assembled by Tory members of Parliament to prevent the disgrace of the arrest of a member for a breach of trust.

In the House of Commons to-day Timothy Healy asked what steps Mr. Smith, the Government leader, intended to recommend the House to take regarding the charge against Mr. Davis of using money received in a fiduciary capacity.

Mr. Smith denied the existence of any proof to justify him in asking the House to pronounce judgement on Mr. Davis.

Edmund Robertson (Lib.) reminded the House that the expulsion of a member should be decreed for a breach of trust, and he asked if Mr. Davis' conduct did not amount to that.

Mr. Smith protested against hasty action in a matter affecting the character and honor of a member.

Mr. Healy intimated that unless the Government acted in the matter he would move on Tuesday next that a writ be issued for an election to fill the seat now held by Mr. Davis.

Mr. Davis has been imprisoned.

Mr. Bradlaugh moved to adjourn the House in order to call attention to the continued imprisonment of Mr. Moroney in Kilmainham jail for contempt of court under the Coercion Act. He said that Mr. Moroney was suffering in health and nervously insane. He represented that bankruptcy proceedings had been started with the view to compel Mr. Moroney to divulge certain things which Mr. Moroney refused to divulge. Mr. Bradlaugh maintained that his refusal although illegal was morally justified and that Moroney ought not to be punished by indefinite imprisonment.

Mr. Balfour and Sir Richard Webster contended that the Government had no power to order the release of Moroney. It was his own fault if he refused to purge himself of his contempt.

After a long debate the motion was rejected, 195 to 159.

A desultory discussion on the Ashbourne act then followed and finally the bill passed the third reading, 202 to 141.

During the evening a report reached the House that Lord Compton, the Gladstone candidate in the Holborn district of London, had been elected. When the news was received the Gladstonian members stood on their benches and cheered themselves hoarse. A subsequent report showed Mr. Bruce, the Conservative candidate, was elected and that a similar scene was enacted by the Conservative members. So prolonged was the cheering that the Speaker with difficulty restored order.

Lord Compton's in the Soup.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—The election in the Holborn district of London to-day resulted in the choice of Mr. Bruce (Con.) by a vote of 3906 against 3433 for Lord Compton, the Gladstonian.

Crime and the League.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Inspector Crane gave evidence before the Parnell Commission to-day as to the progress of crime in Ireland being coincident with the formation of branches of the league. Wherever a league organization was started outrages followed. Not every leaguer was a moonlighter but the majority of moonlighters were leaguers. On cross-examination Crane further admitted that he had never been able to trace directly the connection of persons convicted of outrages with the league. Certainly no official of the league had ever been convicted. No crime has occurred in connection with Home Rule agitation or the extension of the franchise. Every crime arose over land disputes.

Inspector Rice deposed that he had always understood that moonlighters avoided the haunts of the League. On being cross-examined by Mr. Harrington the witness said he could not point out a single instance, supported by proof, where the League had directed a moonlight outrage.

Rents Reduced.

DUBLIN, Nov. 29.—The Land Commission has reduced the rents in the Kenmare estates at Killarney 50 per cent.

A JUVENILE RIPPER.

Arrest of a 11-year-old Boy for the Havant Murder.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—A boy named Husband, aged 11 years, the first to give notice of the discovery of the body of the boy Earle, who was found dying in the streets of Havant yesterday morning with his throat cut from ear to ear, has been arrested for the murder. The crime was undoubtedly committed in imitation of "Jack the Ripper," the chronicles of whose butcheries have excited depraved youths in many parts of the kingdom to emulation of his deeds, and the police throughout the country are much exercised in his capture.

The Spitalfields Vigilance Committee, organized to aid the constabulary in detecting the Whitechapel murderer and preventing further crimes, have secured the approval of the police to their appointment of ten men each night to watch the courts and alleys of the East End ; and the police act conjointly with the metropolitan force. Each man will carry a dark lantern, a whistle and a night stick, and be invested with all requisite authority.

The New Metropolitan Chief.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Col. James Munro, who has been appointed Chief Commissioner of Metropolitan Police to succeed Sir Charles Warren, served 25 years in Bengal, whence he returned to England in 1884 to replace Sir Howard Vincent as Director of Criminal Investigation. He was subsequently appointed Assistant Commissioner of Metropolitan Police, but resigned recently owing to his inability to endure the harshness of Gen. Warren, and accepted a position in the Home Office. His appointment, which the Queen has sanctioned, is a personal triumph and universally approved.

German Apathy Annoys Austria.

PESTH, Nov. 29.—The Ungarische Post, the organ of Premier Tisza, in replying to an article in The North German Gazette of Berlin, declares that it is false to say that Premier Tisza to maintain treaties only as a safeguard to Austrian interests, and that he does not desire to share the Balkans with Russia. He hopes that the German press will cease treating eastern affairs with apathy, as it is annoying to Austria.

Cleveland's Close Call.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—In the trial of Henick and other Anarchists for conspiracy to murder Police Inspector Bonfield, Judge Grinnell and Judge Gary, Frank Chleboun, who turned State's evidence, testified to the details of the plot and said Henick told him that during the President's visit to the city he was about to throw a dynamite bomb into the carriage during the procession but was dissuaded by some of his companions.

Slaughter of Caribou.

"Mary Jane," he exclaimed in firm, ring tones, "you may countermand the order I sent to the warehouse yesterday about rebarrelling that carload of apples. Tell the man to ship them as they are."

HAGYARD'S
YELLOW OIL
CURES RHEUMATISM.

FREEMAN'S
WORM POWDERS
Are pleasant to take. Contain their own Purgative. Is a safe, sure and effectual destroyer of worms in Children or Adults.

Strange, but Still True.

Mrs. David Carstairs, Haldimand Township, met with a very pleasant surprise a few weeks ago. It seems Mrs. Carstairs has suffered a great deal from dyspepsia and indigestion, the symptoms of which were, pains in the stomach and bowels, and sick headache. She has tried a great many physicians, and an unlimited amount of patent medicines, but without any success; and last but not least, she tried Dowling's Pepsin Compound, and one bottle has removed both pain and ache. She returns the kindest regards to F. E. DOWLING, Cobourg, for his magnificent remedy. Belleviliettes, take pattern by this woman, and ask your Druggist for it

FEVER AND AGUE AND BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS are positively cured by the use of Parmelee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, causing them to pour copious effusions from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

To lessen mortality and stop the inroads of disease, use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. For all diseases arising from Impure Blood, such as Pimples, Blotches, Biliousness, Indigestion, etc., etc., it has no equal. Mrs. Thomas Smith, Elmira, says: "I am using this medicine for Dyspepsia; I have tried many remedies, but this is the only one that has done me any good."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakens as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind. 84dwly

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarefies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc, if attended to in time are easily subdued, but when allowed to run their own course generally prove fatal. One-runner of more danger than one disease. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their afflictions from a neglected cold, and the disease that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. Once of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Hickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from vicid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state

Rest and Comfort to the Suffering.

"Brown's Household Panacea" has no equal for relieving pain, both internal and external. It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. It will soon satisfy you that "Brown's Household Panacea" is the "Great Pain Reliever," and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family ready for use when wanted, "as it really is the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the Stomach, and Pains and Aches of any kind," and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cts a bottle.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. CATARRH.

A] New Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the interlining membrane of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes. The eminent scientists, Tyndall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made oftener then once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before an application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease.

So highly are these remedies valued that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, professing to convey a parasite, of which they know nothing, by remedies, of the results of the application of which they are equal ignorant. Mr. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effect a permanent cure in the most agravated cases.

Mr. Dixon sends a pamphlet describing his new treatment, free, upon receipt of stamp to pay postage. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son, 303 King street west, Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Cured By B. B. B. When all Else Fail ed.

Mr. Samuel Allan, of Lisle, Ont., states that he tried all the doctors in his locality while suffering for years with Liver and Kidney trouble; nothing benefitted him until he took Burdock Blood Bitters, four bottles cured him.

Give Them a Chance ?

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. You have the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrah, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain

Hesitation means Loss.

If your hair is coming out or turning grey, or if you find dandruff in your hair do not hesitate about looking after it. Get some of Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic," use it as directed and you will find that it will give you the best of satisfaction. Take warning, do not wait till it is too late but try it at once. All druggists sell it.
